

Corn-Soybean Clinic Here Covers 'Unusual' Weather

A late, wet spring, combined with a hot, dry summer and topped off with an "impossible" fall, threw farmers a curve in much of the corn-soybean "belt" the past season. A clinic in Wayne will cover the effects of this weather.

The all-day clinic is planned for Friday, Jan. 13, at the Wayne City Auditorium. Again this year it is the only clinic of its type being scheduled in this part of Nebraska.

Starting at 7 a.m., it will include a coffee hour, lunch at noon, door prizes and free gifts from sponsoring firms. Experts from leading agricultural companies will be on hand to tell about narrow-row crops, unusual weather effects and high plant populations.

Special problems with weed and insect control, fertilizing problems, late planting, late harvesting, drought-resistant hybrids, modern farming methods, modern materials, modern machinery and other topics will be covered in a session designed to help farmers help themselves.

Farmers may remember Clyde Hight, Moweaqua. See CLINIC - pg. 8

Cub Scouts Getting Spirit of Christmas

Wayne's two Cub Scout packs have been in the Christmas mood this week. Both concentrated on the season rather than advancements.

Pack 175 went caroling Tuesday evening. Refreshments were served at West Elementary School following the songs.

A post-Christmas party is planned by Cubs in Pack 174. They will have a party Tuesday, Dec. 27, at North-east Elementary School.

Two Injured in Wakefield Crash

A frost-covered highway was a major factor in a two-car crash on Highway 45-16 1.5 miles south of Wakefield Friday morning. The frost was its slickest at 7:30 when the accident occurred and was gone a few minutes later.

Mrs. Karin Tegley, Wakefield, was southbound and George Albrecht, Thurston, was northbound. See ACCIDENT - pg. 8

Christmas Party for Lions Club Members

Wayne Lions Club held its annual Christmas party Tuesday night at the Wagon Wheel, Laurel. Over 600 members and wives attended.

Bob Ditman and Richard Miller were initiated as new members. Prizes for selling turkey tickets went to Bob Nelson, Wes Pflue. See LIONS - pg. 8

Winside Program Will Be Thursday

The vocal music department of the Winside Schools will present a Christmas program Thursday, Dec. 22, at 7:30 in the WHS gym. The public is invited.

Taking part will be the senior high girls' ensemble, girls' glee club, junior high girls' ensemble, junior high choir, madrigal singers, mixed chorus, trumpet soloist and vocal soloist.

A sing-along session will be held following the program of traditional Christmas music. The audience will join the school pupils in singing a number of carols.

Mrs. Pat Kropp is director of the music department. Over 100 young people will take part.

RECEIVING ORDERS sending them to Omaha for induction were Bill Gries, left, and Roger Johnson. The man already in uniform is the bus driver, Herbert Pfeil. Sioux City, who has driven many Iowa boys to induction centers but was driving the bus taking Nebraska boys for the first time.

Two Leave for Service; No Induction in January

Two young men left from Wayne County for induction Thursday morning of last week. Original orders had called for five.

Mrs. Mary Graef, clerk of the selective service board, said there were no calls for induction in January. Three are to be sent from this county for physicals.

Two leaving Thursday were Bill Gries, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry K. Gries, Norfolk, and Roger Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Johnson, Wayne. Five other boys went for physical examinations.

The three others originally scheduled to leave had transferred to other boards or were already in the service.

Herbert Pfeil was bus driver for the group going from here. It was his first trip hauling Nebraska boys. He lives in Sioux City and ordinarily drives buses taking Iowa boys to induction centers.

Pfeil said "everything on wheels" would be in use by the bus companies this week. Most of the boys at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., will get to go home for Christmas and buses will converge on that point and then go out in all directions to take servicemen to their home areas.

WINSIDE'S WINNING Christmas lighting entry was the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Gahl. Extending on two sides of the home on a corner lot, it was a scene of beauty. Pictures of the other Winside-winners will appear in next week's paper.

Winside School Out

Winside schools will dismiss for the Christmas holiday Friday, Dec. 23. Supt. James Christensen reports. Hay rides, bonfires and gift exchanges are planned for Christmas parties Friday afternoon with school dismissed following the parties. Classes resume Tuesday, Jan. 3, at the regular hour.

Gahl, Stevens, Hill Win Winside Lighting Prizes

The home lighting decorations of George Gahl, Guy Stevens and Vernon Hill finished in that order in the Winside Christmas decorating contest sponsored by the Winside Federated Woman's Club and the Winside Community Club.

Judging took place Monday. There were 10 entries and about the same number of homes that were decorated but were not entered in the contest.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Brockmoller was judged worthy of honorable mention, although there was no provision for a prize in that category. The three top winners will receive cash prizes for their efforts.

Judges for the contest were Mrs. Dean Janke, Mrs. Clarence Pfeiffer and Mrs. Lyle Krueger.

The FWO has added decorations in the park in downtown Winside, a Santa being a new addition to the display in the park being built up year by year. Two strings of golden lights were added to the business district lighting under sponsorship of the WCC.

Final Events in Yule Series Set

This is the week of Christmas. Final events in Wayne for the Christmas season are scheduled.

Stores will be open the rest of the week until 9 p.m., having started out with longer hours Tuesday. All stores plan to close at 5:30 Christmas Eve (Saturday) and will not reopen until Dec. 27.

Santa Claus will be at his workshop in Wayne to greet the kids, take their orders and give treats from 7 to 8 p.m. Thursday and from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Silver Dollar Night Thursday will offer a chance for someone to put $350 under their tree. Being in the right store at 8 will be the answer to that need for someone.

THE STAR of Bethlehem might have shone as bright as this star of Bowen Hall. The "star" was photographed from a distance. It is a laser beam mounted on the hall. The smaller is the red aircraft warning light above the dorm. To the right is the light poles on the new tennis courts north of Rice Gym.

The Spook Speaks

Seen in a Wakefield restaurant: A middle-aged couple entered. He carried a Sunday newspaper. They sat down, ordered and each picked up a section of the paper to read. She chose the sports section. He looked for the society section. She read about football. He read an advice column.

A Wayne man thinks his boo-boo may pay off. He took the washing to the self-service laundry and followed instructions, white clothes in one double machine, colored clothes in another. When the soaking cycle was past, he added bleach. Yes, to the wrong machine. He may not "get" to do the washing anymore.

Down in Lincoln, a Wayne girl reports one of her friends met a boy named Caraway. She wanted to impress him because she liked him. Unable to remember his last name, she finally remembered "sesame." (The local girl didn't say what the friend does to remember "sesame" which would seem as hard to remember as "Caraway".)

Be careful of "Twas the Night Before Christmas" in the Dixon and Concord area. One line goes: "Now Dasher, Now Dancer, Now Prancer and Vixen, On Comet! On Cupid! On Concord and Dixon!"

A camera showed what the human eye could not see last week. A starlike effect was obtained by using a laser recently acquired by the Wayne State College physics department.

Lionel Moore and his students mounted a helium-neon continuous gas laser atop Bowen Hall and aimed it at a camera 100 feet away. The laser's brilliant red light, the width of a pencil, spread only four feet wide at the camera.

It was just after sunset and students wondered what could be the subject of the photographer. Standing by the camera, they finally saw the beam, found out it was a laser beam and moved back, not knowing it was not a James Bond-type laser light but a type that is continuous in contrast to the "pulsing" beam that cuts almost anything and is used for surgery and cutting all types of material.

The laser narrow-beam light, contrasted with an ordinary red light atop nine-story Bowen Hall. The 200-watt red bulb shows up as a small "star" while the laser light registers 2000-watts.

Physics department experiments and other class and lab work will make use of the laser. A "Christmas star" on the tallest building in the area seemed a timely way of inaugurating use of the new equipment.

DeForge, Seymour, Lentz Decorations Take Prizes

In the toughest Christmas lighting competition in years, three homes were selected by non-residents as the best lighted in the city Friday night. The homes of Larry DeForge, Dr. Lyle Seymour and Carl Lentz finished in that order.

Seven others were named for honorable mention. A special recognition went to the residents of Circle Drive who decorated their short street as "Candy Cane Lane" for both nighttime and daytime beauty.

The DeForge entry at 920 Walnut won first prize. Second went to the Seymours at 1100 Sunset and third went to the Lentz entry at 703 East 10th.

Honorable mention awards are listed alphabetically and the order given has no other significance. Ted Armbruster. See LIGHTING - pg. 8

Seek Closing of Telegraph Office

The Nebraska State Railway Commission has revealed that Western Union Telegraph Co. has filed an application to close its office at Wayne. Protests must be filed within 30 days.

The NSRC did not give the date of the application. However, the notice sent out was dated Dec. 15. Applications may be inspected at the office of the commission, 134 S. 12th, Lincoln. Information concerning the application can also be obtained from that office.

The telegraph facility here is the only one in the county. However, it is not kept busy and undoubtedly is a money-losing operation for Western Union.

THE HOME of Mr. and Mrs. Larry DeForge won first place in the Kiwanis Club Christmas lighting contest. The low-glowing blue lights fail to show up in what is an attractive setting.

Mother Nature, Weatherman Join to Provide Area with Christmas Present

Mother Nature and the Weatherman pooled their resources for a Christmas present for the area. Beautiful, mild, record-breaking weather has been the story in the area the past week.

Temperatures were near the 60-degree mark almost every day the past week. Forecasters were calling for continued mild weather through the week with only a slight cooling and about a 10% chance for rain or snow.

How warm was it? Warm enough to bring out golfers on the Wayne Country Club course. Warm enough for Wayne High School physics ed classes to play baseball in shirt sleeves. Warm enough for one firm to open its doors and leave them open (with the idea of turning on the air conditioner even being considered).

Of course, moisture is needed. However, if it is going to be dry any time of the year, this is one of the best times to have it be dry. After the holidays there will be more comments on the dry spell and more anxious eyes scanning the skies for snow- or rain-bearing clouds.

Peoples Natural Gas Co. gauges showed a LOW of 36 for Dec. 17. This is about what can ordinarily be expected for the HIGH that date. Winter comes in Thursday and fall blows out. Can spring be far behind?

USDA Announces Delivery of Corn
 The department of agriculture has announced early delivery of 1962- and 1963-crop corn now in farm storage under resale price-support loan, to meet needs of the CCC, especially for disaster livestock feed.
 According to the Wayne County ASCS office, farmers will have the option of redeeming loans and retaining ownership of corn for use or sale or delivering corn in payment of price-support loans.
 Feb. 3, the office will issue delivery instructions to farmers with these crops under resale loan. However, farmers can deliver before then. They can also redeem corn by paying off loans before delivery is set, giving them two months in which to decide which way to go.
 Corn acquired by the CCC as a result of early delivery will be used to meet prior sales commitments and needs of the emergency livestock feed program. It will not be stored or sold locally once it is delivered. New CCC corn sales will continue to be restricted to those needed for disaster livestock feed.
 Over-all market requirements for domestic use and exports are expected to exceed 1966 crop production. As a result, added corn is needed from reserves in resale stocks. Market prices are expected to continue strong throughout the redemption or delivery period of loan stocks. Currently, market prices are above the redemption price for 1963-crop corn and below for 1962-crop corn.
 Oct. 31, 89.9 million bushels of 1963 corn and 83.4 million bushels of 1962 crop remained under loan. In Nebraska, the figures were 23.8 million and 28.2 million bushels. The loan rates were $1.07 and $1.20 per bushel. CCC will pay farmers storage on these reseeded crops through the month preceding the month of redemption or delivery. Normally, older crops under resale are terminated on the July 31 anniversary date for corn support loans. With the surplus reduced, corn is needed from reserves held under loans. Last May, when OWLOISE OWL is partially puffed up as she reaches out to get a little liver from Mrs. William Wilson. Owloise won't puff up when Jim Jackson or left feeds her alone, but gets pretty upset if anyone else comes around.

Owl Gains Notice in Hoo's Hoo in Winside

There is no "Hoo's Hoo" in Winside published yet but a great horned owl figure to get the number one listing it is issued. The owl is being babbled along a month after being brought in.

Bob Dangberg found the wounded owl. It had a broken leg, a broken wing but not a broken spirit. In spite of a great battle, it finally was caged and brought to school.

Mrs. William Wilson, Winside High School biology teacher, was a natural for information on how to care for the bird. "What I don't know about care of wild animals by knowledge, I can supply from compassion," she said.

Jim Jackson entered the scene when it was decided the bird would be given a chance to recover. He volunteered to feed the big owl weekends and other days. The owl, called Owloise (to rhyme with Eloise) for lack of a better name is his special project.

Owloise was not about to eat at first. She just sat in her rabbit cage and hissed if anyone came near. Puffed up, she becomes as big as a turkey. When she is calm, she is more of the compact size.

Through a trial and error method the pupils discovered the bird would not pick up food because she is a natural predator. As such, she is used to tearing at food with claws and beak. Since she has a broken leg and a broken wing, she can't stand on one leg, tear at the food with claws of the other and maintain her balance with her wings so she didn't know how to eat.

Chopsticks entered the picture. Owloise got a Chinese-looking mixture which resembles egg food. Actually, it is just beaten egg. Since the egg didn't adhere to the chopsticks, an eyedropper was tried and Jim Jackson started feeding the runny yellow stuff to the owl. She loved it—and loves Jim for supplying it. Now she doesn't even puff up or hiss when he comes near by himself.

However, the egg was provided to give Owloise protein and to allow her to build up strength. She needed stronger stuff. That's where raw liver comes in. She goes for that top, but only off the chopsticks. If some falls to the floor of her cage, Jim has to pick it up for her and hold it out. She doesn't know (or won't show) how to pick up the food without use of her claws.

After two weeks in one spot—she never moved a bit—Owloise finally moved when given food. Now she moves all around, tries to escape but couldn't live long if she did get away.

She may be nursed along until she can fly. But, there is a chance her days of freedom are ended permanently for she may be given to a zoo if one is found that wants her.

Jim Jackson may have to go along with her. He's not very big himself and when she puffs up, she looks bigger than the WHS sophomore does. Unless he can find someone else to whom she can become attached, he may have a permanent job.

Somewhere in some zoo there may be a male owl that would make Owloise a good mate. If so, Winside High School should be contacted. Owloise and Owl-Exander. What a pair they would make!

Emma W. Harder, daughter of John and Louise Harder, was born Feb. 15, 1893 in Wayne County. She grew up in the Wayne community and Nov. 19, 1914 she was married to John Denbeck at Wayne. She was a lifelong member of Redeemer Lutheran Church.

Her parents, her husband and a brother preceded her in death. Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Joyce Chinkscales and a son, Donald Denbeck, both of O'Neill; a brother, George Harder, and a sister, Mrs. Alvina Hinrichs, Wayne, and a granddaughter, Debbie.

A City Official Speaks

Wayne's two hour parking limit and the fines imposed for overtime parking have been very much in the limelight in recent days. It is disturbing to note that criticism is directed at those who are enforcing the law rather than at those who break it.

For years, many years, one of the major complaints with our downtown was that there was no place to park while shopping because most of the spaces were being used by business people, owners and employees alike. At that time the thought of using parking meters was absolutely opposed, and on more than one occasion a "gentleman's agreement" was reached with the city council. Business people would seek parking other than in the business district to avoid the need for restricting parking. The only bug in this procedure was that after a short time a few business people would return to their former habit of parking downtown and soon were followed by others until the situation was again "normal"—no parking for many shoppers.

As a public official, I would defend the right of all people to park anywhere and at any time in spaces provided for unrestricted parking as our business area formerly was. Simply because a person was an owner or employee of a downtown business, the argument that he should not be permitted to park downtown was not a valid one. These people paid taxes, bought car licenses and were as privileged to park in spaces of their choice as anyone else.

But they did create the problem, and it had to be met head on by measures which would make it possible to provide more spaces more often for those who wished to shop. We knew that parking had to be restricted in terms of time, and we had a choice between metered parking or the method presently in force. In either case, policing would be necessary if success was to be insured.

The council favored going without meters. It was felt that if shoppers were not charged for parking and still could find spaces this would be most desirable.

Parking meters, on the other hand, are a source of revenue which if properly designated may pay for purchase of off-street parking facilities. It may well be that this should be considered as a part of our future planning and growth.

Your mayor and city council are not unaware of the fines which have been levied by the County Court for overtime parking violations. This matter is under study, and if recommendations for changes are deemed necessary they will be made.

In any situation where the public may be penalized, there is certain to be apprehension with respect to the measures causing such penalties. This is particularly true immediately after the initiation of a change. This has been demonstrated by the misunderstanding relative to the fines which have been levied on the overtime parking offenders to date. In not one instance was a fine levied on the basis of a single offense. In each case there had been two warning tickets issued, and charges were made upon the third offense. It should also be noted that all parking offenses involving warning tickets are automatically erased from the records each three months, so that a person can receive two warnings in any three month period without a summons.

Yet the parking ordinance is still in the trial stage and our police report shows that there are fewer offenses at this time than a month ago. It seems reasonable to expect that as the public becomes more familiar with the situation, there should be a substantial reduction in offenses requiring fines.

It is felt that we are well on our way toward a solution of some of our parking problems and ask only that our citizens, city and rural, allow our present system to stand the test of a reasonable amount of time.

WHS Musicians Draw Big Crowd

Wayne High School musicians drew a big crowd to the City Auditorium Monday evening for the annual Christmas program. The crowd was rewarded with an excellent variety of music by five groups.

Don Schumacher shared directing the Wayne High orchestra with Dennis Montgomery, student teacher from WSC. Clayton Southwick directed the madrigal and senior high chorus and had Constance Beermann direct the seventh and eighth grade chorus, girls' glee club and senior high chorus in seven numbers. She also is a practice teacher at WHS.

Each of the high school groups presented "different" Christmas music. It was different in that it was not the traditional music heard every Christmas and it was refreshing to go to a Christmas program that included the more difficult numbers along with a scattering of the traditional numbers.

"There Shall a Star Come Out of Jacob" is a beautiful song. Why it is not heard more is unknown. However, the chorus that sang it is exceptionally good this year so perhaps it takes a special group to do it right.

All of the musical groups did well and WHS patrons can be grateful for such a well-rounded music department. The orchestra is a bonus some schools cannot offer. Like the madrigal, it takes a lot of extra work by pupils and instructors. Monday night's offering made it obvious that extra effort pays.

The student directors indicate a potential that is going to be a lure for some school wanting good music instruction. Working with Southwick and Schumacher is going to be another boost for them in their musical careers.

Monday's program drew so many the supply of programs ran out well before the concert started. Even then people kept coming so there were many who had to share programs for an excellent change-of-pace Christmas program.

Where There's Smoke Not Always a Blaze

There was smoke aplenty in Wayne Friday but no fire. Nevertheless, firemen were called.

The smoke was coming from leaf mold at the Logan Valley Nursery on South Main. Sparks from a trash burner had blown into the mulch-type mold used in soil conditioning at the greenhouse.

Smoldering, the mulch sent up clouds of smoke which blew across Highway 15. Merle Tietz, manager, was gone at the time so an alarm was called in.

No damage was done to the mulch, which can be used yet. Firemen cut down the smoldering so smoke was not so heavy from the mulch between two concrete walls.

Carroll Man Has 'Ball Meteorite'

A new aspect to the meteorite stories came in after the other story was written this week. A Carroll man has a meteorite that resembles the one in the Wayne Cemetery in few ways.

Thomas Roberts, head of the ASCS office, found a meteorite in a well near Carroll in 1954. It resembles the rocklike meteorite in the cemetery only in shape. It is more metallic and is quite heavy.

The object Roberts has is the size of a lemon but weighs a pound. It is a dull metallic color with a brassy sheen. It is smoothly rounded on one side and "bubbled" on the other as if it suddenly squashed into something—the earth maybe.

His meteorite was brought up when the well was being dug. Also brought up at the same time was a rock under eight inches long, wide or high. It is unusual in appearance and weight.

This rock has fossilized plant roots plainly showing along with a shell of the type found around oceans. Part of the rock has been hot at one time for it is almost crystallized.

Both objects are extremely interesting. He is keeping them at the ASCS office in Wayne for the inspection of anyone who wants to see them.

SECOND PLACE winner in the home lighting contest was at the Carl Lentz home a huge wreath with lights and a big candle in the center.

Hunting Permit Not Applicable for Man

Henry Otte, Wayne, is a resident of Nebraska. He bought a hunter permit for a resident hunter. Last week he was fined for hunting with a resident permit when he should have had a non-resident permit.

One must be a resident of Nebraska 90 days in order to qualify for a resident permit. Otte has been a resident about 60 days after moving here from California. He was fined $40 plus $5 court costs. M. Schafer, game commission officer, filed charges.

Schafer also filed charges of having a loaded shotgun in a car against Jerry Uehling, Norfolk. Uehling paid $10 fine and $5 costs.

All other court cases heard by Judge David Hamer the past week involved traffic violations. Willard Van Meter, Sioux City, paid $15 fine and costs Dec. 12 on a charge of speeding brought by Officer Alan Peck.

Wesley Johnson, Storm Lake, Ia., paid $15 fine and costs for making an improper turn. Officer John Redel signed the complaint.

Kenneth Voss, Allen, paid $15 fine and costs for speeding. Trooper B. L. Cooper, Nebraska Safety Patrol, filed charges.

The last hearing Dec. 12 involved Donald Stille, Papillion. He paid $15 fine and costs for making an improper turn. Officer Keith Reed signed the complaint.

Three hearings were held Dec. 13. One involved Uehling. Another involved Jerry Tomjack, Ewing, who paid $20 fine and $5 costs on a stop sign violation reported by Trooper C. L. Howell, Nebraska Safety Patrol.

Also that day, Robert Duranski, WSC, was fined for overtime parking, after having had two previous warnings. Chief of Police Vern Fairchild filed the complaint. Fine and costs came to $15.

Henry Claus, Wayne, was driving left of the center lane, according to Trooper T. J. Rogers, Nebraska Safety Patrol. Claus paid $10 fine and $5 costs Dec. 16.

Ken Hamer, Wayne, paid $15 fine and costs Dec. 19 on an overtime parking charge after receiving warnings twice before. Officer Peck signed the complaint.

Soil Testing in County Boosted

The Wayne County ASCS is boosting soil testing in Wayne County. The personnel at the office are especially interested in "liming" acid soil which has been proved to be an investment that pays off.

John H. Mohr, ASCS chairman for the county, points out that farmers looking for higher yields will get the most out of their land with balanced fertilizer and lime application.

Only lime can effectively raise the PH of soil, reducing soil acidity and providing higher yields. To put farming on a sound basis, Mohr recommends proper amounts of lime applied where soil tests show a deficiency.

Calcium and magnesium, essential minerals for plants, are supplied in limestone. Lime also makes soil easier to work, promotes better growth (especially in legumes) and increases the activity and growth of helpful organisms in the soil.

Each year, lime is being leached and eroded from soil and being removed by animals and crops. Without proper maintenance, lime depletion of some fields could become a reality, and lime-hungry soils grow poorer crops, making erosion control more difficult.

Mohr concludes by citing a college of agriculture test that showed corn production increased 17.2 bushels per acre by applying required amounts of lime.

Carroll Man Overtakes Car to Avoid Vehicle

Another one of those pesky cars parked on a dark road without lights was a contributing cause to an accident the past week. John Williams, Carroll, swerved to avoid the car and wrecked his own car in doing so.

On a county road 2.4 miles west of Carroll, he came over a hill and saw a car in the road. He swerved, went off the road and overturned.

Considerable damage was done to his car and fence was torn out at the Fred Liebman farm where the vehicle hit. Sheriff Don Weible, who investigated, said the identification of the parked car's owner was not learned, although a description was obtained.

Annual WSC Tournament At Rice Gym Two Nights

Wayne State's annual Christmas Holiday Basketball Tournament will take over the local sports scene next week with four games Thursday and Friday nights.

As in the past eight tournaments, Wayne business and professional people are providing major support for the tournament, buying blocks of tickets which they distribute to customers, friends and employees.

The opening game at 7 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 22, matches Wisconsin State of River Falls against Black Hills State of Spearfish, S.D. After that, Wayne State will play Wisconsin State of Eau Claire at 7 p.m.

The third-place game at 7 p.m. Friday will pit the first-round loser, and Thursday winner, most for the championship at 7 p.m.

Lou Clark and Black Hills are first-time performers in the tournament. River Falls played in 1964, losing in the finals to Wayne. The assistant coach for River Falls and also

Banks Giving Research Fund Drive Most Help Somewhere Student Has Home Need Group Will Name Head

Northeast Nebraska banks are doing more than any other single group (including swine producers) to promote the fund which would provide a swine research facility at the University of Nebraska Northeast Station, Concord.

At a meeting in Laurel Thursday night, it was revealed the bankers have spearheaded a fund drive. They have done a major job in collecting the $5,000 raised so far.

Bob Fritsch, who is in charge of the extension research swine project at the station, pointed out that swine producers should take note of the banker's interest and optimism in the swine producing industry. He emphasized that these producers should remember the idea is to create a research center, not a "demonstration" center.

Milo Birkley, Hubbard, fund drive chairman, introduced Henry Ley, State National Bank, Wayne, Adon Jeffrey, First National Bank, Wayne, and V. E. Rossiter, jr., Bank of Hartington. These four, along with Leon Langmeier, First National Bank, Lyons, have spearheaded the drive in Northeast Nebraska banking circles.

Graduates Score First at College

Seventy-two seniors and one graduate at Wayne State had the distinction of receiving diplomas in the college's first December commencement Tuesday night.

Leading the class scholastically is Elaine Sonnichsen Sutterer of Springfield, Ill., formerly of Denison, Ia., who earned a grade average of 3.87, nearly straight A. As a participant in the honors program, she graduated summa cum laude and with high honors in speech, her major field.

Two others in the honors program were Richard Jordan, Omaha, graduating magna cum laude (grade average of 3.72) and with highest honors in speech; and Barbara Hohman Schmitz, formerly of Plattsmouth and now of O'Neill, cum laude (average of 3.34).

Finishing "with distinction" were Diana Meyer, Scribner, 3.36, and Virginia Harder, Wayne, 3.28.

Dr. Karl Meyer, president of Wisconsin State University at Superior and former dean of instruction at WSC, addressed the commencement audience in Ramsey Theater.

Antony Garlick, organist, played professional and recessional music. Father William Kleffman, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, gave the invocation and benediction. A quintet composed of Jay O'Leary, Benjamin Bernstein, Bonita Vandegriff, Marian Loseke and Mrs. Barbara Kelton played a Mozart selection.

President W.A. Brandenburg conferred degrees on the following area residents:

Roger Dubois, Wayne, Cheryl Hoover Fredrickson, Wisner, Peggy Throckmorton Gustafson, Emerson, Virginia Harder, Wayne, Richard Keil, Allen, Gerald Likes, Wayne, Nancy Reed, Wayne, Edith Strate, Hoskins, Karen Noyes Topp, Wayne, Sally Witte, Winside, bachelor of art degrees in education.

Richard Adkins, NU regent from Osmond, pointed out to a group that the NU agronomy department is third from the top in the US. He said the school and legislature want to increase the program of the animal science department to meet the demands of animal agriculture in Nebraska and part of the overall program is the initiation of a swine research project at Concord.

It has previously been pointed out that just by saving a few cents per hog the farmers of this area will benefit by several hundred thousand dollars each year. Other benefits are also scheduled once the research project starts making its findings known to swine producers.

City, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Salmon and Jimmy and Velmer Anderson, Wakefield, and John Lennert, Omaha.

Somewhere Student Has Home Need Group Will Name Head

Somewhere in this world there is a boy or girl in high school who will come to Wayne next fall to be an exchange student for a year. Who he will be and where he will stay are not known.

There is a need for a family to volunteer to be the host family for a year. They can decide whether they want a boy or a girl and they can select the one to come here after American Field Service submits a name.

Anyone who would be willing to take a youngster into the family for a year, should get in touch with Mrs. Howard Witt or Ken Deissler. Warning: Your family and the student may become so attached you will have a lifelong friend in another country!

A farm or city home can be accepted to house the exchange student. The main stipulation is that it be located so transportation to and from school is no problem.

Both husband and wife must be 37 or older. They need not have children at home (their own being married or away at college or in service) but they must have some experience at raising children.

Phadet Gawsombat, exchange student from Thailand in Wayne, is ready to speak to groups starting the first of the year. Anyone who wishes to have him appear as a guest speaker to show pictures and tell of his country should get in touch with Mrs. Howard Witt.

Monday night Phadet will leave for Lincoln and will remain through Thursday, Dec. 29. A round of parties, roller skating, talent shows, tours and other events has been lined up.

Phadet will play his Thai flute in the talent show. He will also tour the capitol, see the state historical society exhibits, visit the campus of UN, see the Cathedral of the Risen Christ and visit other points of interest in Lincoln to learn more about the capital city, its culture and its history.

Counselor Deissler points out that local pupils who wish to go abroad to spend a year can do so through the AFS. A summer program is also offered. Students are accepted from schools with exchange students from abroad.

To be eligible, a Wayne boy or girl would have to be 16 or over, a junior or senior in high school, a US citizen, in good health, know one foreign language, have no failing grades and be interested in learning of other people.

Any local student interested should contact Deissler. This includes those who wish to go during the 1967-68 school year.

Group Will Name Head

Wayne County Centennial Commission is expected to have a new president by the time another week rolls by. A meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, Dec. 28, at 8 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce Building by the organization.

Meeting last Wednesday, the group discussed the need for a leader, having lost previous presidents due to health, moving away, etc. A most-promising candidate for the post has indicated an interest and will meet with the group Wednesday.

Everyone is invited. It is hoped residents of Sholes, Hoskins, Carroll, Winside, Wayne, and the farm areas will attend to prove that this county still has one of the top centennial organizations in the state—a designation given it by the state centennial organization.

Extension clubs of the county are invited to send representatives. They have already indicated the centennial will be one of their big projects of the year and their help will be needed.

Mrs. Dan Titze has volunteered to be membership chairman for the county. Others have offered help to her and to others in an effort to boost activities as the centennial year draws near.

The hope was expressed at Wednesday's meeting that every community in Wayne County would have at least one centennial event open to the public. Full backing of the local organization is promised for all events planned as a special centennial activities.

Wayne County Gives Up $26,731 in Road Funds

Wayne County Commissioners have turned $26,731 federal aid funds for roads available to the county over to Madison County. It is a policy that has been followed in past years.

This county has not matched federal funds for roads in the past except for one year. Road-building that year cost twice as much as usual due to the fact the roads had to be built to federal specifications in order to qualify.

Cedar County received the funds last year to help pay for a bridge. Madison County needs the funds this year to do flood repair work on roads and bridges.

If Wayne County had not voted to turn them over to adjacent counties, the federal funds would have been withdrawn. This county would be without them and the other counties would be without them.

Unable to afford building roads to federal specifications, commissioners have chosen to do road-building with county funds alone. They also exercise the right of offering the funds to adjoining counties that might be able to use them.

Federal aid secondary funds were involved. They are made available for a period of 18 months and if not used or offered to adjoining counties they are withdrawn.

The "Eyes on Nebraska Award" presented by the Nebraska Optometric Association each year, was awarded Tuesday to Dr. William Brandenburg, president of Wayne State College.

Dr. Robert Patrick, Hol-drege, president of the association, announced the award. Dr. Brandenburg was cited for contributions to higher education "particularly in connection with the introduction of the trimester plan" in Nebraska.

The WSC president was praised for his work as an outstanding educator and a contributor toward providing Nebraska with excellent teachers. Dr. Brandenburg is a marine corps veteran and a former history teacher.

Ill., from last year's clinic. His area was hit by drought the past year and his yields were down. High temperatures coupled with three months of dry weather failed to hurt him as much as it had others. He showed up with yields twice as high as the local average at Moweaqua. His story should be of more interest than ever since he came through adverse conditions with flying colors.

Documentation of ways to overcome adverse weather are part of the clinic to be sponsored by Allis-Chalmers, DeKalb, Amchem, Behlen, Shell and Sherrys. Other area business firms may also take part in the clinic along with local dealers for the national firms named.

Mrs. Fegley's car skidded on the frosty surface, slid sideways on the road and Albrecht was unable to turn or stop due to the slick asphalt.

The impact sent the engine hurtling out of the Fegley car. Troopers B.L. Cooper and Raymond Brown found it had traveled 50 feet through the air before hitting the ground in the ditch for the first time.

Both were taken to the Wakefield Hospital but Albrecht was transferred to

Beef 'Weigh Days' for Fair Awards Scheduled

"Weigh Days" for a new county fair calf-raising project have been set for Thursday and Friday, Dec. 29-30 at the Wayne Sale Barn. Only calves brought in and tagged that day will be eligible to compete.

Premiums of $25, $15 and $10 will be awarded. A trophy, a rosette and many ribbons will also be prizes.

Scoring formula is based on pounds of weight average daily gain. Points given for ribbons in other classes will count toward the awards.

County Agent Harold Ingalls reports that animals can move up to the purple ribbon class with records of average daily gain that are high. For instance, a calf getting a white ribbon if its average daily gain has been 3.1 pounds (or more); an animal that has earned a blue ribbon could move up to purple with an average daily gain of 2.7 pounds or better; and a purple ribbon calf could drop to a red classification with an average daily gain of under 2 pounds per day.

All 4-H members with stock projects are invited to take part. They can get further information from the county agent's office.

A Sioux City hospital later. She suffered cuts and bruises while his injuries were more serious, a broken pelvic bone, internal injuries and a bad laceration on the forehead and over one eye.

Mrs. Fegley had been thrown from her car and Albrecht had been pinned in his before being freed. Both cars were thought to be total losses.

VA Offers Help to Hospitalized Men

According to County Service Officer Chris Hargholz, the Veterans Administration is sending representatives to military hospitals for the first time since the Korean War. Purpose is to seek out disabled servicemen and advise them of rehabilitation designed to restore their ability to work.

Under former procedures, VA did not enter the picture until discharge from the service occurred and veterans applied for assistance. The new plan calls for informing servicemen as soon as possible of the opportunities offered.

carriers for their routes or put in the boxes where patrons can get them.

Wayne's mail load has increased 7.3 per cent over last year. Postmaster Wightman reports. Good weather coast to coast has helped keep delivery fast to and from the area and has kept the mail from being delayed somewhere and then coming into the post office in greater volume one day than the next.

Incoming mail is not the only job. Wayne is handling an average of 13,000 pieces of outgoing mail each day. This includes metered mail, parcels and letters.

The flow of mail is amazingly smooth for the volume involved here. Even though quarters are crowded, the men in the postal department usually manage to get all of the mail in the boxes by 8 a.m. and on the routes a little later.

First into the rural and carrier boxes go the daily papers. Once they are inserted, papers give sorters a better chance at adding the smaller envelopes and cards for the individual patrons.

Package delivery is usually a one-man, one-truck job. With the Christmas rush, there are two trucks and two men delivering parcels in the city. Extra trucks are bringing mail into Wayne and taking mail out.

In addition to Postmaster Herrmann, the postal crew includes Wilbur Giese, assistant postmaster; Cleo Shultz, widow clerk; Donald, dispatcher, and Paul Rogge, custodian. These men are usually there throughout the day.

Working behind the scenes and getting to the post office before dawn to "work the mail" are: Jim Thomas and Joe Dorsey, rural carriers; Bob Moore, Bill Kugler, Warren Bilson and Marilyn Koch, city route carriers; Dale Lessmann, parcel delivery truck operator; and Jim Atkins, Ray Vrtiska and Pat Telgren, distributors. Vrtiska and Telgren also drive trucks or carry mail when needed. Wes Pflueger and Mike Eynon are substitute carriers on the rural routes.

The big rush is on when the postal workers start handling mail to and from post offices seldom heard of, such as Bad Axe, Mich. 48413, Red Devil, Alaska 99658, Happy Camp, Calif.

Wayne Pastes Plainview To Even Record for Season

Wayne High cagers romped past Plainview Friday night 76-50 enroute to their first conference victory. The win evened Wayne's season record at 2-2 before the Christmas break.

Hunting Permits Not Good After Next Week

Is your hunting permit up-to-date? Wayne County residents are reminded they cannot hunt Jan. 1 on a 1966 hunting permit. The permits expire Dec. 31. A new permit and an upland game bird stamp will be necessary for those hunting pheasant and quail after that date.

New permits can be found in stores, from the game commission office in Lincoln and from tourist stations in Omaha and Lincoln. Combination hunting and fishing permits are $6. Upland game bird stamps are $1.

Star-spangled present with a future

Here's a Christmas present the youngsters on your shopping list can't lose, break, wear out, or get tired of.

It's a U.S. Savings Bond—the gift that grows while they grow. Practical. And appreciated, even by younger children. Makes a child feel important to be entrusted with such an adult-looking document. As the years pass, the money helps pay for important things like college, marriage, and emergencies. And until they do cash it in, the Bond itself is always there to remind them of your gift.

In the meantime, Uncle Sam will be using the money to help make their future secure in other ways. (Which is especially important now when so many of our fighting men are committed in Vietnam.)

Give Bonds this Christmas. Buy them where you do your banking and avoid the shopping crowds. Prices start at $18.75 for a $25 Bond.

Norfolk Catholic Defeats Winside

Using a full court press the first quarter and a fast break the last quarter, Norfolk Catholic won an 86-57 decision over the Winside Wildcats Friday night on the NCHS court.

Next action for Coach Don Cahill's cagers is the Lewis & Clark tournament the first week of January. Pairings should be announced this week.

Winside suffered a first-quarter cold spell that cost them the game Friday. Norfolk Catholic was leading 22-10 and suddenly caught fire, making 12 points while Winside was scoreless to make the count 21-0.

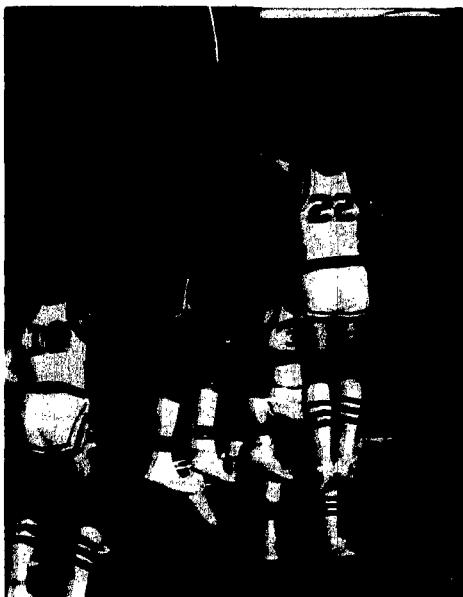

The Wildcats came back with 12 points to the Knights' 1 in the second period to move from a 24-14 deficit to a 22-26. But the best quarter was the 19-34 lead at the half. It was 23-14 after the period, 10-31 at half-time and 1-19 at the end of three stanzas, the winners leading all the way.

Four of the first five players fouled out for Winside and even though the Knights had a 12-point lead, they kept working for more, leading by 21 points at one time in the final minutes. With a full squad going full force, WHS could have made the game much closer.

The teams poured 43 points through the hoops the final period, NCHS making 25 and WHS 18. However, many of the winning team's points came in the final minutes with a weakened Wildcat squad having three or more starters missing. The Knights made 14 points and Winside 7 the last three minutes. (Had the teams maintained this pace throughout the contest, they would have scored a total of over 225 points).

Bob Dangberg was a pesky man on defense, stealing the ball 9 times. Reed Wacker stole it 4 times and Randy Jacobsen and Keith Krueger 1 each.

REBOUNDING GAINS another shot for Reed Wacker, Winside shown with the ball. Also after it were teammates Keith Krueger and Norfolk Catholic players Dick Hodge, Dennis Hodge and Rusty Mailliard. 20.

R. Wacker had 19 rebounds, Krueger 16, Dangberg 8, Jacobsen, Don Longe and Keith Wacker 2 and B. Wacker 1. Dangberg had 7 assists, R. Wacker 5, K. Wacker 3, Krueger 2 and Jacobsen and Longe 1 each.

Jacobsen was the game's leading scorer with 21 points. R. Wacker had 18 and Dangberg 13 for Winside. Norfolk Catholic was led by Dennis Hodge and Bob Sevensing with 20 and 19 respectively. Dick Hoille had 15, Rusty Mailliard 12 and Mike Arkfeld 11 for about the most balanced scoring attack any team could want.

The reserve game was a preview of what was to come. The Knights won with leads of 15-8, 31-15, 46-26 and 52-37, the last being the final score. Dave Witt's rebounding was a highlight for the Junior Wildcats who had ten men scoring but none making more than 9 points.

Keith Wacker led the way with 9. Doug Deck and Dave Witt had 6 each, Phil Witt and Kirk Troutman 4, Dan Bruggeman, Fritz Weible and Scott Duering 2 and Bob Farran and Greg Troutman 1. For NCHS, Jim Classen had 18, Leo Spittler and Jeff Mockmuller 11 and Paul Hughes, Charles Clark and Jeff Engel 4 each.

Following is the box score of the varsity tilt:

Santa Gives Out Treats at Carroll

Santa arrived at Carroll before the kids did Saturday night. Youngsters lined up outside the auditorium to await his arrival and then learned when the doors were opened that he was inside. Carroll Community Club had 250 sacks of treats ready to hand out. Volunteers helped Santa distribute fruit, nuts and candy for almost an hour. Santa talked to each of the children as they went by. He had a little more to say to the little ones and was in a jovial mood, much to the delight of the ones who believe.

Due to the semi-automatic mechanism on the wringer it shut off and she escaped serious injury.

George Bodenstedt, long time resident of this area, died Sunday at his home. Mrs. Ward Williams died Sunday evening at Dahl Retirement Center.

Police Check Pair of Accidents on Weekend

Wayne Police Department checked two traffic accidents over the weekend. No one was injured but one involved considerable property damage.

Dec. 17 just west of the flashing signal at Main, Rev. E. J. Bernthal, Wayne, backed up due to a car stopped ahead. Herbert Neimann, Carroll, was backing into a vacant parking stall and the cars scraped. Officer Keith Reed investigated.

The following day at Third and Logan, Lynette Fiene, Jamison, Nebr., was eastbound on Third. She failed to see the stop sign and collided with a southbound car driven by Merlin Beiermann, Wayne. Officer Alan Peck investigated.

POSTMASTER WIGHTMAN

JUST A FEW of the Christmas cards that will never reach their destination are shown here being handed from Club Skater to Don Wightman. The cards were placed with non-mail items and cannot be forwarded or will be destroyed after a period of time.

To Postmaster Don Wightman and other postal workers, EVERYONE'S mail is important. They do their best to handle a load that is becoming more of a problem each year.

In sorting mail, they are expected to handle several hundred pieces of mail per hour. All of the local employees excel at this with a great degree of accuracy. Mail is first sorted to the section of the city to which it goes. There are four city routes, two rural routes, the college and the boxholders. After being sorted into these divisions, it is sorted by the hour. All of the local em-

Not All Overflowing Bags Brought in By Jolly Fat Man in Bright Red Suit

To most people who visualize getting through at Christmas, the image of Santa comes to mind, loaded with sacks of good things, riding in a sleigh with reindeer flying over hooptop. This is not the true picture.

Men in blue carry many more bags of good things than the man in red riding in the sleigh. The men in blue of the postal department who face an unbelievably big job getting the mail through each

Christmas. An idea of the job all post offices face can be gained from a look at what happened in Wayne one day last week. This is not a big post office and what happens here is multiplied thousands of times over to give the nation's postal system the job of handling billions of pieces of mail.

Friday over 12,000 pieces of first class mail came into the Wayne post office for area residents.

This includes letters, some packages, and other mail. Saturday the mail was about the same.

This alone sounds like a job. But it is only the beginning. There are thousands of pieces of second class mail, third class mail, fourth class mail and packages. For instance, Saturday mail trucks brought in 200 packages for Wayne area residents.

To each individual, this mail is the important mail.

WIN THE IN-LAW

New bride in your family this Christmas? Here's a gift she'll treasure. Hunt out a supply of family photos — Aunt Nell, Uncle Charlie, Cousin Suzie, and all the rest. Mount them in a photo album, and jot a few facts about each underneath. Include a section of "memories" too — like snaps of the suave bridegroom when he was a toddler. And save some pages for a promise: you'll add other photos as time goes on.

EATIN' TREES

Stir 1/2 cup butter and 1/2 lb. marshmallows in top of double boiler till mallows melt. Pour over 5 cups dry rice cereal in buttered mixing bowl; mix briskly. Pack lightly into cone-shaped, waxed paper cups. Insert a skewer in each. When completely cool, tear away cups. Roll trees in colored sugar, and stick a few tiny candies in place of ornaments. Push skewer into large gumdrop for base. What do you have? Approximately ten edible Christmas-tree favors!

Two More Relate Meteorite Facts

Interest in the object used as a tombstone on George Heady's grave in the Wayne Cemetery is being maintained. Two more local residents have come forth with facts attesting to the origination of the stone.

Mrs. John Beckman, who with her sister, Mrs. Hazel Lessman, are the only two living known to have seen the meteorite, reports that she clearly remembers the farm, the storm, the meteorite and going out the following morning and seeing the hole made by the object.

She said the hole was not the result of dirt collapsing or washing away. It was there, no dirt was piled around it and there was no evidence of digging.

Mrs. Beckman recalled how they measured the depth of the hole. They tied a rock on a rope and lowered it until it would go no deeper. Then they marked the length of it that had gone into the hole. It was 50 feet.

Dirt on the surface and around the hole itself was burned red as far down as they could see. They could also tell that the area where the meteorite stopped was rounded out so it was bigger than the passageway it had made. Something had been driven into the earth and it had to be hot.

As a small girl at the time, she remembered all the visitors they had on the farm. She said the experts who came agreed that the object had come out of the sky.

Howard M. James, who worked at Wayne Monument Works at the time, confirmed what Mrs. Beckman said. He said the plaque on top of the stone is "Little Falls black" one-half inch thick.

According to James, they tried to engrave the meteorite itself and could not. This was not because it crumbled, but because it had neither grain nor "rift." (Rift is the natural cleavage, usually running at right angles to the grain). Had it been a natural stone, it would have been classified similar to marble, James said. He said he saw a stone shaped almost exactly like the one in Wayne (larger only not so flat, but still beveled like the one here) in a Denver museum and it was displayed as a meteorite. Thus, it is thought that meteorites come in various forms, some metallic, some stone, some jagged, some smooth, he said.

A humorous point of interest concerning the meteorite here was Heady's using it for stakes in poker games. He would often lose it when he put it up for stakes but he always seemed to wind up owning it again.

One final fact about the meteorite pointed out by James is the pulling loose of the grave stone. He said the object could only pull loose from the base if it were fine and not absorbent, which the material has proved to be.

So an object that fell in this area 71 years ago continues to stir up new interest and revive old memories. Its story promises to be around well into another year.

If you're about to buy a CENSORED or a CENSORED and can't get these options ...look at Ford before you leap!

Because if you want all these features in one car, you've got to want a '67 Ford. Your Ford Dealer can give you the uncensored story. But here's an idea of what Ford offers.

SelectShift Cruise-O-Matic transmission really gives you two shifts in one. It shifts automatically or lets you shift manually. That way you can pick the right gear to suit road conditions or just shift for fun (standard on XL and LTD).

The strongest, quietest, best built Fords in history offer you a variety of exclusive features to make your driving easier and more enjoyable. Like doors that lock automatically and Comfort-Stream Ventilation that exhausts stale air with windows closed. Add to this Ford's durability and famous quiet ride, and you've got a lot of good reasons to visit your Ford Dealer before you buy any new car.

Require SMV Emblems on Slow Moving Vehicles Starting First of New Year

Wayne County farmers and other residents of the area using highways or county roads to move about on tractors or other slow-speed equipment are reminded that effective Jan. 1 such equipment must bear the SMV—slow moving vehicle—in plain sight.

The symbol is to be mounted like a pyramid, with the base down, on the rear of the vehicles. It should be 3 to 5 feet off the ground in the center of the vehicle.

Drivers should make note of the fact that the emblems are not "width markers." That is, they will usually be in the center of a vehicle and do not indicate either the left side or the right side of the slow moving equipment.

Farmers are also advised that the emblem may reflect in the dark but it is not to be used as a safety measure to indicate a parked piece of equipment on a road. There may be times when slow moving equipment stops on the roadway but the equipment is not to be parked with the idea that the emblem will warn motorists

A 20-month grace period has elapsed for getting emblems affixed on the vehicles. Starting Jan. 1, they are required. Care should be made to have them attached so they are clearly visible.

Hoskins School Will Give Show Saturday

Hoskins Trinity Lutheran School will have a Christmas show Saturday, Dec. 24, at 7 p.m. in the Trinity Lutheran Church. "Let Us Go Even into Bethlehem," is the title.

All teachers in the parochial school are helping with the production, which includes recitations, scripture and singing. Every pupil has a role in the program.

School at Trinity is scheduled to be dismissed at the regular time Friday, Dec. 23. Classes will resume Tuesday morning, Jan. 3.

St. Paul's Lutheran Adds Chrismons Tree

After a year's work by some church members, St. Paul's Lutheran Church has decorated an 18-foot Christmas tree with "Chrismons." Over 200 symbols in white and gold are hung on the tree.

Everyone from children in Vacation Church School last summer to older church members have taken part. This has given the tree special meaning at this time of year.

Chrismons are Christian symbols of centuries past, cross, fish, triangle, circle, star and Greek letters. While styrofoam, gold mesh, pearls, gold beads, sequins and foil are used in gold and white only, symbolizing purity and majesty of the Lord, White lights remind Christ, light of the world.

Everyone in the community is welcome to visit the church and inspect the tree at close range. The tree will remain up for two weeks.

'Suspicious Looking' Men Require Action

What does a "suspicious looking" man look like? Two were reported in Wayne the past week.

Wayne Police Department records show one man being reported in a store, but was gone before the police could check on him. A second was reported to have followed a group of children to school ten days in a row.

In other police calls the past week, officers checked two accidents, marked cars for parking check, controlled traffic, investigated kids shooting a rifle in town, found a business place rear door open, picked up a stray dog and were asked to watch a home where the occupants were to be gone—leaving a key to the house with a trusted neighbor.

May all the joys of the Christmas Season be yours

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

You may not agree with an editorial -- but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

Wayne Welcomes You

The fact that it is necessary for the city to "make a statement" regarding overtime parking tickets illustrates how vicious a little information can become. A statement was made necessary because someone passed along a supposition as fact and it grew out of proportion to reality.

Wayne has always welcomed farmers and shoppers from other towns. Without explicit orders to do so, Wayne policemen have been understanding when outsiders were caught in law violations.

It should be obvious by now that someone has told an untruth about tickets for parking violations. There has been no wholesale issuing of tickets and there have been no excessive fines.

If a basketball player gets four fouls, he knows he will have to be more careful or he will get that fifth foul and "have to pay." Anyone can understand that. It should be just as understandable in the case where a man gets two warnings for violating the two-hour parking law. He will have to be more careful or he will get a ticket. It's that simple.

Anyone who has ignored two warnings and finally gets a ticket is not paying too much if he forks over $10 plus court costs. He at least should be a "believer" in the future. What's more, he could have received two warnings, been careful for three months, had his "record" cleared and then gotten two more warnings before being in danger of a court appearance.

But the main point is, two-hour parking in Wayne has made it easier to find parking spaces. This has benefitted the shoppers, and that's what the purpose of the law is in the first place. Anyone who has been hurt otherwise should step forward and make the facts known or else not complain to others about the "injustice" of a fine. —CEG.

Not Everyone's Business

Several times in recent weeks efforts of journalists to provide the news "the people want" have provided news that is not everyone's business. In fact, it is news that most of us resent hearing about.

Luce Haines Johnson Nugent, for instance, Word has been going around about her being pregnant. So what! Do we shout it when a local business man's wife is expecting a baby eight months from now? No, but maybe we should if we are to follow the accepted journalistic efforts to cover every move of the prominent.

Then there are the ones who brought up the fact that Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt scrambled eggs the night before Pearl Harbor. How earth-shaking! Maybe you would like to know what the editor did the night before Pearl Harbor too.

In another case, a book is being written that tells about an incident in the nation's life that is already over-covered, the assassination of President Kennedy. Aren't Mrs. Kennedy and her children entitled to any privacy? Any relief from prying eyes? Any protection from sensation seekers?

The Herald aims to do a good job of covering news. Maybe we're failing if we do not follow the rules of the big city journalists. They CLAIM to be providing the information people want, but it appears that they overstep the bounds of good taste and the right of privacy in many ways. —CEG.

Historical Site Saved

It was good news last week when the Wayne County Commissioners went along with the request of the Wayne County Historical Society in approving funds to save LaPorte Cemetery, a true historical site in this county.

The fact that so many groups had shown an interest in preserving the cemetery illustrates the need for such action. When one gets right down to it, the commissioners came up with a better answer than any that had been suggested.

LaPorte Cemetery will be cleaned up and fixed up. Then, funds will be available for continuous care over the years so it need never deteriorate again. Instead of being a blighted area, it can become a place to take young people to visit, to explain the gravestone inscriptions and to reminisce about what those difficult years in pioneer Wayne County meant when so many young died.

The kids from St. Mary's Catholic School, the Lions, the Legion, the Jaycees, the person who offered money of her own to restore a cemetery she knew as a youngster, the historical society and the others who expressed an interest demonstrate that given a cause, diversified groups can unite to work for a common goal.

Saving LaPorte Cemetery is the main goal. Now if there is any way to move the two graves in the deserted grove and the courthouse cupola a few miles away to the cemetery, it will become even more of a historical site of interest. For the present, there is considerable satisfaction in knowing people cared enough to do something that should have been done years ago. —CEG.

Governor-Elect Desires Minimum Tax Exemptions

LINCOLN -- Governor-elect Norbert T. Tiemann has indicated he will ask for a minimum of exemptions in any sales tax legislation approved by the 1967 Legislature.

He said other states have discovered that too many exemptions result in a weak taxing system -- and we want to avoid that.

The next Legislature is faced with enacting a new tax system -- perhaps an income or sales tax of both -- because Nebraskans not only defeated the state's first income tax act in the Nov. 8 election but also wiped out the state property tax.

Tiemann said he has not settled yet on what areas he wants exempted from a sales tax. But he said when he does, "We will be almost adamant" on the measure.

"Once you break the barrier in this respect, where do you go from there?" he asked. "This is one of the common mistakes in other states. There are too many exemptions."

The Republican governor-elect said he has made no decision on sales or income tax rates but said it is possible he will ask one or the other be open end to permit government to meet increasing budgetary costs.

"I'm not saying this will be the case but it is one of the possibilities we are studying. We will come up with the answer after more discussions," he said.

Tiemann said sales tax rates must necessarily be in line with those of surrounding states "so we can be competitive with our neighbors."

Tiemann said a sales tax could be collected with-rector Dan Jones, State Highway Engineer John Hossack and State Insurance Director Frank J. Barrett.

Noted Sculptor Dies
Sculptor Keats W. Lorenz, whose works include the State Capitol senate chamber doors, died in Lincoln recently after a long illness. He was 77.

A native of New York, Lorenz quit high school at 15 to work in a sculpturing shop in Boston. He moved to Lincoln in 1922.

His wood carvings grace public buildings throughout the central United States. In addition to the doors, they include a Georgian chandelier base in the governor's mansion and a limestone carving over the entrance to the Oklahoma County Courthouse in Oklahoma City.

Enrollments Remain Static
The State Education Department reports 313,819 students are enrolled in Nebraska's public schools this year. This is 62 students under 1965 and marked the second year in a row enrollments have not gone up.

William Schindler, chief statistician, said a final figure for all schools--public and private--will be released later.

Despite static enrollments, Schindler said, colleges still will be flooded with entrance requests for a least two more years--until the last of the post-war baby crop has graduated from high school. Backup Military Needed
Adjutant Gen. Lyle A. Welch says it is vital to Nebraska's overall security that a state military force be established as a backup to the national guard.

He said the support organization is needed to help in case of widespread natural disasters as well as fill the void which would result in the event of a federal mobilization of the guard.

"We have no reason to believe at this time that a mobilization of the guard might become necessary because of the Vietnam war but if it does, we would be in trouble on the home front since 80 percent of our guardsmen would be called up," Maj. Gen. Welch said.

"It is my duty to be ready for all possible situations--and I don't feel comfortable without a second team on the bench."

Welch said the backup force, which would be called the "State Guard," could be comprised mainly of military veterans who still desire to serve their state.

Initially, he added, five men cadres would be established at each of the 30 national guard armories across the state. Drills would be held five days a year.

Federal Funds Allocated
Nebraska has been allocated $71,178 for the 1967 fiscal year under the Federal Higher Education Act, State Banking Director Byron Dunn reports.

The money will be apportioned to colleges according to enrollment for use as student loans with annual interest rates of six percent.

Last year, Nebraska received $54,160. The money has been used up, Dunn said.

County Agent's Column

New "Rate of Gain"
This week we mailed to all 4-H beef feeders an announcement of a new "rate of gain class" at the County Fair.

No doubt we will be getting some questions about it. This may get less attention than it deserves because it seems at first glance so simple and perhaps unimportant.

Shows as conducted for many years have without question contributed to livestock improvement. We would, however, have to agree that the emphasis on winning top ribbons has led to many highly impractical and questionable practices.

The ultimate end of meat producing animals is the same -- the consumers table.

Along the way, there are four groups in general who have an interest in the final product. These are livestock breeders, feeders, packers and the consumer. I can think of no logical reason why their goal should not be the same.

A fairly recent innovation at our livestock shows are carcass classes. The goal here has been to select on the basis of quality and percentage of saleable or edible cuts. Fortunately, growth rate or gaining ability has been found to be highly compatible with superior carcasses.

Selecting animals with the inherited ability for high rate of gain has much to recommend it.

It has been shown in many tests that rate of gain is closely related to feed efficiency. We feel strongly that livestock shows could and eventually must adopt standards which will con-in that area. If they don't give the younger generation something to do to keep them there to spend their money and make the business district prosper, they will have nothing but an "Old People's Home." The way it is now they all leave either to another city and make that one grow or even some leave the state and what does Wayne gain by that, nothing I am sure.

Wayne has a lot of advantages with a college town which a lot of other places don't have. One thing young people are the ones that spend money as they eat more, wear more clothes, buy more cars and anything you would want to mention. Where older people don't need too many things any more as they already have most of their furniture, and their cars aren't on the move like young folks.

Come on let's do something about getting a place for the young to work and quit letting two or three of those business men run that town. If they would think about it a little more they would gain something by it as they would sell a lot more and then their stores could be more up and coming.

Everybody should put their shoulders to the wheel and move forward as nothing is ever accomplished by sitting back and just thinking and talking about a deal, one has to get in and put some effort towards the goal. This talking has been going on too many years--let's have an industry now.

11th Streets. Parking stalls have been painted without regard to a pedestrian walk way through the whole half block. Bring your camera up most any day about 5:00 in the afternoon and shoot in a picture north from in front of the drug store. If you gave the resulting print to the city council, I have a feeling they would buy a lot more liability insurance. Better still they might even paint lines for a pedestrian lane and enforce a "NO PARKING" ban on the lane.

Yours,

R. H. Banister

(The city council has decided to put up stop signs at the alley exits downtown. We are not about to panic; even with stop signs we think the alley exits are dangerous in the cases where two buildings are the borders. If you stop, you cannot see around buildings; move ahead a little and some unwary kid on a bike can still hit you. The fact remains, alleys opening onto Main Street are dangerous. Our suggestion: Don't use them unless you have to. Quoting an ordinance is not going to be very helpful to a bleeding boy beside a smashed bicycle or a driver in shock. —Editor).

Dear Editor:

I have never read of so many accidents in a community as they have here. People should use more defense driving. When one is driving a car that is a job all in itself, not to be doing other things as there are too many cars and people nowadays. Just because cars drive so easily is no need to think they can go without watching where one is going. Everything moves at a much faster pace nowadays. Defense driving is like a fighter going into a ring, he goes in there to defend himself. As soon as people crawl into their car and start moving it from the curb, it is a dangerous weapon, they should take caution immediately. It can even kill someone or damage people's property, they should realize what could happen and drive defensively and watch where other people are driving, as well as their own driving.

A stop sign means stop so why should a car that is in a standing position pull out when there are moving vehicles that have the right of way. This also has to do with cars that are parked, if one waits long enough there is always an opening. All intersections whether in the city or country where it might be more or less blind, people never seem to take enough caution. Their first thought, "Oh well that's just won't be anyone coming this time." There is no need in being in such a big hurry as when there is an accident, see how much time is lost. This happens time and time again. They say cars go out of control, but that is nothing but driving a car faster than one knows how to control it. Too many people when they get behind an automobile wheel just seem to go wild. It is always better to be behind schedule and alive, than try and make up time. If one sees some one doing something a little off the regular thing, slow up and let him get it done. Schools should teach more defense driving and really stress it and if everyone did defense driving there would never be an accident.

An interested reader.

Dear Editor:

May I suggest to your readers that they take a trip over what I call Wayne's Sky Line Drive? The route is 1 mile east from Main St. on Hwy 35, then 1/2 mile north, 2 miles east, 1/2 mile south and then west to Hwy 15. I think the best time for the trip is about 30 minutes to an hour after sun down--especially on an evening such as we have been having recently.

Your truly,
Bob Boeckenhauer
(We took your suggestion and followed this route Monday. It is beautiful, the valley, the lights, the glow from the sun "casting a shadow" over Wayne and the velvety effect contributes to a scene of breathtaking beauty. Readers, follow the route suggested. You'll love it. Take the kid along too. It is most inspiring. —Editor).

With Christmas coming up, this is an appropriate time to give a bouquet in the journalistic style to those responsible for the new Christmas decorations. Several have told us how much they enjoy the lighting. We know the neon and sign lights distract in the downtown area, but we think if you will drive in from the south at night you will get the full-scale view and realize how pretty the lights are. Next year maybe the "chapel windows" in gold can be in the campus area and the candles downtown. For our money, the candles stand out best now because they are away from other lights but those gold chapel windows will stand out even more when put in a group away from distracting lights. Anyway, congratulations to those responsible for getting the lights. A poinsettia bouquet to you!

Two cannibals were chitchatting after a hearty meal. "That was certainly delicious," said one.

"Yes," replied the other, "my wife does make good soup—but I'll miss her."

We're glad to see the Fourth and Main traffic signal changed to a flashing type signal. Those who "used" the light to get onto Main will miss it, but for the expediting of traffic the new system is the only way. Sunday traffic would seem to warrant all three signals used to flash only. Also, we still can't see why a signal at Seventh and Main would not be practical. If Pender can have one for two highways and its main drag, Wayne ought to be allowed to use one to keep traffic moving at a much busier intersection. It is worth a try.

Two detectives were standing over the body of Juan Gonzales. "How was he shot?" asked one.

"I think it was with a golf gun."

"A golf gun? What's that?"

"I don't know exactly—but it sure made a hole in Juan."

This meteorite business is interesting to us. Several of you have indicated you enjoy reading about it too. It is apparent that an object did fall on the McIntosh farm as the only two living witnesses have confirmed. With the scorched red earth around the hole in the ground, something hot had to make the hole. We have seen the meteorite fragment Judge David Hamer has and it bears no resemblance to the gravestone. However, there is much we don't know about space (an understatement if one was ever made) and we have no proof that the stone on the grave was not the object that made the hole in the ground. We sure enjoy hearing more about these things as we go along so keep feeding the information to us.
