

Wet Corn Decreases Profit, Farmers to Learn at Clinic

How much would it cost to dry your corn. Farmers attending the corn-bean clinic in Wayne Friday, Jan. 13, will find out. A series of experiments conducted by Behlen Manufacturing Co. the past season proves that drying corn does not cost money; but pays back money. Tests were conducted on ten farms of varying sizes and with all types of drying equipment for the documented survey.

Technicians determined the exact costs for each farm. They measured wet corn into dryers, took temperature and moisture tests, measured the precise amount of electricity and gas required to dry the corn and then weighed out the dry corn and did more temperature and moisture tests.

From the volumes of data, farmers attending the clinic will hear a precise report on the profitability of drying with various equipment for the documented survey.

Technicians determined the exact costs for each farm. They measured wet corn into dryers, took temperature and moisture tests, measured the pre-

A COUNTY OFFICER longer than any other present officeholder in the Wayne County Courthouse. Spide Bard is shown at his desk last week. He is continuing in the office helping the new clerk Norris Weible, get acquainted with duties.

C. A. 'Spide' Bard Leaves Position After Six Terms

After six terms as county clerk, C. A. "Spide" Bard retired from the post Wednesday of this week. His successor is Norris Weible, who was elected the past year.

Bard, 74, chose not to run again for the post he has held since January, 1943. Instead, he says he and his wife will travel AND FINH (the accent is his). Plans are being worked out for a trip to Texas or Arizona this winter and to the Minnesota lake country next summer.

The genial clerk, who is "Mr. Republican" to many, has held his county office longer than any other Wayne County official presently serving. Others in the courthouse may have been there longer, but not in one post.

Leona Bahde was there before Bard was. She is now county treasurer but was deputy treasurer before that. Judge David Hamer moved into the courthouse the same year Bard did, but not as judge, serving first as clerk of the district court and then being appointed judge in 1955.

Before running for the post of clerk in 1942, Bard farmed near Wakefield. It was there he knew Adelia Ring, who became his wife Feb. 24, 1916. They have one daughter, Mrs. Ken (Betty) Fischer, Blair, whose husband is a coach and teacher at Omaha University. The Bards have five grandchildren at the Fischer home.

Bard has seen a lot of change in personnel in the clerk and commissioners' offices during his six terms. However, he has

Wakefield Man's Name Announced

Since he was not present, he did not receive a check for $100 from the Wayne Chamber of Commerce. Consolation prize of $10 was mailed to him.

The drawing Thursday night of this week at 8 will be for $150. Taking home a check for that amount would be a nice way to start off the first week of the new year. Only those registered can win. Registration points are located at all business places in and out of Wayne listed in an ad in this week's paper.

The public is invited to attend open house at the new Wayne County Jail and sheriff's office Saturday, Jan. 7, from 2 to 5 p.m. Visitors will be conducted through the facilities and will have the modern features explained.

Sheriff Don Weible and Deputy Sheriff S. C. Thompson will be on hand throughout the afternoon. Visitors may come in through the north doorway.

Some of the features of the jail are unique. Included is a doorway control on the south row of cells. Electrically-operated, it opens and closes sliding barred doors inside the main cell area.

A hallway leads around the cell block, which means that no cell has a window (barred or otherwise) looking outdoors. Sections of the jail can be shut off in case females or juveniles are confined.

The biggest room in the cell block is a day room. It has shower, stool-wash bowl combination, metal table, drinking fountain and few other features. It is accessible from all cells in the south half of the cell block.

Each cell in the south section also has four metal bunks, stool-wash basin combination, drinking fountain and metal mirror. An opening through the door makes it possible to hand a tray of food through the doors without opening cells.

In the north half there is a "drunk tank" and two large cells. These cells would house women inmates and be shut off from other cells by a special doorway in the outer hall.

Each of the two big cells on the north side has a shower, stool-wash basin combination, drinking fountain, table and metal mirror. The doors provide for passing food in but they are locked with a key instead of electrically. They open directly into the outer hall, whereas those on the south open into a hallway leading to the doorway. The hall door opens into the perimeter hall.

No housewife would like the clothes hooks the cells

A driver improvement program is the aim of a defensive driving course to be offered at Wayne and Concord this month and next. All area licensed drivers are eligible to take part.

Trooper James O'Dell will handle both courses. Cost of the course will be $4.

National Safety Council and Northeast Station, Concord, are sponsoring the two courses. One will be held in Wayne at the high school and the other will be at the Concord station.

Both places the classes will be from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Class dates in Wayne are on Tuesdays, Jan. 24 and 31, Feb. 14 and 21. At Northeast Station classes will be on Mondays, Jan. 23 and 30 and Feb. 6 and 13.

Two main points will be stressed: Accidents are preventable; and accident situations can be avoided by defensive driving knowledge. The course is designed as a refresher to licensed drivers of all ages.

With the emphasis on driver re-examination for getting licenses, the course is most timely. Every driver needs to know how to prevent accident situations from coming up, according to Margaret Ann Stahly of Northeast Station. Checks should be made payable to Omaha Safety Council and should be in before Jan. 16. Name, address and the place they wish to attend classes should be included with the enrollment check.

Man Returns to Find Color TV Set Missing

When a Wayne man returned to his house last week, the color television set was gone. He reported it to the police.
 Later he called the police to report the set was not stolen as he thought. His wife had left after he had called a TV repair serv-

Five car owners returned to the spots where they had parked their vehicles and found no cars. The police had ordered them towed in for being parked over 24 hours in one spot.

The Wayne National Guard is getting back the field glasses missing from a truck last week. Some of the glasses were found between Lincoln and Wayne and turned in.

In other cases, the police checked eight accidents. They also checked traffic while patrolling streets and checked doors front and rear to see that business places were locked each night.

Wayne State's Bob Kruse Is NAIA All-American

Bob Kruse, a senior guard at Wayne State College, is a football All-American again this year, the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics announced Saturday.

Listed on the NAIA's offensive second team, as he was in 1965, Kruse is among six repeaters from first or second units last year.

Kruse has the additional honor of second-team All-American in wrestling—and is one of only three or four athletes with two-sport All-American recognition in NAIA history, officials of the organization report.

Kruse is a graduate of East Leyden High School, Franklin Park, Ill., where he was an all-conference performer in football. At Wayne State he is a member of Blue Key, men's honorary organization, the Student Council, and the W Club (president last year).

Dennis Kirby, senior halfback from David City, rated honorable mention on the NAIA All-American chart. He was Wayne's leading rusher and scorer in the 1966 season, despite missing three of eight games.

Kruse passed up several pro football opportunities after the 1965 season to complete his eligibility this year.

Dixon Fighting Irish Lose Hubbard Game

Dixon Grade School played Hubbard Thursday night on the Hubbard court. The Fighting Irish of DGS went down to defeat in two games, 34-4 and 32-7.

Bill Garvin is coaching the inexperienced but eager Irish who will play more games both at home and on the road. Louie Abts is scorekeeper and assistant coach. In the game between Dixon third to fifth grades and Hubbard third to fifth grades, Hubbard won 34-4. Richard Abts and David Dunn each made 2 for the Irish and Jim Hartnett was tops for HGS with 10.

The fifth through eighth grades followed with a 32-7 win going to Hubbard. Charles Peters made 4 and Don Knoell 3 for Dixon.

Others playing on the smaller team for Dixon this year are Bryan Bloom, Don Thompson, Noel Stanley, Merlin Knoell, Tim Garvin, Bryan Hirschert, Clayton Hartman, David White and Randy Dunn. Playing for the bigger team besides those listed above are Gaylord Strivens, Jim Prescott, Rick Dowling, Fred Moore and Regg Lubberstedt.

Wayne High at Madison Friday

Wayne High hits the road for the first game of the 1967 portion of the basketball season Friday. The Blue Devils tangle with the Dragons of Madison High on the MHS court.

Coach Harold Maciejewski's cagers have lost three games and won two so far. A win Friday would even the season for the Blue and White.

Blair and Plainview were victims of the Blue Devils. David City Aquinas, Laurel and Papillion won over the locals.

In the last game of the old year, Wayne impressed on defense with the ball-stealing of Mark Johnson a feature. Ability to hit from the court hurt the Blue Devils.

Following the Madison game, Wayne plays four games in a row at home with games Friday and Saturday nights the weekends of Jan. 13-14 and Jan. 20-21, Stanton, Bloomfield, Neligh and Ralston furnishing the opposition.

Black Hills Wins Holiday Tourney

Black Hills State College won the ninth annual Wayne State Christmas Holiday Basketball Tournament Friday by downing host Wayne, 81-61.

In the consolation preliminary for third place, Wisconsin State of River Falls edged conference rival Wisconsin State of Eau Claire, 80-75.

Top scoring honors went to Stan Johnson, whose 54 points (24 and 30) kept Eau Claire a contender in both games. Jim Harris of Black Hills scored 40 (21 and 19) and was a wizard on rebounding and ball handling.

Norman Nowell, also of the champions from Spearfish, S.D., ranked third with 37 points. Paul Kulig and George Voss of River Falls tallied 36 and 35; Bob Hope and Bob Strathman, 32 each for Wayne, and Ron Hintz, Wayne, 31.

Black Hills built leads up to 10 points over Wayne in the 41-34 first half of the trophy game. A Wildcat surge after intermission closed the gap to 49-48 within five minutes, then the Wayne boom collapsed while Black Hills put a devastating fast break into motion for the rest of the game.

Harris and Nowell paced the Yellowjackets with 19 points each. Wayne got 13, 12, and 10 points from Hintz, Hope, and Joel Parks.

River Falls and Eau Claire traded leads repeatedly through most of their first half until River Falls pulled away from a 36-all tie to a 46-38 rest. Stan Johnson contributed 20 points to the Eau Claire cause in this half—best single-half production of the tourney.

The Falcons continued in command till the end, but had to stave off several Blugold uprisings which twice closed the gap to three points. River Falls capitalized on balanced scoring with five netting 10 points or more—Kulig tops with 17, Jim Bloomquist with 16, George Voss and John Wolf with 15, Bill Glomski, 10.

For suspense the Black Hills-River Falls first-rounder was a corker. After 17 shifts of lead in the first half, the Dakotans held control until the closing five minutes when River Falls pulled within three points and finally one point with 1:20 left. Both teams missed several shots until a River Falls foul at game's end gave Black Hills a last free throw, and Ken Knapp made it 78-76 after the buzzer.

Wayne and Eau Claire scrapped on close terms until the hosts took the lead to stay midway through the second half and padded their margin to the final 87-76.

Undeclared Teams in Action Here Tonight

Two basketball teams with unblemished marks will tangle Thursday (tonight) at 6:30 on the Wayne City Auditorium court. Wayne and Norfolk teams will contend.

Coach Ron Carnes said Norfolk could be the toughest team Wayne will face this year. He knows of no common foes for the two so far but said Norfolk has a tough schedule. Reserve action will precede the freshman "varsity" tilt.

Friday at 5, Wayne freshmen play at Madison as a preliminary to the reserve and varsity games between the two schools. Monday at 6:30 West Point Central Catholic will play Wayne on the local court.

Swimmers, Wrestlers

Go Into Heavy Action

Wayne State swimming and wrestling teams will be in action several times in the coming week. The swimmers entertain St. Cloud State of Minnesota Friday evening at 7:30 in Carlson Natatorium, and on Jan. 14 they will swim at Kearney.

The wrestlers wait until next Wednesday for their action—against Dakota Wesleyan at Mitchell, S.D. Then they have two more meets in the week, both at home—with Colorado State College at 4 p.m. Friday in Rice Gym and with Yankton at 7:30 Saturday in Rice. And on the following Monday the matmen go against Morningside at Sioux City.

All the home meets in swimming and wrestling are free of charge. Mat fans will especially enjoy the tangle with Colorado State College, which has been one of the nation's top wrestling schools for years.

Winside Loses in L & C Tournament

Winside lost to Hartington Cedar Catholic in the opening game of the Lewis & Clark tournament at Coleridge Tuesday night. The win advanced HCC to the "main" first round against Coleridge at 8:30 Wednesday.

Next game for Winside is Jan. 13 at Osmond in a non-conference battle. Jan. 17 the Wildcats play at Wausa and Jan. 20 play Randolph at Winside.

In opening round games Tuesday, HCC beat Winside 69-49. Norfolk Catholic ran away from Ponca and Randolph had no trouble with Emerson. Hartington was set to play Allen and Coleridge was to play Cedar Catholic Wednesday night. Semi-finals are Friday and championship and consolation Saturday. Keith Krueger led Winside in rebounding against Cedar Catholic. He had 9. Reed Wacker had 5, Randy Jacobsen 3 and Bob Wacker 2.

The winners hit 31 of 70 shots from the court and 7 of 14 free throws. Winside managed only 18 of 51 from the court and 13 of 26 free shots.

R. Wacker with 11, Jacobsen with 9, Krueger with 8 and Dangberg with 7 led Winside scoring. R.F. Becker had 15, Goeden 13 and T. Becker and Heimes 10 for the victors.

Winside trailed 16-14 after one quarter but had dropped behind 30-23 at halftime. The Hartington Cedar Catholic team moved out in front by two more points, 46-37, by the end of three periods and capable of sound play on several occasions. The inconsistency showed up on both offense and defense. Coach Al Svenningson noted.

Never in the lead, the Wildcats challenged several times in the first half, which ended 41-33, then rallied after a lapse in the second half. The scoreboard read 59-51 with five minutes to go as the Cats showed signs of scoring finesse. Then they managed only three more points (on free throws) while Northern added 15.

Dean Elofson got his first chance at extended duty in a starting role and contributed 11 points plus a team-leading eight rebounds. Bob Strathman topped Wayne scoring with 20, and Bob Hope hit 12 to make his average 11.1, highest of his Wayne career. Strathman is averaging 17.3.

Northern's offensive patterns gave Wayne trouble frequently, but it was the long jump shot that inflicted the most damage.

INNER HALLWAY on the south side of Wayne County's new jail is shown. Sheriff Don Weible is standing at the door to one of the cells. The doors, with slots for food to be passed through, are operated electrically from the outer perimeter hallway.

They turned on lights in 10 rooms on both east and west ends of the hall to create the cross at Christmastime. From the angle taken, the "Crossbar" appears to be at an angle. Actually, it was a perfect cross.

Swine Marketing Innovation Told

"Forward contracting," a new type of swine marketing procedure, will be a highlight of the area swine day program in Wayne Jan. 26. Similar sessions will be held in York and McCook.
The eastern corn belt already uses this system and it will be offered in Nebraska by a major packer in 1967. In essence, it involves a contract between a packer and producers to deliver a specified number of hogs on a certain date for slaughter.

Bard

seen little physical change in equipment, most of the changes being minor except for a photostat machine.

Among the commissioners who served since Bard became clerk are Frank Erxleben, Bill Misfeldt, Mark Swihart, Ernie Meyer, Irv Jones, Herb Honey, George Stolz, Oliver Reichert, Ed Glassmeyer, Henry Hohnke, Lee Swinney, John Surber and Roy Davis.

Clerical help in the office those 24 years has included Amy Pearl Barnes, Izora Laughlin, Joyce Morris, Esther Erxleben, Dorothy Hamer, Judy Froman, Helen Ellis, Gail Goodell, Susan Wert, Marion Perry, Marilyn Matthes, Greta Morris, Mardelle Nordstrom and Marie Brittain.

Ever a colorful character, Bard has provided a lot of fun for his fellow workers and his fellow county officials. But one official suggests if the fun is mentioned not to forget the work that has been done. He pointed out that Bard and his office have been cited many times by state officials for the efficiency of the county records, calling them "among the best handled in the state." (Spide heard the fellow official tell about this and chimed in: "Don't spread it on too thick," a typical Bard reaction to disclaim personal credit.)

About ten years ago (1936) to be exact, Spide had his picture on the front page of the Omaha World-Herald in a fistful pose reminiscent of John I. Sullivan. At the time, he was one of a group of clerks who had been told they counted their absentee ballots at the wrong time. Bard had gone to Lincoln to see the accusing secretary of state, proved that he was among the clerks who counted absentee ballots at the right time and the Omaha newspaper had him pose fist-up with a deputy secretary of state.

There has also been some difficulty over Wayne County surveys made years before Bard took office. He recalls that the method of "surveying" in pioneer days was to tie a handkerchief on a wagon wheel, count revolutions to measure land, drive in stakes after so many revolutions, take a shot of whiskey and start rolling the wheel again.

This all came out when several "wedge-shaped" parcels of land in this county were also thought to be in Thurston County. At the time, Wayne County extended eight miles east of the present line. The land is now in Thurston County since most of it at the time was Indian reservation.

Although he has been clerk all these years, Bard has also been "deputy sheriff" on more than one occasion. He has been deputized to accompany a sheriff on calls once having to go to the home of a friend who had killed himself. Another time, he and Judge Hamer were deputized to go to Laurel and help guard a B-17 plane wrecked to keep people away until air force officials could collect all the debris.

While he has been clerk, he has also been judge and sheriff. Prior to Judge Hamer taking office, the county judge had been sick for about three months. During that period, Bard was acting judge, hearing cases, taking care of judicial work and even performing two marriages. He was also acting sheriff prior to Don Weible taking office. The previous sheriff died and Bard was asked to serve until the new sheriff took over.

About that nickname. He recalls he was about eight years old when a friend called him "Spide." Before long everyone was calling him "Spide," even his parents. Now most of his mail comes to Spide Bard and few know that his name is really Clarence Arthur.

Today there is a new clerk in the office. If he sticks around as long as Bard did, it will be 1991 when he moves out. There may be another longtime clerk, but there will never be another Spide Bard.

With no regrets, with many memories and with countless friends, Wayne County's dean of county officials bowed out this week, not to inactivity but to activities of another type—including fishing!

Accidents

Ivan Jensen, driving a Wayne Rendering Co. truck, skidded on ice into the rear of the Hughes car. Hughes and Mrs. Brugger both complained of neck injuries and were taken to a doctor.

Dec. 29 at Eighth and Main, E. L. Hailey investigated a mishap. Emil Reinhardt, Wayne, was northbound on Main. His car slipped sideways into the path of a southbound car driven by Allen Boelter, Wayne. Damage to the Reinhardt car came to $52.40.

At Eighth and Pearl Dec. 31, John Schreiber, Cole ridge, was southbound on Pearl St. He went to turn left at Eighth, skidded and struck a utility pole. Officer Peck investigated.

Officer Reed investigated an accident in the 100 block of West First Dec. 31. Danny Bilson, Wayne, made a right hand turn off Main onto First, skidded on ice and struck the car of Donald Brown, Fremont, going east.

First accident of the new year was Jan. 1 on Main just north of Fourth. Officer Alan Peck investigated. Duane Backstrom, Wayne, was turning left off Fourth onto Main. His vehicle slid sideways, striking the car of Dale Preston, Wayne, going south on Main.

Second accident of the new year occurred on Main in the 500 block. Fred Hurd with his wife as a passenger was northbound on Main. He lost control of the car on ice, spun around and struck a concrete block retaining wall. Mrs. Hurd suffered a cut on her right knee and was taken to the hospital. Chief of Police Vern Fairchild investigated.

Jan. 3 at Tenth and Windom there was a three-car mishap. John Lippert, Columbus, was westbound and was unable to stop for a stop sign. His car struck the southbound car of Donald Bosworth, Scribner, who had been unable to stop for a stop sign also.

Dennis Rowe, Ralston, was westbound, stopped at a stop sign (the intersection is a three-way stop) and in attempting to pass by the Lippert and Bosworth cars his car started sliding and slid into the Lippert car. Chief Fairchild investigated.

year when girls won four of the six prizes.

The top winners in both divisions were boys. Ervin Brugger won for the children in the kindergarten through third grade and Mark Lambert won for those in fourth through eighth grade.

Prizes of $5, $2 and $1 were awarded for the first three places in each division. Judging was done by three individuals at separate times with points being given for each placing and the total points earned determining the winners.

Ervin Brugger, whose guardians are the Waldon Bruggers, Winside, used light colors in decorating the Dahl Retirement Center ad to win first. In direct contrast, Sam Lambert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lambert, Wayne, used bold strokes to accent lighter coloring of the Meyer Oil Co. ad. Daniel Johnson, son of the Don Johnsons Wayne airport, won third with a bright-colored Carhart Lumber Co. ad with added fluffy cotton for beard and snow.

The Carhart ad was also colored in spectacular fashion by Mark Lambert, son of the Tom Lamberts, Wayne, to take first in the older group. Lynelle Dolph, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Dolph, Wakefield, won second with a thorough coloring job on the Meyer Oil Co. ad. Third place went to Patty Albertsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Albertsen, Wayne, using unusual shades for coloring the Brandstetter Implement Co. ad.

Many entries came in this year, most of them exceptionally good. The large ads seem to be most popular but some of the detail work on the smaller ads was also quite good.

have. They collapse under a given amount of weight they give way. Such hooks are designed to thwart attempts at suicide by hanging.

A feature of the south day room is a bullet-proof glass through which visitors can see inmates. A device below enables those inside to visit with those outside.

The drunk tank has a self-flushing system. Press a button outside the cell and water comes up, flushes the floor and then drains out through a big floor drain. The drunk tank is barren except for two low wooden benches, built low so if someone rolls off they do not have far to fall.

Other features in the jail itself include storerooms for mattresses, bedding, towels and other supplies, special lights and glazed glass so even though prisoners can get light they cannot see outside. The mattresses are plastic-coated and easy to clean. All lights in the jail cells and hallways are controlled from a panel in an outer hall next to the sheriff's office.

The sheriff has two small rooms plus a reception room. It has entryways to the south and north. Off the west and northwest are the living quarters, in which Sheriff and Mrs. Weible and family live.

What will happen to the old jail and sheriff's residence? No one knows now. It will be used for assessing work through February. After that, who knows?

cise amount of electricity and gas required to dry the corn and then weighed out the dry corn and did more temperature and moisture tests.

From the volumes of data, farmers attending the clinic will hear a precise report on the profitability of drying with various equipment under various conditions. Behlen experts will be able to advise farmers on the type of equipment best suited to their operation. Farmers with drying equipment will be able to compare their results with the on-the-farm experiments.

Drying and storage will be one area covered at the '43 meeting. Experts from several major concerns will cover all phases of corn and soybean production from soil management through harvest.

Special emphasis will be given to new crop management practices, such as narrow rows, chemical weed and insect control and improved seed varieties. Farmers will have an opportunity to question the experts on any phase of their own operations.

A free meal will be served at noon. There will be door prizes, several firms will give out souvenirs to all visitors and there will be other attractions.

The clinic is sponsored by Allis-Chalmers, Behlen, DeKalb, Shell, Amchem and Sherrys. There is no admission charge.

Last year's clinic drew farmers from many miles away. Several drove to Wayne after missing a similar clinic in their own area and hearing from neighbors how beneficial the information received could be.

and Feb. 14-15, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Hoskins, Jan. 2-31 and Feb. 1-28, 8:30 to 5 p.m., except Sundays; Wayne, Jan. 2-31 and Feb. 1-28, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., open Saturdays but not Sundays.

In Wayne the assessing will be done in a new location. Instead of going to the assessor's office in the basement of the courthouse, property owners will go to the former residence of the sheriff.

Arp will have Owen Jenkins assessing at Winside, Robert I. Jones at Carroll and Sholes, Henry Walker at Hoskins, Charles Miille at Wayne and Altona, Art Storm at Wayne and Arp himself at Wayne and Altona.

New rules require reporting social security numbers. Those going in to be assessed are asked to bring records showing items of equipment as to type, model, year and cost, a list of equipment that has been depreciated out and other records. (A full list of what is expected appears twice in last week's Herald, once in a front page news story and once in an ad on page 6 section 1).

Assessor Arp, his staff at the office and his assistants at the various assessing points stand ready to help in any way for those who have questions about the assessing procedure and requirements this year.

Kiwanis Learns of Twelfth Night Idea

How the "twelfth night" tradition came about was explained for Wayne Kiwanis Club members at the Tuesday noon meeting in the Woman's Club rooms. Rev. S. K. de Freese, pastor of Redeemer Lutheran Church, told the members about the tradition.

According to Pastor de Freese, the twelfth night after Christ's birth, the wise men visited the manger. Martin Luther knew this, and on observing the star of the east through pines the twelfth night he thought trees could be tied in with the night.

The English have burned yule logs for years on the twelfth night. Locally the Kiwanis Club has sponsored a Christmas tree burning ritual on the twelfth night, which is Friday.

Clarence Carson, vocational guidance counselor at Bloomfield, and Bob Reide, salesman from Minneapolis, were guests at the meeting. Howard Witt, WSC director of dormitories, will speak at next Monday's meeting.

teachers, ministers and the average man on the street. Goble attended a youth congress in Florida in 1965 and saw first-hand the youth jury system. He visited Arkansas State Penitentiary in 1965 to visit with US officials in "Operation Teenage." Last October he was in Washington for three days with government officials.

Currently chairman of a respect-for-law project in Lincoln, Goble has received inquiries from the nation's capital and all over the country. He is basing the program on his own experiences. He is a Korean veteran, attended NU, is state manager for National Investors Life Insurance Co. of Nebraska, and is motivated in his hobby by the rising crime rate and the encouragement he gets from people to keep up his work. Most of all, however, he gets a lot of satisfaction out of helping the young and talking to them.

WHAT HAVE WE LEARNED THIS YEAR ABOUT CORN & SOYBEANS?

It has been a wild year in the corn-bean belt. Floods - drought. Hot weather - cold spells. The usual storms. Bugs - weeds.

In 1965 Clyde Hight of Illinois established a new corn record of 201 bushels per acre on 388 acres. In 1966 many farmers in Clyde's area had almost total crop failure from lack of moisture. What happened to Clyde?

CLYDE HIGHT

What happened during 1966 to other thousands of farmers using production techniques recommended at last winter's corn-bean clinics? What happened to producers not using these tactics?

TOM DORCEY, Wayne, is shown as he appeared the past week in The Herald office, telling of his enthusiasm for his assignment to Paraguay for work with the Peace Corps.

Wayne Youth Leaves for Two Years; Works With Peace Corps in Paraguay

What do you know about Paraguay? You will get to know more in the next two years as reports come back from a Wayne youth, Tom Dorcey, 21, who left for a two-year stay in that country this week. He will work in agricultural extension work for the Peace Corps.

It has been almost four years since Dorcey volunteered for the Corps. Since that day in 1963 when he enlisted, he has gone to Wayne State College and graduated, taken one semester of law at Creighton University and served as a student teacher.

After being called by the Peace Corps in 1966, he went to New Mexico State University for training with other Corps members for work in Paraguay. The latter part of November of the group went to Torreón, Coahuila, Mexico, where they observed agriculture processes.

The boys lived in "ejido" communities and learned the language of the country, received a "culture shock" and observed and learned extension methods. While there, the boys helped with insecticide spray on cabbage crops, cotton fields and other plants, rode burros, visited school and most important of all visited people. Girls were taking homemaking work at the same time.

Paraguay has been chosen as one of the newest countries to get Peace Corps workers. It is one of 20 countries in Latin families. Dorcey said domestic animals will be common in the flat Paraguayan countryside where the temperature last week hit 102 degrees. (Next winter—July and August—it will get as cold as 40 degrees and in the next 12 months around 70 inches of rain will fall.)

It was in 1963 Dorcey learned so much about the Peace Corps. President Kennedy had stressed the need for agricultural work and Dorcey was just out of high school. He liked the president's ideas on the good Peace Corps work might do and he decided he could apply his knowledge of agriculture.

President Kennedy's views were reiterated Dec. 17 at NMSU when Jack Vaughn, director of the Peace Corps, talked to the 36 who will soon be in Paraguay. He told of the importance of this project, the first in that land which has few other Americans outside those on embassy staffs. He stressed that Dorcey and the others will work on the people-to-people level, a method which has proved successful before. Dorcey knows about the dusty land in spite of too much rain, the heat, the strange customs he will have to get used to, the lack of anything to do in free time, the problems of livestock diseases and inadequate farm knowledge he will face and the fact he will not be back until the fore part of 1969, but he is anticipating his trip, his work and his stay.

The 1959 graduate of St. Mary's Catholic School went on to Wayne High School, played football and basketball, was active in Newman Club at WSC, was named to Pi Gamma Mu honorary social science honorary at the college and graduated as the "outstanding student in history" from Wayne State. He was in 4-H work, 10 years.

He has been "preparing" for Peace Corps work the last few weeks on official records. Actually, he has been getting ready all his life but did not know it until 1963.

WORKING IN MEXICO in preparation to going to Paraguay for two years. Tom Dorcey found conditions similar to those he will live with in that South American country. He is shown on a Mexican ranch near Torreón, Coahuila.

Airman Michael Swanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Swanson, Winside, arrived Christmas day from San Diego to visit until Jan. 3. He is in the naval air intelligence office aboard the carrier USS Bon Homme Richard and will go to the Western Pacific later in January.

Also home is another Michael. He is Michael Lage, son of Mr. and Mrs.

The Ninth has been stationed at Ft. Riley, Kan., where it was formed a year ago from veteran cadre personnel and soldiers considered to be among the best ever trained by the army. Lorenz is a rifleman in Company B, Second Battalion, 60th Infantry.

Doug Manske, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Manske, has received his second promotion in a little over two months. He has been specialist fourth class and is now corporal. He is a gun battery chief on a tank and is based at Munich, Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Schulz, Wakefield, were called by their son, Merlin, who had landed Friday at McGuire AFB, N. J., after three years service in Germany. He is to be home for furlough for several days.

STGN Ken Chambers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Chambers, is here visiting until Jan. 3. He will report to Comcredent school in Boston, where he will take a two-month course in anti-submarine warfare. He has been in ASW school since taking boot training at San Diego.

Five and Ten Fines Paid by Six Drivers

There was not much variety in court fines in Wayne the past week. All six cases were of the "five and ten" denomination—$5 costs and $10 fine.

Appearing on an overtime parking charge Dec. 27 was Hal Sandahl, Wayne. Officer Keith Reed filed the complaint.

Two cases were heard Dec. 28. Diane Grimm, Wakefield, appeared on a speeding charge brought by Sheriff Don Weisbe and Glen Frevert, Winside, was charged by Officer Alan Peck with overtime parking.

Hearings were held for Randy Hansen, Tekamah, and Karen Munson, Wakefield, Dec. 29. The former was charged with making an improper turn, Officer Reed filing the complaint, and the latter was charged with driving without a license, Officer John Redel bringing charges.

First case of the new year involved Gerald Likes Jan. 3. He was charged with a stop sign violation. Officer Peck filed charges.

Babson Foresees Slowup; Sees No Reason for Panic

The close of 1966 marks the seventieth consecutive month in the life span of the longest business boom of all time for the American economy. However, "trees do not grow to the sky." Already, signs of deterioration in the expansive vigor that characterized the earlier phase of the business upswing have been

Wayne Woman Wins Polled Hereford Association 'Herdsmen' Recognition

Mrs. Jack Beeson, better known to her acquaintances as "Bev," has been named Herdsmen of the Year by the American Polled Hereford Association. It is the first time the award has ever gone to a woman. The selection is a distinct honor for any person because all herdsman vote for the person they feel deserves the honor prior to the national convention. The herdsman are people who work with, manage and own cattle. Presentation of the award was made at the APHA convention in Oklahoma City last month. Announcement was delayed until a picture taken at the meeting could be secured. Mrs. Beeson and her husband were at the convention for the second year in a row. They had no idea who was to receive the honor until the banquet at the close of the sessions. A native of Beaver Creek, Minn., Mrs. Beeson worked around cattle for years, her parents raising purebred stock. Mr. Beeson has been with Hervale Farms owned by Leland Herman and Mrs. Martha Herman since 1950. The Beesons were married in 1957. Although she loves working outdoors with cattle, Mrs. Beeson also does the housework. While she's preparing a meal, she will find time to work on something that needs to be done inside to get ready for work outside. In 1966 Mr. and Mrs. Beeson took five head of Hervale cattle to Oklahoma City. One bull won its class, another was third in its class, another fourth in its class and a heifer was second to the reserve champion female. The previous year they showed the national champion female at the APHA show. This year the half-brother to that animal was first in its class and sold for $5,000, fourth highest price paid for any animal in the show. Mrs. Beeson was a popular choice for the herdsman award. She received a bouquet of roses, a plaque and a rousing ovation at the convention. Her plaque was made out for a man but it still is a cherished honor. It reads: "American Polled Hereford Association Herdsmen Awards 1966. Presented in recognition of outstanding achievement in showmanship, sportsmanship, integrity, cooperative attitude and dedication to Polled Herefords as recognized by his fellow herdsman. His personal traits have contributed to the advancement of Polled Herefords."

increasing in 1966. Hence, the outlook for business and finance in 1967 is of greater-than-usual importance. Let readers of this column be tempted to "push the panic button," however, let me state that it would be unwise to expect a major depression in 1967. Our greatly expanded economy still has a considerable degree of momentum. The spotlight on 1967, therefore, should focus upon those factors which are likely to cause a breathing spell in economic activity. Politicians and labor leaders have a phobia against even a hesitancy in business, and rush headlong into measures designed to treat a case of pneumonia when cold pills would be more appropriate.

1. Although business and financial problems loom large in the prospects for 1967, I must first warn readers that the greatest danger for the year ahead does not exist on the domestic front. Surely it will be developments abroad that will hold the gravest threat to our country. These could be economic as well as military or political. I foresee no war between the United States and Russia in 1967. However, tensions between the two world leaders may seem to reach the breaking point as the Kremlin "goes all out" to create diversions to our efforts in Vietnam. Look for Moscow to throw salt on festering wounds in the Middle East, Africa, and Germany.

2. I am also hopeful that a direct clash between Red China and the U.S. can be avoided in 1967. Internal dissensions are rampant throughout Mainland China, and a great scramble for power is in full swing. Sabre-rattling may help to unify the people; but pressing problems of low productivity, plus the demands of her nuclear program, should restrain Red China from direct attack upon the United States.

3. The struggle for leadership of the Communist world camp will continue unabated throughout 1967. Full political attack will be mounted by the Kremlin against Peking. It will be touch and go, however, whether Russia can persuade her wavering satellites to sign a final manifesto reading Red China out of the Party.

4. Recent elections in West Germany have fanned the embers of nationalism into a tiny flame. This has surely thrown a scare into Russian leaders. I predict that they will take a harder line against Germany in 1967 than in some time. I feel that we should particularly watch General de Gaulle, who is playing closer and closer to Moscow from month to month.

5. Heavily armed with Soviet weapons, the Arabs of the Middle East—squared off against Israel—present a grave threat to world peace. Nevertheless, I do not believe that Russia or the United States can afford a direct confrontation at this time; hence my forecast that the smoldering conflagration there will not erupt into World War III.

6. While all reasonable people are hoping for a genuine peace in Vietnam, I predict that the issue will not be resolved in 1967. Though the tide of battle is swinging in our favor, we may be forced to increase our commitment in order to retain this upper hand.

7. I predict, therefore, that military spending will be raised in 1967. This can help soften the impact of any easing in the private sector of the economy.

8. Turning now to domestic conditions, I foresee a definite deceleration in business activity in 1967. The fantastic boom is in need of a rest. Instead of the strong up-trend of recent years, I look for a high level of industrial production early in the year; but unless some new stimulus is introduced, I fear that a cresting-over pattern is likely to develop as 1967 progresses.

9. I forecast a continuation of the tug of war between inflation and deflation in 1967. Tight credit, and increased productive capacity resulting from the flood of business capital expenditures in recent years, are deflationary. However, I can see no substantial relief from the inflation in labor and other operating costs. In short, we can have "cost-push" inflation co-existing with deflation.

10. A key factor in the business and financial outlook for 1967 is taxes. With defense outlays climbing, I look for a rise in corporate and personal taxes in 1967. Moreover, I forecast that various levies at the state and local levels will continue to increase.

11. The tightening tax squeeze on all fronts will worsen as the year advances. And there will be rising complaints from both businessmen and employees that social security taxes are becoming unbearable.

12. Results of the recent elections indicate that the headlong run of the Great Society Program must take a breather along with the economy. Gains scored by the Republicans have altered the balance of power sufficiently to force a more sober look in public spending.

13. One of the primary reasons for expecting a deceleration in the economy is the likelihood that business capital expenditures may ease. Tight credit, suspension of accelerated depreciation guidelines, and suspension of the tax credit on business capital outlays will be tough obstacles to surmount.

14. Except in defense industries, I look for an abrupt switch during 1967 from a business policy of inventory accumulation to one of inventory liquidation.

15. I forecast that scarcity of credit will continue to be a problem with which business must contend in the early part of 1967. The money managers should keep enough credit available for legitimate business needs, but I expect no early radical easing of credit.

16. However, I do foresee enough of an easing in credit to permit more orderly monetary conditions. If the economic situation falters badly, money rates will, of course, move downward sharply.

17. I predict that commercial and industrial building will trend lower in 1967, reflecting the tapering off in capital outlays.

18. Mortgage money should remain scarce in 1967. Hence, residential building should see another disappointing year.

19. 1967 opens with the building of single homes in a state of crisis. Starts are down over 40% from year-earlier levels. As a result, I forecast that the Administration will leave no stone unturned to stimulate construction of houses as soon as possible. At best, however, it may be midyear or after before this important part of our economy can contribute much strength to over-all business.

20. Although new housing starts may remain in the doldrums for most of 1967, I confidently forecast that the year will see the beginning of a great boom in the construction of new, modern nursing homes.

21. Despite President Johnson's request for cut-backs, public construction should enjoy a fairly good year; the emphasis will be on bridges, dams, and water and sewer systems.

22. The expected declines in residential building and in commercial and industrial building notwithstanding,

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

It is the duty of an editorial writer to search all available facts before he sits down to write. From this basis the writer should be able to give a clear picture of important topics.

About This 'Tight' Money

Who is responsible for the "tight money" situation in the United States? You are in two different ways.

First of all, you Wayne County residents are responsible personally. The American Bankers Association reports that people such as you are getting paid better, buying more goods and services and living better than at any other time in history.

The other way you affect it is through the government—and you are the government. Your government is financing the war effort in Vietnam and continuing heavy spending at home.

Figure it out on a personal level. If you have to buy a car, get a new suit for Johnny, pay for house repairs, stand for costs of medical care and a dozen other costs, money is going to be scarce around your house. You may have to budget a little here and a little there, cut back one place and sacrifice another.

The supply of money could be increased but that would cut its value. You have a pay check and you live on that amount. The government has a supply of money and the supply is regulated. So, tight money will be with us for a while.

ABA suggests you help by postponing your personal expenditures for items not absolutely necessary now. Then you should influence your government in the spending of your tax money by letting your congressman know that you expect the federal government to do its share to alleviate the problem by reducing non-defense spending.

It may not be convenient to do this, but it is a lot better than some of the other remedies proposed, such as increased taxes with no cut in spending for non-defense projects. Figure it out for yourself. It's your money—whether you spend it personally over the counter or your government spends it over the nation.—CEG.

The Daylight Saving Issue

Was anyone watching any other station when the editor was on KVTW with editorial opinion regarding daylight saving time? Everywhere there has been comment, not necessarily on the appearance but on the opposition to DST expressed.

Two groups stand out among those who have commented on the stand taken: That daylight saving time is not needed in an agricultural community.

One group has been vehement in opposition to our views. It is made up of golfers. It is easy to understand their views. It is harder to reconcile ours with theirs.

The other group is made up of farmers. Not one farmer has said he disagrees. A great many have said they feel exactly as we had thought they would feel.

In other words, you businessmen should listen to this indirect voice of the farmers. Even those farmers who play golf have not come forth in favor of daylight saving time. So if you are businessmen first and golfers second, then you should go along with farmer-thinking. On the other hand, if you are golfers first and business second, then "to heck with the farmers."

You may not agree with an editorial—but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

One group that has not commented is made up of mothers who face daylight saving time from May through October. In Iowa, mothers are conspicuous in a group proposing petitions calling for Iowa to ban daylight saving time.

You mothers picture yourselves in mid-July putting your children to bed while the sun is still high. Visualize what it is like in October as you rouse sleepy youngsters to get them ready for school when it is still dark outside.

Nebraska is an agricultural state and from the agricultural viewpoint, daylight saving time is not needed or wanted. If Nebraska ever reaches the point where it is an industrial state, then the situation could be otherwise.

You can expect daylight saving time to be an issue with the legislature in session this year. You will hear arguments on both sides. In fact, you may be asked to help decide what is best for you and for your state. When you and the other voters have decided, we will all live with it no matter which way the pendulum swings. No one should tell us what we ought to do. The decision should be ours—yours and mine. Remember that when the words start flying and someone else wants to do the deciding.—CEG.

THEY Thanked US!

The board of supervisors of the Wayne County Soil Conservation District has written a letter thanking The Wayne Herald for interest in conservation and assistance in the program for the past year.

They thanked us? That's comparable to a man who has just pulled a friend who couldn't swim out of deep water then thanking the drowning man for letting him save him!

Of all of the government bodies that function on local levels, we can think of none that is more profitable and deserving of support than soil conservation service. No offense is meant to other agricultural or governmental bodies; it just happens to be the way we feel.

Saving the soil and water resources of our country, making the best uses of them, working today for a tomorrow that may seem pretty vague and hazy but which will come eventually, making up plans for what was not included in yesterday's plans and working hand in hand with individuals and groups to stabilize the agricultural economy is a pretty broad program of service.

Wayne County is fortunate to have a dedicated group of individuals who devote their time to soil conservation work. The county also has an efficient work force for office and field.

If anyone should be thanked, it is the SWCD. On behalf of the people of Wayne County (and America), thanks to the board and the staff members for their interest in conservation, their assistance the past year and their work that has paid off in the past, is paying off at present and will pay off even more in the future.—CEG.

Legislature Asking For Treatment for Alcoholics

LINCOLN—The 1967 Legislature, which opened Tuesday, will be asked to authorize local organizations to establish detoxification centers for the treatment of persons arrested for public drunkenness.

Details of the plan will be announced later but generally the purpose will be to sober up alcoholics, then urge them to volunteer for treatment from public and private agencies.

State Health Department officials said the federal government could pay up to 90 percent of the staffing and equipment costs.

David Hancock, executive director of the Lincoln Council on Alcoholism, said alcoholism should be treated as an illness, not as a crime.

"These people are sick rather than criminals," he said.

Hancock estimated there are 45,000 alcoholics in Nebraska yet he said the state is one of few that has no statewide rehabilitation plan.

"There is definitely a need to do something as swiftly as possible," he added.

Lancaster County District Judge Bartlett E. Boyles, a member of the governor's study committee on alcoholism, said processing of persons charged with drunkenness has caused a housing problem for jails. Many cannot pay court-imposed fines and must serve short terms.

Judge Boyles noted some courts outside Nebraska have ruled that drunks should not be treated as criminals.

The U.S. Court of Appeals in Washington, D.C., ruled last March in the DeWitt Easter case that alcoholism is a disease and should be treated as such by law enforcement officials.

Authorities in other parts of the country have become concerned about the need for treatment facilities for alcoholics in expectation that the Easter decision might be duplicated in other federal courts.

Quotas Imposed In an unprecedented move, the defense department has issued quotas for new enlistments in the Nebraska Air and Army National Guard.

But Maj. Gen. Lyle A. Welch, state adjutant general, said the order will not restrict normal enlistment levels in the Cornhusker State units.

He said the quotas stem from a nationwide backlog of guard placements caused by regular army needs to train soldiers for Vietnam. The Nebraska quota for January is 89 enlistments, nine more than the state requested, Gen. Welch said.

School Unit Study Starts A comprehensive study of school district organization in Nebraska and three other Midwest states was launched this week.

It will seek to determine common school problems and study possible legislation. School district structure also will be examined.

The survey will be conducted by Dr. Ralph Purdy, chairman of the department of educational administration at Miami (Ohio) University. He will get $20,000 a year.

Dr. Floyd A. Miller, state education commissioner, said the study will be financed through a special federal grant. He called it "long overdue." He said Nebraska has "the worst school district organization in the nation."

Other states involved are Missouri, South Dakota and Iowa.

Court Test Urged A state senator has urged that the Nebraska Supreme Court be asked to determine if voters can legally repeal any new tax system adopted by the new Legislature.

Sen. Fred W. Carstens of Beatrice said there appears to be a conflict between state referendum and initiative procedures and statutes covering major revenue laws.

He said one section provides that "existing revenue laws shall continue in effect until changed by the Legislature." He said the people are not the Legislature.

Carstens raised the question after voters banished the state property tax at the Nov. 8 election. He wondered if this action was valid.

However, the State Justice Department replied in a formal opinion that it could see no conflict and that the property tax stood abolished.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Homer G. Hamilton told Carstens the power of the people to repeal laws enacted by the Legislature is as broad as the authority of the lawmakers to pass legislation.

Sorensen Gets High Award

Omaha Mayor A. V. Sorensen will receive the University of Nebraska's highest non-academic honor at winter commencement Jan. 28.

The school said the Builder Award will go to Sorensen for "outstanding and imaginative leadership in his community and state."

Sorensen, 60, was elected mayor of Omaha in 1965. He is a former president of the city council.

Report Delayed

The chairman of the Legislature's Roads Study Committee, Sen. Jules W. Borbach of Crofton, reports the comprehensive highway survey will not be ready until mid-January—a month later than planned.

He said additional time is needed to coordinate the three phases—needs, management and fiscal—of the $300,000 effort.

Purpose is to project needed improvements to existing facilities to cope with the traffic demands of the future.

Game Unit Wants Permits The Nebraska Game Commission is alarmed over the number of hunting and water accidents among the state's youth and wants to establish a junior hunting and fishing licensing program to raise funds for safety training.

Director Mel Steen said all fees from the permits would go for conservation, gun and water safety efforts. The program would cover persons 12 through 15. Those 16 and older currently must purchase a regular license.

"There is nearly two times as many accidents and fatalities in the 12 to 18 age group as any other age bracket," the director said. "This is due to the bravado of youth and the fact that many have never been taught safety."

Northeast Extension Notes

Margaret Ann Stahly

Grapefruit Graces January To make sure you take home only the finest grapefruit, look for firm fruit which are springy to the touch. They should be well-shaped, round or slightly flattened, and heavy for their size. The skin should be thin and fairly smooth textured. Grapefruit may have a reddish brown or reddish yellow color over its normal color, but this russeting does not affect flavor.

Any kind of decay, which usually appears as a soft discolored area on the peel at either end may affect flavor, making it taste flat and somewhat bitter. Fresh grapefruit will be best if stored in the refrigerator. Chilling enhances and brings out that nippy flavor.

From a nutritive standpoint, a half grapefruit can supply most of a day's Vitamin C requirements, and there are only 75 calories in half a medium-sized grapefruit.

There's a variety of uses for these flavor favorites. Served raw or broiled, in sections or as juice, it can be used as an appetizer, salad, dessert, or as a meat or fish garnish.

Winter Preparedness

Winter weather in Nebraska varies to the extreme. The weather can change from a balmy temperature to extreme cold within a matter of hours.

Many people enjoy winter as a time to hunt, skate or go sledding. Some people even feel better in cold weather. But winter is a dangerous time of the year unless proper precautions are taken.

The primary hazard of winter is the cold temperature. When accompanied by the prairie winds, the cold can penetrate the warmest clothing. Combining cold and wind with snow produces one of the most feared storms—the blizzard.

Every year many people are isolated by blizzards either in their home or worse—in their automobiles on some lonely stretch of highway.

An emergency kit made up for your car may be a valuable item for use in a blizzard or other emergency. This car emergency kit should contain a small first aid kit, flashlight, blankets, firebuilding equipment and shovel and tire chains.

A half gallon milk carton of sand will also be of value when your car is stuck against the curb. A small amount of sand under each rear wheel will do wonders in getting your car moving from the curb.

When stuck in a snow drift, do not go to sleep with the motor running. Carbon monoxide gas is a deadly poison produced by automobile engines. This gas will seep into the car and kill the occupants with no warning.

In a driving snowstorm it is better to remain in your stalled automobile

Demand For Beef

The structure of the beef producing industry is changing rapidly and more change is ahead if U.S. population expands and per capita income increases as currently projected.

By 1975, U.S. population is expected to reach 226 million and per capita income may well be up a fourth. Based on these figures, total demand for beef could be a half larger by 1975.

Since 1950, the beef industry has changed considerably. Major developments have been a growing concentration of meat retailing in chain stores and supermarkets, an increasing proportion of cattle fattened in feedlots before slaughter, an expansion of largescale feeding in the West and the rise of the Southeast as a supplier of feeder cattle.

Despite keen competition from large-scale western feedlots, the midwestern farmer who finishes small droves of cattle is usually able to stay in business. Why? Because his cattle feeding operation is a side line to other crop and livestock enterprises and it uses feed, labor and buildings that otherwise would be idle during the late fall and winter months. On this basis, a small return still adds to net income.

Herrman has resigned his pastorate at St. Paul's Lutheran church, Concord, and will deliver his farewell sermon this Sunday...Wayne's city council decided to drop an installation of parking meters in the city at a meeting last Wednesday night. The decision came after councilmen said they had received numerous complaints from main street businessmen... This week's issue of the Wayne Herald is being mailed to 9,000 NE Nebraska homes or about 30,000 readers. Leland Herman was named Wayne county's young farmer of the year by Wayne Jaycees.

Wayne and Winside basketball teams go into the stretch drive starting this week. Both teams have impressed at times and both have slumped. Against Papillion, Wayne was saved by a defensive press highlighted by the ball-stealing efforts of Mark Johnson, rebounding of Dave Brown and general defensive play of the team. The shooting percentage must have been terrible as no one could hit with any consistency. Winside has been on a roller coaster ride, first going up, then down. Better ball-handling is needed and adjustments required on defense to hold down the men who are hitting. Reed Wacker and Keith Krueger have the height that could aid the Wildcats in the stretch drive. Best of luck to the Blue Devils and the Wildcats. We'll be watching both!

If someone were to hold a clinic in this area showing newspapermen how other newspaperers are producing better papers at less cost and with higher profits we would make it a point to attend that clinic. So what? So, we don't have a newspaper clinic coming up. We do have a corn-soybean clinic scheduled Jan. 13 when area farmers will get a chance to find out how other farmers are doing to get better yields, top quality crops and show bigger profits. Now, Mr. Farmer, are you willing to spend a few hours helping yourself find out what others have spent months and years finding out? It's all free, it's all beneficial, it's all proved by others and there are bonuses such as prizes and souvenirs. How could you go wrong? The only other thing that could make it better would be to have a limousine call at each farm to bring you fellows into town and take you back home at night (and then have the driver do your chores). A successful clinic depends on you!

It is mighty nice of the Wayne Police Department and the Wayne City Council to make some streets in the hills of town available to the sledders. Our bouquet of the week goes to Paul Eaton, Wakefield. He is known throughout the area for his athletic ability but this week he received a new honor—he became an Eagle Scout. It might be easy for a top star in sports to let his talents go to his head, to get a little wild and to neglect studies. Paul is not that type. He was a student council member at Wakefield, served in the church, was in many school and community activities and has been a model young citizen. He is typical of many who go on through Scouting to reach the highest rank. Too seldom will one so talented and so blessed with natural ability stay with the Scouts through the hectic years of high school and into college as Paul has done. In ending with his goal, Paul Eaton has followed a trail few other stars of the gridiron, court, diamond and track have followed. His example is a good one for aspiring young athletes and Scouts to follow. A bouquet to Paul Eaton to share with one of the top groups in the nation at all times, the Eagle Scouts.

Church Young People Hosting Other Groups

Church young people in the area are hosting other churches' young people in a continuing series of meetings and programs. One of the most recent of these gatherings was held Thursday night at Trinity Lutheran Church, Winside.

Young peoples' groups and sponsors from Evangelical United Brethren and Peace Evangelical and Reformed Churches, Hoskins, Theophilus United Church of Christ and Methodist Churches, Winside, and Bethany Presbyterian and Congregational Churches, Carroll, were guests of the Trinity young people.

One of the next gatherings planned is at Theophilus Church. It will be held Sunday, Jan. 22, at 6 p.m. with two features: Rev. Earl Kruger, speaking on "Stewardship of Christian Living"; and an exchange student from South America.

Thursday night a dinner was served after which skits were put on by youngsters from Trinity and Theophilus. Songs were sung. Pastor Otto Mueller was in charge of a short worship. Keith Krueger played a trumpet solo and Mary Jane Hansen introduced Lonnie Behmer and Arala Tzegai, who showed slides and souvenirs of Ethiopia, told of life in that country and played taped music of Ethiopia.

Larry Pfeiffer is president of the sponsoring Trinity Lutheran League. About 80 young people and adults were present for the session, he said.

Aliens Reminded Deadline Nears

Aliens living in Wayne County and surrounding counties are reminded that they can be punished if they do not report their addresses on required forms by the end of this month. Cards are available for making reports at all post offices and should be returned to any post office. Parents or guardians submit reports for alien children under 14.

G. K. Callison, district director of the Omaha immigration and naturalization service, asks that aliens take care of this report before the last week of the month to avoid accidentally overlooking making one. All information supplied is confidential.

Two Chosen for Honor

Two area young people have been chosen for membership in Phi Eta Sigma, men's freshmen scholastic honorary fraternity at the University of Nebraska. Among the 19 honored were Kenneth Ray Marra, Wayne, and Walter Albert Lamml, jr., Stanton. Membership requirements for the honorary are at least a 3.5 average for the first semester or for the entire freshman year with at least 12 credit hours per semester during the time the average was attained. Primary goal of the honorary is to encourage scholastic excellence.

Two Texas girls were talking about an oil man they were about to meet. "He's worth in the neighborhood of a million dollars," remarked one.

Hoskins Club Has Nativity Tableau

Town and Country Garden Club, Hoskins, has started on a long-range project which will provide a nativity scene growing in features and beauty year by year. A start on the project was made this year.

The setting is the lot north of the Hoskins VFD Hall. Floodlights shine on the scene each night, illuminating the traditional manger figures and animals.

Lyle Marotz, Wayne Thomas, George Langenberg and Clarence Schroeder put the tableau up. Club members are making plans for additions to the display next year.

2 cups sugar, 1 cup Kero corn syrup, 1 1/2 cups milk, 1 stick oleo. Cook until real thick and stir constantly. Should be 245 on a candy thermometer. Add vanilla and pour into a buttered one loaf bread pan. When completely cold, turn out on a board and cut in squares. Wrap each carmel in wax paper at once. Another tip I've had from my professional painter friend may be unpopular because it means lots of hard work but we'd better pay close attention to it. Kitchens should be thoroughly washed before they're repainted because no paint will stick permanently to a surface that has grease on it. —MM.

One of the best cookies I've eaten for a long time is made around simple packaged corn flakes. I pass the recipe along. Mix in a saucepan 2 tbs. butter or margarine, 1/2 cup evaporated milk and 3/4 cup sugar. Cook and stir to a full boil and continue to boil and stir for 2 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in 1/2 tsp. vanilla, 1 1/2 cups corn flakes, 1 cup coconut and if desired, 1/2 cup broken nuts.

Use 2 tsp. to drop small blobs on waxed paper. Let stand until set. —MM.

Steak Burgundy sounds foreign and complicated but actually is quite American and very simple. Chop 6 little green onions fine and saute in a small sauce pan with 3 tbs. butter for 3 or 4 minutes. Add 1 tbs. chopped parsley and 1 cup American dry Burgundy wine and let simmer slowly while the steak is being pan-broiled in a heavy skillet. When the steak is done as you like it, remove it to a hot platter and add 3 tbs. butter to the juices of the steak left in the pan. When the butter has melted, add the chopped onions and wine to the skillet, stirring in slowly. Add salt and freshly ground pepper to taste. Let the sauce boil up, then pour it over the steak. —MM.

Loans Guaranteed by VA Limit Interest

Chris Bargholz, Wayne County veterans service officer, reports that veterans who have GI home loans cannot have the interest rate on the balance increased. Loans guaranteed by VA do not contain an interest rate escalation clause and veterans can pay only what they signed to pay at first. Bargholz also reports that veterans with 50 percent or more service-connected disability who waive retirement pay are entitled to additional compensation for wife and children as dependents. Finally, he points out that those with discharges "other than honorable" can have their discharges reviewed under a new law. Evidence of rehabilitation is one of the requirements. Information may be obtained from Bargholz or from the VA district office in Lincoln.
