TWO HANDS are better than one. Wayne High's Dave Brown (in white) has two hands on the ball in this rebound while Neligh's Dennis Ptak tries to gain control with one hand. Herb Swan is No. 54 for Wayne. Larry Johnson is No. 43 for NHS.

Devils Make Clean Sweep in Weekend Cage Games with Neligh and Ralston

The Wayne High Blue Devils chalked up two more victories over the weekend by outscoring Neligh 66-50 on Friday night and Ralston 53-38 in the Saturday night contest. The Devils, under the direction of coach Harold "Mac" Maciejewski, staged impressive shows highlighted by near-perfect ball control and aggressive defense in both games which were held at Wayne's Rice Auditorium.

The first quarter of the Friday night competition against Neligh ended with Wayne holding a slim one-able to close the gap in the final eight minutes despite a full court press which they employed throughout the quarter. The fourth period was Wayne's best-scoring quarter as they poured in 23 points to clinch the victory. Herb Swan pulled down 12 rebounds to lead the Blue Devils under the boards. He was followed by Dave Brown with 10 and Gordon Jorgensen with 5.

Again in the Saturday night battle the Devils made an impressive showing as they outscored the Rams from Ralston by the score of 53-38. Although the score seems to indicate a rather easy victory for the Blue Devils, Wayne fans were uneasy at one point late in the third period when the local boys grasped a mere 4-point lead.

The game began with controlled offenses by both teams during the first stanza. However, the Devils did manage to pull out in front by 5 points after one period of play, 14-9. Ralston gained one point on the Devils in the second quarter as the half ended with Wayne leading 24-20.

The action really began in the third quarter as both teams scored consecutively for four minutes before Wayne increased a 32-28 lead to 41-32 as the third quarter came to an end. The fourth quarter found Wayne again demonstrating their ball control offensive ability as they scored twice as many points as Ralston and walked away with victory. Gordon Jorgensen fought for 14 rebounds to lead the Wayne cagers in rebounding. Herb Swan and Dave Brown followed with 8 and 5 rebounds respectively.

Free Throws Aid Foe of Winside

Winside and Randolph scored 46 points apiece from the floor Friday night. However, the Cardinals scored 16 free throws compared to 13 for the Wildcats and those three points were the margin of victory for RIS 62-59.

The day season is nearing an end for Winside. The Red and White play in the Stanton Invitational next week and have games scheduled at home against Allen Jan. 27, at Hartington Cedar Catholic Feb. 7, at Hartington Feb. 10 and against Emerson at Winside Feb. 17 before entering district tournament play.

Winside had a bad third quarter Friday or the Cards would have been in trouble. The Wildcats trailed 11-9 after one quarter and led 35-30 at halftime but Randolph spurred to a 48-43 lead in the third stanza by outscoring the Red and White 18-8. In the final period, Winside came back to outscore RIS 16-14 but the damage had already been done.

Reed Wacker poured 18 points through the net to lead Winside. Bob Dangberg made 13, David Witt 11 and Keith Krueger 10 as WHS presented a balanced scoring attack. Randolph also had balance, Bob Hansen making 20, John Moen 15, Randy Beltz 11 and Guy Mueller 10.

Winside picked off 18 rebounds to 16 for the visitors. R. Wacker had 8, Krueger 7, D. Witt 2 and Randy Jacobsen 1. In the reserve game, Randolph also won but by a wide margin. The Cards led 6-5 after a slow first quarter, 16-11 at halftime, 21-19 at the end of three periods and 29-23 at the end of the game.

Doug Deck was leading scorer for Winside with 7 points. Bob Jackson hit 6, Bob Wacker 5, Bob Farran 4 and Kirk Troutman 1. For Randolph, L. Van Slyke and D. McGrew had 10 each, J. Hansen 5 and L. Dowling and D. Rossbach 2 each.

Suffers Broken Leg

An unidentified man was found lying beside the railroad tracks on Logan Street the past week. He had become intoxicated, police records show, and fell on the icy surface, breaking a leg. He is hospitalized here. In other activities, the police towed in a car left overtime on East 10th, found a business place door left unlocked, found a water main leak so shut off the line, patrolled streets, checked traffic, marked parking zone cars and carried out routine assignments.

Traffic Mishaps in Decline Past Week

After a two-week period in which traffic accidents averaged 10 a week, the city of Wayne had only two the past week. Slick surfacing was a contributing factor in each.

Jan. 17 at Second and Sherman, Bette Ream, Wayne, was southbound. A tree obscured visibility and she did not see Leo Wortman, Wayne, eastbound. Both cars skidded on ice as drivers attempted to stop. Mrs. Ream suffered a bad bruise on one knee, according to Chief of Police Vern Fairchild, investigating officer.

On Lincoln Street Jan. 20, John Addison's car was parked just south of Seventh. Arda Meysenburg, Wayne, was northbound and struck the left side of the parked car. Damage was estimated at $144 to the Addison car and $53.85 to the Meysenburg car. Officer Alan Peck investigated.

Power District Adds New Type Equipment

Wayne County Public Power District has added two new pieces of equipment to better serve patrons winter and summer, according to Manager Cal Cornstock.

A 25-horsepower Categorator is designed for use in the most adverse conditions. Its crawler-type movement enables men to drive it over snow banks, through fields and on drift-blocked roads.

With it, WCCPPD workers can get to switches to change power sources when lines fail, can get to the pole-loading area to get poles to replace broken ones no matter how deep the snow is and can move at 25 mph without tracks and 12 mph with tracks.

The Categorator has an attachment that is not what it appears to be. It is not used for opening roads or clearing spaces even though it is a blade. It is used to get into the pole area, clear snow away from poles so they can be brought out.

Another piece of new equipment is a hydraulic hole digger. It will enable district workmen to put down holes faster in all types of soil.

The Categorator is the first in Northeast Nebraska. Built for "snow country" in Minnesota, it is being accepted in many areas as necessary equipment during the winter months when crews working on power lines have to get out before crews working on roads do.

NINE DECADES have gone by since Henry Von Seggern, Winside, was born in Germany. He is shown with his wife the past week when he observed his 90th birthday.

Winside Man Hits 90-Year Milepost

A resident of Winside 41 years as a retired farmer, Henry Von Seggern observed his 90th birthday Monday, Jan. 16. Three or four parties honored him with around 35 calling Sunday alone.

Von Seggern has been retired in name only since 1926 when he and his wife moved to Winside from their farm in Cherry County. He has been a gardener, works around the house and scoops snow off the walks.

One of the privileges of age is sleeping late but Von Seggern says this does not mean getting to bed early but is sometimes up until after midnight.

Playing cards is one of his favorite night-time recreations. He and his wife are often joined by neighboring couples for pitch or sheephead.

His hearing is not as good as it once was and he owns no television set for fear it will hurt his eyesight. He does read newspapers and magazines and enjoys visiting with friends.

He was born Jan. 16, 1877, at Delehorst, Germany, and came to the United States at the age of 15. He was the only member of the family coming over to this country. His first home in America was at Wisner, June 20, 1905, he was married to Lizzie Von Seggern (no relation)

St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Wayne, has been chosen from 190 Lutheran churches in Nebraska as a "pattern church" in the campaign for capital funds. As a pattern church, St. Paul's will conduct a capital funds campaign this month to establish a pattern for other congregations to follow.

Art Ackerly of the Lutheran Laymen's Movement, LCA, will direct the drive. Eventually, state churches hope to raise over $800,000 for Tabitha Home, Omaha Immanuel Hospital, Midland College and campus ministries in the state.

Highlight of the local campaign will be a fellowship dinner Wednesday, Feb. 1, at 6:30 p.m. Dr. Reuben Swanson, president

Lady Luck has not smiled on the Donald Knoells, Dixon, lately. Friday the 13th they lost their home in a fire. Last Saturday their son, Jerry, underwent an emergency appendectomy at the Wayne Hospital.

On the other hand, they have been lucky in having good friends. Margaret's Bar has been accepting cash donations to help the family get back on their feet.

Clothing, bedding and food have been donated. Twilight Line Extension Club held a personal shower for Mrs. Knoell and Sunshine Club gave linens. Other gifts have been given by individuals.

The Knoells did not suffer a complete loss as much of the furnishings and the house were covered by insurance. They are going to leave Dixon, however, moving to Kansas, where he is working with a survey crew.

While parents are attending the dinner at the Wayne City Auditorium, children will be entertained at the church. Rev. Robert Shirck, pastor of St. Paul's, reports Dr. Swanson is a dynamic personality well-known throughout the synod.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Wayne, has been chosen from 190 Lutheran churches in Nebraska as a "pattern church" in the campaign for capital funds. As a pattern church, St. Paul's will conduct a capital funds campaign this month to establish a pattern for other congregations to follow.

Art Ackerly of the Lutheran Laymen's Movement, LCA, will direct the drive. Eventually, state churches hope to raise over $800,000 for Tabitha Home, Omaha Immanuel Hospital, Midland College and campus ministries in the state.

Highlight of the local campaign will be a fellowship dinner Wednesday, Feb. 1, at 6:30 p.m. Dr. Reuben Swanson, president dinner chairman; and Mrs. Max Hansen, chief hostess. According to Pastor Shirck, enthusiasm for the campaign is running high. He is confident the St. Paul congregation can exceed its goal of over $8,000.

Use of Poisons Meetings' Topic

Products we use everyday, used properly contributing to our ease, comfort, safety and enjoyment but used improperly jeopardizing our health and threatening our lives, will be the subject of meetings to be held Feb. 7, 8 and 9.

Sponsored by the University of Nebraska, Northeast Station, Concord, the meetings will present John Furrer, safety specialist from Lincoln, in a program designed to explain methods of using and storing poisonous products commonly found around the home and around the farm.

The initial meeting will be Tuesday, Feb. 7, at 7:30 p.m. in the courtroom, Wayne. Other meetings are: Feb. 8, Northeast Station, 1:30 p.m.; Feb. 8, Hartington City Auditorium, 7:30 p.m.; Feb. 9, Pender Fire Hall, 1:30 p.m.; and Feb. 9, Jackson Legion Hall, 7:30 p.m.

Margaret Ann Stahly, area extension agent, Concord, points out that about 1,300 people die annually from accidental poisoning in the home and on the farm. Most poisoning cases and 30 percent of the deaths are to children under the age of five.

Surveys of homes show many products accessible to children due to being improperly used and stored. The problem of accidental poisoning faces every family.

Most accident victims are children. However, with the more frequent use of toxic chemicals for lawn, garden and farm, more adults are being jeopardized. Information at these meetings is intended to help save lives. All interested individuals are invited to attend.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

You may not agree with an editorial—but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

Not on Wednesday Night

Wayne is fortunate indeed to have a time-ried and traditional set-up in scheduling events so they do not interfere with church activities. Virtually every organization respects Wednesday night as "church night" and you cannot get anyone to agree to schedule an event on a Wednesday evening.

In many towns the churches "fight" businessmen, schools and organizations because no "church night" has been agreed upon. Where there should be good will there is ill will.

Some towns find that the setting aside of a church night means nothing. Organizations continue to schedule meetings, dinners and programs any night of the week, including church night.

Whether the situation came about in Wayne because of the need for a strong faith and an equally strong religion was recognized or because someone stood firm in the belief that one night should belong to the churches is not known. At any rate, the tradition is established and as far as is known it is respected for the most part.

This is a healthy situation. Some feel communities can be no more sound than their schools. Others believe that the home is the backbone that governs the strength of a community. Still others believe a community with a strong religious background is best prepared to overcome the past and cope with the future.

As a matter of fact, it takes all three. A family can build its solidarity on the platform of a good religious faith. A school can work with the churches in putting the church needs first, not just on Sunday, but on one specific week night as well. Churches can plan ahead because they know the people and the schools will work with them and will consider them important enough to give special consideration each week.

Wayne is a religious town. It is a good town in which to have a college located. It deserves a moral and Christian background for its young and old. Somewhere in the past this need was recognized so it is no major problem today. How fortunate the community is that the people who preceded us felt the need so strongly they entrenched it as tradition and the tradition survives. Never on Wednesday is a pretty strong rule. It is recognized and respected by most—it deserves recognition and respect by all.—CEB

An 1895 Dollar's Worth

Wayne County residents and others in this area within the comparatively short driving distance of Omaha should be more than a little interested in the 1967 membership drive by Ak-Sar-Ben, the Omaha civic group that has become more and more a state and area civic group.

In 1895 Ak-Sar-Ben started functioning as an Omaha group. The membership fee was $10. Now, 72 years later, the organization offers even more but the membership still costs $10.

Looking first at "What has Ak-Sar-Ben done for us?" it should be noted that Ak has probably done more for this area than we have done for Ak.

The county fairgrounds has received an outright gift of $500 every year from Ak-Sar-Ben. So have other county fairs. In fact, were it not for Ak-Sar-Ben, many counties in Nebraska would not be having county fairs today.

The 4-H building was made possible through Ak and county funds. Each year $1,000 in improvements come about with county and Ak-Sar-Ben help.

County Agent Harold Ingalls reports Ak-Sar-Ben provides awards and ribbons for the 4-H division of the Wayne County Fair. This comes to about $250 a year for Wayne County. Other area counties benefit in the same way.

Ak-Sar-Ben provides support for the state fair; it offers camping trips to the Halsey forest area; it provides scholarships for county agents (including Ingalls) in the summer; it offers scholarships to people going to regular terms of college to study agriculture.

In another field, Ak-Sar-Ben has contributed money and plaques to Wayne and the area. The Wayne fire department won an award for being an outstanding fire department and received $100 cash to use as needed. The Wayne Herald won a community service award from Ak-Sar-Ben last year and $200 came with the plaque. It was divided among projects at Concord, Dixon, Carroll, Winside, Hoskins and Wayne. Service to agriculture citations are given at the state press convention each year for newspapers that serve agriculture. The Herald has won several of these.

Now, if Ak-Sar-Ben did not offer anything else for that $10 membership fee, it would be worth the cost. But Ak offers much more in the way of entertainment. If you were to pay for the entertainment features individually, it would come to well over $65.

For $10, you and your wife (or girl friend) can see 1967 shows featuring Pat Boone, Petula Clark, Pete Fountain, Ray Bolger and Kaye Ballard. This is $25 worth of entertainment. You get to take your wife and all children (even if you have a dozen) to two family shows worth $14 and more—depending on how many children you have. You get two tickets at reduced prices for Ice Follies of 1967, two tickets at reduced prices for Ak-Sar-Ben Rodeo, a season ticket to Ak-Sar-Ben races and free tickets to concerts by the Omaha Symphony, an oldtime band and the Strategic Air Command band.

Do you think this is worth $10? Here's more. Ak-Sar-Ben gives 500 scholarships in 1966 for nurses, teachers, firemen, policemen and others; gave NU assistance to 4-H and FFA; helped Nebraska and Iowa towns obtain life-saving equipment; held 4-H clinics and institute; recognized pioneer farm families; gave good neighbor awards; gave $15,000 to hospitals for charity cases; sponsored school traffic safety signals, safety patrol belts and fire patrol belts; helped sponsor the state firemen's school; paid $1,329,815 in taxes and licenses; and employed almost 800.

Nebraska, in other words, is lucky to have Ak-Sar-Ben. You are lucky to have a package worth $65 in entertainment and thousands in service to the area offered to you at a cost of $10. In 1895 only 554 joined up at that price. This year over 45,000 are expected.

Can you afford to join? Let's word that otherwise: Can you afford not to join? Where else will $10 buy so much even if you never got to one of the programs? It appears that you need Ak-Sar-Ben, and brother, does Ak-Sar-Ben need you!—CEG.

Gov. Tiemann's Tax Plan Assigned High Priority

LINCOLN—The Nebraska Legislature has assigned high-priority to Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann's tax plan and a showdown on the measure is expected in late February.

The Revenue Committee will hold public hearings on the income-sales tax bill Feb. 7-8. All interested taxpayers may attend.

Tiemann, a Republican and the state's first four-year chief executive, wants the retail sales-use tax to go into effect May 1—a scant three months away. The income tax would become operative Jan. 1, 1968.

The governor estimates the tax plan will raise between $105 million and $115 million a year. This includes $50 million from the sales tax.

The complicated, 115-page bill contains few surprises. Tiemann had outlined in general terms what he had in mind in his inaugural address.

However, the income tax rate section does embody one significant proviso not heretofore mentioned. It sets maximum rates on individual income but leaves the actual setting of the levy to the legislature every two years.

The bill states that the rates shall be sufficient to meet "the anticipated revenue needs" of the state but cannot exceed two percent on the first $1,000; three percent on $2,000 to $3,000; four percent on $3,000 to $6,000; five percent on $7,000 to $10,000; and six percent above that.

Corporations would pay a flat three percent income tax.

The sales tax rate is 2½ percent. It would apply to all retail merchandise except that specifically exempted or excluded.

Here are the major provisions of the sales tax portion of the Tiemann tax bill:

—Recommendation that all items costing 15 cents or more be taxed. However, this would be determined by the State Tax Commissioner.

—Merchants would collect the tax and receive three percent of it for their trouble. They would file monthly reports with the tax commissioner.

—The levy would not apply to finance or other credit payments involved in installment sales purchases.

Here are the major provisions of the income tax portion of the bill:

—Exemptions ($600 per person) and deductions now applicable to the federal income tax would be extended to the state tax.

—A so-called food tax credit of $6 for each exemption. This is designed to equalize the lack of an exemption for food in the sales tax.

—Procedure for appeal to the State Board of Equalization and Assessment in disputed tax cases or direct appeal to a district court.

—Taxation of corporations on income earned in Nebraska, while permitting small business corporations to elect to be taxed as partnerships.

—Withholding by employers on a weekly basis, a convenience to wage earners, and one which affords the state with a source of income throughout the year.

—Taxation of non-residents on income earned in Nebraska and residents on all earned income, but permits reciprocity arrangements with other states.

"A Nickel's Worth" "You can't eat a nickel's worth of beans at one setting," claims an old saying. This is certainly an apt way of attesting to the economy of beans—dry beans, such as the Navy, Kidney, Pinto and Great Northern beans.

Dry beans are perhaps the best buy in protein foods—a particularly good choice for thrifty families. A pound of dry beans will cook up into at least 7 servings (of 3/4 cup each) or a dozen servings of rich bean soup. These servings could well cost less than a nickel each.

A "store" of vitamins and minerals also will be found in dry beans. Rated as a moderately good source of Thiamine, one of the B vitamins, beans also will provide (in a 1-cup serving) as much as half the iron needed daily. And last, but not least, hearty bean dishes are good sources of energy.

There was no opposition to the legislation, four money measures appropriating $321,138 for senators salaries and related unicameral expenses.

It was one of the earliest dates the first laws of a legislative session have been enacted since Nebraska changed to the one-house system in 1937.

The resolution (No. 6) was sponsored by Budget Committee Chairman Richard D. Marvel of Hastings and Sen. Ross Rasmussen of Hooper.

It sets out seven sweeping guideposts, including a proviso that nonresident students must pay at least two-thirds of the cost of their education in Nebraska public colleges. Resident students would pay no more than one-third. The measure is nearly identical to one submitted in the 1965 legislature but which got no where after educators voiced fears it would erect an "academic fence" around Nebraska.

Merger Suggested The boards of regents of the Universities of Omaha and Nebraska have recommended the two schools be merged as quickly as possible. But the plan faces a stiff uphill battle in the Legislature.

The consolidation, which would be one of the largest of its kind, can only be authorized by lawmakers. It may also require approval by Omaha voters.

Omaha University has about 8,000 students. It operates on a budget of $5.6 million a year. Nebraska University has more than 17,000 students. It operates on a budget of $25 million a year.

Seek New Party Chairman A struggle has developed over who will succeed Walter Witthoff of Fremont as chairman of the state Republican Party. Possibilities include Mrs. Lorraine Orr, of North Platte, Charles Gabus of Holdrege, former congressman Ralph Beermann of Dakota City, Loran Schmidt of David City, Mrs. Eva Jean Belter of Bayard, William Barrett of Lexington and Jack Schuetz of Lincoln.

Witthoff, GOP chairman since April, 1964, said he stepped down to give "someone else an opportunity to show what kind of course they can steer."

Gov. Tiemann backs Mrs. Orr. So does Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Nebr.

Way Back When

30 Years Ago

Jan. 28, 1937: For the third time in less than a month, Wayne has scooped the snow away from her doors and permitted outside communication. Nearly all highways were cleared by Sunday and trains were running on schedule. First of a series of community meetings for explaining the soil conservation program was held. Milk lunches were begun Tuesday in the Wayne schools. Wayne county farmers now have made applications for 3,300 Clark-McNary seedling and transplant trees.

25 Years Ago

Jan. 29, 1942: Nebraska tire quota for February is lower than for January. Wayne county's share of this includes six passenger, motorcycle and light truck tires and buses. Ernest Peterson, Concord, who leads a group of 60 dealers in 15 counties of northeast Nebraska and South Dakota in marketing DeKalb seed corn, presided at a banquet at Hotel Stratton Friday and presented awards to champion corn growers. Mrs. Eric Cook, Carroll, fell at her house Saturday evening and broke her right arm. Don Beckenhauer and Gunnar Swanson realized a top of $272 on a team of horses at a sale in Laurel.

about $27,000 per worker on farms compared to around $20,000 per factory worker.

Fruit plants should be pruned late during the dormant season, but don't get in too big a hurry to start your trimming chores.

Evidence has shown that extremely low temperatures following the pruning operation are likely to result in serious freezing injury to trees or canes.

In commercial fruit plantings, the timing of pruning must be determined by the amount to be done and the labor available. However, in home orchards and small area plantings this operation can be delayed until late winter. Pruning wounds heal best if the cuts are made at about the time when active growth begins.

In commercial plantings, it may require a month or more to complete the necessary pruning. In these cases, mature trees should be pruned first and the young trees later because the latter are more succulent and somewhat more subject to freezing injury.

There is considerable art involved in doing a good job in pruning. There must be an objective and a mental picture of the completed job. Improper pruning can seriously reduce the production of a tree, vine or cane.

Close growing broadleaf trees slow the growth of evergreens and may eventually kill them where overcrowded. It has been found that evergreens planted in shelterbelts 25 years ago longer made surprising growth when adjoining broadleaf rows were removed.

Since evergreens are the most valuable and longer lived it is generally good practice to remove other species.

Still The Largest Industry Contrary to some popular beliefs, U.S. agriculture is not a declining industry except for the lessening of farm numbers and people engaged in agricultural production. Agriculture remains the nation's largest industry—despite losing about a million acres per year to highways, airports and urban expansion.

The agricultural industry employs six million workers. This is more than the combined jobs in the transportation, steel, public utilities and auto industries.

About a third of all persons engaged in private employment have jobs that are related to agriculture. The industry supplies food, fibers, tobacco and wood products to over 200 million people in this country and abroad.

About 230 billion dollars is invested in the assets of agriculture, equal to about two-thirds of the value of current assets of all corporations in the United States. This investment a few years ago represented CHUSEI IGA, right, is working at the Dick Sorensen farm near Wayne, learning about swine production in the hopes of adding swine to his 35-acre "farm" in Japan in two years.

Young Japanese Farmer Learns About Swine Production on Wayne Farm

A 21-year-old Japanese farmer is working as a "hired man" for Mr. and Mrs. Dick Sorensen, Wayne, learning about production of purebred SPF hogs in the hopes he can add livestock production to growing rice on the 35-acre farm he owns in northern Japan.

Chusei Iga is his name but he asked to be called by a name easier for the Sorensens and their son, Steve, 5, so they call him "Kim." No one has found a way to shorten his Japanese address which he puts in both English and Japanese on his mail home: Chusei Iga, 53 Aza Iwakamisawa, Akahira, Kawakemachi, Kawhe-gun, Akita-ken (yes, that is all address) and in two languages it just about covers the front of the envelope.

Kim arrived in the United States the latter part of June. He went to Moses Lake, Wash., community college and worked in the apple orchards. Jan. 5 he arrived in Nebraska with 13 other young Japanese farmers interested in swine production. Other groups with other interests were assigned to other states.

The program under which the men came here is sponsored by the American and Japanese government. The National 4-H Foundation and other groups also co-sponsor the project.

Chusei could not join Japanese 4-H clubs until he had completed college because that is the rule. However, he finished a two-year junior college agricultural course and is now eligible for 4-H membership. He plans to take part after two years in the United States on farms, at the University of Nebraska and in other places.

He is one of five children and is second oldest. His oldest brother is operating Chusei's farm which has 200 acres of paddy field and 1,200 acres of timber. In United States measurements this comes to 5 acres of paddy field and 30 acres of timber.

Before he came to this country he had little knowledge of the English language. He studied for three months at Moses Lake and since coming to Wayne he has studied English, written something in the language and then had Sorensen correct it.

The change from Japanese to English is pretty complete. There are 51 letters in the Japanese alphabet and the language is written and read vertically instead of horizontally.

His study of swine production at the Sorensen farm came about when Bob Fritschen, area swine specialist at Northeast Station, Concord, mentioned the program and state officials followed through. The employment service asked Sorensen if he would be interested, he was and so Kim is here today.

Required salary for the young Japanese workers is $175 per month plus board and room. Of this money, each farmer is allowed to keep only $50 a month. The remainder is paid to the Japanese embassy to cover expenses of the trip from Japan and back. So the farmers are paying their own way for their studies.

Sorensen is a top purebred SPF Hampshire feeder. He has around 450 hogs in his lot right now. He is vice president of the Northeast Swine Association and was re-elected director of the Nebraska Swine Council this month.

Chusei reports there are few big stock feeders of any type in Japan. Most farmers have four or five head of stock. Agriculture is able to make use of only six per cent of the land in Japan so space is at a premium.

What impresses him most in this country? The people. Chusei reports that everywhere he has been the people have been most kind to him.

Physically, he finds the "wide open spaces" around here impressive. In his country, made up of small islands with heavy population, there are few open spaces between cities so one never drives ten miles in "open country" due to towns being so close and rural areas being so heavily populated.

He plays the guitar, reads and drives. Music of his country was brought on tape to be played here. He finds Nebraska farmers busy even in the winter in contrast to those in his area who have no stock in the winter so just sit around. If it snows there is no need to clear areas because no one is going anywhere anyway and there is no real farming to do until the snow is gone. (Snow they have, but he thought the extreme cold here was a little more severe than water-surrounded Japan has).

Chusei enjoys basketball which is a game Japanese like second best to baseball. In Japan there are usually pairs of girl and boy cheerleaders at games. He reports, however, that Japanese people are short so the teams are not as big as those here. He is six feet tall, the tallest of the 14 who came to Nebraska, the rest being around the 5'4" mark.

By summer Kim hopes to have the English language completely mastered—and he is coming along fast, according to Sorensen. Then another story on his work will be written.

Chusei's personal liking for this country is reciprocated. Five-year-old Steve likes him as much as his parents do. As he told his parents: "I can't understand Kim, but I sure like him." By summer he should be able to understand and like him even more.

be. Dan Titze, manager of Northwestern Bell, reports that there are now over 200 million telephones in the world. About half of them are in the United States. Nebraska has over 701,000 (more than Greece, Hungary or Portugal have). Do you call overseas much? Someone does for 10.2 million telephone calls were made between the US and overseas points in 1966, according to Titze. Canada has more telephones than Russia has and Canadians make more calls per capita than any other people. The US has the most telephones per capita among larger countries—48 phones for each 100 people—but Monaco has 53.45 telephones per 100. Washington, D.C., has 92.6 phones per 100 people (wouldn't you know!). Beverly Hills district of Los Angeles has 144.6 telephones per 100 people. Ask Titze more about telephones. He won't give you any wrong numbers.

Concord Boy Scout Troop Honored as One-Thousandth Unit in This Council

Concord's new Boy Scout unit was honored Thursday night in Omaha as the 1,000th Scout unit in the Mid-America Council of the Boy Scouts of America. The council executive board revealed the honor.

Delmar Holdorf, Scoutmaster of the troop sponsored by the Concordia Lutheran Church Men, was a special guest. In honor of the troop's position, he was given a complete leader's uniform and a set of unit flags by R. E. Runice, Omaha, council organization and extension chairman.

Scout Troop 266 was started recently in Concord. Cub Scouting is also offered in that community under Concordia Lutheran Church sponsorship.

Mid-America Council is entering the third year of its dynamic eight-year growth program which aims to extend Scouting to one out of two boys of Scouting age in 1972, a total of 50,000 boys, double the number the council had in 1965.

The 1967 sustaining membership enrollment plans to raise $210,000 from friends of Scouting in the Mid-America Council were reviewed by Marvin Oberg, council enrollment chairman. Funds will enable expanding Scouting to 32,995 boys by the end of this year.

Mid-America Council is headquartered in Omaha. It serves boys throughout 37 counties of Northeast Nebraska and Southwest Iowa.

Even the ash tray rides smoother in Chevrolets

When you're down at your dealer's trying out a new Chevrolet, be sure you pull out the ash tray. Notice how nice and easy it glides, never hanging up or even scraping. The reason is, it rides on ball bearings. Four shiny little ball bearings. (Take the tray all the way out and you'll see them.) You say you don't even smoke? Then look at it this way. That ash tray is a symbol of the way we make cars: Paying extra attention to the little things as well as the big ones, as a way of making extra sure your '67 Chevrolet gives you
