

LaPorte Cemetery Cleanup Help Needed This Saturday

A clean-up day is scheduled Saturday at LaPorte Cemetery southeast of Wayne by the Wayne County Historical Society which is assisting in saving the abandoned cemetery. The more who show up, the less time needed to do the work. County crews will have equipment on hand and the Wayne County Public Power District will have a brush chopping machine for use. These crews will be available in the morning only so it will be important to get as much work done then as possible. Robert Bockenhauer, president of the WCHS, said work will start at 8 and continue through the noon hour if necessary. Women of the historical society have promised to have coffee and some sandwiches on hand at noon for the workers.

According to Bockenhauer, the Wayne County Fraternity did a lot of good work in cleaning around graves, setting stones and doing other jobs. However, there is still much to be done, he said.

Those coming should bring rakes, shovels, axes and other tools. People of all ages can help and if enough show up LaPorte Cemetery should be the nicest for Memorial Day it has been in decades.

New Election Date Set for Vo-Tech School Decision

Official word has been received by County Clerk Norris Weible that the vote on whether or not this area will have a vocational-technical school has been postponed from May 16 to June 27.

Weible said he received a letter this week from Dr. Floyd Miller, commissioner of education for the state, informing him of the change. Unofficially it had been understood that there would be a change.

The new date was made necessary because the state requires a 45-day waiting period before matters brought up by petition.

Remedial Speech Clinic in Wayne Offered to Young

Wayne State College is sponsoring a remedial speech clinic July 10 to Aug. 4 for children in the 6 to 18 age group with speech handicaps that can be improved by intensive sessions.

In charge will be Dr. Helen Russell, associate professor of speech at WSC. Dr. Russell is a member of the American Speech and Hearing Association and is well-qualified for the assignment.

Each child taking the course will receive approximately 15 hours of therapy. They must attend every session throughout the period of the clinic.

Screening sessions are planned at WSC Monday and Tuesday, June 5 and 6. These are held to determine which youngsters can benefit in the clinic and to set a schedule for those that can be helped.

Interested parents should inquire of Doug Spencer as to which day they should bring children for screening sessions. These can be arranged by telephone by calling 375-2200, Extension 76. Notice of time will be sent by mail for screening in either the 9 to 12 or 1 to 4 periods June 5 and 6.

Kiwansians Plan Injured in Tornado

No details on the circumstances of the storm that hit their place were available.

Estimates on the crowd at Minimum Tillage Day near Wayne Tuesday ranged from 2,500 to 3,000. This was below estimates but was pleasing considering the chilly conditions under which the event was held.

WNAX, Yankton, the radio station that originated the project four years ago, was reported well-pleased with the turnout. Creighton Hnuay, farm director, is reported as saying the farmers who did show up were sincerely interested in what was being offered and were anxious to learn all they could.

Hugo Zimmerman, acting superintendent of Northeast Station, said dealers in equipment were satisfied with the interest and the fact so many farmers asked questions concerning the procedure and equipment, indicating they were benefiting from the demonstration.

According to Howard Gillaspie, Dixon County Extension Agent, the farmers now have an opportunity to watch the site and see what meaning the different processes have. Throughout the summer and into the fall right through harvest there should be interest in what is happening on those plots.

What happened was the process of planting with fewer trips across fields was demonstrated to show that corn and other crops can be planted and harvested without a lot of the work. See TILLAGE, pg. 8

Husker Conference Track Meet in Wayne Thursday

With 16 teams entered, Bloomfield is the favorite for the Husker Conference track meet scheduled Thursday on the WSC oval. Duane Cox, West Point, is director of the meet.

Teams entered are Plainview, Pierce, Bloomfield, Laurel, Wayne, Tekamah, Oakland, Wakefield, Pender, West Point, Lyons, Wisner, Neligh, Scribner, Madison and Stanton.

Coach John Tollakson of WMS reports the preliminaries will start in the afternoon at about 1. There will be eight heats in many of the running events and the seven fastest will advance to the finals.

Most of the finals will be at night with events underway at 7. Finals in the afternoon include the 400 at 4 p.m. and some of the field events.

This is the last meet of the season except for the Class B district meet, which is scheduled for Norfolk May 11-12-13.

Tickets on Sale for

WH Athletic Banquet

Athletes and Pep Club members at Wayne High School have tickets for the May 13 athletic banquet for Pep Club and WHS lettermen. The affair is open to the public.

A popular speaker, George Kelly, NU football coach, will be the program feature. The awarding of various honors will also be one of the highlights.

Tickets should be purchased in advance in order to give the catering service an idea of how many to prepare for. Further information may be obtained from Coach Harold Maciejewski or Judy Pietsort at Wayne High.

Local Dogs Receive

Various Show Honors

Wayne entries brought home several honors from the Sioux Valley Kennel Club's first professional dog show in South Sioux City Apr. 30. The local dogs competed in conformation and brace classes.

Peagus Von Wedeln Schweiß, a miniature schnauzer owned by Mrs. Roy Coryell and shown by Lynn Coryell, won best of breed, first in the terrier puppy class and second in the terrier group class. Dean Pierson's Bruno Von Wedeln Schweiß, handled by Charles Pierson, took second in the terrier puppy class.

In the brace class (two dogs of the same breed worked on one leash in simple obedience) Charles Pierson won honorable mention for novice A class, children 12-15, being judged on how to handle a dog.

The show was held at Atokad Park. Several states were represented.

Faculty Plays Golf

Eight members of the Wayne High School faculty are scheduled to play in the Husker Conference faculty golf meet at Indian Trails Country Club, Beemer, Saturday. Qualifying rounds will be held in the morning with handicaps set and matches played in the afternoon. Representing Wayne will be Supt. Francis Haun, Prin. Loren Park, Allen Hansen, Harold Maciejewski, Ron Carnes, Don Johnson, Don Schumacher and Mike Mallette.

Wayne Draws Randolph St. Frances in Class B Baseball Tournament in Dodge

Randolph St. Frances will be the opening round foe of Wayne High in the Class B baseball tournament at Dodge Tuesday, May 9. The teams open the tourney at noon.

Wayne has beaten the St. Frances team twice with ease which may lead to over-confidence if the Blue Devils look ahead. Providing they do win, they would meet the winner of the Snyder-West Point Central Catholic game at 1:45 May 11.

In the bottom bracket, Dodge meets Clarks and Creighton St. Ludger's drew a bye. Semi-final games are next Thursday with the finals May 16 at 2:30 in the single-loss elimination meet.

Coach Mike Mallette reports there are only four district meets in the state in Class B. The winners will play in a one-day state tournament May 22. All teams are in the eastern part of the state.

Wayne State in Crucial Series

Wayne State's baseball team makes its final home appearance of 1967 Saturday in a 1 p.m. doubleheader with Kearney State.

The clash on WSC's diamond will be crucial for both teams in the Nebraska College Conference campaign. Kearney is 8-1 after a Saturday sweep at Hastings. Wayne is 2-1 after dividing with Chadron State at Chadron Saturday, 5-1 and 7-5.

Wayne's doubleheader with Omaha there Monday night was a victim of frigid weather. It will not be rescheduled because of conflicting dates.

The WSC's started the high-flying Chadron team with a five-run burst in the seventh inning of the opener. This was accomplished on only one hit—some of three in the game plus five walks, an error, and a batter hit by a pitch. The lone hit of the outburst was Tom Zimmerman's, his second. Pitcher Jim Basler got the game's other hit.

Chadron hit six times, but scored only once, in the fourth, on a combination of a double and two singles.

In the second game, Wayne scored four in the

Policemen Busy During Past Week

The Wayne City Police Department kept busy during the weekend investigating a variety of complaints plus three auto accidents. Most of the investigations occurred on Saturday, although one was on Friday and one on Sunday.

Friday evening at 6:20 an accident at 7th and Lincoln was investigated by City Officer Penlerick. No injuries resulted from the accident that happened when a car driven by Paul A. Ericson collided with a car driven by Eric Thompson. A damage estimate of $137.80 was given the Ericson auto and the Thompson vehicle received $38 in damages.

A car owned by C. W. Comstock of Wayne was damaged at 12:40 a.m. Saturday while parked at the Phillips 66 station at Seventh and Main. The other car was not found, according to E. L. Halley, investigating officer.

At 6:05 Saturday the back end of a car driven by Eric Nedegaard was damaged when it was struck by a car driven by Allen Kunert. The accident occurred at the spotlight at Third and Main, according to Penlerick, investigating officer.

Other minor complaints investigated by the Police Department during the weekend included a dog running loose, burning trash before 3 o'clock, a skateboard being ridden on Kinsness district sidewalks, a dog running in a flower bed and burning trash on Sunday.

Boy Scouts Will Sell House Numbers Soon

Member of Troop 221, Boy Scouts, will soon be selling house numbers as a money-making project. Scoutmaster Jewell Schock reports they are preparing to make the rounds this coming week.

Six different styles of numbers would be offered. They could be put on with glue with nails or with screws. "Background boards" will also be offered local residents.

The Scouts found out that the city has an ordinance requiring houses to be numbered. They decided they could sell them, help the people comply with the law, do a good turn and make some needed money all at the same time.

Saturday the Scouts hiked to Key's Lake. They fished along the creek and at the lake and then fixed supper. Several passed requirements for a five-mile hike award for second class rank.

 ation. Newly signed is Beverly Merriman, high school librarian.
 Also needed is another bus driver for the new route this fall. Darrell Hejer, Harry Leeberg, Maurice Hanson and Arthur Cook will return as bus drivers on the old routes.
 Bus drivers will get a base salary of $115 a month, a raise from the base of $100 before. In addition, they get $45 per year annual increase as they stay with the district and draw extra mileage pay for driving in excess of 40 miles.
 Lunch service will be offered at WHS next term, the board decided. Food will be prepared at the elementary school and transported to the high school with trays and thermal units. It will cut down on serving time and give more flexibility for the all-purpose room at the elementary school.
 Lynn Roberts was elected to succeed himself as chairman of the board. Dean Pierson is vice president again and Doris Daniels secretary-treasurer. The auditing firm will be the same, Virgil Campbell Associates, Omaha.

 The board will call for bids on carpet for three areas of the new school this month. They are in the library, the office and the living area of the home-making room; Wood and synthetic carpets of commercial grade will be sought with only local firms being asked to bid on the contract.
 A computer payroll plan was discussed as to feasibility. Both banks in Wayne offer this service and they will be asked to send representatives to the June 5 board meeting to discuss such a set-up.
 A bus will be purchased for the new bus route. If the bids are low enough, the board will consider trading in the oldest bus and buying two new buses.
 The board was told that Allen Hansen is working with seventh and eighth grade boys in track. He will enter them in the Husker Conference field day scheduled in Wayne May 15.
 Commencement and baccalaureate speakers have been signed. The commencement speaker will be Dr. H. V. Phillips, superintendent of Westside High School, Omaha, and the baccalaureate sermon will be given by Rev. Frank Pedersen, pastor of First Baptist Church, Wayne.

 Sidewalks along Seventh Street by the new school came up for discussion. It has already been decided sidewalks will be put in east from the school along the street. The board is considering having walks put in west from the school also.
 The board had a full report on the fair labor standard act. The district falls under its rulings and the members of the board made a thorough study of provisions.
 In other action the board approved the 1967-68 athletic events calendar and learned that the local school had been approved for the 1966-67 school year by North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools with no deviations reported, one of the few schools thus rated in the state.
Election —
 are voted on, had the vote been held May 16, it would have been illegal.
 Wayne is one of 14 counties that will hold elections on the issue of whether or not a school will be established. There is nothing in the ballooning that indicates where the school would be set up.
 Other counties in the unit are Boyd, Wheeler, Antelope, Pierce, Stanton, Thurston, Burt, Holt, Knox, Cedar, Madison, Dixon and Cuming. Colfax could not get in at this time and Dakota dropped out.
 State laws allow such schools to be set up. The proposed Northeast district could levy a mill and gain funds needed as the valuation is over $100 million.

 they are now doing and with less equipment, thus saving money and increasing profits.
 Crops were planted with no advance procedures except stalk cutting. One cultivation and the harvesting would remain, meaning saving from five to eight trips across fields. This may not increase the yields but it will cut down on costs.
 Some plantings were made using two or three machines or attachments on one trip. Some plowed and did rotary tilling. Some planted shallow, some deep. Some planted corn in loose ground and then packed it while others plant it in hard ground.
 This fall another special day will be held so farmers can see the results. If the yields are approximately the same under all processes, farmers should be convinced that minimum tillage is all right and can save money and boost profits.
 There were nine machines in operation, fewer than expected, but this worked out fine in allowing farmers to spend more time really studying the processes instead of dashing around to a multitude of demonstrations with little time to spend on any of them.
 Major machinery companies had enough equipment on hand so farmers could see the alternatives. The farmers got right down to the soil itself to see what was happening and they seemed genuinely interested in what was going on.

 Cars were noted from Minnesota, Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota. FFA units came from Allen and Battle Creek. One farmer flew to Wayne for the demonstration. In all it was more satisfying than sponsors thought it would be at first when fewer machinery companies brought equipment than expected.
 WNAJ was joined by WOW, the World-Herald, WJAG, Channel 9 and other news media in covering the event. Wayne Chamber of Commerce, Wayne Jaycees and Mrs. Jaycees, University of Nebraska, Northeast Station, WNAJ, county extension services and others helped to make the day possible.

Death Rate —

 survive for five years or more after treatment.
 If diagnosed early enough, oral cancer has a high survival rate. In fact, the survival rate doubles if treatment begins when lesions are small. The rate could be higher through constant vigilance of doctors, dentists and the individual person.
 Disfiguration, suffering and death could be avoided through early detection, it has been pointed out. A five-year program now set up calls for detection programs in one-half the medical and dental professions.
 Some 15,000 Americans have cancer of the mouth each year and 7,000 die each year from the disease.

Because it is one of the most easily detected cancers, it is obvious this loss is unnecessary.
 If nothing is done and the disease gets a good start, 80 per cent of the patients are dead within 18 months after diagnosis. Sensations that are unusual, swelling, bleeding, sore spots, white spots, all are abnormalities that should be suspected. Checking with a dentist or doctor at the first sign of any of these abnormalities could save a lot of pain, suffering and disfiguring, the Wayne unit of the American Cancer Society points out.

 as a memorial to honor those who have served in the armed forces of the United States.
 Money received goes to veterans, their families and their children through a rehabilitation, child welfare, education and scholarship program. Therapy and financial subsistence are made possible for veterans through funds received.
 All of this comes about through the small purchase price. Auxiliary members wonder if any other flower in the world stands for such principles and provides so much assistance.

Veterans Planning on Schooling Must Act

Chris Bargholz, Wayne County veterans service officer, advises veterans who intend to go to school this summer or fall who have not filed an application for educational assistance under the post-Korean GI Bill to do so at once. According to Bargholz, this should be done early to insure prompt payment of benefit checks after enrollment in school. Already over 5,500 Nebraska veterans have filed for this benefit and 3,000 are receiving payments now. Bargholz is ready to help area residents in the completion of application blanks and assembling of required evidence. His office at 108 Main, Wayne, is open weekdays.

A COOL POOL, palm trees, all part of the scene for the Wayne junior-senior prom Saturday night. This picture was made with a flash. The scene was much prettier under the dim lights of the prom.

'Polynesian Luau' Theme for Wayne's Annual Junior-Senior Prom-Banquet

A colorful "Polynesian Luau" theme was used for the Wayne High School junior-senior banquet and prom Saturday night. The banquet was at the Birch Room, WSC student center, and the prom was at the Wayne City Auditorium. Decorations were most elaborate at the auditorium where a pool of mirror centered the room with palm trees from which coconuts and monkeys hung fringing the pool. Other palms about the room made gathering places for punch at tables. A big mural covered most of the south wall.

Painted by Pearl Hansen, it was an ocean scene, a backdrop for a pig roasting over an open fire, a reed hut from which punch was served and a big canoe with a sail. Scarlatt Magdanz served the punch from the little hut. Larry Hamley, senior class president, responded to the welcome by Gordon Jorgensen, junior class president. Jorgensen was master of ceremonies for the dinner program. Rev. Cecil Bliss gave the invocation and benediction. Supt. Francis Haun was the main speaker. Music was furnished by Marcia Ehlers, Cindy Kerstine, Debi Armbruster, Ann Baier, Cindy Meyer and Mary Jo Cook. "The Inmates" played for the dance. At the intermission, three big bags of white balloons suspended from the ceiling were released. Following the dance the juniors had a "never before party." There were also other parties, some lasting all night with adults helping the young people mark the occasion at various points. At the Gay Theatre a special movie for the prom set was put on.

Allen Girl Scouts in Award Court Ceremony

Girl Scout Troop 7, Allen, held a court of awards Apr. 26 at First Lutheran Church, Allen. A tea for mothers and guests preceded the program with girls performing different hostess duties as a badge requirement.

A flag ceremony opened the program with Jeanette Burgess and Denice Linafelter flag bearers and Lesa Carpenter and Debbie Ellis color guards. Kim Jackson gave orders. Mrs. Merle Von Minden, junior leader, awarded the following: Jeanette Burgess, my home, cook, hospitality, pets, collector and my community; Lesa Carpenter, housekeeper, my home, cook and my community; Debbie Ellis, my community;

Lisa Ellis, sign of the arrow, cook, my community, collector, personal health, hospitality and my home; Kim Johnson, sign of the star, my community, pen pal, magic carpet and cook; Debbie Kluver, my community, cook, home health and safety, backyard fun, collector and housekeeper;

Denice Linafelter, sign of the arrow, sign of the star, home health and safety, my community, cook, magic carpet, collector, hospitality and pen pal; Susan Malcom, my community, home health and safety and my home; and Julie Tighe, my community, collector and story teller.

Membership stars for one year of active membership went to all of the above and Della Lindahl, Elayne Snyder, LeAnn Von Minden and Agnes Brentlinger. Mrs. Lawrence Lindahl, cadette leader, awarded LeAnn Von Minden my country, family living and homemaker awards. She also received pins for three challenges, active citizenship, emergency preparedness and social dependability. As badges were awarded, each girl told of something she enjoyed while earning a badge. Retirement of the colors closed the ceremony.

Court Has Rest For a Change

For the first time in many weeks Wayne County Court action has been restrained to just three cases. All three of the charges brought before Judge David Hamer were the result of over-accelerating motorists.

April 28 Art Pollard, Wayne, paid $10 and $5 costs for speeding. City Officer Keith Reed filed the complaint.

The same day Clifford VonSeggner, Pender, was fined $15 plus $5 court costs on a speeding charge. State Patrolman D. Ruppert signed the complaint.

Alan Vankley, also of Pender, paid $15 for speeding in the final case on April 28. Court costs of $5 were added to the fine as the result of the charge filed by Patrolman V. Green.

'Roman Holiday' Theme for Winside Annual Junior-Senior Prom-Banquet

A "Roman Holiday" theme was used for the Winside High School annual junior-senior banquet Saturday night in the WHS gym. Crowned king and queen were Randy Brudigan and Sue Paulson.

The queen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Paulson. The king is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brudigan. Attendants were Ruth Vahlkamp and Reed Wacker.

Charles Prince was master of ceremonies as president of the junior class. He welcomed the guests. Linda Gohring, senior class president, gave the response and the class will. Prince also gave the prophecy, jokes and "take offs" were presented by Dennis Swanson and Prince and Diane Wacker crowned the king and queen. Opening and closing remarks were by Rev. H. M. Hilpert. Supt. James Christensen gave the farewell to the seniors.

Musical numbers by "Caesar's Clef Notes" included "Whispering" by the waiters and waitresses, Jim Jackson, Keith Wacker, Bob Wacker, Bob Farran, Kathy Pfeiffer, Connie Deck, Glenda Morris and Lynne Troutman (chosen by vote of the juniors) and "Three Coins in the Fountain" by Carol Bleich, Lois Diedrichsen, Teresa Stenwall, Dawn Robinson and Rita Quinn. served by the mothers of the juniors. Steaks, punch, salad, relish, corn, potatoes, gravy, dessert, homemade rolls and other food made it an exceptional meal.

Senior colors are mint green and white. Junior colors are light blue and silver.

Decorations included a steadily running fountain of blue water in the center, big white columns with flames burning at the stage end of the floor, sides and top decorated in blue, lavender and gold, chandelier cups, gold swords in grape gelatin and angel food cake dessert.

Waiters wore toga style outfits. Waitresses wore the robes of women of olden days in Rome. All wore sandals. Prior to the meal they served purple punch to the guests.

Following the meal the sound of late combo provided music for a dance. After the dance some went to parties, some to movies and some rode around to complete a highlight of the school year for the upper two grades.

Kiwanis Learns Seats Have Been Sent Out

The bleacher seats for the Wayne swimming pool have been shipped from Waupun, Wis., the Wayne Kiwanis Club learned Monday. However, the club did not learn where the seats have gone since they were sent by truck Apr. 25 and were expected here before this.

Dale Pennbaker, athletic director and acting track coach at Wayne State, was introduced by Max Lundstrom as featured speaker at the meeting. Pennbaker told of his experiences as coach of the US track team that visited Africa in 1965, a team made up of olympic candidates and sponsored by the state department.

Jack Kingston, Wayne, and Walter Harder, Rock Island, Ill., were guests of the club. The annual honors banquet is to be held Friday. Details of that are in a separate story.

STANDING STILL while shoes are put on is "Missie," a horse owned by Wayne. The young farrier is Joe Montoya, Laurel. A friend, Dan Edie, Muskegon, Mich., was holding the horse at the time.

Farrier Plying Trade at Laurel

Webster defines "farrier" as "one who shoes horses." There are not many around anymore but Laurel has one and he is a familiar worker throughout the area.

Joe Montoya is unusual in his choice of work and in his age. There are few young farriers around and he is only 25.

A native of New Mexico, he grew up on his parents' ranch and started doing farrier work at the age of 12. For a while he shod horses at a New Mexico track. How come he is in Nebraska? He came to Laurel to visit, fell in love with the area and decided to stay. Horse owners are mighty glad too for there are no other farriers closer than O'Neill, Yankton or Sioux City.

The old forge such as blacksmiths used is not unknown to Montoya. However, nowadays he takes his equipment in a pickup more often than not and does his work at the customers' farms using "cold metal."

Saturday he was on the Bernhard Koch farm southeast of Wayne shoeing a horse for Marlyn Koch. Cold metal was being used to shoe "Missie," a horse that had gone a long time without shoes.

Missie was gentle and did not seem to mind getting new shoes. She stood quite still for the shoes to be nailed on, the hooves to be trimmed and the filing process.

Some ask if shoeing a horse hurts. Montoya says it hurts the horse just as much as cutting a fingernail hurts a man. Horses are sometimes jittery because of what they cannot see being done but they are not being hurt.

Montoya is at the dangerous end of the horses for two shoes. However, he them gets kicked. He has a way with the animals so they soon learn who is in charge and after a few balky moments and other forms of resistance they usually realize what ever will be will be and they quit fighting him.

Even the rowdiest horses can be shod in about an hour, Montoya said. He usually takes up to 15 minutes per shoe, some taking more time, some less. Most of the horses he shoes are saddle horses for pleasure rather than work and most of them are well-trained.

THIS IS how Joe Montoya, farrier, looks when not in his working clothes. He was photographed helping out at the all-night square dance in Carroll Saturday.

A ruggedly dark and good-looking young man, he is not the picture of the village blacksmith as envisaged by oldtimers. However, even though he is not the brawny blacksmith type, he does the same work, he does it as well as blacksmiths did and he does it faster.

Busy most of the time, he puts in a seven-day week most weeks and carries on his trade in daytime or at night. He is in great demand, hates to turn anyone down and goes where he is needed, which means a lot of places in this day when saddle clubs are so popular.

Dixon Discusses Dogs

Dogs, the stray variety, came up for discussion at the meeting of the new Dixon town board Monday night. It was decided that the dogs should be disposed of so several different individuals are being considered as catchers of the excess dogs in the town. Votes in the last election were canvassed, other matters discussed and appointments made for the year. The latter are contained in a separate article.

Concord Scouts, Cubs Get Awards at Joint Special Program Friday Night

Concord Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts held a joint award program Friday evening at the Concordia Lutheran Church, Scoutmaster Delmar Holdorf and Den Mother Mrs. Jerry Allvin were in charge for Troop 266 and Pack 266.

Jim Allvin won first and Steve Lambing second in the pinewood derby. They received plaques and will be entered in the fun fair in Wayne later this month.

Cub awards included arrows to David Sherry, Jim Allvin, Mark Martindale and Steve Lambing. David Sherry received a leather tool belt for being the top pencil seller in the fund-raising drive.

Scout Tenderfoot badges went to Larry Nobbe, Ricky Holdorf, Gary McAuliffe and Randy Rees. The Scoutmaster also presented each with a neckerchief and slide.

Pastor John Erlandson, institutional representative for the sponsoring Concordia Lutheran Church, presented the troop charter to Holdorf, the pack charter to Mrs. Allvin and a 100 per cent award to both for 100 per cent subscriptions to Boy's Life magazine.

Individual cards were given by the pastor to the Cubs, the Scouts and leaders, including Bob Sherry, Mr. and Mrs. Allvin, Holdorf, Earl Hughes, Norman Anderson and Glen Paul. Mrs. Holdorf was given a hand for being her husband's "right hand man."

Rick Holdorf received den chief cords and a den chief book from the Cubs. Reveille, skits on the colors of the flag, Pledge of Allegiance, singing led by Mrs. Bob Sherry, group singing, making of Paul Bunyan hats, lunch and skits were part of the program.

The Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts joined in one skit, "My Paw Says So." The Scouts sang a song and the Cub Scouts presented a man-on-the-street skit. The Scouts told of their good turn for the day—helping an old woman across the street, the entire troop helping because she didn't want to go.

Clover Testing New at Concord

Northeast Station personnel, Concord, have established red clover and sweet clover variety test plots at the station. Gene Schwartz, area agronomist, reports 12 sweet clover and 14 red clover varieties in the 1967 experiment with barley sown as "nurse" crop.

Dr. Walter Akeson and Dr. Herman Gorz, University of Nebraska college of Agriculture, Lincoln, assisted in setting up the plant project at the farm operated by the station.

Red clover varieties planted last year survived the winter with almost perfect stands, Schwartz reports. "Even the third year red clover stands are fairly good."

Red clover is a perennial crop. Due to disease and climate, however, it only lasts two years, Schwartz said.

Sweet clover varieties planted in 1966 that look best this spring are Gold Top, Madrid and Common Yellow. Forage yields will be taken from the plots established last year.

Schwartz emphasized: "Farmers and other interested persons are welcome to stop at Northeast Station anytime and look at the various varieties during the growing season on these or other plots."

Ex-Dixonite Honored
Ted Armfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Armfield, Commerce, Tex., received an Eagle Scout award and was named the outstanding Scout of the year at a district Scout banquet in Commerce recently. He was one of five chosen from 4,600 in the Netsop Trails Council to attend the world jamboree in Idaho this summer. He will also spend part of the summer as a crafts

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

It is the duty of an editorial writer to search all available facts before he sits down to write. From this basis the writer should be able to give a clear picture of important topics.

Which Proves A Point

Editorials are meant to stimulate thinking and if they are being read and discussed, part of their aim has been realized.

A recent editorial on Wayne having a Negro problem because we have no Negro residents and we get a one-sided picture, drew virtually no comment in the office. However, second-hand reports indicate it drew discussion elsewhere, which is part of any editorial's purpose.

One comment was that the editor must be out of his head to think we might understand Negro problems better if we had Negroes here. Another comment was that the editorial was wrong as the Negroes should stay where they are or else go back to Africa.

This proves a point. We assume that the next time an Italian criminal is engaged in gang warfare in Chicago the same people will call for all Italians to go back to Italy.

If an Irishman gets out of line, let's consider sending them all back to Ireland. The same reasoning must apply to all, but anyone who feels the Negroes should be "sent back to Africa" is using just as much logic as if he were to demand that Italians be sent back to Italy or Irish back to Ireland as cited above.

The fact that people feel as these comments indicate only goes to show how acute the problem of racial equality is right here in Wayne. Apparently there are those who believe the only really good people are those with skin as white as their own, skin color being the main basis for judging a man.

Our point should be made if there are those who condemn all Negroes on the basis of the riots in Omaha, the rantings of Stokely Carmichael, the disgrace of Cassius Clay, the turn-about of Martin Luther King, the actions of Adam Powell.

We do not expect everyone to agree with our editorials. In fact, if everyone did, we would hang up our typewriter and bask in the glory of being a perfect man.

As the situation now exists, some of our good friends disagree with us on that editorial. Some good friends have disagreed with our stands on others. They can disagree with us and still be friends, which is good.

But the point is made: Wayne has a Negro problem because there are those who deny the need for anyone coming here who is dark-skinned solely on the basis of skin color.

We're hurting and we are apparently are not doing anything about it.—CPG.

The Know-It-All Protestors

It is a shame in this hectic world we live in that it is often impossible to tell the good from the bad. Such a case is the world of the protestors.

Without a doubt there are some sincere young people (and oldsters) who resent seeing the poor and oppressed of any land dying. They are willing to work to help and they can see United States actions overseas as opposed to their own goals.

There should be no argument with them. Their aims are sincere and their eventual goals admirable but they need help in attaining them whether they know it or not.

But how about the ones who protect US "aggression" in Vietnam? What are their aims? Whose cause are they helping? Where did they acquire so much knowledge on the situation all of a sudden?

Some protest because it is the thing to do. Some are communists. Some are duped into action by impassioned speeches and the need for a "cause" to expose. The cause they help is that of the com-

State Legislature Approves Control of Federal Dollars

LINCOLN—The State Legislature has moved to give the lawmakers greater, stronger control over federal dollars spent in Nebraska.

It has given tentative approval to legislation requiring all agencies to file with the Department of Administrative Services periodic reports on the extent and provisions of Uncle Sam's aid.

Presently there are no restrictions on the amount of federal assistance spent in the state. This has caused concern among some officials, since programs that bring a flow of dollars from the federal treasury often require the money to be matched with additional dollars raised by state taxation.

"Getting federal dollars costs state dollars. When the cost of federal programs rises so does the state's participation. A system to improve Nebraska's emergency assistance potential in disaster situations.

Sponsors said the new network will be particularly helpful in coordinating information during floods, tornadoes and snow storms, and in cases of civil strife.

The basic framework of the measure was drawn by Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann. It represented a compromise between legislative factions.

Estimated cost of the system is $50,000 for the 1967-69 biennium. This would require a special appropriation from the Legislature.

The legislation provides for a telecommunications division within the State Department of Administrative Services.

recipients of federal aid. System Created

The Legislature voted 46 to 11 to create a statewide telecommunications system to improve Nebraska's emergency assistance potential in disaster situations.

Sponsors said the new network will be particularly helpful in coordinating information during floods, tornadoes and snow storms, and in cases of civil strife.

The basic framework of the measure was drawn by Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann. It represented a compromise between legislative factions.

Estimated cost of the system is $50,000 for the 1967-69 biennium. This would require a special appropriation from the Legislature.

seven member communications board.

The board will be comprised of the state adjutant general, state engineer, safety patrol chief, game commission secretary, Nebraska educational television secretary, aeronautics director and the administrative services director.

The division will have the sole responsibility to purchase or lease telecommunications facilities, services to channels "on terms which are in the best interests of the state."

This is a key part of the bill since a dispute over whether the facilities should be state-owned or leased from private interests threatened to sidetrack the legislation early in the session.

In determining which approach to take, the division must take into account six principal factors:

—Total cost to the state, including possible taxes, interest rates and obsolescence.

—Quality of service.

—Comprehensiveness of the proposed facilities.

—Financial responsibility of the supplier or carrier.

—Repair and maintenance capabilities of the supplier or carrier.

—And experience as a telecommunications carrier or supplier.

LB 605 also provides for close cooperation with the State Educational Television Network. The governor could order the two systems consolidated in instances where the life and property of the state was endangered.

Another section prevents the system or its director from functioning as a public information or news agency.

Sen. Harold B. Stryker of Rising City, chief sponsor of the plan, said all state agencies will eventually be connected to the telecommunications network. Presently several maintain their own radio operations.

"All agencies will be able to communicate instantly on a statewide basis," Stryker explained. "The result will be an increase in day-to-day efficiency of the agencies."

Junior Fee Bill Killed

The Legislature has killed a bill which would have set a one dollar junior hunting-fishing license fee for youngsters 12 through 15.

The vote to bury LB 136, introduced principally by Lincoln Sen. Fern Hubbard Orme, was 26 to 16 and came during second-round floor consideration of the measure.

Proceeds from the junior fee would have been used for gun and water safety programs, and for wildlife management purposes.

Norfolk Sen. S. H. Brauer, Sr., requested the bill be defeated. He was not opposed to the intent but objected to the method of raising the money.

Passage of this bill will make a lot of kids and their parents unhappy," he argued.

Gets Backing

The chief sponsor of the constitutional amendment to elect senators by party label says confusion over the new tax system is a "prime example why we need a partisan body."

Sen. Richard F. Proud of Omaha said the change would result in closer relationships within government and avert many of the technical flaws that crop up on emergency legislation.

"With party leadership, perhaps some of this chaos that has followed in the wake of enactment of the sales-income tax bill could be eliminated," he said.

"It would not be the total answer but one thing is certain, it couldn't result in any more confusion than already exists."

The political parties, Proud added, are willing and able to assume a role of responsibility in the legislative process.

"Presently we have 49 men and women going in 49 different directions. This is not the fault of those men and women—but it is the fault of the system," he said.

The partisan legislature amendment will be debated in the unicameral soon. It was sent to the floor by the Government Committee, but with no particular blessing.

Northeast Extension Notes

Anna Marie Kreifels

A new pot or pan might not sound like a glamorous gift for Mother's Day or for a new bride.

But take a closer look and you'll see today's pots and pans are designed with beauty and color for practical use.

Pots and pans must be selected first in relation to use, then color and beauty. Use and care of pans depend on the materials from which they are made. There is no perfect or foolproof material.

Aluminum is an excellent heat conductor, rustproof and corrosion resistant, but it discolors easily. Stainless steel is beautiful, durable and corrosion proof, but it develops heat spots. Heat-spotting is prevented by sandwiching a core metal between layers of stainless steel. Some pans have aluminum on the outside for heat distribution and stainless steel on the inside for easy cleaning.

Glass does not corrode, has excellent heat-retaining qualities and is recommended for use in electric ovens. But oven glass must be protected from sudden temperature

Using Alfalfa Pastures

Alfalfa can be used in developing highly productive pastures in Nebraska.

Alfalfa-grass pastures do well in eastern Nebraska and are recommended for ir-rigated pastures over the entire state. If you don't need the forage for pasture, cut it for hay or haylage. But remember, alfalfa pastures require good management and an abundant supply of fertilizer for top production. Alfalfa requires fertile, well-drained soil sites. Start your pasture on right by taking a soil sample and send it to the University for testing. Alfalfa needs a generous supply of phosphorus and in most Nebraska soils phosphorus is needed.

Plant your alfalfa with grasses for a mixture of at least half grass and half alfalfa. The results will be top production and less danger of bloat. Don't plant unadapted alfalfa varieties. Winter hardy and non-tolerant varieties last but a few years. Your best hay-producing varieties can be used for rotationally-grazed pasture. On the other hand, unproductive varieties result in poor, unproductive pastures.

Management is another key to successfully using alfalfa-grass mixtures as a pasture crop. Rotational grazing is a must for maximum yield and maintaining alfalfa stands. Under continuous heavy grazing, alfalfa will disappear after the first or second year leaving you with only grass. Using a week to 10-day grazing interval and allowing up to a 28-day rest period between grazings will result in longer-lived stands. This rest period is needed for the alfalfa to re-supply its root reserves and to maintain high production.

A tip on getting good alfalfa-grass mixtures: Bromo alfalfa mixtures frequently do not reach 50-50 grass-legume mixture the first years. Putting orchard-grass in the mixture will give good grass-legume ratios the first years. Then bromo begins to come in strong and takes over the orchard-grass. Bromo, intermediate wheategrass and orchard-grass do well with alfalfa and are recommended for pasture mixtures.

Preventing Cattle Disease

Most Nebraska cattlemen make a practice of vaccinating calves against Blackleg and malignant edema. There are some who do not follow this practice, judging from the number of cases diagnosed at the University of Nebraska Diagnostic laboratory each year.

These diseases can be prevented by vaccination. See your veterinarian about vaccination against Blackleg, malignant edema, Leptospirosis and possibly other diseases such as Anthrax, that occur in some areas.

Stockmen also should pay particular attention to weeds. Some weeds are of a poisonous nature and some have a tendency to take up quantities of nitrate that may cause toxicity if eaten. Sometimes the only symptom of nitrate toxicity is abortion, especially in heifers.

Consult your county Extension agent concerning pasture renovation and weed control. Good pastures, well managed, will produce more beef than weed patches. Prevent disease, improve your pastures and help yourself to greater cattle profits.

Dear Editor: I had such a happy surprise, when my former Sunday School teacher back in 1910, Ruth Bressler Claycomb from Wayne, called to see me, after all these years. She brought with her the Apr. 20 Wayne Herald with the picture of the G.A.R. Veterans of 1938.

I searched for my dear old granddad, David Moler, but he was still in O'Neill. But Mr. Ferguson I recognize. (He gave me a souvenir spoon for my high school graduation in 1914. I still have it). Mr. Stall-smith, back of him to his left, looks just the same. They lived up north of here and used to stop to visit often. The man in the front row second from the left looks so familiar.

and Julia Purdee as well as Helen Main Bressler are old old friends. How grand to see their pictures.

There were familiar names in the Cotler notice, namely, Mrs. Paul Mines (we called her Bumme), Mrs. Frank Morgan, Mrs. Warren Shultheis (wasn't she Mellor girl?)

Ruth says, the Chase girls (women now) Goldie and Margaret are out here, as well as the Leroy Leys. My oldest sister, Edna Moler Grier sold her huge house in Laurel, and is living with Berniece Moler Olson down the block from me. So the Moler girls are back together again. Isn't that a dream come true? Our mother died, when we were all babies, 5, 3, and 1. Our precious old grandparents took us, and raised us. We all had piano lessons, and studied from Wayne College. How they ever did it, I will never know. But I do know one thing, they are up in Heaven with the biggest shiniest wings up there.

We still talk of our visit back to Wayne three years ago. How prosperous it looked. And of the precious Presbyterian Church. It was the most beautiful church we had ever seen, when we moved from O'Neill, and it looked just as beautiful in our older eyes. Where else can one see that beautiful blond oak woodwork?

Again I say, it was a real thrill to visit with Ruth after all these years and read the Wayne Herald again.

Dear Editor: God made her a mother. He placed a babe within her sager, young arms and said, "Give me one of my most precious treasures. This life is thin to cherish and mold into adulthood. The task will not be easy; the sacrifice will be great."

The young mother smiled, bent and kissed the tiny pink cheek. "But worth it," she whispered softly. "In the black of the night, when storm clouds threaten, the way will be long and rugged. The road from my womb to you, though not, my child, will be with thee."

The young mother raised her eyes toward the sunrise and made a vow. "I will see Thee always. Thy commandments shall be my guide." Her lips moved in silent prayer.

Caressing the fly down on the babe's head, she made a second vow. "I must establish within my heart habits and ideals that will enrich and give purpose to all of life. First, I will teach you the meaning of love, a love for your Creator and all of mankind. I will imbue good humor to bring joy and laughter, ambition that you may succeed and a love for simple things that you may know humility. You will learn patience, my child and master tolerance that you may one day graciously endure and respect the beliefs of others."

"I will inspire honor, loyalty and honesty. You shall seek the truth and I shall make you free. I will teach you to be kind and gentle, my love, yet firm. I will implant courage and strength within your breast that you will not grope and stumble in the face of danger, hate and evil in this war-torn world. I will instill a faith through which you will find hope in failure and heartbreak; a faith that shall, through the course of life, grow richer and deeper until you will know the spirit of peace. My one, if I can fortify your adulthood with all these priceless virtues, no sacrifice will be too great!"

Now, long years after this vow was spoken, will you or I ever really know the price she paid? No one has done more to make and keep us happy. The second Sunday in May we pay tribute to Mother. Will you remember?

Dear editor:

I have lost count of the bouquets you have presented to folks in Wayne and its trade territory. This time it is your turn to receive one, and I'm sure other folks will agree with me. I don't know your favorite flower, so I'll just make it a mixed bouquet. You're a busy man—no one can deny that. Each week you bring much reading pleasure into our homes with your editorials, pictures, etc. What a fine job you did as master of ceremonies at the Farm Bureau Banquet on Apr. 22. A reader has come up with a thought on "Lorain, Neb.," shown on some maps of Wayne County. He says since map publishers cannot copyright their maps, they put certain things in on purpose to identify their work and check to see if others use it. He assumes Lorain must be one of these. It sounds logical to us. Any other explanations?

We just tell you this to show you the type of help we get. We want news. Some places the people seem to realize this. A car screeched to a halt at an intersection, barely missing a white-haired old lady. But instead of giving the driver a good tongue lashing, she recovered herself quickly, smiled sweetly, and pointed to a pair of baby shoes dangling from his rear view mirror. "Young man," she asked, "don't you think you should put your shoes back on?"

The fact that spring is in the air ought to make someone want to clean up the landscape. We want to. We hate auto junkyards and Northeast Nebraska was some of the worst. South Sioux City on the west side is almost one continuous eyesore after another—too bad too for it's a pretty nice town. Wakefield has one of the worst eyesores, right beside an industrial plant that is a real credit. Wayne has one just outside town and one almost downtown. Winside has a real eyesore. Allen is such a nice town we can't believe some of those derelict cars are going to stay there for months and years. There are others. This spring, let your thoughts turn to beautification. Concealing or obliterating these eyesores is a start.

Shmoe: "I just met a fellow who went into business on a shoestring and tripled his investment."

Joe: "That's terrific. He must be a genius."

Shmoe: "Not exactly. Besides, what's he going to do with three shoestrings?"

We cannot say too much for "Sound of Music." We plan to attend both nights. We feel that many who attend the first night will want to go the second night and many who go the second

Dixon Town Board Selects Chairmen

Dixon Town Board met Monday night to install the elected officials and to name officials for the various positions. Frank Tomason was named chairman of the board and therefore mayor of Dixon again.

Tomason, Jim McCaw and Ken Dowling were sworn in, having been elected in April. Dowling is a relatively newcomer but had served out an appointive term.

Other members holding over on the board are John Young and Lowell Saunders. Dowling was named clerk and Saunders treasurer.

Jim Saunders was named by the board to be utility superintendent for the town. Details on other council actions are contained in another story.

All-Night Square Dance at Carroll Sees Many Earn 'Nite Owl' Awards

There were 197 square dancers registered for the all-night dance at Carroll Saturday. When dawn neared at 5, there were still 130 dancers, plus some spectators. "Nite Owl" pins went to those who had come at 9 and stayed until 5.

The dance was sponsored by Jerry Junck, Carroll caller. It attracted dancers and spectators from 29 towns.

Represented were St. Joseph, Mo.; Canton, N.D.; Akron, Ill.; Sioux City, Grand Island, Rosalia, Randolph, Uehling, Pender, Stanton, Osmond, Wakefield, Norfolk, Magnet, Wausa, Scribner, Herman, Blair, Battle Creek, Madison, Butte, Fremont, Hooper, West Point, Hoskins, Wayne, Winside, Wisner, Humphrey and Carroll.

A dozen different people took turns at calling throughout the night. The "pros" on hand were Jerry Junck, Carroll; Dave Chambers, Wayne; Duane Wilcox, Blair; Dennis Kelly, Osmond; Rex Pasvar, Rosalia; Berdine "Slat" Spath and Bruce Spath, 15, Scribner.

Earning their first Nite Owl badges were 73 who stayed all night for the first time. Silver and gold "repeater" badges went to some who had stayed all night for the second or third time.

Some had bars indicating they had attended many such events and the real "pros" had badges as far as given and then added badges with stars on them, each star representing an all-night dance they took in.

Someone was dancing at almost every moment throughout the night from 9 to 5. To break the routine, games were played and visiting also took place.

Mrs. Charles Ericson, Uehling, was a clown throughout the crowd from 11 to 2. Mr. and Mrs. Gil Scheef, St. Joseph, Mo., won the prize for coming the greatest distance.

Door prize went to Mrs. Glen Osborne, Madison, and four stationery kits went to Lester Boyce, Carroll; Gil Scheef, St. Joe; Earl Schweitzer, Norfolk, and June Baier, Wayne. A nite owl cake baked by Mrs. Chester Marotz and Mrs. Vernon Miller was won by Mrs. Earl Schweitzer, Norfolk.

Assisting Junck in the event were Mr. and Mrs. Julie Eckert, Winside; Mrs. Berdine Spath, Scribner; C. D. Danielson and Joe Montoya, Laurel; and Mr. and Mrs. Clair Swanson and Mr. and Mrs. Ar-

SQUARE DANCE CALLERS were on stage for the final number at Carroll's all-night dance Saturday. Jerry Junck at the mike is just calling for a hand for Mrs. Charles Ericson, Uehling, who played the part of a clown in and through the squares for around three hours, adding much to the hilarity of the event.

Wakefield Church Sets Conference

Mr. and Mrs. Merlo Ring, Wakefield, are in charge of music and will be at the piano and organ in the afternoon. A fellowship luncheon at 5 will be in the church hospitality center in the basement.

The Kordsmen, male quartet from Neligh, will present the evening conference session at 7 in the high school. "Communication Via Christian Music" will be their theme. The Kordsmen have a weekly radio and television program and make personal appearances. The public is invited to attend, according to Pastor Merlo Ring.
