Two Wayne Soldiers Get Initial SWAY Cash Gifts

The luck of the draw sends the first week's SWAY drawing gifts to a pair of Wayne servicemen. Their names were drawn Friday night at the Vets Hall and another two names will be drawn this Friday at 8, the public being invited to be present.

Pfc. Glen Nichols, son of Mrs. and Mrs. Charles Nichols, and Pfc. William Woehler, son of Mrs. Ted Reed and William Woehler, will get the first gifts from Wayne County business and professional firms and individuals.

To each will go a money order for $10. It comes from a group who want the servicemen to know they are appreciated as uniformed members of the nation's military forces. In fact, SWAY stands for "Servicemen We Appreciate You."

It has been suggested that those knowing the ones winning send a card or letter in addition to the cash gifts. The addresses are those obtained the first of this week from the parents so they should be correct.

Woehler is a medic with an engineering company. His address is: Pfc. William F. Woehler, AS 56540993, Hq. & Co., 7th Eng. Bn., Ft. Carson, Colo. 80914.

Nichols is a body and fender man at Ft. Lewis, See SWAY, pg. 8

Honor Past Officers

The Wayne chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star will honor its past matrons and past patrons Sunday, June 11, from 3 to 5 p.m. at the Woman's Club Rooms. All members are invited to attend. Mr. and Mrs. Orville Sherry are worthy patron and worthy matron.

Australian Girl Anticipates Stay

Margot McKay of Indoopilly, Brisbane, Queensland, Australia, is anxious to become Margot McKay of City of Wayne, Wayne County, Nebraska, USA. She has already written a number of times concerning her year's stay in the Ed Wolske home.

She is due for a little eye-opening for she writes she has never been away from home for Christmas before, never seen snow before, never been in the USA before, never had a white Christmas and never gone to school September 10 June.

How come? Well, it doesn't snow at Brisbane. See AUSTRALIAN, pg. 6

Wayne Girl Heads NU Graduates From Region

Donna Louise Echtenkamp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Echtenkamp was one of two nursing students graduated with distinction at the University of Nebraska college of medicine in Omaha Sunday. She is tops among several NU graduates from this area.

Only six doctors and nurses were graduated with honor at the commencement. One was with high distinction and the other five with distinction.

The university conferred 1,538 degrees Saturday in Lincoln. Among the recipients were several from this region. They are listed by colleges as follows: Loren Bonderfson, Emerson, with high dis-

Sholes Area Readied for Big Reunion

Rain or shine, Sholes is expecting quite an increase in population Sunday. The first annual Sholes Consolidated School reunion will be held at the school, outside if possible, inside if necessary.

Former pupils and faculty members have indicated they will attend. All friends of the school are invited to attend.

A potluck picnic dinner is planned at noon with each family bringing lunches, dishes, card tables and folding chairs. An informal program will be held and the afternoon will be spent reminiscing.

The Sholes Consolidated School was formed 60 years ago when three districts merged. It was a ten-year school for years, then converted to a 12-year school and in later years has gone back to elementary classes only.

Committee members planning the event report several from a distance plan to attend. They said there is interest in making the reunion a regular event, whether it be once a year, once every two years or regularly some other schedule.

Delegates for 'States' Leave

Area delegates to Boys State and Girls State will be attending their respective "states" this coming week. The state Legion has furnished a list of boys attending but the state Auxiliary has failed to furnish a list of girls chosen.

Three area girls are known to be attending. They are: Debi Armbruster, Wayne; Dianne Mann, Winside; and Elayne Snyder, Allen.

From the same towns the delegates are: David Brown, Wayne; Kirk Troutman, Winside; and Ronald Kraemer, Allen (from Concord, a junior at Allen High).

Other area Boys State representatives are: Kenny Grafis, Laurel; Donald Meyer, Pender; Donald Eldhart, Pierce; Joseph Rohloff, Randolph; Gregory Vranicar, Stanton; David Peterson, Wakefield; and James Obermeyer, Wisconsin.

Wall of Water Damages Farm Home Near Allen

A wall of water, released when a roadway washed out, did extensive damage at a farm south of Allen Sunday night. Around five inches of rain had fallen during a thunderstorm in the area.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Warner live in the drainage area affected. At about 8 p.m. following heavy rain they stepped outside and found gas drums floating around, water rising and a general scene of flooding.

The water was rising fast. Biggest threat was to the garage and chicken house. Jerry, John and Jack Warner, the three sons, helped get the tools and other items floating away from the garage. So fast was the current they were buoyed about the legs where debris kept floating against them.

Warners' chickens are no different from others; they can't swim. However, they were floating, not due to any ability but due to

Motorcycle Riders Get Information on New Law

Wayne County motorcycle and motorbike riders are advised that a new law is now in effect. Chief provisions call for endorsement on their driver's licenses showing they qualify as cycle operators and wearing protective headgear.

County Treasurer Leona Bahde said Monday the requirement for endorsement of ability to operate a motorcycle means all operators must be checked by the driver's license examiner. He is in Wayne each Monday at the courthouse.

When he certifies that an individual qualifies as a motorcycle operator, he sends word to the state that this endorsement for See MOTORCYCLES, pg. 6

County 4-H Club Members at Camp

Six Wayne County 4-H Club members and three from Dixon County left Wayne Tuesday morning for Lincoln. They will spend the rest of the week at 4-H Club Camp at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education on the NE east campus.

County Agent Harold Ingalls drove a pickup with the luggage. Mrs. Ingalls drove a station wagon taking seven of the young people.

Most of the young people have won all-expense-paid trips to the 4-H camp. They earned their trips in various ways. See 4H WEEK, pg. 6

Ask for Roads

At the June meeting of the board members of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce, it was voted to write to Gov. Norbert Tiemann in support of a resolution urging the legislature and governor to give early attention to highway, road and street needs in Nebraska and also to ask that legislation necessary to meet the problems outlined in the recently completed legislative road study report be met by the governor and the legislature during the current legislative session or at an early special session this year.

Ice Cream, Music Get Top Billing

Homemade ice cream, old-fashioned music and other features get top billing on a Music Parents fund-raising activity set for Friday, June 16, at Bressler Park.

Band Director Don Schumacher is working out a program of old-time music favorites. Music Parents are prepared to make the old-style homemade ice cream, cake and other desserts to serve.

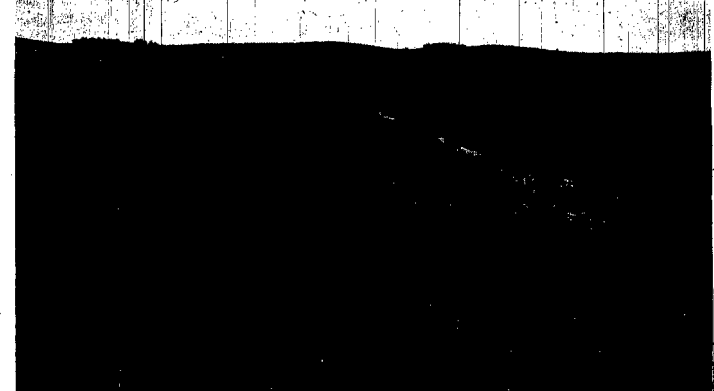

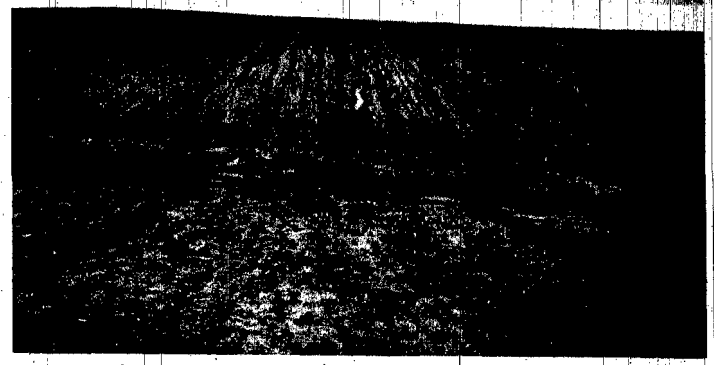

Prizes will be given in several categories and a quarter of beef donated by Central Market will be given away. The costume prizes go for the best ladies' dress, the best man's beard and the best family group in centennial clothes.

Those attending are being asked to wear authentic clothes of years gone by or centennial clothes. Serving will start at 7 with prizes and the beef given before the concert starts.

Members of the Wayne High School band will sell See ICE CREAM, pg. 6

Fire Not at Millers

In Monday's Herald two similar fires at Winside were reported. One was reported to be at the Richard Miller home. It was not at the Miller home but at the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Anna Voecks. The Millers received many telephone calls concerning the fire. It had occurred in a chimney in Mrs. Voecks' home on the west side of Winside.

HEAVY RAINS had little effect on land where terracing practices have been used, as shown by these photos taken in Wayne County this week. One farmer planted rows up and down hills. The picture shows some of the damage but a lot more was apparent to the naked eye. The other farmer used terracing and grassed waterways and his field near the other one showed little sign of erosion.

Val Petersons Plan WSC Honor

Mr. and Mrs. Val Peterson, Hastings, have established a scholarship at Wayne State college to honor Dr. J. G. W. Lewis, who taught history and political science for 25 years at Wayne.

Dr. Lewis, now 91, retired last fall from the University of Nebraska extension division and now lives in Lincoln. The University of Chicago graduate taught over 50 years in Nebraska schools. He was head of his department at WSC when Peterson was a student there.

The J. G. W. Lewis Scholarships will be administered by the Wayne State Foundation, which Peterson heads. It will be awarded each spring to a student majoring in the social sciences.

The Wayne area had an official 3.72 inches of rain in two pounding storms within a four day period. Readings are from official gauges at the Ralph Watson farm three miles north of Wayne.

Contrasted to the gentle soaking rain that had fallen in a six-day period the last of May, Sunday and Wednesday storms were gully-washers accompanied by wind, thunder and lightning. While some good was done, considerable damage to fields was caused by erosion.

Watson's gauges showed 1.70 inches in the heavy shower Sunday evening. During the night it rained again and an additional .28 of an inch of moisture fell, bringing the total for that night to 1.98 inches.

Early Wednesday a cracking electrical storm accompanied a pounding See STORMS, pg. 6

More Pupils Desired for Hoskins-Winside Program

Supt. James Christensen, Winside, reports light interest in the combined Winside-Hoskins summer program so far. He expressed the hope that more pupils will sign up at once.

Unless there are more signed, the program will not be offered again. Supt. Christensen urges parents to sign up their youngsters for all of the program if possible.

Winside-Hoskins will offer a summer program June 12 through July 18 for any youngster who has completed the third through the ninth grades this fall. The morning program

Another $400 for Thursday Winner

Another $400 Silver Dollar Night prize awaits some adult Thursday in Wayne. There was no winner last week so the "pot" is now at the maximum amount again.

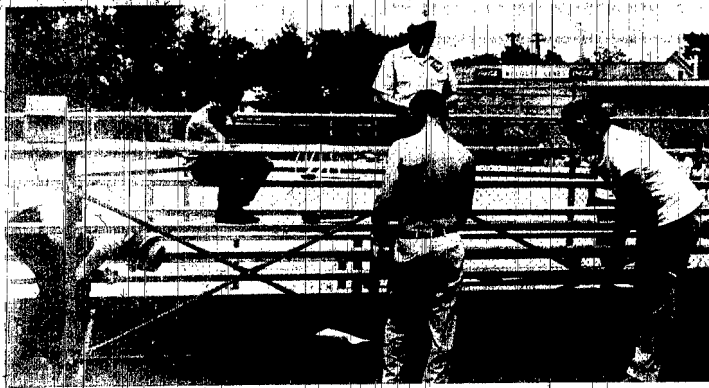

Pearl Allbaugh, Thurston, could have won $350 by being in Wayne last Thursday. Since there was no winner, the total is boosted $50 this week and a $10 consolation check went to the Thurston resident.

Newcomers to the area or those living in the region outside Wayne who have never registered are invited to do so. Most Wayne business places participate and information on registering can be obtained there. See SILVER DOLLAR, pg. 6

Logan Homemakers to Hold Family Picnic

Logan Homemakers Club will hold a family picnic June 11 at Ponca State Park. A meeting was held June 1 at the home of Mrs. Ronald Penlerick.

Mrs. Ben Hollman led group singing. Roll call was answered by telling something humorous or different which happened on the wedding day or honeymoon.

Mrs. Penlerick read two articles, "Take Time for Ten Things" and "Thank God for Dirty Dishes." The group discussed rusty scouring pads and remedies for same.

Pitch was played with prizes going to Mrs. Laverne Wischhof, Mrs. Harverne Echtenkamp and Mrs. Conrad Weierhauser. July 6 meeting will be with Mrs. Wischhof.

Satchel Paige to Appear in Wayne

Satchel Paige, baseball immortal, will appear with the Indianapolis Clowns Friday, June 16, when they play a game at the Wayne diamond. He is an added attraction with the colored traveling troupe.

Paige is probably the oldest active player around. He was playing when many of the middle-aged people of this area were just kids and he is still playing today.

He was famous when there wasn't a colored person in baseball. He did not get into pro ball for a while but was too old to make it. He is not too old to provide laughs and cheers in small towns throughout America, however.

The Clowns will play the Baltimore Stars, a professional team. The two units promise fans a variety of action in circus comedy and in baseball.

Birmingham Sam, Billy Vaughn, Dero Austin and other stars play on the team. Hank Aaron, Paul Sosa and other pros will start today and their start will be followed by others to the majors, possibly some of the players appearing in Wayne.

Game time is 8 p.m. However, the warm-up period is worth watching too for those who can get to the park on time.

Don Meyer Named Top CSC Athlete

Don Meyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Meyer, sr., Wayne, has been named the outstanding athlete for 1966-67 at Colorado State College, Greeley. He played guard on the basketball team and pitched for the baseball team.

As top athlete, Meyer was presented the Dick Hay Memorial Trophy given each year by the Club. He was named on the all-conference team in both baseball and basketball.

Earlier, CSC had revealed Meyer was one of four players selected for the all-conference team in baseball. CSC is a member of the Rocky Mountain Conference.

Meyer is a senior. He had been named in previous years on the all-conference case team but this was his first year on the baseball honor squad.

This record as a pitcher this past season is the best any CSC hurler has ever had. He won 11 and lost 2 while posting a 1.84 earned run average.

Martinsburg in Two Victories Over Allen

Martinsburg spoiled opening day of the baseball season for Allen Sunday on the Martinsburg diamond. The host team won the smaller boys' game 10-1 and the larger boys' game 8-7.

Allen plays at home June 11 against Ponca. Martinsburg travels to Newcastle for a pair of tilts.

In the first game, Martinsburg had three extra-base blows as the hurlers held Allen to two hits, both singles. Dennis Hurley had 8 strikeouts and Roger Anderson 4 for the winners. For Allen, Scott Von Minden fanned 3 and Jack Hank 1.

Dennis Hurley had a double and two singles and Dave Diediker a triple and a double for Martinsburg. Craig Blohm, Larry Stallbaum and Ted Maggart each hit a single. Pete Snyder and Paul Snyder each hit a single for Allen.

In the second game, Allen took the lead but yielded a run in the final frame. Craig Schultz went the route for Martinsburg, striking out 8 and giving up nine hits. Rick Hank struck out 2 and Bruce Trube fanned 6 for Allen, the two yielding six hits.

Kevin Hill was number one on the hit parade with a triple and two singles for Allen. Larry Carr had two singles, Rick Hank a double and Bob Mitchell, Jerry Warner and Jon Abts a single each. Bob Anderson hit a double and two singles to pace Martinsburg batters. Craig Schultz had a double and Wayne Rasmussen and Don White a single apiece for Allen.

Wayne Town Team Massacres Ponca Tuesday Night in Postponed Game

No extra innings were required Tuesday night as Wayne's town team massacred Ponca 17-0 in the league opener for both teams. As one fan said: "There were extra innings in that Wayne had the game won early and everything else was extra."

"Ponca has a good team," Wayne Manager Hank Overin said. However, the one place where it hurts to be weak is in pitching and that was where Ponca was weak. If the staff can shape up, Ponca could develop into a good entry in NEN.

Jerry Kinnan hit three singles to pace the 10-hit attack of the locals. Randy Olson had a pair of singles and Don Goeden had a double. Seven players had hits. For Ponca, four players had hits, each a single.

The two teams used three pitchers apiece but for different reasons. Ponca tried to stem the Wayne tide and Wayne tried to give all hurlers a chance to throw.

Don Goeden struck out four. Jim Mau two and Larry Wilbeck one for Wayne. Mike Newton had five strikeouts, John Kingsbury one and Gary Bennett none for the visitors.

Big innings were the first and fifth when Wayne scored six runs and the fourth when the locals scored five. All other frames were scoreless. Ponca got two men as far as third but stranded three men on base in the second inning when the bases were loaded with no one out and Goeden struck out the next three men.

Following is the box score taken from a scorebook kept by Steve Hix, who just happens to be one of the most thorough scorekeepers in the area, even including first names and totalling out the figures before turning over the book.

Baseball Teams Get Rained Out

The Northeast Nebraska League is having trouble getting its baseball season underway. Games Sunday were rained out at night after perfect weather for the game in the afternoon. Wayne was scheduled to play Wakefield Sunday night. The rain started before the game did and before it was through it was more of a pool than a diamond.

Manager Hank Overin said the game would be rescheduled when diamond conditions permitted. The same goes for a Wednesday night game Homer Juniors, which was scheduled for 7:30, depending on the weather.

Thursday, June 8, Wayne Town plays at Homer; Friday, June 9, Schuyler Midgits and Juniors play at Wayne; Sunday, June 11, Emerson plays Wayne Town here; and Monday, June 12, Wayne Midgits and Juniors play at Laurel.

Ken Dahl Takes Second at Meet

Ken Dahl, Wayne, took second in the Neligh golf tournament Sunday. He had a final total of 112, two strokes more than Jim Shade, Norfolk. Dahl had won the tournament last year.

He received a movie camera for his effort. Also playing in the championship flight with him were Don Sand, Jim Marsh, Tom Keenan, Bill Erickson and Bob Reeg.

WSC Athletes in NAIA Track Meet

Javelin thrower Jerry Poulson and hurdler Bob Cordes will take Wayne State colors to the national NAIA track and field meet Friday and Saturday at Sioux Falls, S. D.

The Wayne team has elected Cordes, a sophomore from Scribner, the most valuable performer of the year and also co-captain with Poulson, a senior from Cherokee, Ia.

Poulson hopes to unleash the best throw of his career at the nationals, bettering his record of 201-6 1/2 at the Howard Wood Relays, also at Sioux Falls, last month.

Cordes, a handyman who took a crack at all the dashes and hurdles, the javelin, high jump and long jump this year, posted his best marks in the 330 and 440 intermediate hurdles. He set a new Wayne State record over the 440 distance and tied Stan Thorpe's 330 time of 39.1.

The other new WSC record this season also came in the hurdles when Thorpe, a Grand Island sophomore, skimmed the 120 highs in 15 flat, breaking his own mark of 15.1, set earlier in the year.

Wayne State to Start New Term

Wayne State College finishes early next week the first session of its split third term, then begins the second session Friday, June 16.

Registration is scheduled that day, and classes convene Monday the 19th. Included with the regular summer curriculum for graduates and undergraduates are seven workshops, most of them lasting three weeks.

A nationally known author of children's books, Natalie Savage Carl, son, will be on campus July 17 and 18 for the workshop on new developments in language arts, directed by Dr. Lyle Skov from July 10 to 28. Mrs. Savage will speak the first day of "Developing or Encouraging Writing from Children." She also will speak July 18 during the Children's Book Fair at 2:30 in Ramsey Theater, describing her choice of book characters.

That evening in Ramsey Theater, the workshop group will show the activities possible for the sharing of children's books.

The reading practicum, June 19-July 7, taught by Dr. Walter Peterson, also will have a visiting lecturer, Dr. Donald Cusfenbery, director of the Omaha University reading clinic. The class will visit reading clinics in Omaha and also will coordinate testing diagnosis with the Wayne city schools summer program.

For the workshop in behavior in the classroom, June 19-July 7, Dr. Donald Merriman will direct research on why children act as they do and on ways to create a classroom climate that encourages learning.

The aerospace workshop, July 10-28, will bring in aviation authorities from the commercial airlines, State Department of Aeronautics, and the Air Force to explain the development and future of aviation. Several field trips are scheduled to Strategic Air Command headquarters near Omaha and to the SAGE air defense unit at Sioux City. Dr. Lyle Seymour directs this workshop.

Dr. Helen Russell is in charge of two workshops, one on creative drama, June 16-July 7, the other on remedial speech observation, July 10-August 4.

The latter is in conjunction with the annual remedial speech clinic for children, directed by Dr. Russell.

The music director workshop for professional directors and college seniors in music provides opportunity to study directing techniques during the annual Summer Fine Arts Camp, July 30-August 6. Dr. Benjamin Barnstein is the workshop director.

There are nearly 57,000 miles of surfaced roads in Nebraska and more than 5,500 miles of railroad trackage.

New Type Course in State Open to Vets

Chris Bargholz, veterans service officer for Wayne County, reports a new type course is to be offered in Nebraska July 10. It is open to veterans who have school eligibility. Aviation airframe and power plant mechanics will be offered at the Western Nebraska Vocational Technical School, Sidney, starting in July. The beginning quarter will be followed by classes in aircraft physics, shop mathematics, welding engine assembly and disassembly, engine overhaul, engine operation, aircraft structure and other courses.

THANKS TO THE Winside and Wayne Fire Departments and to our friends and neighbors for their quick assistance at the time of our fire. Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Glassmeyer and Ed Glassmeyer. j8

MAY I TAKE this means of expressing my sincere thanks to all who sent flowers, gifts and cards and visited me during my stay in the hospital and since my return home. Mrs. Floyd Hupp. j8

WE WISH TO EXPRESS a sincere "Thanks" to our many friends and relatives who helped to make our Golden Anniversary such a memorable occasion. God Bless each and everyone of you. Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Moseley. j8

THE PLEASANT VIEW Cemetery Association of Winside wishes to express thanks to those who assisted with the recent clean-up activities at the cemetery and to those who made cash contributions. The fine cooperation shown by all is truly appreciated. j8

WE ACKNOWLEDGE with grateful thanks every expression of thoughtfulness by friends and relatives which made our golden wedding observance such a memorable occasion. We are fortunate to have known folks like you during the fifty years. Sincerely, Nettie and Lawrence Ring j8

 Several more have given cash to the fund. Winside businessmen are to consider joining the appreciation effort and all business and professional firms in the county as well as veterans organizations are invited to take part.
 The promotion has no commercial aspects whatsoever. It is not intended to draw business to one town, to the county or away from other counties. It is merely an appreciation gesture to show those in uniform that everyone respects and they are being backed by the folks at home.

Storms

 in. Gauges at the Watson farm showed 1.74 inches of rain, bringing the total for the four-day period to 3.72 inches.
 Verdigr reported seven inches of rain Tuesday night and Wednesday morning. Tilden had almost four inches. Several other points in the central and northeast parts of Nebraska reported rain of over three inches. A tornado funnel hovered near Butler for 20 minutes Tuesday night, according to the press services.
 Soil Conservation Service staff members report the rain supply varied in Wayne County. One area west of Carroll reported three inches in a short period. Other areas reported less than an inch of rain.

Kiwanians Take 'Trip', Do Work

 Wayne Kiwanis Club worked on the new bleachers at the swimming pool Sunday. They enjoyed the last half of a "trip" to the Arctic at their Monday noon meeting catered by Bill's Cafe at the Woman's Club Rooms.
 The bleachers are a civic project of the club. Units will provide seating for spectators at the Wayne Municipal swimming pool this summer.
 Kiwanis Club members and volunteers set up the bleachers near the pool Sunday afternoon. It will be up to the city to determine where the bleachers will be set permanently.
 Ted McDonald, professor at Wayne State College, showed the last half of his slides of northern Canada Monday. The portion shown covered the trek into the Arctic Ocean area. Kiwanians saw fish so big they still do not believe them and saw through slides what they will probably never see in person.

 and the temperature in winter gets only as low as 40 degrees. In the summer it is usually around 60 to 70, so, no snow.
 She could never have a white Christmas there even if they did have snow because Christmas comes in the middle of summer in Australia. She has not attended school September to June because they're enjoying summer when we're having winter so right now their first term of school is just ending and their second semester is about to start. It's winter there now.
 Margot writes that she looks forward to water skiing: "I have been water skiing once before but I couldn't walk for about a week and I didn't know I had so many muscles that could ache all at once."
 She is anxious to learn of FHA and Pep Club. She reports her school has "three sport houses" that have cheer groups but she can't picture the Pep Clubs they have here. She also writes that she looks forward to the varied curriculum Wayne High offers because their courses are more limited.
 Her parents have also written the Wolskes. Her father is manager of QTC, Channel 9, the first commercial television station in Brisbane. He is exactly the same age as Wolske and Margot is the same age as Kathy Wolske.
 Margot will be in Los Angeles July 28. Within 48 to 72 hours she will arrive in Omaha and be in Wayne. She will then spend a year here as an exchange student, her trip being made possible by the Wayne chapter of the American Field Service.

Allen Farm

 ground corn cobs, used as litter floating on top of the rising water. Warners had 650 chickens ready for the broilers but lost only a few along with three ducklings and seven kittens.
 Water pressure broke basement windows, sending mud and water pouring into the basement of the house. Although the water rose more than a foot above the back door sill, a new metal outer door sealed the doorway enough so water did not go into the house.
 An A-type hog house was washed several feet down the usually dry gully. The propane tank ended up across the road. Silt and mud was deposited all over the yard, covering Mrs. Warner's flowers, the family garden and the lawn several inches deep. A garden fence was littered with debris of all types, hanging several inches above the ground.

 Monday and Tuesday were cleaning days. Warner took a tractor with loader and pushed mud out of the yard. Firemen from Allen came out to pump water standing four feet deep out of the basement. The truck mired down in the yard and had to be pulled out with tractors.
 Warners have lived at the farm one year. Talking with others who had lived there over 30 years, they learned that the farmyard had never been flooded before.
 Cause of this year's flooding was a rain shower that dumped about five inches of rain in the immediate area of the watershed which stretches four miles to the south. About 4 1/2 inches came in a cloudburst Sunday evening with another half inch falling during the night.
 Just 1 1/2 miles north, in Allen, rain totalled 2.20 inches during the same period. Such readings were typical as thundershowers dumped varying amounts of water all over Northeast Nebraska.
 A second cause of the sudden flooding seemed to be a roadway that gave way under pressure of water backed up behind it one mile south of the Warner home. Water flowed over the road for a while, the tube beneath that ordinarily handles water runoff being unable to handle the large amount of water.
 The pressure was too much for the county road and it finally gave way above the tube. This let a small "lake" of water go rushing down the small valley and onto the Warner farmyard. No other farm homes were as low in the watershed below the road so the Warners were the only ones hit.
 Dixon County road crews had the road fixed temporarily later Monday. The road carries a lot of traffic as it connects Highway 9 with the state spur ending at the Northeast Station, Concord.
 Mrs. Warner was cleaning mud out of clothing and other items Monday. Warner and the boys were cleaning the yard. Jeanie went to stay with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Warner, a mile east, while cleanup operations went on. Efforts to get mud and water out of the basement were successful but the washer and other equipment will not be in running order for a while.
 No estimate of the damage could be given. The house, yard, garden, farm buildings, equipment, fences, crops and other assets were damaged. It will be a while before the full extent of the loss is known.

Motorcycles

 motorcycle operating has been added.
 Miss Bahde reports there are no set specifications for helmets for riders yet, but law requires that the "driver" and the passenger must both wear protective headgear. In other words: No riding on a motorcycle bareheaded.
 Ron Meyer, who gives driver's license examinations here Mondays, said this week no one under 18 can operate a motorcycle legally. He said there is no "learner's permit" and unless a person has the endorsement of the county treasurer on the license he cannot legally operate a cycle.

The county treasurer said no more minor's driver's licenses for operating vehicles will be issued. These formerly went to those in the 16-to-20 age group. From now on, everyone will get adult licenses.
 Those turning 16 will get adult licenses now. They will expire in September along with all other adult licenses. Then a new licensing procedure goes into effect, details of which are being worked out now.
 The main points to be made now are: Anyone operating a motorbike without endorsement of the county treasurer on the driver's license is violating the law; anyone riding a motorcycle (passenger or operator) is violating the law unless wearing protective headgear.

THE WELSH SEXTET from the Carroll area was a popular singing group for years in Nebraska and surrounding states. Organized in 1912, the group sang right through World War I, appearing in Liberty Loan Drives, at state colleges, on campaign trips for William Jennings Bryan and at the national Farmers Union convention in Lincoln. Left to right in front are Harry

Animals Keep Police Busy During Weekend

The Wayne Police Department was kept busy during the weekend rounding-up animals in addition to making the regular street patrol. Lost dogs, stray dogs and dogs in gardens were the main source of trouble, but a wild deer even got into the act when it wandered into town near South Douglas Street and had to be chased away.

Other duties were also performed by the Department as an unlocked door was checked, an emergency message was delivered, a lady was helped after she locked herself out of her garage and houses were checked since the owners were away on vacation.

Christmas Tree Business Booms

Northeast Nebraska could enjoy a Christmas tree boom if the people were to take advantage of potential, according to Dick Gavit, extension forester at Northeast Station, Concord.

According to Gavit, Nebraska produces one percent of the Christmas trees sold in the state. It could be a half-million-dollar business, he thinks.

A demonstration plot has been established at the station near Concord. Scotch pine was planted this year and next year other varieties of pine will be added.

Plots are set up to show proper spacing, five feet in the row and ten feet between rows. Scotch pine can grow here and pine is the big seller at the Christmas period, accounting for 60 per cent of tree sales.

Gavit points out that trees have to be kept free of weeds. After two or three years, they must be sheared.

He figures a farmer can take care of five acres with one or two acres being planted each year. Harvest of Christmas trees begins five or six years after planting.

Thousands of acres of land could be devoted to Christmas tree production in Nebraska, Gavit concludes. The market in this state alone is sizable.

Rock Show Two Days

Accidents In and Near Carroll Investigated
Two accidents in the Carroll vicinity were investigated by the Wayne County Sheriff's Department Friday. Neither of the mishaps resulted in injury and property damage was minor. Deputy Sheriff S. C. Thompson was the investigating officer in both cases.

The first accident occurred two miles north of Carroll on Highway 57 when a livestock feed truck owned by Bloomfield Hatchery and Feed Mills, Inc. tipped over in loose gravel at the top of a hill. The driver, Emel B. Schaller, Bloomfield, reported that the south- bound truck went out of control when its wheels

Carroll Youth Faces Long Hospitalization

Troy Milligan, 2, is facing the next two months in good spirits. Not many could say the same if they were going to be in traction for that period.

The lad, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Milligan, Carroll, fell off the slide Thursday night while playing in the Carroll Park. He was brought to the Wayne Hospital for treatment.

He had broken one leg between the knee and the hip. The injury was of a type that could not be healed in a cast so both legs were put in traction in the hospital and he faces eight weeks in one position.

Troy did not cry much, even when being brought to the hospital. His mother, the former Judy Jorgensen, stays with him a while each day but since she and her husband both work they cannot spend the time with him they wish they could.

Driverless Auto Hits Parked Car Thursday

An accident at 12:35 p.m. Thursday at the intersection of Fifth and Pearl resulted in minor damage to the cars involved. The mishap occurred when an auto parked on the 200 block of Fifth Street belonging to K. Warren Williams, Wayne, slipped out of parking gear, rolled across the street and collided with a car owned by Richard Powers, Wayne, which was parked in front of St. Paul's Lutheran Church. No damage estimate was available according to investigating Officer Ron Penfield.

THIS TRACTOR was stuck when Jim Warner, Allen, had been pushing mud out of his yard, the tractor got stuck and another tractor (out of sight on this photo was pulling it back, so more mud could be bulldozed out. John Warner watches the tractor-pulling operation. His brother, Jerry, was on the other tractor.

Carroll Saddle Club Holds Fifth Annual Horse Show

The fifth annual horse show sponsored by the Carroll Saddle Club will be held Sunday, June 11, at 10:30 a.m. In case of rain, it will be postponed until Wednesday, June 14, at 6 p.m.

Entries are expected from three states for the first big horse show of the season in the area. North-east Nebraska rules and regulations will be in effect with Bill Goedenken of Columbus judging and Merlin Jenkins of Carroll announcing.

Trophies, buckles and ribbons will be given. The jackpot, made up of entry fees, will be divided 30, 20, 15 and 10 per cent.

Carroll business places are picking up the tab for most of the awards. Some Wayne, Winside and county firms are also sponsoring various events.

The grand entry is scheduled for noon. Opening events will be the pony pleasure class, potato race, musical chairs, barrel crawl and then grand entry.

Following will be junior pleasure, senior pleasure, junior hat race, senior hat race, horse shoe pair, four-in-line, four-abreast, junior barrel, senior barrel, flag race, junior pole bending, senior pole bending, pick-up race, ribbon race, baton race and key-hole race.

The affair is open to the public. Everyone is invited.

Funeral Services Held Sunday for Gustaf A. Carlson

Funeral services for Gustaf A. Carlson, 100, were held June 4 at Concordia Lutheran Church, Concord. Mr. Carlson died June 1 at Wayne Hospital.

Rev. John Erlundson officiated at the rites. The congregation sang "Faith of Our Fathers" and "Mr. and Mrs. Verdel Erwin sang" "Children of the Heavenly Father." Mrs. Winton Wallin was accompanist. Pallbearers were Arthur Johnson, Kenneth Olson, B. B. Michels, Oscar Johnson, J. Arvid Peterson and Eric Larson. Burial was in Concord Cemetery.

Gustaf A. Carlson, son of Carl and Johanna Johnson, was born March 24, 1867 in Sweden. He came to the United States in 1892, settling in the Concord area. He was married Feb. 28, 1900 to Rosa Anderson at Concord. They spent their married life in the Concord area except for five years when they lived in Texas. Mr. Carlson farmed until 1925 when he moved into Concord. He was preceded in death by his wife, a daughter in infancy and a son. Survivors include a daughter, Helen Carlson, Concord and a niece and nephew in Sweden.

SECOND HIGHEST ranking student at Sioux City Central among 579 graduates this year was Mary Jane Hansen, daughter of Mrs. Ruby Hansen and the late Herman Hansen, former Wayne residents. She has been admitted with honors to Iowa University. Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Rubbeck, Carroll, were among those attending graduation and the post-graduation party in the Hansen home at 2945 Sunset Circle, Sioux City. Rubbeck is an uncle of Mary Jane.

Senator Wallwey Says Equitable Tax One of Main Interests for Nebraska

(The following was written by Ruth Hagedorn as one of a series of sketches on Nebraska's state legislators.)

Sen. Elmer Wallwey, Emerson, says his primary interest in the new legislative session is passage of an acceptable state tax. Wallwey, who represents Dakota, Dixon, and Wayne counties in District 17, said he wants "to see that a fair and equitable tax situation finally comes to Nebraska."

He described Gov. Norbert Tiemann as being close to the people and possessing a magnetic personality. This, he said, will be needed, because "even though I am a democrat, if he finds a good answer to the tax question I'm going to support him and then expect him to sell it to the people of the state."

Wallwey has been appointed to serve on the public health and welfare committee and the public works committee.

During the last session he was a member of the revenue and miscellaneous subjects committees. He said that when appointed, he was unhappy with the latter post.

Titles are deceiving, he said with a laugh, for "I found the committee very interesting. We got all the bills that were too hot to handle in other committees" so that a study of them could be made.

Wallwey said he has served as principal introducer of four bills, explaining that "there are so many bills that usually one can be found which, when amended, will suit your purpose" so a new bill need not be drafted.

Of the bills he has introduced, Wallwey said the one in which he was most interested gave county fair boards the privilege of merging their fairs. He explained that this was especially for Thurston and Dakota counties, which are now taking steps in this direction.

Wallwey explained that between legislative sessions he also serves on legislative committees, which are studying public power and the feasibility of consolidating certain county offices.

The senator noted that Nebraska is unique in that it has no private power. He said his committee is in the middle of a conflict between various public agencies in the state, each wanting to grow faster than the other. He said he has found that there is actually more competition between the publicly owned works than would exist if these were private.

Wallwey, 51, said most of the travel which accompanies his post comes from two weeks before Christmas when he is based home two days.

Wallwey said he once spoke to a high school senior class and was asked if he voted in the legislature as he thought best or as his constituents would.

He said that the question stumped him for a time but he believes he could now answer that he votes first for the good of the state and second for the good of his district.

"What is good for the state will eventually be the same as what is good for my district," he explained.

Wallwey said many of his constituents write him when they disagree with his vote or with a bill that was passed, but he never knows definitely when any agree. This keeps him from being fully informed as to the thoughts or desires of people in his district, he said.

The amount of mail he gets depends upon what the legislature is hearing at the time, he continued. Whereas sometimes he receives a flood of mail, on occasion "I actually get nothing to read, and I quipped.

Being relatively new in the state's government, Wallwey said that upon entering the legislature he was impressed at once by the caliber of men who represent the state. "They're all good men who are primarily interested in Nebraska," he said.

Now, having served in the legislature, he stands by the unicameral system, explaining that "it is more efficient and more economical than the bicameral system would be, it has sufficient checks and balances for bills," and its non-partisanship means that senators "can't hide behind the skirts of a political party" in their voting.

Raised in the district he represents, the senator lives seven miles from Emerson on the same land his grandfather once homesteaded. He said he has found farming more time-consuming than his senatorship permits and so rents his land.

A graduate of Emerson High School, Wallwey also attended Morningside College, Sioux City, and Parsons College, Fairfield, Ia.

His two oldest daughters, Babette and Wilma, are married, while his youngest, Marilyn, 19, is working in Sioux City. She attended the University of Nebraska last year.

Wallwey's son, Bill, 23, is a junior at the university, majoring in agricultural economics with the hope of one day assuming the responsibility for his father's farm.

Although Wallwey's wife, Elsie, has previously remained at home during legislative sessions with the senator returning on weekends, this year the two will stay in Lincoln. "This way, I'll get a little home cooking," the senator said with a smile.

Service Man Has Bad Luck in Ohio City

A/1c Kenneth Haase, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Haase, Wayne, has no fond memories of Akron, Ohio. He stopped enroute to Wayne from North Carolina and lost over $600 in clothing.

The airman and his wife were enroute to Wayne from Pope AFB, N. C. He is to go overseas and she is to stay in Sioux City a year and a half while he is gone.

In Akron the couple stopped to visit friends. They left their car parked outside the friends' home with the doors and windows locked. Next morning they found someone had broken a wing window to get into the vehicle.

Missing were clothing belonging to both of them. Whoever broke in was in a hurry, however, for they missed a camera, a radio and several other items of considerable value.

Funeral services for Fred A. Lehmann, 79, formerly of Hoskins, were held May 21 at Zion Lutheran Church, Mission, S.D. Mr. Lehmann died May 21 in a Valentine hospital.

Fred Albert Lehmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lehmann, was born Jan. 12, 1888, in Frankfurt, Germany. He came to the United States with his parents when he was a child. He was married June 6, 1915 to Dora Grimm at Hoskins. The couple lived in the Hoskins area until 1931 when they moved to Mission, S. D.

Survivors include his widow; three sons, Edgar, Roscoe, S. D., Raymond of Erickson and Albert of Mission; two daughters, Mrs. Paul Schenms, Kodiak, Alaska, and Mrs. Clarence Holte, Valentine; two brothers, Arthur of Pierce, William of Denver; two sisters, Mrs. Charles Wickman, Norfolk, and Mrs. Emil Vonderhoe, Pierce; 18 grandchildren and 14 great grandchildren.

One spray weeds and feeds your corn.

You can apply Atrazine 80W herbicide in combination with nitrogen solution. One trip over the field does two jobs... weeds and feeds your corn. Moisture moves Atrazine down into the weed root zone where it will control most annual broad-leaf weeds and grasses for the entire season. Nitrogen solution gives corn the nutrient it needs most. EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

Who Will Get Headlines?

One of these days some young Wayne area resident is going to get unwanted headlines. Who will it be? No one knows now, but mark our words, that situation is coming.

The person can be described somewhat like this: A boy, in his teens, about 16 to 18 years of age, fun-loving, pretty high morals, pretty good grades in school, popular with boys and girls, never in trouble, maybe a little bit of a rascal but certainly a credit to his family.

He'll get headlines depending upon the circumstances. He may get the big black ones that spell out tragedy. Then again, he may be lucky and the headlines could be small, maybe even on an inside page.

When the time comes, he will do something that hundreds of other boys have done before him, maybe not around here, but all over the country. The incident will arise because the activity he enjoys so much is becoming so much more popular day by day.

Who is he? A motorbike rider. He doesn't wear a helmet. He has had no special training. He has been warned to be careful. He tries to be careful. He just has a date with destiny to be in the wrong place at the wrong time.

So, be careful you kids. Those motorbikes are fun. Born a few decades too soon, most of us cannot share your fun, but we're glad it is so much fun for you. As we read in other papers about other kids just like you who are crippled, scarred or dead, we just wonder how long we're going to get by without a serious mishap.

That's a mighty potent little machine you're sitting on as you ride about. It's great to be carefree and full of fun on them. But remember there are only two wheels, motorbikes can overturn, they can smash into solid objects, they can go out of control.

We hope we're wrong about an accident being inevitable. You can make us wrong by showing extra care. We'll be so happy at being wrong we'll share our pleasure with you in a little prayer of thanks that you're being so careful and will continue to be that way.

Don't ever let us look back at this editorial and wish that as we wrote it we could have foreseen who it was going to be so we could have warned you. It will be too late then and no one will feel worse than we will.—CEG.

You Can't Please 'em All

Newspapers are in a peculiar position. They deal in a single commodity for the most part yet in that commodity are contained all types of ingredients and it's impossible to get the right proportion of all ingredients to please everyone, even though the weeklies try.

Some people despise sports. They couldn't care less about football, baseball, basketball and other meets. They find too much of these in The Wayne Herald.

But there are those who love sports. They don't think enough coverage is given. They want more statistics, more descriptions of the action, more pictures and more variety of all sports reports.

Some people like horses. They want the saddle clubs covered extensively. They'll never get enough. It's hard for them to realize that some subscribers think if there is one horse picture used every other year that is more than ample coverage of activities of those who ride.

Women have been overheard to deplore the sports coverage but they sure enjoy the social items. They like to read about who won at card parties, who had a shower, who is engaged and what the bride wore. Little do they know that some subscribers don't care if the bride wore a topless gown. They think wedding write-ups are ridiculous, they don't want to know who is going to marry who and card party prizes are a bunch of foolishness.

Preliminary Approval Set For Aiding Public Schools

LINCOLN—Nebraska's "do-everything" Legislature has tentatively decided to pump millions of state tax dollars into the support of public grade and elementary schools.

eliminate accidents

enjoy them and people who don't. There seems to be no in-between group. Some subscribers want more details on court proceedings. They can get them out of court records if they wish.

Getting out a paper to suit everyone is impossible. But we smalltown publishers try. It's like cooking—no cook can please every diner either, because some do not like onions, some can't stand tomatoes, some like it hot, some like it cold, some like it in the pot nine days old.

A little understanding would be appreciated. But chances are the ones this message is intended for will never recognize themselves. They will want more coverage for their special interests and to heck with the rest of the paper.

In other words, no one will ever be completely satisfied with a smalltown paper. But the ones who will always be most dissatisfied will be the editors and publishers. They will know they can do better and they'll just keep trying.

When they're satisfied, there is no more hope for them.—CEG.

How to Kill a Good Game

It seems those who bring baseball to the public are doing a great deal to kill it. On the local level and on the major league level baseball has not kept up with football and basketball in building interest.

A good example of how to kill fan interest was displayed at Norfolk Friday. Two games, Midgets first and Juniors second, were scheduled between Norfolk and Wayne, the first at 5:30.

The first started nearer 6. The field had to be lined, which is understandable. Both teams had to warm up, which is understandable. Instructions had to be given to the umpires and coaches, which is understandable.

But, what is not understandable is why the rules could not have been made known earlier. Why couldn't someone have lined that field while the two teams were in the dugouts for introductions? Why couldn't warmups have been scheduled so that the game could start on time?

When the first game was about two innings from being over, Junior teams warmed up. Then when the first game was over, one team took the field to warm up. Then the other team took the field to warm up. Then the pitcher for the home team had to practice pitch some more. Then the visiting team batted and their pitcher had to warm up with more practice pitching.

Delays were common throughout the game. As a result, some fans sat there from 5 p.m. until after 11. It's no wonder there were so few people in the grandstands.

If games are going to be so drawn out, they should be shortened to five and seven innings instead of seven and nine. Better yet, they should be played on time and with a minimum of delays. Sure, warming up is necessary but when it delays the game it should be arranged so it can be as fast as possible.

The majors are no better. Fans get to see a few minutes of action for an afternoon or evening at the park. As a result, crowds are small. Sure, major leagues draw more than they used to but there are more teams in more cities than there used to be. As for minor leagues, they have all but disappeared at a time when action-packed pro football is expanding to the smaller major cities such as Omaha, Rock Island and Oklahoma City, towns which no longer offer pro baseball.

Many still like baseball. How long this will last is not clear. One thing, baseball can kill itself if there are many nights such as that long drawn-out affair at Norfolk last week. Only the diehard fans will turn out to be bored stiff two-thirds of the time and see action the other one-third.

You don't believe it? Ask that baseball fan of so many years how the crowds now compare with those of even five or ten years ago. No further proof will be needed.—CEG.

fluence, behind the resounding vote is Republican Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann, who has become the most successful lobbyist of them all this session.

Tiemann has staunchly supported the measure as necessary to lift the quality of education in Nebraska to a new level of excellence as well as achieve greater local tax equality.

His top aide, Dr. Clayton Yeutter, admitted the government's staff worked as "hard on LB448 as we did on the income-sales tax bill."

Lawmakers voted 42 to 2 to advance the sweeping school aid bill (LB448) from General File—initial floor state—after less than four hours of debate. It will need only 25 favorable ballots to pass. Viewed as the key in-

Sniff out hazards..

Yeutter was a frequent visitor to the high-ceilinged legislative chamber during the first-round debate. So were urban area educators, who helped draft the basic, milestone framework of the plan.

Nebraska, which ranks last in the nation in the amount of tax dollars appropriated to schools, has not had a general aid program since the early 1900's. Past unicameral attempts to change this posture.

LB448 would allot an estimated $70 million a year to schools when fully funded. But the initial outlay would only be $25 million. The money would come from sales-income tax collections.

Under the bill, each qualified school district would receive a basic foundation grant and an equalization grant if needed to bring its financial support in line with standards set out in the legislation.

The foundation program would provide $12.50 per kindergarten pupil each year, $25 in grades one through six, $30 in grades seven and eight, and $35 in grades nine through 12.

There would be incentive payments for better-trained teachers, summer academic programs, and projects for gifted or educationally-deprived children.

Budget Restoration Asked Governor Tiemann has appealed to the Legislature to restore more than $10 million in Budget Committee cuts in his 1967-69 appropriations request.

Surprisingly, however, he did not ask the lawmakers to fully reinstate his two-year capital improvements program, which was $23 million higher than that recommended by the committee.

Tiemann outlined his request in a letter to Budget Committee Chairman Richard D. Marvel and released to other members of the unicameral.

"I am firmly convinced that the recommendations which I made with respect to budgetary needs of the state for the upcoming biennium are reasonable and necessary," the governor said.

Tiemann proposed last March a $220.5 million state general fund appropriation for the two-year fiscal period beginning July 1. The committee pared this to $206.4 million.

Sixty percent of the general fund receipts would come from the new sales-income tax collections. While Tiemann urged full restoration of his spending blueprint to operate the 60-plus state agencies in the months ahead, he listed several "absolutely must" programs. They included:

—Salary increases for his chief aides, executive assistant Clayton Yeutter and special counsel Robert Barnett. Both now make $12,000 a year. The governor wants to boost Yeutter to $17,000 and Barnett to $15,500.

Such information is needed to assist salesmen in determining the number of BTUs of heat to be removed in an hour's time which in turn indicates the cooling capacity needed in an air conditioner.

County Agent's Column by Harold Jhalls. Requires Observation. Poloxaline is a chemical that has been found to aid in the prevention of bloat in cattle. Last year poloxaline (trade name bloat guard) was developed as a top dressing on feed for dairy and beef animals. This year the top dressing material is available and should be in adequate supply at all feed dealers.

In addition, poloxaline has been added to molasses blocks (trade name lix) that can be used to supply the drug to cattle on pasture, and not being fed grain. The block form also could be used for cattle being fed on pasture, to save the time and labor involved in top dressing the feed. However you plan to use poloxaline, keep these things in mind for a successful program:

1. Feed cattle poloxaline (top dressing or block form) for two days before turning on legume pasture. 2. Cattle must consume at least 10 grams of the drug per day for each thousand pounds live-weight. 3. It is necessary that the top dressing be fed each morning. For the cattle on feed, assure that they have ample opportunity to eat from the blocks. One block for each four or five cattle is recommended. The blocks should be placed where cattle congregated when they are not feeding. 4. Cattle fed poloxaline must be constantly observed, because it is possible under certain conditions that bloat could occur. Be sure that all animals are eating treated feed or the blocks daily. Individual animal differences make some animals more subject to bloat. There also is a difference in legumes on certain days and at certain times of day. This all adds up to the guideline: watch cattle carefully to help avoid loss from bloat. Do not feed salt other than the salt in the molasses blocks. Feeding additional salt might cause the animals to eat too small an amount of the drug to prevent bloat. Consult your veterinarian concerning pasture bloat prevention and other health aids so that first aid for bloated animals can be prescribed until he arrives. The drug poloxaline is an aid to prevent bloat, but must be accompanied by judicious management practices.

Cut Hay, Silage Early. Dairymen can get higher production with less expensive grain mixtures next winter by feeding hay and silage that is cut early, says Phil Cole, Extension dairyman at the University of Nebraska. Cut your hay in the bud stage to get a higher quality forage, Cole advises. This stage is when the first blooms are starting to show on alfalfa plants. Protein content declines about one-half percent for every day the hay is left in the field after the first blooms start to show. Total digestible nutrients also decline rapidly as the plant goes from early bud to full bloom. As feeding value declines, so does dollar value. At early bud stage, the value per ton may be as much as $15 per ton more than hay cut at full bloom. This means you can earn more with early cutting even though you may not harvest quite as much tonnage, Cole concludes.

Dear Editor: I wish to make a few corrections in your column in regard to the Stokes School. First you stated the consolidation consisted of four districts. Instead, think the record will show it was only three districts: the Kinney school, the Moats school and the Selton school. Dear Editor: After reading your editorial comment (May 25, 1967) about Wayne's restaurants failing to stay open on Sunday afternoons and evenings, I feel that you have not analyzed the entire situation. Anyone acquainted with running a place of business knows that the main objective is to make a profit. It takes money to pay for water, electricity, gas and employees. Much restaurant trade on Sunday afternoons and evenings consist of high school students. When a group of six cents, when a group of students come into a cafe and only one orders a 10¢ coke, is that dime enough to pay even for the electric lights? Have you found some people confused about the sales tax? We have. One place started changing tax on cigarettes, quit, started, quit, started. The last we knew the manager just said to charge it and hope it was the right thing to do. At one place where we bought a 10-cent 7-Up we paid 4-cent tax. We know that's wrong, but for a penny we're not about to argue. One woman told us Saturday she "owed" tax several places. She had taken the right change for certain items, forgot about the tax so agreed to pay later. She thinks she may have to start a bookkeeping system to keep track of the places where she owes tax.

Dixon County's SCS Keeps Busy

Dixon County soil and water conservation district personnel have been especially busy this spring, according to C.W. Yost, work unit conservationist at Wakefield. Much of the work has been with soil and water erosion problems.

According to Yost, 23 farmers have had terrace work done. An additional 14 farmers have had water ways constructed and 12 farmers have had dam built.

Yost reports modern farmers have larger machines, improved crop varieties, more weed and insect controls and increased use of commercial fertilizers but still recognize the limitations in crop production. The most prominent limitation is water.

What this means, Yost said, is that farmers must conserve all rainfall they can to produce this year's crops. "Too often they look to the sky, hoping for rain when what they should do is practice holding moisture until the situation is less critical."

Farmers with idle acreage are being encouraged to contact Dixon County SCS employees for assistance in conservation planning. Financial assistance also available on most conservation work through the ASCS.
