Fine Arts Camp Begins July 30

The big week of Wayne State's Summer Fine Arts Camp (July 30-August 6) is approaching and six musicians from Wayne will attend as the result of scholarships given by the Wayne Woman's Club. The Wayne musicians are Bruce Ring, Mary Ellis, Mary Stevenson, Dennis Elmermeier, Jane Owens and Connie Jones.

About forty others who have registered so far have scholarships from organizations in their home towns, Camp Director Raymond Kelton reports. Scholarship winners from the Wayne area are as follows: Linda Chapman and Jana Buchanan (Randolph Music Boosters); Bob Beckwith, Joe Engler and Rodney Erwin (Osmond Music Boosters); and Wendy Claussen (Pender Junior Woman's Club).

Registrations to date indicate another large attendance of close to 300 for this 23rd annual camp which regularly attracts high school students from several dozen towns in Nebraska and adjoining states.

The music program will be much the same as in past years with band, orchestra, chorus, stage band, small band, small ensembles, piano and organ. There is one new requirement this year. All musicians must participate in at least two of the three major musical groups. In addition to musical instruction, the schedule includes classes for students interested in drama.

Council Works on Parking, Sidewalks, Sewers, Streets

Street improvements, sidewalks, sewers and parking occupied much of the time of the city council Tuesday night.

Final reading of the resolution of necessity was heard on Storm Sewer district 67-2. This district is on Sherman Street from Seventh to Fifth and will handle runoff waters from the new high school area. Estimated cost is $20,000.

The council authorized the city engineer to proceed with plans and specifications and the city clerk to advertise for bids.

A delegation of property owners from that district appeared to object to assessments as direct benefits to their properties, saying they felt the school was responsible for the need. No action was taken.

Bids were let on Sanitary Sewer District No. 31 (on Fairgrounds Avenue from Main to South Nebraska streets). The successful and only bidder was Rosalie Hargrave Company, City Clerk Dan Sherry said the small size of the job kept many bidders away from the job. The bid ran slightly over $2,000 while the estimate was $3,000.

A reading was held on street improvement districts 48 through 53 to accept the engineers certificate of completion of these districts. The project was tabled for further study because of discrepancies in assessments. After further study and new recommendations the council will reconsider the action at its next meeting.

After determining a sufficient number of signatures were present on petitions to create a new paving district (No. 54) in Wriedt's Second Addition, the council approved a resolution to prepare specifications and estimates of cost for the project, and passed an ordinance to create the new district.

Bob Bergt proposed to the council that the city run Logan Street south through land owned by the new Feeders Elevator company, instead of following the old street which curves southwest after crossing the railroad track. Bergt, appearing for the company, said the land would be given to the city by the firm.

The council turned the problem over to the city attorney to determine the legal steps necessary to vacate the present street if the offer is accepted.

In other action the council approved painting pedestrian lane stripes on the parking lot between Arnie's and Sav-Mor drug to outline sidewalks across the area, and to widen to four feet all sidewalks now serving the school area.

A large 20 mile-per-hour speed limit sign is being considered for placement west of the new high school on Seventh to slow incoming traffic for the school area, especially at Seventh and Sherman where many smaller students must cross the street going to and from the elementary school.

On-street and off-street parking came in for extended discussion with the council considering the acquisition of off-street parking that would be metered to pay for the property.

Also considered were the areas at the rear of business buildings where the city could help with improvements to provide off-street parking and relieve congestion on the streets.

Alternate parking—using one side of a street one day and the other side the following day—also was discussed.

Construction of T-hangers at the airport was considered, and Councilman Robert McLean said the parks and airport committee was looking into costs and methods of financing.

A report by the city engineer on fire and warning sirens, their cost and coverage, showed that if the warning devices are of a type approved by the Civil Defense, funds are available to help defray the costs to the city.

Air vents were authorized in sanitary sewer lift stations No. 2 on Grain-land Road and No. 3 on north Sherman Street.

A punch-card records keeping system was explained by the city auditor. He said the punch card system would make available information not now readily available, such as a breakdown of electrical power users of given sizes. The punch card unit, he said, would rent for about $30 per month.

HEAVY HAIL DAMAGE shows on this field eight miles north and four east of Wayne. The field belongs to Harvey Henningsen. Hail Storm Destroys Corn Crop North of Wayne

A violent hail and wind storm completely destroyed a corn field seven miles north of Allen Sunday evening. The storm reached its peak of intensity in the Allen vicinity but died out by the time it reached Wayne.

Heavy rain accompanied the storm as more than three inches poured down in less than an hour at the Harold George farm near Allen. The downpour caused the lowland flooding which occurred earlier this summer to start again.

Weather in Wayne has been rather constant during the past week. Temperatures ranged from 80-90 degrees during the day but the humidity made it seem much hotter than it really was. Moderate winds and light rain fell Sunday night but ended in a very short time.

Wayne Summer Term Enrollment Announced

Enrollment for the summer session at Wayne State College totals 1,935 according to Registrar Stanley Wills. This number includes 191 students in graduate or post-graduate study, 412 seniors, 225 juniors, 138 sophomores, 68 freshmen and one special student.

The summer session this year is the second half of the trimester schedule's third term. Enrollment for the first session of the third semester was 765. The split third term is an innovation this year since previously the third term and summer sessions were separate terms.

However, some third term students began the term with light class loads and then added a course or two in the summer session. As a result, comparison of this summer's enrollment with the previous summers can not be made accurately.

Ak-Sar-Ben Offering $500 Grants to Fairs

For the fourteenth consecutive year Ak-Sar-Ben is offering $500 to the county fairs of Nebraska if the fairs agree to match that amount with funds from local sources. The grants are to be used for permanent improvements on the county fair grounds.

This program has seen Ak-Sar-Ben invest almost $600,000 in Nebraska county fair buildings. Last year 78 county fairs took advantage of the offer. The money is made available as a result of the Thoroughbred racing in Omaha.

survey. They promised to take action on the survey at a later date.

Other business discussed at the meeting included the decision to hire Ben Lesh as school crossing patrolman at the intersection of Seventh and Sherman Streets, the new school equipment (homework room and food transportation for the kitchen) in the building progress of the new high school, the landscaping plan for the new building. The Board also accepted a bid of $1015 from the Wayne Music Company for a piano. Last of all, the Board Education re-elected Ed Bernhoff, school attorney for the upcoming year.

Wayne Teams in Close Games with Wisner

Both the midget and legion teams from Wayne were victorious in their games at Wisner Monday night. In the first game, the Wayne midgets squeaked past Wisner 6-5 and in the second contest Wayne's legion team outscored Wisner 3-1.

In the first game the Wayne players stymied a fifth-inning drive by Wisner to win by one run, 6-5. Wayne scored three runs in the first inning on two walks, one error, a double and three stolen bases. Again in the second frame Wayne scored three runs on two doubles, a single, a fielder's choice, an error and a sacrifice bunt.

The action really started in the bottom of the fifth inning when Wisner scored two runs before Wayne's third baseman Randy Helgren ended the threat by fielding a ground ball and throwing the man out at first base. There were Wisner men on second and third base at the time of the final out.

Randy Helgren and Joedy Hoogner led Wayne in hitting with two doubles apiece. Dave Tietgen followed with two singles. Wayne Magdanz went the distance on the mound for Wayne, allowing six hits.

In the legion contest George Eynon drove in the first run for Wayne in the second inning when he blasted a double with Lynn Lessmann on first base. Lessmann drove in the other two runs in the sixth inning when he got a double with Steve Kerl on third and Larry Hix on second.

Bob Dauberg handled the pitching chores for Wayne, striking out nine Wisner batters. Larry Hix led the Wayne batters with a double and a single. Mark Johnson followed with two singles. George Eynon and Lynn Lessmann each had a double.

Local Town Team Clobbers Ponca

The Wayne town team used twelve hits to collect 10 runs in outscoring Ponca 10-1 at Wayne Sunday night. Pitcher Don Goeden fanned 14 Ponca batters and allowed only one hit, a single, in the fifth inning.

Wayne scored its first run in the second inning when Jerry Kinnan hit a single, stole second base and scored on a one-base hit by Coach Hank Overin. In the fourth frame Wayne used two walks, three singles and a sacrifice fly to score four more runs. Ponca scored its sole run in the fifth inning as the result of a single, a balk and a fielder's choice.

Wayne came right back in the bottom of the fifth with three runs scored on a triple, two singles, a base on balls and a sacrifice. Two more runs were added in the seventh due to an error, two singles and a passed ball.

Jerry Kinnan had the most hits for Wayne with three singles. Hank Overin and Ray Vrticka followed with two single apiece. Don Burns had the longest hit, a triple in the fifth stanza.

Bob Prazak Wins Wayne Golf Tournament Sunday

Bob Prazak, West Point, walked away with the Wayne Country Club Open Golf Tournament championship Sunday with a 27-hole score of 107. The annual tournament was plagued by rain Saturday morning, heavy fog Sunday morning and extremely high winds Sunday evening.

Prazak also won medalist honors with a low 18-hole score of 68. He was followed by Bill Erickson, Wayne, with a 70 and Bob Reeg, Wayne, with a 70.

Two hundred and twenty-five golfers from Nebraska, South Dakota, Iowa and Missouri took part in the largest Wayne tournament ever held. Tournament Director Arnie Reeg and Ralph Barclay reported that trophies were awarded the winners in each of the three flights. In addition, medalist prizes were won by the four golfers who played in each flight.

Practically all of the golfers praised the official golf scorekeeper, who worked faithfully during the two-day event. The praise was well deserved since the girls battled rain, heat and high wind while recording the scores of all the golfers entered in the competition.

In the Championship Flight Bob Prazak, West Point, was first with a total score of 107. Jim Ahearn, Yankton, was second with a 108 and Bill Erickson, Wayne, was third with a 109. EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

It is the duty of an editorial writer to search all available facts before he sits down to write. From this basis the writer should be able to give a clear picture of important topics.

You may not agree with an editorial — but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

Buyers Beware

From the Menomonee Falls (Wisconsin) News

Periodically area residents are besieged with solicitations by telephone, in person or mail which vary from questionable offers to the deceptive type to downright gyps. The sales methods may subject a customer to high pressure, sex, arm twisting efforts and hidden prices. All too often the "victim" does not realize he or she has been taken until the bills arrive and the fine print on the contract goes into force.

The Better Business Bureau of Greater Milwaukee advised the Menomonee Falls News this week of how one type of sales pitch involving a "free" offer works. The pitch may be made by letter, post card or telephone and basically involved the offering of an opportunity to buy film at bargain prices.

The prospective buyer who replies to the solicitation soon finds himself talking to a sales person and watching a film cartoon. Soon the sales person will attempt to enroll the prospective customer in a home movie club thus enabling the member to buy 600 rolls of movie film for about 80¢ a roll. Regular cost of the roll is $2.95, the customer is told. (8mm color film, roll type, listed for $1.97, plus tax, at a Falls store Tuesday). Soon, the sales person is offering to "give" a movie camera, projector, screen and other items, supposedly worth $320, in addition to the bargain film.

To take advantage of this "golden" opportunity, the customer fills out an application for membership at a cost of $10, sign a contract for almost $500 cash (which can be spread over "convenient" monthly payments) with "carrying charges" increasing total payment by almost 30 percent. Processing of film would be through the same firm and if all rolls were processed (600 rolls is the amount the customer will be "allowed" to buy) at a cost of $3.20 per roll, the amount paid for this alone would come to $1,920. (Processing charges at a Menomonee Falls store for a roll of 8mm color are $1.95).

For listening to the salesmen make his pitch, a customer is supposed to receive a camera as a gift. Probable value of the camera would be under $1.

The News urges readers to beware of door-to-door, telephone solicitations and dubious offers by mail. Trust and buy from the merchants in your home town. Beware the "free" offers, inspect them carefully to make sure you will be receiving a full dollar's worth for every dollar you spend.

Before you sign on the dotted line to subscribe to magazines, have aluminum siding put on your home, or buy products from door-to-door salesmen, carefully check out the company making the offer. Especially when the salesman insists you buy immediately or the "opportunity" will be lost forever.

Buy your siding, film, magazines from local firms. Trade at home because the home town merchant is interested in giving you good products at fair prices. The gyp salesperson and the business he represents is interested only in milking the public.

We'd Sure Like to Know Why

From the Sturgeon Bay, Door County (Wisconsin) Advocate

There isn't an editor alive who doesn't wonder why so many of his mistakes never show up until the paper is running off the press.

A good case in point is the picture of the lucky snowmobile winner, Louis Onsager, which ran on Tuesday's front page. We wrote the caption Louie a "young Naseawauppee farmer."

The caption was typed, set, proofread and looked at many times while the front page was being made up. The page was still under observation as it went through the usual process of being photographed and transferred to plate.

Through it all, Louie remained a Naseawauppee farmer. Then the press started to roll. We grabbed one of the very first copies and the mistake hit us right between the eyes. Louie is not a Naseawauppee farmer but a town of Sturgeon Bay farmer, right across County Trunk S. from Naseawauppee.

Exactly the same thing had happened several months ago when Bill Colombo was helping out at a barn fire. We identified him as a Lake to Lake milk hauler when he is a Morning Glory hauler. But not until the press started to roll did somebody ask, "Since when did Bill start hauling for Lake to Lake?"

Once was the day we'd stop the old flatted press, tear a hole in the web and insert a new line of type. Not any more. Unless it's a terrible mistake, we just can't go through the long time-consuming process of stopping the press, making a new plate and adjusting the ink all over again.

That's why Bill Colombo came out a Lake to Lake hauler and Louie Onsager came out a Naseawauppee farmer. The funny part of it is they don't live very far apart and we knew their correct titles in the first place. But after we made the mistakes, why weren't they discovered in the long process leading up to the press? There isn't an editor alive who wouldn't like to know.

Draft Card Burning

The Department of Justice has finally decided to ask the Supreme Court to review and reverse a recent judicial finding of the court that a man has a constitutional right to burn his draft card.

We think that this petition to the court is highly in order and has long been delayed. Unfortunately our simple mind finds it increasingly difficult to understand the legal oddities which have come out of both the Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court on draft burning cases.

In a recent case, the First Circuit Court of Appeals handed down a decision that a man who burned his draft card in a demonstration against the draft could be punished for not having a draft card in his possession as required by the Selective Service Act. However, the Court also held that the actual burning of the card was not a crime inasmuch as the First Amendment might protect him in what could be considered an infringement on free speech.

In New York, the Second Circuit Court of Appeals determined that a man could burn his draft card and be punished for the act. The Court further held that this would not be a violation of free speech under the First Amendment.

Just where this leaves the draft card burner is a little hazy in our mind but we feel that the huge majority of the American people look with disfavor upon draft card burning as a symbol of protest against our war in Southeast Asia.

Certainly the act of burning a draft card is not only repugnant but it further provides aid and comfort to those who would hinder our troops in Vietnam from securing a final victory. We concur heartily with the decision that has been handed down by the Second Circuit Court of Appeals, and hope that the Supreme Court will take a similar view.

Seesaw Battle Foreseen On Highway Legislation

LINCOLN—Republican Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann and the State Legislature are locked in a seesaw battle over highway legislation, the first real confrontation between the two branches of government this year.

Tiemann, who won a landslide victory last fall but admits a popularity dip since then, wants the lawmakers to defer roadway matters until he calls a special session this fall or winter.

Legislative leaders want immediate action on at least one major measure—a proposed constitutional amendment to permit the state to issue revenue bonds for highway construction.

It is hard to judge at this point which camp will emerge victorious. A handful of senators not committed to either side will determine the outcome.

Tiemann claims if the Legislature passes the amendment bill, Nebraska's highway program could suffer a substantial setback. He indicated he favors creation of a highway bonding authority instead at the special session, with a swift court test to determine its validity.

Under the amendment approach, the Governor said, the state would have to wait until 1969 or later to finance road improvements through bonds.

But Sens. Jules W. Burbach, Crofton, and Terry Carpenter, Scottsbluff, said they will press ahead with plans for a credit financing amendment.

"To plan on a special session now is poor planning," said Burbach, chairman of the defunct legislative roads study committee.

"We can take care of everything now. There's no need for a special session."

Carpenter, who had been a close ally of Tiemann's, said he was puzzled by the governor's latest remarks. "I can't understand the Governor's position. Why does he want to get involved now over this issue? For three months I've been trying to get him to help me on the highway revenue bill without any success," the Scottsbluff legislator said.

"To now call a special session on something we could do in five minutes is ridiculous."

At the urging of the Governor, the Legislature has refused to enact a bill calling for a half-cent increase in the state gasoline tax to 8 cents a gallon.

Tiemann did not say he opposes an increase, but he said the matter should be considered later, along with proposals to hike motor vehicle registration fees.

Sponsors of the gas measure wanted the bulk of the additional revenue to go to the cities for badly needed street improvements. They pointed to a recommendation by the hired highway consultants for a penny gas tax raise.

Nebraska now has one of the highest gas tax rates in the country. The state of Washington leads the nation with a 9-cent per gallon levy.

Also on the highway front, the Governor and some senators are at odds over legislation to increase truck load limits on state roads.

Tiemann declared he will veto the bill (LB629) if it clears the Unicameral and is sent to his desk. He said it should be taken up later.

Trucking interests, their cause championed by Humboldt Sen. Calista Cooper Hughes, contend the legislation is necessary to the state's industrial growth in smaller communities.

State Highway Engineer John W. Hossack said Nebraska's highways will deteriorate in a hurry if the bill is approved. He estimated resurfacing costs will increase $21 million in the next decade.

"We just don't have a system anywhere near ready to handle these loads," Hossack said.

The measure would increase load maximums to 20,000 pounds per axle and 34,000 pounds for a tandem. It also provides for a five percent tolerance above these levels.

"We've tried to work with the truckers on this bill, but we absolutely could not go for those higher loads if they retain five percent tolerances," Hossack added.

Lt. Gov. John E. Everroad, who ran as a team with Tiemann last November, supports the truckers. He has actively lobbied for passage of LB629 despite Tiemann's objections to the measure.

"There's nothing wrong with this," Everroad said. "I think it's a good bill and Nebraska would benefit from its enactment."

State Welfare Director E. Clintor Belknap reports a case before the U. S. Supreme Court could affect the validity of Nebraska's public assistance minimum residency requirement statute.

He referred to the appeal by the state of Connecticut from a three-judge federal court order striking down that state's residency requirement law as unconstitutional.

Belknap said Nebraska and several other states have laws similar to Connecticut's to head off any one coming into the states, just to collect welfare payments.

"We're keeping a close watch on the matter. It could have a direct bearing on our state, especially if the Supreme Court upholds the federal panel," Belknap said.

Under Nebraska law, a person applying for public assistance must be a resident of the state for one year. This is designed to protect the state's fiscal position by discouraging those who would come to Nebraska seeking welfare.

The federal court panel ruled in the Connecticut case that this restriction denied a person on welfare the right to travel freely from one state to another.

The challenge was brought by a 19-year-old mother who was receiving aid to dependent children (ADC) payments in Massachusetts but had her ap-

Way Back When

30 Years Ago

July 8, 1937: A blaze which was started by backfire of a truck damaged the Super Service warehouse south of the railroad tracks Saturday noon. C. C. Stirtz estimates the loss at $1,000, this being covered by insurance. About 250 4-H club members met in Wayne Friday for annual judging day. Irma James left Tuesday for Sioux City and will leave for Mexico City Sunday. Henry E. Ley arrived home Sunday from the east where he had been for the past three weeks attending the Graduate School of Banking at Rutgers University in New Brunswick, N. J. Wayne county will send four more youths to C. C. camp. Fourth of July weekend passed quietly. Farmers are so busy harvesting small grain and cultivating corn that they took very little time from their work.

25 Years Ago

July 7, 1942: Bob Wright was sworn into the army air corps reserves at Omaha last week. Cadet Quentin Whitmore has been transferred from Massachusetts to Jacksonville, Fla., in the weather service of the air force. Wayne county now has about 40 tons of rubber to add to the quantity being raised in the national salvage drive. C. C. Stirtz, county chairman, expects that the county will collect at least 50 tons in the campaign. Wayne county draft board has a call for July 21, the quota being about 26. The Wayne post office reports the sale of 1,600 auto stamps by June 30. Bituminous coal for 13.9 miles of highway south of Wayne is one of the highway projects on which the state board failed to get bids last Thursday at Lincoln.

The U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare has recommended to Congress that residency requirements be prohibited.

Federal laws currently permit a state to require residency of up to a year without affecting its eligibility for federal welfare funds.

Northeast Extension Notes

Margaret Ann Stahly

Her sun-blushed beauty, refreshing sweetness, and wholesome goodness all crown the peach as a candidate for "Queen of Fruits"—a majestic title she might well deserve. For over 4,000 years, "she" has been acclaimed not only for luscious flavor but for nutritional benefits as well.

Because of their royal delicacy, peaches are susceptible to damage from rough handling. Shoppers must be cautious of brown spots, cuts, and bruises.

For top eating enjoyment, learn to watch for the "ground" or under-color. Peaches which have a slightly green cast have not ripened fully and will soon spoil. A deep yellow color, on the other hand, indicates that the fruit is ripe and rich in Vitamin A. The average peach also contains Vitamins B1 and C and about 5% of daily calcium requirements. All these nutrients are rolled into only 50 calories per peach.

Have you ever had a headache? Have you ever had one that covered front, back and sides of your head? Have you ever had one that extended over a period of months, sometimes intense, sometimes almost unnoticeable? Have you ever had one that suddenly became intense and stayed that way for eight or more days in a row in spite of all types of remedies? We hope your answer is "No." Unfortunately, our answer to the same questions is "Yes." That is the reason we scheduled an appointment at Mayo Clinic, Rochester, this week. We hope to be back soon, minus a headache and ready to make up for all this time we've had to miss. In the meantime, we hope you'll be extra understanding and help out. The Herald staff all you can. They're a great bunch and we look forward to getting back to work with them. They get the bouquet of the week!

Area Residents Make Tour Of Two New Iowa Hospitals

A busload of citizens from Wayne, Laurel, Wakefield, Carroll and Winside inspected hospitals in Osceola and Sibley, Iowa. Both hospitals are located in communities similar in size and economy to Wayne and both were completed within the last four years. Scouts Return Home from Camp Scouts of Troop 175 Sunday returned from summer camp in Colorado tired, happy, and well-laden with awards and advancements.

The youngsters with their counselors Bob Goshorn and Rowan Wiltse had attended Camp Ben Delatour, about 40 miles northwest of Fort Collins, Colo. Altitude of the camp was from 7,200 feet up.

Four of the boys completed the NRA Hunter Safety course in which they must pass written examinations, then fire and achieve at least a prescribed minimum score.

Three others completed work for rowing merit badges, while six earned fishing merit badges, two earned woodcraft badges and one completed nearly all his signaling requirements for first class.

The boys will be examined at a board of review Monday night and receive their awards at a court of honor to be set later.

The lads were kept busy all their time at camp, Wiltse said, starting with registration Monday.

Following registration and individual campfire work Monday, camp work and skits Tuesday, the troop went on an all day and overnight hike and camp-out Wednesday. They hiked in the mountains, back-packed their gear, cooked three meals and slept in Indian teepees.

Thursday they returned to camp, took merit badge tests and that night competed with the rest of camp in 10 basic Scouting skills.

Friday, after more merit badge work, the boys attended an area campfire and led the rest of the camp in songs and troop yells.

Throughout the week boys from the troop assisted the camp chaplain with dinner prayers, Scripture reading and prayer reading at morning chapel services.

Each morning the adults went to a class on camping techniques, troop discipline and troop operation.

Five days straight the troop won second place and a blue feather for the troop's coup stick for clean camp at inspection time. Never were the boys less than two points from first place, Wiltse said.

When camp ended Saturday, the youngsters received an unexpected treat when Goshorn and Wiltse took them over Trail Ridge road, the continental divide, to Grand Lake, Estes Park via Thompson canyon.

Variety Spices Week in Court

A variety of cases was heard by Judge David Hamer in Wayne County traffic court during the past half week. Of the five cases brought to the court's attention, only two were for the same charge.

July 7 Connie Bottolfson, Wayne, was fined $10 and $5 costs for not possessing a valid operator's license. City officer John Redel signed the complaint.

The same day Mary Killion, Wakefield, paid a fine of $10 for speeding. Court costs of $5 were also added as a result of the charge filed by State Trooper C. Fransson.

The third case on July 7 was one in which Michael Leach, Wakefield, was assessed $10 and costs of $5 for having fictitious license plates. Fransson also signed this complaint.

July 10 Dean Androy, Wayne, paid $10 and $5 costs for speeding. Patrolman Fransson filed the charge.

July 10 Korlyn Lutz, Wayne, was fined $10 on a stop sign violation and $25 for reckless driving. Costs of $5 were also added because of the charges filed by City Policeman Ron Penlerick.

Farmers Must Report Acres by August 1

Farmers in the Wayne area are being given a second and final reminder that the acreage of feed grains (corn and sorghum) and the acres diverted for farms must be reported to the Wayne County ASCS Office by August 1.

All farms that are enrolled in the 1967 feed grain program are included, whether the acreages on the fields had been premeasured or just estimated. According to John Mohr, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, farmers must take a photo or map of their farms to the office when reporting the acreage in order to be in compliance with the program.

Long-Time Carroll Resident Celebrates 91st Birthday

Ed Trautwein celebrated his ninety-first birthday at his home in Carroll Saturday. Four of his nephews and a niece who journeyed all the way from Frankfurt-Steinberg, Germany were also on hand for the special occasion.

Ed was born in Merchingen-Baden, Germany, on July 15, 1876. He came to the United States when he was fourteen years old and settled in Wayne. In 1902 he moved to Carroll where he opened a meat market which he operated for over fifty years. His brother, Henry Trautwein, owned a meat market in Winside which he operated until his death in 1955.

In 1912 Ed's wife-to-be Barbara moved to Carroll from Germany. They had known each other in Mer-chingen-Baden as children. In April of 1912 they were married by the Wayne County Judge.

Among the visitors at the birthday reunion was Mrs. Louise Goebel, Ed's niece from Frankfurt-Steinberg, Germany. This is the first time Louise has been in the United States and the first time she has seen the Trautweins since they visited Germany in 1921.

Mrs. Goebel has been in the states for nearly three weeks and will leave for Germany from New York on July 19. She is a secretary to the Assistant Director of the Deutschen Bundesbank at Frankfurt am Main. She speaks English very well since she works in the Foreign Investments Division and is in constant contact with people from all parts of the world.

Her vacation to the United States has not been entirely enjoyable as the airplane on which she was riding ran out of gas on the way over here and had to make an emergency landing in Newfoundland. In addition to that, a mile-an-hour wind ruined her first ballgame at Minneapolis after she had seen only one inning. She did, however, enjoy a typical American Fourth of July on Moose Lake in Minnesota.

Other relatives who were present at the birthday observance included the following: Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Trautwein, jr. and Craig (Hereford, Colorado); Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Trautwein, Henry, Bruce, Bart and Blair (Cheyenne, Wyoming); Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Trautwein and Tom (Minneapolis, Minnesota); and Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Trautwein and Janelle (Winside).

Busload Tours Hospitals in Two Iowa Towns

A group of 24 persons Friday made a tour of two Iowa hospitals located in communities similar to the Wayne area. Both hospitals were built in the last four years.

First stop on the tour was in Onawa, where the group inspected Burgess Memorial hospital, a 40-bed facility with 24,960 feet of floor space.

Key hospital personnel and an architect's representative conducted the tours, showing the good points and the bad points of the building and its equipment.

Dean Vaughn, administrator of Burgess, said that although the hospital had been built in 1963, there already was need to add space and footings were laid for another room to serve as storage and supply.

After lunch in Sioux City as guests of another architectural firm, the tour went to Sibley, where the 38-bed Osceola Community hospital was inspected. The mayor of Sibley and hospital staff members accompanied the groups throughout the tour.

Both installations featured the latest available equipment practicable for the communities they serve.

A more complete story of the tour, along with pictures of the groups and some of the points of interest in each hospital will appear in Thursday's Wayne Herald.

The tour was sponsored by the Wayne Hospital Advisory board and the Wayne Hospital foundation.

Persons making all or part of the trip included: Dr. Robert Bentback, Dr. George John, Rev. Cecil Bliss, Orville Brandstetter, Robert Carhart, Bill Richardson, Adon Jeffrey. Also Mrs. H. E. Hein, Dick Keide, Charles McDermott, K. N. Olds, Wanda Owens, Rev. Robert Shirck, Alfred Sydow, Charles Thomas, Art Brune and Robert Merchant.

Persons attending from other towns included E. W. Lundahl, Wakefield; John Bergquist and John Rethwisch, Carroll; Roger Tweedy, Laurel; Mrs. Paul Zofka and Mrs. Glen Frevert.

The tour was part of a plan to consider a new hospital for the Wayne area. Earlier this spring members of the state board of hospital and medical facilities served notice on Wayne that the area would have to build a new hospital that would meet Public Health Service and Medicare requirements and be updated in its facilities.

Census Scheduled for Wayne Area in August

Information about the number of children under 14 years of age as well as the number of owner-occupied and rented households will be collected in a Census Bureau survey to be conducted in Wayne during the week of July 17. The information will help population experts determine national population trends and will provide important economic data about Wayne households.

The questions are part of the Bureau's monthly Current Population Survey taken from a sample of the population throughout the United States. At the same time, questions about employment and unemployment will also be asked to help the Department of Labor determine national employment trends.

Ruth Koehler and Muriel Watland, both of Norfolk will be the census interviewers in Wayne.

Police Investigate Bullet Hole Report

A report of a bullet hole in the front door of a Wayne resident's house was investigated by the Wayne Police Department Friday. Officer Keith Reed found the report to be false as a flying projectile from a lawn mower actually caused the damage.

Corn Rootworms Invading Farmers

The first severe infestation of corn rootworms in the Wayne area was reported on the L. Anderson farm near Wakefield last week. The worms started hatching about July 1 and are spreading throughout northeast Nebraska at a rapid pace, according to Northeast Station Agronomist Eugene Schwartz. The larvae reportedly range in size from too small to size to almost fully developed worms a half inch long.

Most of the effectiveness of chemicals applied at planting time is gone by now, either deteriorated or lost by leaching and erosion. Farmers are advised to check their corn fields for rootworm damage now. With soil moisture adequate in most areas, additional nitrogen may be needed to repair damaged roots if adequate amounts have not been applied and the stand is good.

Farmers are also reminded to watch for beetle damage in about three weeks.
