Minister at First Methodist Church

Rev. Charles E. Mason, superintendent of the Sioux City District of the Metho-dist Church, will occupy the pulpit of the Wayne First Methodist Churchfor the next two Sundays (July 23 and 30) at 8:30 and 11 a.m. He will be supplying for Rev. Cecil Bliss, who is on vacation. His sermon topic next Sunday will be "Forever Beginning" and the following Sunday it will be "Inferting The King-dom."

the following Sunday it will be "Inheriting The King-dom." Dr. Mason is well known in Wayne, having spoken in the local church in previous years during the Lenton season. He was also vaca-tion preacher during the summer of 1965. Dr. Mason formerly was pastor of the First Metho-dist Church in Sioux City for ten years. During that time he led the congrega-tion in an extensive build-ing program which included relocating the parsonage, a new pipe organ and an educational addition. At the same time the missionary support program was doubled and an enlarged youth activities project in-augurated. During the fall of 1965 Dr. Mason was made chair-man of a consulting com-mittee which negotiated the consolidation of the Sioux City Lutheran and Metho-dist hospitals into the St. Luke's Medical Center. This institution has just now completed the first year of successful opera-tion.

at Newport, R. I., rem-niniced about her stafin Nebraska during World War II when her naval offi-cer husband was stationed at the Hastings Naval Am-munition Depot. "I remember one time when we were having a costume party at the de-pot, and I decided to ap-pear as an Indian," she remembered. "I fixed up a costume with a feather on my head and some other things. Then I halled a cab to go to the party. On the way the driver stopped for another passenger. And who should get in but an Indian, dressed in regular clothing. He just stared at me and stared and never said a word. I just chuckled to myself." Mrs. Carlson probably could have written a book from that incident. Many of her works have come from chance incidents that suggested plots or char-acters or background de-tails. Who k now s? She might have cataloged ideas for a future book right in Wayne. She certainly ob-served everything in sight, asked countless questions, and bubbled enthusiasm generally. She revealed one of her techniques for finding source material. When she visits a state or country to glean for writing ma-terial, she subscribes to a local newspaper. In it she notes na mes, incidents, customs, unusual figures of speech-all possible story details. "There's no better place," she said, 'to learn about people than ina news-maner" test. Carpenter said there is no reason for a special session. Lessentially the amend-ment would authorize the legislature to issue bonds to finance construction of highways and bridges. It sets no debt limit. Nebraska's Constitution now prohibits deficit spend-ing beyond $100,000 by any state agency. The amend-ment would not eliminate this restriction on non-highway activities. The amendment stems, in part, from the recently completed study of Nee-braska's highway and street needs. It is designed to finance an accelerated roadbiglding effort. The bonds would be retired by gas tax receipts. The objecting votes were cast by Nens. S. II. Brauer of Norfolk, Rick Budd of Nebraska Cit., George C. Elaine Meier Weds Wendell Korth In Double Ring Ceremony July 15

Elaine Janice Meier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perves Meier, Wayne, and Wendell Roy Korth, Crete, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wen-dell Korth, Wayne, were married July 15 at 8 p.m. at St. Paul's Luther an Church, Wayne. Rev. Robert E. Shirck officiated at the double ring caremony. Georgia Vollers sang "O Perfect Love" and The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. Robert E. Shirck was or-ganist.

Robert E. Shirck was or-ganist. The bride, given in mar-riage by her father, wore a floor length gown of im-ported rosepoint lace. The fitted bodice featured long tapered sleeves and a scoop meckline accented with se-quins. The skirt was fashioned with a detachable lace train. Her veil of silk illusion was held by a crown of tiny rosebuds. She car-ried a cascade of pink sweetheart roses and leathered carnations tinted lavender.

we ethe art roses and feathered carnations tinted lavender. Mrs. Barbara Heier, Columbus, served as ma-tron of honor. Patty Fre-vert, Winside, was brides-maid. The y wore floor length gowns of orchid da-cron over taffeta fashioned with sheer panels flowing from scoop necklines. Venice lace trimmed the elbow length sleeves and raised waistlines. Each wore. a matching orchid headpiece and each carried a bouquet of pink roses. Marlin Meier, Wayne, the bride's brother, was best man. Warren Korth, Wayne, served his brother as were Yaughn Korthand Ron Doring, Wayne, Roger Han-sen, Wakefield, and Ramie Tonjes, Winslow. The bridegroom and his at-tendants wore dark busi-ness suits.
