

Explanation Given Driver License Examination Plan

Your driver's license expires in September, Right? We also have a new law that requires renewals on birthday anniversaries from now on, Right? Right. Finally, you have to take an exam on your birthday if it is divisible by four, Right? Right. All this may need an explanation, Right? Right.

First of all, County Treasurer Leona Bahde reports everyone will have to renew licenses within 60 days after Sept. 1, 1967. The price will be based on the period the license will be good—until you are of an age divisible by four, that is.

After the new system goes into effect a license good for three years (to your birthday when you'll take the exam) will cost $4.50; two years, $3; one year or a portion of a year, $1.50. A full four-year renewal from then on will cost $6 and eye tests and written exams will be required every four years.

Now, the new law says you have to renew on your birthday. So, if your birthday is Jan. 3, 1968, you will have to renew again. It will cost you $6 and it will license you as a driver until Jan. 3, 1972.

Thus, no matter when your birthday is after Jan. 1, 1968, you will renew on your birthday. You will renew for four years and the fee will be $6. This is no increase since the present cost is $3 for two years and you will be paying for four years with your $6 payment.

Now that those two points are clear, the matter of taking a driver's license exam comes up. You take it the first period after Jan. 1, 1968, when any birthday coming up within 60 days is divisible by 4. Thus if your birthday is Feb. 3 and you will be 44 that day, you will take the exam any time 60 days before that date in order to renew. If your birthday is Feb. 3 and you will be 41, you will not have to take an exam until 1971.

14-Year Capsule Burial in Park

A centennial-year feature in Wayne during county fair week will be the burial of a time capsule. It is not one intended to be dug up a hundred, thousand or million years from now but in just 14 years.

Why in 14 years? Because this year Nebraska is 100 years old. In 14 years (1981) the city of Wayne will be 100 years old.

At District Meeting

Ten members of Jehovah's Witnesses from this area went to Grand Island to the district assembly August 3-6. Lorena Harriman was the local delegate. He said it was necessary to cancel some of the local meetings due to the number of members being gone.

Twirlers Win National Honors for Second Year

Consistent winners, pupils of Mrs. Lileen Damme, Winside, brought home three honors from the National Baton Twirlers Association open national baton contest in Omaha Saturday. It was the second year in a row her pupils have won national honors.

Phyllis Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Miller, Hoskins, won first in the novice division and won a big trophy. She competed in the age group for those 13 to 16 years old.

Debbie Jaeger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Jaeger, also competed in the novice 13-16 age group. She won third place honor.

Finally, Carla Miller, daughter of the Vernons Millers, competed in the age group for novices 9 and 10 years old. She received the third prize honor.

The three competed using two batons, one baton, hoops and fire batons. They also featured a fire rope act.

They have appeared in many other contests in the area and are also in demand for appearances at programs and other occasions.

Contest Winners Named at Laurel

Winners of the capability judging contest at Northeast Station, Concord, on field day, July 15, will be announced Sept. 11 at the Northeast Livestock Feeders Association annual outlook meeting in Laurel, according to Robert Backowicz, N.E.A. president.

Trophies will be awarded to the top judges. Station heifers judged graded No. 1, or average capability, according to Walt Tolman, Northeast Station husbandman.

School Exhibit Results Given

Co. Supt. Gladys Porter has announced the winning schools in the exhibits by school children for the county fair. Judging was in four divisions the past week.

For towns, Wayne won first and Winside second. In rural schools with one teacher each, District 71, Mrs. Eleanor Jones, Hoskins, Lecher, was first; District 66, Mrs. Leola Larson, Winside, second; and District 5, Mrs. Nancy Baier, Wayne, third.

Among rural schools with two or more teachers, District 76, Mrs. Lois Dunklau, Randolph, lower grades, and Mrs. Edith Cook, Carroll, upper grades, won first; District 25, Mrs. Helen Kai, Pender, and Mrs. Alma Geewe, Wakefield, won second; and District 9, Mrs. Zita Jenkins, Hoskins, Mrs. Ruby Wilson, Winside, and Mrs. Ethel Malmberg and Mrs.

Wayne Players to Give 'Dirty Work'

The Wayne Players will present a melodrama of the Gay Nineties called 'Dirty Work at the Crossroads' Friday night at the Wayne County Fair. The stage production (beginning at 8:45) will be one of the highlights of this year's fair.

According to Director Dave Robinson, the part of the heroine (Nellie Lovelace) will be played by Margo Jeffrey. Miss Jeffrey is a college sophomore who gained stage experience in the Wayne High School play 'Jury Room.'

Neal Robison will portray the villain, Munro Murgatroyd. He is a member of the Wayne State speech department who took part in various productions at Indiana State University. Included in these productions were Sheridan's 'School for Scandal' and Hemingway's 'The Killers.' He also helped establish and direct the first Summer Theater at Indiana State in 1964.

Mookie Maguggins will be played by Wes Wingett, an Allen school teacher who graduated from Wayne State. Wingett starred in Walthill High School's production of 'Napoleon Jr.' See DIRTY WORK, Page 8

More Entries Needed in Kiddies, Grand Parades

Mrs. Jaycees are worried. There are few entries in their kiddies parade. They want more, and of course there is always room for more entries in the main centennial parade.

The kiddies parade is a feature of the county fair with a centennial theme. It will be held Friday, Aug. 11, at 9:30 a.m. in downtown Wayne. The centennial day grand parade will follow at 10:30 a.m.

Youngsters are needed for the parade which will go from the Sinclair station to Carhart's. There will be three prizes in each division, one division for costumes, one for pets and one for bikes. All children in the area are invited to take part.

The main thing is, the committee in charge (Mrs. Marvin Young and Mrs. Dick Hammer) need to know how many will take part so they can plan in advance. They have to have all the kids on hand at 9 so the parade will get off on time in orderly fashion at 9:30.

As for the centennial day parade, it could be the biggest in Wayne's history. Centennial plaques will be awarded to all those entering and this has resulted in a flood of entries from Wayne County as well as from every surrounding county.

It's Nebraska's 100th birthday year and the Wayne County Fair Board is using that as an excuse to have a county fair that marks the centennial year. The fair will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Aug. 10-11-12 at the fairgrounds west of Wayne.

Features? Free barbecue, biggest parade in history, oldtime meller-drama, SWAY drawing, tractor pull, horse races, thrill show, concerts, stock competition, special grandstand show, teenage dance.

No Parking!

The Wayne Police Department advises that there will be no parking allowed on Main Street Friday, Aug. 11, from First Street north on Pearl Street from First Street to Second Street during the morning hours. This is being enforced due to the kiddies and grand parades to be held in conjunction with the fair that morning.

Winside to Hold Horse Show Again

The Winside Saddle Club will hold its fourth annual horse show Sunday, Aug. 13, at 6 p.m. In case of rain, it will be postponed until Wednesday, Aug. 16.

Harold Sorenson, Omaha, Ia., is judge and Art Rabe and Gus Hanklingmasters, Vern Jensen and Charles Jackson will be announcers. Each event will offer a trophy and five ribbons with events scheduled under rules of the Northeast Nebraska regulations. Horses are not eligible if they are in senior event if they are in junior event and vice versa.

Events are: 1967 foals; 1966 foals; potato race (12 under); ribbon race; junior western pleasure; senior western pleasure; junior barrel race; senior See HORSE SHOW, Page 8

SWAY Drawing at Fair; Three Weekly New Rule

This Friday's SWAY drawing will be held at the Wayne County Fair at 8:30 p.m. in front of the grandstand. The names of three Wayne County young people in the armed forces will be drawn.

Because Winside Legion and business places have contributed so generously to the fund, it is now possible to give $10 prizes each week to three service men so three names will be drawn each week. Letters of appreciation and lists of those donating will be sent to each.

A Carroll youth and a Wayne youth home on furlough were last week's winners. They are Emil Nelson, Carroll, and Fred Peters, Wayne. Peters was at the home of his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Helgren, when the call came informing him he had won. He had arrived home Tuesday and reports back to his base Aug. 26.

He was promoted this month to airman second class at Charleston, S. C., where he is based as a structural repairman working on C-121 and C-124 air force transport planes. He has been in the air force 16 months, going to Charleston from Amarillo AFB, Tex., where he had attended Tech school. Peters has been based at Charleston since last October and has applied See SWAY, Page 8

ONE OF THE SCENES from 'Dirty Work at the Crossroads' was being rehearsed by four of the Wayne Players when this picture was taken Monday night. Large-Scale Storm Sewer Job May Be Needed on East Side

A large-scale storm sewer project may be necessary in the east side of Wayne, the city council learned at its meeting Tuesday night. Not only would new lines have to be put in where there are none now but some old lines might have to be replaced.

It was reported the existing sewer might have to be removed because it was put in years ago and has consistently resulted in flooding by the Girl Scout Cabin and by East Park. When Wriedt's Subdivision See CITY COUNCIL, Page 6

Hog Insemination Program Thursday

A program to inform swine producers and agribusiness of the availability of swine artificial insemination will be held Thursday, Aug. 17, at 8 p.m. at Northeast Station, Concord, according to Bob Fritschen, swine specialist at the station.

Interest in swine artificial insemination has been growing by leaps and bounds" according to Fritschen. He noted that recent interest is due to a new availability of swine artificial insemination in this area as well as documented facts showing that swine artificial insemination can be practical. Thursday Prize Back up to $250

The Silver Dollar Night drawing prize seems to go up fast these days. It was won just a few weeks ago and is already up to $250 again.

That means someone could win $250 Thursday night just for being in Wayne at 8 p.m. Thursday. If there is no winner, the prize will go up to $300 for the following week. Drawings are sponsored by the Wayne Chamber of Commerce with not all firms but most participating. Some of the business places taking part are located outside the city limits, some in downtown See SILVER DOLLAR, Page 8

Dairy Show Honors Won Past Week

Seven Wayne County entrants won ribbons at the Norfolk Dairy Show last weekend. It was one of eight in the state. Those winning blue and purple ribbons are eligible to show their stock at the Ak-Sar-Ben Show in Omaha, according to County Agent Harold Ingalls. He was in charge of the local entries.

Linda Baier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Baier, Carroll, was chosen to compete in the showmanship contest. She was Wayne County's representative. Besides floats and cars there will be several bands, saddle clubs, buggies, oldtime machinery and other entries. A free meal will be served at noon for all those participating in this grand parade.

Get More Showers

The Wayne area received two more showers the past week. They were welcome, but the entire area needs rain or general showers. State National Bank recorded .28 of an inch the morning of Monday, Aug. 7, and .34 the morning of Aug. 8 for a total of .62 of an inch.

roads, housing and sanitation systems in the Saigon area of the war-torn land. He has been with AID for the past two years. Prior to that he was a city manager for 14 years.

July 22 Johnson's wife and two children returned to America after spending almost two years at the Safe Haven Post in Manila. All three agreed that life in the Philippines was quite different from life in the United States, although it was by no means unbearable.

The house in the post complex where the Johnsons lived had double-locks on all the doors, barred windows and was surrounded by armed guards 24 hours a day. These extra precautions were necessary since many Filipinos were jealous of Americans and would even resort to armed robbery in order to get something they wanted.

For example, the hubcaps were stolen from one American lady's new car. When she went to the local authorities to report the loss, her whole car was stolen—right in front of the police station! In addition, American families who wanted maids had to be wary of the women they hired since household items (big and small alike) had a habit of disappearing.

Housing in the Philippines was for the most part very unsanitary according to Mrs. Johnson. The houses in the Safe Haven Post were very comfortable since they were comparable to most of the high-priced homes in America. However, the concrete block houses where most of the native people lived were very dirty. It was not unusual to see lizards, huge rats and cockroaches in most of the houses. Each month the wealthier people's homes were sprayed for bugs. Outside of the provinces the villagers live in bamboo houses with thatched roofs called nipa huts. The nipa huts are built on stilts since most of the ground is covered with water. One day a fire destroyed ten blocks of nipa huts. By the next day all the huts had been rebuilt and life was back to normal. Needless to say, nipa huts are not very stable homes.

Beautiful office buildings and elaborate shopping centers are not uncommon in the Philippines although most of the people do their shopping in market places called sari-saris. There are no definite prices at the sari-saris (meaning everything) since the merchants rely on bargaining to sell their goods.

Mrs. Johnson taught creative writing at the American School in Manila for one year. She was paid $130 a month (which was considered a good salary) for working from 7:30 in the morning to 12:30 in the afternoon. School was dismissed at 12:30 because of the extremely hot weather. Due to the shortened school day, classes were held for ten months out of the year.

The Filipinos light fireworks for just about every national occasion. New Year's Eve is the most popular celebration of the year since more fireworks are lit on that night than on any other occasion. Fireworks are not considered a major factor in the June 12 Independence Day celebration.

Bad roads are exceeded only by terrible road courtesies in the Philippines. Upon coming to Wayne via South Highway 15, Mrs. Johnson agreed the road was bad by American standards but would be considered a freeway in the Philippines. Gaudy colored jeeps called "jeepies" were the most popular (and in Manila, the jeepies were equipped with many horns and some drivers could even play a few tunes. There are no junkyards or used car lots in the Philippines since everyone drives his car until it either blows up or breaks down.

The Johnsons feel they have learned quite a bit about people (American and foreign alike) during the past two years. They are eagerly awaiting Mr. Johnson's next assignment when his stay in Vietnam ends in October.

Merlin Wright, Wakefield, and John E. Noel, Junction City, Kan., officiated at the double ring rites. Dianne Salmon, Wakefield, sang "God Gave Me You," "The Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer." Merle Ring was organist. The church was decorated with baskets of gladiolus and the pews were marked with gladiolus and blue bows.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown fashioned of silk organza and peau a large rosepoint lace. The sculptured bodice featured a portrait neckline and bracelet length sleeves. A panel of scalloped lace extended from the empire waistline to the hem of the toe-length sheath skirt. The detachable chapel length train was held by a bow at the waistline. Her waist-length veil was held by a double crown of illusion leaves centered with pearls and crystals. She carried an arrangement of red and white roses.

Lynette Fredrickson, Wakefield, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Barbara Means, Topeka, Kan., and Pamela Packer, McOuth, Kan. They wore floor length gowns of satin featuring bodices of lace chiffon and empire waistlines. They wore matching headpieces and each carried a bouquet of blue and white gardenias.

Michael Hanson, Laurel, and Douglas Puchow, McOuth, Kan., lighted the candles. Craig Hart, Aurora, Ill., was ringbearer. Mitchell Hanson, Laurel, was flowergirl.

Larry Phillipi, Norfolk, was best man. Groomsman were Dean Meyers, Junction City, Kan., and John Miller, Brookville, Kan. Ushers were Jim Price and Norvin Condy, Norfolk. The bridegroom and his attendants wore black trousers with white dinner jackets.

The bride's mother chose a pink lace dress with off-white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a beige lace, two-piece ensemble with matching accessories. Each had an orchid corsage.

A reception was held in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Levinus Packer, Cambridge, Minn. Carol Means, Junction City, Kan., was in charge of registering the 125 guests. Mrs. Shirley Condy, Mrs. Lynn Ferguson and Janice Olson arranged the gifts. Mrs. Marilyn Hanson and Mrs. Jeannette Erwin cut and served the cake.

Mrs. Gloria Packer poured. Kathy Moller served punch. Waitresses were Lynette Olson and Lou Ann and Donna Rae Agler. Assisting with serving were Mrs. Merle Ring, Mrs. Pearl Pearson, Mrs. Dale Malmberg, Mrs. Brice Nicholson, Mrs. Cole Haglund, Mrs. Jack Ruback, Mrs. Nels Munson, Mrs. John Woods and Mrs. Wilbur Giese. Cake and table decorations were arranged by Mrs. Elder Lubberstedt, Wayne.

For her going away ensemble the bride chose a two-piece ensemble of white crepe with long sleeves of chiffon. Accessories were of blue and white.

The bride was graduated from Wakefield High School and attended Manhattan Bible College and Nebraska Christian College. She is employed at Valley View Lodge, Norfolk. The bridegroom is a graduate of Junction City High School and attended Manhattan Bible College (three years) and Nebraska Christian College one year. He is employed at Nebraska State Hospital, Norfolk.

Following a wedding trip to Colorado, the couple will be at home at 10, 4, Norfolk.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Harry Means, Salina, Kan., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Means, Junction City, Kan., Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Hartman, Craig and Paul, Aurora, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Max McIntock, Salina, Kan., and Mrs. Duane McIntock, Asherville, Kan., Mr. and Mrs. Levinus Packer, Mr. and Mrs. Mervyn Packer, Swanson, all of Cambridge, Minn., Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Stone, Omaha, and Mrs. Richard Hermann, Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. John Noel and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Meyers, Junction City, and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Porter, Norfolk.

Wayne Swimmers Win AAU Medals

Fourteen swimmers represented Wayne in the Amateur Athletic Union meet at Yankton July 30 and 31. Wayne swimmers reached the finals in 24 out of the 33 events they entered, which was quite an accomplishment since over 50 swimmers from South Dakota, Iowa and Nebraska took part in the competition.

Wayne swimmers who swam in the AAU meet included Dave Scheel (first in the backstroke, second in the breaststroke and third in the freestyle); Greg Noyes (first in the freestyle); and Billy Lambert (fourth in the butterfly, fifth in the freestyle and sixth in the individual medley).

Fred Netherida reached the finals in the backstroke and individual medley events. Mark Lambert also reached the finals in the backstroke, butterfly and freestyle.

Wayne State College swimmer who competed in the meet included Russ-

Nyberg who placed first in the 200 meter freestyle, second in the backstroke and swam on two first-place relay teams; Dave Noyes, who placed fourth in the 400 meter individual medley and swam on two first-place relay teams; Twig Groff who won fourth in the backstroke and swam on two first-place relay teams; Tim Rossenbaum who placed second in the breaststroke and swam on two first-place relay teams; and Rich Brown who was a member of one free-style relay team that set an AAU pool record in Yankton. Other Wayne swimmers were Monte Lowe, Kevin Jech, Kerry Jech and Steve Meyer.

The Wayne swimming team has two more meets scheduled for this month, August 17 they will travel to Norfolk for the Elk's Club meet and August 27 they will journey to Sioux City for another AAU meet.

Mark Johnson Selected Member of All-Star Legion Baseball Squad

Mark Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Johnson, Carroll, and a shortstop on the Wayne Legion district champion baseball team, has been notified that he is the only boy from this area selected to play on the North All-Star team in a three-game series against the South All-Stars Aug. 12-13.

Two boys from Homer were selected for the North squad. One of them, Hank Overin, was named North coach but had previous plans so turned the job over to Bill Oze, Hooper. Jerry Koch, Dalton, is to be the South coach.

The games will be played at Grant with 10 players on each squad. Rules require that each one chosen on the team gets to play a minimum of three innings, unless there is sickness or an injury.

Johnson has been playing ball since he was 10. He started at that age on a country team near Hoskins with his father as a coach. His father coached many years after that, including at Carroll the last four years.

The shortstop position has been Johnson's favorite. He played one year with the Wayne Angels at second base and since that time has been a shortstop.

Names for the all-star squads were chosen from those submitted by managers of teams, by coaches of the North and South All-Stars and by others. Naturally those with the best records were given the first consideration.

Johnson batted .339 this summer, which includes games through the district tournament and the regional playoffs. In Wayne High School this year he batted a fantastic .338.

Hoskins Driver Leads Racers at Two Tracks

Gene Brudigan, Hoskins, is the leader in points at two stock-car racing tracks in the area. After last week's meets he is leading in point totals at both Million and Norfolk.

At Million Friday, these were the results: Larry Brudigan, third in the first heat and fifth in A Feature; Harold Brudigan, second in the second heat; Gene Brudigan, first in the third heat, first in the Trophy Dash and third in C Feature; and Gene Wagner, first in A Feature.

Sunday Night at Norfolk these were the results: Larry Brudigan, second in the first heat; Harold Brudigan, third in the first heat and third in C Feature; Harold Brudigan, first in B Feature; Gene Wagner, third in B Feature; and Gene Brudigan, first in Figure 8 Demolition Race.

Wayne Boys in 12-7 Victory at Norfolk

Wayne's young teenagers scored an easy 12-7 win over Norfolk Knights of Columbus Sunday afternoon on the Norfolk field. The locals had enough runs in the first three frames to win but kept piling on runs.

Don Mau and Red Caok did the hurting for Wayne, getting a total of ten strikeouts. Nelson, Clatanoff, Brown and Johnson each had one single.

Homer Evens Playoff Series Sunday; Deciding Game Thursday Night There

Homer defeated Wayne 4-3 on the local diamond Sunday night. It evened the play-off series between the two teams at one game each and leaves the deciding game for Homer diamond at 8, the site being decided by flip of the coin.

An estimated crowd of over 250 people attended the aqua attraction.

Wayne Golfers Play in 'State'

Three Wayne golfers remained in State tournament competition at the Omaha Country Club following the first two rounds of play Tuesday.

They are Bob Reeg, Bill Erickson and Jim Marsh. Charles Fisher and Ken Dahl did not survive the cut after qualifying rounds of 46 and 47 respectively.

Erickson topped Wayne qualifiers with a 75 over the tight Omaha course. Marsh fired an 80 and Reeg 81. In Tuesday's play Reeg shot 77 while Erickson had an 82 and Marsh 84.

A Wayne Herald correspondent in Omaha reported Tuesday night that one more cut is to be made. If all three survive they will continue play throughout the tournament which ends Sunday.

win a single piece for the visitors.

The game was marred by two thubarbs, details of which are not complete. Outside of that is was a well-played tilt, worthy of the play-off series in the North-east Nebraska leagues. Winner of the game Thursday plays the winner of the Emerson-Lyon play-off series for the playoff championship.

Bill Broodwin, the third of the Homer pitchers that frame struck out a man, another was forced coming in home and a third fired out to end the threat and give Homer a win.

Jim Mau had tremendous backing in the field. Particularly spectacular were catches by Randy Olson and Al Burns, a fast relay from Vrtiska at second to Don Burns at home to get the lead man off a hit ball, some outstanding plays all evening by Don Helgren at shortstop.

Mau struck out four in going the full distance, allowing six hits. Bob Jacobsen fanned six and Goodwin one as they yielded four hits.

Randy Olson and Ray Vrtiska each had a double for Wayne. Jerry Kinnan and Al Burns hit a single each. Gerald Jacobsen hit a double and a single, Don Chicoine two singles and Lech Popevis and Bill Good-BASEBALL PARENTS and fans joined Legion and Midget players at a potluck supper of the baseball diamond Monday night. As usual there was more food than needed. The line of players was just starting through when this picture was taken.

Wind Up Successful Season with Picnic

The Wayne Legion and Midget baseball team, both district champions again this year, wound up the season Monday evening. A family picnic was held at the baseball park.

Fathers, mothers, brothers and sisters of players attended the potluck meal at the diamond. As usual, there was far more food than necessary, even considering the fact athletes such as these two teams were blessed with extra large appetites.

Special guests at the picnic were Mr. and Mrs. Dick Nelson. They recently moved from Plattsmouth; he is the new basketball coach at Wayne High School.

Following the food, softball was played, boys and girls' play in one in which home runs by Bob Danberg and Dick Nelson were featured along with some cut-up antics. Such as using more than one ball, moving bases, getting more than three outs, and the usual horse play. Girls and mothers played in an abbreviated till following this.

A collection was taken up among those present. Money raised was turned over to Manager and Mrs. Hank Overin to be used on the vacation trip which they are planning to take soon.

Lost Lass Located

A two-year-old girl who was reported lost to the Wayne Police Department was found three blocks away from home during the past half week. Other police activity included the investigation of a garden tractor robbery, reports of a barking dog, a man who appeared to be sick in his car and an unlicensed business door and traffic control for a funeral.

City Council -
is complete, this could be more of a problem.

The answer agreed upon Tuesday is to replace some of the old small storm sewer with larger pipe and then put in the large pipe throughout a large area of the eastern part of town. This would include Wrenfield's Subdivision, where sections of the sewer pipe could be put in while paving is being done.

In all, the storm sewer project over this extensive area of the east side of Wayne is expected to cost around $66,000. The city engineer was authorized to go ahead and plan for the project and work out specifications.

One paving plan moved ahead and another was rejected. The engineer presented plans for paving the alley south of the elementary school so traffic from the school on the one-way street could continue south at the intersection instead of turning east to go up a hill on winter days.

The state has a law authorizing cities to put in "gap" paving to surface sections of streets where other streets around it are paved. Such a "gap" is second to Third on Blaine. A motion was made to have this paved but the council voted 2-2 on it and the mayor voted "no", stating he would rather contact the property owners first to see if they wanted to have the paving put in before resorting to the state law regarding such gap paving.

Seventh and Main is back up for attention. The state sent a diagram of a proposed design. Mainly it involves no traffic signals but would widen the intersection with painting the flow lines and widening. The state offered to send men to meet with city officials on this matter later.

The city attorney was authorized to meet with residents along Fairacres Road to resolve a method of handling the damage to the streets. The damage caused the council said, when sanitary sewers were not put in properly and pavement started breaking up.

A similar situation in Sewer District 30 is arising, the engineer reported. Compaction is taking place in the sewer and paving could be damaged in a few years. In the Wriedt Section Addition, Action was recommended now to see that this is taken care of so the same thing does not happen there that happened on Fairacres Road.

In other "street" work, the engineer was authorized to stake the alley back of the Wayne Hospital. This will be opened up for through traffic for hospital ambulance use only.

The engineer had a busy evening. He reported the airport runway is coming along fast. The council discussed whether the runway approaches should be sodded or seeded and decided for the latter.

Bad news is the fact that 19 of the 34 transformers on the lights have tested bad so the state recommends all new runway lights. They would cost $22 each, according to the department of aeronautics.

While on the subject of the airport, councilmen noticed how trashy it is getting. They decided to have the street crew help clean it up now and then work out a plan for future years so it will not get in the weedy-seedy condition it is in now.

A representative of the state department of health visited Wayne two weeks ago. He asked for "wiers" to be installed in the sanitary sewer in the south part of town and in the outflow at the sewage lagoon. These measure sewage going through lines and are temporary but the state will soon require them for all cities of this size on a permanent basis at a cost of around $5,000.

The question of electric rates came up and a survey is being made but the announcement concerning new rates is not ready yet. The power plant is coming along fast and the engine will be tested some time this month.

There is a problem of getting a communications system worked out that both the city and county can use. It was hoped the sheriff, police, hospital and others could use the system but there are rules and these have not been worked out yet.

At Wittig and Mayor William Koerber met with the District 17 school board and reported that the school board had suggested a sidewalk west to private property on school land, private properly owners put in sidewalks of their own from there west and a temporary sidewalk be put in from Oak Ridge. Additional youngsters will have a walk from the addition to the school area.

Finally, the council gave support to two non-local projects. First, they agreed to support United Nations Day Oct. 14 as requested by the governor; and second, they went on record as supporting the all-falls chapel that is proposed for the state children's home at Beatrice.

Cards of Thanks

I WANT TO THANK all who send cards and flowers and also the Hospital staff for their kindness while I was in the hospital. Oscar Peterson. a10

I WISH TO thank everyone for the kindnesses shown to me during my stay in the hospital and also those who sent me cards, gifts and flowers. Ralph Arett a10

WE ARE unable to find words to fully express our appreciation to all our friends and relatives who honored us with their presence at the observance of our 50th Wedding Anniversary at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Sunday, August 6. A most sincere "Thank You" for all the cards we received from old friends, many of whom were unable to be with us. To all who were so kind in providing the excellent program for the enjoyment of all and to those who so willingly volunteered to help in so many ways to make it a memorable day, a most sincere Thank You. The floral gifts were appreciated, for these and the many gifts received we are deeply indebted. We pray God's Blessing on all and assure you all that this day could never be forgotten. Grace and Charles Millie.

percent of desirable red meat they would produce placed more than 10 of the 12 cattle as they graded "in the carcass." Freedom from excess fat and abundance of musculing are characteristics indicating high capability.

The experimental cattle shown at the field day at Concord graded and sold well, Tolman said. Heifers averaged low choice in carcass quality grade and steers averaged choice. Heifers brought $26 and steers $20.80, live basis. Dressed carcass yields were unusually high—62.9 percent for both heifers and steers.

Tolman said the good yields were more due to an eight percent shrink in live uniform weights for experimental records, than to high finish. Rate of gain and feed conversion were also favorable for the cattle.

Heifers received 1 1/2 pounds of alfalfa hay daily along with a full feed of corn supplemented with minerals, vitamin A and stilbestrol, gaining 2.55 pounds daily up to market time. They required 710 pounds of corn and 76 pounds of hay per 100 pounds of gain. Those receiving 3 or 4 1/2 pounds of hay with the same ration otherwise gained 2.31 or 2.23 pounds daily. The extra hay replaced little corn, Tolman explained.

Steers received two pounds dry matter daily as alfalfa haylage averaged three pounds daily gain. Those receiving four pounds dry matter as haylage gained only 2.65 pounds daily and required about the same amount of concentrate feed and soybean meal per 100 pounds gain (64.5) plus about twice the hay (124 against 37).

No difficulty was experienced in keeping cattle on feed with 1, or 2 pounds of roughage and no liver abscesses developed in rations. The addition of 3/4 or 1 1/2 pounds soybean meal daily to a fattening ration of high protein corn and haylage, supplemented only with stilbestrol, vitamin A, and antibiotics and minerals did not materially increase rate of gain or carcass grade and only replaced about an equal amount of corn, Tolman concluded.

at the fairgrounds will offer cash to the kids at 1:30 both Friday and Saturday in front of the grandstand. There will be races for all age groups.

Downtown centennial days in Wayne Friday include an invitational prayer breakfast at the City Auditorium at 7:30; burial of the time capsule at Bressler Park at 9; kiddie parade at 9:30; centennial day grand parade at 10:30; centennial dress fete at the city auditorium at 2:30; and Meierdierk's Gesundheit Band playing throughout the business district business places all afternoon.

Finally, there is Saturday. At 8 there will be sheep judging, 9:30, cattle judging; 1, band concert, 4, horse racing; 4, horse shoe pitching; 8, grandstand entertainment ("50 Years Ago in the Ozarks") and finally a teenage dance featuring Sandy Jagger.

You cannot overlook the 4-H and Extension Club exhibits, the school exhibits, the open class exhibits, the canning and cooking displays, the sewing entries and the hundreds of other attractions that make an American county fair so distinctive.

The fairgrounds is in good shape except for lack of a roof on the grandstand. Season tickets admit you to six different admission sessions. Separate tickets may also be purchased for each one.

Funeral Services Held Wednesday For Mrs. Wright

Funeral services for Mrs. Burrell Wright, 81, were held Aug. 9 at Willse Chapel, Wayne. Mrs. Wright died Aug. 6 at Bartlesville, Okla.

Rev. John Craig officiated at the rites. Mrs. Sylvia Ehlers, Mrs. James Brown and Mrs. Richard Arret sang "The Old Rugged Cross" and "In the Garden." Jayne Brugger was accompanist. Pallbearers were Wayne Marsh, Carl Wright, Kenneth Olds, Ben Ahlvers, Walter Benhack and Ed Wolske. Burial was in Greenwood Cemetery.

Veda Catharine Pilger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pilger, was born June 15, 1886 at Bloomington, Nebr. She moved to Plainview with her parents when she was a child. She later came to Wayne to attend Nebraska Normal College. She was married July 28, 1909 to Burrell Wright at Wayne. She made her home here until last fall when she went to Bartlesville, Okla. Mr. Wright was a car dealer in Wayne for many years and owned a book store before his retirement.

Survivors include her husband; a daughter, Mrs. Elvia (Lucille) Amen, Bartlesville, Okla.; a son, Gerald Burrell Wright, Hemstead, N. H.; two sisters, Mrs. J. O. Laumann, Omaha, and Mrs. Fern Packard, California; and three grandchildren.

and had supporting roles in WSC's productions of "Anthony and Cleopatra" and "Othello." Dr. Helen Russel directed both plays. Loyal Nelson will play the villainess, Ida Rhinegold. She is a Wayne housewife who has gained experience in Witside and Neligh High School productions of "Ever Since Eve" and "Babe's in Toyland." She has been in several of the Wayne Players productions.

The hero, Adam Oakhart, will be portrayed by Bill Brandenburg, a WSC sophomore who took part in Wayne High productions of "Down in the Valley," "The Fingers in the Door" and "The High Seed Off Echos." The High Seed Off Echos' was rated superior at the Nebraska District Stage Contest.

Another Wayne Players veteran, Margaret Lundstrom, will play the part of Widow Lovelace. She is a Wayne housewife who starred in the Hutchinson, Kansas, Junior College production of "Mother Was a Freshman". She will also be remembered for her roles in Wayne Players productions of "Horn Yesterday" and "Esk Lynne."

Jean Christensen will portray Mrs. Apston Asterhill in the play. She is a Colorado State University student who performed in Wayne High's production of "Jury Room" and Wayne State's masterpiece, "Carousel".

Phyllis Ellermeier will play Fleurette in "Dirty Work at the Crossroads". She is a WSC junior who also performed in "Jury Room." Little Nell will be played by Kathy Nelson, a Wayne Public School fifth grader. Elaine Lundstrom will play Leonie Asterhill. She is an eighth grade student at Wayne Public School who is being groomed for future roles.

Staff heads include Dave Robinson (director), Clete Shaver (technical director), Bill Kugler (lighting and sound effects), Mrs. Wayne Marsh, Ruth Ross and Margaret Lundstrom (properties and costumes), Mrs. Gerri Corvill and Gary Woodward (set design) and Mrs. Merle Ring music.

Some will complain that they will pay for a new license in September, have a birthday the fore part of 1968 and will have to renew again on their birthday while others will pay for a license in September and won't have to renew until late in 1968. It matters not. The license this September will cost you a minimum of $1.50 and a minimum of $6, depending on when your next birthday is and depending on what year you will become an age divisible by 4. It just happens to be they had to set a system some way for handling this and that's how it has worked out.

Wayne Native Designs Time-Saving Machine

Ron Bichel, 30 son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bichel, Wayne, is credited for designing a machine that has increased box line production at the Hilland Potato Chip Co., Des Moines, where he works.

Bichel, a native of Wayne and a graduate of Wayne High School, is plant superintendent. He served in the army, a year with Northwest Airlines and has been with Hilland since.

The machine he designed is a fully automatic potato chip box machine, believed to be the first in the industry. It automatically sets up or forms boxes from flat cardboard blanks, fills them with chips and seals them.

This is not the first machine he designed. Hilland is also using an automatic six-packer designed and developed by Bichel.

This unit, operating at high speeds, automatically packs six potato chip bags into an outer bag. It has enabled Hilland to double capacity in this work.

Bichel lives at Carlisle, Ia., and has been working with Hilland more than seven years. He worked his way up from shipping clerk to plant superintendent.

Noble Rasmussen, Hilland president, termed Bichel "a natural mechanic," and said the firm encourages him to keep experimenting. Bichel's machines are being made in Creston, Ia., and are being sold to other potato chip companies.

Troop 221 Camps at Cedar Bluffs a Week

Three boys from Randolph have joined six boys from Troop 221 of Wayne for a week's camping at Camp Cedars, Cedar Bluffs, this week. Scoutmaster Jewell Schock, Wayne, is in charge.

Each Scout will spend six days living, working and learning. Mid-America Council, Omaha operates the camp which attracts over 2,000 boys each summer.

Meals are served in the camp's central dining facility. The program is coordinated to a schedule arranged by the camp commissioner to include boating, canoeing, swimming, horseback riding, riflery, fitness activities, camping skills, cooking and lots to eat.

Boys from Wayne at the camp are Zachary Harms, (Calon Miller, Randal Miller, Mark Smith, Greg Stammer and Max Tetter. Randolph boys joining them are Darrel Dennis, Bruce Seltton and Paul Seltton.

Charles Geiger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Geiger, won out over eight other contestants in the annual Future Farmers of America tractor-driving contest at Allen Sunday afternoon. Jerry Warner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Warner, won second and Jim Pugsley, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Pugsley, was third.

Geiger will represent Allen FFA in the district tractor-driving contest at West Point Aug. 15. In case he is unable to go, Warner will be alternate. Two district winners will be chosen to go to the state tractor-driving contest. Last year the two from this district finished first and second; Wayne Rasmussen of Allen taking first and a Wisner boy second. As last year's winner, Rasmussen was ineligible to compete in the contest this year.

Roger Sandman, FFA adviser, directed the contest assisted by Rasmussen. Contestants were Geiger, Warner, Pugsley, Ron Kraemer, David Geiger, Bill Sachau, Bart Jorgensen, Joe Ankeny and Rich Gensler.

In the contest, contestants are required to back a tractor with a four-wheel wagon out of a narrow space, maneuver it around within a roped-in area and back the wagon into another narrow space. Points are taken off for touching rope or poles and points are given for fastest time. A written test is also given each contestant.

Reunion at Carroll Offerings Unusual

The Jones family reunion Sunday at the Carroll Auditorium had something different to offer—a record of the family that traced some of the holdings back to the days of the Romans in the year 400.

The resume told about Grandfather William E. Jones, born on a farm known as Ty Newydd two miles outside Conway Town at a place called Honyrd in the parish of Llangelyn located in Conway Valley. The house has been in the possession of the Jones family over 200 years, its walls of stone covered with stucco and roof of slate still being in good shape and the house still occupied.

Nurse Helen John is the district nurse and had delivered most of the babies in the district for years. She is a descendant of Jones Ty Newydd.

Grandmother Ann Owens Jones was born in 1829 in a house called Carreg y Ffordd at Tal-y-Bont, near Llanrwst, Conway Valley, Dyffryn Conway. She was one of four daughters born to David and Ellen Owens. In 1852 she married William E. Jones and they had 11 children.

The name Carreg y Ffordd means milestone. The old Roman Road ran near this home and that road was marked by milestones. The Romans were active in this area until 400 AD.

Welsh people called themselves 'Cymry' and their land 'Cymru'. The words 'Welsh' and 'Wales' are of Saxon origin. Teutonic races had a term for all those foreign to their tongue which corresponded in sound to the word 'Welsh'. The German word 'Walschen', meaning to jabber, gives a clue to the root origin.

Family associations and pride in ancestry have always been strong Welsh traits. Family ties are warm and strong throughout all Wales today, but particularly in the farming areas. Relationships and connections are known throughout the districts and traces are kept and recognized of cousins and second cousins, great-aunts and great-grandchildren. Among the older people, family trees are still kept in the family Bibles.

Families do not gather at Christmas. The main gathering time is when there is a death. Then all the relatives are held of the death, sometimes the word coming to something the only letter from relatives in years. In rural Wales most of the family will come to the funeral, stay on for a day or two and visit about happenings to the family.

Because of the closeness there is no need for the 'welfare state' as such. Welsh families take care of family members in financial or manual distress, so no need is voted for government help. If all family members are dead except one, friends and neighbors step in and help out as if he were part of their family so there is still no need for outside help. The Welsh are a generous and proud people.

This is part of the Jones family reunion given at the family gathering. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tucker and five children, hosts, Sioux City; Mr. and Mrs. Levi Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Lyn Roberts and three children and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Kerstine and Tom, Carroll.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Wilcox, Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Jones, Mrs. Don Roman, Mrs. Seymour Hansen, Mrs. Clara Jones, Norfolk; Mr. and Mrs. Cling Woods, Mrs. Dora Woods, Mrs. Clement Jones, Henderson, Ia.; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Rees and two children and Frank Rees, Randolph; Mr. and Mrs. David Rees, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Rees and three sons and Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Roberts, Wayne.

Letters were read from members of the family that were absent. The reunion started in 1941 and has been held each year since.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. For many it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers. It is the duty of an editorial writer to check all available facts before he sits down to write. From this basis the writer should be able to give a clear picture of important topics.

The Equalization Problem

If the state equalization board's ruling of raising rural property values 30 per cent and urban (city) values 20 per cent has you a little puzzled as to what the results will be, don't get upset. You have company. The county has already indicated what it will do. County officials have decided if the property values go up the tax levy will come down. The effect will be to bring in the money the county has already decided it will need for the yearly budgets and actually you will not be paying more.

No other government body on a local level has been heard from yet. Naturally you will want to know what they would plan to do should word come from state level that the appeal for reconsideration of Wayne County's valuation had been overruled.

For instance, there are levies. If the valuations go up, the levies they have set will raise a lot more money than originally planned. Will they leave the levies as set or reduce them?

There are cemetery districts, school districts, weed districts and other subdivisions. All have set their tax levies for the year on the basis of the old valuations. If the state raises valuations and there is no appeal accepted to cut back to the original values, the levies set will raise more than intended. Then what do the districts do with the money?

Here's an example. Suppose some rural property had been set at $10,000 for taxing purposes earlier and the tax levy was 6 per cent. The owner would have $600 taxes to pay. Now the state comes along and says this property has to be valued 30 per cent higher. This makes the value $13,000. But the tax levy hasn't changed, so the property owner would be expected to pay $780.

Now just what is a district going to do with all this money? This is just for one property owner out of hundreds. You can see that in some districts the result in an increase in valuation would bring in thousands of extra dollars. Would they be saved, spent or returned?

There is quite a problem involved here. The county officials have acted fairly by indicating they have set their needs and they will change the levy to bring in only what is needed if the state sticks to its figures. Now it is up to all other districts to indicate what they intend to do.

Sure, it's a complicated business. Taxes have always been complicated, but those in charge are obligated to let the public know what to expect. The public has a right to ask a question and get an answer.—CEG.

More on Martins

No organizations have shown interest in the plan to make Wayne a city of martins and thus mosquito-free next year, but another individual has come in with a suggestion that merits consideration.

George Stolz has an excellent idea. (If the name sounds familiar, it should since he is one of the commissioners of Wayne County).

Stolz made three martin houses for his yard. He found that two were all he needed. The martins have kept his yard mosquito-free so he has no plans for putting up the third house.

But better yet, he would like to make martin houses for any group that would want them. His price is less than half that one local resident was recently quoted for commercially-produced martin houses in big shipments.

Stolz includes a seven-foot pipe with the martin houses he makes. These can be mounted on posts somewhere in the yard.

When the martins leave, the martin houses can be taken down, cleaned and stored. This eliminates any chance of sparrows taking over. With the com-

You may not agree with an editorial but if you read the editorial and give us your thoughts on the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

mercial variety you leave them in on poles but you have to get up, clean them out and then close little doors for the winter so sparrows cannot take over.

The idea of martin houses still appeals to us. The fact has already been pointed out that where compared, martins have been more effective than sprays in ridding areas of mosquitoes. Besides, there's no smell involved and martins are a lot of fun to watch.

It's up to you, or some civic club. It might be a good idea to invite Stolz to speak and to tell about his martin houses with 10 "apartment" and steel plates, all retailing for less than some others cost wholesale. He appears willing to help this area trade mosquitoes for martins. Is anyone opposed?—CEG.

Do They Accept Money?

A group has recently protested to the United States government. Its protest: The Christmas stamp for 1967.

The group thinks there has been an infringement of rights because a Madonna, baby and angels are depicted. In other words, they might have to buy a stamp that would admit to God, the virgin birth or even religion.

You're all familiar with this group. They don't want to give the Pledge of Allegiance. They don't want to salute the flag. They don't want prayers in schools. They don't want Bible reading at any time.

Under the "guise" of rights, a minority once again seeks to take away an accepted form of action of our people. It happens all too often, a few make noise, the courts rule and the general public is deprived of its rights so a few can have the ones they claim. (No one says they have to use the Christmas stamps—they are just made available to those who do want them).

We wonder if those who disclaim deity are willing to accept American money. After all, it says "In God we trust" on it. Their next campaign may be to get these words removed.

They did not go after the Pledge of Allegiance phrase "one nation, under God," but attacked the entire pledge. They have done some effective work in presenting its use at times.

If they knew the meaning of the colors of the flag would "Star Spangled Banner" be next to go? It's obvious they would never put up with "God Bless America" if it were an official song with governmental approval. Then there's "America, the Beautiful," with its "God shed His grace on thee." It's semi-official but it has been relatively free of attack so far.

America was founded by people seeking religious freedom. For years we had it. No one said you had to give the Pledge of Allegiance, sing the Star Spangled Banner or pray in school. The chances were merely offered, but some people did not want even that.

They take away the freedom of those who do want to give the pledge, do want to pray, do want to sing the praises of God and our country. Just who is being deprived of what?

America is a Christian nation but we give freedom to all faiths. Why can't it continue to be that way without the courts ruling that freedom to pray or not to pray, sing or not sing, pledge or not pledge are not matters to be decided on the basis of arguments by small groups?

In Russia we're sure "In God we trust" does not appear on the money. It might be a good place for some of these dissatisfied people to go. There are plenty of refugees from other countries who are now in this land of freedom ready to sing the loudest and most fervently for God and country, ready to pray most sincerely in school and for those less fortunate and ready to pledge allegiance most sincerely to this country "under God with liberty and justice for all."—CEG.

first income-sales tax law saw fulfillment of Tiemann's principal legislative goal.

"Having successfully broadened and stabilized the tax base, we began to build these programs we talked about in the campaign to move Nebraska into the progressive mainstream of our economy," Tiemann said.

The Governor acknowledged the task devolving, the Legislature of the wisdom in his sweeping changes was not an easy one.

But, he added, the lawmakers willingly responded to the executive branch leadership which Tiemann said had been sorely missing in Nebraska.

"We now have the executive branch on a par with the legislative branch—and this is as it should be," Tiemann said.

"There had been a great need for balance between the two wings of state government. For too long the legislature pretty much ignored the governor's advice completely. This was the easy way out. But this didn't get things done."

"I don't think the legislature is resentful of the fact that we have drawn the executive branch equal with it. In most cases the senators welcomed it because we have been able to give them some help in their legislative proposals that were in trouble," Tiemann said.

There were other unicameral successes, too, the Governor said. They included:

—Creation of a department of economic development to sell the nation's industrialists on the theme that Nebraska is a good place to live and do business.

—Repeal of the head, household goods and intangible property taxes and approval of constitutional amendments for a home-stead exemption and elimination of personal property taxes.

—Enactment of a law clearing the way for the merger of the University of Omaha with the University of Nebraska.

—State financial aid to junior colleges and public elementary and secondary school districts, with the aim to improve the quality of education available to all Nebraskans.

—Establishment of a driver license re-examination and motor vehicle inspection programs to help save lives on the state's roads.

—Formation of a clean waters commission to issue revenue bonds to municipalities for stepped-up sewage treatment plant construction.

In general, Tiemann continued, his programs have laid the "basic groundwork" for expansion of the state's economy through industrial growth.

"The industrialists indicate they are now looking at Nebraska because we have completely changed our complexion in matters of revenue raising and in attitudes toward education. We can be proud of an industrial center," he said.

"Economic development means more jobs. This means the young people who are spending our money in education, will stay in the state."

Under Tiemann's administration, state spending climbed beyond the half billion dollar level for the first time. Yet the Governor does not consider this a political liability.

"For the first time we're doing something we should have been doing for a long time," he said. Tiemann rejects the notion that his rapport with lawmakers began to slip as the session wore on.

"We reached a point, a climax, where individual legislators took issue with us, or we with them," he said.

"But this happened all through the legislative session. It is just being pinpointed now in the flurry of activity involved in the closing days."

"The rapport was excellent. I couldn't have wished for anything better. We asked the senators to do some things that have been unpopular and unpopular but they had to be done."

As for the future, Tiemann intends to pursue those programs which met defeat in the 77th legislative session. Foremost among these, he indicated, are highway matters, constitutional reform and open housing legislation.

"We're only at the beginning," the Governor said. "There are areas of great problems that need solving, and the only way to solve them is to do what we've been doing."

Meat Inspection & Grading

Meat inspection is not the same as meat grading. Inspectors refer to the health of the animal and the wholesomeness of the meat, while grading determines the value of the meat carcass.

As livestock enters the stockyard at a packing plant, it is inspected in the holding pens for signs or symptoms of a disease or abnormality. Inspectors also look for bruises or broken bones that may have been inflicted during shipping.

If the inspector suspects something is wrong with the animal, he tags it. The animal is then slaughtered separately and is thoroughly examined. If there is something seriously wrong, the animal is condemned and destroyed. If nothing is wrong, the animal is stamped "U. S. Inspected" and passed.

Facilities of the packing plant also are inspected. The buildings must meet certain standards, and water sources and lighting are checked.

The beef carcass is next graded on quality and cutability. Quality is determined by the color of the fat and lean parts and the conformation of the carcass. The cutability or yield refers to the amount of trimmed retail cuts expected from that carcass.

Grades awarded to the carcass range from U. S. Prime and U. S. Choice to U. S. Canner and Cutter. There are eight grades in all.

One Brood Per Year A pheasant hen will produce no more than one brood of chicks per year in Nebraska.

Many persons will swear this is untrue because they observe baby pheasants in July and August. Others have seen eggs during these months. The obvious conclusion is that at least some hens are exceptional reproducers and do account for more than one brood per year. Pheasant ecology does not bear this out.

In spring, pheasants begin to sense the urge to reproduce. This results in egg laying and incubating, ending with hatching by the second week in June. Unfortunately all hens are not successful nesters. Many known causes prevent pheasant eggs from hatching. There may be many more that we do not know about. The greatest cause of nest loss is due to destruction by mowing machines, flooding and by both wild and domestic livestock.

Mowing of hay and roadsides usually begins in early summer and blankets that period when nest activity is the greatest. Late spring and early summer flash floods usually destroy all eggs. Skunks are thought to be the most serious offender but even 13-lined ground squirrels will trample nests, but the greatest loss from domestic animals comes from cats and dogs.

Once a nest has been destroyed the hen begins another. This process can be repeated many times until the summer is over. On the other hand, when a hen is successful and brings off a brood of chicks she cares for them until early fall. Thus, it is obvious that pheasant chicks appearing late in the summer are the results of early nest destruction.

Don't Sell Timber There are several good reasons why walnut and other timber should not be sold during the summer, according to University of Nebraska foresters.

One is that export and domestic log quotes have been filled to meet the summer needs of primary and secondary walnut processors. Another is that the normal season for logging is in October through March.

Green logs cut in the spring and summer will deteriorate quite rapidly due to insect and fungus attack and cannot be held in the log yards at saw mills longer than 30 days.

Foresters recommend that walnut marketing requests received now be held until fall unless the lumberer is absolutely necessary for the immediate sale of his lumber.

Another reason for withholding timber sales is that 10-inch trees are often worth only half as much as 12-inch trees. In "timber arithmetic" 12 equals two times 10. A tree trunk 10 inches in

Save With a Water Softener Are you annoyed by leaky faucets, tattle-tale gray or yellowing in the laundry or lime deposit rings on bathroom fixtures in your home? In this hardware area, the homeowner can hardly make a more satisfying investment than by installing a mechanical water softener in a new or remodeled home. Even a water-softener rental unit can show savings to the owner or tenant.

Hard water minerals form a scale on boilers, piping, heaters, air conditioning units and any equipment that uses or handles water. Decreased efficiency and repair bills result. It has been estimated that one-sixteenth inch of scale on a heating unit pipe will reduce heating efficiency by 16% and raise fuel costs proportionately.

Even the soap bill can be reduced. One authority states that 1 grain of water-hardness wastes 5.8 pounds of soap per year. In our area where water-hardness ranges from 16 to 30 grains that waste alone can be considerable. The wasted soap is responsible for the tattle tale gray and yellowing as well as faded colors in the home laundry.

Water softeners are classified according to convenience, automatic or manual. They come in tank models as well as the standard upright tank models.

The five-cycle valve-type softener is the only system that satisfactorily removes high quantities of iron from the water without clogging the resin. The long-lasting valve is either motorized or solenoid-operated. It provides for five softening operations. Practically the only upkeep cost of valve-type softener is the salt used.

A couple of apologies before we hand out a bouquet. First, we apologize to Winside. We took pictures of their baseball team but fouled up and got a double image exposure that ruined the shots. Unless Managers Ken Fleer and Pete Kropp can set a date for all the boys to meet for a picture, we probably won't get any, and we sure would like pictures of both the big boys and the little boys. Try to arrange a time and we will promise to be there—inside for a flash or outside in the sunlight. Our other apology is to the Allen Peewees. We got their picture all right and then ran it backward. We're sure those who know the kids realized it but it's one of those mistakes for which there is no excuse after this long period of printing off method.

I thought your minister was going to accept a call to Minneapolis.

He expected it but he went up to preach a trial sermon, chose his text from St. Paul, so it's all off.

A bouquet this week to Coach Al Svenningson. We hate to see him leave but we wish him the very best at Alaska University. WSC has done right with WSC and has been a good influence on athletes and other coaches. We're losing a splendid man but you always have to feel pretty good when a deserving person gets a promotion. The one consolation is that Dave Gunther, the new basketball coach, is said to be a fine fellow who will be a real asset to WSC. That sounds as if he might follow right in Svenningson's footsteps, for Alaska was a real asset to WSC. So while we are at it, bouquets to both of you, the new coach at Alaska U. and the new coach at Wayne State College. Best of luck to both.

Governor Gives Appraisal Of His Months as Leader

LINCOLN - (Editor's Note: An atmosphere of excitement permeated the legislative chamber last January when Wausa Barker Norbert T. Tiemann became Nebraska's 32nd governor. Lawmakers did not know exactly what to expect, but they sensed something, something new and very different. During his gubernatorial campaign, Tiemann promised to "get things moving." In the following dispatch the Governor tells why he believes that movement has been forward no sideways or backward, during the 77th session of the Legislature).

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann considers the greatest achievement during his first legislative session the strengthening of the executive branch of government when weakness would almost certainly have brought disastrous confusion.

The Republican Governor gave this appraisal in reflecting on his relationship with the lawmakers over the past seven months which saw precedent shattered at nearly every turn.

The 43-year-old former small-town banker dealt quickly and emphatically with questions concerned with state problems and spoke feelingly when asked what he considered his most satisfying accomplishments and most heartbreaking failures.

His biggest legislative disappointments, Tiemann said, were rejection of a constitutional convention proposal and rebuff of his plan for an accelerated roadbuilding program.

As for achievements Tiemann went on, the 28-week legislative session spanned a period in which the state faced fiscal crisis, there was a crying need for improved government services, and the cost of government operations continued to rise. It was also, he said, a period in which the state had no tax system to speak of and gave danger the situation would worsen.

The executive branch showed the understanding, firmness and willingness to take risks in support of policies which prevented the crisis from becoming chaos, according to the Governor.

All of this, Tiemann added, was dedicated on revenue reform geared to a broad-based tax system that could shoulder the added costs of state progress. Enactment of the State's

Oat, Barley, Wheat Tests Underway As Part of Concord Station Work

As part of the agronomy research program at Northeast Station, Concord, a spring small grain nursery including oat, barley and spring wheat varieties is established and yields determined each year according to Gene Schwartz, station agronomist.

Small grains still constitute a fair portion of the cropland in Northeast Nebraska. Therefore, farmers are interested in new oat and barley varieties that yield high and still retain characteristics such as good straw strength, height and rust resistance. The advent of corn root-worm and the resistance of some weeds to herbicides in addition to several other factors have helped increase the importance of small grains in crop rotation. With oat yields 60 to 80 bushels per acre in the area this year, a good net return per acre can be realized.

Seventeen oat and twelve barley varieties were tested at Concord this year. In addition, twenty-seven oat and thirty barley varieties were planted in the nursery as part of a regional program. Off-station tests in oat and barley variety and fertility plots are located in Knox and Cedar counties.

Yields for 1967 will be computed and made available later. Field observations indicate the consistently good oat varieties Burnett and Mo. 0-205 will yield good again. Newer varieties showing promise in the area are Garland and Wyndmere. Liberty barley has been the best yielding variety by two or more bushels per acre for several years.

Schwartz advises farmers they should set a yield goal for oats, 60 bushels per acre and above. This means that such management practices as selecting a good variety, planting good seed, fertilizing according to soil test and preparing a good seed-bed are essential.

Fertilizer is especially important, mainly nitrogen and phosphate. About 40 pounds of nitrogen and phosphate fertilizer per acre have given the best results on the loess soil of this region.

Schwartz says tests show no significant yield response to potash, zinc, sulfur, iron or manganese so far. However, these are still being included in the testing program this year.

The accident pictures, fire pictures, robbery pictures, etc., all show that someone is sure helping out when it comes to keeping the O'Neill staff informed about what is going on. We'd appreciate your help. We feel terrible when some big mishap happens and a week later we learn about it when an item such as this appears in the news. A neighborhood correspondent has sent in: "John Blow is recovering from a broken leg, broken arm, concussion, a sprained back and multiple lacerations after being run over by his tractor a week ago Friday while working in the field. Don't laugh—we've received some little personal items about that important and about a week later when all someone had to do was call us and we could have had a real story a week earlier. We'd rather get more than one collect call on a big story in the area than to have everyone assume we already have been informed and have nobody call us."

Patent: "Do you extract teeth painlessly?"

Dentist: "Not always—the other day I nearly dislocated my wrist."

Someone was commenting the other day. They're about the same age we are—in the mid-40's. They just mused: "Do you suppose we'll ever see the day when Wayne will be modernized enough so these brick streets will be surfaced with something else?" It was his question. We won't bother to tell you our answer.

Shmo: "Where do you get dragon milk?"

Joe: "I don't know."

Shmo: "From a short-legged cow."

Football practice starts a week from Monday. Can school be far behind? It hardly seems possible. We're going to have to get used to calling them Wayne High School, Middle School and Elementary School. Where has the summer gone? We don't know, but apparently some of it washed away in the June rains. You do remember that wet month don't you?

Aunt Matilda was wrapping a birthday gift for her nephew. "What did you give him last year?" asked Uncle Barney.

"A check," replied Auntie, "and he told me he couldn't find words enough to thank me."

"What are you sending him this year?" asked Unk.

"A dictionary."

If some of these jokes this week seem familiar to you, Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts and Explorers, there's a reason. Several of them were stolen out of copies of Boy's Life a young reader of ours has furnished us. We could use more jokes (clean) in case any of you have some you think are funnier than the ones we used this week.

The golfer was just ready to tee off on the first hole when a gorgeous blonde came running across the grass dressed in a beautiful bridal gown.

The golfer waved her away. "Doris," he said, "I told you specifically, ONLY if it rains."

Car Demolished in 14-Foot Road Gap

A 1966 car was demolished when a Laurel man failed to see a barricade in time and drove into a 14-foot gap in the road. The vehicle dropped 10 feet to the bottom of the gap.

Leland Johnson, Laurel, was driver. He had sufficient speed so the car carried to the opposite side of the gap but then dropped and was so completely wrecked it was called good for salvage and that's all.

According to Jerry Rogers, Trooper with the Nebraska State Patrol, who investigated, Johnson was uninjured in the mishap that occurred at 1:30 a.m. Thursday 4 1/2 miles north and two miles east of Wayne in Dixon County.

Johnson was northbound at the time of the accident. Warnings and barricades had been set up where the bridge approach was washed out.
