Hervale Farms Take Many Honors at Iowa State Fair

Hervale Farms, Wayne, took 11 top honors in the Hereford division of the Iowa State Fair, Des Moines, this week. The local section swept all multi-entry divisions in the Hereford class.

Lee Herman and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Heeson took the cattle to Des Moines. They also needed an extra truck to bring back the awards while taking the cattle on to Minnesota for the state fair and then back to Lincoln for the Nebraska State Fair.

Top three awards for Hereford cattle were: Champion Hereford bull; reserve champion Hereford female; and winning get-of-sire, Diamond II.

In multi-animal entries, they won all the first places. They had first in the Hereford three-bull pen, first in two-bull pen, first in pair of yearling (bull and heifer) and first in pair of calves.

Individual first places in the Hereford class were: Junior yearling bull, summer yearling bull, senior bull calf, winter bull calf, winter heifer calf and senior heifer calf.

There were two or three other Hervale Farms entries. They all won either second or third place.

Last year Hervale showed the reserve champion bull at Des Moines. Several times the farm has shown the reserve champion female. The showing this year is by far the best ever made by the local stock farm.

The Iowa State Fair was drawing record entries and record crowds. The showing by the Wayne entries was extra impressive for this reason.

Gets Higher Degree

William Schutte, a former resident of Dixon, received his master's degree at the University of South Dakota, Vermillion, Saturday. His degree is in chemistry. He had earned a bachelor's degree from WSC. For the past several years he has been teaching science in South Sioux City. He plans to continue work at USD for his PhD degree. Among those who attended commencement were his wife and daughters and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Schutte and Amanda, Ella and Marie Schutte, Dixon.

Set Date for Annual County Sale of 4-H Baby Beef Here

Wednesday, Sept. 13, is the date set for the annual 4-H baby sale, County Agent Harold Ingalls reports. Letters giving information on the event have been sent to all 4-H beef club members.

All cattle must be unloaded at the Wayne Sale Barn prior to 1 p.m. sale day. The show will begin at 2 p.m. with weighing and appraising at 4 p.m. Highest packer bid will be the starting sale bid.

The sale itself will start at 8 p.m. Any calf awarded a white ribbon at the show or any calf not broke to lead will be ruled ineligible for sale at this time.

Agent Ingalls said the show is limited to those who exhibited calves at the Wayne County Fairs. Pen lots will consist of five head and anyone selling a pen lot will not be allowed to sell an individual also. Pen calves will be sold loose without benefit of special show fittings.

Scoring formula for pens will be: 10 points for each pound average daily gain; 100 points for highest packer appraisal; one point deducted for each 25 cents per hundred less; and 10 points or less for accuracy and completeness of records.

Pen record sheets must be returned to the county agent before 5 p.m. Friday, Sept. 8.

New Red Cross Head in County

Mrs. Robert Benthack has resigned as chairman of the Wayne County Chapter of the American Red Cross, ending 12 years of service to the county and the organization. Mrs. Mike Bynon is to be the new chairman.

Other officers of the local chapter are: Rey S. K. de Fresse, vice chairman; Leslie Ellis, treasurer; Judie Davis, secretary; and Chris Bargholz, home service.

In announcing her resignation, Mrs. Benthack asked that portions of a letter by the Douglas County Chapter from a field director in Vietnam be published. Following are portions of the letter:

"I would like to give you a sort of on-the-spot report of the situation here to enable you as a chapter to see why sometimes you see why sometimes you see."

Individual first places in the Hereford class were: Junior yearling bull, summer yearling bull, senior bull calf, winter bull calf, winter heifer calf and senior heifer calf.

Boy Hit by Car Near Concord Fairgrounds

A Concord boy, Brian Johnson, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marlon Johnson was struck by a vehicle driven by a Wakefield woman, Mrs. Clarence Fuhr, east of the fairgrounds Tuesday. He was hospitalized at Wakefield following the mishap.

Trooper Joseph Yosten, South Sioux City, said he was called to the scene but was diverted to a fatal accident near Dakota City. He said word at the hospital was that the lad had gotten off the tractor where he had been riding with his father and was struck by the Fuhr vehicle.

The mishap on State Spur 1116, occurred after Marlon Johnson, on a tractor accompanied by his son and his nephew, Monte Pearson, Harrington, stopped as they met Mrs. Johnson driving the other direction. Brian got off the tractor to go to the car.

Mrs. Johnson told The Herald Tuesday afternoon her son had a broken rib and was being kept in the hospital so he could be checked for other injuries. No other details were available.

Chamber Committee Posts 15-3 'Score'

The Wayne Chamber of Commerce legislative committee "scored" well this year. Legislative action it went on favor as opposing or favoring went the way the committee wanted it 15 times and went the opposite way only 3 times.

In bills in the unicameral the committee opposed, nine were withdrawn or indefinitely postponed. (The committee was approved by the legislature. In bills the Chamber of Commerce unit went on record approving, six were approved and two were rejected. See CHAMBER, page 5.)

Difficulties Involved in Locating SWAY Winners

This was the most difficult week yet for locating winners of the SWAY drawing. One youth's folks were on vacation, another youth's folks were out-of-town and have no telephone and the third youth resided in the county only a short time while his father was working on road-building.

Most difficult job was that of locating John R. Hardy, Winside. Many contacts were made before it was learned he had lived in Winside in 1959 when Highway 35 was being surfaced by an out-of-town crew, his father of the same name being on that crew and the family living in a mobile home.

A telephone call was made to Grand Island which was listed as the family's permanent address and the location of the road construction crew. Neither are now listed in that city.

The only hope of getting the SWAY was from Hardy, who is still in the service as far as can be ascertained, is to find someone who might have kept in contact with the Hardy family after they left. Anyone knowing their whereabouts should write SWAY, Wayne, Neb.

Prize at $350 Thursday Night

The Silver Dollar Night prize is up to $350 again. If there is no winner this Thursday evening, it will be back up to the maximum of $400.

Mrs. August Witter, Wayne, missed out on the prize Thursday last week when her name was called at $10 as consolation.

Anyone in the area no registered may do so on any participating business place in or near Wayne. The drawings are limited to those 18 years of age and over.

Wayne Youth Injured in Car Accident in Hastings

A Wayne youth who had gone to Hastings to take a major role in the wedding of a friend, was hospitalized the day of the wedding in a one-car accident on a Hastings street. Two others were also hospitalized while two had lesser injuries.

Doug Farrans, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marlon Farrans, Wayne, was most seriously injured of the five youths in a car driven by Ronald Brown, 22, Hastings. He, Brown and Daniel Groshans, 20, Hastings, were taken to Mary Lanning Hospital.

The accident happened early Saturday morning. The wedding at which Farrans was to be an usher, united Sheryl Mason, Wayne, and Jay Fluhr, Hastings. Due to the accident there was considerable doubt for a while whether or not the wedding would take place as scheduled.

The groom-to-be, was in a state of shock for a short period after the accident. He later received tetanus shots due to the metallic scratches he received. The entire wedding personnel were up almost all night. See YOUTH HURT, page 5.

County Fair at Concord Draws

The Dixon County Fair, Concord, enjoyed a big opening Sunday night with religious services, Events Monday and Tuesday continued to attract large crowds. This article was written too early for a report on Wednesday information.

The day of "universal" checks is about at an end. Wayne County bankers urge patrons to stop using them now even though the effective date for discontinuing use is Sept. 1.

Why quit now? Because the checks must clear a Federal Reserve branch at Omaha. If they are written now, delayed getting cleared through the FR branch until Sept. 1, they may be returned or a charge made for handling.

It takes a certain amount of time for checks to clear the Federal Reserve Bank. For that reason, the universal checks where you could fill in the name of your bank or the scratched over checks where you marked out the name of one bank and wrote in the name of another, are being discontinued.

Radio Station in City Ready Soon

Wayne is to have a radio station soon. Two York men have sent word to the Wayne Chamber of Commerce that they expect to have the station in operation within 60 days.

George Blum has been named manager. He and his family will move here soon. Other staff members will be named later.

A construction permit has been received for a daytime station operating on 1530 kilocycles. However, call letters have not been assigned by the Federal Communications Commission.

The owners of the station are the same men who own Station KAWL, York. They had applied for a permit for a station several months ago. The station here will broadcast AM only (regular radio) and not on FM (frequency modulation—static-free).

Many Area Schools Starting Classes; Wayne, Rural Openings to Be Later

Area Schools Open

Many area schools are opening during the coming week. Following is information on most town schools in the area. A separate article contains information on the Wayne-Carroll schools and the rural schools.

Winside . . .

Winside schools open Monday Aug. 28. Registration will commence Thursday afternoon, Aug. 24, according to Supt. James Christensen. A full faculty had not been lined up at the time this was written. Information on the staff will be carried in one of next week's papers.

Hoskins . . .

The two schools in Hoskins will open weekpart. Trinity Lutheran opens Monday, Aug. 28 at 9 a.m. Roland Menk will be principal and teach grades 6-8. Marcella Hofer will teach grades 3-5 and Mrs. Oscar Zander will teach kindergarten, first and second. Hoskins Public School will open Monday, Sept. 4. It will convene for one-half day with full schedule in effect the following day. Teachers are Zita Jenkins, See AREA SCHOOLS, page 5.

Ex-Resident Marks 100th Anniversary

Mrs. George Farran, a resident of Wayne County for many years, will be 100 years old Friday, Aug. 25. A special observance is planned Sunday, Aug. 27, at Billy Sunday Retirement Home, 6120 Morningside, Sioux City.

Still alert and interested in the world about her, Mrs. Farran enjoys fair eyesight, reading The Wayne Herald weekly, the Sioux City paper daily and other publications now and then. Her hearing is still good and she enjoys company. She needs only a cane as an aid in walking about.

She was born Anna Reese at Fond du Lac, Wis., Aug. 25, 1867. She came to Nebraska with her father, living first in the Omaha area. In 1891 she was married to George Farran of Wayne. Four children were born to the couple: Lillian Prince, Pierce, Leo Farran, Tilden, who died in March of this year; Charles Farran, Winside; and Dr. Raymond Farran, Sioux City.

After marriage, the couple farmed in Wayne. See MRS. FARRAN, page 5.

New Restaurant Planned in City

A Blair firm has been given a permit to build a restaurant at Seventh and Main on the northwest corner. Larson & Jipp applied for a permit for a $35,000 structure at the site.

Being removed from the corner to make room for the new business place are a pair of two-story houses. City Clerk Dan Sherry said these will be moved to East Fifth.

The restaurant is to have a large parking lot, according to information understood here. However, zoning ordinances do not allow outside food-dispensing in that particular area so it could not be a drive-in type.

Since the first of July there have been no other major building permits, Clerk Sherry said. Most of the permits are for remodeling, adding a room, putting on a porch or changing in other ways existing structures.

This does not mean construction has slowed. Dick Carman is building several homes on Wilcliff Drive, Cecil Wriedt is building a four-plus and a trailer court in the eastern part of town, the power plant, new high school and other projects continue to progress.

The Wayne-Carroll School District and the rural schools of Wayne County are the major ones in the area not opening this coming Monday. They will open a week later.

Supt. Francis Haun reports the Wayne City Schools, including Carroll, will open Tuesday, Sept. 5. The week's delay will give the system a chance to make sure all is ready. As the new concept of schools starts in the district, details will be given next week.

The rural schools will start one day earlier, Monday, Sept. 4. Supt. Gladys Purrier reveals. Pupils will go one-half day Labor Day, books will be handed out and the schools will go on a full schedule the following day.

Supt. Purrier said four sections of teachers' meetings are scheduled in her office prior to the opening of the rural schools. They will be held Thursday and Friday, Aug. 31 and Sept. 1.

Following is the list of the 34 teachers who will serve 29 schools (two Hoskins schools are listed separately although consolidated rural Dist. 1, Elzener, Lundgren, Wayne; 2, Hans, Anderson, Wayne; 3, Nancy Bafer, Wayne; 8, Ha 216 Lathing, Wayne; Dist. 10, Florence Mau, Wayne; Janet O'Sullivan, Wayne; 23, Irene Hamilton, Wayne; 25, Helen Kai, Pender; and Alma Goewe, Wakefield; 33, Janice See WAYNE, RURALS, page 5.

Jaycee Float to Be County Entry

Remember the Wayne Jaycee float in the centennial parade? It had an out-house as a dominant feature. That float will represent Wayne County at the state fair parade the first week in September.

The local unit was asked to bring the float to Lincoln. Centennial groups went along with the idea, approval needed since the float would have to be entered for the county under Jaycee sponsorship.

Now all the Jaycees need is money. They are trying to raise funds needed to transport the float and cover other expenses involved in taking part in the parade.

Jaycees are also seeking slogans for the city of Wayne. The entry blank is being printed in this issue of The Herald since there is no limit as to the number of entries a person may make.

Finally, the Jaycees are all set to go on their second annual open golf tournament Labor Day. Last year the event drew a big crowd and everyone wanted more so an even bigger tourney at WCC is expected Sept. 4 this year.

Carnegie Class Has Banquet for Finale

Each member of the class attending the ceremonies was required to make a speech or take other part in the proceedings.

Dick Arett, class president, acted as master of ceremonies. All members of the class were asked to bring guests. Dick Gee, instructor, and Len Eichhorn, area manager, also spoke.

Included in the class were Arett, Cletus Becker, Randall Bergt, Robert Berns, Mrs. Rose Blocker, Dale Dennis, Mark Docey, W. L. Ellis, Lee Forney and Fred Fry.

Also Darrel Fuelberth, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fuoss, Pat Gross, Larry See CARNEGIE, page 5.

Rural School Idea for V-T Unit Pushed

Ten communities had representatives in Plainview Thursday evening for a meeting to discuss location of the new North-east vocational-technical school. Nine agreed to support locating the school in an area between Highways 81 and 14 and along Highway 20.

It was agreed that each of the communities wanted the school but no single community had much of a chance for getting the new school. The concept of a rural vo-tech school, however, did seem to have a chance.

Several of the delegates had visited Millford Trade School that day to learn details of its operations. They learned that 45 per cent of Millford's enrollment comes from rural areas and another 28 per cent from towns of less than 1,000 population.

The delegation found that a central location would be advantageous for most students' progress and the availability to the school. Campus life and atmosphere were considered advantageous over a "close to a big city" location.

They decided a geographical center location should be chosen. In this case, within the area described above, they emphasized that the school need not be located in any town but should be in a rural area.

Another meeting is being planned to invite ad-

Period Extended

John Mohr, chairman of the ASCS committee, reports a notice has been received of a change in the period which acreage diverted under wheat and feed grain programs may be grazed. The period permitted for grazing has been extended and producers may graze diverted acreage beginning Sept. 1. The acreage is not permitted for grazing Mar. 31 to Sept. 1.

Karlene Whitney Weds Orrin Lutt In Double Ring Rites At Kearney

Karlene Whitney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Whitney, Kearney, and Orrin J. Lutt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lutt, Wayne, were married Aug. 6 at 2 p.m. at First Methodist Church, Kearney.

Rev. David L. Beaudin officiated at the double ring rites. The church was decorated with nine-branch candelabra and arrangements of white daisies and white stock. Jerry Nieggar, accompanied by Mrs. William Potts, a Denver, sang

"More" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a cage gown of French net with embroidered daisies, over a taffeta sheath. The high rounded neckline was accented with a band of embroidered daisies which was repeated on the tiny puffed sleeves.

The full flowing back panel of the skirt formed an aisle wide train. Her veil of imported silk illusion was held by a double crown bride's brother. Ushers were Robert Lutt, South Sioux City, and Allan Long, Omaha.

The bride's mother wore a white linen sheath with a coat of white lace and brown accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a linen chartreuse sheath dress with white accessories. Each had a corsage of yellow roses trimmed with green leaves and tulle.

A reception was held in Fellowship Hall following the ceremony. Mrs. David Matson, Kearney, was in charge of the guest book. Recording gifts were Mrs. Clyde Dennis, Kearney and Mrs. Stan Bowker, Omaha. Serving were Mrs. Wally Hindalong, Mrs. Gary Hartman, Barbara Whitney and Mrs. William Wilson, all of Kearney.

Honored guest was Mrs. Hazel Savage, Kearney, the bride's grandmother. Also present were the bridegroom's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Johnson, Torrington, Wyo. For the wedding trip to Colorado and Wyoming the bride chose a yellow suit of linen tweed with white accessories.

The bride was graduated in May from the University of Nebraska College of Medicine in radiological technology. The bridegroom attended WSC and is presently employed in Kearney.

The couple will make their home at 2601 Central Ave., Kearney.

Wylie, for having the youngest child, and Evan Hughes, most recently married.

Classmates present were Mrs. John Peterson (Norma Bichel), Carroll, Harvey Brader, Dick Canning, Omaha, Bob Carhart, Mrs. David Ingalls (Beverly Carlson), Fremont, Paul Dangberg, Mrs. Bill Roberts (Marjorie Dorman), Grand Island, Loren Ellis, Mrs. Dick Pfanz (Dorothy Finn), Emerson, Robert Goshorn, Gilbert Granquist, Colorado Springs, Mrs. Wayne Tanderup (Joan Grimm), Lincoln, Ken Hamer, Joan Hansen, Harris Heinemann, Evan Hughes, Norfolk, Mrs. George Biermann (Elaine Hurd), Phil James, Robert Jensen, Sioux City, Mrs. Clarence Wylie (Joanne Nabish), Wichita, Kan., Mr. and Mrs. Vic Kniesche, Jr. (Janet Larsen), Jerry Lamp, Le Sueur, Minn., Glen Meyer, Wakefield, Mrs. Carl Henshaw (Betty Moulfield) Cedar Falls, Ia., Don

Wayne Man Has Close Call in Farm Mishap

Art Campbell, Wayne, had a close call in a mowing machine accident Saturday. He was hurt but the injuries were not as serious as they might have been.

Working on the John Mohr farm west of Wayne, he caught his left hand in the v-belt of the mower. Flesh was torn off the front of two fingers, exposing the bones. A bone in his little finger was broken.

He was taken to Bentback Clinic where a splint was put on the little finger and bandages put on his hand. The splints were taken off Tuesday.

Funeral Services Held at Laurel For Mrs. T. Manz

Funeral services for Mrs. Tillie Manz, 81, were held Aug. 23 at Laurel Methodist Church. Mrs. Manz died Aug. 21 at Sioux City.

Rev. Richard Burgess officiated at the rites. Herb Ellis sang "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" and "Under His Wings." Mrs. Lucille Thompson was accompanist. Pallbearers were Richard and Tom Manz, Howard Meier, Raymond Olson, Bradford Hatlig and Wayne Newton. Burial was in Concord Cemetery.

Tillie Olson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Olson, was born May 31, 1886 at Andover, Ill. When she was a child she came with her parents to Nebraska. She was confirmed in Concordia Lutheran Church, Concord.

She was married Feb. 28, 1905 to John Manz at Wayne. The couple farmed in the Concord and Dixon areas until Mr. Manz died in 1944. Since 1944 she made her home in Laurel. She attended the Dixon Methodist Church and later transferred to Laurel Methodist Church. She was a member of WSCS at Laurel and WCTU.
She was also preceded in death by a son, three sisters and a brother.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Walter (William) Meier, Randolph, Mrs. Elmer (Thelma) Hatlig, Laurel, and Mrs. Robert (Myrtle) Diehl, Burbank, Calif.; a son, Melvin Manz, Dixon; two sisters, Mrs. Robert Deay, Gulfport, Miss., and Mrs. Ruth Sprague, Houma, La.; 16 grandchildren and 14 great grandchildren.

Kiwanis Club Learns About Check System

A discussion of the new requirements of the Federal Reserve Banks regarding the use of checks was the program highlight of the Monday noon meeting of the Wayne Kiwanis Club at the Wayne City Auditorium.

Adon Jeffrey of First National Bank and Ted Armbruster of State National Bank presented the program. They told of the plan that goes into effect Friday, Sept. 1.

They explained why "universal" checks could no longer be used with the magnetic code and automation system. They also told why scratching out the name of one bank and writing in the name of another would be just as bad.

Correcting a misconception, they said "counter" checks could be used. Their banks, for instance, will have checks at business places. If you have deposits at the First, you can use a check from the First. If you have deposits at the State, you use blanks furnished by that bank. In other words, the checks do not have to have your name, address and code on them but do have to be supplied by your bank.

High School Nearly Ready for Opening

Supt. F. R. Haun reports all is nearing readiness for the opening of school in the new building for WINS. However, he adds that he is glad school is starting a week from Monday instead of this coming Monday.

All school administrative staff members, the counselor, office help and the librarian have been on fulltime duty the past week. Library furniture was put in this week. Office furniture and stage equipment are expected later in the week and then the school should be ready.

Final inspection by the architect Thursday, Aug. 24. First use for classes and orientation is scheduled Sept. 5.

Beard, Tractor Tops Revealed at Concord

Results of the beard contest and the tractor pulling events were revealed at the Dixon County Fair. The beard contest was Monday night and the tractor pulling contests Tuesday afternoon. Glen Rice, Allen, won first prize of a $25 bond, a chance to represent Dixon County in the state fair contest and a kiss from Miss Dixon County (Nancy Ehle), Dale Lund, Newcastle, was second. In the moustache division, Verl Carlson was first and Bob Fritschen second; half beards, Lowell Saunders first, Don Lemke second, and trimmed beards, Bob Monteith first, Charles Victor second. The 15,000-pound division of the tractor contest was won by Dennis Hinrichs, Stanton, 12,000-pound, Jerry Dorcy, Wayne, 10,000, Rodney Kvals, Laurel; 8,000, Harold Grosvenor, Ponca; and 6,000, Doug Nelson, Wayne.

Area Schools -

(Continued from Page 1) Carroll; Ethel Malmberg and Helen Chmeler, Norfolk; and Ruby Nelson, Winside. Dixon ... Dixon Grade School for those in grades 1-8 will begin classes Wednesday, Aug. 30, according to Mrs. Dale Stanley, principal. The first day of school will be from 9 to 11 with no lunch at noon. The following day a full schedule will be in effect with lunch at noon. There will be no kindergarten until the second semester. Teachers are Mrs. Marvin Hartman, kindergarten and first; Mrs. Wayne Lund, second and third; Mrs. Esther Peterson, fourth and fifth; and Mrs. Stanley, sixth, seventh and eighth; Mrs. Leo Garvin will be cook and Frank Tomason custodian.

Chamber -

(Continued from Page 1) gilled or indefinitely postponed. The one bill the committee opposed that was passed was increasing from $10,000 to $250,000 the amount a county may appropriate for erection of a county building without vote of the people. Two bills the committee approved that did not pass were submitting to voters a constitutional amendment to provide for partisan election of legislators and creating a Nebraska law enforcement training center. Bills opposed which failed included those concerned with: Amended unfair sales act; prohibiting certain advertising of installment sales prices; changing determination of cooperation tax; limiting upland game season to 60 days; requiring showing simple interest per year on installment and loan contracts. Creating a Nebraska commission on higher education; establishing executive post for game, forestation and parks commissioner; making it illegal for employer to fail to make payments to health, welfare, pension or vacation plan; and a bill involving annexation of areas where school districts are involved. Bills approved which passed included: Excluding tractors of less than 20 hp from certain railway commission tests; state aid to schools; requiring slow-moving vehicle emblems on vehicles traveling slowly on roads of high-ways; authorizing county, city or village ambulance service; broadening powers of banking director; and authorizing establishment of business development corporations.

BRENT JOHNSON, Wakefield, 4-H Club, showed the Angus supreme at the Dixon County Fair. He is shown with the trophy he received.

Winside Man to Throw at 'State'

Jim Troutman, Winside, is hoping to continue his winning ways in a sport he took up last year. He expects to complete in two state meets during the coming month. He won the trophy in A Division at Weigand Marina recently. Alvin Bergstad was third and Don Wacker fourth in B Division. Both are from Winside. Troutman also won at Winside Old Settlers Picnic and at the Madison celebration. He plans to compete at the state fair the first week in September and at Concord at the state tournament, later in the month. The sport? Horseshoes. Troutman took the game up a year ago, did well in friendly competition with friends, so entered meets and won four trophies and several cash prizes, all for first place, so has continued to play. He admits the game is not new to him—he played horseshoes as a kid. However, that was a number of years ago and until last summer he had all but forgotten the game of skill.

Wayne Freshmen Will Check Out Equipment

Coach Ron Carnes, who will be assisted by Don Johnson in coaching freshmen football this year, reports the freshmen will check out equipment on Friday, Aug. 25, at 2 p.m. at Wayne Middle School (former high school). First practice will be Monday, Aug. 28, at 4:30 p.m. A regular schedule of practices will be announced then. Those who have not taken physical examinations will not be allowed to participate. Each boy is expected to make his own arrangements for physicals. Coach Carnes is hoping for a continuation of the record, Wayne freshmen had last year, loaded with talent, the WIS frosh went through the season undefeated in 1966.

By Gladys Reichert Phone 286-4594 Mr. and Mrs. Kent Jackson returned Saturday after an extended visit with relatives in Baltimore, Md., Virginia and Illinois. Mr. and Mrs. William Cary spent the weekend visiting relatives in Niobrara. Visitors and overnight guests in the James Troutman home during the past two weeks included Regina Troutman, Saltville, Va., David Devaney, Lafayette, Mo., Dr. and Mrs. Leon Handke and family, Des Moines, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Bartels and daughters, Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. Leiland Waller, Whittier, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Troutman, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Troutman and son, Glade Springs, Va., Mrs. Ted Bahe and family, Wayne, Mrs. W. L. Cary, niece and family and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Geseriech, Barston, Ariz.

Wayne Police Busy

The Wayne Police Department investigated two reports of broken windows during the past half week. Both windows had apparently been broken either by air rifles, rocks or BB guns. In addition to the regular street patrol and door check, other police activity included reports of a stray dog and a local resident who was shooting birds in his backyard.

Local Girl Receives Injuries in Lincoln

Sharon Cleveland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Cleveland, Wayne, is recovering from injuries received Aug. 10 in Lincoln when the bike she was riding hit a curb, throwing her to the pavement. She was in Lincoln visiting her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Cleveland. Out bike riding, she saw a boy run in front of her, swerved to miss him and struck the curb. Her head struck the pavement, knocking her unconscious. She was rushed to a Lincoln hospital for medical attention and released six hours later. Two days later she returned to Wayne. Injuries included a broken nose, two black eyes, fourth teeth knocked loose, multiple mouth and lip cuts involving many stitches, several cuts on her knees and multiple abrasions. She has several facial, body and leg bandages yet while recovering from the mishap.

Concord ...

Concord School, a part of the Laurel school system, will open Monday, Aug. 28. Teacher orientation for the Laurel-Concord schools was scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Mrs. Clarence Pearson will teach kindergarten, first and second and Mrs. Phyllis Dykes will teach third and fourth. A regular schedule is to be followed at once, except school will be dismissed for Labor Day. Mrs. Wessel Named, Dr. Wayne Wessel, Wayne, has been named dental health consultant for Wayne County by Dr. D. K. Phillips, Nebraska City, president of the Nebraska Dental Association. Duties are to provide assistance in programs of dental health information and to encourage advancement of educational emphasis on the value of dental health. Schools or other groups interested in any phase of dental health are encouraged to get in touch with Dr. Wessel for printed material, speakers or program planning assistance.

Red Cross -

(Continued from Page 1) may seem to be getting rather slow service. The marines, as you know, pride themselves on being mobile. This causes difficulty in contacting men for emergency messages, let alone health and welfare. The communications in the field are not the best. We receive on an average day about 50 wires at this station with about one-third emergencies of one type or another, and the rest health and welfare. We find it averages out at about two hours per wire just to reach a man's unit with a notification. The next problem is obtaining a report from the unit as to when the man will be able to leave for the continental United States and so forth. Last but not least, we find one of the greatest problems here is lack of communication, letter-wise, between servicemen and their wives. If someone could just convince all of the mothers, sweethearts and wives of how important letters are to their men, 90 per cent of health and welfare reports could be done away with. Mrs. Benthack calls attention to that last paragraph, asking residents to note that mail is especially important to men overseas.

Wayne Freshmen Will Check Out Equipment

His address is: Pfc. Jerry L. Wehrer, US 55855756, Co. D, 93rd Signal Bn., APO New York, N. Y. 09175. Further information will be given in the Service Station department when his parents return. Finally, there was Bill Lorenz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lorenz, Hoskins. He was home for the weekend from Offutt AFB, Omaha, but his address was not obtained before he left, his father and mother were both out of town. His father was finally contacted and he said he would ask his son to send a picture from Omaha. It did not arrive in time for this week's paper but will be printed when it does arrive. Lorenz has only two weeks left in the air force. He has a brother, Dan, who is also in the armed forces, serving in Vietnam at present.

Wayne Swim Team to Compete in AAU Meet

The last swimming meet of the year for the Wayne team is scheduled Sunday, Aug. 27, at Sioux City. It is an AAU meet and numerous teams from throughout the area have entered. This meet has nothing to do with a Kiwanis-sponsored meet the same afternoon at the same pool. Details on the swimming meet here are contained in a separate article. Manager Rich Brown reports about ten entries will take part in the Sioux City meet starting at 9 a.m. and lasting most of the day. Team trophies and medals for six places in each event are offered. There will be divisions for girls and boys. The age groups are: 8 and under; 9-10; 11-12; 13-14; and senior. Dave Noyes will assist Brown in handling the local squad.

Accident Toll High On Area's Fullbacks

Summer took quite a toll from the football ranks in the area. Accidents resulted in injuries that removed three fullbacks from the rosters of their teams. Mel Johnson, Allen, was the first to lose the privilege of going out for the grid sport. Several weeks ago he was in a motorbike mishap, suffered concussion and doctors will not let him go out for football. The next accident happened to Keith Lubberstedt, Dixon, who attends school at Laurel. He was in a mishap that also resulted in concussion and denial of the participating in the sport. Saturday morning Doug Farrens, Wayne, was hurt in an accident at Hastings. He is in the Wayne Hospital now and doctors are not sure whether he will be able to play football or not. He won't for the first few weeks at least. All three boys are seniors. All three were expected to be the starting fullbacks on their respective teams.

Three Area Residents Fined in Wayne Court

Three area residents were fined in Wayne County court during the past half week. Judge David Hamer heard one of the cases on Thursday (August 17) and the other two on Friday. August 17 Larry Bridgman, Winside, was fined $10 and $5 costs for speeding. State Patrolman Terry Rogers signed the complaint. August 18 Gerald Hix, Wayne, was also assessed $10 plus $5 costs for speeding. City Officer Ron Penlerick filed the charge. Don Anderson, Concord, paid $25 and costs of $5 on August 18 for reckless driving. Policeman John Redel brought charges.

Dr. Wessel Named

Dr. Wayne Wessel, Wayne, has been named dental health consultant for Wayne County by Dr. D. K. Phillips, Nebraska City, president of the Nebraska Dental Association. Duties are to provide assistance in programs of dental health information and to encourage advancement of educational emphasis on the value of dental health. Schools or other groups interested in any phase of dental health are encouraged to get in touch with Dr. Wessel for printed material, speakers or program planning assistance.

She has three children, 17 grandchildren, 54 great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren. One of the closest of these relatives plan to be with her Sunday to mark the occasion. Among her pride and joys is a 50-year pin received June 13, 1958. It was given by Faithful Chapter 165, Order of the Eastern Star, Winside. Friends are planning to honor her with cards and in other ways. Many who recall the 13 years her husband served as a county commissioner will join in noting the century mark.

SWAY -

(Continued from Page 1) name of your bank should no longer be used. The Federal reserve system is being automated and more electronic. Use of universal and scratched out checks would make this modernization prohibitive. Now you can use any check from the bank where you have deposits and where the mistaken notion that they must use banks with their name and number on it. While this is preferred, it is not absolute, the main action being to use the right bank's check blanks. Magnetic ink and electronic codes are used on all checks. If you use your bank's, it will have that bank's number in this ink and code and can be handled faster. If you use a personal check with your name, number and personal code, the system will be even faster. Business places have been urged to stop offering the universal checks and to discourage use of scratched over checks. After Sept. 1 such checks will be returned to those accepting them so there will be little chance of them fouling up the new system.

Honor 19 Families at Dixon County's Fair

There were 19 families honored as centennial families of Dixon County for the fair at Concord Monday night. Representatives were presented certificates. Two plaques went to Sam and Florence Curry, Ponca. They were recognized by Ak-Sar-Ben and State Fair for living on a farm which had been in one family for 100 years or more. Other accepting certificates for centennial families were Mrs. Alice Odle, Ernest Knoell, Herbert Millie, Harold Minkler, John Scollard, Mrs. Minnie Harris, Brandvick, Eugene Fluett, Zadie Jensen, Virginia Iverson, Mrs. Ida Trube, Constance Lindahl, Albert Pfister, Mrs. Flora Rohan, Mrs. Jeffrey Brownell, Harry Warner, Jessie Enders, S. W. Baltzy, Neal Maskell and Bob Blaker. Ken Linafelter, Allen, made the announcement of the centennial families. Certificates were presented by the county queen, Nancy Ehle.

C. Pearsons, Genoa, at C. Pearsons, Concord

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Pearson, Genoa, spent Tuesday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Pearson, Concord. It was the first time the couples had seen each other. They are no relation. It all came about because the Concord Pearsons saw the names of the Genoa Pearsons listed in the Nebraska Farmer as celebrating their 55th wedding anniversary (15 years longer than the Concord Pearsons have been married). The Concord Pearsons sent a card and note of congratulations; the Genoa Pearsons responded with a letter. Tuesday the Genoans drove up and the couples spent the afternoon visiting and comparing notes. They found these similarities: Each couple has five children; each has three girls and two boys; each had 17 grandchildren; in the family there are many names in common, Gloria, Craig, Pamela, Barbara, etc. They traced ancestry back to the same area of Sweden but could establish no definite relationship. The Genoa Pearsons left with the same idea the Concord Pearsons retained: Those "other" Clarence Pearsons are nice people to know.

Farrens was riding in the left rear seat, according to The Hastings Tribune. It was this side of the car that was damaged the most when the car hit a fire hydrant and broke it off after striking a service station sign pole. A town driver of the car, told investigating officers he swerved to avoid an oncoming vehicle that had swerved into his lane of traffic. He said he had to swerve to avoid a head-on collision. Why you'll be glad you bought a Fox Custom-7 Forage Harvester

Because its rugged construction gives you "good-as-new" performance and dependability 10 or even 15 years from now.

For example: Tough one-piece welded frame. Stays in line, keeps shafts and bearings in perfect alignment.

Anti-friction bearings. At every major point of wear. Fifty of them to reduce friction; save power, increase life.

Heavy-duty roller chains, universal joints, shafts and bearings.

Heavy-gauge cutter housing. One-piece welded steel unit, keeps knives in perfect alignment with shear bar.

With construction like this, the heavy-duty Fox Custom-7 just can't help but last long. Yet it costs little if any more than other forage harvesters.

One- or two-row corn unit, 5 or 6 ft pickup, 6 or 7 ft mower bar available.

City Bus Route Not Decided Yet

Will there be a school bus route in Wayne this school term? It has not been decided yet.

One thing for sure, there will be no bus service for the public schools to serve those living in town the first week of school. Notice has been given by the bus body company representative in Omaha that the bus cannot be delivered by then. Supt. Francis Haun reports the bus should be ready by the second week. However, the school board still does not know whether or not to use the bus in town.

A proposal has been under consideration for transporting pupils to W.S. WMS and WGS by bus if they live eight blocks or more from their schools. Final decision is expected soon.

The buses will "double up" on routes until the new 48-passenger unit arrives, Supt. Haun said.

THE INDUSTRIAL ARTS DEPARTMENT at Wayne's new high school was being prepared for the approaching school year when this picture was taken. Shown carrying a few of the 1400 board feet of lumber over a dozen different kinds of wood into the new facilities are Tom Havener, Instructor Mike Mallette, Larry Magnuson, Steve Kerl and Jo Merriman. The industrial arts division will include electricity, metals and welding, drafting and crafts. In addition, one special two-hour vocational program will be held each day for senior boys who wish to study advanced arts. The new industrial arts department will feature all new tools with the exception of a couple of machines which were transported from the old high school. Mallette, Allen Honsen and Bill Wilson will teach industrial arts at Wayne during the 1967-68 year. Wilson will be primarily concerned with the middle school in the old high school building.

Dahl Wins Third Straight Country Club Tournament

Three brother-in-law placed first, second and third in the championship flight at the Wayne Country Club Annual Golf Tournament (October only) Sunday, Aug. 20, Ken Dahl won the third straight championship and was followed by Bill Erickson and Jim Marsh.

Dahl clinched the tournament with a low score of 71 on the final nine holes of play. Marsh took third place honors after winning a play-off hole with Bob Reeg. Both local golfers were tied at 119 after 2 holes of regulation competition. Marsh parried the deciding hole while Reeg missed a seven-foot putt for a bogey.

The results of the championship flight were as follows: Ken Dahl (106), Bill Erickson (107), Jim Marsh (110), Bob Reeg (110) and Darrel Fuhlberth (111). Max Hendrickson and Don Lechtenkamp were tied at 80 for first place in the first flight before a drawing found Hendrickson to be the winner. Jack Best right are Bill Erickson (second place), Dahl (tournament director), Bob Reeg (fourth place) and Jim Marsh (third place). Seventy-four golfers competed in the competition Sunday.

placed third with an 81. The second flight was won by Les Lull (81), Harold Kemble (82) and Glen Paul (82). Again a drawing had to be made to decide the second and third place winners.

The third flight winners were Connie Suhr (81), Ray Murray (81) and H. D. Addison (86). Wayne Tietgen (90), J. Heitshusen (92) and John Dall (93) placed in the fourth flight.

Allen Wins in Close Game With Wakefield

In what surely has to be the last area baseball game of the season, Allen defeated Wakefield 1-4 in a Pony League game on the Wakefield diamond Sunday afternoon. The visitors had to come from four runs behind to take the win.

Rich Kline pitched for Wakefield, striking out nine. Winning pitcher was Craig Schulz, who fanned five.

Leading hitters of the game were Kevin Hill and Schulz, each with three hits for Allen, Rick Hank, Bob Anderson, Bruce Trube and Jerry Warner each had one hit.

Gary Preston was the batting leader for Wakefield with two hits, Kevin Peters, Rob Laton, Denny Paul and Lyle Brown each got one.

Wakefield started the game with four runs off three hits the first inning. Allen picked up three runs in the third and one in the fourth to knot the score and Schulz came in after Anderson walked, Schulz got on through fielder's choice, Trube got a hit and a throwing error allowed the run to score.

The score was almost tied up in the bottom of the seventh, Wakefield had two out when Preston doubled. He tried to stretch it into a triple but Anderson threw a bullseye from deep center field to Rick

Kiwanis to Hold Swimming Meet

An annual swimming meet will be held in Wayne Sunday, Aug. 27, at 4 p.m. Wayne Kiwanis Club is sponsoring the event but the Kiwanians will not be the ones in the pool.

Competing will be the swimmers from the east side of Main versus those living west of Main. No member in this year's swimming team that represented Wayne in the various meets will be eligible to take part.

Gifts will be given for first three places in each event. There will be divisions for girls and boys, and they will be divided into various age groups.

The public is invited to attend. There is plenty of seating space in the new bleachers, the Kiwanis Club furnished this year and the contest promises to be fun for people of all ages.

HAPPY FISHERMEN from Wayne have buckets and buckets of white bass. They brought back 400 from Chaunal Lake, Antebach, Ill. where they have a summer home. Andy Manes, left, is with his two sons, Peter and Mike. According to Manes, he uses a special lure.

To School in Lincoln

Festival of Faith at Concord Draws Many

The Festival of Faith Sunday night, a centennial worship service that started the Dixon County Fair, proved to be popular. People from all over the county and from neighboring counties attended the service in the fairground grandstand at Concord. All churches in the county were asked to take part, 32 in all. Most were represented by pastors, congregation members or both. "Peace Through Brotherhood-Brotherhood Through Peace" was the theme.

Among the churches taking part were Friends, First Lutheran and Methodist at Dixon; and Salem Lutheran, St. John's Evangelical Lutheran, St. Paul's Lutheran, Immanuel Lutheran, United Presbyterian, Evangelical Covenant and Christian, Wakefield.

Instrumental music was furnished by Allen High band members. This included the band, ensembles and soloists.

Individuals and groups with special roles in the service were Father John Rizzo, Georgia Volders, Clinton Carr, Herb Ellis, Kenneth Mathieson, Allis trios, Dixon County Men's Chorus, Dixon Methodist Church, Rev. Jesse Withee, St. Paul's Lutheran of Concord, Ponca triple trio, St. Paul's Lutheran of Emer-

Concord Event September 13

The 1967 University of Nebraska field day will be held Sept. 13 at Concord. The all-day event at North-east Station starts at 9:30 a.m. and continues until late afternoon. According to U. of N. Alexander, area extension specialist on soils, Bob Roselle, extension entomologist from N.D., will be on hand to discuss corn rootworm control. Dr. Laren Robison will discuss pre-emergence weed control on corn, sorghum and soybeans. Discussing soybean varieties will be Dr. Don Sanders who will tell of time and rate of nitrogen application. Final topics on a speaker for crop drying are incomplete.

Questions to be answered include these: What rootworm chemical should I use? Which chemical weed control does the best job? What soybean variety should I plant? When and at what rate should I apply nitrogen fertilizer? If I have wet corn, how can I handle it?

In addition, Alexander and Gene Schwartz, both agronomists at the station, will offer information on crop varieties and narrow-row planting.

Museum Curator at Dixon County Meet

Shubert Parkinson, curator of the Plymouth County Museum, was a guest speaker at the Dixon County Historical Society meeting at the museum in Allen Wednesday evening. Parkinson is the third generation in his family collecting historical musical instruments. The Parkinson collection, housed in the Plymouth County Museum, contains over 300 rare instruments, the result of 113 years of active collecting. According to Parkinson, he has 50 people throughout the world constantly looking for instruments to add to the collection.

He displayed a violin over 500 years old which had been made by pirates using human bones and hair, a hand organ used in Martin Luther's time, a "thumb piano" made in the Belgian Congo as well as other unique and valuable instruments.

A brief business meeting was held by the DCHS. Plans were discussed for the dedication of the historical marker at New-castle Labor Day and a committee of Mrs. Laurel Miner, Mrs. Adeline Dresslin, Earl Hinds and Basil Wheeler was appointed to prepare an entry for the county fair.

Next meeting will be Sept. 19 at the school in Waterbury.

DUANE PRESCOTT, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Prescott, Dixon, is a recent graduate of Medical Institute of Minnesota, Minneapolis, as a medical technician. He is now serving a six-month internship at Good Samaritan Hospital, Kearney. MIM's course included 12 months of in-residence schooling. Prescott was a member of the school fraternity and student senate while in school.

Pioneer Veterinarian Recalls Old Days as 90th Birthday Celebrated

It was 1910, Dr. H. L. Prouse had just graduated from the Kansas City Veterinary College. He looked around, decided to locate at Allen and he has been there ever since. Saturday he marked his 90th birthday and in visiting with friends and relatives he reminisced about the early days.

No open house was held. In fact, two members of the family were home with their families. A little celebration was planned in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Prouse. However, a legion of friends of the Prouses came in during the day on their own, no formal plans being made, everyone just dropping by as individuals to pay respects to a long-time friend and community booster.

Dr. Prouse is the last of nine children born in the family. There were six boys and three girls, all but one living to be 90 or older. He was the youngest. He was born Aug. 19, 1877 at Rensselaer, Ind. As a small boy he moved with his parents to Illinois and around 1887 to the Merna-Anselmo area near Broken Bow. Still later the family moved to Dixon County where he grew up and attended school.

After farming awhile, he went to Kansas City for the three-year veterinary course. Perhaps it was his love for animals that took him there for he has always been well-known for the way "he takes to animals and they take to him."

Shortly after settling at Allen he was appointed assistant state veterinarian, a post he held many years. He was known as a "veat, pocket veterinarian" because he was the first vet between Sioux City and Lynch to use a hypodermic needle.

Much of his arduous work was for the federal bureau of animal industry. He was sent to many points, especially where there were epidemics and his "territory" extended south to Fremont, north and east to the Missouri River and almost unlimited to the west, Lynch and O'Neill being among the more distant points he served.

On long trips he traveled by train. Around the Allen area he traveled by team and buggy for two years and then bought his first car in 1912.

Night and day he was ready to answer calls. He personally cared for each animal as if it were his own, hating to see them suffer and responding to their needs as if he were a physician being called into a home.

Never was a dog turned away from his home. The dogs must have passed the word around, for through the years many were fed and sheltered at the Prouse home. He always nursed them back to health and found homes for them when they came to his place sick and hungry.

Blessed with a remarkable memory, he can talk for hours on experiences and his wit and sense of humor even after 90 years would make listening a pleasure. Two examples can give an idea.

He recalls what he terms "the smartest dog" he ever had of the many that stayed with him. This dog could be shown a trick once and then could do it. A full repertoire was available.

She had first come to Prouse home on a cold winter night, scratching at the door. Dr. Prouse took her in, fed her and gave her a warm place to sleep. The next day he let her out and she left so he figured she had gone to where she belonged. He was wrong. She was soon back and with her was another dog, apparently her "mate." From then on they both stayed in the Prouse home.

Her understanding of Dr. Prouse was unbelievable, she was so human. She knew exactly what tricks he would want almost before he did. One day she came to him, put her paw up to shake hands with him, he did and she turned around, walked back to her bed, laid down and died. Dr. Prouse knows her last of "shaking hands" was her way of bidding him goodbye.

The dog they have now is also almost human. A rat terrier type, he is older than Dr. Prouse if you figure one year of a dog's life to seven for a man. He is comparable to a 92-year-old man.

Rex is his name and he thinks he is a member of the family, having been with Dr. and Mrs. Prouse 13 years. He recognizes the words and can "talk." Dr. Prouse says Rex lets him know when he wants a drink and the way he asks for the drink indicates whether he prefers milk or water. "He most certainly has a vocabulary," the Allen veterinarian says.

He also recalled that Rex and another dog they once had each liked a different brand of dog food. Neither would ever eat the other's brand even though there was not much difference. The dogs knew though and they were just independent enough so if anyone put down a bowl of the wrong brand, they might as well pick it up again because neither was about to eat the other dog's brand.

For his own family life, Dr. Prouse's first wife died in 1929. They had six children. In 1933 he married Lillian Connell, a lifetime resident of the Allen area, and together they have lived in Allen since. They have 10 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Their family includes: Mrs. Eunice Glaze, Alhambra, Calif.; Raymond Prouse, Duarte, Calif.; Dr. Earl Prouse (who followed his father's footsteps as a veterinarian), Omaha; Mrs. H. E. (Hazel) Dindick, Richardson, Tex.; Maynard Prouse, Duarte, Calif.; and Dr. H. L. Prouse (Jr.), Mankato, Minn.

Allen almost lost him around 1936 when he went to Idaho. He stayed several months but was unable to sell his practice so returned to Allen. Later he was called to return to Idaho during a hog crisis but he remained at Allen and contacted another veterinarian to help out in Idaho.

From the information above, most of it supplied by Dr. Prouse himself, it can be assumed he is a remarkable man. The assumption would be correct. At the age of 90 he has an active mind, keeps up on current events and loves to visit with people. He still drives a car, although the family does not encourage that. They much prefer he walks he takes every day. The weather is nice enough to be outside.

He has his own lower teeth, hears fairly well with one ear, has a full head of hair but has to wear glasses. He reads books, magazines and newspapers a great deal of the time and watches television, being especially fond of baseball games on TV.

Dr. Prouse is an institution around Allen. The spontaneous turn out of friends at his home Saturday is just one illustration of the love his fellowmen have for him, a love shared by animals of all types through the years, animals that knew here was a man who understood them.

Legion Picnic Held

Sixteen Legion and Auxiliary families and seven guests were present for the annual picnic in the Allen park. The unit is again in need of carpet rags. Anyone wishing to contribute clothing may leave it with Muriel Warner. Officers were installed as follows: president, Vida Douglas; vice president, Gail Hill; secretary, Marion Ellis; treasurer, Bonnie Black; chaplain, Muriel Warner; chaplain, Pearl Snyder; historian, Phyllis Swanson. Quota of membership for the coming year will be 43. The next meeting will be Sept. 11 in the Legion Hall.

Swimming Party Held

Cub Scout Pack No. 199 held a swimming party at Wakefield Pool Aug. 16 with 36 in attendance. Following the swimming a business meeting was held in the shelter house. At that time Jody Ellis received his wolf badge, gold and silver arrows, Richard Davenport, wolf badge, gold arrow; Donald Kluever, Jr., two silver arrows under bear; Seven Shortt, silver arrow under the bear and Rick Suthin three silver arrows under bear. Bobby Burgess, having completed one year in cub scouting was awarded a service star. Den meetings will resume Aug. 31 when the topic, "Cowboys and Indians" will be started. Parents will be called upon to take turns helping the ideas chairman in planning monthly activities and handwork.

Tuttle Reunion Held

Tuttle reunion was held in Laurel Park Aug. 20 with 87 relatives and seven guests present. Mrs. Ethel Baker, Calif., came the longest distance. Mrs. Cora Tuttle Chase, 93, Ponca, was the oldest person present, and youngest child present was three month old, Bradley Tuttle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arvil Tuttle, South Sioux City. Officers for next year are president, Gary Tuttle, Columbus; vice president, Arvil Tuttle, South Sioux City; secretary, Mrs. C. O. Wilson, Allen and treasurer, Mrs. Everard Burns, Laurel.

Society Meets

Dixon County Historical Society met Aug. 16 at Allen. Carol Parkinson, LeMars, president of the Plymouth Co. Museum Association, gave an interesting lecture on "So what do you have in your attic?" A discussion of each antique musical instrument and its origin was given by Mr. Parkinson. One of the more interesting items was an antique music box with a bird in the cage which moved its wings as it warbled a melody. Next meeting of the Society will be Sept. 19 at Waterbury.

Allen - Ponca - Maskell Methodist church will have morning worship at Ponca

State Park Aug. 27. Plans are to meet at the West Rock House at 11 a.m. for worship. Everyone is to attend Sunday School at their home church and meet at 11 at the park. Following services pot-luck dinner will be served. Each family is to bring food, drink and table service. There will be two after-dinner speakers, one for youth and one for adults. Debra Carr, for the youth will speak on her decision to go into full-time Christian work. Rev. and Mrs. Jacobs, Allen, will be speaking to the adults on Nebraska Christian Ashram.

Library Notes:

For the people who like the stories of Zane Grey, there are 38 different books in the library. Due to the kindness of an unknown donor the librarian found two books on the doorstep Saturday. They are "Laughing Whitefish" by Robert Traver and "Brave Men" by Ernie Pyle. Among our religious books is "Happy Is the Man" by Ozment.

Ladies honoring Mr. Basil Wheeler on her birthday Wednesday were Mrs. Ernest Stark, Mrs. Oscar Koester, Mrs. Harry Warner, Mrs. Alice Steel, Mrs. Emil Rodgers, Mrs. Merlinda Noe, Mrs. Alvin Rastede and Mrs. Larry McAfee.

Guests of Mrs. Josie Hill and Mrs. Keith Hill last week were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hill, Globe, Ariz., and Dr. and Mrs. Ed Hill and family. Dr. and Mrs. Hill were enroute to their home in St. Paul, Minn., from Ann Arbor, Mich., where Dr. Hill has been doing research at the University of Michigan.

Luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson were Rev. and Mrs. Foster Cress, Walton, Mrs. Joseph Miller, Lincoln, Mrs. Muriel Warner and Mrs. Alice Krause. Mr. and Mrs. Marlyn Karberg and sons spent last weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Art Stewart, Kearney. Kenneth Buckele, Cedar Vale, Kan., was a supper guest Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Koester.

Birthday guests of Mrs. Doris Johnson Saturday afternoon were Mrs. Dora Moseman, Mrs. Ruby Moseman and Mrs. Eva Stark.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lundahl and family, Bourbonnais, Ill., were weekend guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Monie Lundahl. Pete Lundahl returned home with them after spending the summer with relatives and friends in the area.

Guests in the Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Prouse home Saturday to honor Dr. Prouse on his 90th birthday were Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Prouse and family, Duarte, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Christensen.

Callers Saturday in the Ken Linafelter home were Mrs. Morris Ellis, Leon and Ruth and Mrs. Desaisie McLeod, Elkhorn, and Steve Ellis, Ponca.

Guests Saturday in the Ernest Stark home were Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Cardwell, Eugene, Ore., and Mrs. Irene Nelson, South Sioux City.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Emry and Wendell, Allen, Fay Emry, South Sioux City and Mr. and Mrs. Duane Lund, Allen attended the all-star shrink football game at Lincoln Saturday. Ken Emry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Emry, Fremont, staged as offensive center for the north team.

Mrs. Ernest Stark held a coffee for local heart fund solicitors in her home. Attending were Mrs. Doc Ellis, Mrs. Alvin Rastede and Mrs. Alta Holmes. Mrs. Stark is area chairman for the heart fund.

Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Christensen attended a Christensen family reunion at Harlan, Ia., last weekend. It was the first family reunion in many years. There were 155 in attendance. Attending also were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Christensen, Papillion, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Prouse and family, Duarte and Dr. and Mrs. Ed Maxlin and family, St. Clair Shores.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hinds, Lead, S. D., were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Basil Wheeler.

Robert J. Clark, Salina, Kan., will be speaker at the 8th annual Dixon Co. Sunday School Convention to be held Sept. 10 and 11 at Wakefield Covenant Church. Clark has been with Rural Bible Crusade Work for several years and is now the national director.

Former Residents in Flood

Four families, former residents of the Wayne area, are residents of Fairbanks, Alaska. They have just gone through the worst flood in the history of the state.

Following are two articles, one a letter from a former resident, and the other written from information supplied by a Wayne resident who had gone to Alaska to visit and had to return because the city can barely accommodate regular residents, let alone "extras."

The Melvin Ottés

Mrs. Emma Otté, Wayne, returned the past week from Fairbanks. She had been there since mid-July and had planned to remain through October but due to conditions she returned early. Bringing with her, Betholyn Otté, 10, daughter of the Melvin Ottés.

According to Mrs. Otté, just getting to the airport and plane to leave was an ordeal. She was taken part way by boat, walked in boots to a truck, rode in the truck through more water and then was "handed up" into the airplane. Luckily, the airport is 20 feet higher in elevation than the town so it was open.

Betholyn came here to start school. She will remain until the crisis is over in Fairbanks—and no one knows when that will be. Her brother, Alessi, 18, stayed to help clean up. The city had asked that anyone visiting the city leave; any children who had anywhere else to stay go there; and all high school students and adults who could help clean up the mud and get the city back to normal remain.

The Fairbanks area has around 37,000 people, Mrs. Otté said, and every home had some water in it. The Melvin Ottés were among the most fortunate, their basement and garage flooding but their house escaping damage on the main floor.

They had a freezer, a clothes dryer and other equipment in the basement so damage will be extensive. However, their loss was minor compared to the thousands who had homes and cars completely inundated by a flood that struck with little warning.

Betholyn told how at 11:30 at night Monday there was an inch or so of water along the curbs. At 1:30 they were awakened. Water was several feet deep outside. They were evacuated to an apartment.

The Ottés shared the apartment with people and animals. In the four-room unit there were 17 people, three dogs and a cat.

About six inches of rain had fallen. Fairbanks and a smaller town drew the brunt of the flooding as they are in narrow valleys where streams drain in, built at first by men panning for gold who wanted supplies near by.

Tuesday noon the flood waters were highest, nine feet of water on Main Street. Friday when they left the water was down almost a foot.

Water will have to drain faster, but no one knows how it will for areas below are flooding and the slow-moving water appears to be there for a long time. This creates a hazard since the ground usually freezes solid in mid-October. If the water freezes there, in the winter more snow will fall and then in the spring when both ice and snow melt there will be more flooding. The feeling is "We have to get rid of the water before the freeze comes."

When Mrs. Otté and Betholyn left Friday, the Melvin Ottés' car was still under water but 1½ feet of it could be seen protruding. No one had heat yet because everyone heats with oil or coal in basement furnaces. Basements and furnaces have to be cleaned out before they can be used again.

Some of the electric power was off also. Mrs. Otté said no one realizes what this means until they think of families with babies for one example. Diapers could not be washed. Stores were under water so no extras were available. This is but one example of the "minor" inconveniences that are showing up.

"It was worse than the earthquake," Betholyn said. She explained that the earthquake hit and then rebuilding could start. With the flood, no one knows when the crisis will be over and whereas the earthquake hit many, the flood hit everyone.

There are all sorts of shortages in the city, Mrs. Otté said the residents are the pioneer type but it will take some real "coming back" for the people to recover. A flood in that area is unlike a flood in any other area since the ground is frozen the year around three feet below the surface and there just is so

Dear Parents:

The Wayne Police Department will conduct a street-crossing school at the City Auditorium (Third and Pearl) Thursday, August 24, for all children who will be starting kindergarten this fall at Wayne City Schools. Assistant Chief of Police E. L. Hailey will be the instructor.

The school will last approximately 1½ hours and will include the proper methods of crossing through streets in addition to streets with stop signs, traffic signals and crossing guards. The children will also be introduced to the school crossing guard. Refreshments will be served following the meetings.

We invite you to send your prospective kindergarten children to this school at the following times. If your last name begins with:

A through H 8:30 a.m. to 10 a.m.
I through O 10:30 a.m. to noon.
P through Z 1:30 p.m. to 3 p.m.

Sincerely,

much soaking in that can occur and then unless 100 per cent of the excess water is moved out they face winter and spring dangers.

Both Mrs. Otté and Betholyn had typhoid shots before leaving. It was just one more requirement in a long list of measures that have to be taken in a flood-stricken city.

Melvin Otté is a graduate of Wayne High School and attended technical schools in Chicago, Minnesota and Fairbanks. He also served four years in the navy where he received further technical training. He is a facilities engineer for RCA. His wife is a native of Maine.

The Pfluegers and Pierces

Following is a letter written by Mrs. William Pflueger, 79, who lives in Fairbanks. Her son, Lloyd, and family (Rosemary, Bill and Tony) and her daughter, Mrs. George (Linda) Pierce and husband and family (Polly, John and Eileen) live within a block of each other.

Mrs. Jack Kingston, Wayne, and Mrs. Otto Hartwig (Rosetta), Norfolk, are daughters of Mrs. Pflueger. Everyone named, Norfolk and Fairbanks, formerly lived in the Altona area and the children of Mrs. William Pflueger were born and raised here.

According to Mrs. Kingston, they had a direct conversation with the Lloyd Pfluegers by shortwave Friday midnight saying all were safe but his mother and his two sons had been evacuated to Anchorage. He is supervisor at Wien Airlines, Fairbanks. George Pierce drives mail to small towns and villages on a 200-mile round trip that finds him fording rivers in summer and driving across ice-bound rivers in winter.

Following is the rather remarkable letter for a 79-year-old woman—for anyone going through the terror of sudden flooding, in fact:

Dear family:
I don't know exactly how to write all this. We are having the worst flood in history. The one I went through in Norfolk was sort of a slumber party compared to this one. To make it even worse, all the telephones are out and most of the electricity. Our house and Linda's are badly flooded. We left when our basement was full of water and was coming into the house. (Just heard on the radio that the damage by now is $200 million.) A boat came by, we flagged it, they pulled it to our back door-steps and with help made a big step into the boat.

We went across the super-market parking lot about 3 blocks and stopped in about 1½ feet of water and Lloyd carried me several steps to where it was not so deep but it still filled my boots. (Just now a call came to fill more sandbags.) After standing under a sort of store porch for half an hour, a truck with a closed-in box picked us up and took us to the university. I just heard on the radio that there are between 5 and 6 thousand people housed here.

We left our house at 2:30 in the night (Monday night) and it is now 4 o'clock the next afternoon. They gave us three rooms, one single and two double bedrooms, and all free and we have lunch at the dining room. We had a lettuce salad and a bowl of chili, which was very good, but we have a bag of groceries with us too. As for Linda, they had to leave home too. I talked to her on the phone last night about 6 and thought their house surely would not flood as they have a dry creek bed joint to their lot, otherwise it is all level and slightly higher than ours. This creek has no outlet and in less than two hours the water was level with their lawn and up to their house. They went to the neighbors as their house was higher and then the phone went out. We heard on the emergency reports that Linda and family were in Ester, that is a little town, the first on George's mail route 12 miles from Fairbanks and staying with some friends there. We tried to get word to her but couldn't. Ester is on higher ground.

All the bridges are closed. The river winds through the main part of town and all homes and businesses were evacuated or maybe only the manager stayed. Safeway has four feet of water in it; and it is on the same level as the new Penny Store and Woolworths and others, so I guess they all have the same. It makes me think that most of the water went to the other side of the river from us and they saw there are 4 or 5 fires. One is in the warehouse where John works. The whole town is on level ground. This is truly a disaster. I don't know what will happen. The National Guard is taking over and Fairbanks has been declared a disaster area. We have not heard or seen anything of a dozen families from our church that we know were flooded out. Some were flooded twice, when they went to someone else's house on higher ground and then were flooded again.

I have only a housedress and an old sweater that is now more dirty than clean and now we are in such a nice place, but we had always hoped that we would not have to leave home and worked with a lot of things getting ready in case the water did come. But it would have been worse if we had to sleep on the floor, or such in one of the schools. I just have my wet boots and my knitted slippers that Rosetta knitted for me. Rosemary had a plastic bag which I tore in two and put them over my feet in my wet boots to go to the other building to eat. The boots are so soaked they weigh a ton. More people are coming in and it is now

The Wayne (Nabr.) Herald, Thursday, August 24, 1967 5

5:30. Lloyd is still filling sandbags but it looks like it is not much good. The elevators have stopped and the rest rooms are dark. Rosemary went to the dining room to bring back a tray for me and Tony as it is sort of raining again. I just heard that they brought in 2000 sleeping bags. The Governor is sleeping here now.

I just saw one of our neighbors here. He thinks that what the water doesn't ruin the thieves will steal. I hope not. Wish you could see all the helicopters flying around us here. They sit down so easy and go up again so easy they look just like big mosquitoes the way they get around. The army kind look like a long bug with a broken back. They are taking people in and out.

Lloyd could not go to work yesterday nor today because he can't get there. Rosemary worked yesterday and Lloyd could not pick her up so she took a cab home over the farthest bridge but it took her 3 blocks from our house and then Lloyd rode Bill's bicycle through two feet of water, then put her on it and pushed the bicycle home through the flood water. One sees all sorts of things. A fork lift went past our house with a car on it.

Now it is 7:30 and Rosemary brought us a little food and we ate and then John walked in. He was on the way to Ester in a boat and he saw Bill outside and came in. Rosemary had also seen Mrs. Jurgensen and they live about three blocks from us and she said our house and many others were turned over. I hope it isn't too late. John seems to think so too. He had another boy with him and I was so surprised and happy to see them, but he had to leave and I couldn't ask anything more. He said he would bring Linda over tomorrow. We will have no lights here tonight, so this is about all I can write tonight as I am writing this on my lap sitting by the window. The new Pioneer Restaurant home where Rosemary's father is, is all flooded too and they brought all the old folks here to the University.

This is the next afternoon—Wednesday, I think. We are still here at the University and we did not go to the dining hall today. We have several boxes of K rations and we nibble around on that. There are such things in them as beef stew, cheese, fruit jelly, peanut butter, crackers and all of this in small tins in a box and the same in every box, also juice, bread and cake, sugar, salt and powdered milk and with almost 6 thousand people here, we are glad that we can get along on our own as much as possible.

[This morning Linda, Polly and the neighbor woman were here. They were all staying in the same place and taken care of. John has a boat so he and George were going to the houses to either know the best or the worst, and were going to report later. If this is sort of mixed up, it is because I have one ear listening to the radio and just heard that we can get paper and envelopes and stamps here now and the mail will be picked up and the postmaster was going from the city post office to the annex at the airport by boat about 5 miles away. The river is about 6 feet over flood stage but is going down slowly. It has stopped raining.]

Our minister is on vacation this month and we have pastor Iben here from Idaho. He had such a good sermon and it seems that God through him was giving us an advanced message about this disaster and how trouble can come to Christians too and God is with us all the time. I am sure that all our church members found comfort in what he preached last Sunday and on Monday already this city wide disaster came over us all. Linda is here and I will give her this letter to mail.

Notes from my sister's postscript to mother's letter:

John went to our house and Lloyd's by boat and Lloyd's house has about 18 inches of water on the floor and our house was almost under water with only about 18 inches of the tops of the doorways showing. George has only had his new mail truck a week but it is here and safe.

People mostly have only what is on their back. When the water came I just felt numb and took only a file box with papers that should have been in a vault in the first place. These people are angels of mercy and have a very nice house, so we are really well off for a place to stay. One thing is sure, rich and poor, good and bad all have the same deal. I am thankful that we are well, unharmed bodily and taken care of for our daily bread. Materially, there is great loss. I am mailing this on Thursday morning.

Vermont Farmer Tours Wayne Area

A young Vermont farmer was a guest at the Harold Ekberg farm northwest of Wayne last weekend. The four-day visit was part of the National Agricultural Youth Institute which began in Lincoln August 14.

Clarence Haynes, Middletown Springs, Vermont, attended the institute as a guest of the Nebraska Centennial Commission. He, along with boys from each of the other 48 states, took part in the meeting which was held at the Youth Center for Continued Education on the University of Nebraska campus.

One of the 50 young hosts from Nebraska was Wayne County's representative, Dennis Ekberg. He was sponsored by the Wayne County Home Extension Council and the local Kiwanis Club.

The activities began in Lincoln before the out-of-state guests toured the different counties in Nebraska. The boys will also spend a week at the Nebraska State 4-H Camp at Halsey which is located 250 miles west of Wayne.

School Boards Must Use Special Checks

County Supt. Gladys Porter reports schools must use the new encoded checks and warrants. She has them on hand for the various districts and they may be picked up at her office. Wayne County is furnishing them for the district. This is being done because banks cannot accept checks or warrants without magnetic ink codes to identify the accounts after Sept. 1.

If school districts do use the wrong type checks, there probably will be a period during which special handling charges will be made. However, the orders for the change come from the Federal Reserve Bank branch at Omaha so districts are expected to comply as soon as possible.

FREE BARBECUES always attract crowds. Here is a scene at Concord Monday as the lines fastest-moving seen at a barbecue in this area started moving at the serving tables at the same time.

Alcoholism Meeting Scheduled in Laurel

"Understanding the Disease of Alcoholism," is the topic of a meeting to which the public is invited Monday, Aug. 28, at 8 p.m. in the Laurel High School auditorium. The meeting is sponsored by the Northeast Nebraska Family and Community Affairs Council.

Dallas Madison, Omaha, will be featured speaker. He has been interested in alcoholism as a disease for years and has been guest speaker for school and church programs throughout the Omaha area.

Neal Boeshart, Dixon, council chairman, will moderate a panel discussion. Questions from the audience will be requested. The council itself will hold a business session at 6:45. The public meeting open to everyone is to follow.

Wayne Farmer Claims 'White Beard' Picture

Remember the picture of the elderly man with the beautiful white beard and moustache in the fair pictures a week ago? He could not be identified then. He has identified himself since then.

He is Ernfriid Allvin, who farms 3 1/2 miles northwest of Wayne, 77. He came here 54 years ago from Sweden.

While claiming the picture, he revealed that crossing fares from Sweden to America have changed a little. He bought a ticket from Alma, Sweden, to Wayne, Nebr., and the full cost in 1913 was $75.

As for his beard, he started it last January. He's thinking of keeping it so he'll have a "good start on the second hundred years of the state."

Does your heating system help with the housework?

A modern gas heating system does.

The gas flame itself burns clean. So clean you can sterilize a needle with it.

Then your modern gas furnace filters the air to trap dust your family tracks in. Makes gas the cleanest heat you can install.

VA Questions Draw Answers for Many

The many questions received by the Veterans Administration reflect a common interest. Chris Bargholz, county veterans service officer, gives some examples of questions that other vets may have and points out that all such questions are welcomed at his office in Wayne or the district office in Lincoln.

One vet who had been hospitalized in a VA hospital over 21 days for a service-connected disability and who has had two 30-day leave periods with 24-hour hospitalization between leaves, wants to know if his temporary total rating continues. He was informed two 30-day passes are equivalent to hospital charges and will not interrupt hospitalization the last day of the absence.

Another veteran, enrolled at a state university, planned to change schools and wanted to know what to do to obtain VA educational assistance. He was told to submit a request to the VA regional office (Lincoln) early enough to permit issuance of a certi-ificate of eligibility before enrolling in the new school. Finally, there's the vet who attends a business school under the new GI Bill and wanted to know if he had to report classroom attendance to the VA each month. He Joes, via the punch-cards provided.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

It is the duty of an editorial writer to search all available facts before he sits down to write. From this basis the writer should be able to give a clear picture of important topics.

You may not agree with an editorial—but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

The Real 'Helper' Please Stand Up

Along about this time of year a group of newcomers to Wayne start getting acquainted with people in this town. More of them get acquainted with one certain woman not connected with the school system than you might imagine.

She has dedicated a lot of time to getting rooms, apartments and houses for teachers. It's a year-round project with her and she is ever on the lookout for possible locations for teachers to live.

Anyone who has tried to rent any type of living quarters in Wayne should know what a frustrating chore this is. However, this woman has a home of her own and doesn't have to do this house-searching bit, but does it just the same.

She is an ex-teacher and she understands the problems teachers have when they move to communities where they are complete strangers. About four years ago she decided someone ought to help and she couldn't think of anyone else to have to do it so she started helping.

Now the school district lets her know when a new teacher is hired, what size family the teacher has, how many bedrooms will be needed, whether the teacher wishes apartment or house; if he's single what his requirements are and other such information. Before long that new teacher gets a letter from this woman telling him to come look over the prospects. Usually she has three or more "leads" on available housing.

The teacher comes to Wayne, usually finds the woman has one or more places "just what he wanted" and leaves happy with the knowledge that when he arrives to teach he will have a home.

Supt. Francis Haun has a lot of praise for this woman because he knows she must get headaches sometimes from working so hard at this. He and the teachers who have been helped, appreciate her thoroughness in making sure that "decent" accommodations are always found and teachers are not asked to take what no one else wants.

Will the real "helper" please stand up—and take a bow! Mrs. Ed Smith, everyone knew you were the subject of this editorial from the first paragraph on. The applause you hear is from all those who have helped and all of those who appreciate what you do in so unselfishly devoting your time to people you do not even know.

Somehow we get the idea your accommodations in the life to come are being pretty well taken care of at the same time you're looking out for others now.—CEG.

Terrorism Takes Over

What would happen if Wayne State College students suddenly decided they wanted to have the plush accommodations of the biggest universities, fewer limitations, lower fees and more parking space? You probably would not think so much about it, no doubt agreeing with the students on some points.

But, what if those students, in order to get across their ideas, suddenly rioted, burned down the library, threw rocks through windows of the natatorium, looted the dorm rooms and resisted police control in order to make their points?

You would be indignant. You would demand action.

While the Negro riots in cities demanding more rights are not really comparable to students seeking more parking space, the idea of rioting and refusing to obey laws in order to get what is wanted is comparable.

You know where our sympathies lie. We believe the Negro has been mistreated too long. We think Negroes have a right to live just as decent a life as we do, not just some Negroes, but every Negro. Agreed, not every white person lives the good life, but those given the opportunity can usually make it.

The impoverished whites of West Virginia's abandoned coal mine areas may have to set fire to the hills and blow up the mines in order to get their way and get more help which they desperately need. If they do this and it works, then terrorism is the answer.

We are in favor of complete and absolute mob control. Sitting here in Wayne, it may be easy to say, but there are ways of controlling such things. Long prison terms for the leaders may be one way. Jail terms for the lesser offenders could be another.

Can we allow this "freedom to destroy" become a part of the American way of life? If we let it work for the Negroes, can we deny it to any other group seeking its way? Could we stop farmers demanding higher prices for their products from buying down stockyards and grain exchanges as a means of showing their displeasure?

We want more and better things for Negroes. We also want the laws of this country to be enforced and not let mob rule take over.

A few may suffer if complete and absolute enforcement is followed, but that's better than all of us suffering if violence is allowed to become a dominant force in our lives. We cannot allow one group to succeed with terrorism without taking a chance on every group considering it an example of how to get what is wanted.—CEG.

The Annual 'Thrill Show'

The annual "thrill show" is about to start in the area. No, not Jimmy Lynch or Joie Chitwood thrill shows—yours. You don't think you're in a thrill show? Well, maybe not in so many words, but you are in activities that can be classified as "close calls" and some may be just as close accidentally as Lynch and Chitwood in plan on purpose.

School is about to start. Driving to school will be many kids who are new drivers. Some will have school permits. Most will have had driver training and will be just as careful as adult drivers.

But the important thing is, the danger of hitting another car or a kid grows greater the day school starts. Then and there one must start being just a little bit more alert than ever before.

Let's suppose you're a farmer and there's a school in your area. Someone is going to be driving to that school with kids. Cornfields are high, hedges are thick, trees are everywhere. All these conditions are more dangerous than ever because there will be more traffic than ever. The same danger holds true for those driving to town with kids or the kids themselves not taking the bus but driving in.

On the other hand, suppose you live in town, any town. There will be more cars moving about. There will be more cars parked in the area of the school. There will be hedges, cars parked on corners, buildings, other danger spots. A kid could run from between two parked cars.

You think it isn't a "thrill" to have someone step out in front of your moving car? You think it isn't a "thrill" to come around a corner and find a car stopped while a lady picks up a neighbor's child for a ride to school? You think it isn't a "thrill" to go through a rural intersection and suddenly realize that by about one or two seconds you missed going through that intersection at the same time someone coming from a right angle to your direction did?

Mister, "thrill" may not be the word, but we've already used "error" in one editorial this week so how else can we describe the situation?

Plan right now to drive a little slower in town. When you go into the rural areas, expect to meet another car at that bit intersection. Everywhere you go, remember school has started and the "thrill" season is at hand.

This warning comes only one week before the parochial school in Hoskins opens. A week later most other schools open. It is not too early to start concentrating on being extra careful. We're advising you now so you can practice now and get the habit of not being a thrill driver before school ever begins.—CEG.

Property Tax Valuation Is to Remain Unchanged

Lincoln—Nebraskans will pay the same property taxes on the same property on the same basis as they did last year in both rural and urban areas.

That was assured when the State Board of Equalization and Assessment accepted without revision the property valuation levels set by the 93 counties for tax purposes.

Last year the board changed valuations in 89 counties, triggering a series of State Supreme Court appeals and a tax tangle which lingered through 11 months. The recent decision came as somewhat of a surprise since the tax commissioner's office had recommended property worth increases in 91 counties this year.

However, Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann, who serves as board chairman, said there was insufficient evidence to support the suggested changes. He said revision without reason would only lead to further litigation.

The board gave six basic reasons for its decision to leave 1967 land values untouched:

—Present computations of land sales compared to tax assessment are "insufficient and inadequate to serve as a basis for valuation adjustments."

—Earning capacity data presented the board was "too limited in scope to serve as a basis for statewide equalization."

—Testimony presented the board was "piecemeal and inconclusive."

—Actual value of land "can never be determined with mathematical precision" for tax purposes.

—Land abstracts submitted by the counties were "clothes with a presumption of validity."

Giving to the U.S.O. is not an act of abolition.

It will not even up our debt to all the young Americans around the world who are our future.

We ask that you give not because of what your gift will do for you, but what it will mean to them.

Give because every U.S.O. club is an arm around a lonely shoulder. Give because every U.S.O. club is a message from home that says "we care!"

Give because there are 3 1/2 million Americans who need the friendship and services that only U.S.O. provides.

U.S.O. gets no government funds. It is supported only by your contributions through your United Fund or Community Chest. Give now. Someone you know needs U.S.O.

IS HE ON YOUR CONSCIENCE?

at public hearing was "insufficient to overcome the presumption" that the land values were correct as fixed by the counties.

Property taxes are levied in Nebraska for local government support only. The board's purpose is to equalize land values between counties so that property taxes are imposed fairly on all citizens of the state.

Employe Outback Achieved

The Nebraska Roads Department reports it has complied with Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann's request for a 10 percent cutback in worker ranks.

It said the reduction was achieved over the past six months, and resulted chiefly from "normal" attrition procedures.

"We didn't have any wholesale layoffs and anything like that," said personnel officer Lowell Fisk.

The department said there were 2,656 full-time employes on the highway agency's payroll on the end of the fiscal year. This compares with 2,978 employes a year earlier.

George Welty, the department's chief fiscal officer, said the reduction is reflected in the monthly payroll even though many workers received annual salary increases during the period.

At the end of June, the department's worker payroll was $1,207,000. This compares with $1,240,000 last January, and $1,260,000 in June of 1966.

The Governor said he is pleased with the report. He said the economy program placed major emphasis on the roads department because of the scope of its activities.

"This indicates," Tiemann said, "that if a honest and conscientious effort is made to reduce the number of employees needed to do an efficient job, it can be done."

The Governor said other departments have also indicated they are reducing their worker ranks and that figures on these will be available later.

Bypasses State

State Technical Assistance Director Sam Cornelius contends the Federal Government is, by passing the states in commanding its war on poverty.

Cornelius said both the Grand Island Head Start and McCook Jobs Corps problems could possibly have been averted if his office had authority to consult with officials at the two cities.

"When anything occurs in Nebraska involving federal funding, we should be notified by the federal government. Presently we are not being notified," he said.

Discusses Nebraska

Nebraska has been told that she is perfectly endowed to become a center for those industries which form the cornerstone of America's new space age technology— aerospace, electronics and instruments.

The assurance came from Chicago management consultant at a meeting of the newly formed Nebraska Economic Development Committee.

They underscored Nebraska's central location, favorable tax structure, abundant water supply, low electrical rates and growing labor supply as the principal factors for the optimistic forecast.

The 1967 Legislature created the committee as part of an accelerated program to tell the nation's industrialists that Nebraska is a good place to live and do business.

New Commissioner Named

Governor Tiemann has appointed Thomas Cheslak of Omaha to the State Liquor Control Commission, succeeding the late Francis V. Robinson.

Cheslak, 49, is a building contractor. He will serve until 1970.

The governor also selected the state's first investment council to handle surplus trust and pension funds on the open stock market.

Members include Dale Tietz and A. W. Griffin of Lincoln, L. Frederick Hobel and K. E. Emmanuel of Omaha, and Jerry Nelson of Omaha, and Henry Kosman of Scottsbluff.

The council will hire a state investment to actually invest the state's surplus funds. Only so-called blue chip stocks may be purchased.

The council implements a constitutional amendment approved by Nebraskans last year. The object is to make the state's surplus capital earn a substantial profit through wider investment.

Northeast Extension Notes

Margaret Ann Stahly

During late summer and early fall, most food stores will be stocked with Crenshaw, Persian, Honeydew and Casaba melons.

A good way to pick a melon is to make sure it "gives" slightly when you gently press your thumb against the blossom end. Small is to see that it has a faint pleasant "fruity" odor. And make sure it's free from sunken, water-soaked areas on the surface, which indicate deterioration.

To these tips, add these specific ones for different melons: Crenshaw (a green and gold melon, pointed at the stem end) Look for one with lots of bright, deep golden color. Remaining areas should show traces of yellow color.

Persian (a greenish-gray melon that's round like most cantaloups but much larger and with less pronounced netting) Make sure it's firm, but not hard. It should be changing from a deep greenish-gray color to a duller, lighter gray-green. If not ripe yet, it will be a bright green and glassy appearing.

Honeydew (oval-shaped, smooth, whitish melon) Look for one with a creamy yellow outer color, free from greenish cast.

Casaba (nearly round, but somewhat pointed at the stem end; is yellow with a wrinkled appearance) Look for one that's well yellowed.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I have been reading the Omaha paper just now and feel compelled to strike out at all the unfairness in our wonderful, beautiful America which so many are "drying" up right now. We bring our youngsters

Way Back When

30 Years Ago

August 19, 1937: Five tons of grasshopper bait were distributed Tuesday at the central mining station which was established at the Theobald Lumber Co., Jessie Gemmill, Carroll, was elected stewardship director of the state council at the Nebraska Baptist assembly being held this week in Hastings. Miss Gemmill was one of 195 attending the program which closes Friday. The annual Dressler reunion will be held Wednesday at Dressler park, John C. Dressler is president; the late J. C. Dressler was vice president; and Mrs. Carlos Martinis secretary-treasurer of the association. The W. E. VonSeggern herd ranked high for July among those tested in the Madison-Cuming-Wayne Dairy Herd Association, and one of the VonSeggern cows topped the association for the month.

25 Years Ago

August 13, 1942: Wayne County will have about 20 men of I-A group leaving Saturday for Fort Crook to take physical examinations for induction into army service. Enlistments the past week have included Milo Siel, Dick Lueders, Allen Splittgerber, Warren Bilson, William Morgan Jones, Joe Brandel and John J. Drake. Wayne County residents have so far this month bought about $8,000 worth of war stamps and bonds. The August quota is $37,000. Herman Eickhoff, who has been basic instructor at Wisner for several years, goes to Lewiston, Mont. this fall to instruct.

20 Years Ago

August 21, 1947: Workmen called firemen to Wayne Creamery early Tuesday when a short in the starter caused a motor to smoke. No damage resulted. The Lloyd Surber family moved the first of the week to Wood Lake, Nebr. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nelson and daughter moved to the house the Surbers vacated. Don Baker arrived Saturday from Heidelberg, Germany, where he had been a civilian employee of the U. S. government for the past 18 months. He will be here three weeks and then return to complete his contract. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Baker.

15 Years Ago

August 21, 1952: As is the custom during Wayne County fair week, all stores, businesses and the courthouse will be closed Thursday afternoon to allow employees, county officials and office workers to attend the fair. Pvt. Gene L. Fredrickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Fredrickson, Wayne, has completed studies in various guided missile courses at Redstone arsenal, ordnance corps, key rocket and guided missile installation, and is being assigned to White Sands Proving ground, N. M., for additional training. A 30-day dove season, beginning on Sept. 1 and ending on the 30th of the same month, has been granted Nebraska according to information received by the Nebraska Game Commission from the U. S. Fish and Wildlife service.

10 Years Ago

August 22, 1957: Mrs. J. H. Morrison and her son, Bill, plan to sell their hotel furnishings, business, cafe and package liquor store and move to California. It was revealed this week. Four Wayne youths will compete in the first KFTV-WNVA junior golf tournament Friday and Saturday at the Sioux City Country Club and Boat Club courses. Larry Berres and Darrel Fuelbert were low qualifiers in the Wayne playoff Monday. Berres fired a one-over par 73 while Fuelbert had a 79. John Fuelbert and Phil Griess had also compete in Sioux City. The former scored an 80 Monday while Griess had 82.

County Agent's Column

by Harold Ingalls

Fair Activities: County Agents are so involved in fair activities that we think of little else at this time of the year.

Another Wayne County fair is now history. Many people have described the fair as highly successful and certainly it was if measured by attendance and number of exhibits.

After the fair is always a time for appraisal and I'd like to comment on the 4-H beef show in general and more specifically a new rate of gain class which we tried here in Wayne County for the first time this year. To be eligible for this class 4-H members were required to bring their animals to a central location on one of two days immediately prior to January 1, 1967. Our weigh days were December 29th and 30th and all calves were brought in to the Wayne Sales barn for weighing. Both heifers and steers were weighed. Since entries are limited at our fair about one half of those animals weighed at the start came to the fair. To be exact 48 head out of 103 animals shown were eligible in the rate of gain contest. The final weight was taken immediately after showing in regular classes. A scoring system which combined rate of gain and ribbon placing was used to determine winners in this class.

The scoring system was as follows—Ten points was given for each pound average daily gain, plus 25 points for a purple ribbon, 23 for a blue ribbon, 21 for a red and 19 points for a white ribbon.

For example—A calf which gained at the rate of 2 1/2 pounds per day got 25 points for rate of gain, plus 25 points if awarded a purple ribbon. The final awards in the rate of gain contest were made on total points as follows: Those with 50 or more points a purple ribbon, 45 through 44 a blue ribbon, 40 through 44 a red ribbon and under 40 points a white ribbon. Here I would like to make an important point. It is interesting to note that ribbon placings in regular show classes show no relationship to rate of gain. In other words good doing cattle are not rewarded in the show ring.

Note for example that out of 12 animals awarded purple ribbons in the regular show only one rate purple in rate of gain, three rated blue, seven rated red ribbons and one rated a white ribbon.

The winner in our rate of gain contest was a Hereford steer shown by Ronnie Janke of Wayne. This steered gained 3.3 pounds per day for the 237 day feeding period. Three more purple awards were made for rate of gain. All went to Hereford steers. Second place was awarded to Jerald Meyer for a steer gaining 3.2 pounds per day. Third place went to Natalie Sievers with a gain of 2.6 and fourth to Sam Uelch with 2.7 pounds per day gain.

We plan to repeat this contest and hope that more emphasis will be placed on it. The information gained cannot help but be valuable. We realize that many factors are involved in the process of putting beef of the consumers table. Some are relatively simple and measurable. Rate of gain is one of the important ones. It has been shown time and again the rate of gain is tied closely to efficiency in meat animal production. The first is showing ring standards. Too much emphasis is put on qualities not associated with efficient production.

The second stumbling block is marketing standards which do not reflect the red-meat cut out value of animals.

You are, absolutely? Thank you, sir." As the young man started for the door the storekeeper stopped him and said: "Say, I thought you were Pennypacker's hired hand." "I am," said the young man. "I just called to find out if he was satisfied with my work."

A minister from another county writes in regard to our editorial on food stamps. We assume the letter was not for publication. He merely thanked us for the editorial on food stamps, adding: "It shall perhaps be helpful for a number of families not now able to afford adequate nutrition." The pastor has the right idea. He will probably let the families know that the food stamp plan is available and assist them in using it. We wish you would do the same. to the school filed a protest because they were afraid cars would congest the area with 900 kids in the high school. The school board, city and residents reached a stalemate on what to do and you know what answer they came up with? Leave the school vacant. That's right, with a shortage of classrooms, students will have to go on double-shift sessions at other schools without a single class in the new school. Well, that's just one more reason we're glad we live in Wayne, Nebr., instead of Los Angeles, California.

If we have not listed your winner at the fair, don't blame us. We don't know who the ones are who have the lists, but we publish what we get. We sure print a lot of pictures too. We're doing our best to give you complete coverage, but we could use some help on the other end of the line. If you're holding up a list of winners, let us know so we can print it before it's late enough to be included in the "60 Years Ago This Week" items.

A man was barbecuing a chicken on a spit in his backyard. He kept turning the spit handle around and around so the chicken would barbecue evenly. A beatnik watched for some time.

Finally the beatnik could stand it no longer and blurted out: "I don't want to bug you, dad, but your music's stopped and your monkey is on fire."

Speaking of "60 Years Ago This Week," we get plenty of comment on those items. Some accuse us of making up some of them. If you care to see the old papers we take them from, we have them in our office. Items are reprinted almost exactly the way they were then, the main exception being that 60 years ago if someone was mentioned as a boozier, they gave his name. If we repeat the name, we do not repeat the name. We'll admit, journalism was pretty personal—but fun—in the good old days of 1907.

The Nebraskan was visibly impressed. "You say you have 365 days of sunshine in your part of Arizona?" he asked. "Indeed I do, sir," replied the Arizona man. "And that figure is a conservative estimate."

You think there is not a crisis in the schools? (Age the town, that is.) Couldn't get three teachers so just closed its school and will send most of them to nearby Orchard. The situation is going to get worse before it gets better. We think we are most fortunate around here to have so many quality teachers. The college helps, because in many husband-wife teams both teach and one will come back to work for a degree and the other takes a position teaching in an area school. There's still a problem of supply and demand. Even Wayne may be short at least one teacher this year.

When one of the town's citizens was nearing his 96th birthday, the local paper sent a reporter to interview him. "Tell me, sir," the reporter asked, "what exercise do you do to keep fit?" "My boy," the older man replied, "when you're pushing 96, that's all the exercise you need."

Sandahl Reunion Held
The 29th Sandahl reunion was held at the Administration building on the State Fair grounds, Lincoln, Sunday with 160 in attendance. States represented were: Minnesota, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Iowa, Colorado, and California. Towns in Nebraska were York, Bassett, Auburn, Albion, Wayne, Wakefield, Arcadia, Waco, Bradshaw, Axtell, Friend, Inman, Omaha, and Scottsbluff. Members of the family living in Lincoln were hosts for the occasion. Kate Sandahl, 85, Auburn, was the oldest present and Brian three month old son of Keith Sandahls, Bassett, youngest. Rev. Harold Sandahl, Scottsbluff, was chairman and had arranged for the centennial observance by the group. A history of the pioneer ancestors was read by the secretary, Mrs. Eveline Terp, York, who several years ago made a trip to Sweden to get details for the family history which was printed in 1948. This year a supplement was printed bringing the record up to date. Mrs. Archie Sandahl, Bassett, had baked a centennial cake. Next year the group will meet at the same place on the same date with Mrs. Lloyd Hugelmann as chairman. Attending from Wakefield were Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hyspe, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Sandahl, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Sandahl and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ring and Mary Elinor, Mrs. C. L. Bard, and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hugelmann; from Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Sandahl.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Goldberg moved to their new home in Wakefield Saturday after 22 years on the farm. The Kenneth Gustafson family purchased the farm.

Dinner guests in the Alvin Sundell home Sunday were her parents, the Elmer Kingsburys, Sioux City, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sundell and Peggy Rouse. Last Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Boeckenhauer attended the Blatchford reunion. This week they were with the group of 70 who attended the Heikes reunion at Wakefield Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tucker and her brother, Larmar Arbogast, Springfield, Ohio, who came for the Heikes reunion, were overnight guests Saturday in the Carl Sundell home.

Her sister, Mrs. Ella Blodgett, Yankton, came Monday for a few days visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Muller visited in the Emil Lund home Sunday afternoon. There overnight was Richard Bareman who will enroll at Kearney State college.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ring were in Sioux City last Tuesday visiting Mrs. Leda Holmberg at St. Joseph's Hospital. She is out of traction and was sitting up for a few minutes at a time. The Rings were supper guests of Mrs. Blanche Erickson.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Chinn took their daughters, Mrs. Glen Boley, Sikeston, Mo., and Mrs. Cecil Rhodes and children to Ashland Friday after a few days visit here.

In the Jim Chambers home for dinner Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Dave Chambers, Thurston, Mrs. Zada Chambers, Allen, and Alice Wilson, Brighton, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Borg went to Omaha Saturday to meet Colette who came for a three-week vacation with her parents and other relatives and friends. Sunday they met folks from Omaha for a picnic at the Oakland Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Spicer (Carol Heikes) of Colorado Springs came Saturday to attend the Sunday reunion and remained for the Olson-Lamb wedding Monday. They were guests in the Harold Olson home.

The Kermit and Alden Johnson joined the Jack Krueger family, Winside, at a picnic dinner with Myrtle and Helon Sundell at Hanscom Park, Omaha, Sunday. Later the Alden Johnsons visited her brothers, Francis and Ross Roberts and families, Council Bluffs.

Twelve ladies of the neighborhood spent Friday afternoon with Mrs. Ella Doring in observance of her birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Ring spent Saturday and Sunday visiting in the Curtis Ring home at Cedar Falls, Ia. Friday morning, Mr. and Mrs. Wencil Nelson, Geneva and Mrs. Dick Nelson, Wayne, visited in the Phil Ring home.

Last Monday, Gwen Olson accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Williams, Highland, Kan., to Portsmouth, Va., to visit U. N. David Williams with the Navy there.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Olson are on a trip to various points in Nebraska and extending into the Black Hills.

Last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sundell and the Alvin and Rev. Laurence Sundell families were dinner guests in the Ed Cavanaugh home, Wayne. The pastor and family returned to Assaria, Kan. Tuesday.

Last Monday Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sundell were with a family group to spend a day with a niece, Mrs. Robert Hendricks and fam-

The Corn Song
JOHN GREENLEAF WHITTIER

That writer who takes on the task of discussing shotguns is a fool. He might better write about wives; there being as much variation and personal preference in women as there is in shotguns; and less inclination on the part of most shooters to defend the merits of their respective wives than there is to speak up in defense of a favorite shotgun.

However, it is that time of year when shotgun talk echoes through cornfields, tagalder thickets, country taverns and chilly duck blinds. It is, therefore, understandable that a writer run-off-at-the-type-writer with a few shotgun thoughts and a brief look at some of the basics of the scattergun.

You are cordially invited to peruse for ammunition to load your next shotgun argument, or to explain away an unbelievable "miss" of a fat greenhead or a cackling cock pheasant.

We shall start first with "gauge"—that term used to denote the size of a shotgun's bore. "Gauge" originated in the early days of shotgunning. It means the number of balls in a pound of lead, one of which will pass through the gun barrel.

In the 12 gauge, for example, if a pound of lead was divided into 12 equal balls, one of these balls would just pass through the bore. A 20 gauge gun would accept a lead ball running 20 to the pound.

An exception is the .410 gauge shotgun in which the .410 designates the actual size of the bore—410/1,000 inch. By comparison, a 12 gauge bore is .775 of an inch.

The gauge of your shotgun determines the density of your pellet pattern; the size of the pattern is determined by the "choke" of the gun. Choke is, as the term designates, a constriction of the end inch or two of the barrel. This constriction of the muzzle condenses the pellets and keeps them closer together in flight.

Choke designation is generally: full, modified and improved, with full choke giving the tightest constriction and pattern, improved the least pellet "squeeze", and modified falling in the middle.

If you shoot a 20 gauge full choke gun, you will get the same pellet spread as your partner with his 12 gauge full choke weapon, but he will have more pellets within the "spread" than you will. (Here's a chance for the lighter gun man to pick up an alibi—the bird flew through the pattern.)

At 30 yards, a full choke gun should give you a pattern about 26 inches in diameter; a modified choke, one of 32 inches; and an improved cylinder one of 38 inches.

It is important that a shooter knows how his shotgun patterns at various ranges. You can learn this most easily by measuring off ranges and shooting various loads into wrapping paper tacked onto a wooden frame.

As a general guide, a full choke gun shooting 280 pellets of No. 6 shot, should place about 196 of these pellets inside a 30-inch killing circle at 40 yards, and 108 pellets inside the same size circle at 55 yards.

The choice of shot size is probably responsible for more scatter gunning debates than any other factor. There will be thousands of such debates this fall, and it might be said that never have so many said so much to so many and convinced so few.

It is an excellent idea to get out to the trap or skeet range well in advance of the hunting seasons to limber up creaky swinging muscles. With a few rounds of target busting under your belt, you will feel more at home with your shotgun when the first bird explodes out of cover or comes whistling over on the crest of a stiff north wind.

And "whistle" they do. A canvasback flies at from 90 to 150 feet per second. It's a wonder we ever hit one of them. Other foot-per-second speeds are: mallard—50-90, teal—80-100, ruffed grouse—35-75, mourning dove—50-120, Canada goose—70-100, pheasant—40-90, crow—30-60.

Some of us are going to be so intimidated by these speed facts that we will come away with nothing more than a sore shoulder. But here too, there is room for debate and some statistics to flavor it with. For example, a 12 gauge magnum shooting a three-inch shell in an 8 pound, 12 ounce gun generates 54 foot pounds of recoil energy. By contrast, a 20 gauge, magnum three inch shell kicks to the tune of 28 foot pounds.

And for a 16 gauge . . . but, duck down, here comes a bird. Now, remember all those things about bird and pellet velocity and swinging and shot size and . . . KAPOW!

Oh, well, there will be other chances.

Not as a means of entering into the debate, but rather to urge the participants on to greater heights, the following information is offered as it comes from the Remington people:

Ducks—Use No. 4 shot for long range and pass shooting. For normal range, No. 5 or No. 6 shot. Some hunters use 7½ shot for closer range shooting over decoys.

Geese—Goose hunters need wallop to fold up their birds so they use the big loads with large shot. Many hunters prefer No. 4 over BB and 2's for a denser pattern.

Pheasant—For cornfield shooting where long shots are usual, better use No. 5. On a normal rise over dogs and for all around use, No. 6 is the favorite. Bigger shot may be dangerous when hunting in a group.

Grouse or partridge—On the smaller birds such as ruffed grouse or Hungarian partridge use the smaller 7½ or 8 shot. The big western grouse will call for No. 5 or 6 shot.

with large shot. Many hunters prefer No. 4 over BB and 2's for a denser pattern.

Quail—For early season shooting on bobwhites when feathers are light some hunters use No. 9 shot. Later they switch to No. 7½ or No. 8.

Doves and pigeons—You can do a good job on mourning doves at normal ranges with No. 7½ and 8. Longer ranges call for heavier loads.

Woodcock—Your choice of shot size will depend on ranges at which your game is shot. For fast shooting in the alder thickets No. 8 shot is a good choice.

Rabbits—For cottontail rabbits at normal range, the 5's and 6's are suitable, but for larger game such as jack rabbits and snowshoe rabbits use heavier loads such as No. 4.

Squirrel—Most hunters use the No. 5 or No. 6 shot and prefer the heavier loads in the tall timber.

Fox—It's a toss-up between BB's and No. 2 shot. But, remember—the smaller the shot the denser the pattern.

He who hesitates is not sure this is the right exit, says The Ripon (Wis.) Commonwealth-Press.

"Women find themselves at quite a disadvantage," recklessly comments The Lewistown (Ill.) News, "since they can now travel faster than sound."

"The wheel was man's greatest invention until he got behind it," claims the Wells County Free Press of Fessenden, N.D.

The Lancaster Farming of Lititz, Pa., advises: "Whenever you want a person to tell you how smart you are, first tell him how wonderful he is."

Remember the old days when the ladies made their dough in the kitchen instead of the office, asks the Anoka County Union of Anoka, Minn.?

The Arenac County Independent of Standish, Mich., tells about the woman who, on her golden anniversary was asked if, during those fifty years, she had ever once considered divorce?

"No," she replied, "only murder."

The Parkersburg (Iowa) Eclipse tells this one:

Caught telling a lie, little Larry's mother asked him how he thought he'd get to heaven.

After a moment of serious thinking, Larry answered brightly, "I'll run in and out and in and out and keep slamming the door until someone says, 'For Heaven's sake, either come in or stay out,' and then I'll go in."

"What a small boy usually has up his sleeve," comments The Review of Plymouth, Wis., "is a dirty arm."

When you're past fifty, laments The Lacon (Ill.) Home Journal, there is a catch to kicking up your heels — usually right in the small of the back.

A pool-side philosophy, according to the Belvidere (Ill.) Daily Republican, is stated as: "Never has so much been stuffed into so little in front of so many."

"It's been a pretty slow week," comments the Devils Lake (N.D.) Morning Journal, "nobody stuck up an armored car in Boston."

The Spencer (Neb.) Advocate says, "Just wait until Luci and Pat find out that one of those Secret Service agents who's been with them since they left the White House is really Allen Funt."

America may not have a good five-cent cigar, claims the Tri-County Truth of Churubusco, Ind., but it does have a good five-cent quarter.

The Macon (Mo.) Chronicle-Herald reports: "Some people want to leave their footprints in the sands of time, and others would rather the tide came in and washed out their tracks."

In a poverty crisis there is only one element more helpless than the poor, says the Hettinger County Herald of New England, N.D., and that is the rich.

Trying to understand modern art is like trying to follow the plot in a bowl of alphabet soup, complains The Sturgis (S.D.) Tribune.

At least once every minute this season, some hunter will be using chain lightning to connect with his bird.

And the double action bars on a Remington Model 870 pump shotgun will have paid off again.

Lightning rods. That's a good way to describe those carefully machined pieces of steel that give the 870 its lightning speed and effortless action.

Over a million 870 shooters can so testify.

And they can tell you some other solid facts: A receiver machined from solid steel. A breech block that locks into the barrel extension. A finish that looks like a million.

Check around. Pump shotguns are a dime a dozen. But a Remington 870—with its lightning rods—is in a class by itself. From $104.95*.

Lightning rods

These double action bars give the Remington Model 870 pump shotgun its lightning-fast operation.

The sandwich has come a long way since the Earl of Sandwich started it all back in the 1700's. As the legend goes, this royal Briton had his meat brought to him between two slices of bread so that he wouldn't have to leave the gambling tables at meal time. For some of these 1967 model sandwiches, we'll wager, he'd gladly interrupt his game.

Add some of these extra surprises to a Sandwich Lunch. Bits of sweets: jam turnovers, semi-sweet chocolate morsels, favorite cookies, miniature marshmallows. Something to munch on: cheese balls rolled in chopped walnuts, dried apricots, peanut buttered honey graham crackers, tiny box of raisins.

SKY-HIGH SANDWICH BAKE

- | | |
|---|--------------------------|
| 1 package yeast, compressed or dry | 1 teaspoon salt |
| 1/4 cup water (lukewarm for compressed yeast, warm for dry) | 2 tablespoons shortening |
| 1/2 cup milk | 2 1/2 cups flour |
| 2 tablespoons sugar | 4 slices American cheese |

Soften yeast in water. Scald milk. Add sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Add sifted flour to make a thick batter. Mix well. Add softened yeast. Beat well. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and knead until smooth and satiny. Place in greased bowl. Cover and let rise until doubled (about 1 1/2 hours). While dough is rising, make Supreme Hamburger Filling and Salmon Filling. When dough is light, punch down. Let rest 10 minutes. Divide dough into 4 equal parts. Pat or roll out each part into 8-inch square. Place 1 square of dough in bottom of greased 8-inch square baking dish. Spread with Supreme Hamburger Filling. Top with second square of dough. Arrange slices of cheese on dough. Again top with dough and spread with Columbia Salmon Filling. Cover with remaining square of dough, pressing edges of dough to sides of baking dish. Let rise until light (about 45 minutes). Bake in 350° oven about 45 minutes. Remove from pan immediately and let cool slightly before icing.

Supreme Hamburger Filling

- | | |
|-------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| 1/2 pound ground beef | 2 tablespoons chopped onion |
| 1 tablespoon fat or drippings | Salt and pepper to taste |
| | 2 tablespoons chili sauce |

Brown beef in fat or drippings. Add onion, salt and pepper. Stir in chili sauce. Use as first filling in Sky-High Sandwich Bake.

Columbia Salmon Filling

- | | |
|------------------------------------|------------------------------|
| 1 cup flaked salmon (8-ounce can) | 2 tablespoons chopped celery |
| 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper | 1 tablespoon lemon juice |

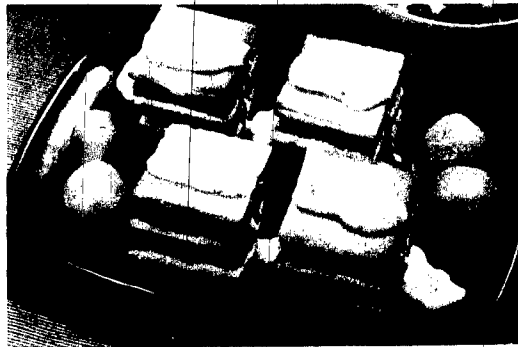

Combine ingredients in order given and mix well. Use as third filling. Makes 4-6 servings.

- | | |
|------------------------------|---|
| 1 pound ground pork sausage | 1/2 cup grated cheddar cheese |
| 1/4 cup chopped green pepper | 1 can (10 1/4 ounces) condensed mushroom soup |
| 1/4 cup chopped onion | 12 slices white bread |
| 2 tablespoons water | 3 tablespoons milk |

Place sausage, green pepper, onion and water in cold frying-pan. Cover tightly and cook slowly, about 5 minutes. Pour off drippings and stir in grated cheese. Add 1/4 cup mushroom soup and blend with sausage mixture. Remove crusts from bread. Allow 8 slices of bread for spreading with sausage mixture. Spread one slice of bread with filling; top with second slice. Spread second slice with filling and top with third slice. Allow about 1/4 cup sausage mixture for each layer. Place on cookie sheet and brown in hot oven (400°F.) for 5-7 minutes. Add milk to the remaining soup. Heat and serve as a sauce over sandwiches if desired. 4 servings

VARIED SANDWICH FILLINGS

In a food chopper, grind together equal amounts of provolone cheese and salami. Use sour cream as a binder.

Mix equal parts of peanut and apple butters. Thin with a little lemon juice.

Chop together leftover cooked ham and swiss cheese. Add chopped green pepper and thin to spreading consistency with mayonnaise or salad dressing.

INSTANT INDIVIDUAL PIZZAS

- | | |
|--|--|
| 4 large English muffins or hamburger rolls | 1/4 pound mozzarella or processed American cheese |
| Margarine | 1/2 pound hamburger, browned |
| 1 can tomato paste (6-ounce) | 1 can mushroom pieces and stems, drained (4-ounce) |
| 1 tablespoon salad oil | Ripe or green olives |
| 1/4 teaspoon salt | |
| 1/2 teaspoon oregano | |
| Dash garlic salt | |

Split muffins and spread with margarine. Toast lightly. Combine tomato paste, salad oil, salt, oregano and garlic salt. Spoon half of mixture on muffins. Over sauce, arrange cheese slices, meat, and mushrooms. Spoon remaining sauce over top. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Place under broiler until cheese is melted or bake at 425° F. for 5 to 10 minutes. Garnish with olives.

SUBMARINE SANDWICHES

Split small, crusty loaves of French bread lengthwise. Build sandwiches on bottom half with Swiss cheese, leaf lettuce, bologna, tomato slices, American cheese and new England brand sausage.

Spread meats with relish and mustard, if desired. Top with crusts.

HAM AND SWISS CLUB SANDWICH

- | | |
|---------------------|----------------------------|
| Round rye bread | Sliced boiled or baked ham |
| Mustard | Special Coleslaw |
| Swiss cheese sliced | Pickle slices |

Cut 3 crosswise slices of rye bread. Spread one slice with mustard and cover first with slices of cheese, then with ham. Cover with a second slice of bread and cover it with coleslaw. Cover with the third slice of bread, and cut into 6 wedge-shaped sandwiches. Top each sandwich with a pickle slice speared with a toothpick.

Special Coleslaw

- | | |
|------------------------|-------------------------|
| 1/2 cup salad dressing | Dash of seasoned salt |
| 1 teaspoon mustard | Dash of black pepper |
| 1/4 cup cream | 2 cups shredded cabbage |
| 1/2 teaspoon salt | |

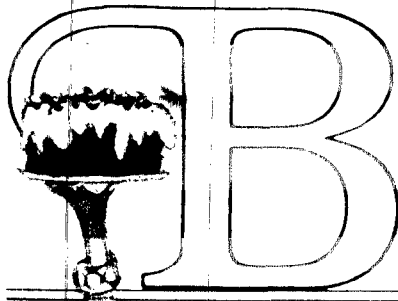

Combine the salad dressing, mustard, cream and seasonings. Add this dressing to the cabbage and toss lightly.

FRENCH DIPPED SANDWICH

- | | |
|--------------------------------|--------------------------------|
| 2 frankfurters | 8 slices bread |
| 1/2 cup grated American cheese | 1 egg |
| 1/2 cup chopped ripe olives | 1/2 cup milk |
| 2 tablespoons mayonnaise | 2 tablespoons melted margarine |
| | 1/8 teaspoon salt |

Grind frankfurters; combine with cheese, olives and mayonnaise. Spread on 4 slices bread. Top each with another bread slice. Beat egg lightly; blend in milk, margarine, and salt. Turn into flat dish. Dip both sides of each sandwich quickly in egg mixture and place on hot greased griddle. Brown both sides, turning once. Makes 4 thick sandwiches.

Because baking has changed, we've changed the Bake-Off

Now 3 categories instead of one.

Win $25,000
with your recipe
using either flour, baking mixes, or refrigerated fresh dough.

Easy Rules

1. Print or type your name and address on the entry blank. For each entry submitted, indicate the one product category you wish to enter.

2. On a separate paper write your name, address, and recipe. List every ingredient and the exact measurement, for example level cups, tablespoons, teaspoons or 1/2 teaspoons.

State complete directions, pan size, baking time, and temperature.

3. Follow these directions for the product category you have selected to enter.

Flour Category—1) Use at least 1/2 cup of Pillsbury's Best Flour in the recipe. 2) With your entry enclose the word Pillsbury from the front of any-size sack of Pillsbury's Best Flour.

Mix Category—1) Use at least one entire package of a commonly available Pillsbury Mix in the recipe. If Pillsbury Potato Flakes or Pancake Mix are used in the recipe, only 1/2 cup of either need be included. (Note: Flour is not necessary in the recipe.) 2) With your entry enclose the top of the package from the Pillsbury Mix.

Refrigerated Fresh Dough Category—1) Use at least one package of a commonly available Pillsbury Fresh Dough Product (from the dairy case) in the recipe. (Note: Flour is not necessary in the recipe.) 2) With your entry enclose the word Pillsbury from the Refrigerated Fresh Dough Label.

4. Attach your recipe to entry blank and mail to: Pillsbury Bake-Off, Box 1492, Dept. H, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55460. Entries must be postmarked by October 31, 1967, and received no later than November 7, 1967.

5. At the Bake-Off, all recipes must be completely prepared in the six-hour contest time; finalists must work alone; and recipes must be prepared exactly as submitted with the entry blank.

6. Recipes that have appeared in advertising, magazines or cookbooks will be disqualified unless they feature distinctive changes in ingredients or techniques. Recipes that include alcoholic beverages are not eligible.

7. A professional judging agency and a staff of home economists will judge all entries and select 100 finalists who will represent the three Bake-Off product categories.

8. Entries will be judged primarily on the popular appeal, excellence of eating quality, and creativity of the baked food. Flavor, taste, and appearance will be important in judging. Entries will also be judged on recipe ingredient shortcuts (i.e., use of convenience products), streamlined methods (i.e., few preparation steps), and short preparation time.

9. Everyone 12 years of age or older who is a resident or citizen of the United States, its territories, or possessions, may enter except: employees and members of immediate families of the Pillsbury Company, General Electric Company, or their advertising agencies. Also ineligible are practicing home economists in the food field, professional chefs or bakers, and any previous $25,000 Grand Prize Bake-Off Winner.

10. Entries are eligible for the Grand Prize, for prizes in the category in which they are entered, and the Bright Idea Bonus Award. (Bright Idea Bonus—For unique ideas in the use of convenience foods or shortcut methods.) Only contestants 12 through 18 years of age on February 19, 1968, are eligible for the Junior Award. Entries are eligible for only one cash prize plus the Bright Idea Bonus.

11. Rules are binding on all entrants, and the judges' decisions are final. Duplicate prizes will be awarded in case of ties. All entries become the property of The Pillsbury Company, which reserves the right to edit and adapt those selected for publication. No entry will be acknowledged or returned.

12. Enter as many recipes as you wish, but submit each entry in one of the three product categories and in a separate envelope. Bake-Off will be held in Dallas, Texas, February 18-20, 1968.

The contest closes October 31, 1967. Hurry and Good Luck!

The 1968 Pillsbury Busy Lady Bake-Off opens up two new categories.

New Mix Category:

Use at least one package of a Pillsbury Mix in your recipe. Share with us your creative way to use a mix.

New Refrigerated Fresh Dough Category:

Use at least one package of a Pillsbury Fresh Dough Product from the dairy case in your recipe. It's another brand-new way to enter... brand-new way to win.

The Flour Category continues:

What shortcutted show-stopper can you create from scratch, using at least 1/2 cup of Pillsbury Best Flour?

Why have we changed the Bake-Off? Because baking changed. Nineteen years ago, when the Bake-Off started, things were a lot different. Baking was done from scratch. Mixes weren't around. Today you are busy. You travel. You work. You use the new convenience foods. You're creative with 'em. You mix 'em. You match 'em. You add other ingredients to make them different and delicious. This year's Bake-Off is looking for the new recipes you have created with mixes, refrigerated doughs, or flour.

So, use a mix. Use refrigerated fresh dough. Or, bake from scratch. But enter the brand-new Bake-Off.

Here are prizes you can win:

- $25,000 Grand Prize
- Three $5,000 Best of Category Prizes
- Three $2,000 Runner-Up in Category Prizes
- One $2,000 Junior Award
- One $1,000 Bright Idea Bonus Award

plus 100 General Electric Americana P-7 oven ranges, and 100 expense-paid trips to Dallas, Feb. 18-20, 1968.

Southern Belle Pie

(Transparent Pie) — Makes 1 8-inch pie

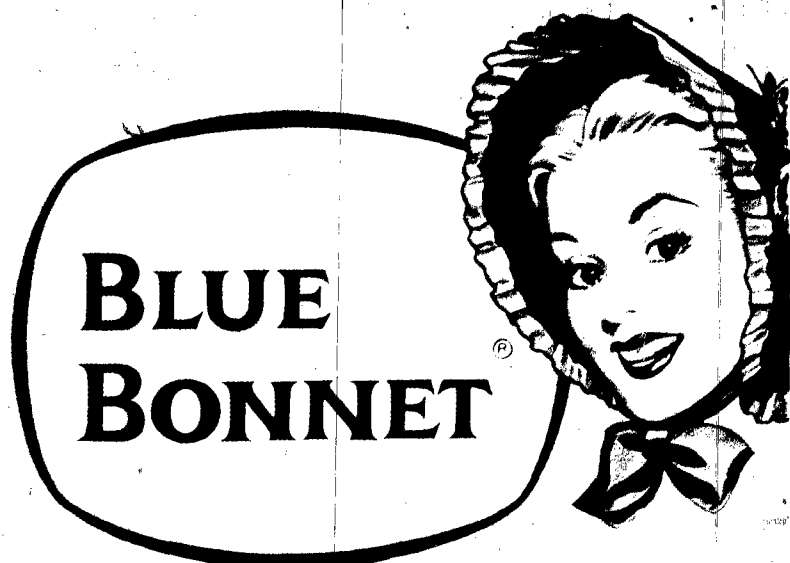

¾ cup sugar	½ teaspoon vanilla
¾ cup light corn syrup	¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup (1 stick) Blue Bonnet Margarine	1 8-inch pastry shell, unbaked
3 eggs	¼ cup jelly, melted

Blend sugar, syrup and Blue Bonnet Margarine together in a saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil. Beat eggs. Blend hot mixture slowly into eggs. Stir in vanilla and salt. Pour into unbaked pastry shell. Bake in a moderate oven (375°F.) for about 40-45 minutes. Let pie cool about 10 minutes. Pour melted jelly over top of pie. Serve when pie has completely cooled and jelly has set.

SAUCY HAM 'N YAM LOAF

- | | |
|---|---|
| 2 cans (10½ ounces each) condensed cream of mushroom soup | 4 cups mashed cooked yams or 2 cans (1 pound each) yams, mashed |
| 2 pounds ground ham | 2 cups chopped celery |
| 1 pound ground pork | 1½ cups chopped California walnuts |
| 2 slices bread, torn into small pieces | 1 teaspoon nutmeg |
| ¾ cup finely chopped onion | ¾ cup sour cream |
| 2 eggs, slightly beaten | 4 teaspoons prepared mustard or 1 tablespoon horseradish |
| ¼ teaspoon pepper | |

Combine ½ cup soup with ham, pork, bread, onion, eggs, and pepper. Mix thoroughly; divide in half. On wax paper, firmly shape each half into a 10x16-inch piece. Combine yams, celery, walnuts, and nutmeg; spread half on each piece meat within 1 inch of edges. Roll up, peeling off wax paper. Pat ends firmly to seal. Place, seam side down, in shallow baking dishes. Bake at 350°F. for 1½ hours or until done. Meanwhile, in saucepan, combine remaining soup, sour cream, and mustard. Heat; stir now and then. Serve with loaves. Makes 12 servings.

PINEAPPLE MALLOW SALAD

- | | |
|---|-------------------------------|
| 1 can (20 ounce) or 2½ cups crushed pineapple | 2 tablespoons lemon juice |
| ¼ cup sugar | 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel |
| ½ teaspoon salt | ¾ cup whipping cream |
| 2 tablespoons flour | 2 cups miniature marshmallows |
| 1 egg | |

Drain crushed pineapple, reserving sirup. Combine sugar, salt, and flour in a saucepan. Add egg and blend thoroughly. Stir in pineapple sirup. Cook, stirring constantly until thick and smooth. Remove from heat and add lemon juice and peel. Cover and chill. Whip cream stiff and fold into pineapple mixture. Fold in miniature marshmallows and crushed pineapple. If desired ¼ cup quartered maraschino cherries may be added. Chill 4-6 hours or overnight. Serve in lettuce cups. 5-6 servings.

OATMEAL REFRIGERATOR ROLLS

- | | |
|---|------------------------------|
| 1 cake compressed or 1 package dry granular yeast | 3 tablespoons corn sirup |
| ½ cup lukewarm water | 1½ teaspoons salt |
| ½ cup margarine | 1 cup rolled oats |
| ½ cup boiling water | 1 egg |
| | 2½ cups sifted flour (about) |

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Combine margarine, boiling water, corn sirup, salt and rolled oats and mix well; cool to lukewarm. Add egg and softened yeast and mix well; stir in enough flour to make a soft dough and beat well. Cover and chill in refrigerator. Form dough into small balls; place in greased muffin pans (bottom diameter, 2 inches). Cover and let rise in a warm place about 2 hours or until almost doubled in bulk. Bake at 425° about 17 minutes. Yield: 2 dozen rolls. NOTE: If rolls made earlier, to reheat place in heavy paper bag, sprinkle bag with water, heat in 400° oven for 10 minutes or heat in bun warmer on top of the stove.

CELEBRATION PUNCH

- | | |
|----------------------------|--------------------------|
| 2 quarts apple cider | 2 teaspoons whole cloves |
| 2 teaspoons whole allspice | 4 cinnamon sticks |

Pour cider into large saucepan; add spices, tied loosely in porous cloth. Cover; simmer 20 minutes. Remove spices. Serve hot with twist of orange peel in each cup.

CHOCOLATE ANGEL PIE

- | | |
|--|-----------------------------|
| 3 egg whites | 1 tablespoon instant coffee |
| ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar | ¼ cup boiling water |
| ¼ teaspoon salt | 1 teaspoon vanilla |
| ¾ cup sugar | 1 cup heavy cream, whipped |
| 2 packages (2 cups) semi-sweet chocolate morsels | |

Beat egg whites until foamy; add cream of tartar and salt; beat until stiff, but not dry. Gradually add sugar, beating until very stiff. Cover baking sheet with heavy brown paper. Pile about two-thirds of the meringue into a round pan, 7 inches in diameter. Make a depression in the center, leaving an inch around the sides. Spoon remaining meringue in mounds around edge. Bake in a very slow oven, (275°F.) 1 hour. While meringue is baking, melt semi-sweet chocolate morsels over hot, not boiling water. Combine instant coffee and boiling water; stir into chocolate with vanilla; beat until smooth. Cool. Fold in whipped cream; turn into cooled meringue shell. Chill. Yield: 8 servings.

WALNUT CHEESE STICKS

- | | |
|------------------------------|--|
| 1 cup creamed cottage cheese | ¼ cup brown sugar, firmly packed |
| 1 cup margarine | ¾ cup California walnuts, finely chopped |
| 2 cups flour | |
| ¼ cup margarine, melted | |

Blend cottage cheese and margarine together with fork. Sift flour, measure, and sift again into the cottage cheese mixture, and blend until dough holds together. Roll out on a lightly floured board until ¼ inch thick. Spread dough with melted margarine, then sprinkle with brown sugar and nut meats. Cut into triangles three inches wide at base. Beginning at the base of the triangle, roll dough with the point side on the bottom, and bake in a hot oven (400°) for 20 minutes, or until golden brown. Makes 3 dozen.

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1 large onion, chopped | ¾ cup liquid from mushrooms |
| ¼ cup margarine | ½ teaspoon salt |
| 2 eggs, slightly beaten | ¼ teaspoon pepper |
| ½ cup light cream | 1 cup saltine cracker crumbs, finely rolled (about 25) |
| 4 4-ounce cans sliced mushrooms, drained, reserve ¾ cup liquid | 4 ounces pasteurized process cheese spread, cubed |

Saute onion in margarine. Combine the remaining ingredients. Add sauteed onion. Mix well. Pour in a greased 1½ quart ovenproof dish. Bake at 350° covered for 30 minutes. Remove cover and continue cooking 30 minutes.
