

WSC Campus Displays Will Draw Thousands to Wayne

Wayne State's campus will be unusually worth seeing Thursday evening, when all the homecoming displays are unveiled to the public.

Seven o'clock is the time when all of them are to be ready-lighted and in many cases animated to depict scenes of homecoming's "Camelot" theme.

Visitors are urged to drive through the campus a time or two to view the displays. Since parking always is in short supply, it may be difficult to park on campus, but walking visitors are welcome too.

Homecoming's inaugural was scheduled for Wednesday evening with coronation of the queen at 7:30 in Rice Auditorium a ceremony open to the public.

Another event open to everybody is the Greek "Olympics" at 7 p.m. Friday in the Willow Bowl. In addition to a variety of tournament games, the sponsoring fraternities and sororities will crown one sorority co-ed as Helen of Troy—a new title in WSC history.

Saturday activities likewise are open to the public. See DISPLAYS, page 8

Special Color Process Used

Today's issue marks another first for The Wayne Herald. In the special section printed for the open house and dedication of the new high school a process color picture of the new school building and three high school girls was used.

Printing of the picture includes an involved process wherein the picture is taken on a color negative, then the colors are separated with the red on one plate, the blue on another and the yellow on still another.

When the paper is run through our press, the tiny dots of each color are placed so they are side-by-side with other color dots, all blending together to produce the various colors and shades.

Each color is printed at a different station on the press and must be registered to exact location for proper color and definition.

Brain, Tongue Among Items Set for Meals

How long has it been since you had brain or tongue on the menu at your house? Home extension clubs will be finding out that these are food items too at the November meetings.

Margaret Ann Stahly, area home economics agent at Concord's Northeast Station, points out that brains, tongue, liver, kidney and sweetbreads are often neglected by homemakers but their use can add interest to meals as well as provide essential nutrients.

"Variety Meats" they are called and that's the topic of the November lessons. Included will be information on the meats, their food values and various ways to prepare them.

Training sessions will be held at the following locations: Oct. 23, Northeast Station; Oct. 24, REA Building, Emerson; Oct. 25, City Auditorium, Hartington; Oct. 30, Clarence Schroeder home, Hoskins; and Oct. 31, 4-H Building, Walthill.

It is hoped the lessons will help homemakers appreciate BRAIN, page 8

TWO WAYNE SCHOOLS, elementary in front, new high school in back, are shown in this view. This shot was taken because all other pictures of the high school in this issue of the paper are of the front. This is a view of both schools from the south, the elementary school, the rear of the high school.

Open house at the beautiful new Wayne High School will be held Sunday, Oct. 22, from 2 to 5 p.m. A short program will kick-off the observance at 2 p.m. in the lecture hall. Supt. Francis Haun points out that visitors are welcome to come and go as they please. Parking will be available at the high school lots and if there is an overflow there, parking is to be available at the elementary school, which is connected to WHS with concrete walks. All doors will be open, teachers will be in the various rooms and visitors are welcome to ask questions, visit in all departments and ask what certain features are for and what lies behind some doors that are closed. The entire school belongs to the public and the public is entitled to see it all, the board and administration feel.

The program at 2 will have Lynn Roberts, president of the board of education, presiding. Musical prelude will be by the WHS band directed by Donald Schumacher. Presentation of colors by Scout Troop 221, Pledge of Allegiance by all and invocation by Rev. John Voth, president of the Wayne Ministerial Association, will open the program.

Dedicatory remarks and introductions will be made by Dean Pierson, vice president of the District 17 board. Ellery Davis, architect, will present keys to the building with Roberts accepting for the board. Prin. Fred Rickers for the school, Beulah Bohnhoff for the staff and Jo Morrison, student council president, for the pupils.

Supt. Haun will acknowledge gifts, special donations. See OPEN HOUSE, page 8

Legion, Auxiliary Hold County Meet in Wayne

The annual county American Legion-Legion Auxiliary convention will be held Thursday, Oct. 19, at 8:15 p.m. in the Wayne City Auditorium. After separate Legion and Auxiliary sessions, the two will join for a program and lunch.

Mrs. Herb Lutz, Wayne, is president of the Auxiliary with Mrs. Norman Deck, Winside, vice president and Mrs. Charles Whitney, Carroll, secretary-treasurer. County Legion commander is Jim Pokett with Chris Bargholz vice commander and Jean Nuss adjutant. All are from Wayne.

There are three Legion posts in the county, each with an auxiliary. They are Carroll, Winside and Wayne. Each is to provide a feature for the program. Election of officers will be the main business to come before the sessions. Laurel Hermebracht, Bancroft, third district commander, is among the distinguished guests expected. Mrs. Ralph Beerman, District III Auxiliary president, will also attend.

It is stressed that this convention is open to all county Legion and Auxiliary members. In the past, some have felt that only "delegates" may attend. There are no delegates, all members being welcome.

Airman, Pair of Soldiers Recipients of SWAY Gift

An airman and two soldiers were honored Friday when their names were drawn for the weekly Servicemen We Appreciate You gifts, letters and list of supporters from Altona, Wayne and Winside business and professional people.

The names drawn were those of Ivan Koepke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Koepke, Hoskins; Roger Denesia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Denesia, Wayne; and Roger Wattier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Wattier, Wayne County residents living on the Randolph mail route west of Sholes at the Wayne-Pierce County line.

Wattier is a 1965 graduate of Randolph St. Francis and entered the army in January, 1966. He served at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., and Ft. Leonard, Md., before being sent

No Draft Calls Set Next Month

According to Selective Service Clerk Mrs. Jewell Cawner, no calls for induction are set in Wayne County in November. There are none scheduled this month, as previously announced.

With no calls next month, it will make three months in a row in which the county has had no inductions. Last time any young men left here for Omaha and induction was in August.

According to Mrs. Cawner, physicals are still being taken by young men eligible for the draft. A group took physicals in September, another in October and she has no word yet on whether there will be any called for physicals in November.

Chances of Bus Service Look More Remote Now

It appears that most of the people who wanted bus service for school children living in town wanted it only if it would be provided by the district. Bill Denkinger reports only about 80 indicated their children would ride buses in town (and some of them said "in bad weather only").

Because at least 100 regular riders would be needed to make such a bus system pay off, the chances for starting bus service are more remote now. However, Denkinger said he would give parents a little more time to think it over before making a final decision.

This appears to be the final chance to get bus service. See BUSES, page 8

Two Commended for Scholarship Tests

Eric Nedergaard and James Williams of Wayne High School have been commended for their high performance on the 1967 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Tests. Nedergaard is the son of the Gordon Nedergaards and Williams no longer lives here, moving with his parents, his father formerly teaching at WSC.

Counselor Ken Deissler said the pair are the second and third to be honored at WHS. Previously Tom Havener was revealed as a semi-finalist in the tests. Nedergaard and Williams are among those in the See SCHOLARSHIP, page 8

Tax Commissioner in City for Friday Talk

M. B. McNeil, Nebraska tax commissioner, will speak Friday, Oct. 20, at 12:30 p.m. at Room 4, Connell Hall, WSC. The public is invited to attend.

McNeil will talk to students, faculty and the public on the administrative difficulties of the general property tax. A question and answer period will follow with McNeil answering questions regarding administrative aspects of taxation at the state government level.

Any businessmen or others interested are invited, according to James Maynard, assistant professor of economics, who is in charge. Details on the session can be obtained by calling him. See LICENSES, page 8

Many Present at VFW Convention

Llewelyn B. Whitmore Post 5291 VFW and Auxiliary hosted the District III VFW fall conference Sunday with 165 registering. Events were held in the Wayne National Guard Armory and St. Mary's Catholic School.

Visiting dignitaries included: Joe Sedlacek, state commander, Clarkson; Frances Craig, state Auxiliary president, Sidney; District Commander Harley Vollbrecht, Stanton; and District Auxiliary President Freida Swanson, Randolph.

Local dignitaries guests for the noon dinner at St. Mary's included Mayor and Mrs. Bill Koerber; Charles McDermott, president of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce. See VFW, page 8

Board Will Hear from All Towns

All towns that have submitted proposals for locating the Northeast vocational-technical school in their communities will be given a chance to present their cases at hearings of the board, it was decided Thursday night at a meeting in Norfolk. This means 12 towns will be heard.

Lots were drawn at the meeting to decide what order the hearings will be held. It was decided each town would be given 30 minutes for presentation of cases.

In instances where towns are supporting one central location, the board suggested they prepare a single half-hour presentation. Main such group active is one supporting a location at the geographical center of the district.

Wayne, Pilger, Wisner, Emerson and Plainview will present their reports Oct. 26; Osmond, Laurel, Norfolk, O'Neill and Neligh, Nov. 2; and Tilden, Randolph. See VO-TECH, page 8

Third Area Fire Reported Monday

It all started Friday the 13th. Wayne had gone 10 1/2 weeks without a fire. Then firemen were called to a farm fire southwest of town Friday. Sunday another fire was reported south of town and Monday a third fire was reported south of Wayne.

Details on the Sunday blaze are contained in another article. Monday's fire was not far away and the alarm for it was turned in by the same man, Ivan Frese. He had seen the See FIRE, page 8

Winside's Homecoming Covers Two-Day Period

Homecoming for Winside High School will be held Thursday and Friday under sponsorship of the student council, Pep Club and W Club. Some of the features are new this year.

Activities start Thursday at 8 p.m. at the football field where a girls' football game will be played. A bonfire and a pep rally will be featured.

Friday afternoon the traditional skits will be presented by classes competing for prizes. They will also have homecoming displays on the terraces east of the school with prizes offered in that division also.

After skits there will be a "protest march" to the downtown area, taking the place of the traditional snake dance. Pupils will carry placards protesting the idea of a Coleridge win.

The Winside-Coleridge game at 7:30 will be the feature. At halftime, four candidates for king and four candidates for queen will be introduced and the attendants from each class, one boy and one girl from each, will be introduced.

King and queen candidates were chosen last week, four football boys from the senior class and four girls from the Pep Club in the senior class being named by vote of the student body. The same group voted for the attendants from football and Pep Club members this week.

Queen candidates almost all have the same first name. They are Diane Krueger, Diane Mann, Diane See WINSIDE, page 8

Teacher, Pupils Recall Schooldays Of 65 Years Ago

Nelse Granquist was host Sunday to his former schoolmates and teacher who had spent five years together in District 57 in the early 1900's. The table was decorated with two large cakes. One depicted school days in 1901 and the other was a birthday cake honoring the teacher, Mrs. Maude Aufer, 89, and one of her former pupils, Anton Granquist, 78.

"Teacher" rang the school bell and called the roll, Nelse Granquist, Anna Gamble, Tillie Odgaard, Anton Granquist, Hanna Gamble, Belle Nolan, Torrington, Wyo., Carl Granquist, Levi Thompson, Hazel Rubbeck, O'Neill, Julia Surber and John Surber. Each "pupil" recalled a school event of 65 years ago. Guests other than the pupils were Mrs. J. Surber, Mrs. A. Granquist, Lyle Gamble and Mr. and Mrs. L. Johnson, Wakefield. Earlier in the week, Co. Spt. Gladys Porter and the present teacher, Mrs. Sharon Young, had arranged for Mrs. Aufer and some of her pupils to visit the school while it was in session. Mrs. Aufer called the 1967 pupils from recess just as she had done in 1901. She and some of the former students were called to the front of the room "to recite" while pictures were taken. Later the group toured in the area to see former homes of the pupils.

Carroll Club's Members Same

Membership in a Carroll club has remained unchanged for over 15 years. However, the GST Club is wondering if the "GST" might not have new meaning now.

The GST Club was organized in October, 1952, when over two dozen couples were invited to form a club for playing bridge. First meeting was held at the Bob Johnson home and eight couples showed up. Those eight couples are still members and there have been no drop-outs or additions.

GST was supposed to stand for "Grandma Sits Tonight." However, whereas there were only 6 children to sit with at that time and there are 23 now (none of them married) so GST might be considered to mean "Grandparents Some Time" in 1967.

Instead of grandmas sitting with the children, the older children are sitting with the smaller ones. Once in a while some guests are invited for those absent or in addition to the membership but otherwise the club personnel remains the same.

Eight parties a year are held with men and women playing bridge—a game only one couple knew how to play 15 years ago. Four other parties are held during the summer months with just the women present, two hostesses having charge of each of these and one hostess entertaining at each of the other eight.

Members in 1952 and still members now are the Lynn Robertses, Wayne Kerstines, Stanley Morris, Bob Johnsons, Erwin Morris, John Paulsens, Merlin Kenney and Dean Owens.

Helgren, Wayne president, Frances Craig, state president, Sidney, Freida Swanson, district president, Randolph, Nina Lanphear, district secretary, Randolph, and Marie Starman, district treasurer, Elgin

Three Concerts for Singers in Region

Three concerts, two in Wayne and one in Obert, will be given Sunday by The Charis Tones from Grace Bible Institute, Omaha, according to Rev. Frank Pedersen, pastor of Baptist churches in Wayne and Obert. Rev. Russell Jones of GBI will accompany the singers and will speak.

Wayne Baptist Church will have services featuring the singers and speaker at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Obert Baptist Church will have them for a homecoming service at 2:30.

Rev. Pedersen said four young women will present a musical program of vocal quartet, trio, duet and solo arrangements. Personal testimonies will "add flavor" to arrangements of gospel songs and well-known hymns.

Traveling with The Charis Tones will be Rev. Jones, an instructor at GBI since 1955. He has worked with the Back to the Bible Broadcast, served as librarian and now teaches Bible.

Girls in the group are Myrna Friesen, alto; Jeanette Hiebert, soprano; Rosan Seibel, second soprano; and Norma Udd, accompanist and alto. They are among 429 enrolled in the Grace Bible Institute.

William Jewell Faces WSC Saturday for Homecoming

William Jewell College's unbeaten football team comes to Wayne Saturday afternoon for a 2 o'clock homecoming clash with Wayne State, and the computer-of-past-performances comes up with this prediction—the game should be a corker for excitement.

The computer digested such facts as these:

—Wayne defeated Jewell in both their previous games, 12-0 to spoil a Jewell homecoming for the first time in 15 years, in 1964; 23-14 to brighten Wayne's 1965 homecoming.

Both games kept the fans on edge until the final second because anything could happen, and fast.

—Jewell has won all five games this year with a scoring margin of 119 to 86. Coach Norris Patterson has a record of 120-3-8 at the Liberty, Mo., college, which calls itself the "Campus of Champions."

—Wayne State has a 4-2 record with a young team capable of explosive offense, especially in the air, and a defense which has harassed every foe, even in defeat.

—Wildcat quarterback Steve Gunther has made the national NIA charts with his passing average. After five games his per-game clip is 163 yards for a total of 978.

The computer, unfortunately, does not pick the winner, but the teams and fans can do their own picking.

Wayne downed Peru State last Saturday for the sixth straight year. The 14-7 score raised Wildcat scoring in that span to 184 points compared with Peru's 21.

Wayne reached the goal-line in the second quarter on a Gunther to Jerry Lindke pass for six yards, followed by Don Grubaugh's conversion kick. Before that touchdown and after it until the fourth quarter, the game was a smashing defensive battle which produced eight fumbles, five of them lost, and three interceptions. Most of these miscues stopped scoring threats.

Stellar punting—both teams averaged 42 yards—also played a strong role. For instance, Mike Fox boomed an 80-yarder which put Peru back on its 16. The next Bobcat series failed to move, and Wayne had good position for its first touchdown drive.

Later in that second quarter Fox performed another gem—running after he muffed a center pass momentarily. Unable to kick, he wove his way behind fine blocking for 11 yards. Peru defense stopped the Wildcats four plays later, on the Bobcat 12.

The second half continued to be a pain for both offensive units. Interceptions, lost fumbles, and stubborn defense halted every thrust until Wayne's 75-yard effort in the fourth quarter yielded a Gunther to Roger Parr touchdown pass for 17 yards. The drive included a 35-yard pass to Sam Singleton. Grubaugh made it 14-0 with a kick.

A Wayne fumble lost on the Wildcat 13 set up Peru's touchdown series, capped by a pass from quarterback Rich Guzinski to halfback Ron Peck. Dan Nix kicked the point, 2-05 left to play.

Peru recovered another Wayne fumble, with 12 left on the Peru 34. Guzinski, trying to pass, was chased around the backfield until he unloaded an off-balance pass to Peck, who ran it out of bounds on the Wayne 37, two seconds left. Peru's homecoming crowd lived again, but not long as Guzinski's final pass fell incomplete.

Three Under Course Record When Wayne State Wins Cross Country

Wayne State defeated Kearney State and Nebraska Wesleyan in triangular cross country meet here Friday as the host Wildcats won five of the first places for a score of 20. Kearney tallied 37, Wesleyan 72.

A. D. Benson, Wayne, blazed a four-mile course record of 20:27, 41 seconds under his old mark of 21:08. Teammate Jim Betts finished second at 20:59. Bill Young of Kearney third at 21:05, both under the course record.

Dennis Kasischke, Wayne, was fourth with a 21:21 clocking, followed by Larry Kuehl, Wayne, 21:28; Rich Molcuyk, Kearney, 21:34; Vincent Zavala, Kearney, 21:38; Jim Forbes, Wayne, 21:41; Dan Fores, Kearney 22:01; Larry Stephens, Wesleyan, 22:04, in the first ten.

Also scoring were, for Kearney, Eldon Stokeland, 12th, and for Wesleyan, Jim Comstock, 11th; Joe Rohack, 15th; Martin Rystrom, 18th, and Jack McVay, 28th.

Wayne's victory ended a long Kearney domination in cross country.

"Now our goal is to beat Peru in the conference meet here Oct. 28," said Coach Bill Silverberg, "and the recent improvement shows that's possible." Peru downed Wayne in a quadrangular here two weeks ago.

Next on the WSC schedule is the Yankton invitational meet Saturday morning.

Kearney Freshmen in Defeat of WSC Frosh

Defense dominated as Kearney State's reserve football team edged Wayne State's reserves, 15-12 here Monday.

Defensive players scored three of the four touchdowns. The only offensive tally came on a pass by Wayne quarterback Chuck Trickler to end Mike Fosdick for 46 yards. Wayne's other touchdown was on a 50-yard punt return by halfback Greg Walker.

Kearney defensive halfback went 20 yards with a fumble return to score in the first quarter, and Doug Shada kicked the point.

Gerald Jacobson's 60-yard punt return in the third period put Kearney ahead, 13-12. A safety added the other two points when Trickler was trapped in the end zone on a pass attempt late in the fourth.

Defense also had its day in throttling gains by ground or air. Kearney rushed for 98, passed for 35 while Wayne had 55 rushing and 109 passing.

Wayne led at the half 12-7.

Dozen Football Tilts Scheduled One Week

The area offers football in generous proportions in the period Oct. 19-25. There are an even dozen games those seven days.

It starts off Thursday, Oct. 19, with Stanton Freshmen playing Wayne here at 5 and Wayne Junior High at Wynot at 5:15. Friday, Oct. 20, there are four varsity games at 7:30, West Point Central Catholic at Wayne, Coleridge at Winside, Allen at Randolph and West Point at Wakefield.

Monday, Oct. 23, South Sioux City Sophomores play at Wayne at 4 and Tuesday, Oct. 24, West Point Central Catholic Freshmen play Wayne here at 4.

Because of teachers' convention, varsity teams play their games Wednesday next week.

Two Teams Top Cross Country

Central harriers took the next three places: Rich Wilson, 9:36; Steve Koson, 9:49, and Bob Schwinn, 9:51. Joe Onstott of Fremont was fifth at 9:56—still under the old record. A chilly wind of 30 to 35 miles an hour probably added several seconds to the times.

Dave Olson, Fremont, was sixth at 10:01, followed by Kit Thanel, Norfolk, 10:04; Al Hendershot, Sioux City Central, 10:15; Tom Ryan, Fremont, 10:28; and Ron Tietgen, Norfolk, 10:44, in the first ten.

In team scoring—with only the first three counted—Central tallied 6, Fremont 20, Norfolk 30.

For Crofton, the championship was a routine achievement. Eight of the 10 years Crofton has won its class or the meet when it had only one class.

Keith Kube, Crofton, won at 10:05, tying the Class B mark set by Skip McMaster, Hooper, in 1963, and equaled by Glenn Loecker, Crofton, in 1965. Mike Kube came in second at 10:13; Max Doer, Crofton, third at 10:20; Rich Woodman, Crofton, fourth, 10:21; Keith Naber, Uehling, fifth, 10:23.

The next 10: Joel Stelacek, Pocahontas, Ia., 10:27; Nelvin Bailey, Plainview, 10:28; Dale Arens, Crofton, 10:30; David Donner, Crofton, 10:31, and Earl Peterson, O'Neill, 10:41; Paul Jakubowski, O'Neill, 10:42; Tom Holmes, Plainview, 10:43; Randy Eymann, O'Neill, 10:47; Jim Glover, Crofton, 10:48; Kevin Naber, Uehling, 10:51.

Class B team scoring: Crofton, 7; O'Neill, 34; Uehling and Plainview, 37; Crofton, 41; Pocahontas, 47; Hooper, 89; Wayne, 112.

Wayne B-Bombers in Rout of Plainview

The Wayne B-Bombers rolled over Plainview with ease Monday afternoon on the Plainview gridiron. Coach John Tollakson used most of his players in the 40-7 rout of the host team.

South Sioux City Sophomores will be here at 4 Monday for a game. It will be the last reserve tilt of the season.

Wayne started off by recovering a short kick on the 50. Scott Kerl covering the ball, Mike Biltoff gained 20. Plainview held, fumbled the ball the first play and Wayne recovered on the 28. Ted Armbruster passed to Jerry Titze for 28 yards and a touchdown to give the locals a 6-0 lead.

On the second play from scrimmage after the kick-off, Vaughn North stole the ball and ran 53 yards to scoring territory only to have the run called back.

Eighteen Schools Sending Runners Here Friday for District Finals

Eighteen schools, eight in Class B and ten in Class C, have entered the district cross country finals in Wayne Friday. Harold Maciejewski, athletic director at Wayne High School, will be in charge.

Class C competition gets underway at 2 on the WSC course. The Class B meet will follow at 2:45. Runners will go a 1.9-mile distance. Four runners will be on a team with two beautiful trophies given by the state, one for each winning team. In addition, members of the winning teams get individual medals and the first five individuals in each class get medals. The first six men and the first three teams in each class qualify for the state meet.

Class C schools are Allen, Bassett, Clarkson, Creighton, Crofton, Hooper, Plainview, Atkinson St. Joseph, Uehling and Wynot. Class B schools entered are Ainsworth, Blair, Bloomfield, Fremont, Bergan, O'Neill, Schuyler, Wahoo and Wayne.

FINISHING FIRST among Wayne High cross country runners was Scott Kraemaer, shown finishing the 1.9 mile race.

Over 300 Attend Tillage Day Here

Over 300 farmers took time off at a busy time of year to attend the minimum tillage field day at the Ivan Frese and Bob Shulthess farms west of Wayne Tuesday. Considering the season, the turn-out was excellent.

Actual harvest yields showed a variance from 90 to 125 bushels to the acre. However, there was no significant difference between yields on 30-inch and 40-inch rows.

Case, John Deere and International combines with cornheads were demonstrated for the farmers. Those attending could also see the results of use of different fertilizers and various insect control chemicals in the fields.

Ideal weather for harvest and field work kept many farmers in their own fields working. However, those who did show up were genuinely interested in the results of minimum tillage demonstrations and results.

Sponsors included Sherry's Farm Service, J. R. Simplot, Red Carr Implement, Brandstetter Implement, International Harvester, DeKalb Seed Co., Standard Chemicals and Northeastern Chemicals.

on an infraction. Wayne had to kick, Biltoft booting to the 8. Two plays later Steve Mrsny tackled the ball carrier in the end zone for a safety and Wayne had an 8-0 advantage.

Biltoft returned the kickoff to the 40 only to lose the ball on a fumble. Both teams fumbled and Plainview had to kick. Biltoft returned the punt 68 yards for a touchdown but it was called back. Plainview had a touchdown but it was called back. Plainview had a punt, PHS again intercepted, this time racing 62 yards for a touchdown. Bruce Ring made the extra point to make it 40-7.

Gary Heithold kicked to the end zone. Plainview had to kick with Rick Robins running the ball back to the PHS 42. Dan Roberts gave Wayne the ball on a fumble recovery. Mike Biltoft ran 30 yards for a touchdown but it was called back. Wayne held Plainview after a punt, took over for a drive to the PHS 1-yard-line but was held there.

Mrsny, Korth, Rick Robinson and Garold Meyer were outstanding on offense.

The NORVELL Agency awarded President's Trophy for second consecutive year

When Bill Norvell accepted the President's Trophy from M. Rex Dodson at the Drake Club in Chicago last month it marked the second consecutive time this progressive group of life insurance counselors had earned this coveted honor. Last year it was the AAA trophy and this year the highest award the AAA trophy.

This award is given annually to an agency for outstanding performance during a special month set aside for sales and service to policyholders. The President's Trophy is awarded to a team effort. Any team achievement of course is the result of many individual efforts. Bill Norvell personally placed second among all contenders on a paid volume basis. In addition he and four of his career agents qualified for individual honors - the Wall of Fame - for outstanding performance during the President's Month. Bob Ditman, Dick Rimel, Paul Stelten and Clair Thompson.

What do all these honors mean? To the Norvell people they mean a very real sense of achievement. To you they mean a high degree of professional competence and the assurance that you can trust your life and health insurance needs - both personal and business - to the men of the Norvell Agency. If you'd like to learn how your individual financial needs can best be served call any one from the Norvell Agency. They're all experts.

There's more to Wide-Tracking in a '68 Pontiac than meets the eye.

Wide-Tracking is performance.
Wide-Tracking is handling.
Wide-Tracking is security.
Wide-Tracking is one of the great American sports.

Driving a new Le Mans may be even more satisfying than looking at one. The standard engine is an Overhead Cam that delivers 175 hp from regular gas. You can order a 215 hp high compression version.

Or go up to 265- or 320-hp V-8s. See your Pontiac dealer for a test drive and learn the difference between Wide-Tracking and plain ordinary driving.

to Korea in June, 1966. He volunteered to stay there four months longer than most are required to stay so he expects to get out of the army in November.

At present he is in Korea but he can give little information on his activities as his work is in security. He works in an office. Three other brothers have served in the army, Bob, Jim and Tom Wattier.

Present address is: Sp-5 Roger C. Wattier, US 55855759, HHC, 4th USAMC, APO San Francisco, Calif. 96208.

Koepke is a 1966 graduate of Pierce High School and enlisted in the army in February, 1967. He took basic training at Ft. Bliss, Tex., and then was assigned to a personnel school at Ft. Huachuca, Ariz., for eight weeks.

The eight weeks are up and his schooling is over, but Pfc. Koepke has been assigned to that base in office work. He expects to continue to be stationed there for some time.

His address looks like this: Pfc. Ivan L. Koepke, AG Personnel, USACSS/TC (6378), Ft. Huachuca, Ariz. 85613.

Denesia took officers training school and graduated as a lieutenant in February. He was assigned to the 3525th Pilot Training Wing at Williams AFB, Chandler, Ariz., as assistant training officer in charge of foreign students.

He is in the administrative service and has around 100 young airmen from many nations to watch out for. Last Saturday he returned from the Pentagon, Washington, D. C., where he had spent a week at a seminar on training foreign airmen.

Lt. Denesia is married to the former Judy Kollmorgen, Wayne. His address now is: Lt. Roger Denesia, 690 W. Galveston, No. 1, Chandler, Ariz. 85224.

Delegate Selected

Mrs. Edith Cook, Carroll, teacher in District 80, was elected delegate for Wayne County Rural Teachers Association to the delegate assembly. She was chosen Friday at the all-day institute at the courthouse. Alternate is Mrs. Zita Jenkins, Carroll, teacher in District 9, Hoskins. Supt. Gladys Porter reports the delegate assembly will be held in Lincoln Dec. 15-16.

Someone May Win $200 This Week

There is a $200 check waiting to be filled out by the Wayne Chamber of Commerce Thursday. The name that goes on it will depend on whether or not there is a winner in the Silver Dollar Night drawing at 8.

Doris Ann Henry, Laurel, could have had $150 by being here last Thursday evening. A consolation check of $10 has been sent to her.

You must be in a participating business place at 8 in order to win. Rules do not provide for coming in later than that and claiming the prize.

If you have not registered and you are over 18 years of age, you are eligible. Most business places in and near Wayne sponsor the weekly Thursday night drawings.

Freshmen Get Results

Freshmen at Wayne High School are learning the results of the achievement tests they took recently. Counselor Ken Deissler has been interpreting scores for members of the class.

starting with open house at 10 a.m. in all campus buildings. An alumni lunch from 11 to 1 in the Student Center is scheduled. Then the focus turns to Memorial Stadium with pre-game ceremonies at 1:30 and the Wayne State-William Jewell football game at 2.

A smorgasbord dinner from 4:30 to 6:30 in the Student Center is open to alumni and Wayne visitors.

Folks who like to dance will want to attend the homecoming ball at 9 in Rice. The orchestra is Jan Garber's, long a dance-music favorite. Wayne people will be especially interested in a feature soloist with the orchestra—Marlin Nielsen, a 1963 WSC graduate. Before coming to Wayne, he had already sung with Garber, and since graduation and a year of teaching, Nielsen has been a Garber vocalist for two years.

the noon hours. The office is not open at all on Saturdays.

No tests are required this year. Licenses may be brought in for several members at once, this being necessary in the new state set-up whereby each person renews so licenses expire on his birthday.

Miss Bahde reports two examiners will start giving driving tests in Wayne each Monday starting Nov. 1. They will not be here other days of the week. These men start in November because the driver's tests can be taken any time 60 days before licenses expire and some people with birthdays in January will be allowed to take their tests prior to their January birthdays.

Lines have been forming at the treasurer's office this week. However, even with those who have renewed during the present week it is anticipated there will be a crush of applicants for renewals during the eight remaining working days before licenses expire.

Commerce; Commander and Mrs. Carl Scheel, Wayne American Legion; and Commander and Mrs. Walker Chinn, Wayne DAV. Cleto Sharer, local post commander, was master of ceremonies for the noon dinner program. Vollbrecht presided over the business and resolutions session in the armory.

Of the 15 posts in the district, 12 posts were represented, 10 by post commanders. A social hour in the armory preceded the noon dinner.

Mrs. Swanson conducted the Auxiliary session. Short talks were given by Frances Craig; Clara Andrews, Norfolk, past department president; Marian Pratt, Elgin, past department president; Dorothy Dendinger, Hartington, department treasurer; Myrna Vollbrecht, Stanton, department chaplain; and Phyllis Olson, Hartington, department color bearer.

Dolly Kruse, Norfolk, hospital chairman, gave a report on parties held at Norfolk State Hospital for veterans and for the Soldiers and Sailors Annex. She asked for lap robes, scuffies, favors and table decorations for the holidays.

All Auxiliaries reported on work the past year. Memorial services were held for ten deceased district members who succumbed since Jan. 1.

The Wayne post and chapter were hosts for an evening luncheon and dancing. Creighton was awarded the spring conference.

service for those living in town. No one else has indicated any interest in operating a private bus line and the district finds it impossible to provide such service.

Denkinger said the fare would not be high considering his purchase of the bus, the special license required, the taxes, insurance, drivers to be hired and the time and effort he has put in and will have to put in.

Not all parents have responded to the survey. Others may want to be more definite or reconsider. At any rate, there are a few more days left to find out the public's wishes and then the decision will be made once and for all.

Louise Kamish Wins FHA Creed Contest

Louise Kamish, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Kamish, represented Wayne High School in the district FHA creed speaking contest at Norfolk Saturday. She had been named local winner prior to the Norfolk contest.

Miss Kamish was among nine entries from the district. Winner was a girl from Wisner, the school that also won the trophy for the best all-around FHA chapter in the district.

Homemaking instructor, Mrs. Marie Mohr took 52 girls to the convention. Mrs. Cyril Swanson was the only chapter mother able to accompany them.

Mary Lou Sieger was installed as district historian. Other district officers were also installed.

Wayne FHA is working on plans for its next project. That is the UNICEF fund drive to be held at Halloween, details being promised for next Thursday's paper.

O. HAYDN OWENS, son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Owens, Carroll, has been employed as fieldman for the Federal Land Bank Association, Mount Pleasant, Ia. Owens has a master's degree in agricultural education from NU and taught vocational agriculture 16 years, the last 10 at Howells. He and his wife, Genevieve, have five children, Denny 14, Steve 12, Greg 11, Karen 9 and Nancy 7.

fire in the haystack on the Mohr farm Sunday.

The fire Monday evening occurred in the Frese home a mile south of Wayne on Highway 15. Rolls of wallpaper laying on top of an electric stove on the second floor of the home caught fire.

Chief Ivan Beeks said firemen had difficulty getting in due to the smoke but had the fire out in a short period. Little damage was done by the fire but there was considerable smoke damage to the interior of the Frese home.

LOUISE KAMISH won the creed speaking contest for Wayne FHA members and competed in the district contest at Norfolk Saturday.

Three Cars, Building Damaged in Accident

Three vehicles and a business building were damaged in a traffic mishap at Third and Pearl Friday. No one was injured, according to Melvin Lamb, investigating officer.

Ernest Krieger, Wayne, was coming out of a parking lot on the south side of the street. His car went across the street and struck two parked cars, sending one onto the sidewalk.

The car going onto the walk is owned by Alice Herscheid, Winside. It broke a window out of the building occupied by Northern Propane Gas Co.

Struck on the left front side was another parked car. It was left there by Mrs. John H. Mohr, Wayne.

The Krieger car came to a stop headed in a southwesterly direction on the walk in front of the propane firm. It had been headed northwest before the mishap.

Stanton, Wakefield and Crofton had indicated an interest in the site but did not turn in formal application cards. Emerson has been working on getting support for locating the school there but the board had no representative make a formal bid for being included prior to the Thursday meeting.

Size of the site needed for the school has not been set. At first the board thought 30 to 40 acres would be sufficient but comments since have indicated some people think this is not enough room and others think it is too much room.

There are ten board members, no two from the same town. Wayne County's representative on the board is Alan Cramer, Dixon County's representative is Craig Williams, Allen.

Although those commended get no chance for Merit Scholarship, their records are considered worthy of public recognition. They also show potential to be successful in college and later life.

Commended students' names are reported to other scholarship-granting agencies and to the colleges they named as first and second choices when taking the tests. In this way it is hoped some scholastic aid will be offered those commended.

Academy of Science Meeting Held Here

Northeast Nebraska section of the Junior Academy of Science met Saturday at the Wayne State College campus. Marlin Barnes, Lyons, is president and had charge of the meeting.

Representing Wayne High were Verne Mills and Bob Porter. Winside High School representatives were Mrs. Ruth Troutman and Judene Zechin. Lowell Hunter attended from Wisner High. Members of the WSC physical and biological science departments also took part.

Another meeting is set for Jan. 13 to make preliminary plans for the annual school scientific paper presentations. That will be held Saturday, Apr. 6, at Wayne State.

Friday the 13th Bad Day for Five Friday the 13th had bad news for five individuals who appeared in the court of Judge David Hamer. They paid a total of $305 in fine and costs.

First case involved Andrew Ross, Odebolt, Ia. He paid $10 fine and $5 costs on a charge of illegal parking issued by Assistant Police Chief E. L. Hailey. Paul Mannion, Randolph, paid $15 also. His violation was failing to stop at a stop sign. Trooper R. E. Stokes, Nebraska State Patrol, filed the complaint.

A jury heard the case of John Davidson and Gregory Hugel, both of Schuyler. They were found guilty of possession of alcoholic liquor by minors and each paid $125 fine plus court costs of $5. Trooper Terry Rogers was complaining officer.

Final case involved Raymond Junch, Carroll, charged with speeding. He paid $10 fine and $5 costs. Trooper Stokes filed charges.

Two cases were heard Oct. 16. The first involved Dale Krueger, Hoskins, fined $10 plus court costs of $5 for speeding. Complaining officer was Trooper Stokes.

Diane Didier, Sioux City, paid $15 fine and costs on a speeding charge also. Officer Ron Penlerick, Wayne Police Department, signed the complaint.

Legal firearms for Nebraska's nine-day deer hunt are rifles delivering 900 foot-pounds of bullet energy or more at 100 yards, muzzle-loading rifles of .40 caliber and larger, plus hand guns of .44 Magnum, .357 Magnum, .41 Magnum, and .44 Special calibers may be used for hunting deer.

Stack's Flames Draw Onlookers Like Moths

The flames from a burning haystack a little over a mile from Wayne drew a large crowd Sunday night. Like moths drawn to a candle, the people came from every direction, especially from town. Unlike moths, no one got burned.

Firemen were called at 8:10 p.m. to the John H. Mohr land south of Wayne on Highway 15. Right behind the fire truck were dozens and dozens of vehicles. Flames lit up the cloud of smoke so high, people also came in from rural areas in all directions.

No one knows how the fire started, but combustion or a cigarette could have been the cause. At any rate, the fire was so far along before discovered, it was not possible to save the hay.

Firemen spread the stack out and let it burn. Several tons of hay were destroyed by the flames.

Wayne has now had two fires in four days. It had gone over 10 weeks without a fire previous to the two blazes Oct. 12 and 15.

Lt. Willis Penhollow Takes New Position

Lt. Willis Penhollow, son of Mrs. Phoebe Penhollow, Wayne, has accepted a position as head of the security section at the Veterans Hospital, Long Beach, Calif. He retired as head of the narcotics bureau of the Long Beach Police Department after serving 25 years.

A picture and a 30-inch story with three-column headline appeared in the Long Beach Independent-Press-Telegram when his retirement was announced. Lt. Penhollow was quoted on his views on narcotics.

The article cited him as a graduate from schools in Wayne, Harbor Junior College, Long Beach City College, Los Angeles State College and USC police science courses. He also attended an FBI course on police administration, a state bureau of narcotics course and a US Treasury training school.

He is president of the California Narcotic Officers Association and is a member of the International Narcotic Officers Association and the Long Beach and California Police Officers Association.

Lt. Penhollow was quoted on his views of Marijuana. He said it is an unpredictable drug, users becoming "lions" or "lambs." It is a cause of crime and often leads to heroin use and then to death or ruination of one's life.

He figures he has had personal contact with 5,000 people arrested on dope charges during his years in the narcotics bureau. Some were kids, getting their first "kicks." In later years he often ran into the same "kids," now grown up and either dead or severely addicted to drug use and crime.

According to Lt. Penhollow, the people involved invariably agreed that stiff punishment the first time they were caught might have saved them from drug addiction. By the time they admit this, however, it is too late and jail is the result.

When Lt. Penhollow took charge of the narcotic detail there were five men who made 158 arrests the first year, 1955. Now there are 14 men. Narcotics arrests total 914 the first nine months of this year in Long Beach.

He said due to Supreme Court rulings, judges now free on technicalities criminals who are guilty and as a result Long Beach streets, beaches and parks are not safe for the general public. He said this has to change and law officers must be allowed to protect the innocent instead of the guilty. In concluding, he had high praise for the officers, judges and other officials who operate under difficult circumstances at present, with dope addiction and associated crime ever-increasing.

Laurel Man Named to Tiemann Commission

Neal Boeshart, Laurel, has been named to Governor Norbert Tiemann's seven-man state commission on alcoholism. It was announced Monday, Oct. 9, at a meeting of the Northeast Nebraska Family and Community Affairs Council at Northeast Station, Concord.

Boeshart is chairman of the Northeast group. His new appointment is for a commission authorized by the last legislature to study alcoholism and related problems.

At the Concord meeting, the group viewed a film, "Out of Orbit," and Caroline Kathol, registered nurse from Hartington, spoke briefly. She will discuss a summer workshop on alcoholism she attended last summer when the group meets again, Nov. 13 at Northeast Station.

Veterans in School Get Bigger Checks

Wayne County veterans (and others) now in school will soon receive automatic increases in their GI Bill education checks, according to Chris Bargholz, Wayne County veterans service officer.

Checks arriving in November will be larger than those previously. Rate increases were provided by a law signed last month.

Payments to single veterans taking full-time courses will go up from $100 to $130. For those with one dependent, the checks will be $155 instead of $125; and veterans with two dependents will receive $175 instead of $150. An additional $10 will be provided monthly for each dependent in excess of two, Bargholz said. Proportionately smaller allowances will be paid for veterans in part-time training.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

It is the duty of an editorial writer to search all available facts before he sits down to write. From this basis the writer should be able to give a clear picture of important topics.

You may not agree with an editorial — but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

What's the Matter With the VFW?

What's wrong with those fellows in the VFW anyway? We attended their fall district conference banquet in Wayne Sunday and there must be something wrong. We may know what.

We've seen it before at meetings in other localities. We see it in the VFW Magazine. It's the same old story; everywhere there's a VFW post there's the same type of individuals, the same sort of activity that makes us wonder: "What's the matter with the VFW anyway?"

These guys are out of the mainstream of American life. They're behind times. They're not "in." Maybe someone should tell them.

You can see it in the respect they show the flag. When they say the Pledge of Allegiance, they say it as if they mean it. Most of them salute, whether they have their VFW caps or uniforms on or not. They stand firm and proud.

They act patriotic. Their magazine overflows with editorials, letters and articles that spell the same thing, p-a-t-r-i-o-t-i-s-m. They served their country, were proud to do it, are proud to have helped save it and are willing to help again or have their sons and grandsons help if need be.

But they're out of step. Patriotism in the form the VFW follows is of another day. Someone should tell them to get in step.

But, no let's don't. It would be better if all of us got in step with the VFW and its auxiliary. God bless 'em, this nation needs more patriotic fervor. It needs more people who care what happens to this greatest nation on earth. It needs more who say the Pledge of Allegiance, salute the flag and sing the National Anthem as if they mean it.

What's wrong with the VFW? Nothing! The thing that is wrong is that the VFW is so unusually endowed with patriotic devotion and service it shines as a light in the darkness. What's wrong with the rest of us? We should be getting into step with the VFW.—CEG.

That Driving Course

Did Winside residents appreciate the defensive driving course? As far as could be determined, they did. In fact, one man suggested on "graduation night" it should be a required course.

His idea was not too bad. He elaborated by suggesting that if people took such a course they might not need to take the driving test the state will soon be requiring.

Actually, they would still need the test, but it's a sure thing they would stand a better chance of passing the test if they took the course. So, maybe that's the best proposition.

For those of you who are worried about taking a driving test, it is suggested that you take a defensive driving course when it is offered in your area. This is not unreasonable, since courses are being offered all over Northeast Nebraska at some time or another.

Trooper James O'Dell of the Nebraska State Patrol now devotes full time to teaching courses such as the one just completed at Winside. He may need an assistant if people catch on to the idea that passing the driving test is going to be easier if a defensive driving course has been taken.

Winside residents found it interesting, informative and maybe even lifesaving. They met once a week for four weeks. As others before them, they benefit now from knowing how to drive safely. Whether they do it or not is another matter. The point is, they have been shown how people get into accident-producing situations.

Maybe you (and your community) should be considering a defensive driving course now. Trooper O'Dell is in demand and will be in more demand from now on. Better write him at Nebraska Safety Patrol, Norfolk, if you are interested.

Getting your license renewed may depend on taking such a course. Definitely your life could.—CEG.

Homecoming at WSC

Wayne State College has come up with a new plan for homecoming this year. The plan merits interest from local residents and it all sounds so intriguing it should bring in visitors from many miles away.

No parade will be held. Instead, there will be 13 or more major displays on the campus. Dorms, sororities, fraternities and other WSC campus organizations will set up the displays, all based on a "Camelot" theme.

Parents should plan to drive through the campus with the children evenings. The displays will be animated and lighted so the children's squeals of delight should be as pleasing to the adults as to the young.

"Camelot," in case you did not know it, was a kingdom in the King Arthur days. This leads to dragons, castles, moats, knights, fair maidens and other such folklore.

There will be a moat with a bridge that raises and lowers. There will be a dragon that breathes flames, rolls his eyes and shows his teeth.

Some of the displays are as many as three stories high. One with a magician brewing a kettle of magic will stand two stories high. All will be something new and elaborate.

You are invited to walk around or drive around the campus Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. There will be traffic directors on hand to help keep traffic moving.

If you have not attended anything else at WSC recently, this is one event you should not miss. It sounds like fun. It will be fun. You're invited to attend and to bring the children. You should come the first night because you may want to return again. In other words, come a lot to Camelot.—CEG.

Only Small Towns Friendly?

Someone has asked why The Herald so often refers to the friendliness of the small towns. It is true this paper has more than a few times mentioned how friendly and helpful the people of Sholes, Winside, Hoskins, Carroll, Concord, Dixon and Allen are.

In the first place, we originally went into these towns as a stranger. They were not suspicious but welcomed us. From the first, we have been helped by people we didn't know one day and were glad to be included among the communities covered regularly by this newspaper.

But that does not mean Wayne is not friendly. We live here. We are expected to be around and give coverage. We may even be taken for granted.

When we came east from the western part of the state, we were told we would not find people as friendly here as out west. Well, after almost three years in Wayne, we can report someone is wrong, wrong, wrong.

This is a friendly city in a friendly part of the state. People are different, life is different but basically the people are the same.

Wayne is as friendly as most towns this size and friendlier than some of them. Presumably most residents do not mind if we acknowledge that this friendly city is surrounded by small and equally friendly communities.

No one ever intended to imply they have a monopoly on friendliness.—CEG.

Dr. Rogers On Staff At Hastings State Hospital

Dr. E. A. Rogers, state health director since 1951 and a member of the health department staff for 29 years, has resigned amid talk of increasing conflict between his office and some health board members.

Dr. Rogers, 58, said he will join the medical-surgical staff of the Hastings State Hospital early next year at about the same $18,000 a year salary he now gets.

"I'm moving into a job with less responsibility and more appreciation for what I do," Dr. Rogers said. It has been no secret in recent months that Dr. Rogers was disappointed with the attitude of some health board members over the state's hospital construction fund program.

However, he would not confirm nor deny that this was the reason for his stepping down. He said he gave the matter deep thought before arriving at a final decision.

The health board will name a successor with the consent of the legislature. The replacement must be a medical doctor. This will make the task difficult since the position's salary maximum is written into law.

Dr. Rogers came to the health department in 1938 as the first director of the survey of human tuberculosis in which the state initiated a tuberculin skin test program.

A native of Central City, he attended public schools there and obtained his bachelor of science degree from the old Nebraska Central College.

Dr. Rogers graduated from the University of Nebraska college of medicine in 1935, and after serving his internship at the University Hospital in Omaha, engaged in general practice at Paxton until 1938.

He continued as director of TB control programs in the health department until March, 1941, when he was called to one-year's active duty with his Army medical reserve unit.

The one year stretched into five, and Dr. Rogers served three years in this country and two in the Pacific Theater before being discharged in 1946.

He came back to the health department and soon after his return finished a year of training he had started in 1940 in public health work. He obtained his master's degree in public health administration from the University of Michigan in 1948.

Upon the resignation of Dr. Frank Ryder in 1951, he accepted appointment as acting health department director—a position he held until the board of health was instituted and he was named director in 1954.

Don't let the loading get more than five feet ahead of the drying for 25 per cent moisture sorghum. Control the relative humidity of the drying air at about 35 per cent for the first two-thirds of the drying and 55 per cent for the remainder. These are typical recommendations and performance for drying bins, but check the manufacturer's instructions before proceeding.

Recommend Weed Control
A bright, sunny October day is a more desirable time to treat many lawn and field weeds than next May or June.

This advice to farmers and homeowners comes from John Furrer, Extension pesticide specialist at the University of Nebraska.

October is an ideal month to wage war on many weed species because biennials—such as musk thistle—germinate and make early growth in the spring and summer months. By fall, they have formed a large rosette in preparation for the bloom the next spring.

Herbicide treatments aimed at the rosettes in the fall give effective weed control. Perennials, including field bindweed, Canada thistle, and leafy spurge, usually make good fall growth. Tordon, benzoic acid compounds and 2,4-D applied in October when soil moisture conditions are favorable and plants are in an excellent stage of growth will result in control equal to or better than spring applications.

Winter annuals, such as pennycress and shepherd's purse, likewise can be fall-treated. And don't overlook dandelions, chickweed, clover and henbit in those lawns, Furrer concluded.

"Money Back Is Courtesy—Not A Rule"

So you want your money back? Unless there was fraud or misrepresentation the buyer has no more legal right to a refund than the seller has to demand the return of a product.

Every time a customer buys or agrees to buy an item, he is making a contract with the merchant. The contract can be neither canceled nor broken without the permission of the other party. Therefore, if the buyer changes his mind after the agreement, the seller does not legally have to refund the money.

In business, all sales are final unless the terms of the sale or the policy of the seller state otherwise. Stores are not required to post a warning that all sales are final. Most sellers follow one of three policies on refunds. They stipulate that all sales there too. Billowing clouds of smoke poured into the sky. It seems everyone turned up the lane to the scene. Getting out was a slow process. It was a dead-end lane and burning was a pile of old tires the firemen had set afire. They had no trouble selling tickets as people were blocked off and there was just one exit. Of course, they would have sold a lot of tickets just going around as the firemen do here, but they had an extra-special and successful sale of tickets that particular year.

A man dashed into the electrician's store, his face flushed with anger. "Didn't I ask you yesterday morning to send a man to mend our doorbell?" he roared. "And didn't you promise to send one around at once?"

"But we did, sir," broke in the manager. "I'm quite sure of it! Hey, Shmoe," he called to one of the workmen at the back of the office. "Didn't you go around to Park Lodge yesterday to do that job?"

"Yes, sir," replied Shmoe. "I went around all right, and I rang the bell for over ten minutes, but I couldn't get an answer, so I guessed they must not be home."

We hope the next improvement the telephone companies work on is one to click or buzz or burp or something to indicate someone is trying to call you when you're using the line. We try to call some people and hour after hour it seems someone is gabbing (and we don't think it can be teenage girls all of the time). If people knew someone was trying to ring their number they might get off the line. This seems to be more needed than a picture of the one you're talking to, which is one of the things they're working on now.

"Richie," screamed his mother, "did you fall down with your new pants on?" "Yes, mom," replied Richie. "There wasn't time to take 'em off."

Do you subscribe to The Herald or borrow the neighbor's? Here's what happened to one such man who was too "economical" to subscribe. He sent his little boy to borrow the copy taken by his neighbor. In his haste, the boy ran over a $4 stand of beer, and in 10 minutes looked like a summer squash. His father ran to his assistance, and failing to notice a barbed wire fence, ran into that, cutting a handful of flesh from his anatomy and ruining a $10 pair of pants. The old cow took advantage of the gap in the fence and went into the cornfield and killed herself eating green corn. Hearing the racket, the wife ran out, upset a four-gallon churn full of rich cream into a basket. More SASS, page 3.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:
I wish to thank SWAY very much for the appreciative letter and gift of ten dollars. The letter in itself is of great value in the way of encouragement and morale.
Since my arrival here at Elmendorf AFB, Anchorage, Alaska, (Jan. 30, 1967) I have been working as an "air operations specialist" for the 21st Operations Squadron. Some of my present duties are: Scheduling navigators for flights, ordering and distributing flight publications, maintaining the squadron flight planning facilities and controlling mission reports.
Although I like my job and am happy here, I am looking forward to returning home. Once again thank you very much for your thoughtfulness.
Sincerely,
Larry Schuetz

Wayne firemen certainly missed a bet Sunday night. Enroute to a fire south of town, they were followed by many cars. We don't know how many but Highway 15 was a steady stream of car lights. Our car was among them. We were going out to the fire to get pictures; what were you going out for? The bet the firemen missed was in not shutting off side road exits and selling everyone out that way tickets to the firemen's ball. We presume you already have yours!

Does Forage Sorghum Have Place on Farms in Northeast Nebraska Area?

Does forage sorghum have a place on Northeast Nebraska farms? Northeast Station, Concord, is trying to find out, studying about two dozen varieties of forage sorghum and corn.

The University of Nebraska station has been making variety tests for four years. Evaluation is made annually. Dryland yields over the four-year period average 20 tons per acre of 70 per cent moisture forage. Yields have varied from 16 to 27 tons per acre.

Yield is not all-important, however. Feed value is equally important and fiber, fat, ash and nitrogen-free extract percentages are also measured.

Top-yielding varieties have been consistently lower in protein content than the more leafy varieties. In fact, 1966 variations were 7 to 9 1/2 per cent on moisture-free basis. Fiber content has also varied, 21 to 35 per cent in 1966.

FORAGE SORGHUM variety trials being under were photographed at Northeast Station, Concord, for chemical analysis by Ulverd Alex.

tion agronomist, says "The choice of which forage sorghum is best adapted to a farmer's situation is not an easy question to answer. The planned use of the crop may determine whether tons of feed per acre is more important than feed quality. Stock cows may utilize a coarser, higher fiber forage than younger animals.

Alexander also said much emphasis is being placed on forage sorghum as a high-yielding roughage. However, corn silage has compared quite favorably with forage sorghum silage in the four-year study at Concord.

County extension agents for Northeast Station can furnish free circulars giving performance of forage sorghum varieties on outstate test plots. Farmers wishing one should ask for "Outstate Testing Circular 126," which lists performances of various sorghums for 1964-65-66. Results for 1967 will be available in December.

Gives Test at Allen

The General Aptitude Test Battery was administered to Allen High School seniors Tuesday, Oct. 10, according to the counselor, Mrs. Violet Diamond. Giving the tests was a representative of the United States Employment Service, Norfolk. Follow-up of the tests will include individual conferences with pupils, placing emphasis on vocational aptitudes of the seniors not planning to attend college.

Report More Vandals

After weeks and months of no major vandalism in Wayne, police have had three reports of such activity the past week. One was reported earlier, involving slashing tires on machinery. Later a resident reported his fence was cut and a window broken. A college student reported his convertible top was cut—the police finding the alleged vandal later. In other activities, two more business places were found unlocked one night. A ring was reported lost and later found. Routine activities included a three-vehicle accident, foot patrol, traffic patrol, door checks and other work.

Interesting Department in Language Studies for WHS

Because it is so unusual and different, visitors to the new Wayne High School may find the language department the most fascinating of all features. It is much easier to see in use than to understand it from just reading about it.

The department features a central control console with 24 "stations" for the pupils. Richard Fabricius teaches language, German, and is enthusiastic about the facilities WHS has to offer.

Pupils sit at stations with earphones on most of the time. Each pupil can do his own studying at his own pace and Fabricius can "tune in" or make a tape recording of what any pupil is doing at any time.

pils are listening to tapes of native voices in the language being studied. They can also repeat phrases and hear their own voices. In this way, they (and Fabricius) can tell if they are getting it right.

The instructor can also use one button which connects all stations to his console so he can talk to the full class. At other times, no earphones are used and he talks to them person-to-person.

It is also possible to have groups of pupils talk to each other over the system without disturbing the others in the class. Eight different lessons can be sent out at one time, six from tapes and two from records.

routine. This give emphasis on ability to comprehend and speak the language. Three or four may be ahead of the class in learning and can be given extra work. They are then put on a common circuit and talk among themselves in German. Fabricius can tune in the group to check on them now and then, and again switch to other pupils studying other parts of the language.

Fabricius says the pupils are intrigued by the system. They hear different voices and feel a challenge to carry on conversations with the voices on tape and to keep up with what is going on.

Business Notes

First National Bank, Belden, is holding open house Saturday, Oct. 21, from 2:30 to 8:30 p.m. in its new quarters. The bank has moved across the street to a newly-re-modeled structure. Door prizes will be given.

LANGUAGE LAB at the new high school is shown with Richard Fabricius at the console tuning in various pupils, each with his own set of earphones and sound system.

What can you teach a boy of today about cattle feeding in the fall of 1984? Not very much really, because Animal Engineering is such a rapidly advancing, ever-changing science. But there's one thing you can tell him for sure. Sweet Lassy feeding programs will be as much ahead of tomorrow's needs as they are of today's. Sweet Lassy Cattle Concentrates, Supplements and Minerals are the result of careful day-by-day research under practical feeding conditions. They are fully fortified with today's most modern antibiotics, growth stimulants and selective levels of Vitamin A. Sweet Lassy's flexible formulations meet specific needs, from augmenting fall pastures to full drylot feeding. Time-tested and profit-proven, Sweet Lassy is the result of a full half-century of practical know-how and experience.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL

A FINE ADDITION--BUILT FOR THE FUTURE

We take great pride in the new Wayne High School, not only as a contractor, but also as private citizens. Every builder has a natural pride in a job well done, but when we build a new school, the feeling goes much deeper. For we feel then that we have helped a city in its progress, and we have made an investment in its greatest natural resource, the children of the community.

Not only will the High School provide Wayne with a pleasing bit of architecture, but it will give the children of the district the proper conditions and modern equipment with which they can learn and grow into good citizens. Christiansen Construction Company is proud to have had a part in the future of these children and the community.

Dozen Features Make Homemaking Department 'Special' for Pupils

An even dozen features are listed by Mrs. Marie Mohr, WHS homemaking instructor, as making her department something "special" for the pupils, and extremely special for her.

First of all, it is beautiful. Attractive throughout, it has been designed for use in many ways the former homemaking department could not offer.

The living area is No. 2 on the list. It is a separate area, carpeted, with drapes, sofa, overstuffed chairs, end tables and lamps. This is a quiet area for browsing through pattern books and magazines, an area for making use of visual aids in home decorating and a fitting room for clothing making.

Because there were no washers and dryers in the "old" school, the fact that there is in the new school makes them doubly welcome. Pupils take turns doing the homemaking laundry and Mrs. Mohr will teach a laundry "unit" over a period of several days.

Any woman likes storage space and WHS now has plenty of it in the homemaking department so Mrs. Mohr is pleased. An added "storage" feature is a display case, lighted from the inside, where china, centerpieces, fabrics and other items may be shown.

A three-way mirror hides another feature, lots of chest space for sewing classes. Then there are eight new sewing machines with fold-out leaves to convert into tables. Four kitchens, the same number as before but all with the latest equipment, are another highlight.

A set of china, crystal and silver is kept in the department. This will be used for "guest meals" in advanced foods classes when girls will prepare meals at night and serve small groups in a gracious manner, showing what they have learned about silver, crystal, china and meals. Finally, there are four other features that cannot be overlooked. They are: Sliding blackboards with bookshelves out of sight behind them; tote trays (double and single) so each girl has her own place to keep sewing materials and other items; stainless steel sinks in cupboards that feature pull-out shelves; and automatic ice cube maker in the new refrigerator.

lesson preparation. Cabinets, tapes, overlays, films, filmstrips and transparencies are on hand.

Off the IMC room is the dark room for film developing. Robert Porter is in charge of that room, handling all of the picture-taking duties with his student helpers.

Mrs. Merriman has an office and a work room. Her office is functional and complete. Her work room is used for processing new books, film and other items coming in. It has steel shelving for storage and is a point through which much of the library material passes before being put out for teacher or pupil use.

All right, it's a nice library. The pupils and teachers like it. Do they show it? Mrs. Merriman asked a custodian to help her tell how much they like it. Pupils and teachers respect this department, the librarian and custodian agree. They take care of things as if they appreciate what has been provided. They want to keep it nice.

It appears that the library is not only going to be extra special this year but for years to come, even though being one of the most-used areas of the new school.

New Library Might Just Be 'THE' Top School Feature

It's beautiful. It's functional. It's luxurious looking. It's quiet. It's everything a school library should be. In fact, teachers and pupils alike agree that the library at the new high school could be THE top feature of the structure.

Supt. Francis Haun believes it is one of the outstanding features offered in the building. You'll get no argument on that score from Mrs. Don Merriman, librarian. Teachers make use of it daily and pupils are getting used to it after going along for years trying to have a library and a study hall in the same room.

The library is sound-proofed, and is carpeted and furnished in pleasing colors with beautiful cinnamon color shelves. It has books, 2,200 or more, and it has room for as many as 12,000, but it also offers much more than just books.

One room off the library is an Instructional Media Center. This contains audio visual equipment, tapes, films and film strips. There are also two separate conference rooms where tape recorders can be used with earphones or record albums can be used. The albums can also be checked out and taken home.

Mrs. Merriman points out of 11 study carrels. These partially shut off each studying pupil from the others.

Mrs. Merriman has set up a card catalog system, something the school did not have before. Cards are filed both alphabetically and in the Dewey Decimal System.

The conference rooms are not so small only one pupil can use them. In fact, clubs, the annual staff and other small groups make use of them.

There is a recreational reading area. Pupils can come in from the study hall (the commons) to read. There are all types of good magazines, ladies', men's, science, news, space, general, sports and others. Newspapers coming daily are New York Times, St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Christian Science Monitor, Minneapolis Star, Lincoln Star and Omaha World-Herald.

Teachers have been so enthused about what the library has to offer they have brought in classes to show them how the facilities can be utilized. They never fail to point out one file cabinet, which is completely filled with free literature of all types on all subjects for use in all classes. This file is pretty important even though everything in it is also current.

One type of encyclopedia might be enough some places but not in a school library where pupils have to get more than one reference in studying. The school has provided several sets in addition to many reference books and a beautiful atlas cabinet which holds oversize books.

Pupils are not the only ones who will use this library. The teachers will too. There is a professional library solely for them. It contains all types of teachers' aids they use in preparing lessons, plus extra books of interest to teachers.

Teachers also use the IMC room. There they can get three film projectors, three overhead projectors, two record players, two film-strip projectors, an opaque projector, a tape recorder, two duplicating machines and twotypewriters. Again, these are used to supplement textbooks in classroom instruction and

New Courses Available in Big, Modern Shop Facility

A year ago some of the courses now being offered in the industrial arts shop at Wayne High School would not have been possible. In the first place there was not enough room; and in the second place there was not enough equipment.

Space and equipment are the two big features enjoyed by the three instructors. They have a 72 by 40 shop area, doubling the room that was available for courses.

Mike Mallette teaches general shop 9, advanced woodworking and two hours vocational block; Allen Hansen teaches drawing I, drafting, planning, general shop and two hours vocational block; Bill Wilson teaches metals, electricity and two hours vocational block.

Wilson also has three middle school classes, one comprehensive general shop. Mallette has one middle school class on comprehensive general shop. On a rotational basis meeting the entire year, drawing, woods, metals, electricity and crafts are taught in one course.

In the old shop little metal and electricity could be taught. Now there are three arc welders, an acetylene welder plus metal equipment for sheet and bench metal work and wrought metal work. Box and pan break, slip roll forming machine and squaring shears are other metal equipment.

For electricity, the shop has completely new equipment. Basic electricity and basic electronics are taught. Housewiring is offered in addition to other work applying to construction of projects.

General shop covers woods for nine weeks, metals and welding nine weeks, crafts nine weeks and electricity nine weeks.

There is a complete separate room for lumber and storage of tools plus a separate "finish" room. Where there was no office space before, there is a big one now for the instructors.

Good lighting is essential as the shop is windowless. Space is ample for 24 work stations in the woods department alone with separate work stations in crafts, electricity, metals and welding. Two or more classes may work in the shop at the same time on different types of projects.

Finally, there are many new hand and portable tools and other pieces of equipment, too numerous to enumerate. It all adds up to a better opportunity to learn for the pupils, and a greater capacity to teach for the instructors.

'Start' of New School Undated

When did the new school get started? Who knows? Work was done by groups and individuals before the idea of a new high school was ever presented to the public.

After weeks of explaining the needs, showing the shortcomings of the old school and developing plans for a new facility, a vote was held Apr. 23, 1965. At that time, two-thirds of the voters approved the bond issue for the school.

Final cost, (exclusive of site) including equipment and furniture, comes to $950,000. This comes to $13.57 per square foot for the 70,000 square feet of room.

There are 425 pupils in four grades. Two dozen teaching stations are provided.

Many new courses are possible with the new building. Details on these courses are contained in separate articles throughout this section.

Two Levels for Departments of Music at School

There are two levels in the new music department at Wayne High. The vocal department is on the upper floor and the instrumental department on the lower floor.

Donald Schumacher, instrumental department, pointed out the instrument storage facilities, the band uniform storage rooms and the risers that put the band pupils on four levels as the best features.

The risers make it easier to differentiate between the parts. However, the room will not accommodate all those wanting to take band so the musicians have been split up. Instead of one 115-piece band there is a varsity band of 86 pieces and a cadet band with 29 pieces.

Schumacher also has a 47-piece orchestra. He teaches for 20 private lessons for the school and will add more. Two practice rooms off the main band room allow pupils to practice solo or small-group parts.

New vocal instructor this year is Joe Unzicker. He likes the eye contact between pupil and teacher with the risers.

In his case, the vocal room is a part of the lecture hall when sliding walls are opened. It fits in to make a larger accommodation for the all-school sessions.

For use in teaching, it has choir robe storage and it has acoustical facilities that are better than the school has had before. Soundproofing is planned.

His choirs number 93 in the mixed chorus, 38 in the ninth grade choir and 29 in girls glee club. He also teaches 36 private lessons each week for the school.

Both Schumacher and Unzicker have offices on their respective floors. Both feel that as time goes by the facilities will be appreciated more and more by the teachers and the pupils.

Rooms Used for Several Purposes

The new Wayne High School has rooms that were designed for multipurpose use. This has saved money on equipment and ground space and makes the building a real bargain.

There is never a time when the "commons" is not in use. Centrally located, it affords a study area just off the library where so many facilities and aids are offered.

Every inch of space is utilized, Supt. Francis Haun points out, through the multi-purpose rooms and all class stations. Band, music, commons, shop and classrooms are all well-planned and office areas are in the center, making it more convenient for teachers, pupils, visitors and business representatives.

A walk through the building will show the thought that went into planning a building that would serve the needs but not provide unneeded space. When visitors come to open house, the school board and administration feel they will see firsthand what a bargain in education District 17 has.

Two-Room Science Department Offers Much-Appreciated Room for Projects

A two-room science department affords more space than ever for the science department at Wayne High School. More important, it affords room for leaving projects overnight, in contrast to the former system where projects had to be cleared out after each class so no long-range work could be carried out.

Dick Nelson teaches ninth grade science. He is able to do more lab work and carry on more projects with equipment already on hand and more still arriving. The class will work on "Introductory Physical Science," developed by a study group over a three-year period by National Science Foundation and Educational Service, Inc. He has more storage space than ever before with drawers for use by the pupils at 24 lab stations. Combination tables can be used for both classroom and lab work.

Biology is taught by Verne Mills. He has a room of his own with more space for lab work and projects again being a major highlight. He appreciates having room for leaving work out without having it in the way of the next class and without starting over again the next day.

There is a project and storage room for chemicals and specimens. The school has a new large-size aquarium, pupils using it to study fish and water plants and animals.

Mrs. Sandra Metz teaches chemistry. In her department too the space for laboratory work and projects at 24 lab stations is an appreciated feature.

Bob Porter likes the space for work and projects. He has been able to carry out projects he could not in the former high school because there is room to hold over work and carry out long-term experimentation.

Portable lab carts are available. Teachers use these in a preparation room while other classes are going on. Before these facilities and pieces of equipment were available, there was no place to work except in the class and labrooms.

The science faculty and the pupils in the class know the differences between their new rooms and equipment and the old. Putting the differences into words is difficult, everyone going back again and again to the idea that having the room and being able to leave projects out being the truly great features of the department.

'Intangibles' Great School Features

In addition to the features everyone can see and describe, there are some advantages that are not so obvious at the new high school, Supt. Francis Haun points out.

In the first place, it is just a pleasure to go to work and to school each day in such a nice building. Teachers and pupils alike seem to look forward to each new day in a well-lighted building with carpeting, clocks, acoustic treatment and pleasant surroundings.

Supt. Haun also pointed out how convenient it is having the three schools, elementary, middle and high, in a complex. Several teachers (shop, music, art and physical education) go back and forth from one school to the other without driving or long walks.

The central location of the lunch facilities in the elementary school makes it possible to feed pupils from three schools in one building. This saves money and space.

Supt. Haun likes the one-story lay-out. He thinks it is much more practical than the building would be if spread out on one floor over a larger amount of ground. As for a round school, he doesn't even want to think about it, feeling the way WHS is laid out has too many advantages over a round school to attempt to enumerate them.

Functionally, the school is outstanding. Its ascetic values are considerable and it is a source of pride to the entire school district.

No Comparison in Athletic Lay-Out Now Compared With Former Facility

How do the facilities for physical education and sports at the new high school compare with those at the old. "There's no comparison, whatsoever," is the reply coaches would make.

Harold Maciejewski, athletic director, heads a nine-man staff that offers seven varsity sports, several reserve sports, freshman athletics and a well-rounded physical education program. Mrs. Judy Carlson handles girls' phys ed.

Mrs. Carlson points out that for girls there is simply more room, badly-needed room. She now handles more girls in more classes with more ease. Volleyball, basketball, deck tennis, tumbling, trampoline, softball, folk dancing, organized games and relays are among the activities.

But for the boys, especially in competition with other schools, the athletic facilities are really an improvement. They phys ed classes get to use the facilities and like the girls enjoy more room and a greater variety of physical work-outs.

The gym is huge, 120 feet by 105 feet. There is no seating, but it can be made into two gyms through use of a sliding wall. Six backboards are provided.

There can be trampoline workouts, ping pong and badminton at the same time. New equipment to be added include tumbling mats, chinning bars, hand-over-hand ladders, side horse and other devices.

Wrestling is in its first year at the school with Don Koenig the coach. Practice will be starting Nov. 1 with meets held at the city auditorium.

Basketball practice will be in the high school on several courts at once. Games will be played at Rice Auditorium, WSC.

The dressing rooms are big for both the girls and the boys. The girls have a few "extras" to help them, dressing tables, shower compartments and more mirrors.

Boys have more locker room space, room for meetings to have chalk talks, ring showers like the girls' except they are not divided into compartments. Girls have different type lockers, giving them a chance to hang clothes up. Boys have to double up in lockers, there being more boys needing locker space than ever before.

There is a big equipment room, something the athletes and coaches have not had before, and there is a coaches office with its own showers and lockers.

In addition to Maciejewski, who is athletic director and coaches golf and cross country, the school has these assignments: Football, Allen Hansen, Ron Carnes, Don Johnson and John Tollakson; basketball, Dick Nelson, Don Johnson and Ron Carnes; wrestling, Don Koenig; track, John Tollakson and Allen Hansen; and baseball, Mike Mallette.

Art Course Being Offered at WHS; Teaching Plans to Change Yearly

Because art is a new course at Wayne High School this year, it offers a challenge to the teacher, Mrs. Sherian Frey, and the pupils. Mrs. Frey admits that after this year the plans will have to change, the following year more additions and changes will be made and a year after that it will be more of the same.

At present, only Art I is offered. Art II and Art III will be offered in years to come and there may be a four-year art program. Mrs. Frey is offering a wide scope of art instruction this initial year, attempting to find out what will be wanted in the future so various interests can be accommodated.

When planning the art room, many features were considered and some of the top ones adopted. As a result there are three craft tables for still-life set-ups from which people draw; a potter's wheel, manually operated or electrically operated; a ceramic kiln for firing or baking ceramics; unique types of drawing pencils;

Unusual erasers not in normal supply but usable many ways; all types of drawing paper; a display case in which art and ceramic objects owned by Mrs. Frey are shown; vats used in preparation of ceramic clay; wedging boards (one the teacher's, one the school's); a special trap sink to catch paint, graphite and other materials washed off ceramics, hands or tools;

Tote trays in storage lockers so each pupil has his own for a private supply of equipment, drawing smocks and other items; a cabinet for portfolios of the pupils; a cabinet for colored paper; another for teaching supplies; hand tools such as potter's knives, sculpting tools and ribs for making hand-built pottery; plus much other equipment.

First year art is being offered and 74 have signed up for the course. All pupils start in the same place this year, Mrs. Frey familiarizing them with correct use of art materials and two- and three-dimensional art. Drawing, color and design will be taught.

Lab-type classes are used with no textbooks and few lectures. Mrs. Frey uses hand-out sheets of instructions for classes and work is done in a relaxed and creative-type atmosphere.

Actually, mechanical drawing with basic and elementary perspective have been taught first. However, some of the work of the pupils already shows talent, and there is much ahead of interest for those who wish to learn more.

Pupils draw as they see now, not stylizing. They work with a variety of materials, chalk, pastels, charcoal and graphite. As each new medium is tried, a new hand-out sheet is issued to each pupil.

Observing a class personally gives one a better idea of how informal and unencumbered pupils are, working with their own hands, their own minds and the best of equipment to put on paper or in other art mediums their own ideas.
