EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.
It is the duty of an editorial writer to check all available facts before he sits down to write. From this basis the writer should be able to give a clear picture of important topics.

You may not agree with an editorial—but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

Sorry, South Korea

Isn't it about time the United States apologizes to South Korea? It seems we owe them a debt for having colossal gall to help them hold off the Communists who were trying to take over from North Korea.

We have a good excuse though. Our government was not being told then how to run things by a knowledgeable group of protestors who know about use of drugs, free love, saving the world, bombing innocent people in munitions factories and almost any other subject you can name.

Consequently, the US and its allies stayed on until the Korean war was over. Not all of Korea could be saved from Communism but today there is a free land adjacent to a Communist land and the contrast is pretty informative to those who can see both.

As far as that goes, look at Formosa. It is second only to Japan in progress in the Far East. A few miles away is gigantic China, still a mess, still in turmoil, possibly the most Communist country in the world.

Today we have the people who would "save" South Vietnam from the same fate South Korea has reached. They would let the Communists have South Vietnam. They are ready to give up.

South Korea was worth saving. Formosa is worth saving. South Vietnam is worth saving. Every place we can keep Communism from taking over is just one more bastion of hope against complete domination, which the Communists have admitted is their ultimate goal in this world.

For those who doubt our aims in South Vietnam, let them look to those people closest to that country and most

Read Those Legals!

Did you notice the two legal publications that were just a little different last Thursday? One told that the Wayne County Welfare Board met regularly on certain days of the month. The other told that the Wayne County Welfare Board would meet at a different date than the regular date this month.

Possibly not one out of one hundred knew why those legals were published. The reason: A new state law requires such publication.

The new law says that all meetings of public bodies have to be preceded "by some publicized notice specifying the time and place of all such meetings in order that the citizens of the state can intelligently exercise their democratic privilege of appearing at public sessions of governmental bodies."

In other words, all public bodies must let people know when they meet. The public is also free to attend any meetings of such public groups.

In order to have an "executive session," at which the public is not admitted, the majority vote of the body is needed. But, this majority vote must be taken at a public meeting so the people can know who voted in favor of holding a "closed" meeting.

What happens if a public body meets and has not met requirements? The law states: "Any formal action of any type, including expenditures of funds, adopted

Always Detractors

There are always detractors for almost any activity. Some would be against motherhood, others are anti-apple pie, some hate nice weather and so it goes. Apparently there is nothing that is universally loved by everyone.

That's the way it is with UNICEF, which has its detractors. However, it is to be hoped Wayne residents will look at the over-all picture when Future Home-makers of America call with their orange and black containers Tuesday night and will give generously.

When those girls from FHA come to your door, ask them in. Take a look at your children reading books, watching television or sleeping quietly. They're well-fed. They're well-clothed. They have a happy life ahead of them.

All over the world there are the sad, unfortunate children who will never have enough food. They will never know plenty. They may never even live long enough to know happiness.

In our "Letters to the Editor" department is a description of life in Iran given by Mrs. Roger Hutchings, Allen. She tells about the improvement in the way of living there but points out that it is still tragic to see the conditions under which some children are being raised. Take the word of servicemen coming back from overseas: Children all over the world need help.

UNICEF tries to help them. There was the topic of doctors, nurses and all gathered there.

We are all looking forward to October 17—the day after Roger takes the Internal Medicine Board Exams. He has worked hard so we hope he passes the first try. He missed taking them last year when he was drafted, so he is glad for the chance to take them here. The oral exams will be given someplace else this Spring. These men in white are never through studying!

Our children—Greg 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ , Nancy 6, and Brent 4—are excited about the Coronation of the Shaharshah and his Empress October 26. TIME magazine (Oct. 6) has an article on Iran and some pictures of the Country's attractions. Although the present ruler actually assumed leadership in the hectic early days of World War II, he has never been crowned. Evidently, a Persian ruler cannot be crowned until he has produced an heir to the throne, and the Shah's one is only 7 this month. But this is just rumor, and the Shah himself explained the long-delayed coronation by saying "It is not a source of pride to become king of a poor people."

He has done much to help Iran, and people who have been here as little as seven years ago and have returned can see many signs of "progress". Many new schools have opened, many new factories and industries are becoming realities, and the donkeys, sheep and goats are now outnumbered by cars, buses, and taxis, on the streets of Tehran. In the small villages, life remains more the same as in years past, and life in the tents of the Nomads is relatively unchanged. (We camped in their midst in July.)

But the Shah's "Revolution from the throne" is a wondrous thing in these troubled times, for he has seen his peoples' needs and set out to improve their lot. Still there are the very rich and the very poor, and a small middle class. But more people are literate, there are programs to help with hygiene and family planning and guidance and people are able to feed and clothe themselves and their families on very little. It is terribly discouraging to us to see the plain mud-brick homes, the ragged children and young mothers, and the sad looking animals. But this is a big city of 2 million population where many people come to find work—which does not exist. On our trips to the other cities in Iran, and on drives to the ski areas and camping places, we have noticed that people generally seem healthier and happier than in Tehran. (However, this may be because Roger and I are small-town people ourselves and we feel more "at home" away from the huge metropolis.)

We do think the week-long celebration planned for the Coronation Oct. 26 will be something Iran will long remember. The streets are being decorated with arches, colored lights, flags, and many bright, gay ornaments. And many festivities are planned, including free medical care, holiday for workers with as much time off as their employers give, dancing, feasting and celebrating in all forms. Fireworks are reportedly planned too, our Greg announced last night at dinner.

It should be quite a sight to see the Shaharshah (King of Kings) and Empress riding in their gold coach drawn by white horses, the Crown Prince in a fine coach following, the bands, military uniforms and all! Only several hundred inacted guests will view the actual coronation—American Colonels and Generals, other dignitaries from all foreign governments here, and the Iranian VIP's. The Shah will crown himself with the crown originally made for his father—Reza Shah the Great, and then crown the Empress Farah with a beautiful new crown specially made in France. Because Oct. 26 is the Shah's 48th birthday one rural community has arranged for planes to drop many flowers over Tehran—one for each day of his life. And I suppose all villages will be competing for the best decorations. A recent article in the Tehran Journal hinted that the "country cousins" may outdo Tehran. Well, at any rate, there is certainly a festive holiday air in this city and we are happy to be here for this once-in-a-generation event.

Most Sincerely,
Faye Marie

(The foregoing letter was written by Mrs. Roger Hutchings, wife of Capt. Roger Hutchings, Allen. We knew her when she was Faye Marie Martens, Chappell, and we lived at Oshkosh so we asked her to write about experiences in Iran. Capt. Hutchings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rubel Hutchings, is a doctor. Their address is: Capt. Roger Hutchings, FV 3195583, ARMISH MAAG Hospital, APO New York, N. Y. 09205—Editor.)

Dear Editor:
Since you have demonstrated considerable interest in getting the reactions of young men who are serving and who have served our country in Vietnam, I thought you might find the enclosed article worthwhile. It originally appeared as a feature in the "Letters to the Editor" department of the Akron Beacon Journal of Akron, Ohio.

I'm also enclosing the letter I received from Mr. Robert Stopher, the Editorial Page Editor of the Akron Beacon Journal.

Yours truly,
Hildegard Fenske Hoskins, Nebraska

(Since we can't reprint the entire article, we'll cite our points. The boy in Vietnam said he was ashamed of burning Vietnamese huts. They have bunkers his commander thought should be burned so he said he thought they were for protection of families. The soldier pointed out that civilians are getting killed. He described the horrors of war, much like the horrors of any war. He could weep from what he saw. We know—we could have wept when we bombed Germany too. War is not pretty, but this is war, to save the world from communism. We don't blame him for feeling ashamed. We're proud our American boys do feel ashamed. They don't want war, but the South Vietnamese government has asked for help and Australia, Thailand, South Korea, New Zealand, and the United States are among the countries helping to hold off the Communists. We think it is significant that South Korea chose to send troops. They went through this hell a few years ago themselves. There were some innocent people who died then too but South Korea was saved. We're sorry war has to be fought. We suggest you write to Pravda and Izvestia to see if you can get any sympathy for the people Communism has killed, the families it has broken up, the children it has led astray, the damage it has done to the world, the lack of shame it has shown in killings of all kinds. Thanks for your letter. We know what point you wanted to

60 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

Wayne Herald, Oct. 31, 1907

In writing up a funeral, a publisher said: "The deceased lay quietly in his coffin." "That," comments the Rossville Reporter, "was an eminently decorous thing to do. There is nothing that mars the solemnity of a funeral more than for the corpse to get up and cavort among the mourners. It reflects upon the gentility of his breeding." (Emporia, Kan. Gazette).

John Harmer, who has been second man as engineer in Wayne's light factory the past year, has gone to Sturgis, S. D., to where he has a position as engineer at $85 per month.

G. F. Moles, of Allan, Nebr., closed up a deal the past week with Bert Brown for the twenty acre tract of land lying along the south side of the railroad track and west of the brick yards. Mr. Moles is a Percheron horse man, and will erect the necessary buildings and give his entire time to raising blooded horses.

A young man from the country while taking his lady friend in Wayne for a drive on last Thursday evening had a close call from what might have been a bad runaway. In driving up the alley by the Racket store, the buggy got mixed up with a live wire, which in breaking frightened the team and it took some time before they were brought under control. They were lucky to get out of it with nothing worse than a bad scare.

A fancy dress ball took place at the opera house last evening under the direction of the young ladies of the city. Post card invitations picturing witches about a steaming cauldron, had been issued for the event, while other friends of the participants were given observers tickets to the gallery. The dance hall was gaily decorated, while Jack-o-lanterns cast a weird illumination over it all. The costumes were rich in variety and representations, and the scene presented was strikingly attractive. A violin and piano under the magic touch of Otto Vogt and his sister provided inspiring strains for the merry waiters.

At the box social in the Fuhrman school house Fred Lundquist got the prize box and Harry Brumels bought Irish lemons at 35 cents per. (Hoskins Headlight).

Henry, the littler son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Ley was given a party to honor his fourth birthday, Friday. About thirty of his little friends helped in the affair. They fished souvenirs from a fish pond, and enjoyed themselves hugely. All were treated to a big supper, while Henry received a lot of pretty presents.

Out of Old

Red Cloud Agencies

A new display at the Nebraska State Historical Society Museum at Fort Robinson, near Crawford, features some of the war clubs, scalp-whips, tools, and beadwork used by the various Plains Indian tribes during the Century of Turmoil caused by the movement of gold-seekers, settlers, and troops into the Plains.

A century ago, the dominant figure in Indian politics in western Nebraska, portions of Wyoming, South Dakota, and Montana was Red Cloud, Oglala band chief. The Teton-Dakota or Sioux tribe, of which Red Cloud was a member, had a proud heritage as a conquering nation. After an early migration from what is now Minnesota, Red Cloud's forefathers had gained possession of horses and spent the next fifty years in gaining control of hunting land from other Indian tribes such as the Pawnee.

The resulting tribal conflicts aided the pioneers in their effort to conquer the West. The Pawnee were willing to join the frontier Army as scouts, in order to bring about the defeat of the Dakota. During the 1860's, however, Red Cloud's warriors fought well. These warriors succeeded in creating alarm throughout the west. Stagecoaches and wagon trains were attacked, raids were made on frontier towns such as Julesburg, now in Colorado, and attempts were made to stop railroad construction. Red Cloud succeeded in his fight to close the Bozeman Trail to the gold fields in Montana. Easterners, sympathetic to Red Cloud's cause, sent a peace commission to Fort Laramie. In 1868, Red Cloud finally consented to sign a treaty. Although this seemed to be a victory for Red Cloud's people, since the soldiers marched News items as written included: "On September 11, Tonya Goodwin broke her toe. She stubbed it on a brick. She had it in a splint."

Devil Defensivemen Lead Wayne in 26-6 Husker Conference Win at Laurel

Two fumble recoveries and a pass interception by an aggressive Blue Devil defensive team played major roles in Wayne High's 26-6 victory over Laurel on the Bears' home field Wednesday night. The Husker Conference western division win was the eighth straight for the Blue Devils this season.

In addition to setting up three touchdowns via the fumble recoveries and pass interception, Wayne's defense also did a good job of confining the Laurel offense. With the exception of a 75-yard run that gave Laurel its only touchdown, the Blue Devils allowed the Bears beyond the mid-field stripe only three times throughout the evening. The longest of these drives ended on Wayne's 41 yard line in the fourth quarter when time ran out.

Junior tackle Harry Lindner set up Wayne's first touchdown when he recovered a Laurel fumble on the Bears' own 35. Six plays later on a third and 15 situation Lynn Lessmann scampered 27 yards around the left end and with the help of a key block thrown by Bernie Binger made the score 6-0. Gordie Jorgensen kicked the extra point and with 8:07 remaining in the first quarter

Winside Having Hunt Breakfasts

Two "breakfasts before the hunt" will be served in Winside Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 4 and 5. Federated Women's Club will serve both mornings at the Winside Legion Hall.

The women call their early morning feeds "hunters' breakfasts" each year as pheasant season gets underway. They get up extra early so they can start serving at 5, continuing on until around 11.

For those who want coffee, they'll fill Thermos jugs. They will have pancakes, toast, eggs, bacon, rolls, coffee and milk, all you want, for a single price. Proceeds from the feed will go to the various civic projects of the club. Two that are noticeable right now are the flower stands on Main Street and Halloween party for the children Tuesday.

Both mornings the hunters can get their breakfasts at Winside Legion Hall, thus allowing their own wives to remain at home in bed—unless they're going hunting too.

Harry Lindner led the Blue Devils' on defense with 14 tackles and two assists. He was followed by Gordie Jorgensen (seven tackles, one assist); Keith Warrelman (six tackles, four assists); and Bernie Binger (six tackles, one assist).

Steve Kerl was the leading ground gainer for Wayne with 64 net yards in 12 carries. He was followed by Lynn Lessmann who carried the ball 14 times for a net total of 51 yards.

Randy Helgren completed 3-5 passes for a total of 60 yards and Dave Tietgen completed 3-7 for 52 yards. Leading pass receivers were Gordie Jorgensen (three passes for 70 yards), Lynn Lessmann (two passes for 22 yards) and Dove Brown (one pass for 18 yards).

The Wayne High Blue Devils will end the regular football season at home Friday (Nov. 3) night in

Allen Listless in Friday Night Loss

A listless Allen team that could not get fired up against Hartington Wednesday night on the AHS field, lost its first home tilt of the season. The 18-0 score does not indicate how drab the showing was by both teams, the two managing only 233 yards passing and rushing TOTAL!

Allen has only one game left, playing Emerson Nov. 3 at Allen. If Coach Wilch's team can play as good as it did earlier in the season, the Pirates could be surprised, sailing along now atop the Lewis & Clark Conference standings.

Wednesday night's game started out just the way it was going to be all evening. Mike Isom kicked to the 26. Bob Meyer threw Hartington back 2, Allen forced a kick and then fumbled the ball on the second play with HHS recovering. Jerry Warner set the Wildcats back 2 and again AHS took over.

Craig Schultz ran for 4, Rich Hank 5, Schultz 3, Kevin Hill 2, Hank 2, Hank passed to Mike Roeber for 10, Hill gained 2, Ellis passed to Bob Mitchell for 31 yards to the Hartington 3 only to have a penalty nullify the gain. On an attempted punt, the ball went over the back's head and Allen lost 25 yards and possession.

of the evening, 37 yards. Smith made 1, Ellis 3, Schultz 6, Hill 3 and 9, Schultz 2, Ellis 10, Hank 2, Hill 1 and Hartington took over. First play from scrimmage Hank made a hard tackle, forcing a fumble and Don Hassler recovered for the Blue and ran all the way back for a TD. The point conversion was not good but the visitors led 6-0.

Allen received on the 10, Alan Smith ran for 4 and Allen fumbled next play with HHS recovering again. Hartington passed, Hank intercepting in the end zone and running out to the 12. Ellis made 6, Hill 2 and Smith booted to the Wildcat 46.

The Eagles held, forcing a kick. The ball was touched by an Allen player, fumbled, and Bryce Hirsch fell on it in the end zone for another TD. Hartington had scored twice on defense!

Schultz returned the kickoff from the 20 to the 36. Ellis ran for 8 and 2, Hill 13, Ellis 6, 4 and 5 and the first half was over.

Ellis received the second half kickoff on the 7, returning to the 36. Smith gained 5 and Hill 4, Hartington taking over there. Held for small gains, the visitors punted, the ball going to the 4.

County Council Has New Calf Sale Plan

Wayne County 4-H Council met Thursday night at the courtroom. Main business was a change in plans on the way the annual calf sale is held.

According to County Agent Harold Ingalls, the calves have been weighed Jan. 1 in the past with the maximum weight allowed at that time being 600 pounds. This has resulted in calves being too heavy at show and sale time.

The new plan calls for weighing Mar. 1 instead of Jan. 1. Maximum weight for calves at that time will be 700 pounds.

Other business at the session included rehashing last year's 4-H program. Plans for next year's program were also discussed.

Class Visits Quarry, Volcano, Ponca Park

(The following article was written by Kurt Lesh and Todd Bornhoft of the eighth grade. It was so well-written, we decided to print it just as written.—Editor)

The 8th grade went on a field trip to Ponca and Ionia Volcano that was sponsored by the Science and English Departments. They left Middle School at 9:00 a.m. Thursday by bus.

The first stop was Ponca when they toured the lime quarry and gravel pit. Mr. Cismussen, the class guide, explained the procedure of crushing the lime for fertilizer and helping the class find rock specimens at the gravel pit. The third point of interest was the Ionia Volcano, an old, eroded volcano that was originally discovered by Lewis and Clark on the Lewis and Clark Expedition. At the volcano, specimens of crystals, iron pyrite (fool's gold), sulfur, slate, cinders, and salt were found on the surface and in minute veins under the surface.

All the while they were on the bus, conservation practices were observed. Some of the conservation methods observed were shelter belts, grassed waterways, terraces and contours, earth dams, and game reserves. They saw much need for further conservation practices such as erosion. The question that came to the class's mind was what will be done with the pit after the resource is exhausted.

The class stopped at Ponca State Park to have a picnic lunch. After they finished, there was free time to explore the park. Prior to the trip, Mr.

Jeness prepared the students with notetaking and outlining skills. Mr. Koenig prepared the students for identification of rocks, plants, animals, and conservation practices.

Teachers in charge by grades are Mrs. Courtland

Roberts, Mrs. Florence Jewell, Mrs. Viola Bartling, Mrs. Zable Chambers, Mrs. Margaret Lutz, Mrs. Mae Reuter and Mrs. Carolyn Day.

DIXON COUNTY 4-H leaders and members met to discuss improvement of the 4-H livestock program.

Leaders Work Hard

Howard Gillaspie, Dixon County extension agent, reports Dixon County's 4-H leaders care enough to plan for the best kind of training for the youth of the county. They are in search of the most up-to-date changes for the 1968 4-H program.

The livestock program was studied at a meeting at Northeast Station, Concord, last week. Don Kubik, area dairy specialist, Bob Fritschen, swine research specialist, and Walt Tolman, beef and sheep specialist, were in charge.

Kubik emphasized that 4-H members with dairy projects should select animals from best-producing herds. "It is important that youths who wish to venture with dairy projects should start with high quality animals," he said.

Fritschen led discussion on swine improvement. "Dixon County ranks high among the leading swine-producing counties in Nebraska, so more of our youths ought to be interested in raising quality swine and in swine production," he said. "We also need youth in the testing and quality carcass programs," Fritschen added.

Tolman was in charge of beef and sheep discussions, suggesting an appeal be made to interest more young people in pen production in addition to show animal production. "A program can be set up for pen of three to six animals," he said. He also pointed out pens of six may be set up so 4-H members can select three to five for meat production study.

Cases were cited of 4-H show calves being purchased at $36 per hundred and higher. The group believes that 4-H members should buy show calves at a little heavier weights, feed them growing ration through the winter and get 1 1/2-pounds per day gain.

About Apr. 1 they can be started on a fattening feeding program to lessen fattening costs and to cut down on soft fat covering.

Many suggestions were made at the meeting for improving the Dixon County Fair exhibits in 1968. Recommendations will be made to the fair board.

Fitting and showing classes in new ways were also recommended. A special day for each type of stock would be more educational and instructive, those attending the Concord meeting believed.

Special judging classes are planned for 1968 to teach 4-H members fine points of livestock judging. Dates and plans will be announced later, Gillaspie said.

Court Business Drops Off After Busy Week

After a week in which around $900 was paid in fines, "business" dropped off at the chambers of Judge

David Hamer. Only four cases were heard the first of last week.

There were two Monday and two Tuesday. First case Oct. 23, was for Steve Kerl, Wayne, who paid $10 fine and $5 costs on a speeding charge brought by Sgt. Keith Reed.

The same day, Stephen Carlson, Winside, paid $15 fine and costs, for improper operation of a motor vehicle on a limited permit. Attorney Donald Reed filed the complaint.

Oct. 24, Joseph Carlson, Dixon, was fined $15 plus $5 costs for speeding. Trooper C. Franssen, Nebraska State Patrol, was the complaining officer.

Also that day, Virginia Black, Norfolk, paid $20 fine and costs on a speeding charge. Trooper Franssen brought charges.

Weather No Hindrance to Campers

Cold, wet weather has been no hindrance to Wayne Boy Scouts. Many of them have camped out the past week in temperatures around the freezing mark. Troop 221, Jewell Schock, Scoutmaster, took Troop 221 to the Elkhorn River near Pilger Friday for an overnight camp. They cooked out and kept warm even though it got below freezing that night. Some wandering cows tried to join the campers in the middle of the night, disturbing sleep somewhat. The boys also heard a "coyote chorus," the first some of them had ever heard. The camporee at Ponca drew campers from Troops 174 and 175, 20 from the first and 8 from the second. Dick Manley is Scoutmaster of 174 and Bill Richardson Troop 175. A board of review is being planned in November by 174. Several in 175 have earned promotions during recent weeks.

Book Fair Set for Middle School

In observance of Book Week, the Wayne Middle School library will be the scene of a paperback book fair Oct. 31, Nov. 1 and 2, according to Mrs. Faunel Bennett, librarian. The public is invited anytime from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

The book fair display will include new books from many publishers in prices ranging from 25 cents to $1.95. All reading interest areas will be represented. Fiction, classics, biographies, adventures, science, nature, crafts, mystery and reference books will be included. Mrs. Bennett describes them as books to read or use as gifts.

Book fair arrangements have been made through Educational Reading Service, a professional book fair company. The fairs are aimed at spurring pupil interest in reading and building home libraries.

In addition to pupils and parents, the book fair is open to teachers and anyone else in the area who is interested.

Concord Club Plans Annual Turkey Gifts

Concord Commercial Club is planning the annual turkey gifts promotion for the Thanksgiving and Christmas seasons. First day for giving away turkeys will be Saturday, Nov. 18.

Meeting Tuesday night, Oct. 24, at Bread Basket Cafe, the club members voted to give away six turkeys Nov. 18. The number to be given away during the Christmas series has not been set yet.

Concord will also have Santa Claus, treats and other attractions for the Christmas season. Details will be worked out later.

Laurel Man Misses Out on Drawing

Not being in Wayne Thursday night cost a Laurel man $250. That was the amount he would have collected had he been present at 8 when his name was called.

Merle H. White could have had that amount. Instead, he will get a check

At Police Meeting

Chief of Police Vern Fairchild and Officer John Redel attended the 16th annual conference of Police Officers' Association of Nebraska in North Platte Oct. 23-24. Their wives accompanied them to that city. Fairchild was re-appointed to the legislative committee. New officers are Blaine Sailors, Falls City, president, and Ed Clinchard, Fremont, vice president. Program topics included courtroom demeanor, court case preparation, homicide investigation, trends in nation's crime picture, searches and seizures, jurisdiction of federal agencies, state patrol and legislation.

Concord Girl Named

Nancy Rastede, Concord, freshman at Kearney State College, has been elected treasurer of Ludden Hall, one of five residence halls for women on the KSC campus. Those chosen were elected this month and will serve the remainder of the school year. Miss Rastede is a graduate of Allen High School.

Allen Boy Named

Ron Kraemer, Allen High School senior, has been chosen to attend the all-state vocal music clinic Nov. 16-18 at Sidney. He was among the few chosen after tryouts at Creighton. Kraemer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Kraemer, Concord. His instructor at AHS is Mary Ducey.

for $10 from the Wayne Chamber of Commerce, consolation for not winning the big prize.

Because there was no winner, next Thursday night someone will get a chance to win $300. Rules require that they be in a participating business place in or near Wayne when the name is called.

Newcomers to the area or anyone who has reached the age of 18 and never registered may do so now. Information can be obtained from the business places that sponsor the drawing.

If there is a winner next Thursday, the prize the following week will be $100. If there is no winner, the amount in the drawing will go up to $350 for the Nov. 9 drawing.

Allen Musicians in Concert Thursday

Hoping to start where they left off last year, musicians in Allen High School will present a concert Thursday, Nov. 2, at 8 p.m. in the AHS auditorium. Last year Allen won more superior ratings in district competition than any other school, Class B or C, in Northeast Nebraska.

Under the direction of Mary Ducey, the band, choir, girls' glee club, boys' glee club, boys' quartet and select girls' glee club will perform. A special feature will be a percussion ensemble.

Music from "Gigi" will be among the special selections. Other music from traditional to religious is to be included.

Two other events for music pupils are coming up. One is the annual band banquet to be held Saturday, Nov. 4, at 6:30 p.m.

Monday, Nov. 6, the Lewis & Clark Conference vocal clinic will be held under the direction of John Zei from the music department of the University of Nebraska. Only 24 vocalists will be allowed to attend from each of the conference schools.

Two Cars Backing Up Involved in Mishap

Two vehicles backing up at the Sav-Mor and Arnie's parking lot Tuesday were involved in an accident. There were no traffic mishaps on public streets the fore part of the week.

According to the report by Ron Penlerick, investigating officer, Jacquelyn Petersen, Ansley, was backing a car owned by L.J. Kuehl, Loup City. Harold Lenz, Omaha, was backing his own car.

Lenz said a "blind spot" prevented him from seeing the other car through the rear-view window. Damage was not extensive to either car.

Four Pupils Taking Debate at Allen High

Four pupils are on the debate squad at Allen High. They will go to Pierce Monday for a practice debate, and more meets will be scheduled later in the school term.

Mrs. Margaret Kelly is teaching the course. She has had debating experience previously.

Debaters are Craig Schultz, Wayne Rasmussen, Elaine Snyder and Doug Witte. Their subject is: Resolved that Congress should establish uniform regulations for crime control.

Winside Firemen on Call During Church

It was the best-dressed group of firemen to go to a fire in a long time Sunday, Oct. 22, at 11:30 a.m. Many were called out of church when the fire alarm sounded.

The fire was at the Denis Bowers farm five miles northwest of Winside. Silage in a trench had caught fire in some way.

Bowers said he had been working near the trench with a tractor earlier in the day. It is thought a spark might have set the fire that smoldered for a while and was then fanned into flame. Damage was confined to the top portion of the silage. Firemen were back in time for their noon meals.
