

Humbug Survey Work Set

A survey crew has been assigned to begin work in the Humbug Watershed this week, according to Arnold Marr, work unit conservationist for the Wayne County Soil Conservation District.

Humbug Watershed covers parts of Wayne and Stanton counties and is located mainly in the Hoskins area. Farmers involved have approved plans for a watershed project to save the land.

Marr says the crew will make necessary surveys to determine possible sites for structures. After this is completed, a detailed watershed plan will be developed, including land treatment, recreation potential and gully control measures.

Humbug Water Conservancy District has a local-elected board of directors, each elected for four years. Present directors are Dean Janke, Vernon Miller, Jack Chace, Ronald Schellpeper and Walter Nelson.

'Arsenic and Old Lace' Winside Play

"Arsenic and Old Lace," a comedy-mystery that convulsed Broadway audiences for months, is to be presented Tuesday, Nov. 28, at 8 p.m. in the Winside City Auditorium.

The junior class is putting on the play under the direction of Mrs. Shirley Trautwein. Every member of the class has a part in the production or else is a behind-the-scenes worker.

A matinee for grade school pupils will be presented at the auditorium that day. Admission for the night performance is divided among three classifications, grade school, high school and adults. Only reserve seats will be for cast members' parents.

Work is going forward on making the staging a highlight. Painters, builders and prop workers are busy. Makeup, ticket and publicity committees are active.

Winside Contest About the Addresses

Winside Federated Woman's Club will have another Christmas lighting contest for homes this year. Details are lacking now but the FW is hoping for a larger number of participating homes than in past years. Mrs. George Gahl, Mrs. Charles Jackson, Mrs. Glen Frevert and Mrs. N. L. Ditman can give information on the plans.

One important point has not been emphasized in asking for addresses of servicemen. If the address has an IPO or an APO number, please include that after the address. In that way, the list the Herald publishes will show where the servicemen are stationed, something that cannot be ascertained by the APO or IPO number alone.

Business Notes

Cora Jenkins has taken over operation of Marlene's Cafe, Carroll, and will call it Home Cafe. Mrs. Kenneth Eddie had been operating it for the last few months. The new cafe operator had been a telephone operator in Carroll for several years prior to the installation of dial equipment.

No Postal Service

There will be no weekday postal service at area post offices Thursday. All will operate on a Sunday schedule with limited dispatches of mail. None of the post offices will open windows, none will send out rural carriers and Wayne will have no house-to-house carrier service. There will be mail delivery to lock-boxes.

Variety Offered in WSC Play Trio

People attending the three one-act plays to be presented at the annual "Tonight at Eight" production of Wayne State College Dec. 3, 4 and 5, will have a variety of entertainment.

Jerry Melis and Susan Cook, have chosen to direct plays written by Lewis Carline, one of the most successful young writers living. His plays have been given in Sweden, Iceland, Finland, Australia, Germany, Japan, England, Italy and all over the United States.

'Objective Case,' deal with youth searching for the deeper meaning of love.

"Objective Case," deal with youth searching for the deeper meaning of love. In both, the young lovers are caught up in a whirlpool of today's society, offering strong social comment rather than "pat answers."

Don Waechholz has chosen "Bedtime Story," a comedy by Sean O'Casey, the greatest dramatist of post-war Ireland and one of the finest modern playwrights. In this play, he uses a reverse twist to satirize religious hypocrisy and conventionalism.

The plays will be presented "arena style" in Ramsey Theatre. There will be a limited number of reserved seats available after Nov. 27, patrons securing them by calling 375-9985.

Lions Give Away 46 Turkeys Thursday

Wayne Lions Club gave away 46 turkeys Thursday night. Most of the winners were from Wayne but over one-fourth of them went to people living in other communities.

Those winning can pick up their tickets entitling them to a dressed turkey from Leland Lobe at the First National Bank, Wayne. An advertisement also lists the winners in this issue.

Lions sell the turkeys each year. Proceeds go to the sight conservation fund to aid those who have eye trouble or cannot see at all. Lions expressed appreciation for the way area people support the project each year.

Out-of-town winners included: Earl Westfall, Marilyn Morris and Gerald Binesches, Winside; Don Sorenson, Halston; Janice Sampson, Wakefield; Mrs. Don

Wayne Man Collects Drawing Prize

Gary Woodward, Wayne, picked a good time to go after a package of cigarettes Thursday night. He walked into Melodee Lanes and was told his name had been drawn for the Silver Night Drawing.

As a result, the art instructor at Wayne State College receives $400 from the Chamber of Commerce. He said he would spend it all in Wayne, most of it for Christmas gift giving.

Mrs. Al Bahe, Melodee Lanes, presented the check to Woodward on behalf of the Wayne C. of C. It was the second time in

The Spook Speaks

A Wayne woman had to be out of town for three or four days. While gone, she wanted to call back and see how the family was getting along. Her 11-year-old son answered the phone. When the operator told him she had a collect call and who it was from, the mother heard the son call out: "Dad, should we accept a collect call from Mom?" Now the mother is wondering just how important she is to the family.

A group of hunters near Dixon had a splendid hunting dog helping. One hunter bagged a bird, the dog brought the pheasant back alive and the hunter wrung the neck but did not detach it, tossing the bird into the car trunk with the other pheasants. After supper, the hunters took the birds to a processing plant, opened the trunk and out flew the pheasant with the "wrung neck," still very much alive.

One Wayne County rural school district was having a meeting concerning the school. Someone suggested buying a new stove for the one-room schoolhouse. An older man snorted: "Heating that school is like trying to heat a haystack!" That seemed to settle the issue; no new stove and no more school in that district.

CHARLES PRINCE, Winside, displays the large medalion he won as the county's only centennial essay winner. The medalion was designed by an art instructor in Lincoln. On one side it says: "Honor to our heritage, dedication to our future." On the other side it has a detailed etching of the state capitol and says: "In this broad earth of ours enclosed and safe within its central heart nestles the seed perfection."

Two Mills to Operate Soon

Two new mills are in different stages of development in Wayne. Both should be in operation this year.

Wayne Grain & Feed is building a new roller mill. The picture of this in construction has been presented earlier and another story of the new industry will be carried when it is ready to start operations.

The other firm, Feeders Elevator, is a completely new locally-owned industry. It is a flaking mill for corn, milo, wheat and oats to be used for feeding.

Frank Allen of Allen Construction Co., Ponca City, Okla., is in charge of the big plant rising on Fairgrounds Ave. east of Wayne Motor Express. It is one of a number of such mills he has built since 1957 and he says this is the best he has ever put up.

The plant will employ the newest flaking process in the nation. Grain will be cooked with boilers encircling the cookers. Feed coming out of the cookers will go through rollers and can have moisture content as low as 16 per cent.

Tallest part of the steel structure is for grain storage. It also has a mixer and a molasses pit for molasses blending.

A receiving driveway is covered so that everything in the plant is enclosed except the "legs" which will be atop the plant. A 70-foot scale is just off the office.

A lower portion of the structure on the north will house 60 horsepower twin cookers.

Community Club at Carroll Makes Plans

Carroll Community Club is making plans for two holiday special events. A meeting will be held Monday, Nov. 20, at 7 p.m. in the Home Cafe to discuss the plans.

A pancake feed is planned in Carroll Saturday, Dec. 16. Santa Claus will be there with treats for the children Saturday, Dec. 23.

Claire Swanson is the new president of the C.C., taking over last month from Leonard Hallean. A secretary has to be elected to take the place of John Bergquist, who has moved to Homer.

Civil Defense Conference Monday

A civil defense conference for county and municipal officials will be held in Wayne Monday, Nov. 20, at 7 p.m. in the district court room. There is no charge, no advance registration is required and anyone in the area is welcome to attend.

Discussion will cover the current civil defense programs, policies and objectives, develop a better understanding of responsibilities, required actions and procedures to increase ability to cope with major emergencies, explain federal and state assistance and present in a stimulating manner the issues and facts behind civil defense.

Sheriff Don Weible heads the civil defense program in Wayne County. He will welcome all county and non-county residents at this meeting. Refreshments will be served during the course of the evening.

Films, descriptions, of shelters, talks on how communities can be prepared and a summary of resources available will be included in the program. NU, the army, the Office of Civil Defense, the Nebraska Civil Defense Agency and local CD officials are sponsoring the conference.

Churches Plan Rites Marking Thanksgiving

There may be more churches planning Thanksgiving rites in this area but only four bothered to let the Herald know about them.

A similar policy will be followed by the Herald for the Dec. 18 issue of the paper when a front page story will tell of Christmas plans. All those sent in will be included.

Taking them in the order they came in, Wesleyan Methodist will have a special Thanksgiving emphasis service Wednesday, Nov. 22 at 8 p.m. Included will be congregational singing and thanksgiving testimonials, special vocal music, scripture lesson and a closing season of prayer. Rev. Fred Warrington is pastor.

Redeemer Lutheran Church will hold Thanksgiving service Wednesday, Nov. 22, at 8 p.m. Special music will be provided by the combined choirs, according to Pastor S. K. de Freese.

Pastor A. W. Gode of Immanuel Lutheran Church, has set a Thanksgiving Day service at 10 a.m. Thursday. Also in the Thanksgiving season are Saturday school at 9:30 a.m. Nov. 25, Sunday school at 9:30 and worship at 10:30 Nov. 26.

Grace Lutheran, E. J. Herrthal, pastor, and David Hull, vicar, will have Thanksgiving services Thursday at 9:30 a.m. Topic of Pastor Herrthal's sermon will be "Why We Need Thanksgiving" taken from words of St. Paul in Romans 1:21: "neither were thankful." Don Schumacher's senior choir will sing an anthem, "Sing to the Lord of Harvest." Vicar Hull will participate in the liturgical service.

No other churches reported any special services for this Thanksgiving period to the Herald. However, this does not mean they are not having any.

New Plant Addition Honors N. Brugger

The Norbert Brugger Addition is the name of the new power plant building in Wayne. It was revealed at the dedication services Thursday when a plaque was shown and Brugger was honored.

Here is how the plaque reads: "Norbert Brugger Addition to Wayne Municipal Power Plant. Established 1898. This building dedicated to Norbert Brugger for faithful and diligent service to the city of Wayne since 1926. It is dated 1966 and 1967, the years in which it was started and completed.

Brugger has been with the utility 41 years. He has been recognized in other fields also, one notable one being his membership in the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department, never missing a meeting in 36 years. An Ak-Sar-Ben good citizen award has been presented him for his faithful service.

There were 813 registered at the open house Thursday. A general reaction was: "I never really knew what went on in generating electricity before. I would like to see more." Brugger said visitors are welcome at the plant as it is never closed.

One school group came with their teacher to see the plant. It was the only group from this area given a special tour.

Floral pieces were all over the new plant, coming from local businesses and from suppliers. Loup River Public Power, which has always worked closely with municipal utilities, sent a bird of paradise bouquet with peacock feathers included.

City and light plant department personnel were well-pleased with the number who came out during a busy period of the year. The fact that the plant belongs to the people made it reasonable to have them see what their power plant is doing.

Winners in the drawing at the plant at 8:30 Thursday were: Mrs. Fred Ruser, Wayne, electric food blender; Mrs. Conra Weiershauser, Wayne, electric can opener; Mrs. Irene Geewe, rural Wayne, electric hair dryer; Mrs. Verlin Glass, Wayne, electric iron;

Lillian Edwards, Wayne, electric knife; Cletus Sharer, Wayne, electric skillet; Bernard Koch, rural Wayne, electric toaster; and Mrs. William Vahlkamp, Wayne, electric vacuum cleaner. Jeanne Addison drew names sight-unseen for the prizes.

Wayne voted on a bond issue of $4,500 in 1898 to provide a plant here. At first it was for night use only but later the council decided it should run in the morning too.

In 1904 the city bought a generator for $3,736 and a boiler for $2,100 to add to the facilities. Coal was used for the direct current power system. In 1919, alternating current was produced for the first time.

Conversion to diesel was made in 1928. The units serving the

Fund Aiding Family Near Winside

A trickle of donations has started coming in for the Allen Schrant fund. All money received will be given to the Schrant family at Winside.

Schrant is the man who lost both hands when he fell into the husking bed of a cornpicking machine. He is in a Norfolk hospital and friends and relatives are helping with his farm work.

The 38-year-old Winside dairy farmer had just gotten well underway on a remodeling project at his home. New paneling was being put in and other improvements made.

Mr. and Mrs. Elnor Cook, Carroll, are taking care of the dairy work at the Schrant farm. Relatives have come from Clarkson to help care for the children. Mrs. Schrant spending most of the time at the hospital with her husband.

While it is not known yet, what his plans will be, Schrant is expected to get out of the hospital next week. Relatives said they did not know whether he would be able to continue to operate Roadside Dairy or not.

Schrant has withstood the shock of his loss remarkably well. He knew when he caught his hands in the roller he would lose part of them, but he could not have known that one hand and almost all of the other (except the thumb and palm) would be lost.

The family has been heartened by the offers of help and the way friends and neighbors have taken time away from their own work to help out. It is thought the fund to help them will also mean a great deal, since they had no hospitalization insurance of significance.

Any donations will be sent to the Schrant family with a list of those giving. A fund is being handled at Farmers State Bank, Carroll, and donations sent there should be made out to Allen Schrant fund.

Luedtke, Brass Named MVP at WSC

The Wayne (Nebr.) Herald

Jerry Luedtke, Omaha, and Dave Brass, Minneapolis, were the most valuable players on defense and offense for Wayne State College in football this fall.

Coach John Jermier announced their selection by the team and also his choice of honorary season captain's, Brass, Roger Parr, Scribner, and Ron Fox, Ponca.

Luedtke, a halfback, is the first sophomore to win the MVP honor at Wayne in years. Brass, a defensive end, is a senior.

Selection of sophomore Luedtke reflects the squad's youth, Jermier noted. In fact, freshman halfback Sam Singleton of Elizabeth, N. D., the team's leading rusher, was a close contender for the offensive MVP title—"the first freshman even to receive a vote in my six years at Wayne," Jermier said.

Luedtke ranked second in rushing with 189 yards, led scoring with 54 points, and ranked third in pass receiving. He is a 1964 graduate of Omaha North High School.

Brass, though only 5'10" and 194 pounds, was a demon on defense, often blocking two or even three opponents, Jermier said. At Minneapolis Vocational High School, he was the most valuable player in his senior year and an all-star.

Parr, a convert to offensive end after three years on defense, led the team in pass receptions, 22 for 292 yards (senior end Dick Myers, Eagle Grove, Ia., traveled 329 on 18 catches). Fox, a junior cornerback, led in interceptions and broke up a big share of plays.

Singleton finished the season with 674 yards rushing and an average per carry of six yards, currently the top among Nebraska NAIA college ball carriers. He also led the team in punt and kickoff returns and he scored 30 points.

Senior quarterback Steve Gunther, LeMars, Ia., propelled the team to a record pass yardage, 4,387, including 1,105 yards on his 75 completions. He scored 42 points.

John Perkins, sophomore fullback, Sioux Rapids, Ia., ranked third in rushing with 310 yards, followed by Bob Marlan, sophomore fullback, Des Moines, with 272, and Don Grubaugh, junior halfback, David City, with 122. Grubaugh ranked fourth in Bill Essman, student leader from WSC at Winside, coached wrestling at Winside High last year under the supervision of Supt. James Christensen and Ed Schmitt. He has two letters back from the first WSC varsity squad last year.

The lettermen are Steve Essman, a sophomore, 140 pounds, and Dan Jensen, a senior, 150 pounds. Several others were experienced in that they were last year but did not letter.

Included in the letterman program are: Leroy Wilch, senior, 140 pounds; Dick, senior, 145 pounds; King, senior, 144 pounds; Johnson, junior, 149 pounds; senior, 141 pounds; senior, 145; Dennis Swanson, 143; and Roy Wagner, 143.

Others out on experience are: junior, 140; Dave, freshman, 145; Tom, freshman, 145; Paul, freshman, 140; and Tom,

Short Allen Team Has Eight Lettermen

With only one player over the six-foot mark, the Allen High School Eagles will be short in stature this year. However, Coach Leroy Wilch has eight lettermen back for the Blue and Gold.

Larry Ahrendt is assistant coach in the cage sport. This is his first year at Allen.

Mike Roeber is the only tall player, standing 6'3". Next tallest player is Charles Geiger, 5'11".

the varsity are Bill and Dennis Geiger.

Coach Ahrendt is glad the reserves. He has cut out but is going to take some cuts to whittle down to size number physically.

Those working with are: Bob Meyer, Tom Smith, Mike Isom, John Smith, Tom Maggart, Brian Linatelter, Albert, Gary Baha, Eberts, Kent Emery, Bill Hall and Gary.

Allen opens its season on the road, playing Ponca and Dec. 2 at the First home game against Pilsen.

Gordon Jorgensen

Lynn Lessmann

Two Blue Devils Gain Recognition

Two members of the championship Husker West football team have been recognized by the Omaha World-Herald as being among the top players in the state in Class B.

Gordon Jorgensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jorgensen, is a senior at end. He was the top scorer of the team and caught more passes than most other receivers in the state. He was named first team all-star.

At the passing and running end on Coach Allen Hansen's team was Lynn Lessmann. He was in the final consideration for all-state honors and was acknowledged as one of the top running backs in the area. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Lessmann.

Six Draw Fines for Different Violations

Six were fined in the court of Judge David Hamer the first part of last week. Four different laws were violated.

There were three hearings Nov. 15. Lambert Jeffers, Elk Point, S. D., was fined $10 and paid $5 costs on a speeding charge. E. C. Volkmer, Nebraska State Patrol, signed the complaint.

Donald Vance, Fremont, paid $15 total in fine and costs on a charge of illegal parking. John Redel was the officer filing charges.

Lee Smith, Wayne, paid $10 fine and $5 costs for illegal parking. Assistant Chief E. L. Hailley signed the complaint.

Nov. 14, James Logan, San Diego, paid $15 fine and costs. Game Conservation Officer Marion Shaffer signed a complaint of carrying a loaded shotgun in

Care Urged as Yule Mailing Rush Starts

How many thousand packages will not wind up at their destination this Christmas season? Area postmasters know there will be a lot, but they hope few of them are from here.

John Rethwisch at Carroll, Carl Jeffrey at Allen, Don Wightman at Wayne, Jean Boyd at Winside, Carl Mann at Hoskins, Lowell Saunders at Dixon, Norman Anderson at Concord and R. E. Paulson at Wakefield all urge those mailing packages to take extra precautions so packages will not go astray.

The postmasters point out that mail going airmail to servicemen overseas needs complete addressing. They report MILITIONS of letters and packages may be delayed, the biggest reason being failure to include that all-important APO or FPO number.

Last year, over 9,000,000 pieces of mail were delayed in delivery, well over one-third of them failing to include the APO or FPO number. This mail was sent to military locators and took weeks longer than necessary to get to those in uniform.

When addressing mail for overseas, include the following: Serviceman's name, grade and service number; his military unit's numbers; his "gateway post office," San Francisco, New York or Seattle; and his five-digit APO or FPO number. If any of these are missing, the letter or package will be delayed in delivery.

A final reminder, mail marked "SAM" (Space Available Mail) will go by surface to the coast and by air on the basis of space from there. This must be mailed by Dec. 1. Airmail going to servicemen overseas must be mailed by Dec. 11 in order to reach addressees by Christmas. All mail, overseas or in the states, should be mailed early.

Utilities Men Give Watch to N. Brugger

When Northeast Nebraska Utilities Section met here Thursday, it not only took note of the new power plant addition in Wayne but also recognized Norb Brugger, Wayne power plant superintendent, for his years of service. He is one of the founders of the organization.

The men presented an Accutron watch to him, one that works on the same principle as the master clock at the power plant. Two Omaha firms, Cooper-Bessemer and E. A. Pedersen Co., joined friends in making the presentation possible.

Also a tribute to the new plant and the superintendent was the turnout. There were between 85 and 90 utilities men in attendance, the largest group the unit has ever attracted at its every-other-month sessions.

Dr. N. L. Diltman, Ken Gramberg and Dale Langenberg attended from Winside. It was the first time that town has been represented at the utilities meeting in recent years.

Thursday's Paper Out One Day Early

Because of Thanksgiving coming Thursday, Nov. 23, the next issue of The Herald will be published one day early. This is to insure everyone getting their copy in the Wednesday mail via carrier, rural route or post office lock box.

Due to this arrangement, it will be necessary for correspondents to have their news in early. Any other news wanted in Thursday's edition will have to be in The Herald office by Monday evening.

Advertisers are advised to make known their wishes. Copy will have to be in earlier than usual in order to be included in this extra circulation "Coupon Days" promotion issue.

Dryer Causes Fire on Farm East of Hoskins

A grain dryer is blamed for a fire on a farm east of Hoskins Thursday, Nov. 9. The Lyle Marutz farm was the scene.

Chief Dutch Ofter said the department was called out at 4 a.m. A canvas cover between the dryer and a grain drying building had caught fire.

The fire was intense and the canvass was destroyed. Wood on the outer portion of the grain-drying building adjacent to the dryer was charred.

Man Breaks His Hip; You Know Which One

An elderly Wayne man fell and broke his hip Thursday night. It should not be necessary to say which one.

W. C. Andrews, 93, entered Wayne Hospital after breaking his hip. He is a resident of Dahl's Retirement Center.

It was his left hip that was broken, naturally. In fact, in three months, six people have been admitted with broken hips, all of them breaking their left hips. Andrews will be hospitalized for several weeks.

Russia Slides Shown Dixon County Tutors

Dixon County Education Association met in Ponca Wednesday. Feature attraction at the dinner meeting was Dr. T. H. McDonald, WSC, showed slides of scenes in Russia.

Roger Sandman, Allen, is president of the group. He led discussion on amendments to the constitution of DCEA.

One change made is electing members of the professional rights and responsibilities committee by the schools they represent. In the past the members have been named by the president.

Sandman was chosen to attend the Nebraska State Education Association meeting to represent DCEA. The convention will be held in Lincoln in December.

Winside Woman Hurt Wednesday in Mishap

Mrs. Harriett Grothe, 26, Winside, suffered severe lacerations in a one-car accident on a county road four miles south and one-fourth mile east of Winside Wednesday afternoon. She was hospitalized at Norfolk following the mishap. According to Lt. Omar Young, State Safety Patrol investigating officer, Mrs. Grothe was alone when she came to a curve in the road. She lost control, the car skidded, went into the right ditch for around 76 feet, went across the road into the ditch on the left side of the road and hit an embankment. The impact sent Mrs. Grothe through the windshield. Damage to the 1961 automobile she was driving was extensive. Her injuries were reported as severe lacerations to the left cheek, below the nose and from one eye to the nose.

Hoskins PTA to Meet
Hoskins Public School PTA will meet Tuesday, Nov. 21, at 7:30 p.m. at the school. Members consider the program as one of interest to all and the public is invited. Dr. T. H. McDonald, WSC, will show the slides of scenes in Russia. He and his wife took the pictures on a trip "on their own," not under Intourist guidance.

WINE COOKERY

by Pamela Howard

A long time ago, some unknown benefactor of the human race performed a daring experiment in cooking which has made mealtime a happier occasion for many of us. He discovered cooking with wine.

The character of wine changes as it is subjected to heat. First, the alcohol, which has a low boiling point, passes off as a vapor. Then, the other elements of the wine undergo varying changes depending on whether the wine is merely heated, brought to a boil, or sizzled at a high temperature.

There has been renewed interest in this matter of cooking with wine during the last few years. The enjoyment of good eating is a favorite mid-American sport and wine offers one of the simplest and most effective means of making good food taste differently better.

Wine used in cooking is a flavoring. It also is a blender of flavors. It accents the savoriness of the food and lends both aroma and smoothness.

| 2 tablespoons sugar                 | 1/2 cup Sauterne or other white dinner wine |
| 4 1/2 teaspoons baking powder       | 1/4 cup margarine, melted                   |
| 1 teaspoon salt                     | 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese              |

Resift flour with sugar, baking powder and salt into a mixing bowl. Stir in corn meal. Add all remaining ingredients, mixing until well blended. Turn into a well greased 1 1/2-quart casserole or 8-inch square baking pan. Bake in a moderately hot oven (425 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes or until bread tests done and is richly browned and crusty. Serve as bread to accompany breakfast or supper dishes or as a base for creamed eggs, ham, chicken, vegetables or other creamed mixtures. Serves 8.

SHERRY-PUMPKIN CHIFFON PIE

| 5 onion slices                          |  |
| 1/2 cup brown sugar (packed)            |  |

Trim excess fat from chops. Cut a slit in each one almost to the bone to make a pocket. Sprinkle meat with salt and pepper; spoon Apple Stuffing into pocket of each chop. Hold opening together with toothpicks or tiny skewers, if necessary. Heat several pieces of fat trimmings in a heavy skillet. Brown chops slowly to a rich color on both sides. Arrange in lightly greased casserole or baking pan. Top each chop with a lemon and onion slice; sprinkle with brown sugar, spoon on catsup. Drain any fat from pan leaving the rich drippings. Add wine, orange juice and wine vinegar to pan; heat, stirring to gather up all drippings. Pour over meat. Cover and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) until meat is fork tender, about 1 hour. Add a little extra wine, if necessary, toward last of baking. Discard lemon and onion slices, remove picks, if used; spoon all fat from any remaining pan gravy before serving. Serves 5.

2 dozen rolls

1 cup chopped dried apricots
 1/4 cup boiling water
 2 packages yeast, compressed or dry
 1/2 cup water (lukewarm for compressed yeast, warm for dry)
 1 cup milk
 1/2 cup sugar
 1/4 cup shortening or oil
 2 teaspoons salt

5 cups sifted flour (about)
 2 eggs
 Margarine, melted
 Sugar
 2 cups confectioners' sugar
 3 tablespoons milk
 1/4 teaspoon orange extract
 1 or 2 drops yellow food coloring, if desired

Pour boiling water over apricots; reserve. Soften yeast in lukewarm or warm water. Heat milk until almost simmering. Measure sugar, shortening or oil, and salt into large mixing bowl. Stir in milk until sugar dissolves and shortening melts. Cool to lukewarm. Stir in 1 1/2 cups flour and beat well. Beat in yeast, apricots and eggs. Stir in enough more flour to make a soft dough. Bake at 350° for 20-30 minutes, or until golden brown. Brush with margarine. Cool slightly on wire racks. While rolls are cooling, blend together confectioners' sugar, milk and orange extract until smooth. Stir in food coloring. Drip icing over warm rolls.

Beat in fig bar mixture until batter is smooth. Spoon into well greased ½ quart pudding mold or casserole. Cover tightly. (Aluminum foil makes an excellent cover.) Steam 2½ hours or until done. Cool 10 minutes before unmolding. Decorate with hard sauce if desired. Serves 6-8. To set ablaze: Combine 2 tablespoons sugar with ½ teaspoon lemon extract. # GRASSROOTS GLEANINGS

by Bill Weber

The Ogden (Iowa) Reporter tells of the minister who asked the fellow why he didn't go to church.

"Well," replied the man, "the first time I went to church they threw water in my face. The second time I went they tied me to a woman I've had to keep ever since."

"Yes," said the minister, "and next time you go they'll throw dirt on you."

The best way to save face, advises the New Town (N.D.) News is to keep the lower part of it closed.

"The only teenagers we really dislike," says The Mac-om (Mo.) Chronicle-Herald, "are the 17-year locusts."

You might call an engagement ring a down payment on a wife insurance policy, claims The Cannelton (Ind.) Tuesday News.

The Ellsworth (Wis.) Record reports, "Education is that which you get when your father sends you to college. But it isn't complete until you send your son there."

One way to be sure that crime won't pay, says the Weekly Valley Herald of Chaska, Minn., would be to let the government run it.

The Steuben Republican of Angola, Ind., reports that there are nearly 100 million driver's licenses in force in the United States. Small wonder that there is never any place to park.

The Janesville (Minn.) Argus quotes the following restaurant sign: "Pies like mother used to make before she learned to play bridge."

The Gratiot County Herald of Ithaca, Mich., writes, "To get maximum attention, it's hard to beat a good big mistake."

"Cultivate good habits," advises the Adair County Free Press of Greenfield, Iowa. "All the bad ones grow wild."

The Marshall (Minn.) Messenger provides the following divorce poem:

I do not mind the empty bed;
The every day bologny
The dirty floor, the cluttered shed.
But darn that alimony!

"Gossip is like a cold — contagious and dangerous," claims The Altamont (Ill.) News.

"Some people have the idea they are worth a lot of money just because they have it," says The Wabasha County Herald of Wabasha, Minn.

Forty-two million people now receive regular checks from the Federal Government, either directly or from the states under aid programs financed largely with Federal funds, reports The Dell Rapids (S.D.) Tribune. No wonder Uncle Sam is so tall—he has to be to carry those long pockets around.

"The easiest way for a man to get his wife's attention is by looking comfortable," claims the Tazewell County News of Morton, Ill.

OLD WIVES TALES

Hillbilly Granny Clampett isn't such a far-fetched character. In fact, she is pretty realistic to those of us whose own grandmother or Aunt Maggie had a passion for healing and curing and nursing folks back to health.

"It might be catchin'," she would warn, and whether it was a cold or a pox, around your neck she would hang a muslin bag of asafetida that was supposed to make you breathe easier, cure your ailment and keep others from its contagion. That it did because the pungent aromatic odor kept everyone away, as did the onion poultice or goose grease for your chest cold. All of her cold remedies weren't offensive, but hot and spicy and sweet. She was heavy handed with honey and sugar whether it was mixed with turpentine, kerosene or camphor. The house and everything in it would often become permeated with the steeping brew of catnip or peppermint tea. Elderberries and their blossoms joined in a remedy for "stummick ailment" and if that didn't help, she made camomile tea brewed from a plant of the aster family. If this cure for some reason brought on "the trots," she was not dismayed for she knew how to remedy that with blackberries, cooked down to a sticky concentrate and fermented, bottled and labeled "balsam." Purple and potent.

Strategy and psychology were tools that put her a shout ahead of the latest whisper of modern medicine, which publicly disproves her cures and superstitions as fallacies. Like a general in battle, if her tactics didn't win the war on your sickness, she would give you a good strong physic to rid you of all the poison in your system. You might get a trifle weak and turn green, which in turn called for a tonic of sulphur and molasses in the spring and joy!—hard cider in the fall. It would have been more palatable cold than hot (mulled, she called it, remember?) and minus the red pepper.

A little shaken from your ailment? Eat celery for your nerves; fish, especially sardines, for sharpening your mind; beets to redder your blood and cooked gruel to warm the coruscles.

Psychology 'way back when? Did your father or Uncle George ever tell you about the blistered neck from having the home doctor lovingly rub kerosene into the pores of your neck and gently swathe them with red or outing flannel? As a counter-irritant, a cotton swab on a stick dipped into kerosene swished down to your tonsils. No wonder folks got well quick with such killer cures. We now have ways and medicine to effect quick cures, prevent communicable diseases and make the patient comfortable—you must agree that they're easier to live with than asafetida and other folk cures. We can be nostalgic, but what deodorants, anti-perspirants and mouth washes could erase the fact that you are sick?

It's a funny thing, our laughing at their methods because your grandmother scoffed at the silly tarrations of their older generation. Imagine, they'd reminisce, "My grandpa wore copper wire around his wrists and ankles and gold beads to ward off rheumatiz'. Alfalfa tea, my ma'd fix for him."

Recipes for home remedies were handed down as were "receipts" for family delicacies. You will want to preserve some customs as an heritage, but you do not cook and bake as they did back in the good old days of poke berries and goose grease as remedies. The American Dietetic Association* has issued a list of the fallacies and misconceptions, some taken from so-called "doctor books" of another era. Judge for yourself: Dried currants are poisonous berries; ripe cherries destroy old age matter in the body; asparagus is good for the kidneys; sassafras and vinegar thin the blood; ice water causes heart trouble; watermelon, cucumbers and soft drinks cause polio. Olives, eggs (raw, of course) and oysters increase sexual potency; if the expectant mother holds her weight down, the size of the baby will be reduced; eat all you want until 4:00 p.m. in order to lose weight; calories don't count. That last one should do it if you believed even one of the others!

If you have tried one kind of diet after another without satisfactory results, you know how true it is that a diet that works for one person may not necessarily have the same beneficial effect on another.

It's a simple medically proven fact. Dieting should be a highly individualized matter, guided by your body type, your preference in food, and your reasons for dieting in the first place. That's the diet you are most likely to stick with!

WARDENS

A black November night blanketed the woods where the two men stood silently next to their car. They were just off the blacktop highway that snaked through the spruce swamps and hardwood ridges.

They shivered against the cold that poked through their jackets; and then they forgot the cold as the glow of car headlights began to build slowly far down the highway. They listened to the growling

The Gift 22's

Give one to your son this Christmas. Someday he'll pass it on to your grandson.

What a fine watch is to a young man at graduation, a Remington 22 is to a boy at Christmas.

A gift to be exclaimed over a little and used a lot. Treated with care and handled with respect.

And someday passed on to another generation.

That's why we don't build our 22's to sell cheap. We build them to wear well.

That's why our new 580 series bolt-actions have six locking lugs where many have just one.

That's why our Nylon 66 automatic has an action that's virtually jam-proof. (And a stock that's guaranteed never to warp or crack.)

That's why the RK-W wood finish on our deluxe 572 pump and 552 automatic is tougher and handsomer than you'll find on many custom big-game rifles.

And that's why Remington 22's are made for keeps.

buzz of the car's engine, and they became suddenly alert as the approaching drone of the automobile began to slow and then was silent.

They stepped out onto the highway in time to see the car's headlights sweep the shoulder of the road, and then they heard the echoing blast of a gun.

A FAR CRY FROM "POPPLER COPS"

"Let's go!" one of them said; and together they ran to their car; and, with headlights off, they drove toward the automobile down the road. They were a quarter of a mile from the car, when it turned around suddenly and began to move away.

"He must have spotted us," the driver said, and with this he flicked on his lights and tromped the accelerator down. The distance between the vehicles closed rapidly, and when it was only a few hundred feet, the driver of the rear automobile switched on a red light that blinked a flashing signal into the night.

Instead of stopping, however, the car ahead darted suddenly away.

"Hang on, he's going to run," the driver of the red-blinking vehicle said. He turned on a siren that wailed across the still night, and he reached for a radio hand mike that hung from the dashboard.

The speed of the vehicles climbed to 80 miles an hour, then to 90, then to 100, and slowly the lead car pulled away. The automobiles hurtled through the darkness; and in the distance the lights of a town began to show.

The radio messages that had flashed on ahead had done their job, and the chase ended on the edge of town where police cars had hastily set up a road block.

The participants in the abruptly ended chase were two deer shiners and two conservation wardens. The wardens moved now to the car they had pursued and placed the occupants under arrest. They advised the arrested men of their rights under the law, and then took them to the county jail.

The men denied shining deer, pointing out that they had no guns in their car. They were correct in that their vehicle contained no guns when it was stopped, but there were empty rifle cases and unfired rifle cartridges on the floor of it; and the two conservation wardens went to work to build their case.

Back out the highway they drove, this time very slowly. Several miles out of town they found the shattered remains of a rifle beside the road. They picked up the pieces carefully, using handkerchiefs so that fingerprints would not be disturbed.

Then they drove out to where the chase started. On the shoulder of the road, a large deer lay dead. It was a doe, and the wardens hoisted it into the trunk of their car and drove back to town. It was just beginning to get daylight, a faint hint of light put the spruce tops in silhouette.

The wardens were tired. They had been up all night, and there would be only a few hours of sleep now before they would have to be down to the district attorney's office to begin the long process of prosecution against the suspected deer shiners. And in this day of zealous protection of individual rights, the prosecution must be done right or the warden is left without a case.

The next day they dusted the broken rifle for fingerprints, and carefully packaged and marked all other items of evidence, including the cartridges that had been found in the car, and the fragments of bullet that they had cut out of the deer carcass.

They took the items downstate to the state crime laboratory where ballistics experts went to work to match the cartridges and shell casings with markings from the rifle's barrel and extractor mechanism. This "matching" would show a court that the rifle had been in the suspects' car.

And that is just what happened when the case was heard. Microscopic markings in the shells and the gun were shown to match so precisely that there could be no doubt about them having been in contact.

"Guilty," the court said, and the deer shiners each paid heavy fines to avoid jail sentences. They also lost their fishing and hunting privileges for a year.

As the wardens walked from the courtroom, one turned to the other and said, "I've got to give a gun safety demonstration for the junior rifle club tonight, but I'll meet you after it's over and we'll work the northwest corner for a few hours."

"Fine," his companion replied, "I'll have time before we go to check a couple of traplines."

The wardens went their separate ways, tending to the endless tasks that the modern conservation officer is faced with. A far-cry from the first "poppler cops" who were solitary upholders of sketchy and often resented fish and game laws, the modern warden is a man of many talents. His conservation role has mushroomed until almost every element of the community looks to him for service and help at one time or another.

Though he is basically a lawman, he devotes an ever increasing amount of his time to public relations. The intent of this is to educate the public, particularly the young public, as to the importance of sound conservation programs. These programs include growing complexity in fish and game laws, and it is the ambition of every warden to do all he can to prevent a law violation.

"We would rather not have to make any arrests," a top midwest warden said, "and we feel that our efforts to this end are really paying off. Every year we get more and more cooperation from the public.

"People realize that with more and more demands being made on fish and game, laws must be designed to protect wildlife according to species and habitat variations.

"And they also realize that the violator of these laws is taking something away from them when he shoots illegal game or catches fish in an unlawful manner.

"It is the duty of every citizen to understand and obey conservation laws, and most of them do so and resent the fellow who doesn't."

But despite the best efforts of conservation officials, there shall always remain the intentional violator. He is frequently a rough and ruthless individual, and the warden force records show countless instances of warden injury and even death when he is brought to bay by the badge.

The wardens consider such risks to be part of the job. Long, cold hours of watching and waiting are also part of the job.

It was to do some of this uncomfortable watching and waiting that the two wardens stood again in the frigid, black night. A car eased slowly past them. They watched it from behind a screen of underbrush. The automobile turned off into a lonely logging road.

Quietly the wardens eased up behind it where it had stopped and parked. There was a muffled conversation with the car's occupants, and then the wardens retreated to their car and drove away.

"Well," one of them said, "you can't tell the lovers from the deer shiners unless you talk to them."

"That's right," said the other, "How are we to know?"

The wardens drove off into the night.
