

Swine Producers Aim at More Pork Consumption

Around 150 attended the Northeast Swine Association annual pork banquet at Wayne State College Sunday night. The general feeling of toastmaster and others taking part seemed to be that it was up to the swine producers themselves to convince people eating more pork makes sense.

Gus Pick, NSA president, told of accomplishments the past year. He cited the drive for swine research at Concord with the aid of bankers, $20,000 being raised; the first market hog show in the area, 117 entries at Laurel; a meeting at Concord on artificial insemination; sponsorship of area swine days; plans for holding the annual swine producers meeting in Laurel; and other local projects.

Methodists in 'Partners' Drive

Nov. 26-27-28 have been designated as "Church Loyalty Days" under the direction of Rev. Edmund Wayne of the board of missions of the Methodist Church. The local church is in the final phase of its Partners for Christ Crusade.

Tom Vaughn is general chairman of the executive committee will. M. Elders, co-chairman. Other members are Mrs. George Thorbeck, Herbert Niemann, Glenn Walker, Stan Morris, Mrs. Merlin Preston and Mrs. Robert Merhart.

Primary aim is to deepen and strengthen the spiritual life and commitment of the entire church family. This task includes fundraising, so modern classrooms can be provided to give children, young people and adults better religious training.

The present Methodist Church at Sixth and Main has been in use since October of 1901. In addition, the fellowship hall, was completed in 1952.

Because of expanded growth of the church membership, a building committee was appointed in October of 1965 to study the needs. In August of 1966 this committee recommended to the official board and the congregation that a new church be built at a different site. The site chosen is across the street west from Rice Gym.

SLOGAN WINNER Mrs. Don Wightman, smiles as she accepts a $25 bond from Darrel Faelberth on behalf of the Wayne Jaycees. She was winner in the Wayne slogan contest sponsored by the young men's civic organization.

Nine Complete Course

Nine women have completed the tailoring course which ended the past week at Wayne High School. Those who met all requirements were Mrs. Quentin Erwin and Mrs. Norman Anderson, Concord; Mrs. Wallace Mathison and Mrs. Wallace Anderson, Laurel; Mrs. Stanley Walde, Wausie; and Mrs. Stanley Morris, Mrs. Jim Leeter, Mrs. Dale Kessler and Mrs. Ervin Hagemann, Wayne.

A slogan suitable for new signs at the four main entrances to Wayne has been selected by Wayne Jaycees. It was chosen from around 70 submitted, being judged one that will be attractive on billboards. Mrs. Don Wightman submitted it.

Her slogan would have "WAYNE" in big letters top to bottom on the left side. In the center would be "the city of" and then in vertical arrangement on the right would be "N-F-B-R" with words following spelling out New opportunity, Education, Business and Rural prosperity, the capitalized words spelling "Neb."

Mrs. Wightman received a $25 savings bond for her entry. It was presented Saturday by Darrel Faelberth. See SLOGAN, page 4.

Dairy Meets Set in Area This Month

"Management Ideas That Work" will be the topic for the upcoming dairy meeting scheduled in this area the latter part of November. First of the series is Monday, Nov. 27, at 8 p.m. in Northeast Station, Concord. Donald Kuhn, University of Nebraska area dairy specialist, will be in charge. He will also conduct sessions at Pender Fire Hall Wednesday, Nov. 29, 8 p.m.; and Dakota City courthouse Thursday, Nov. 30, at 12:30 p.m.

Discussion in each case will be centered on slides taken by hubik on a recent tour of some of the best managed family dairy farms in the Midwest. Included in discussion will be calf raising, grain feeding, urea, high quality roughage, manure handling systems, free stall housing, and other topics.

Anyone in the area interested in tips on dairy management will be welcome at the meetings. There is no charge at any of them.

Youngsters Get Big Reception in Drive

The 60 teenagers from seven Wayne churches reported warm receptions in their drive for CARE funds Sunday. They returned with $347.97 to be used for aid and relief for needy of the world.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tollaason spearheaded the drive. Young people from Grace Lutheran, St. Paul's Lutheran, Redeemer Lutheran, First Methodist, St. Mary's Catholic, First Presbyterian and First Baptist churches participated.

Those in charge expressed appreciation for the response they received at homes. Special credit went to Mr. and Mrs. Dick Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. Don Herl, who helped prepare a potluck dinner served at the Methodist Church after the drive, and to Dave Brown, who laid out the districts of the town so the youth groups would not duplicate canvassing during the day.

Reserve Fund Insures All Chest Activities Continue

Silver Dollars Down One-Fourth

There will be no Silver Dollar Night Drawing Thursday due to Thanksgiving. However, the drawing will be held Friday night when stores will be open until 9.

Total in the fund is one-fourth of what it was a week ago. This is because there was a $400 winner last Thursday.

Gary Woodward picked up a check for that amount after going to Melodee Jones for a pack of cigarettes. This puts the drawing back at the minimum, $100.

The rules are explicit. You must be present at 8 when your name is called. If you have not registered, you cannot win.

Jaycees Still Have Honey for Project

Only six salesmen were out for Wayne Jaycees Sunday. They sold 228 containers of honey but they have many more left.

Proceeds from the sale of honey will go to help Nebraska's retarded children. A meeting of Jaycees will be held to decide what method should be taken so the remaining jars can be sold.

This year the Jaycees had no help. Last year they were able to sell all the containers, sent them.

The nice day meant a lot of people were gone when Jaycees called. One canvasser reported. See HONEY, page 2.

Money from a reserve fund will be used to make up the deficit Wayne shows in its Community Chest drive this year. It is thought, Loren Kamish, president, said the board of directors would have to make that decision.

Since there is a reserve fund, and Wayne will miss its goal for the first time in 15 years, it is thought it will be possible to take enough out of the fund on deposit to make the total $9,300, which is the amount the city was asked to raise.

Kamish told The Herald Monday night there was no question about the need for the full program being carried out as earmarked. However, he could give no figures on how much more was needed as Ted Baho was out of town the first three days of the week and only he could give the full report on the drive.

According to Kamish, this reserve fund can be used this year, but he cautions against getting the idea that it is always going to be available. He said in following years a study will have to be made of the full Chest program and a decision made as to whether or not there will be a curtailment.

The Herald had apparently misunderstood a report last week that if the goal was not reached this year, some functions would. See CHEST, page 2, sec. 4.

Stores Closing For Thanksgiving

Towns in the area will "button up" for Thanksgiving. Post offices, banks, county offices, city offices and all but a few "service" institutions will be closed for the day.

Wayne stores will be open Friday night for Silver Dollar Drawing instead of Thursday. Many bargains are being offered for the Friday and Saturday period.

Schools in towns in the region dismiss Wednesday afternoon and will not resume normal schedules until Monday.

There will be no rural mail delivery from any towns in the area Thursday. Wayne postal patrons who get their mail in town by carrier will get none. Holiday and Sunday dispatch schedules will be followed in towns for mail being sent out.

Some churches have special programs planned Thanksgiving Day. Others held pre-Thanksgiving services Wednesday evening.

CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS made by Mrs. Hospital Auxiliary bazaar Saturday. Out of Elder Lubberstedt, left, were held up by the thousands of attractive items, these were among the most intricate, intriguing and interesting.

Winside Juniors Giving Comedy-Mystery Play

"Arsenic and Old Lace," that promises thrills and shrieks along with giggles will be presented Tuesday, Nov. 28, at 8 p.m. in the Winside City Auditorium by the WJLS junior class.

This year, due to the remodeling of the city building, the play is being put on there instead of on an improvised stage in the gym. This alone should contribute much to the effectiveness of the production.

Mrs. Shirley Frautwein is director of the play. She studied under Dr. Helen Russell of Wayne State College and she applies many of the "tricks of the trade." Dr. Russell uses to get the effects desired.

The story concerns two dear, sweet, little, old ladies. Their trouble is, the roomers who come to stay with them have a habit of ending up dead.

Naturally there are detectives, amateur detectives, false leads and gumbling about but when it is all over the pieces fit together. Unless you have seen what happens, you won't believe it.

Hospital Bazaar Has Another Big Success

There's no business like bazaar business. The Wayne Hospital Auxiliary showed that again Saturday with another extremely successful bazaar at the Wayne City Auditorium.

With not all bills paid and not all books reporting receipts, it appears that the bazaar netted $1,500. This will be used for purchasing some needed items or items for the Wayne Hospital.

A few gift shop items were left over. They will be sold Thursday, Nov. 30, at the Sears-Roebuck Store in Wayne.

Crowds jammed the entryways before the bazaar started. Once the bazaar was officially underway there was plenty of business for everyone.

Mrs. Willard Wiltse, one of the heads of the project, said the help of the public in buying and donating was outstanding. Many people not only came to buy or eat but brought items of their own to give and sold. She said all workers were most grateful for the help received in money, time, donations and other ways.

Canyon Kid Appears in Wayne Friday Afternoon

"The Canyon Kid," a character on KCAC-TV, Sioux City, will be in Wayne Friday, Nov. 24, from 2 to 5 p.m. to put on his show, and all the children in the area are invited to attend it free of charge.

It is a promotion of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce for the holiday season. Announcement of further events coming up will be made at a later date.

Canyon Kid works right in with coupon days in Wayne. Advertisers have jammed this issue of The Herald with coupon specials good Friday and Saturday only so those wishing to leave children at the auditorium will have three hours in which to shop.

Free prizes are to be given at the show. One coupon admits an entire family. The coupon appears in a C. of C. ad in this issue of The Herald.

Because Thanksgiving is on Thursday, stores will be closed all day. They will remain open until 9 Friday and at 8 there will be a drawing for $100.

All Farmers of Area Guests Tuesday for Free Banquet

Baked ham, scalloped potatoes, baked beans, hot rolls, butter, milk, coffee and ice cream are on the menu for a Farmers Appreciation Night dinner in Wayne Tuesday, Nov. 28. Businessmen are joining the Wayne Jaycees in putting on the affair.

Coupons requesting tickets are appearing in both The Wayne Herald and The Morning Shopper. Each coupon will admit two. For those who do not cut these out the Jaycees will have a booth set up in the business district Friday night (when stores are open until 9) to give out tickets to all wanting them.

If you still do not get a coupon or ticket, you can write for one. Send your name and address to Wayne Jaycees, Wayne, Neb., by Friday, Nov. 24, to give them an idea of how many to expect. (Only two family members can attend, however). Everyone in the surrounding area is eligible.

Serving will start at 5:30 at the Wayne City Auditorium. At a program to follow, Leonard Eichhorn, area manager for Dale Carnegie Courses and past president of South Dakota Jaycees, will speak. He was born and raised on a farm.

Dr. Lyle Seymour will be master of ceremonies. Others on the program are Jaycee President. See FARMERS, page 2.

STREET DECORATIONS went up in Wayne on one of the sunny days of the post week. Above is one of the gold "chapel window" decorations. There are three or four of these at intersections and other types at various other points. This scene was taken from the exterior steps at Larson Kuhn looking west toward the post office.

Three Soldiers Receive SWAY Remembrances

Hoskins and Wayne soldiers had their names drawn in the servicemen We Appreciate You project Friday. It is the first time in months one branch of the service was represented in all names drawn.

Getting letters of appreciation, lists of donors and checks for $10 are Larry Hansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hansen, Wayne; Richard Jaeger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jaeger, Hoskins; and Roger Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Johnson, Wayne.

Hansen is in Germany. He went basic at Ft. Polk, La., then went to Ft. Lewis, Wash., and Ft. Knox, Ky. At the latter base he learned to drive and operate an amphibious army personnel carrier. See SWAY, page 2, sec. 4.

Future Nurses Club Has Two Activities

Future Nurses Club of Wayne High School had two activities Friday and Saturday. Mrs. Mary Ann Cottrell, school nurse, was in charge.

Friday a special educational meeting was held with Mrs. Schultz and four student nurses from Nebraska Methodist Hospital school of nursing present. They showed slides and told of the school curriculum.

There were 10 pupils from WBS present along with several from Pilger, Randolph, Wakefield and Hubbard. Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Saturday, 15 went to Omaha (pupils and parents). They visited the modernistic Lincoln General Hospital. They took a tour of the hospital with its latest equipment and techniques, saw the school of nursing and visited nurses' residences.

Counselors from the Lincoln school system met with them. They talked about medical technology and other medical fields. Darrell Heier drove the bus with Mrs. Cottrell, Mrs. Doring, Mrs. Wax and Mrs. Wolske accompanying the group.

Dozens Assist
Pender Farmer

Dozens of friends and neighbors turned out on a pleasant day Monday to finish the corn harvest on around 85 acres of land farmed by DeLloyd Meyer, who lives in Wayne County on a Pender route south of Wakefield.

Meyer was injured Nov. 7 in a traffic accident. He was dismissed from the hospital Sunday, Nov. 12, but has not been able to do his farm work while recuperating.

Two sons, Don, 17, and Glen, 16, are a lot of help, and neighbors have helped when they could. However, work kept piling up so men turned away from their own unharvested fields to bring in the corn from their friend's field.

There were 57 men present with pickers, wagons, tractors and elevators. Dozens of women brought food and 22 of them stayed on to help prepare and serve the meal and clean up afterward.

Many of the women who donated and also helped are shown in a picture with this article. Other donations of food came from Pender A.W. Auxiliary, Mrs. Gordon Jorgensen, Mrs. George Biermann, Mrs. Glenville Meyer, Mrs. Alvin Olquist, Mrs. Lester Novak, Mrs. Fred Bird, Jr., Mrs. Robert Hansen, Mrs. Joe Wilson, Mrs. Ellis Stewart, Mrs. Norman Wickman, Mrs. Ed Krusemark and Mrs. Leroy Clausen.

Give Emerson Play

The Emerson-Hubbard union class is presenting a play, "Night of January 16," Tuesday, Nov. 28. The subject of the play is a murder trial and the recruiting of jurors from the audience. The jurors will actually be chosen from the audience and will not be "planted" there. Mark Monson, well-known for his work with WSC drama productions, is director, and Gavle Trisker is student director. The play will be given at 8 p.m. in the FHS auditorium.

WOMEN HELPING with the meal and house work of the DeLloyd Meyer home south of Wakefield Monday were left to right: Front row, Mrs. Wilfred Weddingfield, Mrs. Dennis Hingst, Mrs. Henry Koepke, Mrs. Melvin Wilson, Mrs. Elmer Thomsen, Mrs. Melvin Svoboda, standing, Mrs. Elmer Echtenkamp, Mrs. Harlan Kratke, Mrs. J. C. Bressler, Mrs. Lambert Zwack, Mrs. DeLloyd Meyer, Mrs. Bill Hansen, Mrs. Leroy Echtenkamp, Mrs. Don Harris, Mrs. Adolph English, Mrs. Dick Webster, Mrs. Cliff Clausen, Mrs. Arnold Webster and Mrs. Fred Bird, Sr. All furnished food besides helping. Arriving with food and helping out, but not there in time for the picture were Mrs. Emil Tarnow, Mrs. Louis Hansen and Mrs. Cliff Baker.

WATCHING FARMERS helping with the corn harvest at the DeLloyd Meyer place south of Wakefield Monday was DeLloyd Meyer, Jr., who also pitched in and helped until it rained by a photographer. Corn cribs were filled to overflowing with the crop being a good one this year.

Horse, Car Scratched
When Meet on Road

It was 1:10 a.m. Sunday on a county road 3 miles south and 3/4 miles west of Wayne when Keith Wacker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wacker, Wayne, and a six-month-old boy belonging to Roger A. Laska, Winside, came together.

Wacker's minor at Winside High School, was unharmed. The horse, which had come up out of a ditch on the north side of the road, suffered a cut on the leg. The Sheriff's department investigation. Minor damage to the Howard Wacker car was reported.

Two Cars Involved in Clark Street Mishap

Two cars were involved in an accident on Clark Street east of Pearl Street Thursday. Officer Melvin Lamb of the Wayne Police Department investigated.

Linda Fox, driving a car owned by Lawrence Fox, Newcastle, was eastbound on Clark Street. Audrey Dahlgren, Wakefield, was backing out of an alley.

According to Lamb's report, the Dahlgren vehicle backed into the side of the Fox car, denting the fender. No estimate of damages was shown on the police report.

Predicted commercial feedlots will never equal the production of Midwest farmers in their much smaller layouts; urged farmers to encourage their young people to consider farming as a career; and kept up a running line of chatter that included many humorous stories.

Prof. Leo Lucas, University of Nebraska, urged a campaign to free the nation of cholera. He said producers would be helped and nations now unwilling to buy our pork can become our customers if we eliminate the disease.

Touching on the five cents each producer is being asked to contribute from each hog sold, he pointed out that one cent of this will go to the National Livestock and Meat Board; two cents to the National Pork Producers Council for pork promotion; and two cents will be kept in Nebraska for research, promotion and development right in this area.

Gene Williams, WJAG, Norfolk, presented three special trophies: One posthumously to Russ Stout, Winnebago, who died recently and was selected for the Pork Chop Award; Bob Hansen, the Pork Builder Award for local, area and state work; and Bob Fritschon of Northeast Station, Concord, for dedication to the industry.

Fritschon reported on the status of the new research facilities at the station at Concord. He said two of the six planned buildings are done and it is hoped hogs will be in them by the end of the year. The other four buildings will be up for construction bids this year. Open house will be held later.

Paul Everingham presented trophies and checks for the carcass hog school at Laurel. Animals were judged on the hoof first and then by carcass.

Wilfred Meyer, Randolph, placed first in both divisions. In live entries, Cliff Baker, Wakefield, Larry Kessler, Randolph, and Harvey Fuller, Pender, followed in that order.

In carcass contest results behind Meyer were Bruce Broderick, Coleridge, Dennis Stahl, Wakefield, Cliff Baker, Wakefield; Herman Nordhuus, Randolph; Elmer Klein, Ordway; Harvey Fuller, Pender; Nordhuus Bros., Randolph; Greg Wolfe, Hartington; and Alton Wuebbon, Wynot.

The nickels for profit idea calls for increasing consumer demand for pork; improvement in the product; creating a better image; increasing profits; overcoming problems; doing research; maintain merchandising; and doing other work. All would be financed by the producers, who would also control it by donating a nickel for each hog sold.

Elected to two- or three-year terms were the following: Wayne County, Paul Everingham and Dick Sorenson; Dixon County, Dean Rickett and Paul Bengston; Thurston County, Kenneth Victor and Morris Gustafson; Cedar County, Elmer Klein and Curtis Papenhauser; and Dakota County, Milo Hirkley and John Krampfer.

Police 'Find' Items

The past few days have been good ones for Wayne policemen to find things. A cat was reported lost—it was found; a car jack, new one too, was not reported lost—and it was found, hidden; a door was found unlocked at a professional office; a man was found to be intoxicated and was given lodging in jail; and a pickup was found left on the street and was towed in.

Entries came from almost every town in the area and from many farms. Following are some of the non-winners, in no particular order: Education and Opportunity Center of Northeast Nebraska; Wayne Puts Action in Satisfaction;

Where Agriculture, Education and Business Make Opportunity for Youth; Wayne goes Way Out to Please; Wayne-Northeast Nebraska's Opportunity Center; Where Rural Hospitality and Higher Education Meet in Progressive Leadership (an impression a newcomer gained); and Wayne-Home of Wayne State College—Gateway to Knowledge.

Three entries had the same idea, using the letters W-A-Y-N-E on words to spell out Wayne on a sign. They included: Where All Your Needs End; Where Answers Your Needs Eagerly; and We Are Your Nearest Exchange.

It is understood the new slogan will be incorporated into the welcoming signs north, south, east and west of Wayne. The fact that the winning slogan can be attractively drawn up on a billboard helped win top prize for it.

Reynolds Metals Company made a similar gift to the foundation in 1966.

The foundation has also announced receipt of a gift of $100 from Mrs. J. T. Anderson, Long Beach, Calif. Mrs. Anderson is the widow of a former president of Wayne State College.

Earlier this month, the foundation announced the gift of 244 shares of capital stock valued at approximately $4,600 from Mr. and Mrs. Haven Falconer of New York City.

Northeast Council's Meeting at Concord

Monday, Nov. 13, the Northeast Nebraska Family and Community Council met at Northeast Station, Concord. Rev. Kenneth deFreese of Redeemer Lutheran Church, Wayne, was elected new Wayne County director, succeeding Rev. John Voth.

Plans were made for the county directors and executive board to meet Dec. 11 to plan future meetings. Neal Boeshart, chairman of the group, reported on meetings of the Nebraska Commission on Alcoholism he has attended.

Anyone who wishes to arrange a program on the disease of alcoholism may contact a member of the council for assistance in program planning. If you do not know your local representative, you may contact Boeshart at Laurel.

WSC Cagers Open Season Tuesday

Basketball season for Wayne State is about to begin. The Wildcats open at home next Tuesday night against Dana, game time at 7:30 in Rice Gym.

A new coach, Dave Gunther, is in charge after eight years of Wayne coaching by Al Svonningson, now head coach at the University of Alaska.

Gunther has a distinguished career as a player behind him—three years with numerous honors at the University of Iowa and four years of professional ball in the National Basketball Association and the American Basketball League.

Assisting him is Ron Jones, one of Wayne's own fine players in both basketball and baseball before his graduation in 1963.

They have nine lettermen returning, including four starters from last year's squad. Gunther reports that the battle for starting duty remains hot, with several positions still open. Even some of the veterans are being pushed.

Heading the cast in experience are three-lettermen Bob Strathman and Ron Hintz, a potent pair in the backcourt.

Peru Target of Wayne at Meet

Wayne State's cross country team found Peru State still a hex Friday, Nov. 17, in the NAA District 11 meet at Omaha, but the Wildcats will have one more crack at the Bobcats this year, in the National NAA meet Saturday.

Peru won the district title with 26 points to Wayne's 59. Doane was third with 77, Kearney fourth with 86, Omaha fifth with 116.

Jack Weyers of Peru traveled the four-mile Elmwood Park course in Omaha with a 21:02, some 200 yards ahead of runner-up teammate Tim Hendricks, 21:38. Wayne's A. D. Benson, champion last year, finished third at 21:47.

Jim Forbes, Dennis Bastelike and Jim Betts placed 10th, 11th and 12th for Wayne.

No Courthouse Report

There is no Courthouse Round-up in this issue of the paper. Judge David Hamer reports no marriage licenses issued during the last few days of the past week. Clerk Dan Sherry reports no real estate deeds filed in his office during the same period.

Elect Linda Garvin

Linda Garvin of Wayne is the new president of the Wayne State Young Democrats. The club also elected Gary Wilson, vice-president; Vicki McManigal, secretary, and Maureen Hoffart, treasurer.

Walleyes spawn shortly after the ice melts in the spring, when water temperatures range from 38 to 44 degrees.

Many Register; Many More to Be Registered

Many people have been registering to vote at the county clerk's office. However, a great many more have to be registered and that is why County Clerk Norris Weible is planning special registration days in five communities Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 28-29.

Since no one, and that means no one, will be allowed to vote next election in Nebraska unless they are registered, the clerk wants to get all the people he can on the rolls of the county. He is offering Independent, Republican or Democrat as choices.

For those who choose Independent, they will get non-political ballots and that is all at the May primary. Those registering Democrat will get the Democratic ballot plus the non-political ballot and those registering as Republicans will get the Republican ballot and the non-political ballot.

Anyone who will be 21 by next May can register. A form in this issue of the Herald shows what information will be asked. If you wish, you may fill in the form and bring it with you to help fill out the official form. You are asked not to come to the office or the registration sites until you know what party you will choose. Many have been on the fence, first indicating one, then the other, then Independent. You should know by registration time what you are. Sites are in Hoskins Fire Hall, Winside Legion Hall, Carroll Auditorium, Altona Store, Wayne City Auditorium and Wayne County Courthouse. All will be ready to accommodate those whose last names begin with letters A to K Nov. 28 and those whose last names begin with letters L to Z Nov. 29.

Anyone who is a naturalized citizen should bring final papers with them. Without these, the registration forms cannot be completed. Another trip will be necessary.

Although the two special registration days are being provided, registration can still be accomplished other days. In fact, anyone going to the courthouse on any business Monday through Friday during regular business hours is welcome to go to the clerk's office and register.

This is all part of a new state law. It is this simple: Only registered voters can cast ballots in Nebraska at the next election. Those not registered will be turned away from the polls and will not be allowed to indicate a preference on any issues or candidates.

Out of Old

Thanksgiving Day, 1867. Thanksgiving Day, November 28, 1867, was cloudy with a nip in the air. A blustering wind swept the first snow of the season through the streets of the scattered little towns which huddled along the Missouri River and a few valleys to the west.

The newspapers on file in the Nebraska State Historical Society describe Nebraska's first Thanksgiving under statehood as a time, for some, of worship and celebration. For others, Thanksgiving was just another work day.

In Omaha union church services were held in the Lutheran church and followed by a dinner at "the church block." This dinner was evidently a large one, since it was scheduled to run from noon until 3:00 p.m.

Many of Omaha's new residents lived in hotels, since they had not yet been able to establish homes of their own. However, they still received a Thanksgiving dinner. The Omaha Republican complimented the city's hotels, which "gave their patrons Thanksgiving Day treats, and magnificent tables. Indeed, did they spread." In addition to "delicacies of the eastern markets," the hotels served grouse, buffalo, antelope, deer, and other wild game from the prairies of eastern Nebraska.

On Thanksgiving Eve, the Omaha Dancing Club gave its first Grand Ball of the season at Turner's Hall. All proceeds were to go to the poor. The evening of the 28th featured "a grand gala night" at the Academy of Music. Two plays were presented, a comedy and a farce.

The Nebraska City News gave notice of services to be held in five churches, with a sixth congregation meeting in the Court House.

Most Nebraska pioneers, however, were apparently too busy establishing homes to take off a day for Thanksgiving activities. The Nebraska State Historical Society has several diaries of early pioneers, and none of them mention any special celebration. The Lincoln Newspaper has no mention of Thanksgiving activities in Lincoln, although Governor David Butler proclaimed November 28 Thanksgiving Day.

The day before Thanksgiving, 1867, J. Sterling Morton, the 34-year-old editor of the Nebraska City News, editorially lamented the passing of the "good old times...when Thanksgiving Day was indeed an event..." He attributed this misfortune, perhaps with tongue-in-cheek, to the change in the nature of grandmothers. He was of the opinion that "the next generation of grandmothers will be a swindle. They will all wear hoops, waterfalls (a hair fashion), fizzes, and numerous other un-grand-

Dispute Over Land Sets Play's Stage
A dispute over land boundaries sets the stage for "George Washington Slept Here," a comedy being put on Thursday, Nov. 30, and Saturday, Dec. 2, by Wayne High School. Mrs. Sheridan Frey is director.

It starts when a man buys an old house without consulting his wife. When he goes to put down a well, he finds the neighbor claims he is drilling on his land. Maps are produced. A supposedly wealthy uncle enters the scene; an oldtime actress brings on her new husband; the servants are a distressing lot; the fact that George Washington once slept in the guess as to how it turns out and those who see the play the first night are asked not to reveal the ending to those who are planning to attend the second performance.

WHS Representatives

Travel Far in Week

Wayne High School representatives were scattered all over the state during the latter part of the past week. Four different activities required the presence of faculty members.

Friday, Supt. Francis Haun attended the Nebraska Association of School Administrators convention in Lincoln, Saturday, the superintendent and Mrs. Leota Moller attended the debate meet in Norfolk.

Saturday, Bill Wilson and a student teacher, George Scott, went to Hastings for the Nebraska State Vocational Conference and toured the new vocational-technical school. Don Schumacher and Joe Trzickier returned with music pupils Sunday from Sidney, where they had attended the all-state music clinic.

Workshop for Drivers Tax Delinquent?

Wayne-Carroll bus drivers will go to Coleridge Saturday, Dec. 2, according to Supt. Francis Haun. A bus drivers' workshop will be held there and arrangements have been made for all local drivers to attend.

Are your first half personal taxes delinquent? They could be if they are not paid by Dec. 1. County Treasurer Leona Bahde reports the tax will become delinquent that date and will start drawing interest at 7 per cent then.

TOP WINNERS as L'il Abner and Daisy Mae at the Sadie Hawkins dance in Allen Friday night were Rick Hank and Nancy Chapman. True to tradition, the bashful-L'il Abner failed to kiss Daisy Mae for a photograph so she kissed him

Sadie Hawkins Pair Selected at Allen

Sadie Hawkins Day was held as a sophomore party Friday night at Allen High School. Highlight was the selection as the best "L'il Abner" and "Daisy Mae." Selected as winners by judges were Rick Hank, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Hank, and Nancy Chapman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Chapman. They "reigned" in a pair of beat up rocking chairs and led the dance following their selection.

The AIS gym had been made into a hay mow with corn husks and straw around the floor and bales of hay to sit upon, all surrounded by snow fence. Music for non-hillbilly-type music was provided by a jukebox.

Curt Wheeler was judged in a kangaroo court. Defendants in all cases were blindfolded. Jerry Warner was sheriff to bring in culprit.

Jim Ellis was charged with dancing out of step and resisting arrest. His punishment was a spoonful of horseradish in his mouth.

Barbara Hastede was charged with contempt of court. The bucket dumped over her contained wet confetti.

Donna Peters was charged with getting Kevin Hill as a date before "hunting season" was on. Her hands were stuck into molasses, first and then into feathers.

Finally, Roger Sandman, sophomore sponsor, was charged with telling secrets of plans to the juniors. He received a pan of flour and molasses in his blindfolded face.

Judy Jordan and Roger Sandman, were faculty sponsors for the event. Mr. and Mrs. Larry Koester represented parents, he being a member of the school board. Refreshments were served throughout the evening.

Answer Questions on Affairs of Veterans

Chris Hargholz, Wayne County veterans service officer, answers more questions concerning Veterans Administration policies. He stands ready to answer questions himself or get answers from VA headquarters for servicemen and veterans.

One asks if his GI insurance converted to a permanent policy can be used as backing for a loan. It can. The VA can let veterans know what their insurance is worth, cash value, and then arrangements can be made to borrow up to 94 per cent of the cash value.

A mother asks if a marker can be put up for her son who was lost at sea in World War II. Yes. The VA has application forms for memorial markers in such cases.

Finally, a veteran receiving a disability pension inherited money and wanted to know if this should be reported at once to VA. Yes, it should. If this is not done, VA may overpay and then at the end of the year when a report is made it would be necessary to reimburse VA for overpayment.

Planting a few good decoys among duck decoys often works wonders to lure in ducks. They seem to feel more at ease when there are some wary honkers present.

NO SERVICE, NO DELIVERY

NO EXCHANGES, NO RETURNS

There's SO MUCH MORE to satisfactory shopping than price (especially at Christmas time, when so much of what you buy is for others!) Fact is, no "discount" price can assuredly be lower than the prices charged by legitimate merchants, whose prices are generally not regulated or fixed. Your local merchant often frims his prices to "wholesale" levels as a way of thanking you for your past patronage; or an inducement to visit his store.

have to be curtailed. This proved to be disturbing to some, who are vitally interested in all or portions of the program the Chest supports.

Amish said it would be better if the city would make its goal and the "reserve" could be held for a year when times are not so good. However, rather than cut back on any earmarked projects this year, he said he thought the board would probably go ahead with the plan as outlined.

The annual meeting of the Community Chest is not scheduled until January. However, due to the fact Wayne has failed to make its goal, a special meeting will be called in December. At that time a decision will be made concerning transferring money from the reserve fund to the Chest fund to make sure Wayne has the full program as outlined when the drive began.

Generous Grain Does Not Boost Calves

Generous grain feeding of young beef calves did not improve their final market grade after a summer finish, according to Walt Tolman, beef nutritionist at Northeast Station, Concord.

On a winter growing ration of alfalfa hay or similar roughage, calves would need a grain feed of six to seven pounds a day to equal the energy intake of this silage and supplement ration. This is slightly higher than the "1 per cent of body weight" grain ration suggested for growing calves getting a full feed of good roughage.

Tolman points out that experiments indicate roughage is more valuable to young beef cattle during a growing period, with one-half a grain ration or less, than in a finishing ration when grain is full fed.

Calves wintered from Nov. 11, 1966, to Apr. 6, 1967, (124 days) gained 1.8 pounds daily fed corn silage and a supplement of vitamin A, minerals and protein. Gains were increased by about one-tenth of a pound daily when three pounds of corn were added, and increased one-fourth of a pound daily when six pounds of grain were added.

The calves getting no extra grain during the wintering period gained enough during a summer high-grain finishing period so they went to market at the same time, July and August, weighing a little more and grading fully as well.

Silage was good quality and relative high in grain, Tolman says. He estimates 35 pounds daily silage ration of calves getting no extra grain supplied about five or six pounds of corn grain daily. Additional grain did not seem to be needed.

Wayne State students Wednesday had their second opportunity this year to hear the youth panel of the Nebraska Penal Complex. Four inmates of the state penitentiary told the stories of their lives—how they drifted into crime and imprisonment. This was the 233rd appearance of the panel since the idea originated about two years ago. Though the panel members vary from time to time, the story remains essentially the same: In each case, the idea of getting something for nothing leads to trouble.

The panel's visit to Wayne was arranged by James Evans of the social sciences faculty. The prison psychologist who accompanied the inmates explained to the audience that panel members speak two or three times every week, mostly at schools. The panelists have volunteered for the assignment, but they get nothing for it—no pay, no time off their sentences—and they still perform their regular prison jobs.

Ken Dugan Fast So WSC Track Faster
With one of the fastest sprinters in the nation attending Wayne State College in the form of Ken Dugan, it is important to have a good track. Work has started on making the track one of the fastest ones of the area.
New clay is being put on the WSC track and workmen from the state are helping with the work. WSC officials expect the track to winter well and be in top shape for Dugan and the rest of the thinclads this spring.
Work on improving the track is being done by WSC and state department of roads personnel.

Wintering Calves Concord Project

Walt Tolman, area beef specialist at Northeast Station, Concord, reports a wintering cattle experiment has been started at the station. One of the points to be determined is: "How much grain is necessary for wintering calves?"

Little advantage in feeding corn in addition to "silage alone," Tolman said station personnel need additional information in order to make accurate recommendations to feeders, so last year's work is being repeated.

According to Tolman, one group of calves was fed corn silage plus protein, mineral and vitamin supplements last winter. These calves gained almost as much as others receiving the same ration plus either three or

INSPECTING TEST CALVES that will be wintered on corn silage and finished next summer on high grain feed are Walter Woods, NU beef nutritionist from Lincoln, Walt Tolman, area six pounds of corn daily. The silage-alone group gained more during the summer high-grain-feeding period. They gained enough in fact, so they actually outweighed in July and August calves getting the extra three or six pounds of grain during the winter. This wintering experiment is one of a group being conducted by The University of Nebraska at the station. Research is carried out to discover and prove new ways of helping farmers and feeders to help themselves economically.

Tolman said another beef feeding experiment will compare urea and natural protein as supplements to corn silage.

Look at this '68 "youngmobile" from Oldsmobile.

Wouldn't it look great in your driveway? This new Cutlass S has a way of making things look younger. Even driveways. That's because of all the young ideas we built into it. A bigger 350-cubic-inch V-8, for instance. (Or, if you prefer, an Action-Line 6.) And a taut coil spring suspension that makes it easy to cut and turn in tight places. And you can order a whole carful of young-it-up accessories like bucket seats, stick-shift or stereo. But if you think Cutlass S is young all over, don't forget that it is Olds all over, too. Olds quality. Olds engineering and the new GM safety features are all standard.
