

Payment Reports Offered

Wayne County farmers are to benefit from a new reporting service inaugurated by the ANCS, according to John Mohr, chairman of the county ANCS committee. Reports of payments made to farmers under A.P., cotton, feed grain, wheat and other direct payment programs during 1967 will be mailed to each farmer participating next month, he said.

The report is expected to be helpful in preparing individual income tax returns. The same information will be furnished to the Internal Revenue Service in accordance with requirements.

It is estimated over three million farmers will receive the report. Information for it has been gathered by county offices and summarized by computers. The computers print the reports and mail them direct to farmers. Without automation, reports of this size would not be completed, Mohr said.

Since this is the first year for this service, there are problems. Mohr suggests that farmers read the explanation of the report and check the accuracy of it with their farm records.

If errors are discovered, the Wayne County ANCS office should be contacted to have it corrected. County offices have been told to give all farmers assistance regardless of where their farms are located.

Hoskins Santa Gives Treats to Over 400

Over 400 children were in Hoskins Wednesday afternoon for the annual visit of Santa Claus. Again the businessmen of Hoskins had made the visit possible.

Santa came to Hoskins with a team of shetland ponies in line with a sleigh on wheels. No rides could be given but the children loved getting around the sleigh and ponies.

Because of the cold weather, the treat-giving ritual took place inside the fire hall. Businessmen who had helped sack the treats also helped Santa hand them out.

The turnout is considered one of the most remarkable in the area. The population of Hoskins is 200 so the population really swells on occasions such as this.

SANTA CLAUS came to Hoskins Wednesday afternoon. Here he is shown in the shelter of the fire station handing out sacks of treats to youngsters. The line extended far back and more were headed Santa's way. Many others were outside looking at his pony and sleigh at the time.

Weighing Days This Week

Two days for weighing 4-11 project calves will be held this week. County Agent Harold Ingalls reports the calves should be brought to Wayne Sales Co. Thursday or Friday.

All individual calves will be tagged for identification. Pen calves, in groups of five, will be weighed Mar. 2.

Ingalls said individual calves weighing not more than 550 pounds will be eligible for additional premiums at the county fair. County fair premium list changes have been made to allow wider distribution of money for the rate-of-gain contest.

Any 4-11 member winning a purple ribbon will get $2 added to the regular premium. A blue ribbon will be worth an additional dollar and a red ribbon will gain 50 cents over the regular premium.

All those bringing calves in are asked to have them in between 10 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. each weigh day. Anyone seeking further information should contact the county agent.

The rate-of-gain plan has been worked out because it has been found that the calves that gain fastest are often show champions and there is no reason to judge them separately.

Rate-of-gain is considered the best measurement for economic performance. Calves inherit this gaining ability so it is important that 4-11 members seek animals from stock with good gain records in the past.

No Driver Exams

There will be no driver exams in Wayne the next two Mondays, Dec. 25 and Jan. 1 are both holidays so the two examiners from Wisner will not be in Wayne those days. They resume their regular visits to the courthouse Monday, Jan. 8. Anyone who requires a license before then may be able to take the exams in some other county on other days of the week.

One Name Omitted

Omitted from the winners listed in Thursday's Wayne Herald for the Wayne Christmas lighting contest was the Ralph Johnson home at 1110 Lincoln Street. The Johnsons earned an honorable mention.

Injured When Falls

Mrs. Neva Kavanaugh, Wayne, suffered several injuries the past week when she fell on an icy spot. She was taken to the hospital, where she was a patient for several days. Dr. Robert Bentback reports her injuries as a broken left wrist, a sprained right wrist, skinned knees and lacerations on the forehead.

Next Week Too!

This issue of The Herald is coming out Saturday morning. It was necessary to publish early due to the Christmas holiday. Without this speed-up, you would not be getting this paper until Tuesday, Dec. 26, in most cases. The same situation exists next week too with a New Year's holiday on a Monday. For that reason, the first issue of 1968 will be in the mail early, coming out Saturday, Dec. 30. Help is needed on that issue as well as the issues of Thursday, Dec. 28, and Thursday, Jan. 4, when papers must be published on time without any one day in which to work on each one of them.

New Explorer Post Starts Next Month

A new Explorer Scout post has been scheduled to start in Wayne next month. First meeting will be Wednesday, Jan. 10, at 7:30 p.m. in the WIS auditorium.

Pat Jolley, district Scout executive, Ken Deisser, WIS counselor, Bob Merchant and Chas Greenlee met with junior and senior boys at Wayne High Thursday morning to explain the purpose of the post. Several others will serve on a board to back the unit sponsored by the Wayne Isaac Walton League.

Jolley pointed out that the post will offer an adult program for young adults. It will meet once a month and cover subjects boys of that age group are interested in, military, college, trade schools, vocations and professions.

Representatives of various fields will meet with the boys to explain the requirements for the various types of enterprise. Pay scales, working conditions and other information will be provided.

Army, navy and air force recruiters will be at the initial meeting. They will explain how enlistees can get the schools they want. No recruiting will be done.

A bonus to Explorer membership will be the use of two camps where canoes, sail boats, horses and other recreational facilities are provided. Another bonus is the new explorer base at Carter

Lake where sailboating, water skiing, a club house, coeducational recreation, cabins, dorms and other facilities will be provided.

Boys will elect their own board and officers and will schedule their own speakers. They will also have extra activities such as ski trips, boating trips and other jaunts outside the area.

No uniforms will be provided, no books will be needed and the only cost will be 50 cents for registration. Boys will indicate what and who they want to hear at meetings and the organization will move forward from there.

Merchant is adviser and Greenlee assistant adviser for the post.

Five Get First WS Guidance Degrees

Wayne State College Thursday bestowed the master's degree in guidance to five graduate students, first to complete the guidance course since its start two years ago.

The recipients are Violet Diamond, Wayne; Daniel H. Johnson, Dixon; Constance Mohr Karloff, a teacher in Beemer who lives in Wisner; James T. Keller, Pierce; and Robert Schmitz, Council Bluffs.

Also receiving advanced degrees were Jerry L. Cameron, Sioux City, master of science in education, and Mary Ellen Sundell, Wakefield, master of arts in education.

One hundred five seniors received bachelor's degrees in the college's second winter commencement.

State Senator Richard Marvel, Hastings, told the graduates they would, in 1968, be hearing all sorts of political candidates expounding their platforms, "so I suggest that you and I build our platform to solve the problems we confront."

One plank, he said, is to "take a look at yourself—you have a distinctive contribution to make." Another plank: "Look at others with love and concern so sensitive that if another fellow's shoe has a hole in it, your foot feels cold."

The third plank, he suggested, is to become involved, person to person, in problems close by.

"Education will be revitalized only when rapport is established between teacher and student," said the senator, who also is a professor of science at the University of Omaha. "We will solve world peace only when we become concerned with people, not just their geography."

Senator Marvel urged involvement. See DEGREES, page 7

Another City Dweller Misses Out on Prize

For the third time in a row a Wayne resident has been named as winner of a Silver Dollar Night drawing and failed to collect due to not being in any of the participating business places at 8 p.m. when names are announced.

Mrs. Ann Nelson, Wayne, could have been the winner of $300 Thursday. Since she did not claim the prize, the drawing Dec. 28 will be for $350.

Friday night's drawing was the last of the special drawings for the Christmas season. Since this was held after this paper went to press, the result cannot be printed here. If there was a winner, that fund is gone; if no winner, the reserve fund may get the money.

Many Area Relatives

Richard Boeshart, former Dixon resident, who was killed last week in Vietnam, had many relatives in this area. Among the closest are an aunt and three uncles. There are also cousins, great-aunts, great-uncles and others.

Boeshart was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Boeshart, Sioux City. He attended Dixon Grade School before moving to Sioux City, where he attended the Heelan parochial schools.

His brother, Gary Boeshart, Ft. Leonard Wood, and a friend were sent to California to accompany the body home. Gary is scheduled to leave for Korea this coming year.

The Boesharts, who reside at 5121 Correctionville Road, Sioux City, have no information on when the body will arrive. For that reason, funeral plans cannot be made.

Relatives of Rich Boeshart in this area include: Mrs. Bill Snyder, Allen, an aunt; Harold Murray, Wayne, an uncle; Bob Murray, Laurel, an uncle; and Irvin Murray, Dixon, an uncle.

Dixon County Honors Farmers at Meeting

Dixon County Soil and Water Conservation District honored several farmers for their work in conservation at a meeting in Ponca Dec. 16. Ponca Commercial Club provided refreshments following the meeting.

Paul Koester, Allen, presented the following with conservation name signs: Martin Koch and Louis Benscoter, Newcastle; Aubrey Rickett, Ponca; and Wayne Stewart, Waterbury.

Robert Knerl, representing O. N. Knerl Ford Agency, Ponca, presented a 16 by 20 colored aerial photo of the Percy Lockwood farm to the Lockwoods. They farm near Allen.

Walter Block, Ponca, was master of ceremonies. Dixon County Centennial Chorus provided music. Also given was a progress report on the Aowa Watershed.

Fifteen Leaving on Skiing Excursion

A group consisting of 13 Explorer Scouts and two sponsors leaves Wayne Christmas Day on a skiing trip to Breckenridge, Colo. They will return to Wayne Dec. 31.

Members of Explorer Scout Post 175 are making the trip, having earned money to cover all expenses. John Ritze is adviser but Mr. and Mrs. John Tollakson will accompany the group as sponsors.

Plans call for boarding a Union Pacific train at Columbus and taking a bus from Denver to Breckenridge. Funds will pay

Allen Schrant 'Most Happy Fellow'

It's Christmas, the season to be jolly, and it is just possible that the jolliest and "most happy fellow" around this area right now is a Winside man who a few weeks ago had every reason to be one of the most depressed.

Allen Schrant was at the Christmas program in Winside Tuesday night. His arms are still bandaged from losing his hands, but he talked cheerfully of the holiday ahead, the fact he was out of the hospital, the possibility of getting artificial hands and rehabilitation aid and the benefit square dance coming up Jan. 6.

It was apparent that he is the type of man who should go around cheering other people up. The picture of health, he glows with the spirit of the season and the appreciation he knows for those who have found time and inclination to send money to help him get back on his feet.

As of this week the fund for the Schrant family stands at $945. It should get further boosts at the Farmers State Bank, Carroll, during Christmas week when people stop to count their own blessings, and it will receive a big boost at the Hellos and Heaus benefit dance in Winside Jan. 6.

Donations the past week to The Allen Schrant Fund came from the following: Carroll, Robert L. Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Kane, Carroll Woman's Club; Winside, Wilva and Barbara Jenkins, Harlin Brugger; Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Spahr, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Splitterger; Pilger, Karel Produce; and Whittier, Calif., Leland Walter.

Hoskins Cub Scouts Take Gifts to Home

Hoskins Cub Scouts of Troop 226, Den 1, remembered the residents of the Norfolk Convalescent Nursing Home Dec. 18. They took boxes of cookies to eight of the residents who might not have received boxes from others.

The Cubs made the boxes in the shape of Santa's boots, colored red. Boxes were made out of oatmeal boxes and then filled with cookies.

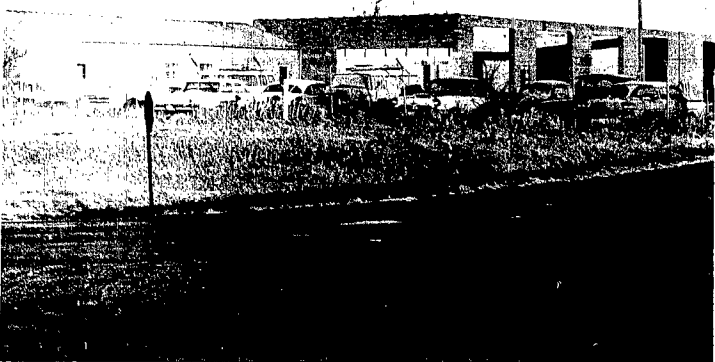

Mrs. Myron Walker and Mrs. Harold Wittler are den mothers for the Cubs. The pack meets weekly. It is one of the newest Scout units in the area and is one of the most active.

Closed on Saturday

The Wayne Herald office will be closed Saturday, Dec. 23. Employees are being given the day off for the Christmas weekend. No calls will be taken and no business transacted until Tuesday, Dec. 26.

Chosen for Honorary

Philip Rees, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Rees, Wayne, was one of 18 University of Nebraska students elected to membership in Eta Kappa Nu, electrical engineering honorary the past week. The 18 are juniors or seniors in the upper quarter of their class in the college of engineering and architecture. Final selection was made on the basis of scholastic ability, personality and professional promise.

A NEW BUILDING is being constructed for the state highway department on the east edge of Wayne. The brick structure contrasts with the present building state maintenance crews are using. Good weather has speeded up work this fall and winter.

'Trespassers Will Be Prosecuted'

"Trespassers will be prosecuted." That is the word from Wayne City Hall regarding the landfill on the Clairs Vogel farm southeast of town.

City Clerk Dan Sherry reports some people have gone to the landfill and found the gate locked. This has not stopped them from climbing fences, climbing over the gate or dumping.

The city ordinance provides that the landfill can be used only when there is an attendant present. This means from 1 to 4 every day of the week except Wednesday and Sunday. If the attendant is there, the gate will be open.

In the future, anyone caught violating the law will be prosecuted. An example may be made of the first ones caught.

'Sonics' for County Swine

"Sonics" have entered the picture for two Wayne County farmers. They have scored a first in the use of selection tools in their swine breeding herds, according to Bob Fritschen, area swine specialist at Northeast Station, Concord.

Paul Everingham and Jim Gustafson, county farmers living south of Wakefield, are believed to be the first crossbred pork producers in Nebraska to use a sonorary machine in gilt selection. Purebred producers have used the machine as a tool in selection, while commercial producers have relied on less accurate techniques such as visual appraisal.

The sonorary (or ultrasonic device) uses the principle of high frequency sound waves to direct a beam of high frequency sound into the body of a hog at any given point. As the sound beam passes through tissue with different densities, some sound waves are reflected back, echoing on a screen. By calibration, the machine accurately measures the thickness of fat or muscle.

Fritschen said this method of muscle determination has great practical merit in revealing the loin area without sacrificing the animals. A producer who knows "what is in" his gilts can select for muscling and low backfat, information he can use in purchasing the boar most nearly answering his needs.

Producers must have certain things before proceeding on an accurate selection program: (1) A system of identification that at least identifies all gilts; (2) a basic understanding of genetics; (3) a knowledge of which traits are of greatest economic importance and their relationship to each other; and (4) an accurate record-keeping system of the traits being considered.

So far, only Everingham and Gustafson have used the ultrasonic aid in this area. The sonorary is made available jointly through the Nebraska Swine Council and the University of Nebraska.

Any swine producers interested in using the machine are asked to direct inquiries to Dr. Leo Lucas, Animal Science Department, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Nebr. 68503.

One of the boys in makeup for the Dixon operetta was heard to remark: "Boy, have you ever tasted lipstick before? I sure don't like it." A man standing nearby was heard to remark: "You will sonny, you will!"

A Wayne man has given up smoking, as much as possible. He carries a lighter with no fluid in it. He finds himself putting a cigarette in his mouth unconsciously, trying to light the cigarette, finding the lighter will not work and then realizing what he is doing. So, he puts the cigarette back in the pack. He's about worn out the lighter wheel and some of the cigarettes are getting worn out from excessive handling but they sure last longer than before.

Over in Wakefield a Christmas package arrived in battered condition with only the postmark, "Munich, Germany," and the zip code, 68784, legible. The postmaster knew people who had relatives in Germany, called to find out if they expected a package from Munich and they did so the package was delivered. Without a zip code, the package could have wound up in a storage vault. The postal department came through!

Fighting Irish Get New 'Suits'

The Fighting Irish of Dixon Grade School have new uniforms this year, thanks to the players' mothers who played a benefit game last spring and the school board, who made up the rest of the money needed to outfit two teams in jerseys, trunks and warmup shirts.

Gone are the traditional green and white uniforms that so long identified Dixon High and Dixon Grade Schools. New red and white outfits have been purchased.

Volunteer coaches provide Dixon with a team since there are no men on the faculty of the school. Again this year Bill Garvin is coaching (at double last year's salary—two times nothing). He has an able assistant in Don Kraemer, who is home from the service and working in the area.

The uniforms may be red and white but the gym (Dixon Auditorium) has blossomed out in fresh paint, green and white. Other improvements have been made, including a new furnace. The old furnace room will be converted into new and larger dressing room facilities and the kitchen and stage will therefore be improved.

Garvin and Kraemer are working with 16 boys in the fifth through eighth grades. They have several games scheduled, in-

David White was ill the night this was taken.

TELL A TALE OF CHRISTMAS PAST

While listening to long ago memories of strolling carolers and fun-filled sleigh rides, it is easy to wish for a return of the "good old days."

But seldom are the harsher times of yesteryear ever recounted. Times when, due to inadequate medical knowledge even flu or measles often proved fatal. Life today is undeniably more demanding, but great strides in medicine enable us to meet those demands in better health than was ever dreamed possible. The "good old days" are now!

Molliesia Formosa for Christmas?

If Jewell Schock, Wayne State biology instructor, gets the Christmas present he wants most, it won't be under the Christmas tree—but in a fish tank on the campus.

What he wants is a male amazon molly, or in scientific terms, a Molliesia formosa, a poeciliid fish.

If this seems a strange desire, it can be explained: that if Schock's research project does produce a male amazon molly, it will write genetic history. Reason: the amazon molly is the only known vertebrate which is gynogentic—that is, producing females only.

All offspring of the species are identical to each other, to the mother, and to the mother's ancestors. Males of other species are required to mate with the female amazon molly in order to produce babies, but there never are hybrid results among them, so far as researchers know.

"Although a very few apparent males have been discovered elsewhere," Schock says, "we are not sure if they ever reproduced, and there is doubt they actually were true males."

The significance of Schock's project, which he began while doing studies at the University of Texas in summer, 1966, is this: the development of real male amazon mollies might yield insight into genetic studies.

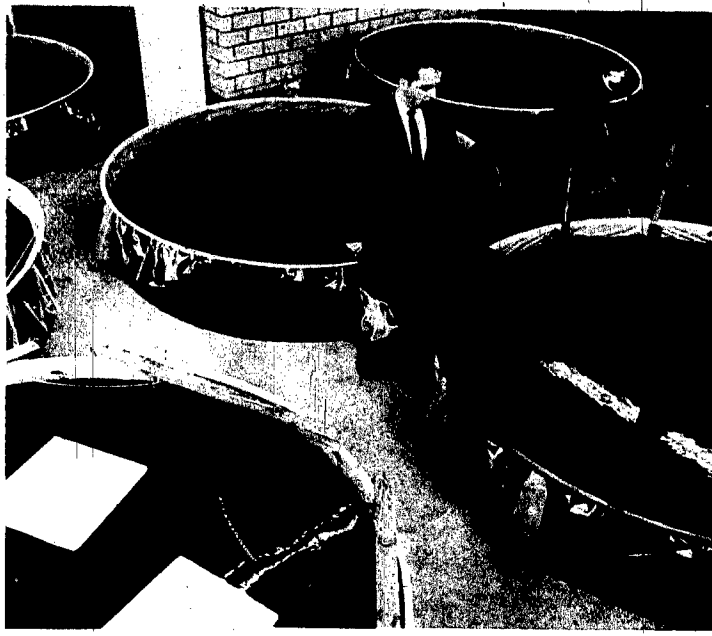

To date he has found no males among the fish in his tanks. The females have produced numerous babies, which are among fish species born live from the mother and not from eggs.

Schock keeps the producing females in big plastic bags, which are tied shut because the molly is a lively jumper. When babies arrive, Schock distributes them into other bags surrounded by water at varying temperatures—80, 70, 60, and 50 degrees.

The temperature may provide a clue to male production because research indicates that the few apparent males ever found appeared in cold water—an oddity since the amazon molly is a tropical or sub-tropical fish.

After the babies have spent one month in the plastic bags, they are moved into new environment, one of several big stock tanks, for six months. During this time Schock looks for signs of male characteristics.

This is a daily task and tedious. But he may do the daily chore even on Christmas day—just in case he may find that elusive present.

INTO THESE large tanks go the month-old amazon mollies for six months of growth while Schock searches hopefully for a male molly — one of the rarest creatures in nature, if in fact there really is such a thing.

Wayne police records show colored lights removed from a home display and from the WCPD building exterior lighting. Items were taken from the trunk of a car and from a station restroom. Other information on the record includes a dog being run over and having to be disposed of and visitors in an apartment house leaving litter in the yard. One accident, door checks, parking checks, foot patrol and car patrol were also on the list of activities.

JEWELL SCHOCK does an unusual kind of fishing here — looking for baby amazon mollies in special plastic bag tanks at Wayne State. When the babies appear, he moves them from the mothers into similar tanks at varying temperatures.

Free Throws Hurt 'Devils'

Wayne outscored Papillion 52-48 from the court Wednesday night but the effort was lost in the battle of free throws. The Monarchs hit 24 of 41 gratis shots while the Devils were making 12 of 20 to give PHS a 72-64 victory on the Rice Gym court.

Coach Dick Nelson's Blue and White, short-handed again with Dave Brown out due to a knee injury, will have more than two weeks following the game against Papillion in which to prepare for the "second season," opening 1968 action Jan. 5 against Madison here and then hitting the road for four games before returning here Jan. 26 for a game with PHS.

Papillion was not in the game for the first 6:33 minutes. Wayne had hit five field goals and Papio had hit none until that moment. However, seven free throws had kept the visitors alive and Wayne had a 12-7 lead. The lead changed hands three times with the last lead for the locals being 18-17 early in the second stanza.

After one quarter PHS led 15-14. At halftime the visitors had a 38-26 lead. After three quarters it was 52-35 and the Monarchs were outscored by the Blue Devils 29-20 in the final period with both coaches substituting freely.

Gordon Jorgensen and Dave Tietgen led Wayne rebounding with 10 and 9 apiece. Papillion's taller centers got many more rebounds than Wayne did, at one time taking five shots in a row before hitting. Other rebounds for Wayne included Larry Hix 7, Lynn Lessmann and George Eynon 6, Steve Johnson 5, Harry Lindner 4, Charles Fisher 3, Joedy Hoogner and Tim Robinson 2 and Randy Helgren and Steve Kerl 1.

Wayne carried the ball down the court into Monarch territory 13 times without getting a shot. This hurt as the Devils lost the ball on traveling, palming, bad passes, double dribbles or Monarch thefts.

Johnson and Jorgensen each stole the ball 3 times, Lessmann 2 and Tietgen, Eynon, Hix, Kerl and Robinson 1. Lessmann led in assists with 5. Hix had 3, Johnson and Hoogner 2 and Eynon and Jorgensen 1.

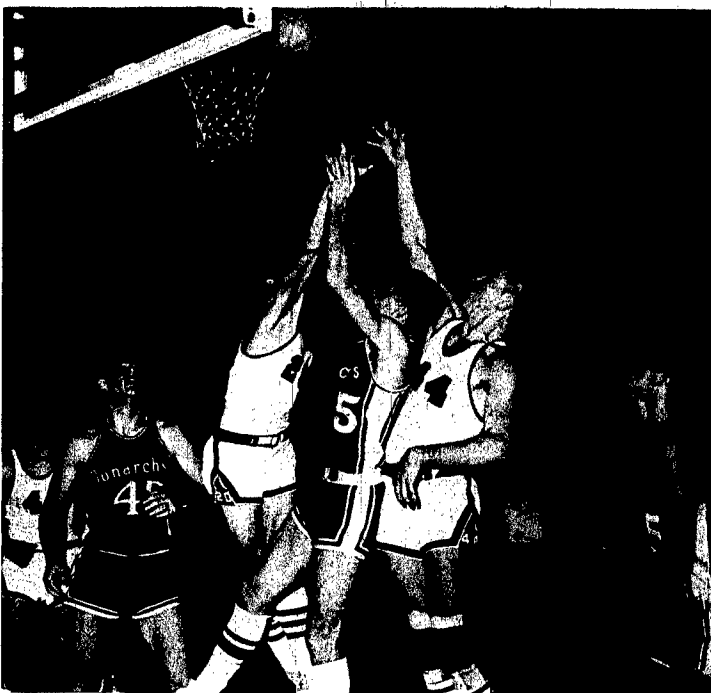

In the reserve game, Papillion prevailed. Wayne led 15-12 after one quarter but scored only four points the second period to trail 26-19 at halftime. It was 35-25 in favor of the visitors after three quarters and they were outscored 14-9 the last stanza to take a 44-39 decision.

Joedy Hoogner scored 21 points to lead both teams. Bruce Plueger and Ted Armbruster each made 5 for Wayne and Randy Helgren, Terry Ellis, Dennis Redel and Dan Sutherland 2. For Papio, Mike Szymskie had 12, Hugh Selleck 9, Steve Dort 8, Greg Eymann 6, Pat Robbins 4, Charles Grady 3 and Mark Bruhn 2.

Following is the varsity box score (22 players in all, not including a few who failed to score, shoot a free shot or foul):

Larry Hix	0-2	3-4	2	2
Lynn Lessmann	2-2	2-3	6	6

Holiday Tourney Favorite Wayne State?

If won-lost records provide a clue, this may be the year Wayne State wins its Christmas Holiday Basketball Tournament for the third time in 10 years.

The 7-0 Wildcats will play the 5-2 Westmar College Eagles of LaMars, Ia., at 9 p.m. Friday following the opener at 7 between 1-5 Kearney State and 1-7 Kansas State of Pittsburg.

Wayne Coach Dave Gunther is wary of counting too much on relative records. Westmar has shown Wayne scouts plenty of talent, Gunther notes, especially in the rebounding of 6-10 center

Roger Moller. In past years Wayne-Westmar games always have been see-saw scraps.

Kearney's Antelopes, despite their mark, are a threat under the coaching of two former Wayne State cagers, Head Coach Wayne Samuelson and Assistant Coach Gerald Hueser. Samuelson held the Wildcat scoring record for several years, and Hueser was a most valuable player as a 1959 senior. This is Samuelson's second year at Kearney, Hueser's first, so their system is apt to jell into winning basketball anytime, Gunther observes.

He also notes that Pittsburg's 1-7 record may be deceptive as the Gorillas play in a strong circuit. Pittsburg Coach Bob Johnson has a fairly young team "which hasn't jelled yet," Johnson says, "but shows potential."

Saturday night's action will match first-round losers at 7 p.m. for third place, then the first-round winners at 9 for the championship.

As in past tourneys, many Wayne businesses, professional men and individuals are buying blocks of tickets to support the event.

There was no Winside-Nobrarra wrestling competition Wednesday night as scheduled. Due to worsening weather conditions in the Nobrarra area when buses were scheduled to leave, the matches at Winside were called off. No date has been set for a rematch, Supt. James Christensen reports.

No Winside Matches

There was no Winside-Nobrarra wrestling competition Wednesday night as scheduled. Due to worsening weather conditions in the Nobrarra area when buses were scheduled to leave, the matches at Winside were called off. No date has been set for a rematch, Supt. James Christensen reports.

Dressing Dolls

France, famed for its fashions, early gave attention to dressing dolls known as "fashion babies." First created about 800 years ago, the "fashion babies" in later years became ambassadors for French styles.

In the early American Colonies, for instance, the arrival of a group of "fashion babies" from France was greeted with great excitement. For payment of an admission fee, Colonial women could see the dolls displayed, and observe the newest fashions, in miniature.

Log Had Charms
In ancient Germany, the Yule log was known as the "Christbrand." One belief held that if the charred log was placed in a cornbin, it would act as a charm to ward off mice.
If the weather turned stormy, the Christbrand was quickly brought back to the fire. While it burned, superstition said, the house was safe from lightning.

Going "Mumming"
"Mumming" is a Yule custom that originated in early England. Mummers, masked and in costume, silently enacted ritual plays about the death of winter and the old year.
The custom still survives in some parts of the world, although the plays are no longer performed. Today mummers usually entertain with dancing and instrumental music. They are rewarded with treats.

About Trees
Perhaps the most common use of holiday greens is seen in the lively, decorated Christmas tree found in many homes at this time of year.
There are many legends concerning the origin of Christmas trees. One belief is that the first Christmas tree was a palm tree brought from Egypt. The 12 parts of the palm were supposed to represent the 12 apostles, according to the editors of the Encyclopedia Americana.
The use of pine and cedar Yule trees is generally thought to be of German derivation. The introduction of the ever-green Christmas tree came to English-speaking peoples after the marriage of Victoria of England to the German prince, Albert.

Only Two Cases in Wayne County Court

One of the lightest first-of-the-week periods in months was recorded in the chambers of Judge David Hamer Tuesday and Wednesday. Only two cases were heard, both involving speeding.

Dec. 19, Larry Ferguson, Elmwood, appeared on a charge of speeding. He paid $10 fine and $5 costs. Officer Ron Penlerick brought charges.

The same charges were brought against Brock Reade, Onslow, Ia., Dec. 20. He also paid a total of $15 in fine and costs.

Weather Turns Cold

The Wayne area had contrasting weather in a short period the last few days. Mercury had climbed into the 50's one day. The following day it turned cold and by Friday morning it was below zero. Weathermen were predicting a rise in temperatures before Christmas. There was no indication of any snow before the big day.

Teachers Choose Two

Teachers in the Wayne-Carroll school district chose two "outsiders" to serve with them on a salary committee. Named by teachers and accepting the appointment were Dr. Lyle Seymour of Wayne State College and Roy Coryell of Coryell Auto Co. The men will meet with the teachers on the committee after the first of the year.

Lore and Legend Express Happy Mood of Season

From home to home, from country to country, Yule celebrations abound. The happy traditions of gift giving, home decorating, carol singing, card sending, candle lighting and tree trimming express the merriment of the season.

Popular folk customs of nation after nation have been absorbed into the international legend and lore of the Yuletide. Yet virtually every nation and every home and family, too, has its special way of celebrating Christmas, and its special memories of Christmas past.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Christ Was, Did, Is

Just as born, Christ did live, Christ is alive. It's Christmas in all the world, once again, hundreds of millions press to observe in various ways the birth of Christ, God's only man who was on earth those decades but who lives today, as surely as he lived so many years ago.

The story has been told many times, many ways, through many mediums. The scene of the miracle has been visited, revisited and studied, to matter how it comes out, the details of Christ's birth, life and death make a beautiful story.

Some people would deny Christ. They would say further, and deny God. Because they are unable to see or touch, they cannot believe.

They are as bats, not knowing there is Man, but believe there is Man because they cannot see or touch. They are as computers, capable and obedient. Man, however, there is a Man, human, not a machine. They must know the difference and many do in a variety of ways. They can see the words but they cannot see their own hearts to believe there is a God. Yes, however, they do not take out there from a legal argument, but an act, failure to count Man's heart, there is no Man.

In order for some in this area to believe, Christ would have to be born in Wayne County. It would have to be available to go to, to look at and to touch. Without such evidence, Christ and God are not possible.

They cannot accept the fact that Christ is available. We can look to God. We can see His work. Our lives are daily touched by God.

Perhaps this is an unusual way to look at the Christmas story. Admittedly, it is different in some ways, but it is necessary in others. In a world where Christians are a minority, more people need to know of the miracle of Christ's birth and the fact there is a living God.

And so a world pauses as far as some are concerned. Millions are not aware of the anniversary of Christ's work. Some have heard but do not believe. Some have never heard. Whether they know Christ or not, directly or indirectly most peoples' lives are touched by Him in some way at some time.

He started as a babe in a manger, He ended upon a wooden cross. He arose from the grave. His message has carried on to the present. In spite of the commercial overtones, it is still His birthday that makes the season special. Christ was born, lived, died and lives again. Never has the world needed a living Christ more than it does now, at Christmas, 1967. —CEG.

Somebody Has to Work

It's Christmas time. Everyone should have the day off and most people do but even in the smallest towns such as those in this area there are those who have to work Christmas Eve and Christmas Day.

Just for an example, take Wayne. There are many people in this city who will work part or most of the day.

Wayne policemen will be on their round-the-clock schedule. Nurses, cooks and aides will be on duty at the Wayne Hospital. The power plant must run and there will be workmen on duty every minute of the day.

Christmas does not mean all postal workers get the day off. Some will be working part of the day at every post office in the area, Dixon, Concord, Hoskins, Carroll, Allen, Winside, Waiefield and Wayne.

A lot of people will make long distance calls to loved ones. Even with direct dialing there will be operators on duty somewhere. Some cafes and some service stations will stay open because people away from home must get fuel and food.

Planes, trains and buses will keep transportation moving. Truck drivers away from their bases must continue hauling.

Then there are the stock feeders. Just because it's a holiday does not mean they can neglect the chickens, hogs, sheep, cattle, horses or other farm animals. They will have to do what would be a day's work for most city men and yet what they consider just the "chores" they perform most days before doing a real day's work.

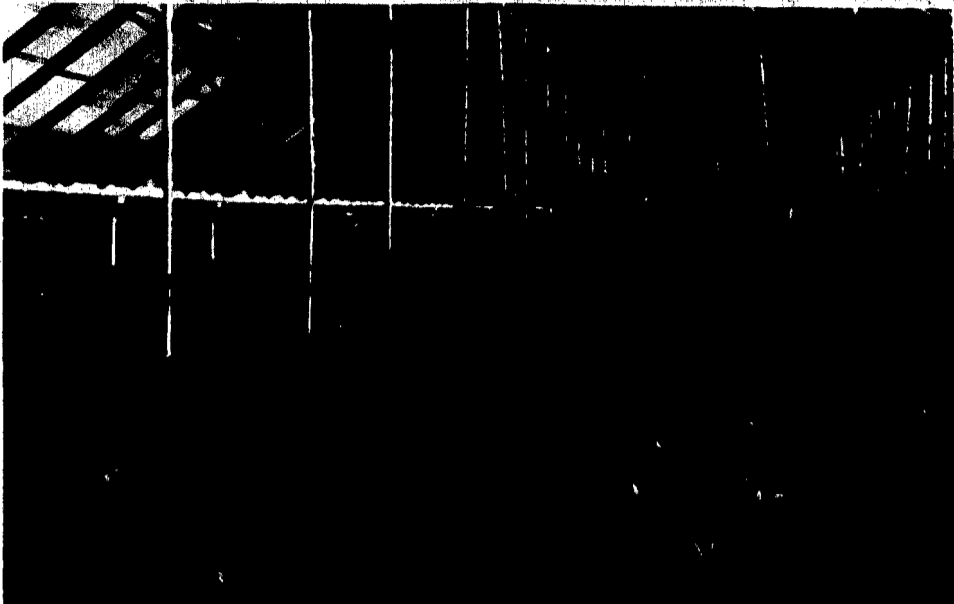

You can't forget the women in homes, rural and city. They fix meals, set tables, wash dishes, clean up. It's all part of the day, but trying to do it some time and you'll know it is work.

Finally there are those who are on call in case of emergencies. If the roads get bad, the crews must go out to keep them open; if ice and snow hit utility lines, crewmen must work to restore service; if a fire breaks out, volunteer firemen must leave their homes to answer the alarm; if an accident occurs, ambulance drivers and nurses must go to the scene where sheriff's officers or patrolmen will be investigating; doctors may be called to care for the sick or injured.

Christmas is a day off for many people. It is also a working day for others. It will ever be true. Since the birth of Christ and before it has been necessary for some people to work while others rest. At this time of relaxation for most of us, it is fitting we remember those who of necessity must continue to work or answer calls for assistance even on Christmas. —CEG.

A Gift of Good Will

It does not cost so much to give a gift in this modern world after all. In the past few days this newspaper has been the recipient of gifts of good will that money could not buy but which

POINSETTIAS The Christmas flowers, are always admired for their deep red leaves which appear at Christmas time. They were photographed in the Wayne Greenhouse just as they mean more than any monetary gift.

For example there's the word of a Carroll woman who expressed appreciation for the pictures and coverage of the Christmas program given by the elementary school. Her kind words helped ease the stress of an over-crowded day.

There's the Wayne High athlete, who like his parents has discovered that remembrance is one form of appreciation. In return for a favor years ago, each Christmas in some way or another he personally lets us know that he has not forgotten.

How about a Dixon man and woman who are doing their best to bring up a family, a couple would be proud of, and who set an example by expressing thanks for covering the news of the area small towns. Although they also gave a gift, it was their words that meant so much—words of appreciation for doing a job we enjoy doing in communities that have always been most kind, understanding and thoughtful in helping us do a job for which we get paid. Small communities, the frosting on the cake, the bonus extra of being in the newspaper business.

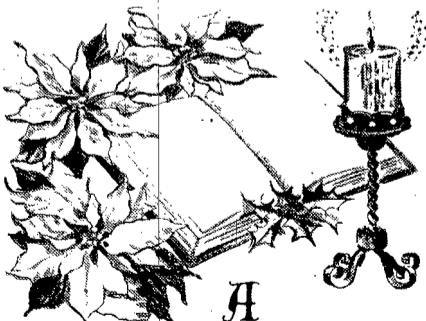

Mentioning another, there is the postmaster who helps all year with news and then remembers us with a small token of friendship. It did not cost much and it was unnecessary. The important thing was the thought, a gift most prized, a gift most welcome.

There is the school administrator who must get tired of having us come around so often, calling for extra information and making demands on time and effort. No gift is necessary beyond that gift he gives us year around, the reassuring words that we're welcome, we're wanted and we're appreciated.

All of these things are gifts, even if the givers are sometimes unaware that they are being considered that way. All mentioned are gifts from our standpoint, but that is where we are the most qualified to observe.

You too can give a gift without paying out money, not to us necessarily but to anyone you know and some you do not know. You can say "Hello" to a stranger. You can smile at an elderly friend. You can offer a word of appreciation. You can show that you care.

There are hundreds of ways to give gifts such as these. They do not go unnoticed. They do bring back gifts of a similar nature. They are as great to receive as to give. They are priceless. —CEG.

reached their peak of beauty. These tropical plants, originally imported from Mexico, add a cheery note to holiday festivities.

Out of Old

Nebraska

After World War II community Christmas decorating spread across the country, each village, town, and city competing with its neighbors.

Prior to the war, such decorating had usually been confined to a few strings of colored lights across the main street, a community Christmas tree, or perhaps a star on a hill overlooking the town. Obvious exceptions were towns like Minden, which has long been known as "The Christmas City." The files of the Nebraska State Historical Society library contain references to other early community projects in the various Nebraska communities.

During the first years of a community, non-denominational Protestant church groups were common, and it was in their services that some community Christmas projects had their beginning. According to the letters of Royal Buck, Red Willow County's first Christmas tree was decorated for a Union Sunday school service, held at his home during Christmas week, 1873, from which the various pioneer families received gifts of fruit, sent by friends in eastern Nebraska.

In his reminiscences, Ned A. Davis remembered that Trenton had its first outdoor community Christmas tree in 1890. He pointed out, "The town was filled with young bachelors who had come out and taken a homestead just for the fun of it, hoping to sell it after they'd proved up." On Christmas Eve, the young men of Trenton dragged a windmill tower into the main intersection of the village where they decorated it with barn lanterns and pine boughs. They put presents on the tree and gave them out. There was probably quite a lot of liquor mixed up in it."

The Trenton Register for December 26, 1890, described it as follows: "Some of the industrious young men of Trenton erected a windmill tower in Christmas tree fashion and decorated it with everything available, properly labeled for the business men in town, on Wednesday evening (Christmas Eve). It was quite an ornament to the street and no doubt the recipients of the presents were quite grateful to the donors."

Undoubtedly, the pioneer children, the lantern-lit windmill tower shining over the scattering of false-fronted frame buildings, in that day before street lights, was quite as impressive as the elaborate decorations are to the children of today.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:
I'm not much on writing letters, but I do want to thank you for the gift I received. It is well appreciated, not in the monetary sense, but in the manner in which it is given.

I'm speaking for everyone here and we thank you sincerely. Keep it up.

I would also like to wish everyone a happy holiday.
Sincerely,

Dear Editor:

I am located in San Ignacio, a town of about 8,000 people, and have been working with the agricultural extension office here. The area is an agricultural and ranching zone. Our work is with agriculture primarily. The extension service works with these rural people. In each office there is a chief agent, 4-H agent and home economics agent, usually a young girl. I work with the 4-H agent primarily with 4-H clubs and their projects. The home economics agent works with adult women and girls' clubs. The chief agent supervises and works with adult groups of farmers. We work in approximately 11 separate zones that encircle the town, visiting the clubs twice a month when possible.

The farming people in this area usually own between 10 to 100 acres of land and much of this is only pasture. The farm home is usually the only building on the farm made of bricks, wood, and a straw and mud—but very waterproof—roof. Since these homes are the real center of life, they include personal possessions, furniture, stored farm products such as sacks of rice, cotton or corn and many hand tools such as hoes. Besides a very small number of pigs, chickens, and ducks there are usually fruit trees and plants such as bananas, oranges, pineapple and mandarins that surround the home. With an ox team, plow, and cart the farmer produces and sells the produce. Principal crops are mandioca (like a potato) and corn which are used to feed domestic animals, marketed, but usually eaten in several ways. Part of the land is devoted to a cash crop and the favorites are peanuts, cotton, rice, tobacco and sugar cane. The cash crop is used to buy rice, spaghetti and other

An order has been issued by the postmaster general that all rural mail carriers have the right of way on all the county roads, and that all other carriages or conveyances must surrender that right of way to the rural carriers. It used to be a rule when the mail was carried in stage coaches, that everyone had to get out of the way when the mail coach came along.

Monday night the evening passenger was delayed for some time. The train had pulled in as far as the stock yards and was doing some switching when the soft plug blew out of the boiler letting the water out onto the fire which was extinguished. The accident was sufficient to cause another engine to be sent for to haul the train to Bloomfield.

A Lincoln farmer had been bothered for weeks with a large flock of blackbirds. Seeing them perch on his barn one day he ran to the house for his shotgun. Quickly proceeding to load it he found he was out of shot. Grabbing up a paper of tacks he poured the contents into the gun and then hurrying to the barnyard he turned both barrels loose at the flock. Imagine his surprise when he found that he had tacked every last one of the birds to the barn roof. While cutting his wife to see what a good shot he had made, he was again surprised to see the flock of birds fly off with the roof. (Metz News)

David Ewing of Hartington (a traveling representative of the Hatter Medicine Co. of Blair, Neb.), had a runaway while returning from Dixon, Monday afternoon which nearly resulted fatally to him. Just this side of Dixon the team became unmanageable and started for this city, but in turning the corner just west of town the buggy turning topsy-turvy, spilling Mr. Ewing out and dragging him a considerable distance, he was dropped in a mud hole, unconscious. Now comes a part of this incident that we hate to relate; we hate to think of such warts. Three teams passed him there, apparently dead, but did not so much as raise a hand to help. May the devil take a person of that nature created in the image of man that will pass by a fellow being in distress. Nels Bostrom was the man with a heart in the right place, and took him to Dr. Evans Drug Store. Five stitches were taken in Mr. Ewing's head. A son David Ewing, jr., arrived that evening and accompanied his father home to Hartington the next day. (Concord World)

Some of the boys gave a demonstration with the hose and cart Thursday afternoon. The fire bell rang which gave everybody a scare and the boys came up main street attached the hose to hydrant in front of Carter's store and proceeded to throw water all over the blacksmith shop and elevator. You could hear sleighbells all around in this neighborhood last week after the four inches of snow but the nice weather has spoiled that part of winter sports for the present. (Eastern Huron News)

Herbert Welch had quite an exciting runaway Thursday. He was out sleighriding when the horse got away and smashed the sled to pieces but no further damage was done.

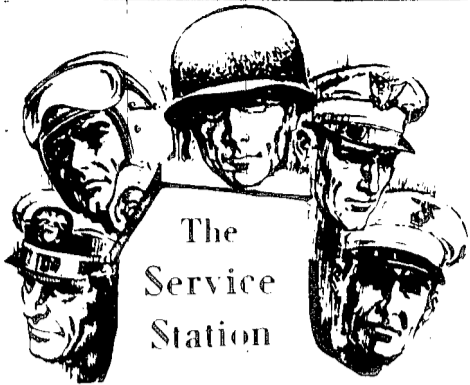

Ker-Choo—That's it, the grippe. If you have had it and recovered you know how to sympathize with those who are going to have it. Doctors report it prevalent to a great extent some cases quite severe and if you feel yourself coming down with it better take some dope or if it is likely to lay you up a week or so. It's the same old symptoms and everybody having had it some time will know that is is the grippe microbes getting in their work again. The only thing that will check its spread will be some of the old fashioned January weather with a stiff northwestern breeze and the thermometer hanging around zero.

The Sholes Debating Club will resume its regular meetings next Friday night. An extensive literary program has been prepared, the question to be discussed is, Resolved that Christian nations should disarm and depend upon arbitration for settling disputes.

A man came into the office this morning and asked for a daily paper. He said he wanted to see who had been shot at Norfolk in the last day or so. That's the opinion they are getting up here of Norfolk. They seem to think it a sort of wild west town where someone is shot every day.

goods. Many have home gardens but Paraguayans are neither great vegetable growers nor eaters and vegetables are not commonly a big part of their diet. The extension service tries to raise production, improve ways of living and institutions. In the 4-H clubs, I work with kids and other agricultural projects, trying to improve crops and animal practices.
More next week.

Equipment Operator Third Class Duane Harmer, son of Mrs. Esther Harmer, Randolph, and husband of the former Fayome Kappelbaum, Osmond, has returned to Port Hueneme, Calif., following a deployment at Camp Barnes, Dong Ha, Vietnam, as a member of Naval Mobile Construction Battalion 11. His unit provided construction for US forces in the northernmost portion of South Vietnam and was subjected to more than 50 enemy artillery and rocket attacks. Harmer's battalion was the first navy construction battalion to be assigned to Dong Ha and was the most northerly of all US navy units.

Elden is on the left, Alden the right, in the picture. They report some confusion with identities in the air force, a sergeant or cook telling one to do something, seeing the other later and asking why he isn't doing what he told him to do. Football opponents probably recognize the two but not which is which. Both were not all-conference guards at LIS, giving opposition backs the idea they were seeing double. Around camp they are known as "A" and "E" to make sure everyone knows which one is being referred to.

Hoskins Firemen Get Out on Glazed Roads

Icy roads or not, Hoskins firemen responded to a fire alarm Saturday, Dec. 16. They had to go 2 1/2 miles northwest of Hoskins on roads that were glazed with ice.
 An unknown cause had brought about a fire in the chimney at the Alfred Sherman farm. The house is a three-story affair, so there was considerable concern.
 Firemen were able to get the fire out with little damage, most of it coming from smoke. Dutch Opter, Hoskins fire chief, said the firemen were glad to find it was not a major blaze and were glad to get back to town and off the icy roads.

Selective Service's Information Private

Wayne County has run into the situation where people ask for servicemen's addresses at the Selective Service office. They have to be told the files are not public.
If someone wants his address made known, written authorization for supply of information has to be supplied. Even SWAY, which sends monetary gifts to servicemen, had to get state approval before information could be given to the towns from which men entered the service could be made available.
All information on file is confidential. Registrants themselves must supply written authorization before any information is given to anyone else, according to the clerk of the board, Mrs. Jewell Cawner.

Concord School Program Different

Concord Grade School presented a different type Christmas program Wednesday afternoon in the school auditorium before a nice-sized crowd. Something was happening all of the time, even when curtains were pulled for scenery changes. Mrs. James Withee played piano music between some numbers. Other features were solos off stage while curtains were pulled for setting up scenery. Solists included: Dean Johnson, accordion; Jane Johnson, recitation; and Kristy Peterson, Kelly Kardell and Doreen Hanson, piano solos.

Following a group welcome, the lower grades presented numbers which included playlets, songs and solos. The upper grades presented several plays, solos and group songs.

Helen Pearson had charge of the planning, with pupils showing signs of doing a lot of work in memorizing parts. Numbers varied from the Old Woman in the Shoe to rhythm band, parade of broken toys and a Christmas mix-up, costume work and scenery preparation being top-flight in them.

CONCORD SCHOOL first, second and kindergarten program Wednesday afternoon. Their attention was diverted to the piano out of sight to the right.
