Bob McLean

Bob McLean, city councilman for two years, has signed a notice that he declines to run for another term on the council. Martin Willers has been named to take his place on the ballot. McLean said he found it impossible to devote the time required for doing a good job on the council. Business interests and other activities were cited as reasons for declining to run for another term. He withdrew this past week, saying he thought it would be fair to do this early so the Citizens Party would have time to same another candidate for the ballot. State law allows caucus officers to meet and pick a candidate for the ballot in place of another caucus in situations such as this.

Amblyopia Kits Expected Soon

Lions Club members learned at their meeting at Lee' Steak House Tuesday night that a sample amblyopia kit has arrived, is being studied and more will be available soon. Then the Lions will start on their amblyopia project in the area.

Amblyopia is the case of people having one weak eye. This situation, if discovered in the 4 to 6 age group, can be corrected. Otherwise, the person with amblyopia grows up with the one eye even weaker than the other and often noticeably different in appearance.

eye even weaker than the other and often noticeably different in appearance.

Willis Johnson, sight conservation chairman for the Lions, is studying the kit and brochure to see what procedure is to be followed. A method of contacting all families to give them kits so they can check the youngsters themselves for amblyopia is under consideration.

The Lions are also proceeding with plans for an overnight camping park at the alreport with Explorer Scouts assisting. Land will have to be leveled, low spots filled in and landscaping carried out before this project can be continued.

Dr. Sidney Hillier and Keith Mosley were guests at the meeting. Mosley gave a report on the Community Detterment Program and asked Lions to join other Wayne organizations in making the project a success.

Firemen Get Another Call to Grass Fire

The extremely dry conditions prevailing in the area are conducive to grass fires and Wayne Volunteer Fire Department has had its share this year. Saturday afternoon firemen were called to a fire northeast of Wayne State

Thought to have been started by a cigarette, the fire burned along the fence line east of the property now owned by the college. It burned for almost two blocks, spreading out as it moved north fanned by a light breeze from the south.

Firemen spent around 45 minutes at the scene. They reported some utility poles were scorched, considerable grass was burned and some old planks on the land were scorched. Four Wayne High School pupils rated superior in public speaking at the District III dramatics contest at Wayne State College Saturday. They are Leah Ilavener, Margot McMay, Mary Jo Cook and Ron Seymour.
Results for schools in the immediate area were supplied by Dr. Robert Johnson, director of the contest, He said it was one of the largest such events ever held here and seems to be growing in popularity.

Dr. Johnson praised the young people for their behavior and the good treatment they showed equipment at Ramsey Theatre. The judges from the University of Nebraska speech department had praise for the callber of competition.

In all, there were over 350 pupils from 22 schools. Those with superior ratings qualify for competition in the state contest. Superior ratings went to the following area entries: Leah See SUPERIORS, page 8

Asking WSC Investigation

NUMBER NINETY-SEVEN

Petitions signed by over 700 area residents were turned over to Sen. Elimer Wallwey this past week. They seek "an investigation into the situation" regarding the numerous diaminsais of instructors at WSC and the 'character debasing news thems in connection therewith."

In a conversation with Sen. Wallwey Tuesday, The literal learned that the potitions will be turned over to the chairman of the executive committee of the legislattive council. It will be up to that committee to decide whether or not to make an investigation, the decision to be made at a meeting of the council Friday.

Contrary to the impression some papers have given, it is understood the meeting Friday is to determine whether or not to have hearings and in itself is not a hearing at which students, teachers or the public will appear to give opinions.

The petitions were circulated from Thursday through Saturday See PETITIONS, page 8 soost sales at grocety stores, Average increase is about 8 per cent.

Small stores fare well in attracting food stamp shoppers, according to the Dixon County officials. The survey showed food coupon business represented 12 per cent of small-store total sales compared to 5 per cent for larger stores.

Success of the food stamp program is making it possible for low-income families to share more adequately in America's farm abundance, in stimulating local business and in enlarging farmers' markets. This results in the program's expansion to other areas.

The USDA cooperates with state and county services in administering the program. Dixon County residents interested in learning more about participation can contact officials at the courthouse in Ponca.

Bob Strathman Most Valuable for Second Year in Row at Wayne State

For the second year, Bob Strathman has the honor of most valuable player in Wayne Stac College basketball. Teammates chose him Monday as a post-script to Wayne's most success-ful season.

The 6-1, 140-pound senior guard from St. Louis, also was elected honorary co-captain with his back-court running mate, senior Ron Hintz of Rudyard, Mich. They were the only seniors on a team that won 24 games, lost 3, and went to the national NAIA tournament

nament.

Coach Dave Gunther, in his first year as Wayne coach, followed precedent by choosing the most improved player—and finally had to name two, 6-5 center Paul Emanuel of North Bend, and 6-9 center Dave Schnelder of Blair, both sophomore of Blair, both sophomore and 6-9 center Dave Schneider of Blatz, both sophomores.

Strathman Inlished the year with 488 points, averaging 18.07, his highest total but slightly under his 19.2 average of last year. The total elevated his career output to 1,149 points, third highest in Wayne cage history.

The most-valuable honor goes with several others Strathman has received—including Ail-Nebrasha College Conference for the second year.

has received-including All-Nebrasha College Conference for the second year.

Hintz finlshed his career with a notable statistic, He started 92 of the 96 games Wayne played during his four-year span. Though statistics are not available to prove it, that likely is a Wayne record for starts and probably seldom equalled by any colleglate player. Hintz scored 969 points in four seasons.

Emanuel earned a starting role in Wayne's first game this year and was one of only twoplayersStrathman the other—to start evgry game. Last year he saw only occasional action. This year he finished with 250 points, ranking fifth on the team, and averaged 8.1 rebounds, second highest.
Schneider earned his mostimproved accolade on improvement this year. After mid-season he started a statedy climb in scoring and rebounding as he proved to be a valuable substitute. He finished with a sixpoint average and a remarkable field goal accuracy of 65.5 per point average and a remarkable field goal accuracy of 65.5 per field goal accuracy of 65.5 per cent.

Sophomore forward Dean Elofson, Wayne, rained second in scoring with 375 points, averaging 13.8, and first in rebounding with an 8.9 average. The Wayne product started all but two games. Bill Goodwin, sophomore forward from Lawton, Ia., was third in scoring at 322, averaging 12.4, and was third in rebounding at a 6.4 clip. Hints scored 256, averaging 9.5.

No Bad Weather for Winter Possible Now

Winter Possible Now

The winter of 1967-68 will have to go down as a mild one. It is no longer possible to have a bad winter storm since winter is over, spring blowing in on the winds from the north Wednesday morning.

Never let it be said that winter didn't try to get rough at the end. Winds that gusted up to 40 miles an hour hit the area from the south Sunday and continued through Monday. Tuesday the discretion of the winds chaged and the mercury dropped.

Whereas the area had been having mercury readings in the 70's, the north wind brought behow-freezing temperatures. A few flurries of snow fell but not even enough to rate calling the moisture a "trace."

The winds succeeded in stirring up a lot of dust. Conditions were especially bad where there were fields with loose soil. Lights were needed for driving through such spots. In cuts on east-west roads, weeds piled up where winds carried them and dropped them in shapeless masses resembling sonwid-rifus.

winds carried them and dropped them in shapeless masses resembling snowdrifts.
Weatherfinen called for a 70 per cent chance for moisture Monday and a 5 per cent chance for the stage. None was recorded either day and none was forecast in the immediate future either, a situation which brought on talk of "drought" even though one good conting rain could change the outlook considerably after an unusually dry whater.

CHARMI COME HOME! These are Charmi Milligan's three sisters, all wondering where Charmi is and why she can't come home. They were photographed at the benefit Tuesday night in Carroll. Lett to right are Michele, Cristie and Marcy.

Mother's Tears Tell of Family's Sorrows, Joys

Obviously shaken, a mother tried to tell a crowd of over 400 at Carroll Tuesday night of the progress of her little girl and of her family's appreciation for all that has been done for them, but tears prevented her from telling the full story.

Mrs. Ed Milligan wanted so much to tell the crowd present at the benefit that Charmi had undergone skin gratting Monday, skin from her own arm being transplanted. She wanted to tell the people that Charmi was scheduled for further surgery this Thursday with skin to be taken from any spot where surgeons could get enough to be used.

She wanted to say how much she appreciated the gifts of money, the offers of help and the turnout of so many people (double the town's population) for the square dance, modern dance and card party. She wanted to thank everyone who had given to the Charmi Milligan fund in Carroll, Winside, Wayne and through the mail.

It was just not possible. She had been informed over $1,700 had been contributed and a trust fund was set up to be administered (at the Milligans' request) to be paid out as needed. Her tears of appreciation flowed too freely and she could not tell all of this, finally breaking down in her attempts to say what was in her heart.

There was hardly a dry eye in the place and the hundreds applauded the efforts of the young mother to try to go on in spite of her tears. (Tuesday morning it was learned the proceeds from the lunch counter and donations at the dance had brought the total in the fund to $1,922.23.

The course will cover various types of insurance, what insurance can be expected to do and how to use the insurance dollar most effectively.

According to Monty McMahon, supervisor of informal education for the extension division, "The valuable thing about the program is that an authority will be on hand to aiswer common questions about insurance. This is an opportunity to take an objective

Instructor for the course is Dr. George Reida, associate professor of economics at NU. Dr. Reida received his FS and MA from Creighton University and his PhD from Pennsylvania University, He has been on the NU staff since 1963.

Anyone interested in more information on the course or wishing to register may contact the high school or use the coupon that appeared in last week's Herald. There is both a minimum and a maximum on the number allowed to enroll.

who has given anonymously and through the use of her telephone for long distance calls when Mrs. Milligan was in Cincinnati, was present but declined to take part in the program. She was too busy assisting in various ways and helping with the other three Milligan children present for the benefit with their parents.

Dancers from West Point, Plerce, Pender, Norfolk, Winside, Wayne, Carroll, Hoskins and other towns attended the benefit. Bob Ifaberer and his Wranglers and Jerry Junck donated services, no charge was made for the hall and food was donated. So many others helped it would be impossible to list them all and none of them were seeking any publicity—they just helped because they wanted to. Phil Olson, president of Farmers State Pank, Carroll, said funds would be transferred from First National Pank, Wayne, to the Carroll bank and the Charmi fund set up there. Three prominent Carroll residents will handle the fund for the family and will continue to accept donations and pay out money as needed by the family.

Hospital bills at Sioux City alone came to over $3,500 for the young couple in addition to doctor bills here and at Sioux City, hospital bills here and costs of travel and room and board in Cincinnati for Mrs. Milligan. For that reason, donations from now on should be sent to: Charmi Milligan Fund, Farmers State Bank, Carroll, Another report on the list of donors will be given in Monday's naper.

It was an impressive show the youngsters and their instructor put on. Everyone seemed to agree that they had been unaware of how complete the program is and now that they know they are glad to have their children in a school with facilities for offering such a course.

The children demonstrated baskethall, explaining the kay-photos, free throws and rules. Exhibitions were given on the trampoline through various maneuvers and scooters were used to run relay races and play a circle game.

Square dancing was presented with the use of recorded calling. The famous Latin American "stick game" was played, rope jumping was demonstrated and the mats were brought out for a finale in the fine art of tum-bling, completing a program of variety the pupils seemed to entoy as much as the crowd did.

Mrs. Evelyn Schreiner, Auxiliary president, and Mrs. Paul Zoffka, Americanism chairman, presented the gift to Miss Witt. Miss Troutman was not present to receive her prize.

A tribute to the legion was given by Mrs. Zoffka, liere is what she wrote and said: "To Winside American Legion Post 252: We, the Auxilliary are happy to wish the best for you on the 49th birthday of the American Legion. We know that all the blessing that we enjoy as citiwithout any previous publicity. Signatures were reportedly obtained from Laurel, Dison, Concord, Allen, Wakefield, Pender, Wayne, Norfolk, Winside and other towns in the area. Senator Jerome Warmer, chairman of the executive committee, told The Herald Wednesday that under law the committee has no power to conduct investigations. "The only way any investigation can be held is with the full action of the Legislature when it is in seasion," he said.

The committee wants to clarify with the normal board members some of the questions they have regarding this petition and other accusations the Legislature has received regarding Wayne State. Warner further pointed out that all committee meetings are open, ite emphasized, however, that the Friday meeting was not a hearing and that discussion from those for and against various issues would not be heard.

Reported As Income

Most veterans benefits are exempt from taxation and need not be reported as income on tax returns, according to Chris Bargholz, Wayne County veterans service officer. The exception is interest earned on GI insurance dividends left on credit or deposit with the VA.

The GI insurance dividends are not taxable. Neither are the proceeds from GI insurance policies.

Other major tax-exempt benefits include compensation and pension payments, educational assistance allowances, subsistence payments to vocational reliabilitation trainees and grants for "wheel chair homes" and automobile equipment for the severely disabled.

Benefits to surviving dependents of deceased veterans and compensation allowances authorized for dependents of certain disabled veterans are tax-exempt, Bargholz said.

'Gold Discovered In Dixon County Hills'

That headline probably never appeared in any pioneer newspaper, but there was a gold producing mine in Dixon County in the late 1890's and early 1900's, according to Mrs. Sterling Borg, Dixon, who is writing articles for the Dixon County Historical Society.

The mine, according to Harold Jeffrey, was owned and operated by Charles Tucker. He recalls

The mine, according to Harold Jeffrey, was owned and operated by Charles Tucker. He recalls visiting it with his late father, Fred Jeffrey. It was located about Equipment used to separate the gold from the dirt and sand consisted of a long flume constructed from boards. The lower end was corrugated and water from a large spring was directed through the flume, as the water passed over the gold-laden soil, the heavier gold settling into the groves of the flume and the dirt and sand washing away. Although the operation was never profitable, Mrs. Borg reports, it did prove that "there is gold in them that buckskin Dixon County Hills."

Light Police Action

Police activity was light the past few days. Only one traffic accident, one court case and four special calls were recorded. In one call a sick cat was reported, but the cat died when the policeman picked it up, the animal having been run over just a moment before. Three stray dogs running in a "pack" were reported in two parts of town but each time police went to the area where the dogs were reported they found no dogs. A resident complained that a stranger came to the door demanding payment for magazines ordered, magazines which the local resident had not ordered and was not about to pay for, causing the stranger to leave in anger after which the resident called the police. A bicycle with fow flat tires was found in some weeds, ownership not yet determined.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

And I it is the duty of an editorial writer to search all available facts before he sits down hitpowrite. From this basis the writer should be able to give a clear picture of important topics.

A School's Problem

The board of school District 17 has a problem.

The board of school District 17 has a problem. There may be many answers, but determining which one is the best answer may be a difficult chore. In a nutshell, it comes about because there are pupils coming into high school from Wayne Middle School who have had much more advanced schooling than those who come into WHS from the rural schools of the county. Here is an example: Middle school pupils have had two years of shop, two years of home-maiding, art, physical education, athletics and other courses in special classes. Some of these are not offered to rural pupils.

The board of education feels obligated to set up a special high school curriculum for the young-

The board of education feels obligated to set up a special high school curriculum for the young-sters from the rural schools. It simply is not possible to put them in some classes with pupils who have had two years of a subject aiready and are far ahead of where the pupils are who who have had no industrial arts, homemaking and other such courses.

What it amounts to is setting up extra sections for the rural pupils. After all, these young people deserve as complete an education as possible. The trouble is, it costs more to offer these extra sections.

While not to offer extra sections would be unfair to rural people, offering them may be unfair to those whose youngsters attend middle school. These people have to help provide the costs for the extra sections in the high school, costs for the extra sections in the high school, courses their children have already had.

The obvious solution is to have the rural pupils attend Wayne Middle School. If some districts want to keep their one-room elementary schools, they can, but then they should be prepared to offer courses comparable to what Wayne can offer or they should, send their youngsters from fifth grade up into town for middle school.

Even better would be for those districts close enough to Wayne to consider merger with the local district. Then their young people would get the courses that cannot be offered in a small school.

'school. It is a shame this has to come up, but it is 'hiore of a shame that District 17 has to dfer special sections for rural pupils simply because they cannot move into classes in high school with those who have had two or more years of special instruction. Like it or not, this type of schooling is required in this day and age and we cannot ask pupils in District 17 to give up the special courses they get at WMS in order to hold them back so everyone can start at the same level.

Apparently the district has little choice but to continue to offer special courses for those coming into high school from rural schools. The to continue to offer special courses for those coming into high school from rural schools. The rural kids are as talented as the town kids but they have a definite disadvantage when it comes to the typing, industrial arts, homemaking and athletic programs of high school.

This is a time of year when rural districts are considering changes. Is it time to considering changes, Is it time to considering the advantages of middle school courses also and what it means to the rural pupils who cannot start high school in many fields on a level with those who have attended middle school?

Certainly no one will cast reflections on the rural school teachers. They are magnificent and in many ways they have much to offer the youngsters. But if they could even concentrate on kindergarten through fourth grade it would help them and the pupils and then pupils in the fifth through eighth could go to middle school and get the "extras" being offered.

It is much too compilicated a problem to solve

This idea alone is no solution to the problem. It is much too complicated a problem to solve in a few sentences here, but it is something to think about, discuss and consider. In the meantime, District 17 will continue to offer extra sections of many courses, sections for those who have had two or more years of study in those courses already and sections for those who are starting them for the first time.—CEG.

That 'Crazy' NFO Bunch

If you have been reading all of the articles the dailies and in The Herald about National

If you have been reading all of the articles in the dailies and in The Herald about National Farmers Organization activities, you no doubt have your mind made up one way or another about that "crazy" NFO bunch.

But wait a minute, is the NFO so crazy? Members are trying something different and you will have to admit that "solutions" in the past have not worked. Maybe it is time something different is tried.

Wayne County's NFO is reporting to us on news happenings once or twice a week. Since The Herald cannot be present to report on every meeting or gathering in the area, NFO personned have taken it upon themselves to bring in written accounts of what has gone on. That is sure a big help to us and whether you like NFO or not you have to admire the spirit.

So far, Wayne County NFO members have not dumped milk, shot hogs or resorted to any other type of action other than just withholding. They are working to get more farmers to see their way of tithiking and to help make a withholding action effective.

It's a cinch the best chance for success is having a majority of the stockmen and farmers taking part. Ideally, it would stand a better chance of succeeding if the program could be unanimous. This is not to say that endorsement is given every measure the NFO proposes. It is to give a nod to a group that is at least trying to get something done to relieve the plight of the farmers. Other farm organizations are not set up in the same way the NFO is. Therefore, it is possible for a farmer to belong to one of the other organizations and also belong to the NFO as far as we know, NFO is the only organization set up under the Capper-Volstead Act, which allows those engaged in production of farm products to associate in processing, marketing and handling their products.

You may not agree with an editorial on but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

to be done to save farming as we know it is pretty deplorable. You have to admit that something has to be done since somewhere along the line there is such a discrepancy between what is paid the farmer for his products and what is paid by the consumer over the counter for the same by the consumer over the counter to the semi-products.

Somehow, sometime, somewhere a way has to be found to get a greater share of the consumer dollar to the farmer. This should not cause a hardship on the consumer since the money paid will merely be divided in a different manner.

hardship on the consumer since the money paid will merely be divided in a different manner. At present, too much is going to someone in between the farmer and the retailer.

The farmer has a right to battle for existence. He himself must determine how this is to be done. The NFO offers one idea, Perhaps it is the right idea and perhaps it is wrong.

Not everything the NFO proposes is right. However, seldom is any program perfect. The point is, the NFO is trying something while farmers still have a chance to save themselves. Someone else may come up with a lot better solution in the years ahead—but can we be sure we will have enough farmers left around by then to make use of it?

The time to start doing something about the problems of the farmers is right now. If one solution does not work, another must be tried, it simply is not possible to just sit and wait in hopes someone will come up with something someday and gave the farmers.

So you farmers who have not attended an NFO.

simply is not possible to just sit and wait in hopes someone will come up with something someday and save the farmers.

So you farmers who have not attended an NFO meeting might try going to one with open minds. If you don't agree after hearing the case, at least you gave it a fair hearing. If you do agree, maybe you can help give this outfit a try in its efforts to save farming for the present and the future.

If farming is worth having it is worth making an effort to save. If the NFO doesn't have the answer, maybe it will lead to some other plan that will be the solution. It's already late this year. Next year may be too late.

There has to be a solution somewhere but it is going to come from the farmers themselves and not from some dream of a magic formula. Does the NFO have the answer? We don't know, but if it does, we hope the farmers find out about it right now. If it doesn't, the sooner we find out that and get onto some other plan the better it will be. You farmers ought to be ready to listen by now.—CEG.

Poison in the House

Are you careful about poison? You don't leave it around where the kids can get at it, do you? Well, just what do you consider poison? You know arsenic and strychnine are not the only poisons in the world don't you? Ordinary household ammonia is poison. So is that cleaning substance for toilet bowls, Lye is extremely dangerous. Even aspirin is poison in large amounts for little children. Poison can be y places accessible to children.

extremely dangerous. Even aspirin is poison in large amounts for little children. Poison can be in many places accessible to children.

Take a look in your medicine chest and kitchen supplies cabinet right now. Notice how many containers have warnings about inhaling or taking internally. The number of substances that are poisonous may astound you.

Right here in Wayme County there is probably someone who has something in a Coke bottle that is not Coke, it could be poisonous. To a child, that Coke bottle represents something to drink. How is he to know that somethines a pop bottle contains pop and sometimes it contains poison?

This is National Poison Prevention Week. We know Wayne County has not had many accidental poisonings lately, but other places have and their cumstances were similar to some that existight here. Maybe we have just been lucky.

How about getting rid of old prescriptions where you don't even know now what the medicine is for. How about getting rid of old prescriptions where you don't even know now what the medicine is for. How about getting those household helpers that are toxid or dangerous if inhaled to some special spot where only you can get at them.

It's up to you to take care of your household regarding the storage and bandling of poisons. No state law is going to force you to be careful. However, don't let the day ever come when you wished you had not left any potentially dangerous liquid, spray, powder, pill or other substance around where your child could get his hands on it. The advice for poison safety is: Extra cautin. Every poison doesn't have the skull and crossbones on it. Be as careful with those that don't as with those that do, Remember that children can be poisoned by large doses of medicine that wouldn't affect an adult.

You will kake care of this matter today won't you'—CEG.

Dear Editor:
Here is a quote from Elbert Hubbard I thought was appropos:
"Remember this: If you work for a man, in Heaven's name, work for him. If he pays you wages which supply you bread and butter, work for him, speak well of him, stand by him, and stand by the institution he-represented by him, and ounce of loyalty is worth a pound of cleverness. If you to a pinch, an ounce of loyalty is worth a pound of clevenness. If you must vility, condernn, and eternally disparage, resign your position, and when you are outside damn to your heart's your position, and when you are outside damn to your heart's content, but as long as you are part of the institution, do not condenn it. If you do that, you are loosening the tendrils that are holding you to the institution, and at the first high wind that comes along, you will be uprooted and blown away, and probably you will never know the reason why."

Once again we have to explain that we're not a photograph studio. We cover news events but we do not intend to displace the two fine photo studios we have here in Wayne. In the first place, the quality of work we do wouldn't keep you happy very long and in the second place the studios work with us and provide a lot of the pictures we use. We have been asked to various places to take pictures because someone wants a pleture, not because there is a news story of special significance. We have had to decline. So if you have news, we wunt it and we'll take the picture but if you're celebrating some occasion and want pictures for your family album and to send to others, call the photo studios and they'll see that we get a copy to go with a story of your celebration.

An Insurance expert will be there to tell you what different types of insurance there are, what you can do without, what various types of Ilfe insurance offer, what property insurance is needed and why you may or may
