Two Meetings Held on WSC Firings

Students Hear Profs

Four Wayne State instructors, whose termination of employment has been the cause for much unrest on and around the Wayne State campus, were featured speakers at a special "Student Forum" in the college student center Wednesday afternoon. Appearing were Dr. William Barlow, Messrs. Charles Curb, David Evans and Carl Hayes. The gentlemen had been invited by students to appear as had been W. A. Brandenburg, WS president, Deane Lyle Seymour and Dale Johansen and Dr. G. W. Shupe, Wayne Normal Board member, who declined. Essence of the meeting was that some of the teachers being "fired" (as stated in layman's terms by Curb) felt they were being released because they had attended a confidential meeting with three members of the Normal Board on January 27. Curb explained that the meeting had been arranged by an interested anonymous party with two of the board members who had in turn invited the third member. Curb said that the teachers were assured that the meeting was to be "entirely confidential" and that they had "nothing to fear from the board." However, he stated that the instructors felt

Unicameral Body Meets

Executive committee of the state legislature met in Lincoln Friday morning with members of the state Normal Board and three senators from Northeast Nebraska. Purpose of the meeting was to ask questions of the board relative to the recent controversy revolving around the dismissal of four Wayne State staff members. The committee acts as a liaison group while the Unicameral is not in session. Senator Elmer Wallace said he had asked for the meeting in order to present petitions signed by 729 Wayne area residents. The petition has been referred to by various news media during the past week. Wallace said the petitions had been presented to him by six individuals at his home in Emerson. He said they were not Wayne State students or faculty. Senator Jules Burch, Crofton, said that he had been contacted by members of the faculty, Wayne residents and had received letters from parents about the situation.

Knap, Kearney board member explained that the board indeed had such a policy and expected the presidents of the state colleges to carry them out. He said that the policy had been attacked by the AAUP in recent years and that last August the policy had been changed to conform with AAUP dictates. Knap further said that under the policy reason for termination need not be given during the first four years of employment. He explained that considerable advance notice is required however, and that recently the AAUP had criticized the board for too lenient a termination policy. Dr. G. W. Shupe, Wayne board member, explained that the termination policies are provided to each prospective employee of the board as a part of their contract, and further that the "no reason required" segment of the policy was a protective measure for those being released. Burch asked how many of the faculty or staff had been terminated and was told six. He then inquired as to what was the normal turnover for college See UNICAMERAL, page 8

Set Cancer Crusade Plan

Wayne County Cancer Society will hold meetings for all rural precinct chairmen Tuesday, Mar. 26 at the O. N. Brandstetter home. Plans are also made for the residential and business area campaigns in Wayne. According to Mrs. Tillie Harms, publicity chairman for WCCS, the rural precinct chairmen will be asked to attend the meeting of their choice Tuesday, sessions being planned at 9:30 a.m. and 1:30 and 7:30 p.m. At each one, material will be distributed and additional information given. Mrs. Lester Hansen is rural chairman and is hoping all homes in the rural area may be contacted within a week after the crusade starts Wednesday, Mar. 27. Mrs. Cliff Johnson and Mrs. Fred Gildersleeve are city crusade co-chairmen and plan to start the residential campaign by Wayne after Easter. Claude Harder is the new chairman for the business district and plans this campaign the first week in April. Local members of the American Cancer Society point out that cancer is no longer "automatic." It used to be hope was given up for anyone with cancer, but it is now known as one of the most-curable diseases. The fact that 100,000 Americans will die of cancer NEEDLESSLY this year is a little shocking. If they had been wise enough to have checkups and the disease had been diagnosed in time, chances are they would go on living. Most people know about the ACS promotion of checkups but they just neglect getting any themselves. Why they don't act to save their own lives has proved a puzzle to the cancer workers. Some people will not go until they are really sick—often too late. Some do not pay attention to the "seven warning signals" and the few precautionary measures that can save lives. Avoiding cigarettes and wearing protective clothing when exposed to the sun for long periods can actually prevent cancer of lung and skin respectively. People still smoke and they still lie out in the sun getting tanned—See CANCER, page 8

Dan Roberts Wayne High Boys Stater

Daniel Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldin Roberts, Wayne, has been chosen the Boys State delegate for Wayne High school this summer. Alternate is Bernie Binger, son of Rev. and Mrs. E. A. Binger of the Leslie community south of Wakefield. Roberts is a junior at Wayne High and is being sponsored by Irwin Sears Post, American Legion. He will go to Lincoln in June for one week of fun and study with almost 400 other boys from throughout the state. He has gone out for football and track at WHS, has been on the honor roll and has taken choir in elementary school. He lists art as one of his extra courses at the school. ## Jaycee Survey Eye-Opener

A community attitude survey taken by the Wayne Jaycees shows some eye-opening facts among 104 area residents filling out questionnaires. Those returning the survey sheets included 91 farmers, 9 businessmen and 3 other residents. To no one's surprise, industry was listed most often on the "open-end question" in which those filling in reports were asked to name what is needed most. Of those replying, 35 listed industry as "the most important thing" needed in the community.

There was a tie for the second most-needed project. More parking and a more competitive retail set-up each had 24 remarks on the attitude survey forms.

It was almost a tie for the next position on the chart too, there being 17 asking for better recreation and public meeting places and 16 asking for public restrooms in the downtown area. The public restroom project has been taken up by the Jaycees.

Other facilities and services were rated good to excellent in the top ten and the number of times mentioned include: Stop light at Seventh and Main, 12; more cooperation among farmers and businessmen, 10; higher wages, 8; better roads, 8; hospital service, 8; change drawing, 8.

In assessing the city's various services, those filling in the survey forms were asked to rate them as excellent, good, average, below average or poor. In all cases there was also a "no comment" column and in a few cases this was the column most frequently checked. Getting the most votes for being "good to excellent" was the electric service with 82 check marks. Only 4 indicated "average" and the other 14 marks were "no comment."

Fire protection, postal service and telephone service all rated about the same in good to excellent categories with 75, 74 and 73 votes apiece. Medical service rated good to excellent with 70, dental services with 61, street maintenance 56, legal services 50, newspaper coverage 46, law enforcement and police protection 41 and court services 38.

Television and radio programs were rated good to excellent with 33, hospital services rated the same by 32, street layout 29, traffic signals and signs 24, sidewalks 25 and public transportation to other communities 20. The other services rated below 20, including public transportation in the city and parking in business district. In recreational opportunities See SURVEY, page 8

Charmi Fund Still Grows

Contributions continue to come in for the Charmi Milligan Fund now being administered by a trusteeship of Carroll area residents. Donations should be sent to Farmers State Bank, Carroll, from now on. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Milligan called last week to report an error in the amount of the hospital bill at Sioux City was $2,500 and the total of $3,500 was closer to what the entire hospital and doctor bills would amount to. Both had noticed the news reporter's indicated the hospital bill alone was $3,500. They felt they wanted people to know that although costs are high and they are covering them as best they can, they are not quite as high as had been indicated—but will anyone deny they are high for a young couple with four children?

Three Army Men SWAY Prize Winners

Three army men are the latest recipients of Servicemen We Appreciate You $10 checks, letters and lists. Their names were drawn at the Vets Hall Monday night. Those drawn for the appreciation awards were: Kenneth Haase, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Haase, Wayne; Clarence Oberding, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Oberding, Randolph; and David Stringer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Stringer, Wayne.

transport plane and flies to Vietnam and Thailand as a flight engineer. Ken is the second in his family to receive a SWAY prize. His brother, Vince, who is serving in Germany, was a SWAY winner a few weeks ago. The address for Ken is: Sgt. Kenneth J. Haase, 773 TCS, Box 9074, APO San Francisco, Calif. 96274.

Haase is a 1960 graduate of Wayne High School and joined the air force that year. He has served at Lackland AFB, Tex., Amarillo AFB, Tex., Naha AB, Okinawa, Pope AFB, N. C., Clark AB, P. I., and other bases. He left Feb. 7 for the Philippine Islands where he is now stationed. He is on the C-130

Stringer is a 1962 graduate of Wayne High and entered the service Apr. 11, 1966. He took basic training at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., and went to Ft. Rucker, Ala., from there. Nov. 2, 1966, he went overseas, serving 13 months in Korea as a helicopter mechanic. Last December he returned home and then went to Ft. McClellan, Ala. See SWAY, page 8

Supper was over in a Wakefield home and the pre-school boy said in a matter-of-fact manner, "Well, I'd better let the cat out." His mother didn't notice the cat around and asked, "Out of what?" The lad showed her out of the pressure cooker. He had put the cat in, put the lid on and the cat had been reposing inside for no-telling-how-long. Fortunately for the cat, the boy thought about it at supper instead of breakfast the next day or the cat would have used up all nine lives. A Wayne teacher had an open period one schoolday so she received permission to go home to change clothes for an activity coming up. While home she had a radio station on that had a question contest—first one with the right answer got a prize. Calls kept coming in, all wrong. Finally, the woman in exasperation called long distance and told her answer—the right answer. Then the station announced her name and address as winner of the prize, and the embarrassed teacher started wondering what school patrons thought she was doing listening to a radio station when she was supposed to be in school. Then there is the Carroll woman who remarked a while back that she would not think of smoking, adding that it would take a pipe set with rhinestones to get her started. Now she has one, receiving a gift of a corncob pipe set with a multitude of colored rhinestones, including some that form her initial.

his college education in Kansas. He began farming in 1932 in western Iowa. He served in the Armed Forces and at the close of World War II he purchased a farm in Woodbury County, Ia. He joined NFO at its beginning and has been a member ever since. In 1960 he was named to the national board of directors and in 1961 was appointed director of the meat commodity department. He was elected national vice president in 1962 and was subsequently re-elected vice president from 1963 to 1967. The meeting is open to the public and according to local NFO officials should be one of the most interesting and informative meetings held in this area.

Winside Boys Stater Is Bob Farran

A junior at Winside High School, Bob Farran, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Farran, has been named the Boys State delegate for that community under sponsorship of the American Legion post there. Alternate is Jim Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jackson. Farran was in football as a freshman but suffered a broken collarbone. In other sports he has been out for basketball and track. He has been president of the freshman class and student council member the last two years. In Spanish Club he has been an officer, has been in Scholastic and Math Club, has been on the honor roll and sings in boys glee club and mixed chorus. In the junior class play he had a major role and he has been in two one-act plays. He also participated in speech contests and is on the newspaper and yearbook staffs at the school. Years ago he was in Scouting and he is a member of the Winside Saddle Club.

Winside Parents Meet Error in Story

Parent-teacher conferences were held the past week at Winside Public Schools. Attendance was excellent in all of the schools. One or more parent showed up for each child in most cases and both teachers and parents were pleased with the results of the personal visits about the progress and needs of the pupils and schools.

Linda Costello, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Costello, Wayne, was winner of a World Book globe in the Ask Andy Contest which appears in almost 200 newspapers from coast to coast, including the Omaha World-Herald and the Sioux City Journal.

Miss Costello was allowed to open her package containing the globe during a study period at the school Wednesday. She is a fourth grade pupil taught by Mrs. Orville Blomenkamp but a student teacher, Lareen Anderson, Bloomfield, had charge at the time.

The question that won for Linda was "Why is a quarter moon called a gibbous moon?" It was submitted in December but Linda received the notification of her prize on her birthday last week.

At the time she submitted the question, the class had been studying the moon and its phases and cycles when the term "gibbous" came up. Linda submitted that question and one other at

New Correspondents for Two Towns

Hoskins and Winside have new news correspondents effective this week. All residents of those communities are asked to call their new correspondents for news to be published in The Herald.

Mrs. Edward Oswald is the new correspondent at Winside. Her telephone number is 296-4872. She is a former correspondent for The Herald, having covered the Carroll community before moving to Winside.

At Hoskins, Mrs. Gene Wagner (the former Marilyn Monk of Winside) is the new correspondent, phone 585-4217. She gave assistance in many ways to news-gathering activities while in Winside.

The two take the place of two longtime Herald correspondents, Mrs. J. E. Pingel, Hoskins, and Gladys Reichert, Winside. Both have served in two positions, Miss Reichert as elementary teacher and correspondent and Mrs. Pingel in the elementary school lunch program and correspondent. The new correspondents hold no outside jobs and will be able to devote more time to news-gathering.

Both Mrs. Wagner and Mrs. Oswald will appreciate assistance of the people of their respective communities in getting news of clubs and organizations. In addition, they want to find out which rural and town residents wish to be contacted weekly for news and which will call in when they do have news.

If there is any news event that should be covered with photographs, call Mrs. Oswald or Mrs. Wagner and they will call The Herald. In that way, they will get credit for the news items and since correspondents get paid by the space they can fill in the paper, every bit of help will be appreciated.

For the next week or two the new Hoskins and Winside correspondents will be getting used to their jobs. They will try their best and they hope readers in their communities will understand their problems and help them in every way possible to get in as much news as possible as early as possible and as accurately as possible from now on.

Concord Firemen Get Third Weekend Alarm

Concord and Dixon firemen were called out to a fire Sunday, Mar. 17. They had made two other runs the previous day, making three in the weekend period.

The Sunday fire was on the Dick Hanson land farmed by Bud Hanson two miles southeast of Concord. Grass and weeds along North Logan Creek were afire.

Cause of the fire is thought to be some feed dumped into the gully ten days previously. The feed had been hauled from the Evert Johnson farm where a barn had burned down. Apparently the strong wind Sunday fanned a smoldering bit into a fire.

Concord and Dixon firemen spent about 45 minutes at the fire, making sure all the fire was out before leaving the windswept scene.

COAST-TO-COAST STORES

217 Main St. MEL and RUTH ELOFSON Ph. 375-3360

Schwartz Benefit Tilt Proves to Be Exciting

That was a crackling good basketball game Wednesday night when the Stars of Behlen played the Wayne Stars at Rice Gym and a notable feature was that there were two winners.

The Behlen squad, composed mostly of past and present Nebraska U. players, won the game with an astronomical score of 104 to 94. The other winner was the Keith Schwartz family. A capacity crowd swelled proceeds from advanced ticket sales for benefit of the fund which will aid the family of the late Keith Schwartz, who died after a long battle with cancer.

Spectators wondered after the game what might have happened had both teams been practicing for months. As it was, they put on a spectacle of fancy shooting and ball handling which proved that even the "oldtimers"—some approaching 30—still had the touch.

The Behlen team seldom has a chance to practice since the players live in several cities and get together only for games (they played about 15 this year). The Wayne Stars were mainly former Wayne State players. Each team had two who played collegiate basketball this season—Bob Strathman and Ron Hintz of WSC for the Wayne Stars; Stu Lantz and Tom Baack of Nebraska for the Behlens.

With all the talent there was bound to be entertaining basketball, and young players could have learned considerable from watching their tricks. They muffed a few plays, understandable from limited practice, but both teams pulled off a few fast breaks that would have made even Wayne State's fancy 1968 team envious.

The smoothest performance of all belonged to WSC Coach Dave Gunther, who showed why he was an All-Big 10 player at Iowa U. and later a four-year professional. He topped all scoring with 26 points, including some classic hook shots and a lot of deft tip-ins.

Lantz and Baack demonstrated Big 8 caliber style en route to 24 and 23 points. They were demons on rebounding too.

The game kept fans on edge all the way. While the Behlens

COACH DAVE GUNTHER showed he can play basketball with ability comparable to his coaching in the Keith Schwartz benefit game. Here he's hooking one in, as he led all players in scoring. No. 11 for Behlens is Willie Fitzpatrick. That's Tom Baack going up to try to stop Gunther on the right.

dominated the score, Wayne Stars had leads frequently in the first half but trailed at intermission, 54-47. Gunther contributed nine field goals to the first-half battle.

Wayne pulled up to a couple of ties at mid-second half, the last time at 79-all. And with 1:40 to go, they trailed by only 96-60.

Actually Wayne out-performed the Behlens from the field, with 43 goals to 39. At the free throw line, however, it was something else as the visitors swished 26 of 30 while Wayne had only 12 chances and made 8.

The capacity crowd expressed its appreciation to both teams with a long, lusty ovation. Both teams joined in applause after Bill Denkiniger read a letter of gratitude from Mrs. Schwartz.

Thus basketball enjoyed one of its finest hours in Wayne.

Jacobsen Leads Winside Cagers

Randy Jacobsen led the Winside Wildcats the past basketball season in most categories. Of the various compilations made by Coach Jim Connick, Jacobsen led in eight out of eleven.

8 of 21 for 37%; and Jeffrey, 1 of 5 for 20 per cent.

WSC Swimmers End Another Big Year

Wayne State College swimmers under the coaching of Ralph Barclay assisted by Bob Davis have completed another good year and are looking for an even better season ahead. The Wildcats again won the NCC championship and were also NAAIA district champions.

Final competition was in the 63-team national NAAIA finale at St. Cloud, Minn., last week. The local school had three relay teams and three individual entries taking part.

Two relay teams placed among the top twelve, which is all the placings given so far. The team itself finished around 20th among the 63 teams taking part.

A 400-yard freestyle team of Jim Brown, Pat Driscoll, Russ Nyberg and Bob Meredith was among the teams placing. The 800-yard freestyle team of Driscoll, Mike Maulick, Nyberg and Meredith also placed.

Failing to place was the 400-yard medley relay team of Brown, Nyberg, Driscoll and Dave Noyes. Competing as individuals and not finishing in the top 12 were Rich Brown in diving and Russ Nyberg and Jim Brown in individual events.

Wayne State will have most of its team back next year. In addition, several top swimmers and divers from Nebraska and adjoining states have indicated they will enter school this coming fall.

'Pollution Problems Going Up' Farm Areas to Blame?

"Pollution problems increase as populations grow and become concentrated in urban areas—at the same time there is an increasing need for water. This then makes the quality of our environment a major concern of public minded people," according to Dr. George Smith, guest speaker at the recent Annual Meeting of the N.E. Nebraska Experimental Farm Association.

Dr. Smith went on to say that, "Streams have long served as waste disposal systems. With the growth in population, stream pollution is becoming serious in some areas. Many streams are becoming unfit for recreational purposes. The quality of water for domestic use has declined and the cost of treating water to make it safe and palatable has increased greatly in recent years."

Most of the emphasis on improving water quality comes from large cities. General statements (without proof) are frequently made that farm fertilizers and feedlot wastes are major causes of nitrates and phosphates in water supplies. These nutrients, the same as are required for the growth of farm crops, are responsible for eutrophication (plant growth in lakes) and methemoglobinemia (blue babies from nitrate). There is no question that agriculture contributes some of these nutrients to both surface and ground water. However, "there is insufficient information on the amount that comes from municipal and industrial wastes and from natural sources such as: rainfall, dust, and soil humus decomposition," according to Dr. Smith. Without this knowledge we do not know if fertilization has greatly increased the amount of nitrates in water. We have no basis for comparison.

Recent studies at the Missouri Experiment Station indicate that many rural wells contain sufficient nitrate to be of concern in livestock production—but that nitrate appears to be only in improperly constructed wells. Livestock appear to be a more important source of nitrate in water than are farm fertilizers. The nutrients in drainage from unfertilized fertile soil is sufficient for plant growth in lakes. U.U. Alexander, University of Nebraska N.E. Station Agronomist, reported on leaching of nitrogen from the soil and his findings indicate fertilizers are not the danger many people think because they do not leach in many of our soils.

In Dr. Smith's comments on phosphorus he said that, "Phosphorus is held firmly in most soils and if erosion is controlled, fertilizer phosphate would not be an important source of this element in water. Present evidence indicates that municipal and industrial wastes, particularly those containing detergents, are a main source of phosphate in water."

In conclusion, Dr. Smith said, "As the demand for cleaner water grows, there is need for information on the source of contaminants. Without these factors the blame for pollution can be passed to the 'other fellow' who has no proof of innocence." "Today 'agriculture' is the 'other fellow' much too often.

 would have to be moved in order to follow his (Hayes) plan and did not believe the exorbitant amount quoted by the architect for the moving was correct.
 Hayes further claimed that stair removal costs were estimated at $60,000 by the architect and that with his (Hayes) plan this would not be necessary.
 When pressed for the name of the third party who arranged the meeting between the instructors and the board members, Evans named former Governor Frank B. Morrison as the party.
 Curb explained to a Herald reporter Friday night how the meeting was arranged. He said that several of the faculty felt that something should be done about the various situations and wanted to contact someone regarding them. Since Evans had been on Morrison's gubernatorial staff and was acquainted with him, three of the men (Curb, Barlow and Evans) visited the former governor at his office. It was at this conference that the teachers and the former governor mutually agreed to call for an informal, confidential meeting with one or two of the Normal Board, Curb said.

that the problem would solve itself when all the facts were known.
 Curb said that some "long term adjustments and changes" might be appropriate. He said that the Normal Board system was far from ideal, and that a "chain of command" system existed whereby everyone was entitled to express those underneath him.
 He said that perhaps Normal Board members should be elected.

 personell and Dr. W.A. Brandenburg told him that a figure of ten percent had been recognized as normal in past years.
 When asked why there seemed to be more "trouble" at Wayne than at the other three normal schools Dr. Brown said that he felt Dr. Brandenburg had "tried to lean over backwards to hire faculty that are more liberal than those accepted at the other schools," and offer a "broader thinking faculty and thereby a broader education."
 Knapp further stated that he felt "that freedom really exists at Wayne for the faculty," and that it is this freedom that is causing problems.
 Yale Kessler, Wayne State Library chief was called upon regarding the library expansion plans. The college has been accused of disregarding the wishes of the library staff on the design and location of the addition and in some instances to the "fired" men.
 Jerry Keefe, student senator and moderator of the forum, read a resolution passed by the student senate the previous night. In part it read: "...Be it resolved, that we, the voice of the student body, with the written consent of the four instructors concerned, earnestly request that President W. A. Brandenburg inform the students of the explicit reasons for the termination of employment of these four instructors."
 Brandenburg had adhered to Normal Board and AAUP policy which says that no reasons are required for termination of employment of faculty during their probationary years—the first four.

Regarding this, Curb said that although the president had "complied with the letter of the law," he (Curb) felt that these terminations comprised a "very, very serious violation of individual freedoms."
 When asked by the students what solutions might be found Hayes said he felt there was no definite solution. He believed for the city, playgrounds had 40 votes for good to excellent, fields for baseball and other sports 39 and recreation for children 25. All others, recreation for teenagers, adults and older people and public meeting places for teenagers' social activities rated 14 or below, the lowest being recreational opportunities for older people with only 7 votes.

Schwartz Benefit Draws

Around 1,500 attended the Keith Schwartz benefit basketball game at the Rice Auditorium Wednesday night. In addition, many tickets were purchased by people who could not or would not attend the game.
 Final reports are not in since some of the ticket sellers were from a distance and had not turned in their money or tickets. It is expected a financial statement can be made next week.
 There were fans from Ponca, Hoskins, Allen, Randolph, West Point and other towns closer present for the game. Big attraction was Behlen's Stars from Columbus, a team made up of former University of Nebraska cagers for the most part with some from Creighton, Peru State and Kansas State also.
 But the Wayne All-Stars had some attractions of their own. Dave Gunther, coach of the local team, showed why he was an All Big-Ten Conference choice while at Iowa University, leading the teams in scoring. Denny Neubrand, out of WSC one year, Ron Hintz and Bob Strathman, out this year, and Ron Jones, Ken Dahl and Larry Buhl, WSC graduates a few years ago, plus Dick Nelson of Nebraska Wesleyan, now WBS coach, Dick Muma and Jim Christensen.
 Easily the most popular players for Behlens were the clever

 Anna Marie Kreifels, area extension agent at Concord, reports "Homemakers in a Business World" is the theme for the series. She points out that family living is "big business" and the homemaker shares the responsibility of keeping family business affairs in order.
 Running the family business efficiently requires knowledge and cooperation among husband, wife and older children, the agent said. The training on "Business Facts for Homemakers" will include writing business letters, business at post office or bank and handling of checks, bank accounts and deposits.

'Guys and Dolls' Highlight of Week

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Mar. 28, 29 and 30, at 7:30 p.m. in the Wayne High School lecture hall the music department will present one of Broadway's funnest musicals, "Guys and Dolls," the highlight of the week in entertainment.
 Joseph Unzieker is directing the production with Don Schumacher in charge of the orchestra. James Forster, Norfolk, is handling choreography for the production.
 There are two love stories, equally wacky. The first involves Nathan Detroit (Tom Ilavener), a small but hotshot operator, proprietor of "the oldest established permanent floating crap game in New York," and Miss Adelaide, a night club canary (Debi Armbruster).
 The other romance involves Sky Masterson (Hob Barr), a big time free-living, free-loving plunger—a night hawk—and Sarah Brown (Mary Stevenson), a Salvation Army lass, head of the gallant but run-down Save-A-Soul Mission.
 Secondary characters are: Propman, Jon Merrilman; Nicely-Nicely Johnson, Dennis Elmer; Benny Southstreet, Doug Stanley; Arvide Abernathy, Bob Penn; Harry the Horse, Ron Seymour; Lt. Brannigan, Larry Magnuson; Angie the Ox, Mike Baler; Joey Biltmore, Rocco Marr; Mimi, Cindy Meyer; Gen. Matilda R. Cartwright, Jana Reez; and Big Julie, Steve Carman.
 Tickets are now on sale. Reservations may be made by calling the high school.

Sewer Project Carroll Topic

The sewer project is bound to be mentioned at a meeting in Carroll Monday, Mar. 25, at 7 p.m. in Home Cafe. Carroll Community Club is holding its monthly meeting.
 There is considerable interest in the sewer project. Discussion of it from various angles took place at the February meeting of the club and there has been a growing amount of interest since then.
 There will also be other business matters brought up. Farmers are reminded that the club is for the entire community and they are invited to be present for this session.
 Originally the meeting was scheduled earlier. It was moved back because of the activity of everyone in the community working on the Charmi Milligan benefit.

NEW MARK. A new mark on the Wayne skyline is showing up these days as workmen apply the finishing touches to the paint job at Feeders Elevator. The new flaking mill stands 60 feet high to the top of the bins, then extends another 40 feet above that. A painter is barely visible among the platforms at the top of the tower. The company will carry feeds for cattle, hogs, dairying and poultry and related items. The Purina sign will be painted on the elevator soon, Manager Chic Moline said.

The Service Station

Larry Lambing, son of Mrs. Hazel Lambing, Wayne, has been having some interesting experiences aboard the landing ship, medium rocket, USS Clarion River. He is now in Japan, the ship being in drydock at Yokosuka. He writes that the ship was fired upon by the Viet Cong but was not hit so he didn't have any repairs to make at sea. The Clarion River was written up in a newspaper, being credited with deferring VC attacks on two Vietnam cities, Tuy Hoa and Song Can, "with highly effective accurate firepower." On the fifth trip to the Vietnamese coastline the ship reported 38 confirmed kills in a 10-day period in addition to destroying a Browning automatic rifle position and damaging nine structures. The ship used 8,000 rockets and 300 rounds of 5-inch shells in a ten-day period and natives reported the Viet Cong turned down a request of local residents for rice, declining to bring in rice for the Long Binh District out of fear of "the ship that roars." From all the rockets and shells, it is easy to see where the name comes from. Larry is shown in this picture aboard his ship in Hong Kong harbor. His address is: SFM-3 Larry D. Lambing, II Div., USS Clarion River (LSMR-409), PPO San Francisco, Calif. 96601.

Pfc. Billy Dibbert, son of Mrs. Ruth Lewis, Randolph, has been assigned as a mortarman with the First Infantry Division near Quan Loi, Vietnam. He has been there since the last of February. His father, Rudolph Dibbert, lives at Osmond.

Sp-4 Dean Skokan, son of Mrs. Marie Skokan, Wayne, is in Germany. He was promoted recently to the new rank. His address at Rheinefeld, Germany, is: Sp-4 Dean Skokan, Hq., Co., 317 Engr. Bn., APO New York, N. Y. 09757.

The two sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Hochstein, Wayne, managed to get home at the same time. Ron came from Ft. Lee, Va., and Roger from Van Nuys, Calif. Ronald left Mar. 21 for Vietnam. He has been in the service seven months, the last few at stock control and accounting specialist school in advanced infantry training at Ft. Lee. Prior to that he had been at Ft. Benning, Ga. for basic. His address is: Sp-4 Ronald J. Hochstein, RA 56543891, 22 AG Repl. Bn., APO San Francisco, Calif. 96377. (He's on the left in the picture). Roger has been in intelligence work with the Fourth Missile Battalion, 65th Artillery, Van Nuys, and has been in the service 13 months. He leaves the last of April for Frankfurt, Germany, where he is assigned work as a personnel specialist. His address will be: Sp-4 Roger A. Hochstein, RA 16980989, 21 AG Repl. Bn., APO New York, N. Y. 09757. Note that both boys are in replacement battalions, one in the 21st and the other in the 22nd but they will be around the world from each other.

Storekeeper Seaman Robert Haddock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Haddock, Pilger, is with the Third Naval Construction Brigade, in Vietnam. The brigade supports naval mobile construction battalions with construction supplies through South Vietnam, building and maintaining roads, bridges and living quarters for US and allied ground forces.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Forbes, Coleridge, have information from the army reporting the promotion of their son, Ralph, to corporal Mar. 15. He is attending non-commissioned officer school at Ft. Sill, Okla., following completion of advanced infantry training. His new address is: Cpl. Ralph H. Forbes, RA 16982872, Btry. A, ACL Bn., Class 6-68, 3rd Plt., Ft. Sill, Okla. 73503.

The army also sends word on the promotion and bestowing of honors on Bob Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orin Peterson, Wayne. His wife is the former Sandra Kay, Wakefield. He was named "distinguished graduate" and received a plaque for his honor. Four other members of his class had smaller plaques

Pvt. E-2 Lyle Carlson was met in Omaha Mar. 15 by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Carlson, Concord. He will be home on leave until Mar. 29, when he will report to Ft. Benning, Ga., for non-commissioned officers school, having been chosen for a basic combat leaders course. He will be a corporal as soon as he gets to Ft. Benning and a sergeant after he finishes his 12 weeks course there. Lyle has been in the army since October, taking basic training at Ft. Lewis, Wash., and advanced infantry training at Ft. Polk, La., having come home from the latter base.

awarded them for finishing right behind Bob. His distinguished graduate honors include a distinguished graduate diploma, his picture taken, information put out on the local radio station, a citation on his record, the plaque and an army aircraft maintenance distinguished grad scroll. He is at Ft. Rucker, Ala., but is to have a new address soon. His promotion is to private first class. He also became a father Mar. 19 so this has been a big month for him. He expects a new address soon so his present address is not being printed.

Capt. Bernard Hansen, son of Mrs. Iler Hansen, Winside, arrived home the past week from Vietnam and came to visit his mother and other relatives before leaving for further assignment. No details on his work were learned.

Pvt. Ronald Haase, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vic Haase, Wayne, has been transferred from Ft. Ord, Calif., to Ft. Ben Harrison, Ind., after completing one phase of finance school. He is in another six-week training period in finance now and his address is:

Pvt. E-2 Ronald A. Haase, US 56544242, P/DSC, No. 66, USA Finance School, Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind. 46216. Ron entered the service through the draft Oct. 24, took basic at Ft. Lewis, Wash., and then went to Ft. Ord.

The Navy recruiter at Norfolk says Seabees are needed. Those accepted for work go in as petty officer, first, second or third class, depending on construction experience. Recruits up to 40 years of age will be accepted. He has information for those interested.

Randall Schneider, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Schneider, Pilger, is an equipment operator in construction with Naval Mobile Construction Battalion 53 at Camp Adenir, Danang, Vietnam. The unit has Davisville, R. F., as its home port and is on the first deployment to Vietnam, supporting forces in the five northern provinces with large and small scale construction. Randall's outfit is also engaged in a civic action program designed to assist the Vietnamese people in completing self-help projects, such as building of wells, culverts, bridges and schools. Equipment and materials for the projects are made available through the marine corps reserve civic action fund. Marines in Vietnam provide the know-how and guide the Vietnamese people in carrying out projects.

Three youths from Dixon County are scheduled to leave Tuesday, Mar. 26, for Omaha where they will be inducted into the armed forces, according to Marian Brennan, clerk of the selective service board of that county.

Among those leaving is one young man from this area, Jerry K. Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Turner, Wakefield. The Turners live on a farm about four miles north and three miles west of Wakefield.

Other boys scheduled to leave are outside this immediate territory. They are Mike J. Rooney, Waterbury, and Michael E. Fluett, Newcastle.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

It is the duty of an editorial writer to search all available facts before he sits down to write. From this basis the writer should be able to give a clear picture of important topics.

You may not agree with an editorial—but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

Amblyopia and Dyslexia

Does your child have amblyopia or dyslexia? A lot of children do and if the ones who have them are discovered early in life, they can be helped.

Wayne County is fortunate in having groups doing something about both. Mrs. Henry Ley is spearheading a drive to do something about the dyslexia problem while Willis Johnson is chairman of the Lions Club committee preparing an amblyopia detection campaign.

All right, let's consider what they are. In simple language, dyslexia is a specific language disability. A child with this problem, for some reason, often cannot tell left from right, up from down, tomorrow from yesterday or other such differences.

The child with this problem may transpose letters and even words. He may write "saw" and mean "was" or he may have other writing troubles. He is often considered incapable and put in the "slow learner" category.

It's a tragic situation because these children are not "slow" but do have a problem which they cannot help. However, if detected early, they can be helped, and that is what a Specific Language Disability group plans to do here—find a way to detect this trouble in children in the area and then offer them training under skilled teachers to help them realize the potential they possess instead of relegating them to a slow learner class which has to affect them the rest of their lives.

Amblyopia is an easier problem to solve. It involves children who have a "lazy eye." This eye just doesn't do the work, allowing the other eye to become stronger while the weak eye grows weaker.

Lions Clubs, always putting slight conservation as the No. 1 project any year, aim to help out by giving free detection kits to families with children in the 4-6 age group. Thus a mother or father can determine with a simple kit whether their child has a problem. If they do, they can be helped now, whereas if the trouble is ignored, it will be with the affected ones for a lifetime.

Those with amblyopia must be detected early so help can be given them. This help comes in the form of strengthening the weak eye. They soon have equal vision in both eyes and then face a lifetime of no problems.

You have seen the cases where one eye does not follow the other. That person could have been helped had amblyopia been understood years ago. Now it is too late for them, but it is not too late for youngsters under the age of six who have their defective vision discovered early enough.

The descriptions of dyslexia and amblyopia here are overly simplified. The words themselves are enough to frighten one, but neither of these are sicknesses, and are not something to be ashamed of nor are they something to fear. What they really are, you should realize by now, are two handicaps that need to be found early in life so those affected can overcome the handicaps and realize their full potentials of mind and sight.

You should be interested in the work of the groups on amblyopia and dyslexia, especially if you have children or grandchildren. Make it a point to find out what you can do to assist in the programs being offered in Wayne County for the benefit of area youngsters.

Just looking at a child is no way to detect either problem. Find out how to detect them. Be grateful that more miracles have occurred to make it possible to find them early and do something about them before it is too late. It's the least you can do for some kids who are too young to know their problem and unable to do anything about it themselves even if they do realize something is wrong.—CEG.

Space and Politics

More than once since coming to Wayne, "news releases" have been handed to this newspaper's staff by people running for public office. They take a stand on one issue or another, their "statements" running from a few paragraphs to a few pages.

The desire to have their opinions published in this paper confirms the power of the printed page. Whether it is intended to be flattery or not, it has to be considered that way by newspapermen.

However, The Herald has a space problem. Very seldom is an edition published but what some real news items or some pictures have to be left out, either to be omitted completely or held for the next issue. Therefore, space for opinions is limited.

Our letter column is open free of charge and any candidates who wish to take a stand on any situation are welcome to use the letters to make statements. The requirements are simple: Sign your name, state clearly of personalities and libel and keep your letter under 200 words (this latter because we hate to "edit" letters for fear the writer's meaning will be lost).

It is realized that when a candidate for governor or president takes a stand it is news in the dailies. However, they have unlimited space, use a staff to "edit" statements and even have political experts to handle things in expert fashion. Contrast this with the limited staff of newspapermen of this size, newspapermen handling everything from diapers to disasters, sit-outs to socials, campaigns to catastrophes, wrecks to relays, medicine to massacres, police beats to deadbeats, politics to purse-snatchers, and you name it, we write about it.

So if you have views, feel free to write us a letter. If you're running for office, we would like your advertising, but we'll also print your opinions if you can hold down the volume.

Don't accuse us of "suppressing" or "misusing" freedom of press or speech. We just happen to be in a position where we know what our problems are. If you think you are the first one who ever had an opinion turned down as a news item with the suggestion that you write a letter and sign your name to it instead, you have another think-a-coming.

And we could all use another think most of the time.—CEG.

Taken for Granted

Boy, were there gripes aplenty recently in Wayne! One day the electricity had been off for over 15 minutes! Another day the telephone system was not working properly!

The hardships we frontier people have to put up with! Incredible!

Do we take these things for granted, electricity and telephone service? You bet your sweet life we do. We don't know all of the work that is involved to insure our reliable electric service and our tremendous low-priced coast-to-coast or around-the-world telephone service but we do know that when we throw a switch or lift a receiver we expect and almost always get instantaneous response. When we don't, we bellyache.

Grandma wouldn't have griped about the electric power being off 15 minutes. She had a wood-burning stove with a hot-water tank on the side. She had a cellar to keep things cool in—no refrigerator. She heated irons on the stove to press clothes. She withstood hot weather by fanning herself with a fan the mortuary gave out—no air conditioning. She read by kerosene lamp.

Grandpa wouldn't have complained. He milked by hand. He separated milk and cream with a turning motion that had to be steady. He helped grandma do the washing with a hand-operated machine and wringer to match. He worked by lantern light finishing up the chores at night. Grandpa didn't even have an electric radio but he did know the wonders of a record player wound by hand.

As for telephones, grandma and grandpa wouldn't have griped if they had telephone troubles a few hours a year—and we go years without trouble most of the time. Our grandparents had a crank-type telephone which was handy for "rubbering" and letting the neighbors know who was calling and for awakening everyone with a late night call. But rates were high, service unreliable and long distance calls a convenience saved for emergencies rather than visits, appointments or business.

What a world grandma and grandpa missed. They did not know all of our electronic, electric, gas, space, telephonic and scientific wonders. But, they took for granted the conveniences of their day, few though they were, just as we take for granted the conveniences of our day, multitudinous as they are.

Maybe each year we should have our electricity shut off for an hour. Perhaps for 60 minutes a year we should have to do without telephone service of any type. Then maybe we would not be so overwrought when we miss out on a little of the taken-for-granted service the electric and telephone utilities provide.

Maybe we should "suffer" a little to appreciate how much we really have to be grateful for.—CEG.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I would like to extend my fullest and sincere thanks to SWAY and all those who made it possible for me to receive your gift of ten dollars. It was truly appreciated and useful as I am now in Boston and the cost of living here seems to be somewhat higher than that of Wayne. Of course, wages are higher here to offset the cost of living but it seems as if someone forgot to tell the Navy about that. However, my higher-ups inform me that that's the virtue of the military pay scale in as much as it remains very stable no matter where the ship goes, a very stable figure guaranteed not to change. My ship, the USS Talbot DEG-4, has been in Boston since February, and will get underway for Gtmo, Cuba, some time in April. Upon returning from Cuba some time this summer we will prepare for a Mediterranean cruise to begin in September and continue for about 6 months.

The Talbot is a new destroyer escort guided missile ship which will be a year old this April. It is designed for anti-aircraft and submarine warfare being home ported at Newport, R. I., with the Hunter-Killer Fleet Destroyer Force Atlantic Fleet. Being small enough to pull into almost any port, it is not unusual to visit many of the islands in the Atlantic. Having guided missile capabilities, there is never a dull moment at sea, keeping a 24-hour day search for any foreign craft on, under or above the sea.

I am a sonar tech., my job being to maintain and operate the sonar gear along with 25 other techs. Having one year and eight months to do on a 4-year hitch, I am looking forward to returning

The illuminations in our block are certainly very fine and perfectly satisfactory to the people, while there is a good deal of kicking about the natural gas used for illuminations in the next block south. Possible the wheels to the motive power are a little old and squeaky. As soon as the big foundry between here and Norfolk is rebuilt by the state, we know of no better place where they could be so well repaired as there. (Hoskins News).

E. B. Henderson, from Tilden, has opened a flour and feed exchange here. Farm Produce may be exchanged for flour and feed. (Winside News).

John F. Sberbahn is very busy at work constructing the large brick smoke stack at the brick yards.

The Herald has been informed that Messrs. Neely and Craven have purchased the oil wagon and line, which they will take charge of next Monday. This firm is one that stands as a guarantee that the oil business will be conducted right and will be handled in a manner satisfactory to the people. The wagon will be in charge of Wm. The Free-Trade, who were all but silenced by the great financial disaster which followed the partial inauguration of their theories in 1893 and who were rendered dumb by the wonderful industrial awakening resultant on the re-establishment of the high Protective Tariff, are once more taking heart and venturing to parade again their economic vagaries. We are told that the country would fare well if she destroyed the great wall which now bars from our shores the pauper goods of Europe and the Orient. Every time this has been tried, prosperity was destroyed and in her place reigned disaster, suffering, beggary and death, and yet there are those who rise in the light of history and preach Free-Trade. A senior class program will be given Apr. 10 at the high school. It will include a vocal solo, two vocal duets, two instrumental solos, a recitation and a humorous farce, "Two Ghosts in White." Admission is 10 cents.

Carroll pays Winside quite a compliment by coming here for two of their teachers in that thriving burg. Besides the principal, Robert Elliot, they have hired Miss Josie Carter, a teacher of experience and who has given entire satisfaction where ever she has taught. The Carroll schools are all right and the grades taught by the Winsiders will be found to excel in everything. (Winside Tribune).

Out of Old Nebraska

1884: Misunderstood' Custer County Receives Prattle

Pioneer Nebraskans apparently never tired of extolling their state, their particular county or their own town. An example is the following letter written by a Colonel James which was published in the Omaha Weekly Bee of Nov. 26, 1884. A copy of this newspaper is now in the library of the Nebraska State Historical Society.

Writing from Sargent, Nov. 18, James declared: "...Custer County has an area of 2,592 miles, and is 54 miles east and west by 48 miles north and south. The principal towns are Broken Bow (the county seat), Westview, Walworth and Sargent."

"Walworth is a new town, with excellent prospects, recently started, 10 miles west of this point but three miles west of the old West Union postoffice, which is to be abolished. Here is a

Concord Boys Learn How to Cook

Eight Concord boys are learning to cook. They are members of a 4-H club that aims to give them training girls usually get in their 4-H clubs. They call themselves the Eight Buffalo Bills. Leaders are Mrs. Richard Rees and Mrs. Walter McAuliffe. Their meetings are held various places, the one last Tuesday night being in the Delmar Holdorf home. Right now they are taking cooking. They baked cookies for an earlier meeting and last week brought cakes (or sample slices of them) to the meeting. They will also learn "groom your room," cleanliness habits, good grooming and other such facets of life usually taken up by the girls' clubs. Meeting two times a month, they schedule demonstrations for each of the sessions. At Tuesday's meeting they showed how they went about making their cakes and discussed what they had done right and might have done wrong. Next meeting they will be cooking again. Coffee cake, cornbread or gingerbread will be the assignment. The boys are in the fourth to seventh grades. They attend school in either Concord or Laurel.

YOUR 1968 Prescription for P E P Extra Profit. THERE'S no such thing as an average farmer. And that's why fertilizer recommendations based on average soil conditions usually miss the mark. This was the thinking that 15 years ago sparked soil scientists at the University of Wisconsin to begin tailoring fertilizer recommendations to a farmer's specific soil conditions, soil conditions and management ability. One of the agronomists Dr. Kermit Berger now, Vice President Marketing at Terra Chemica International Inc. put the idea that led to a group of Midwest farmers. You follow our prescription fertility program based on years of research and you'll grow 100 bu. corn. And what a challenge it was! For the average yield in their area then was only 50 bu. But the farmers who followed the recommendations hit the goal and made more net profit per acre than they had ever made before! Several more years of on farm testing proved the prescription program highly successful. Then the scientists formulated additional prescriptions for plant populations, weed control and other management factors to help farmers break through still higher yield barriers. Based on this work and through the financial assistance of Terra Chemica International Inc. we're now able to make available to you our exclusive Prescription for Extra Profit Program.
