SWAY Honors Three Area Servicemen

Last Monday's SWAY drawing resulted in three more servicemen being awarded checks of $10. Winners of the drawing at the Vet's club were Alan R. Cook, LeRoy Bronzynski, and Monte Pfeil.

After entering the service in June, 1967 and taking his basic training at Ft. Polk, La., Pfc. Cook, Allen, took schooling in helicopter maintenance at Ft. Eustis, Va.

In January he was sent to Vietnam and is presently stationed near Da Nang at a helicopter pad, disassembling aircraft to be sent back to the U.S.

Sp/4 Bronzynski, Winside, who was inducted into the service in June, 1967, was recently home on furlough from October 15 until November 9. He has since been sent to Vietnam and will be there for seven months.

AIC Pfeil, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Pfeil, Norfolk, graduated from Pierce High School in 1966. He underwent basic training at Lackland Air Force Base in Texas and then went to Lowry

Pfc. Alan Cook

Air Force Base, Denver, where he received technical training in munitions.

Stationed in Korea from January until June 2, Pfeil is now spending at least seven weeks in Okinawa before being returned to Korea to resume his duties as a munitions specialist.

Charmi Is Back in Carroll

Last weekend was quite a weekend for little Charmi Milligan. She got to come home at last. And it was quite a homecoming. Charmi was not just happy to see her parents and sisters for the first time for a long while, but she was made even more happy when she got to see the additions to the Milligan household, five of them.

During Charmi's stay in Cincinnati, their dog Tammy gave birth to five puppies. Charmi's mother, Mrs. Edwin Milligan, said she was very anxious to get home to see the puppies.

Charmi has to return to the Shrines Burn Center in about three months and her mother expects the doctors to remove the braces which hold her arms away from her body.

She will be going back to the doctors about every three months for checkups. One of those times she will have the protective coverings removed from her legs, another step toward her full recovery from the burns suffered about six months ago.

Charmi's spirits aren't lagging. She is scheduled to enter the kindergarten this fall.

CHARMI MILLIGAN poses in her new pink dress as each of her sisters tries in her own unique way to capture the reader's attention. Christie is a little bit cautious. Michele is coy and Marci Lynn is confident. Charmi herself is quizzical ("Is that Chas?" It wasn't.)

Marcia Lunz Wins Ak Scholarship

Marcia Lunz, Allen, has been selected as one of 40 Nebraska school teachers for scholarships for post-graduate summer school study. The $150 scholarships are awarded by AK-Sar-Ben and may be used at the college or university of the winner's choice.

Her scholarship will be used for graduate work in drama. She will be part of the Wayne State College theater group performing at the Sioux City Community Theater from June 27 to Aug. 4 under the direction of Dr. Helen Russell, drama professor at WSC.

Miss Lunz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Lunz, taught the past year at Pierce and plans to return there for the next school year. She will teach Spanish, English and speech, and sponsor the speech and drama club and debate squad.

WSC Summer Session Starts June 12

Summer session at Wayne State College begins Wednesday with seven workshops as features in addition to the regular curriculum. Registration is scheduled Wednesday for students not already enrolled by mail, and classes commence Thursday.

First to start among the special courses is the Foreign Affairs Institute on Latin America, opening today and lasting through June 29. It offers six credit hours. The institute faculty includes six visiting lecturers with extensive experience in Latin America and four members of the Wayne State staff.

Two workshops begin June 13, last through July 2—new concepts of mathematics, taught by Dr. Norma Cochran, and teaching composition, taught by Mrs. Mildred Jones.

Also starting with the opening of summer session and lasting all term is the new summer theater workshop, directed by Dr. Helen Russell. This workshop will meet in Sioux City with the Sioux City Community Theater, producing six plays during the summer. The class is offered for either upper division or graduate credit.

The aerospace workshop is set for July 1-23, with lecturers from the Air Force, State Aeronautics Department and college faculty.

The workshop on supervision of student teachers is scheduled July 8-26, with Dr. Morris Anderson and Dr. Lyle Skov in charge.

The music directors workshop, directed by Dr. Benjamin Bernstein, is held in conjunction with Summer Music Camp July 28-August 4.

Rains Are Spotty

The rains finally came. Friday night the skies opened and dumped 1.85 of rain on Wayne. Surrounding communities reported varying amounts. The rains, however, provided an important shot in the arm for crops in the area.

Ralph Watson reported 1.76 on his official gauge four miles north of town, while six miles west only .20 was reported.

Six miles south of Wayne .70 was recorded but reports say there was no rain at all just south of the Altona area.

Fair Sets Barbecue

Vincent Kavanaugh, Allen, will head the Dixon County Fair's barbecue committee this year, Fair Board Secretary Eldred Smith announced Monday night at a meeting of the fair board.

The barbecue is scheduled for Monday night of the three-day show. The plans were made when the board met at the Northeast Station to work out details of the fair scheduled for Aug. 19-21 at Concord. Also on the Monday program will be a horse show and horse judging.

Tuesday will feature a tractor pull and the Browning family musical entertainers.

The Rev. John Erickson, Concord, will head a group of county clergymen who will make plans for a vesper service before the grandstand Sunday, Aug. 18.

This county-wide religious service was started last year as a part of the Centennial celebration and was so well received that fair officials voted to continue it.

Area Men Are Named Nebraska Diplomats

Alan Cramer, Wayne publisher, was one of 133 Nebraskans from 57 communities named to the newly-formed Nebraska Diplomats, an organization formed to help Nebraska strive for industrial and economic growth.

Each Diplomat was presented with medallions and lapel pins as badges of the office.

The Diplomats will work like this: When they travel across the nation on their own business they will make pre-arranged stops for personal calls on the nation's industrial leaders. Each Diplomat is pledged to make three calls the first year and try to convince the industrialists they should consider a move to Nebraska in their next expansion program.

Other area men appointed to the new diplomat corps include Bernard DeLay, C. O. Emrich, Dave Powell and Roy Robertson, all of Norfolk and J. W. Morten, Rod Smith and D. H. Voss, Jr., South Sioux City.

Policemen Attend Fingerprint School

Officers John Redel and Keith Reed of the Wayne Police Department finished a week-long training session on latent fingerprint work in Norfolk Friday.

Another area police officer, Robert E. Mavis of the Nebraska State Patrol, Wakefield, also took part in the course.

The school, sponsored by the State Patrol in cooperation with the FBI, included instruction and practice in locating, photographing, lifting, identifying and processing latent prints.

Participants also received instruction on the handling of latent prints as evidence and court testimony.

James T. Bruder, latent fingerprint expert with the identification division of the FBI in Washington, D. C., instructed the course. He was assisted by State Patrol Sergeant Donald P. Mayhew of Lincoln.

This was the third of a series of the advanced schools being conducted in Nebraska this year. Chief Vern Fairchild and Officer Ron Pennerick are attending the next training session which is being held in Lincoln starting today.

Redel and Reed were presented certificates of completion at the National Guard Armory in Norfolk Friday.

Hoskins Makes Use of Federal Aid, Offer Youngsters Learning, Baseball

Hoskins has taken advantage of federal assistance to schools offering summer classes and recreation in setting up two programs for their youngsters.

Money available under the Title I Program, physical education section, is being used to help finance summer baseball for youngsters eight to 14.

The baseball activities, conducted by Willard Brummels and Jim Behmer, started last Monday and will run for eight weeks. Practice is being held Monday, Wednesday and Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m. Games with area towns may be scheduled.

A five-week summer school running from today until July 12 will offer Hoskins youngsters courses in reading and remedial mathematics.

The summer school is making use of money available under the Title I Program's supplementary aid to elementary education section. Classes will meet from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. Mrs. Jenkins will be in charge of the school and will be assisted by Mrs. Roland Menk.

License Bicycles

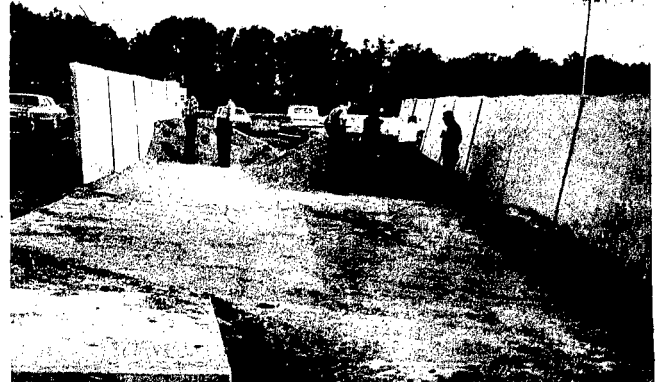

The last few days have been relatively quiet for Wayne police, with only a minor malicious mischief complaint Wednesday.

However, Friday will be the last day for unlicensed city bicycles, Chief Vern Fairchild said.

Following the June 14 deadline city police will start impounding unlicensed bicycles. License must be purchased to release the bike. Costing only 50 cents each, the licenses are excellent means of identification of the bike should it be lost or stolen.

ONE CENTER OF ATTENTION at the tour of Earl Anderson's farm was his feed lot with its semicircular feed trough which is filled mechanically by the rotating arm in the right portion of the picture.

150 Make Feed Tour Friday

"No more scoops, no more pitchforks."

That's how one feeder described Earl Anderson's feed lot operation during the feeders tour Friday night. An estimated 150 people, some from as far away as Leigh and McLean, took part in the tour.

The tour, sponsored by the Northeast Nebraska Feeders Association, made its first stop at Anderson's farm 17 and one-half miles west and one mile north of Wayne. From there it moved to Marvin Dunklau's operation three and one-half miles west of Wayne and the Feeders Elevator Company in Wayne before finishing up at the auditorium with a panel discussion.

The quote by the man pretty well sums up Anderson's operations.

Anderson may not be the biggest cattle feeder in this part of Nebraska, but his feed lot certainly is unique.

Now feeding about 310 cattle, Anderson said he could probably feed up to 1,000 cattle without altering his operation very much. He uses a circular feeder which is filled from a center point in the feed lot.

From twin Harvestores' high moisture corn and corn silage are fed into a roller mill and then mixed with protein. Anger transports the feed up to the middle of the feed lot where a long arm slowly moves back and forth along the semicircular feed trough distributing the feed.

All this is done mechanically and no scooping is needed. Timers can be set so Anderson can get almost any mixture of feed he desires. During the tour he had the timers set so that about 50 pounds of high moisture corn was fed to the cattle. The protein fed in at about seven and a half pounds a minute and the corn silage fed in at 125 pounds a minute.

Anderson now has the cattle in pasture so he has only been feeding them protein for a total of 20 minutes a day, corn silage for 25 minutes a day and high moisture corn for about 25 minutes a day.

The corn silage Anderson is now feeding is quite dry and he had a few people ask him about this. Anderson explained that the silage went into the Harvestore a day before picking corn and that explains its dryness.

Although only feeding about 50 pounds of corn a minute at the present, Anderson said he could increase that to about 125 pounds a minute.

Anderson feeds mostly Angus and Angus Hereford crosses. He has been getting top prices whenever he goes to market, but that explains this statement by saying that blacks will usually outgain other cattle.

Many of those on the tour showed interest in Anderson's fence leading into the feed lot. It is constructed so it will swing away when he wants to drive in on a tractor, but cattle will run into a hot wire if they try to get out.

It cost Anderson about $29 and he said it is much better than hog wire. The cattle became quickly trained to it and Anderson can even leave it open and they will not try to get out.

From Anderson's the tour moved east to Dunklau's feed lot where rate-of-gain tests are being conducted.

Dunklau is now feeding about 166 Charolais and about 750 Herefords on silage, hay and flake feed.

$1 in Santa's MS Letter, 6c Due P.O.

Santa Claus came to Wayne seven months early this year and left at the State National Bank a letter with one dollar in it for the local Multiple Sclerosis drive. Along with getting his dates confused, Santa is also becoming forgetful: six cents postage was due on the letter.

Even at that, Santa's contribution helped boost to $615.78 the amount door-to-door marchers recently collected during Wayne's MS drive.

"We considered the drive a success," said Mrs. Jerry Malcom, co-chairman of Wayne's drive, "especially for our first year." She added that "maybe one of these dollars will find the answer to the MS riddle."

Among the door-to-door marchers was a group of junior girl scouts headed by Mrs. Max Land-

One center of interest at Dunklau's operation was the storage area of the flake feed.

The flake feed is dumped along a long concrete floor and removable concrete slabs are used as walls for the storage bin. The slabs can be lifted out for easy access to the feed, saving many extra trips around to the front of the bin.

A weight guessing contest was held at the Dunklau farm. The men turned in their estimates of the weight of the cattle and then Dunklau used his scale to determine the correct weight. The calves averaged out at 922 pounds.

From Dunklau's the group moved to the Feeders Elevator for a tour of that operation and then to the city auditorium for a panel discussion of hog production techniques.

William F. McQuistan, Pender, president of the Nebraska Duroc Breeders Association, moderated the panel.

Members of the panel who discussed their experiences and practices of hog production were Chuck Beerman, Dakota City; Don Mayberry, Pender; Walt and Harold Huetig, Belden; Jim Gustafson and Bob Hansen, state secretary of the Spotted Poland Association.

Women who counted the money at the bank were Mrs. Bob McLean, Mrs. Ismael Hughes, Mrs. Al Kern, Mrs. Everett Rees, Mrs. Dean Schram, Mrs. Warren Blum and Mrs. Ed Wolke. The treasurer for the campaign was State National Bank and publicity was given by The Wayne Herald and KTCH.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

It is the duty of an editorial writer to search all available facts before he sits down to write. From this basis the writer should be able to give a clear picture of important topics.

You may not agree with an editorial — but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

Why?

The assassination of Sen. Robert Kennedy has the nation gagging with shame and mortification. In the period of mourning that follows, much has been said, and more will be said to answer the universal "Why?" we hear voiced on all sides.

Action, too, will follow. Some of it, perhaps, too hasty. Gun control laws will be pushed through state legislatures as well as through the U. S. Congress.

Again, the American government — and private citizen — will fallaciously believe all the trouble can be stopped by passing a law. They forget one thing — effective enforcement followed by swift justice.

No doubt much of the violence that has swept the United States in recent years could have been prevented had laws been enforced on the national and state levels, in the cities, yes, and even in the homes.

In recent years we have moved to a society of permissiveness, where protestors, if they protest loudly enough, are allowed to say and do as much as they please, all in the name of free speech and freedom of assembly.

Draft card burners have been allowed to go scot-free; arsonists and looters were given free hand in several cities because policemen were instructed to let them alone; all sorts of crimes are committed and the criminal goes free because private citizens do not want to get involved — what's the use? Children rebel against parental authority; college students take over whole universities in an effort to make the powers change their policies.

Everyone is against the "establishment," whatever that is.

Policemen are helpless in many instances because they are not permitted to use force; when a criminal is brought into court, he may go free on the flimsiest of excuses; high courts have released convicted felons because they were not apprised of their rights before they confessed.

In a society such as ours, where violence is condemned verbally and often goes unpunished, what ultimate result can be expected?

In the recent long-range debate between the mayors of New York and Chicago, Mayor Daley caused consternation, nation-wide when he said looters and arsonists who resist officers or refuse to desist should be shot. The do-gooders throw up "their hands and deplored such "brutality," stating that the rioters were not really bad people. Not bad? Ask the families of the people they murdered!

With such tacit approval of violence, is there any reason to expect more killings, more assassinations of public figures, more defiance of law and order, more resistance to authority?

When a child is taught that wrong-doing at home is followed by a swat on the seat, when youth learns that speeding, drinking, violence and thievery is followed by strict, fair punishment, when murderers, arsonists, assassins and traitors learn that retribution can be terrible, then, perhaps, we can have a more sane society.

Our nation's leaders are blaming our problems on moral decay, and they are right. But it is not just moral decay in the ghettos, in the cities, or in any one level of life. The decay exists in high and low levels and all the areas in between.

Much of it is mis-guided goodness that exists in the name of social improvement and betterment of the individual. It still works for moral decay, however, to allow laws to go unenforced and criminals to be free. When these conditions are changed, then we can move to a higher plane.

A Policeman's Job

Perhaps it has been said before. We'll say it again.

The job of a policeman in any town can be made a lot easier with foresight and planning, if the city's fathers will permit it and make the time available.

One such example is the bicycle safety school instructed by Wayne Policeman Pat Hatley each year. This year about 30 students, and small youngsters with bicycles attend this school, learn

Now comes the General Accounting Office of the Federal government with the suggestion that towns and cities give away their names in favor of a number — the zip code. While the idea may appeal to a cold-blooded computer with no sense of romance in its soul, the very thought of it must send chills down the backs of deep-thinking publicity men and Chamber of Commerce representatives.

Can you imagine the titillating thrills which would be generated by tourists passing through our town when they see the sign saying, "Welcome to 68787, home of 68787 State College."

the rules of traffic and safety, then go out to practice those rules.

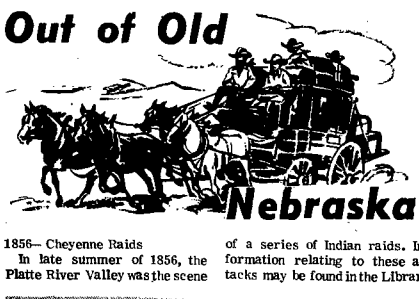

How does it make Pat's job easier? Simple. It makes friends of the youngsters who hail him with a smile and hello; it no doubt has reduced the number of bike accidents he has had to investigate; it has caused the youngsters to be safety-conscious even to the point of telling parents when they goof at the wheel of the family car; all of these make any policeman's job easier.

Or read a publicity blurb from our largest city headed "Come to 68101 where the West Begins?"

How about a highway sign saying, "Welcome to 69101, Home of Buffalo Bill's Scouts Rest Ranch?"

Of course, we'd all know what to do when we are invited to visit Pioneer Village in 68959. Everyone knows where that is.

The idea brings up questions, too. If the Omaha Indians in Macy wanted to use welcome signs telling of their history, would they substitute, "Visit 68039, land of the 69191's?"

of the Nebraska State Historical Society.

In mid-August, 1856, a Cheyenne band encamped near the Republican River had been troubled by Pawnee horse thieves and sent out a war party to make reprisals. Near Fort Kearny, the Cheyenne party saw a mail wagon and sent a few young braves out to request some tobacco.

The mail carrier fired upon them and the Cheyenne fired back. The leaders of the war party punished the braves for returning the fire, but the next morning a detachment of troops from Fort Kearny attacked the Cheyenne party, killing six. The Cheyenne refused to fight and ran away, crossing to the north bank of the Platte.

Angered by the troop's attack the Cheyenne fell upon a small wagon train and killed four people. When the war party returned to their main camp, the Cheyenne leaders were unable to restrain their braves and two war parties went out to avenge the six dead Indians.

The eight men who composed one of the parties attacked a small emigrant party near Fort Kearny, killing one and taking one captive. The other party, composed of thirteen warriors, attacked a party of three men on the north side of the river near O'Fallon's Bluffs, approximately 100 miles west of Fort Kearny. All three were killed. This war party also attacked another group of travelers, killing four and taking a captive, before returning to their main camp.

The Cheyenne leaders were finally able to pacify the young men, and a peace council was held with Indian Agent Thomas Twiss to prevent future outbreaks of this kind.

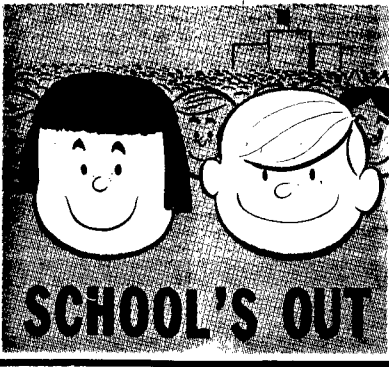

Almon W. Babbitt, one of the twelve victims of the raids, had been a leader in the Mormon emigration to Utah. He was an attorney and had been elected a delegate to Congress from the Mormon settlements in Utah in 1849. He had established "The Council Bluffs Bugle" in 1850 and had been appointed Secretary of Utah Territory during the Congressional session of 1854-1855. He made a business of carrying mail between the Salt Lake settlements and Council Bluffs and was said to have crossed the Plains 29 times.

On August 26, he passed through Florence in a carriage loaded with mail and a considerable amount of money. When Babbitt reached Fort Kearny, he was warned of the Indian trouble, but he was in a hurry and left the fort on September 2, accompanied in his carriage by two men. All three were killed, their property, including the mail and money, was stolen, and the buggy was burned about noon on September 6 near O'Fallon's Bluffs.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

One of Rev. Abernathy's most recent non-violent aims, so he says, is to make sure the dreams of our forefathers comes true.

Since one would have to generalize, whose "dreams" are better suited than George Washington, the "Forefather" of our country?

Washington's farewell address "gave strong warnings against permanent alliance with foreign powers, partiality toward favorite nations, big public debt, large military establishment and devices of 'small, artful, enterprising minority' to control or change government."

The address also said, "...if, in the opinion of the people, the distribution or modification of the constitutional powers be in any particular wrong, let it be corrected by an amendment in the way which the constitution designates. But let there be no change by usurpation; for though this in one instance may be the instrument for good, it is the customary weapon by which free governments are destroyed."

In case the reverend prefers 20th century "dreams," nothing could "follow through" more faithfully than the convictions of Sen. Lyndon Baines Johnson in 1959, while saving the nation from Liberal Republican civil rights.

"If the Federal government can by law tell me whom I shall employ, it can likewise tell my prospective employees for whom they must work. If the law can compel me to employ a Negro, it can compel that Negro to work for me. It might even tell him how long and how hard he would have to work...such a law would do nothing more than enslave a minority."

Of course there are many more "fathers," but I doubt if any ever dreamed anything to equal the plans of Abernathy and his ilk; not even Julius Caesar.

65 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

Wayne Herald, June 18, 1903

News Of The Week:
The Mayor and council began the work Monday of putting in stone crossings on the streets, having received a car load of large stones, six inches thick and 3 x 6 feet in size. They are beauties and best lumber about 'steen to one. A crossing of this kind will cost about $38 per cross, but in less than five years it will be cheaper than plank.

Just cast your eyes upon the handsome statement of the First National Bank in another column of this issue. It's a tip topper.

A new law will go into effect on July 1, which will make it a misdemeanor punishable by a $50 fine or 30 days in the county jail for anyone to furnish a minor with tobacco in any form. There is also a law prohibiting the use of tobacco by minors. It would be the best thing that ever happened to these boys who have just graduated from knee breeches if these laws were strictly enforced. These youngsters, who imagine they are men, seem to think they have reached the pinnacle of fame when they can get a cigarette between their teeth and smoke oozing from their nostrils like a panting locomotive, and the foul language and big long oaths they "tear off" would put the devil to shame. Boy's don't do it. Throw away the "coffin nails" and brace up and be men. — Craigton News.

Ralph Bishop League Openers Sees Midgets Win, Juniors Lose to Norfolk

Wayne Midgets had a blistering second inning as they opened their league play Monday at Norfolk, sending 10 men to the plate and scoring six runs to take the lead they never relinquished. They gathered three more runs to down Norfolk 9 to 5.

Plagued with eight and a third innings of hitless ball and 17 strikeouts, Wayne Juniors suffered a 9 to 2 beating at the hands of Norfolk in the second game. In the opener, pitcher Wayne Helgren led his winning Midgets in the hitting department, gaining a single and two doubles in three times at bat.

Going the full seven innings in the box, he struck out 10 men and gave up only two hits. Norfolk gained two runs in the fifth inning off two singles. The other runs crossed the plate on bases on walks and errors. The Wayne Midgets showed rather consistent hitting ability, gaining two in the first inning, three in the second, two in the fourth, and two in the sixth, while their opponents went hitless but for the pair of singles in the fifth.

In the second game the only men crossing the plate for Wayne Juniors came after a relief pitcher walked the first three men he faced in the fourth inning and first batter Lynn Lessman hit a sacrifice fly to centerfield. Unable to get hits when they needed them, the Wayne Junior team let 11 men die on base. In the seventh inning they had the bases loaded on walks with only one out, but a fly ball to the short stop and a strike out killed the threat.

Having a difficult night on the mound, Wayne pitchers Wacker and Eynon gave up 11 hits in the team's losing effort.

Wayne Nine Falters at Lawton, 5-0; Bounce Back Over Whiting Team 8-4

The Wayne baseball team got off to a faltering start in the Northeast Nebraska League play May 30 when they lost their first game of the season to Lawton, Ia., 5 to 0.

Sharp pitching by Lawton's Ordt kept Wayne base runners from getting past second base. Ordt struck out a total of 17 men and handled the fifth and seventh innings by himself when he struck out every man facing him.

Wayne managed only five hits at 31 at bats, while Lawton players gathered 11 hits in 37 times at the plate.

Meyer, who pitched six innings before being relieved by Godden, was the losing pitcher.

Wayne fared better when they journeyed to Whiting, Ia. Sunday, beating Whiting 8 to 4.

Wayne got off to a fast start in the first inning and Whiting was caught off guard. The first time at bat Wayne took advantage of three bases on balls, two sacrifice flies, two errors and a single by pitcher Goeden to score two men.

Their second time up resulted in three more runs and they found themselves leading 5 to 0. Whiting was unable to score until the fifth inning when Goeden gave up three consecutive singles before ending the inning with a strikeout.

Whiting's other two scores came in the seventh inning when, with two men out, a base on balls and three errors proved costly. A ninth inning threat, a lead-off double by Whiting's second base-son hitless and scoreless for the next three innings. Wayne added six more hits and eight runs while allowing their opponents four more hits and four more runs. Three of the runs came in the bottom of the eighth off a homer by Anderson and one came off Gable's seventh inning round trip.

Winning pitcher Tomjack gave up only five hits while racking up ten strike outs.

Losing pitcher Anderson gave up 12 hits and struck out eight. Leading hitter behind Wayne's Tomjack was Don Burns. He connected for three singles but managed to get on base all six times at bat, crossing the plate each time.

Wayne Trips Emerson

Holding their opponents toothy one run in the third inning, Wayne Pony League trounced Emerson 7 to 1.

Don Mau pitched for the 14 to 15 year old youngsters as he held Emerson to its one hit in the game. He and Todd Hornhoft helped out in the hitting department by getting two for three and two for four.

Wayne Trounces Former Champs

Unconcerned with last year's record, the Wayne baseball team shellacked Emerson 15 to 7 in their third game of the season.

Emerson was champion of the league last year but Wayne didn't let that bother them as they racked up 12 hits off Emerson's Anderson, including two homeruns and a double by leading hitter Lynn Tomjack.

Emerson had its chance at the fence as Anderson and left fielder Gable connected for round trips.

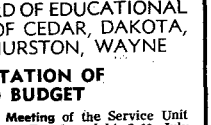

Wayne set a fast pace as they scored two runs the first time at bat. Burns got on with a single and with two out Tomjack connected for his first home run. Emerson came back for one run on two singles and two errors.

After three straight outs in the second inning, Wayne gave up the lead when Emerson scored two runs on a walk, an error and a single.

But it was the third inning that was decisive as Wayne sent 10 men to the plate. Emerson's Anderson ended the spree with three straight strike outs, but not before Wayne drew three walks and connected for three singles and a double to take the lead at 7 to 3.

Wayne continued to roll up hits and runs as they held Emerson hitless and scoreless for the next three innings. Wayne added six more hits and eight runs while allowing their opponents four more hits and four more runs. Three of the runs came in the bottom of the eighth off a homer by Anderson and one came off Gable's seventh inning round trip.

Keep It Beautiful

If America hired people for the job, it would take the largest sort of army to keep our country free of litter. But there's no need to hire anyone. It's a job we can do for ourselves. All of us. Every family that spreads a picnic lunch. Every boatman who cruises the lakes and waterways. Every motorist who uses our roads and highways.

It is the pleasure of the U. S. Brewers Association each year to give its fullest support to the Keep America Beautiful Campaign. Remember Every Litter Bit Hurts This is our land. Let's treat it right.

Carroll Bible School Ends Friday; Youngsters Learn About Young Jesus

Bible school ended Friday for youngsters of Carroll's United Methodist Church when the mothers attended an afternoon display of the children's projects and had lunch with the children.

The one-week session began Monday and various themes guided the youngsters in their activities.

The 24 children in the kindergarten and pre-kindergarten class had as their theme "God's Plan for Families." An interesting project they made consisted of colored clay replicas of animals and people which were placed about a cardboard house representing Jesus' early home.

Other themes which guided the youngsters were "The World of Differences," "God's World Wide Family," and "Conflict and Cooperation."

Teachers during the school were Mrs. Don Harmer, Mrs. Don Harmer and Mrs. Wayne Ker-stine, kindergarten and pre-kindergarten; Mrs. Willis Lage and Mrs. Delmer Eddle, first and second; Mrs. Frank Krov and Mrs. Gene Rethwisch, third and fourth; Mrs. Robert Johnson and Mrs. Gordon Davis, fifth and sixth.

This year's Bible school is especially significant to Carroll people, for Rev. John Craig will be leaving their community soon. He gave his last sermon Sunday.

Information about where Rev. Craig was going or who would replace him was unavailable.

"Back home in Tennessee I've got as many relatives as a bush rabbit, yet nobody flew a fit over me going to Hollywood. But I was as nervous as a long-tailed cat in a room full of rocking chairs."

This is how Ernest Jennings Ford tells about his first trip to Hollywood where, in using the vernacular of show people, he became one of the "hottest pieces of property" in the entertainment field.

Tennessee Ernie Ford still thinks of himself as a country boy. "I'm just a simple pea picker," he continues to insist.

Anyway, he is the most famous pea picker in the country. He is responsible for introducing a satiric sophistication to hill country wit. He refused to carry out a "Cousin Ernie" or "Toby" style wearing country clothes, wearing a red wig, and having a blacked-out front tooth. Ernie has one of the largest audiences on radio and television today and the records of his songs sell in the millions.

As a recording artist he is unsurpassed. The sale of Ernie's religion albums alone recently shot over the 12,000,000 mark, making him by far the greatest religious album seller in the world. His appreciation for religious music inspired him years ago to close every television performance with a hymn—a tradition which he still maintains.

Never to be forgotten is his recording of "16 Tons" shortly after breaking into radio, which, at that time was to be the fastest and biggest seller in the history of the record business. "16 Tons" sold 1,000,000 copies within three weeks and went on to sell 2,000,000 in nine weeks. The original has long passed the 4,000,000 mark.

"Man alive!" Ernie explained in his Tennessee drawl, on one program after his guest singer finished. "When that gal gets through singin' it's too wet to plough!"

In private life Ernie Ford is as easy going as an old hound dog. He explains it this way. "I can sit back as contented as a June bug in a barrel of mash. Each time a check comes in it gives me the same feeling it used to do in hanging up another ham in the smokehouse."

Irrespective of this man's humor about his farming background he is still a farmer at heart, and an active one, too.

It is a fact that Ernie's experience does actually go back to helping his grandfather farm with oxen back in Tennessee. And that was one of his first desires — to own some land — after he made his first money.

"And when I bought my Ranch I wasn't much further along than grandpappy," Ernie explained. He hesitated, grinned, and added, "You'll notice how I emphasized the word ranch for out here in California everyone who owns two acres or more, and a cow or two, calls it a ranch."

After getting some money in the bank Ernie did considerable traveling around looking for a small farm. Not one already built into the category of a model show-off farm, like so many Hollywood stars owned, but rather one that he could use his own ingenuity in building up.

Up in north of San Francisco he found just what he was looking for. It was a 540-acre farm. "Just as soon as I saw it I knew it was what I wanted," Ernie said. "It was rolling country like my Tennessee and it had lots of trees and plenty of water."

"When I started to wreck an old shed," continued Ernie, "a big old pack rat came out and looked me straight in the eye and said, 'Old Ern, you go back to Tennessee and leave us alone,' but we went right on improving the place." Then in a serious mood he added, "I've always wanted to build up a herd of Hereford cattle and this was an ideal place — climate, pasture, shelter and an abundance of water."

It was Ernie's idea to harness one of the springs for irrigation, and to use another to supply water to the house and barn. To show Ernie was a good neighbor, and after arranging to have an abundance of water, he placed a water hydrant out by the public road for neighbors to use as well as to serve in case a fire broke out in the area.

"When I was a youngster on the farm we didn't have all this mechanized equipment," Ernie explained. "I remember one mule that pulled a five-foot cultivator while I 'geed' at him to make him turn right and 'hawed' to go left. I had the reins around my neck so I could hold on to the plow handle with both hands."

"Have your farming and livestock projects been successful ventures?" Ernie was asked.

"Yes, I reckon they've been," he answered. His eyes sparkled. His forehead wrinkled. He shifted his weight from one foot to the other. "You know," farmers are alike and often expect too much for we always put down a milk pail that will hold more milk than the cow can give."

Ernie then went on and explained that his ranch wasn't bought for a place to escape to but that it offered a challenge to him to improve the property and build it, as well as his livestock project, into an overall, money making enterprise. Since starting his first farming and ranching project he has expanded it considerably.

The Ford family live in a ranch type home in Portola Valley, 45 miles from San Francisco, and within easy driving distance to their ranch. Their sons, Brion and Jeff, are now away at school much of the time.

"Our little ranch had another fine quality, too," Ernie said. "It was an ideal place where we could take our two young sons so they could be closer to nature and realize that there were other great things besides freeways and supermarkets."

The farm has not been exactly a vacation spot, for when Ernie, his wife Betty, and the two boys arrived at the farm, everyone got into the act and worked. Ernie tells seriously that their farm is a place of security, for he and his family would move there should anything happen to his professional career.

This is of course quite remote! For there isn't another individual in the entertainment world who is more sought after than Tennessee Ernie Ford.

"Someday, I won't be as busy as a worm in a bucket of hot ashes, in fact, I'm just apt to slow up," he said. "Come to think about it you've never seen a coffin with pockets in it. So I guess I won't worry, for worry never helped a crop or a calf or even a comedian. I'm a farm boy through and through and after my singin' and funnin' is over I'll be going back to the country. I'll catch up on my huntin' then. My idea of huntin' is an old mule and an old Long Tom shot gun, a pair of bib overalls, and watchin' squirrels cutting hickory nuts and spittin' the shells down from the tree tops."

GRASSROOTS GLEANINGS

by Bill Stokes

The Spencer (Neb.) Advocate registers the following complaint:

"Hey, Uncle, how much does it cost to rear a child? You allow us taxpaying parents only $600 yearly to feed, clothe, house and train a youngster. In your federal Job Corps you spend $7,000 a year per head."

"Now which is the correct figure? Either we are allowing you too much or you're not allowing us enough."

The Angola (Ind.) Herald says, "The world judges you not only by what you stand for but also on what you fall for."

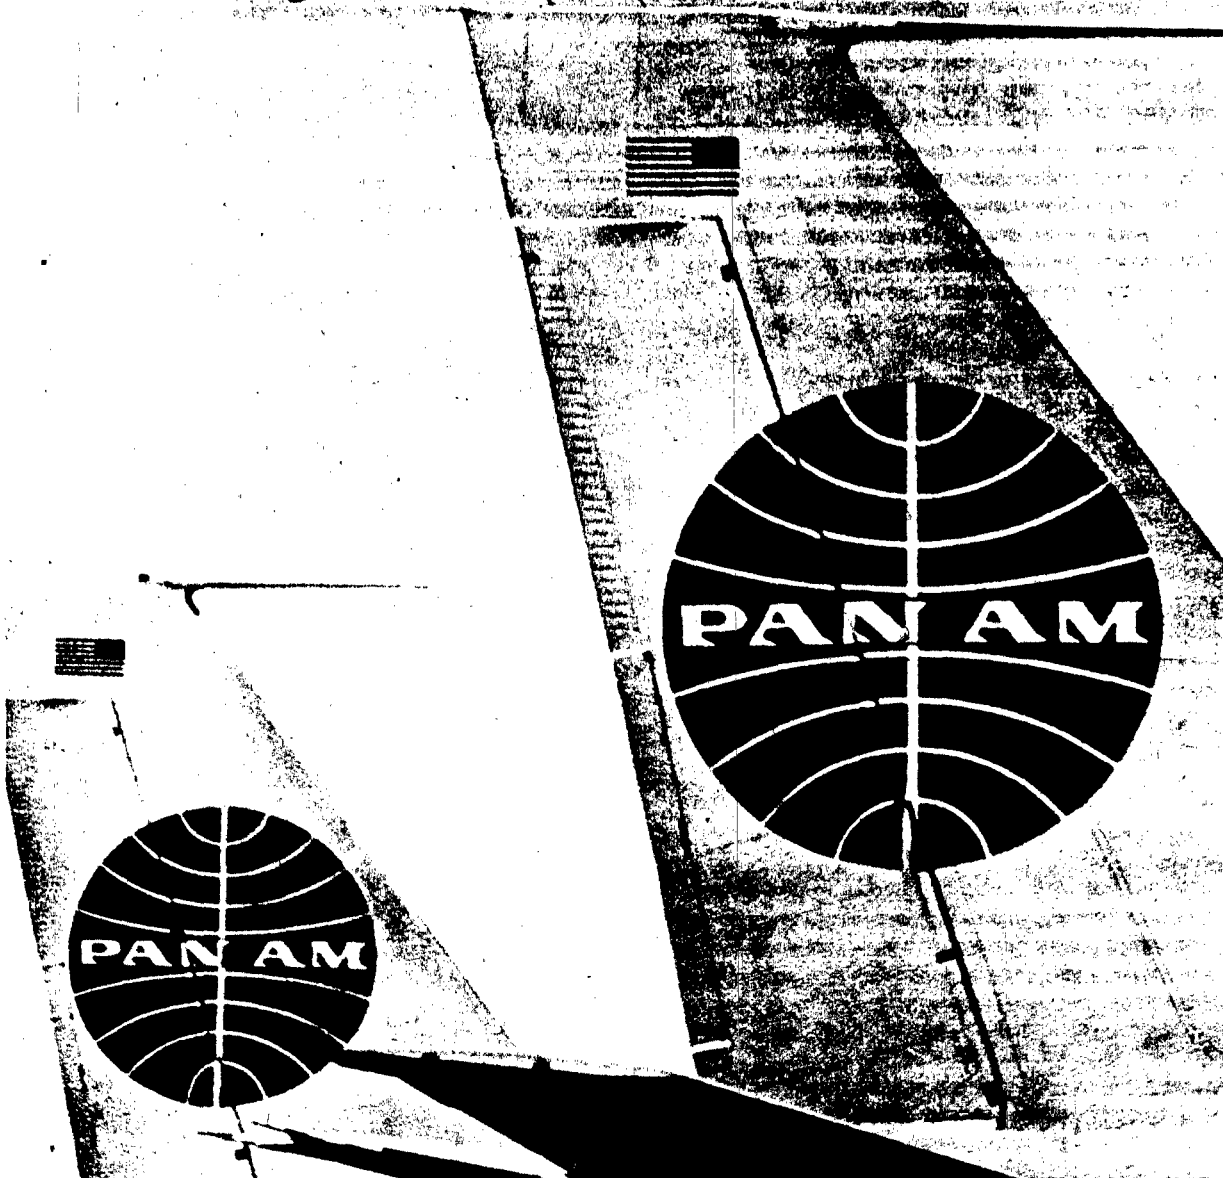

The Calhoun News of Hardin, Ill., advises that you shouldn't judge a modern girl by her clothes because there just isn't enough evidence.

There are several ways to earn a living with the pen, says the Crookston (Minn.) Daily Times, and one of the easiest ways is to raise pigs in it.

The Houston (Mo.) Herald tells this one:
Patient: Doctor, what I need is something to stir me up — something to put me in fighting trim. Did you put anything like that in this prescription?

Doctor: No. You'll find that in the bill.

Take the world by the tail.

Take an off-beat island. Take a way-out city. Take a far-flung continent. Call a Pan Am Travel Agent and take off on the world's most experienced airline.

Pan Am makes the going great.

The Lewiston (Ill.) News laments, "Parents totaling up school bills last long for the days when all a student was asked to pay was attention."

"The average man's idea of a good sermon," says The Ogden (Iowa) Reporter, "is one that goes over his head and hits one of his acquaintances."

The Winner (S.D.) Advocate says that it was once believed that diamonds could be found only at night.

Don't most girls still find theirs at night?

The O'Brien County Bell of Primghar, Iowa reports that huge neon signs in Moscow promote Communism, safety and sobriety. This would seem to indicate that there is some kind of a relationship between being Red, dead and drunk.

The Dearborn County Register, Lawrenceburg, Ind., says, "When a woman sticks to her diet, it's because she'd rather have a second glance than a second helping."

"Begin each day with a good breakfast, and you'll be late to work four mornings out of five," says The Jamestown (N.D.) Sun.

The Cannelton (Ind.) Tuesday News reports that the use of rubber as an eraser began in 1770 when Joseph Priestly, an English chemist, discovered that the gum of the rubber tree erased pencil marks. It is generally assumed that he was making out his income tax forms at the time.

The Weekly Valley Herald of Chaska, Minn., tells about the pretty young thing in the short skirt who violated the traffic light by walking out in front of oncoming cars. On the way across the street the young "thing" complimented a policeman on his ability to direct traffic.

"It's nothing, Miss," replied the officer, "you had it almost stopped before I started directing."

The following housewife quote comes from The Daily Post of Belle Fourche, S. D.: "I don't believe in drinking when the children are around, and when they are not around — who needs it?"

The Reinbeck (Iowa) Courier suggests that instead of the "jet set" most of us belong instead to the "debt set."

"Nothing is impossible to a man who doesn't have to do it himself," claims The Mackinaw Valley News of Minier, Ill.

The Belvidere (Ill.) Daily Republican laments, "Just about the time we begin to believe everyone in this shop is one big happy family, our co-workers begin to act like in-laws."

The Review of Plymouth, Wis., claims that there is a new branch of psychiatry called "psychoceramics:" it is the study of crack pots.

Each year it takes less time to fly around the world and more time to drive to work, complains The Morris (Minn.) Sun.

Last month we announced Farm and Home's deluxe escorted tour of Scandinavia and Western Europe for this coming fall. Since that announcement, interest by readers has been fantastic! Based on the number of seats Farm and Home has allocated for this tour with Pan American Airlines, it looks like tour reservations will close early, at least by mid-August. If you have not already sent for your colorful brochure outlining the costs and complete details of the tour, you should do so soon.

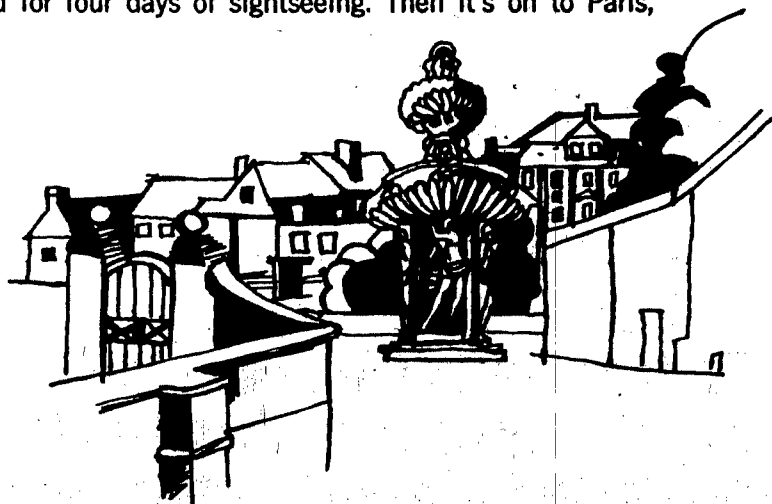

The Farm and Home European Tour will leave New York City's Kennedy Airport on Monday, September 23 and return to New York on Monday, October 14. Your first stop after leaving New York will be Oslo, Norway where you will spend two days. From there you will fly to Stockholm, Sweden where three days will be spent sightseeing. From Stockholm our airplane will take us to Copenhagen, Denmark for three days of sightseeing. From Copenhagen we fly to London, England for four days of sightseeing. Then it's on to Paris, France by jet where we will spend four days. And our final European stop will be in Rome, Italy where we will spend four days before heading back to New York.

This tour is not a tiresome, tedious safari through Europe by bus, but is instead a tour by air to the major cities in Scandinavia and Western Europe with extensive sightseeing in and around each of these cities. Only first class (Grade A) hotels are used, and the tour price as outlined in the brochure is all-inclusive.

Farm and Home's guides for this tour are Mr. and Mrs. Bob Murphy, publishers of the Farm and Home magazine section.

Send for your free folder outlining costs and complete details of the tour package. Simply clip out the coupon appearing on this page.

If you're trying an instant tea for the first time, be sure it's 100% tea.

Here's why: Not all instant teas are 100% tea. Some are half-tea, half-additive. But Nestea is 100% tea. You see, Nestea didn't want to change the pure tea flavor that made tea great in the first place—we just wanted to make it easier for you to make tea at home. And that's what we did. Stir up a frosty glass and see how good it tastes.

Because Nestea is 100% tea, it gives you all the refreshing lift of the best tea bags and loose teas. But—no dripping tea bags, no strainers, no water to heat for iced Nestea. It's instant.
