Wayne's new AFS student this fall will be Eghon Guzman, a 17-year-old youth from Santiago, Chile.

Eghon will have as his family away from home the Kent Dalles. Hall said Eghon is expected to arrive in the United States about Aug. 7, and should arrive in Wayne about three days later.

Eghon is one of a family of five children and is interested in pursuing a career in medicine. As a student in classes comparable to American high schools he has carried a grade average of 6.3 on a 7-point scale.

His English language training consists of five years of classes averaging about three hours per week, and, in addition, he has a good degree of fluency in French.

Besides being a student leader on the academic side, he plays the Chilean version of football and basketball, although he is only five feet five inches tall and weighs 120 pounds.

He has a sister, Erika, who is 20, another sister, Edith, 16, brother Milton, 15 and sister Herna, 13.

His father, Enrique, is a furniture maker in Santiago.

His autobiography says his hobbies are reading and chess in addition to collecting leaves, insects and bird feathers.

Because he plans a medical career he plans academic interests are in biology, chemistry and physics.

He is a member of the International Red Cross youth and a Red Cross Leader. He is also a member of his class study committee where he helps other students in school problems and a member of the school culture department.

Hurt in Mishap

Ed Doescher received a broken right arm and bruises Sunday morning when his car ran off the road three miles north of Wayne on Highway 15. The car received extensive damage to the right side.

Herald to Print Early Next Week

Because Independence Day falls on Thursday next week and the legal holiday prevents delivery of the newspaper by mail, The Wayne Herald will print a day early so the Thursday edition may be delivered Wednesday.

The earlier delivery will require an earlier deadline for news and advertising copy. News copy should reach this office no later than Monday. Saturday will be even better to insure that items will be included in the newspaper for that edition.

Advertising deadline will be moved to Monday noon instead of Tuesday noon.

Council Acts on Housing, Ambulance, Building Code

The city council Monday night approved an ordinance governing building, plumbing, electrical and fire prevention regulations for Wayne and its zoning area, passed a resolution directing the mayor to appoint a citizens advisory committee on low-cost housing for the elderly and approved the purchase of an ambulance.

The ordinance will become effective July 1 when it is published in The Wayne Herald and will apply in Wayne and the area within one mile of the city limits.

Three copies of each set of codes will be kept on file in the office of the city clerk for use and examination by the public.

The ordinance further stipulates that "each licensed electrician, licensed plumber or any person engaged in the construction of buildings within the city of Wayne, Nebraska shall obtain and keep one copy of the applicable code in their place of business within the city of Wayne, Nebraska."

A penalty of $100 may be applied on persons convicted of failing to comply with or violating provision of the code.

"Each day that such violation continues shall constitute a separate offense," the ordinance says.

Construction or alteration or repair of buildings in violation of any provisions of the code may be prevented by the city.

The citizens advisory committee the mayor must appoint will be given the task of learning the nature and extent of deficiencies in low cost housing for the elderly in Wayne; to make recommendations to the city council for improvements and to help inform other citizens and groups as to the need for the improvements.

The advisory committee is to number between 20-25 persons. They are to set up by-laws, appoint a chairman and schedule regular meetings not less than once per quarter for the entire group and such other meetings as subcommittees of the committee may elect to appoint.

Staff assistance for the committee shall be provided by the city clerk as may be needed.

Councilman Wilmer Marra reported he had met with other members of the ambulance committee, Wayne doctors and the hospital administrator, to discuss relative merits of ambulances offered in bids at the last meeting of the council.

Physicians were in favor of an ambulance with high head room and long wheelbase, saying they needed the extra room for better treatment of patients, use of oxygen in transit and the ability to transport patients in traction.

These factors, coupled with delivery dates on the two final choices, brought the decision to purchase a Pontiac ambulance that is available immediately. The other unit, a 1969 Oldsmobile, would not be ready for delivery until October. Cost of the unit delivered here is $10,337.

In other actions the council:

- Set the July 9 meeting for a hearing on the zoning ordinance change proposed by Suburban Builders, Inc. This zoning change, which would reduce from 3,000 feet of lot per family to 1,800 feet in multiple dwelling districts, has already been rejected by the planning commission at a meeting earlier this month.
- Discussed the purchase of a lot 101 x 150 feet at the east end of East Park for an addition to the park.
- Issued a warning to all bicycle, motorcycle and motor scooter riders that they must obey all traffic laws. Councilman Marty Willers reported several cases of near accidents involving improper operation of the two-wheeled vehicles and asked that operators be warned in stern terms about the need to comply with all traffic laws. Bicycle riders who violate the laws will be subject to a week's impoundment of their vehicles for such violations.
- Received a report from Mayor Alfred Koplin that Armand Ilkoc had resigned from the planning commission and a replacement must be sought for the post.
- Read a letter from the Department of Environmental Health in which the City of Wayne was complimented for the "very satisfactory" condition of the sewage lagoon.
- Heard a letter from five property owners on Palracres Road objecting to the assessments for repaving the street, saying they had paid for the paving once, in good faith, and felt one assessment should be enough. City Engineer Sid Magdanz pointed out that they were being assessed only $2.50 per front foot for the paving, which is only about one-fourth the total cost of removing the old paving plus repaving. The rest of the cost, he said, would be paid by city obligation. Dan Sherry pointed out that under the law, the city may assess for paving as many times as is necessary. Action was tabled until the next meeting when City Attorney John Addison will be in attendance.
- Saw preliminary plans for the new fire station, a 40 x 56-foot addition to the west side of the present fire hall. City Engineer Sid Magdanz told the council he and the firemen had discussed the possibility earlier in the day of building the south wall of 12-inch concrete block instead of brick veneer to permit the opening of the wall at a later date to permit parking fire trucks in tandem should the need arise. A discussion among the councilmen brought out the fact that there would be only about $300 difference in construction costs between the two walls and they approved the brick veneer all around for appearance sake, saying any such remodeling may be years in the future. Bids on the building probably will be let July 30.
- Heard a report from the engineer that the state department of roads had approved agreements for the work on the intersections of Seventh and Main and Seventh and Sherman and would pay 50 per cent of certain costs in rebuilding the intersections.

Wayne County Gets Needed Moisture; Corn Crops Are in 'Fairly Good Shape'

Wayne County farmers could relax a little bit following the weekend rains. A few more days of overcast weather and another inch of rain or two in the next few weeks will do much to alleviate the drought-like conditions in this area.

In the last issue of The Wayne Herald there was a story in which Ulverd Alexander, agronomist at the Northeast Station, said many farmers would be in very serious trouble unless one or two inches of rain fell soon.

Up to today, most of Wayne County has already received from about one to two inches of rain.

Ralph Watson reported that his official government gauge three and one half miles north of Wayne showed a total of 1.51 inches of rain since the rain began falling early Sunday morning. Sunday's reading was .58 inch, Monday's was .23 and Tuesday's was 1.00 inch.

T. P. Roberts, ASC office manager, said that most of the county had received a fair amount of rain.

Roberts reported these readings at spots around the county: Vernon Belmer, just north of Hoskins, had about one inch of precipitation as of Monday night. Dale Nelson, northeast of Carroll, reported .50 inch of rain Saturday night, .30 Monday morning and .50 Monday night.

John Reese, west of Carroll, had .80 inch of rain over the weekend.

In Wayne, Roberts reported that his own gauge showed .90 inch Saturday night, .40 Monday morning and 1.00 Tuesday morning.

At the Altona Store, Leon Meyer said 2.25 inches were recorded.

Paul Burman, Wakefield, reported more than 2.00 inches of rain since Saturday night.

Corn crops in the county as a whole are in "fairly good shape," according to Roberts. He has driven about the county recently and talked to many farmers.

He noted that more of the corn is retarded in the west end of the county than in the east end. Except for the areas suffering heavy hail damage, Roberts added, the corn stand across the county is also good.

Most of the oats will be tight across the county and areas suffering hail damage, such as those in the western part, will get very little out of their crop.

Roberts noted that the oats conditions are much worse in Pierce County than in Wayne County, but the corn seems about as good there as it does here.

City Betterment Group Discuss 'Scrapbook' Ideas

Members of Wayne's community betterment committee met Saturday with Sally Webster, a Lincoln representative of the Nebraska Community Improvement Program, to discuss the progress of Wayne's scrapbook of community improvements which Wayne will submit at the end of August to contest officials, according to Keith Mosley, committeeman.

The scrapbook will probably contain about 80 entries of improvements made in Wayne since January 1.

Committeemen are considering "selling" JC members to businessmen to do touch-up painting in the business district. Members also hope to speed work toward public restrooms in the downtown area.

Already included or planned for Wayne's scrapbook are the recent industrial show and the new nine hole addition to the country club.

Wayne Golfers Take Big Part In Laurel Open

Over 40 Wayne golfers turned out for the Laurel Cedar View Open Tournament Saturday and Sunday.

Brent Fahnestock, a senior next year in Laurel High School, won the championship flight with a 108 over 27 holes. His final round of 33 set a course record for nine holes.

Gerald Moore, Sioux City, took second place with 112. Kenny Dahl, Wayne, came in third five strokes behind the winner with a 113.

A total of 145 golfers took part in the competition. At least 10 foursomes made the trip from Wayne.

Wayne golfers placed first in four of the eight flights. Flight winners were:

- 1st flight: Ole Anderson, Laurel.
- 2nd flight: Tim Robinson, Wayne.
- 3rd flight: Michael Garvin, Wayne.
- 4th flight: Dale Hiemann, Neligh.
- 5th flight: Ray Murray, Wayne.
- 6th flight: Steve Johnson, Wayne.

7th flight: Robert Meyer, Randolph.

8th flight: Ed Gadeken, Laurel. Tournament director Bob Buss, Laurel, said much of the success of the Laurel tournament was due to the good turn out of Wayne golfers.

Educational Benefits of GI Bill Still Open for Post Korean Vets

The Post-Korean, or third-generation, GI Bill education and training program began its third year of operation June 1.

The Veterans' Readjustment Benefits Act of 1966, or Post-Korean GI Bill, grants VA educational assistance of one month, up to a maximum of 36 months (four school years), for each month of service.

During the past two years, more than 5,600 veterans and 1,722 servicemen entered training in Nebraska under the Veterans' Readjustment Benefits Act of 1966, C. W. Nixon, manager of the Lincoln Veterans Administration Regional Office, said today.

Nationally, more than 732,000 veterans and an additional 43,000 servicemen entered education and training in the first two years of the current GI Bill, Nixon said.

Eligible for assistance are veterans who served on active duty at least 180 days, part of which was after Jan. 31, 1955, and servicemen with at least two consecutive years of active duty, Nixon said.

Of the nearly 7,325 veterans and servicemen in Nebraska who have taken advantage of Post-Korean GI Bill education and training benefits, more than 5,360 entered institutions of higher learning, Nixon said.

Nearly two-thirds of all Post-Korean GI Bill students have entered college-level training. By comparison, Nixon said, only about half of the veterans who went to school under the Korean Conflict GI Bill entered institutions of higher learning. Less than one-third of the World War II veterans took college-level training, he noted.

Since June 1, 1966, more than 1,875 veterans and servicemen entered schools in Nebraska below the college level. Of these, all but 228 were veterans, the Lincoln Manager said.

Nixon explained that only veterans are eligible under the present GI Bill for on-the-job training benefits. And these have only been available to Post-Korean veterans since last Oct. 1. Since then, 84 veterans entered on-the-job training in Nebraska, Nixon pointed out.

In these totals, Nixon explained, are veterans and servicemen currently entered in training in Nebraska. A breakdown shows 2,208 veterans and 399 servicemen now entered in institutions of higher learning. Enrolled currently in Nebraska schools below the college level are 1,082 veterans and 179 servicemen, Nixon said.

Taking on-the-job training in Nebraska are 84 veterans, the Manager said.

Nixon explained that veterans have eight years from the date of their discharge from active duty to use their Post-Korean GI Bill education and training benefits. However, veterans released from active duty between Jan. 31, 1955 and June 1, 1966, have until May 31, 1974 to use these benefits.

VA educational assistance available under this program ranges from a monthly allowance of $130 or more (depending upon the number of dependents) for full-time institutional training to payment of only the actual cost of correspondence courses, Nixon said.

Nixon urged all Post-Korean veterans interested in the two-year-old Post-Korean GI Bill education and training program to contact the VA Regional Office in Lincoln.

On Teacher Council

Dr. Walter Peterson, chairman of the Wayne State education division, has been invited by the National Council on Accreditation of Teachers' Education to serve as an accreditation examiner for Luther College in Iowa next November. He has been an NCATE examiner several times.

Named to Law Review

Michael G. Lessman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Lessman, Lincoln, a senior at the law college of the University of Nebraska, has been selected for Law Review for 1968-69.

In his junior year he was a member of the Allen Appellate Competition council.

Wayne gathered its runs off eight hits. Ponca connected for three hits. Batteries for Wayne were Tomjack and Larry Wehrer; for Ponca they were Newton and John Kingsbury.

NEWSWRITING students had an opportunity to practice their journalism when they interviewed Cristian Garcia-Godoy, one of three representatives from the Pan American Union speaking at Wayne State's Foreign Affairs Institute on Latin America. He is pictured, second from left, explaining a chart depicting the Organization of American States to Travis Reutzel, Judy Monson and Burns McCulloch. The ebullient Garcia-Godoy, an Argentine economist, on busy schedule invited the journalists to lunch with him so they could continue the interview. Then he reversed the interview and pried the students with questions. How did they manage their time in college? How did they like co-education? (Argentina's schools are nearly all separate for boys and girls, he said.) What was their attitude toward foreign affairs? Did they read foreign news? And when he finally had to dash for his airplane, Garcia-Godoy had some of the student listeners almost ready to join the Peace Corps.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

You may not agree with an editorial — but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

Careful, Mother

It had to come. We knew it. Sure as fate it was bound to develop sooner or later. The government, through the Federal Food and Drug Administration, has set a standard for the number of cherries to be found in a cherry pie! And, in addition, the FDA commissioner defines the difference between a pie and a tart and has issued a regulation defining a cherry pie. And all this on the initiative of the FDA commissioner, too!

Up to this point, most people felt they are well qualified to distinguish the difference between a cherry pie and other pies, and, if by mistake one called a cherry tart a cherry pie, so what? Just in case you feel you may be in the dark on this most important matter, herewith is the portion of the FDA regulation defining cherry pie:

"Cherry pie is the food prepared by incorporating in a filling contained in a pastry shell mature, whole, pitted, stemmed, red, sour (tart) cherries (fresh, frozen or canned) that have not been treated with a chemical preservative. The top of the pie may be open or it may be wholly or partly covered with pastry or other suitable topping. Filling, pastry, and topping components of the food consist of optional ingredients as provided in paragraph (b) of this section. The food may be frozen or baked or both baked and frozen."

Subsection (c) of the same section (28.1) in the FDA regulations decrees:

"The name of the food for which a definition and standard of identity is established by this section is cherry pie, except that if the maximum diameter of the food (measured across opposite outside edges of the pastry shell) is not more than 4 inches the food alternatively may be designated by the name cherry tart."

All this is done in the name of "consumer protection," of course, and regulations further include the method by which the family, or even company — can tell if Mom has cheated them on the cherry pie. All you have to do, according to the FDA, is:

"Remove the filling and cherries from the pie and distribute evenly over the surface of a 12-inch-diameter U.S. No. 8 sieve (0.094-inch openings) stacked on a U.S. No. 20 sieve. Wash the cherries and cherry fragments free from adhering material with a gentle water spray. Drain the cherry contents on the No. 8 sieve for 2 minutes in an inclined position (15 degree-30 degree slope). Do not discard contents of No. 20 sieve. Transfer the whole cherries to a tared pan and determine the weight of all whole cherries. Count the whole cherries and calculate average weight per whole cherry. Collect the cherry fragments from both the No. 8 and No. 20 sieves. Weigh the cherry fragments and calculate the whole cherry equivalent based on the average weight per whole cherry. The number of whole cherries plus the number of whole cherry equivalents is the total number of cherries in the pie. Calculate the number of cherries per ounce of net weight of pie."

Now, we agree with Sen. Carl T. Curtis that this is going a bit too far, it would almost appear that some, perhaps many, in the employ of the FDA do not have enough work to do. With all the other real troubles and strife besetting this country, with many mouths going inadequately fed, we doubt the necessity of anyone having to determine the importance of having 2.7 cherries per ounce of net weight of pie.

Another and more insidious result of this act could be the disruption — and perhaps disintegration — of the American family.

Ponder a moment on the effects of the American way of life when junior announces to his mother that she has violated FDA regulations in the cherry pie she has so lovingly prepared. The dilemma created here — whether junior, in all conscience should report his mother for the violation or should she voluntarily give herself over to the authorities and throw herself on the mercy of the court?

If either occurs, mother will be penalized, perhaps jailed. Then, the question arises, who will cook for the family?

Those of a more suspicious nature may see the whole scheme as a diabolical plot to outlaw cherry pies and eventually destroy the whole cherry pie industry. Perhaps another fruit grower cannot tolerate the competition of cherry pies containing less than 2.7 cherries per ounce (per ounce of net weight of pie).

Those of a more practical nature may question the validity of 2.7 cherries per ounce. Why not 2.5 or 2.9 or possibly a simple 3 cherries per ounce? Whatever the reason, we certainly intend to abide by it and have already purchased the necessary equipment to check any cherry pie we may be served. Being of God-fearing and law-abiding nature, we certainly wouldn't want to eat an illegal cherry pie. — WWR.

Hysteria vs. Reason

We listened to a debate Sunday between Senator Thomas Dodd and the head of the National Rifle Association, Harold W. Glassen, in which the merits of gun registration were discussed. As might be expected Mr. Glassen was strongly opposed to such registration while Senator Dodd wanted to register all firearms and restrict the sale of ammunition.

Our own sentiments are strongly anti-registration of the long guns, i. e. shotguns and rifles. They rarely are used in the commission of crime.

We do believe there should be some regulation of hand guns or concealable weapons, but it certainly would take a Solomon to come up with a workable system whereby honest citizens would retain their guns and the moron, drunk, dope addict and ex-convicts or parolees would find it impossible to retain or obtain such guns.

Mere registration cannot accomplish this, for the law-abiding citizen will register, the kook, criminal or other-wise unfit person will keep his gun illegally in hiding.

Mr. Glassen, in a calm reasoned manner, was trying to show Senator Dodd and an obviously biased moderator, that hysterical legislation at this point can be only bad. Senator Dodd on the other hand, was rudely determined to make his points, even at the risk of being quite discourteous — which he was.

On several occasions he questioned Mr. Glassen, then by continuous interruption, kept Mr. Glassen from giving his answer.

Perhaps this is a way to accomplish a tough task. But Senator Dodd, who is not without untainted skirts, lost prestige with many listeners Sunday by his rude conduct if nothing else.

If gun control is to be enacted, and certainly it should, the control lobby should find a better front man than Senator Thomas Dodd. — WWR.

Detour the Detour

We ordinarily don't like to say "I told you so," but perhaps this is the best way to accomplish some purposes. We pointed out in previous editorial comment that the detour for Highway 15 is inadequate to handle the volume of traffic using it.

The relatively small amount of rain which fell Sunday night was enough to cause two vehicles, a bus and a car, to slip off the road in a stretch of little more than a mile.

The detour is still too narrow and needs additional gravel to provide a safe surface for travel.

We repeat our warning of the previous editorial... someone will be seriously injured or even killed on the highway 15 detour if it is allowed to remain in its present condition.

We realize it is impossible to make an accident-safe road surface, or build a road that some fool can't kill himself on. But, we also realize it is possible to build a road that is unsafe, and that is our feeling about using the present detour south of Wayne.

Our best advice for travelers at this point is to detour the detour until the detour is improved. — WWR.

State Open Housing Bill Drafted by Gov. Tiemann

LINCOLN—Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann has outlined provisions of a proposed state law to ban discrimination in the sale or rental of most homes and apartments in Nebraska.

The "draft" of the open housing measure will now be submitted to local government officials, civil rights groups and real estate interests for comment.

Tiemann will consider recommended additions or deletions before presenting the legislation to the 1969 Unicameral, which convenes in January.

The preliminary proposal was drawn by the University of Nebraska Law College at the governor's request. It is modeled for the most part after the new Federal Open Housing Act.

Tiemann said the principal difference is the vesting of control over housing discrimination with the State Equal Opportunity Commission rather than the federal government.

The governor recommended the size of the commission be increased from seven to 10 members, and that it be given full judicial authority to enforce the law, including the right to subpoena witnesses.

Appeals from a commission order could be carried to a district court and ultimately the State Supreme Court.

A person found guilty of housing discrimination under the law would be forced to pay actual damages to the complainant and attorney's fees.

Generally the state proposal would forbid discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion or national origin but there are some exemptions.

A private homeowner would remain exempt in selling his own home without a broker's help or the use of discriminated advertising. The law would likewise not apply to rentals in an owner-occupied two-flat, three-flat or four-flat building.

The governor's proposal contains an across-the-board ban on discrimination by lending institutions such as banks and savings and loan associations.

and the measure would prohibit anyone from trying to make money by urging homeowners to sell because negroes may buy homes in a neighborhood.

Enrollment Crushing End Seen A rapidly declining birth rate and the steady exodus of families with young children from the state will combine to halt the enrollment crush in Nebraska schools in the years ahead.

That is the conclusion of the State Education Department in a report released outlining the reasons for the expected downward trend in the number of elementary and secondary school students.

The department estimated that by the 1971-72 academic year, public and private school enrollments in Nebraska will drop from the present 383,716 to 367,420.

Principally affected will be the lower grades. It projected the number of six-year-olds attending kindergarten will decline 26.4 percent to 21,800.

First grade enrollments are expected to fall off by 19.3 percent to 26,300, second grade by 10.5 percent to 28,530, and third grade by 5.5 percent to 29,820.

The department observed that a look at the statistics indicates "lower school enrollments in many of Nebraska's counties will quite likely reduce the need for as many classrooms as are presently in use" and that a "corresponding reduction in the number of school teachers may also result."

Faith doesn't just stand there.

It does something.

If you think all's right with the world, read no further. But if you're like most people, today's headlines are profoundly disturbing. Narcotics. Alcoholism. Murder. Racial strife. Poverty. Cruelty. War. The "inhuman-ness" our society seems to be breeding. Your Faith has something to say about every one of the moral and ethical problems facing us. More important, if you listen to what your Faith has to say, you're in a better position to help solve those problems. But you find out for yourself! Worship this week in your church or synagogue. Then take your Faith out in the world and put it to work.

However, it added, declining enrollments should also make it possible to cut the pupil-teacher ratio to a "more desirable figure" as well as improve the quality of instruction in many schools.

Fair Exhibition Space Taken

The State Fair Board reports all available exhibition space at this year's fair has been reserved, assuring one of the largest display spectacles in the event's 99-year history.

More than 7,000 individual exhibits are planned for the Aug. 30 through Sept. 5 extravaganza, Fair Manager Henry Brandt said. "There will be something old and something new," said Brandt. "We hope to attract a record attendance."

The 1967 fair brought out an unprecedented 440,000 persons and grossed about $1 million. Spending Below Expected Level Spending from the state tax-supported general fund has been running $12.8 million below expectations during the 1967-69 biennium but fiscal experts look for it to catch up soon.

During the first 11 months of the two-year fiscal period, expenditures amounted to $81.1 million compared with a projected outlay of $89.3 million.

The 1967 legislature appropriated $232.4 million to the general fund, with the bulk of this scheduled to come from the new sales-income tax program.

The spending rate will pick up in December and January when the new state aid to schools and governmental subdivision programs go into effect. Together they will require $35 million in state tax funds.

Another drain on the treasury will occur when salary increases for state workers go into effect in July.

Bridge Inspections Set

The Nebraska Roads Department has begun an inspection of all bridges in the state built before 1935 to determine if they are safe.

G. C. Strobel, deputy state engineer, said the survey will cover such items as weather wear, pier strength and pavement deterioration.

"The purpose of the program is to find out which bridges need to be repaired or replaced," he said.

Strobel estimated 500 bridges will be inspected by four department teams. He said the project should be completed this fall.

The inspection program was recommended by the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads after a bridge collapse at Point Pleasant, West Virginia claimed many lives last December.

Summer Forage Management

As herd sizes increase and the price of land gets higher, many cattlemen are changing their forage management practices.

Rotation grazing, green chopping and using stored feeds to maximize land use is becoming more common.

Also, there is a trend toward more dry-lot feeding using green-chop or stored feed.

No single system of forage management is best for all farms because of differences in herd size, labor availability, topography, mechanization and land values.

Sometimes, it's to the cattlemen's advantage to develop more than one system for optimum use of land and forages.

Perhaps the following descriptions of forage management systems will help you determine which would be best for your operation:

Conventional Grazing. In conventional grazing, cattle are permitted to graze an entire pasture without restriction. It's easy to manage and may be the only way to utilize creek pastures or rough hill land. Conventional grazing returns the least in gain or feed per acre, but it is sometimes the most practical way of grazing very small herds on tillable land.

Strip Grazing. This more intensified method of rotation grazing requires cross-fencing pastures into long narrow strips and furnishing fresh pasture each day. Strip grazing provides maximum yield and pasture per acre, but it also means a greater fencing and daily labor requirement than other grazing systems.

Grazing systems of pasture management minimize equipment costs. They are best for utilizing bluegrass and similar short-growing crops. Tall-growing crops, such as sudan and oats, aren't practical for grazing systems because of the trampling and wasting.

Here are some recommended drylot feeding systems:

Green-Chop Feeding. Green-chop feeding involves chopping or mowing pasture forage and hauling it directly to the cows for feeding in a bunk or self-feeding wagon.

The yield per acre of either

The aircraft is based at Enid, Okla., and was in flight from Sioux Falls, S. D.,

milk or green forage from perennial pastures may not be any higher with this system than with strip grazing perennial grasses. But it is a much better way to use tall-growing annual crops such as oats, sudan and hybrid forage sorghums.

Green-chopping also means better utilization of forage harvesting equipment used in putting up hay and silage and provides a way of bringing the entire farm into the pasture program.

You become more dependent on equipment and good weather with this system. It is best for large herds where pasture is often in short supply or at some distance from the barn. In most cases green-chopping is not practical for herds of less than 30 to 40 cows.

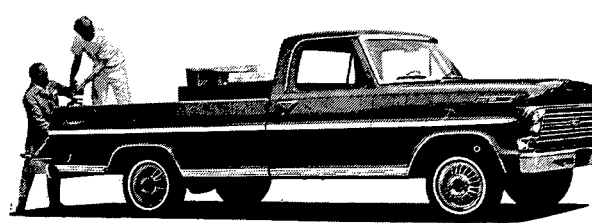

Stored Feeding. Stored feeding is nothing more than following the same feeding program in summer as during the winter. Sometimes, grass silage may replace corn silage, but otherwise the feeding program is the same.

Year-round use of feeding equipment and feed storage reduces the cost of these facilities and can justify greater mechanization.

Consider herd size, the extent of mechanization you can afford and the investment you have or can make in feed storage facilities in making your decision. Consider the program that will provide the maximum returns per acre under your conditions. Some form of rotational grazing for drylot feeding is within reach of every midwestern cattelman.

Dear Editor:

I have enjoyed receiving The Wayne Herald over here all the while I've been here, but I am coming back to the States soon so I would like to have it sent to my address there. It takes about four to six weeks for The Herald to get here and that is left over here. So if you start sending The Herald to the following address now they will stop coming here about the time I leave here. Thank you!

Yours truly, Randall Bargestadt

Set the Records Straight. Soon after wedding bells and honeymoon the records should be set straight.

There are many records that a groom and his bride should update at the time of marriage. Employment records, tax deductions, bank accounts, insurance policies and social security records are sometimes overlooked.

A visit to the personnel office where you work will take care of updating many of the records. This office can help with tax withholdings and changing names of beneficiaries on group insurance policies. Also check to see that health insurance gives family protection and maternity benefits.

There are also personal life and health insurance policies which need corrected names and addresses. Call your insurance agent and ask him to update the policies.

Review your social security programs in light of the new family picture. An insurance advisor can help answer questions about planning for the future.

Your banker can give financial advice and change old accounts to new joint accounts.

Legal advice may also be important. Some couples write their wills at this time.

Bullfrog Season Set

It is only a few more days now until a batch of those tasty frog legs can be popped into a frying pan with hot butter, the Game Commission notes.

The bullfrog season opens July 1 and continues through Oct. 31, with a daily bag and possession limit of eight frogs. The croakers may be taken by hand, hand net, spear or hook and line with a fishing permit, or by bow and arrow or firearms with a hunting permit. An artificial light may be used.

BAND APPLICATIONS OF ZINC fertilizer are being applied at the Northeast Station by Ulverd Alexander (L.) and Frank Plueger, agronomy technician

Northeast Station

Experimenting with Zinc Applications

A new zinc experiment presently underway at Concord's Northeast Station should tell farmers how much zinc is required to reclaim and restore to full productivity newly cut soils in this area, according to Ulverd Alexander, area extension agronomist.

Experimenters also hope to be able to tell farmers what form of zinc is most effective and how to best apply zinc.

Construction of a new conservation system at the station made the experiment possible. Newly constructed terraces left some severely cut areas which were well adapted to a study of this type.

"Although we have been evaluating zinc as a nutrient for some eroded soils of northeast Nebraska," he said, "this has been our first opportunity to study severely cut soils."

Evaluation of four forms of zinc is being made. Also, comparisons of methods of application are being done.

Equipment for conducting this long time study is being provided by Phillips Petroleum Company of Bartlesville, Okla.

Planned Tractor Mishap to Show Safety Features

A tractor will be upset (with a little luck) and three buildings will be set on fire at the Nebraska Tractor Power and Safety Day at Mead on July 25. The emphasis of the demonstrations will be on safety, according to R. D. Schneider, University of Nebraska Extension safety specialist.

It took only 20 years for people to see the protective benefits of enclosing automobiles but it has taken 70 years to do the same for tractors, Schneider commented. Tractor manufacturers are now building cabs for operator protection in case of roll over, he added.

The automotive industry has used the packaging concept as a means of protecting the operator. Padded dashes and visors, deep dish steering wheels, safety door latches and other safety concepts are being used by the automotive industry. Tractors have not gone quite this far; however, many of the same techniques are being used, Schneider said.

At the Tractor Power and Safety Day a tractor with a cab designed to protect the operator will purposely be run off a roadway twice.

On the first run, NUag engineers will try to show that a tractor usually can be kept upright if it is allowed to correct itself or if the operator steers the tractor to follow the direction the tractor is headed, Schneider explained.

During the second run, the tractor will be run off the roadway and an attempt made to steer it back onto the roadway. In this case, centrifugal force will take over and the tractor should upset.

"The upset will be comparable to what could happen to any tractor. It is hoped that viewers at the Field Day will realize this and see how the cab can protect them in case of an upset," the NU specialist commented.

The fire safety demonstration will include the use of chemicals not only to fight fires but also to treat construction materials so as to produce fire retardant characteristics.

The three buildings to be ignited are all small. One will be built of plywood which has been treated to be fire retardant. The other two buildings will not be treated. The fire demonstration will show the self-extinguishing nature of the treated building, according to Dr. O. E. Cross of the NU Agricultural Engineering Department.

The blaze in the untreated buildings will be put out by two dry chemicals. One of the chemicals will permit combustible vapors to be given off; the other will not.

The demonstration will show the advantages and extinguishing characteristics of the chemicals used, Cross said. "Tractors should not be upset—but if they are, the upset need not be fatal. Buildings should not catch fire—but if they do, the flames can be put out by the using the proper chemicals," the engineers conclude.
