

'Thank Heaven, School's Finally Started' Landfill Hours

"Whew! Am I ever glad the summer's coming to an end." That expression might pretty well sum up some parents' feelings about this time of the year. School starts today for six area schools and like it or not students in Allen, Laurel, Concord, Wakefield, Winside and Hoskins had to crawl out of that comfortable bed today, put on some of their new clothes and set out for school for the first time in several weeks.

For the freshmen in high school it's going to be a whole new experience. Those corridors will look terribly cold and long, the number of books they are going to have to read will appear staggering, the amount of free time they are going to have in and out of school will seem nil. For the upperclassmen, it will be easier. The sophomores can appear sophisticated in front of the bumbling freshmen, the juniors can look forward to when they will be seniors and the seniors will feel on the top of everything.

Allen youngsters started school today at 8:30 in the morning. Their teachers and administrators met Saturday to plan and work out the schedule and part of today will be devoted to the inevitable changes in the schedule. Class will be held for the students from kindergarten through the senior class. Buses made their regular run this morning to bring the rural students to school and will run again this afternoon to take them home after they are dismissed a little earlier than usual.

Tomorrow school gets underway in earnest at Allen Consolidated School as Superintendent Ed Heckens and the new principal, Raymond Vikander, settle in for a year's work. Vikander was just hired last week and will serve as the basketball coach and will teach social studies. He graduated from Northern State Teachers College at Aberdeen, S.D., and taught last year at Magnolia, Minn. With the addition of Vikander the staff at the Allen school is all filled except for a librarian.

Laurel Public School opened officially at 8:45 this morning for classes from kindergarten through the 12th grade. Students from freshmen through senior registered last week.

Buses will run today and the hot lunch program will be in effect today. Those wishing to try out for the football squad checked out equipment last week and will have practices each day this week at 6:45 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

In Concord the grade school opened its doors this morning for students through the fourth grade. Classes will run all day and a hot lunch will be served the students. Teaching at the Concord Grade School this year are Mrs. Helen Pearson and Mrs. Phyllis Dirks.

Wakefield also opened its school today. The first bell for the students was at 8:35 a.m., followed by a flag raising ceremony shortly afterward. Muri Beller is the Superintendent of Wakefield. He will be assisted in the administration duties by Larry Jess, principal, and Mr. Hartman, elementary principal. Today has been set aside for

Landfill Hours

Hours for disposing of refuse at Wayne's new sanitary landfill facilities north of the airport remain the same as those hours at the old location, City Clerk Dan Sherry said Friday.

Hours are from 1 to 4 p.m. every day except Wednesdays and Sundays when the landfill facility is closed.

The new site is reached by turning north off East Seventh on the county road at the east edge of Wayne, going one-half mile north and thence east to the landfill.

Fire Damages Garage

The roof of a garage at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Anderson southeast of Winside was entirely destroyed by fire Tuesday afternoon about 6 p.m. Winside Volunteer Fire Department saved the rest of the building.

Mr. Anderson said the fire apparently started from a cutting torch. He was burned badly on both hands when he tried to put the fire out himself.

TV Audition for Former Wayne Girl

A taped recording of musical selections made by the daughter of former Wayne residents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Reiners, will be auditioned by radio and TV star Arthur Godfrey, according to a release by a Mitchell, S.D. recording company.

She is Judy Reiners, a junior at Colome, S.D. high school. The recording was made this spring and, upon review by the

Former WSC Profs to New Positions

Two former teachers at Wayne State College have accepted new teaching positions for the coming school year.

Dr. J. R. Johnson, a long-time faculty member at WSC, will be teaching at Bellevue College in Bellevue. He has been with JFK College in Wahoo for the past two years. Johnson came to WSC in June of 1935 and retired in August of 1966. He was at one time head of the social science recording company, arrangements were made for the tape to be used for auditioning.

Plans also are made for the recording to be submitted to Tennessee Ernie Ford in conjunction with the Young American Singers and Eddy Arnold's Gold Diggers.

Judy is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Reiners, Mrs. Robert Allen and Mrs. W. M. Chance.

division. Mrs. Johnson will be an accountant at the college.

Dr. Aaron C. Butler, chairman of the division of business until August of this year, will be associate professor of business administration at Central Missouri State College at Warrensburg. He came to WSC in September of 1965. Dr. Orvid Owens has succeeded Butler as chairman of the division of business.

Beginner Shows Pros How to Win

GARRY ROEBBER poses with his award-winning heifer, Tamie. Garry won several awards at the Dixon County Fair with his calf. The first one he has ever shown at a fair. Judges at the fair even remarked about the way the two worked together as a team.

Garry Roebber, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Roebber of Wakefield, and his Angus heifer, Tamie, brought home plenty of honors from the Dixon County Fair in Concord last week.

Garry, a member of Pals and Partners 4-H Club, walked away with the following honors: Grand Champion heifer of all breeds; Champion of all Angus heifers; Reserve Angus Supreme Trophy presented by the Francis Pflugger Farms; purple in his class for heavyweight Angus; and highest blue in the Junior Showmanship division.

Some will say it was just beginner's luck. But Garry's parents will be the last ones to agree to that. Garry, who has never shown an animal at any fair, spent many hours working, living and even sleeping with his heifer. His mother said that he rarely missed a day this summer walk-

Dixon Co. Represented at Conference

Dixon County Farm Bureau was represented at the District Leadership Conference of the Nebraska Farm Bureau at Norfolk Tuesday. Attending the meeting was Courtland Roberts, county president, and Mrs. Roberts of Allen and Sterling Borg, membership campaign manager, and Mrs. Borg of Dixon.

The meeting, a kick-off for membership activity for the coming year, was one of five held throughout the state during last week. Other meetings were held at Lincoln, Kearney, North Platte and Alliance.

The afternoon program included a discussion by President Roland Nelson and Secretary-Treasurer Robert Thompson of the Nebraska Farm Bureau of the issues facing agriculture and the nation during legislative and congressional sessions in 1969. A dinner at the Elks Club with Charles Underwood of the Iowa Farm Bureau Insurance Company as after-dinner speaker concluded the conference.

'Too Early to Ensilage Corn'

It is not silage time for most Northeast Nebraska corn fields, according to Walt Tolman, area beef nutritionist at Concord's Northeast Station. Some of the drought-damaged fields will still grow enough to increase in feed value and even the brown fields are higher in moisture than they seem.

Of the nearly 200 samples checked for nitrates which Northeast Station has seen records of, most have shown a moisture level of 75 to 80%, Tolman said.

Experience has shown, Tolman noted, that corn above about 70% moisture makes rather "sour" silage and often loses much of its feed value through seepage of moisture. The higher the moisture the greater the seepage. Some leaves may be lost if "burned" fields are left to dry more but most of the feed value is in the stalk. If fields are "going down" and must be harvested now, adding some dry feed like ground ear corn, chopped hay or even ground cobs to the silage may reduce seepage, he added.

Another alternative, Tolman said, is to pasture badly burned fields, especially if they are short and it is doubtful if the crop is worth the cost of harvest, and use better fields for silage later in the season when they are drier.

There is more nitrate in the lower part of the stalk so if plenty of feed is available corn may be cut higher than usual, leaving some of the nitrate in the field and leaving a stubble to drift snow this winter. Green

Wayne Gets New Standard Oil Center

Standard Oil today announced plans to construct a new Farm Service Center on a four-acre tract one mile east of Wayne on Highway 35.

The installation will employ from 10 to 14 persons during peak periods.

H. W. Crawford, district manager for Nebraska and North-west Iowa, Standard Oil Division of American Oil Company, said Wayne was chosen for the center because of its strategic location and the economic potential of the area.

He added that because of the special efforts of R. G. Fuelberth, president of Wayne Industries, Inc., construction can begin in the very near future, with completion expected by late this year.

The Center will advise farmers on requests about their individual requirements for agricultural chemicals, fertilizers and farm problems generally, Crawford said, along with providing a soil sampling service.

The center will handle agricultural chemicals, LP gas, anhydrous ammonia and liquid and dry fertilizers.

Two-way radio will link Standard Oil agents to the center to insure fast service to customers.

A special feature of the center will be a large combination room for use as training or meeting space, available for free use by 4-H clubs, youth and adult groups and civic organizations.

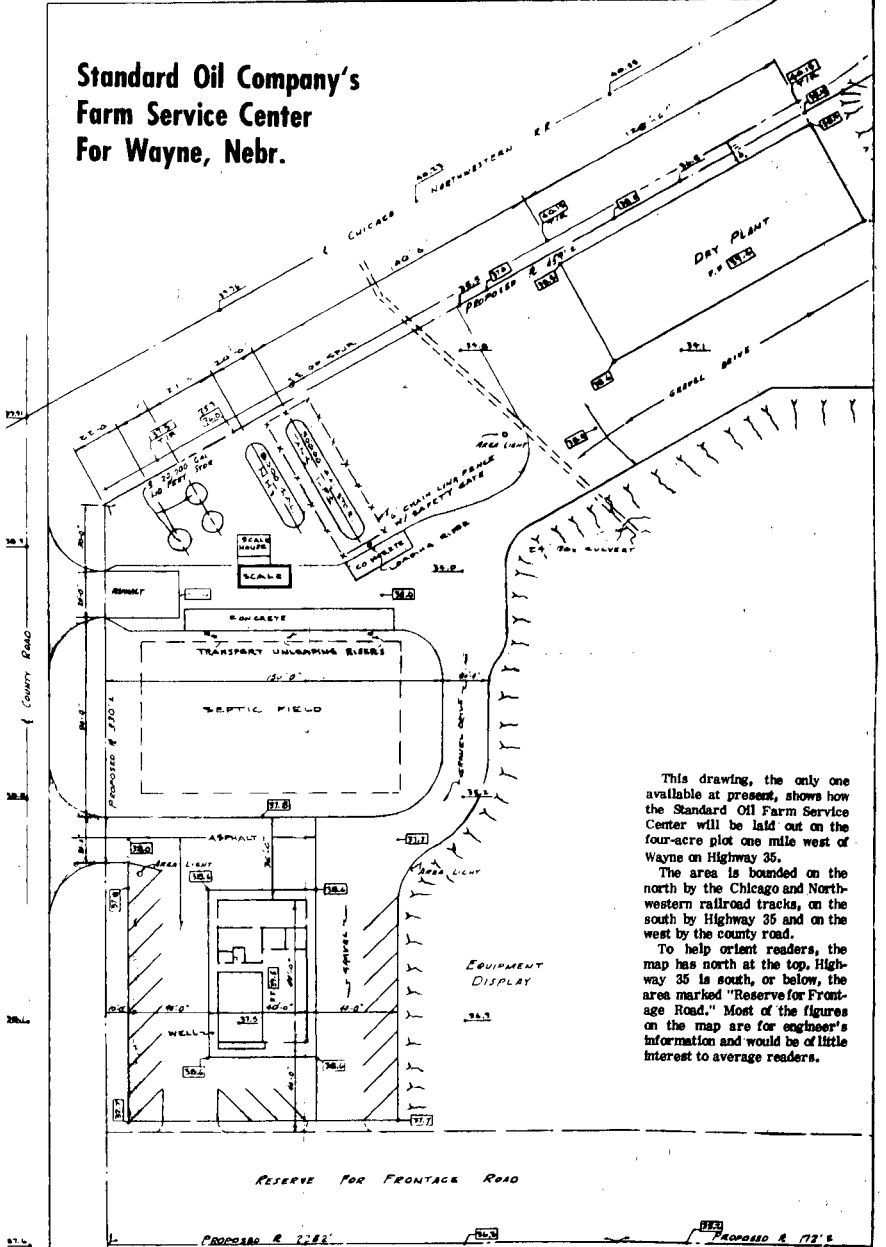

Audio-visual equipment will be on hand for organization meetings. Similar Standard Oil centers are in operation in Beatrice, Fremont and York.

No illustration of the Wayne installation is available yet, but Standard Oil officials assured The Wayne Herald Friday that as soon as a drawing of the new Center is available it will be forwarded for publication.

Officials of Wayne Industries have been working with the Standard Oil Company for more than a year in an effort to get the center located in Wayne.

The 68 x 30 foot steel building presently on the site and formerly occupied by the Wayne Veterinary Clinic will be sold. Officials of Wayne Industries are presently accepting bids on the structure to be moved from the site.

GREEN-CHOPPING OFFERS SOME RETURN on a crop badly damaged by the drought conditions existing in this part of the state. Howard Gillespie, Dixon County agent, estimates that about five per cent of the farmers in Dixon County have green-chopped or will green-chop their corn. Possibly as many as 60 per cent of the farmers may put their corn in a silo. He said that he has never seen crop conditions this bad in this part of the state and he has been here since 1947.

NU Student Forms

All University of Nebraska students who pre-registered for the fall term must return class registration forms by Aug. 28 to retain the classes.

The forms were mailed to all pre-registered students in mid-August to secure confirmation, completion and personal signature, according to Gerald Bowler, director of registration and records at the University.

All students who did not pre-register must go through general registration Sept. 4-7 in the Coliseum.

If a student who pre-registered for the fall semester wants to drop or add a class, he may do so during the drop and add period starting Sept. 9. However, such students must return the registration form to retain the classes they do want for the fall semester.

The traditional new student orientation will be held Sept. 5-6. New students will have an opportunity to meet with their advisors and complete a health review. Dr. Mark Hobson, vice chancellor and dean of faculties, will speak at the new student convocation at 8:30 a.m. Sept. 6 in the Coliseum.

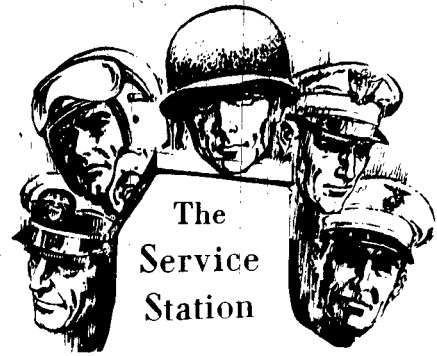

growing plants change nitrate to protein in the sunshine so many farmers are green-chopping in the afternoon rather than morning and planning to cut silage from mid-morning into the evening and then only on sunny days, Tolman reports.

Most of the drought-damaged corn Northeast Station has records of is high enough in nitrate that less than normal production can be expected from it unless

VA Dental Treatment Has Deadline

Veterans in Nebraska who need dental care for conditions that developed during active military service should apply to the Veterans Administration within the first year after their release from military service.

C. W. Nixon, manager of the VA Regional Office in Lincoln, Nebraska, said that in most instances veterans are limited by law to a "one-time completion" of treatment for conditions incurred during military service and that generally this must come within a year after discharge.

However, the one-year limitation does not apply to treatment of service-connected dental disabilities that are severe enough to rate VA compensation, he said.

Conditions resulting from service wounds or injuries—although too minor to rate compensation—can also be treated after one year. Nixon said the same is true of dental conditions that the VA decides are aggravating other service-connected conditions. Also, former prisoners of war are entitled to dental care as often as needed for service-connected dental disabilities.

Nixon said treatment for some dental conditions may be started for Vietnam veterans even before a final decision has been made on the service connection, provided application is made within six months after release from service.

Disabled veterans who are receiving training under VA's vocational rehabilitation program and Spanish-American War veterans are eligible for dental care without regard to a service connection.

It is fed in small amounts with other feed.

A reduction of nitrate can be expected in the silo, Tolman added. This nitrate reduction occurs during the first part of the storage season during the time the silage is fermenting and heating. This nitrate loss may be accompanied by the production of poisonous nitrate gases and nitrates may be concentrated in seeping liquid. Care should be taken, Tolman advised, to protect both humans and animals from seepage and gases from fermenting silage, either of which can be very dangerous.

Winemaker, Beware!

Home wine makers who want to make just a little stuff for their own consumption may be stirring trouble with the IRS. No, not in non-payment of income tax, but in failing to get permission to produce tax-free fermented juice of the grape.

Heads of families may produce up to 200 gallons of wine, for the use of their immediate families only, if they comply with the Federal statute requiring prior registration of their intent to produce the wine.

Registration forms for this purpose, for prospective family-use wine makers in the State of Nebraska, may be obtained from the Office of the Chief Inspector, Alcohol & Tobacco Tax, Room 508, Federal Building, 208 North Broadway, St. Louis, Missouri 63102.

Properly completed forms must be submitted in duplicate to the above office at least five days before the production of wine is begun.

If qualified, the home wine maker gets back one copy of the form as authorization to produce not more than two hundred gallons of wine during the twelve-month period from July 1 through June 30. A new registration form must be filed for each year the home producer wishes to make wine.

The exemption given under Federal law for the production of tax-free wine is solely for family use; it does not apply to an unmarried person unless he qualifies as head of a family, or a married man living apart

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE
In the District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska.
In the Matter of the Application of Ronald R. Mann, Conservator of Arlene Mann, for Leave to Sell Real Estate.
On reading the petition, duly verified of Ronald R. Mann, conservator of Arlene Mann, filed herein for a license to sell the following described real estate, to-wit:
An undivided one-eighth interest in the West Half of the Northwest Quarter (W1/2NW1/4) of Section Thirty-two (32), Township Twenty-five (25) North, Range Five (5) East of the 6th P.M., Wayne County, Nebraska, and the Southeast Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (SE1/4NE1/4) of Section Thirty-one (31), Township Twenty-five (25) North, Range Five (5) East of the 6th P.M., Wayne County, Nebraska.
It appearing from said petition that said personal property in the hands of said conservator and belonging to said ward and the income from the above described real estate are insufficient to maintain said ward and to pay the debts and expenses of administering the estate of said ward and that it would be for the benefit of the said ward if the real estate should be sold and the proceeds thereof invested at interest.
It is ordered that the next of kin of said ward and all persons interested in her estate appear before the District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska, in chambers at the Court House in the City of Stanton, Nebraska, on September 19, 1968, at 10:00 o'clock A.M. to show cause, if any there be, why license should not be granted to the said Ronald R. Mann, conservator, to sell said real estate for the purposes above set forth.
It is further ordered that notice of such hearing be given to all persons interested in the conservatorship by publication once each week for three successive weeks in The Wayne Herald, a legal newspaper printed and published and of general circulation in Wayne County, Nebraska.
Dated this 8th day of August, 1968.

SERVING WAYNE AND NORTHEAST NEBRASKA TWICE WEEKLY

1969 State Fair Will Open Friday Masten Sees Urban Life As It Really Is

The 1968 version of the Nebraska State Fair, the ninety-ninth annual event, has every sign of being the biggest and best in the long history of the program. The Fair opens at 8 o'clock, the morning of Friday, Aug. 30. It will run through Sept. 5.

Henry F. Brandt, State Fair manager, has arranged for a host of big name entertainers and outstanding agricultural displays and competition. One of the new attractions will be the first run of the "Fairgrounds Express," a train that will carry people around the 250-acre State Fair layout.

Headlining the entertainment card will be Big Al Hirt, famed jazz trumpeter from New Orleans. Hirt and an all star show will be featured in front of the Grandstand Sept. 2-5. Others on the program will include television and recording star, Skitch Henderson; comedian Don Rice; the big name band of Frankie Masters and the singing sensations of television and movie fame, the Young Americans.

Launching the 1968 State Fair entertainment Aug. 31 and Sept. 1 will be singer-songwriter Marty Robbins. He will head a cast of western favorites in the Grandstand shows on those two nights. Sharing the spotlight with Robbins will be Hank Thompson and his Brazo Valley Boys, the Plainsmen Quartet and others.

Nebraska leads the nation this year in hosting the first National Register of Merit Hereford Show. Premium money in the amount of $15,000 is expected to attract a record number of entries.

Over 1,000 FFA members are expected to exhibit at this year's Fair. In Nebraska there are 114 chapters of FFA and Future Farmers from most of them will be on hand. The center of attraction will be the FFA Barn, where hog, sheep, beef and dairy shows will be held.

A major portion of this year's Fairground thrills will be centered around the four days of auto racing. The big cars will race Aug. 31 through Sept. 2, and the super-modified cars on Sept. 5. All events will be in the afternoon.

The state baton twirling contest and a battle of combos will add even more variety to the Fair.

Joe Masten, the new superintendent at Winside High School, took part this summer in what was an eye-opening experience. In competition with a course at the University of Nebraska, Masten and a group of students went to Chicago to study education and living in the urban society.

Divided into groups called task forces, the students set up interviews with people in the area of their study and had certain individuals come in to talk to the students. One of these people, Dr. Fry of the United Presbyterian Church, gave a talk concerning the ghetto.

Through the efforts of Dr. Fry the students in Masten's task force were visited by two members of the famed Blackstone Rangers. After talking to the task force the two gang members took the group through a Chicago ghetto.

In the ghetto the students saw gang headquarters, houses purchased specifically for gang headquarters. The houses were completely redone on the inside with the walls and ceilings painted black. All the trim in them was painted red. Masten reported that all the work required to alter the appearances of the gang headquarters is voluntary.

The area Masten traveled through was at one time an elite area of Chicago. Such famous houses as the Cudahy and Armour houses were in this area. Masten said these houses are now multi-unit apartments with the porches torn off and windows broken. By middle class standards the houses are in near shambles, according to Masten. Rent in the houses starts at $105 per month for a studio-type apartment. A one-bedroom apartment costs about $135 a month and a three-bedroom apartment costs from $175 a month up. This is about $25 per month less than apartments in the modern high rise units that line Lake Michigan.

Masten said that these were just a few of the things the task forces studied during their stay in Chicago.

There will be a similar trip made to Chicago in November for anyone interested in seeing close at hand the problems of living in ghettos and slums. Those desiring more information about the coming trip should contact Dr. Howard Eckle at the University of Nebraska. The cost for rooms and transportation during the trip is about $100.

Wayne Co. IFYE Student Leaves Today

Jennifer Laycock, an International Farm Youth Exchange student who has been staying at the Marvin Wittler farm southeast of Winside the past two and one half weeks, will leave for Dixon County today. At the time of an interview with her Thursday she did not know the name of the family she would be staying with.

After staying in Dixon County for about three weeks she will go on to Phelps County and then to Custer County. She has already spent three months in Rhode Island where she stayed with four different families.

Miss Laycock is from Lancashire, England where her father owns a dairy and poultry farm there. He has about 12,000 poultry and from 50 to 80 dairy cattle.

She said there are several things about American life that are quite different from what she has known. Driving on the right side of the road was quite difficult for her for a time, but she finally got used to it. She saw her first drive-in movie in America, a thing that doesn't exist in England.

One thing that was interesting to her in America was when she attempted to ride a horse. She tried to ride it English style and the horse was not very cooperative.

Confident that she would not like the United States when she left England, she has changed her opinion greatly. She now says she doesn't want to return to England and the daily grind of working for a living. She said that the most striking thing about Americans is their great hospitality.

Miss Laycock also had a few comments about the educational ideas of Americans. She said that in England there is nothing similar to the American's great concern for their children to obtain a college education. In England, according to her, a person doesn't need an advanced education to get along. However, she mentioned that in England a person with a university degree is somebody to be admired and respected. This doesn't seem to hold true in America because so many people have college degrees that the importance of the degree is diminished.

One of three IFYE students from the United Kingdom, Miss Laycock spent one week at Ohio State University at Columbus. About 37 other IFYE students from 34 different countries gathered there for a week of discussion and other activities.

IFYE, conducted by the National 4-H Club Foundation for the Cooperative Extension Service, is a rural education program operating between the United States and about 35 countries annually. Financial assistance for the U.S.-U.K. exchange is provided by the Ford Motor Company Fund.

King, the American Saddle Bred horse belonging to Bonnie Herfel, died Tuesday afternoon at the Dixon County Fair. Bonnie, formerly of Dixon and presently working in Sioux City, had entered the eleven-year-old horse in the horse judging Monday at the fair and the horse became sick shortly after the judging.

Over the years Bonnie had ridden King in several events in this area of the state and King had won several awards. About the most recent event they were in was the Rivercade Parade at Sioux City.

Bonnie had owned the horse for the past nine years and recently had been keeping him at Wallen's Training Stables in Sioux City.

Bonnie was chosen Truckers Queen in Sioux City in May of 1967.

SS Q & A
Q. I have heard that the Social Security tax rate went up in 1968. Is this correct?
A. No. The Social Security tax rate is 4.4% for the employee and 6.4% for the self-employed person in 1968—the same rate as in 1967. However, the amount of income from which the tax is withheld has increased. In 1967 it was $6,600. This increased to a maximum of $7,800 in 1968.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

You may not agree with an editorial — but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

Flag Etiquette

A rather shocking scene unfolded Tuesday night at the Dixon County fair at Concord when Jack Schreiber's Allen High School band was playing the national anthem.

At the start of the anthem the grandstand, almost as a body, rose to salute, but many persons near the bandstand and in the immediate area of the band, completely ignored the playing of the anthem and either watched in impatience or continued conversation, just talking louder to overcome the sound of the band.

We don't know any of the persons who committed this breach of etiquette and it pleases us that we do not. In the troubled times of recent years when so many persons act and talk unpatriotically, there is good reason to show love for flag and country. Coming to attention or salute during the playing of the anthem is an easy way to do it.

This is not to say that those who ignored the band's playing are unpatriotic or dissident. We'd bet a steak off one of the fine 4-H heaves we saw at Concord that those people are as patriotic as most Americans and much more patriotic than some we could name.

It is just that the courtesy to the flag was ignored. Apparently there is ample room for a program of flag courtesy in Dixon county, as well as in all its neighboring counties.

Perhaps this would be a continuing project of veterans organizations. Surely it would take only a slight reminder to make these people show their respect.

Please, next time the national anthem is played, don't be hesitant to stand up and show your patriotism.

Game Commission . . . Again!

Apparently the John Kurtz story is far from ended.

The Wayne Herald, along with other newspapers in Nebraska, recently received a letter from Lorenz Raben, a Crawford area rancher, protesting the treatment of Kurtz by the Game Commission.

Kurtz has been ordered transferred from Fort Robinson State Park after nearly a year of hassle between a group of ranchers in the Crawford area on one hand and Kurtz and the game commission on the other.

The ranchers threatened to close over a million acres of land to hunting unless Kurtz was transferred.

After a hearing this spring, in which Kurtz and his attorneys were called on to defend Kurtz against unspecified charges made by anonymous accusers, the game commission voted to keep him at the Fort for an indefinite period.

Then the news broke that a 90-day moratorium had been requested on discussion of the matter. Following the 90-day period the dissent flared anew.

Now comes the news that Kurtz is to be transferred from the Fort Robinson State Park he has worked so hard and so well to develop.

At the spring hearing in Lincoln a large crowd of supporters for Kurtz appeared to make statements in his behalf. More than 500 persons had written letters to the commission for the same reason.

Only one person spoke against Kurtz, and he in vague and indefinite phrases.

Now, it appears, that many of those who earlier signed petitions asking for Kurtz' transfer have taken their names from the petitions and the ranchers' organization has withdrawn from the effort to remove Kurtz.

Raben, along with 24 other ranchers and ranch owners, is joining the fight on the other side of the fence to save Kurtz, Fort Robinson and the face of Nebraska in this fight.

This is really more than a fight to keep a good man in a job he has done well. This fight goes to the very core of the democratic system of government and the worth of the state constitution.

Here is a small group of men, appointed to represent the people in a specialized area of interest, operating the public monies, but acting not in the best interests of the state and conducting themselves in a manner which causes most Nebraskans to doubt the validity of their moves.

A commissioner is appointed by the Governor for a specified term. He cannot be removed at the pleasure of the Governor, according to our constitution.

Most of our monies handled by the commission come not from taxes but from hunting and fishing license fees, state park fees and the like.

The legislature's only weapon to control actions of other state commissions is to reduce the amount of tax money allocated for their budgets. Much of this deterrent is lost in the case of the game commission.

As of this writing it appears that no matter what else happens the commission will transfer John Kurtz.

No reasons for the action have ever been given. Much of the discussion has been in executive session from which reporters were excluded.

So much of the commission's open discussion in this affair has been clouded in veiled suggestions, innuendoes and disagreement among its members that we think it is time for the public, the legislature and the governor to demand a full reporting of the event.

Nebraska has already been hurt immeasurably by the actions of a few persons, and steps should be taken to see that it does not happen again.

reconstruct some of the early history of the tribe. Tradition suggests that the ancestors of the Omaha once lived in the Ohio River Valley. According to this tradition, this early group of Indians split into a northern group and a southern group. The southern group became the Quapaws. The northern group again split and produced the Kansa, Osage, Omaha and Ponca which originally inhabited what is now Nebraska, only the Omaha and part of the Ponca still live on a portion of their ancestral homeland. The Omaha reservation in Thurston County along the Missouri River is located on territory claimed by the Omaha since 1750, and probably much earlier. From tribal traditions and studies of language, it is possible to

Q. I am always having trouble keeping my medical bills and receipts in one place. Is there any way I can keep these bills all together?
A. Yes. There is a folder provided by the Social Security Office especially for this purpose. Contact your Social Security representative or office and ask for the folder OASI-881C. This folder is designed to hold your medical bills and to summarize the amounts.
Q. I was told by a friend to apply for my Social Security benefit six months before I was ready to retire. Is this correct?
A. No. We prefer that you file your application before you are ready to retire. However, it can't be filed any sooner than the third month before you want it to be effective. For instance, if you are 65 in September, June would be the first month in which you could file an application.

high score to low score. Next meeting will be Aug. 27 at the Ward Johnson home.

Articles Missing
Friday, Aug. 16 a house owned by Frank Marten, 3 miles south and 1 1/2 miles east of Hoskins, was entered by forcing the door. Furniture, including an antique clock, a step ladder and garden hose, was taken. Frank Marten lives in Hoskins and since the farm home is in Stanton County the case is being investigated by Emil P. Christensen, Stanton Co. Sheriff.

MELVIN GOULD, third place winner in the 6,000 pound class in the tractor pull at Dixon County fair Tuesday is shown coming down the track between weight men and closely followed and observed by track officials. Gould pulled the weighted sled 115 feet.

SO THAT'S IT! A Massey-Harris tractor with four exhausts is unusual, especially when it is equipped with dual air filters and easily wins tractor pulls in its class. Examining the modification is Bill Heitman (leaning on tire), Lauren Johnson, directly behind Heitman, and Johnson's two sons, Leonard and Lowell. All are from Laurel and came to the Dixon County fair Tuesday to see the tractor pull. The tractor was driven by John Sandahl, Wayne.

CHIP OFF THE OLD BLOCK

Repairing this house cost $6,735, but the driver had only $5,000 property damage insurance. If he'd paid one dollar or so more per year, Beta Casualty would have paid all the bill, up to $10,000. Make sure you're not that driver; call us.
