WSC Profs Embark On 'Treasure Hunt'

Two members of the Wayne State English faculty, Mrs. Minnie Rice and Mrs. Ruby Pedersen, will leave Wayne Saturday on a literary treasure hunt in New York. Both are working on research projects concerning the late Mari Sandoz, one of Nebraska's illustrious authors.

They will consult with a publisher's representative who worked extensively with Miss Sandoz and has many of her original manuscripts. Mrs. Rice plans to compare original manuscripts with published versions as part of her research.

On their way home they will visit the University of Wisconsin, where Miss Sandoz taught 11 summers. Mrs. Pedersen is studying educational phases of the author's career.

Tony's Not Married

An error was made in the story concerning Judy Reiners in the August 26th issue of The Wayne Herald.

It was reported that Judy is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Reiners. Tony assured us that he is not married. We offer our apologies.

Top Beef Brings $41 cwt At Annual Laurel Calf Sale

One hundred forty-four steers and heifers went up on the auction block during Tuesday night's annual Dixon-Cedar 4-H calf sale at the Laurel ball park.

Top price was paid to Freddie Kallin's Reserve Champion heifer. Lorton Burton of Coleridge paid $41 a hundred for the heifer which was appraised by Needham at $26.50. Second highest price went to Wayne Chapman's Champion steer. Lockwood Livestock of South St. Louis City paid $40 a hundred; Hormel had appraised the steer at $29. Kallin is from Coleridge, Chapman from Allen.

Danny Patefield of Laurel showed the Champion heifer at the event. It was appraised at $27.25 by Hormel and was purchased for $38 by Atokad. Reserve Champion steer was shown by Dennis Krel of Coleridge. Nebraska State Bank of South St. Louis City and Tri-County Coop of Laurel purchased the steer, appraised by Hormel at $28.75, for $34.

Garry Roerber, a beginner as far as calf showing goes, saw his prize Angus heifer, Tamie, sell for $30 to Fredrickson Oil of Wayne. Needham had appraised the animal at $26.50.

Dick Paine of Yanikon again served as the master of ceremonies at the sale. Just before the sale a barbecue was held at the ball park. The barbecue was made possible by the Laurel Chamber of Commerce which bought all the food necessary. Serving as the head of the barbecue committee was Mel Olson of Laurel. Estimates of the crowd varied, but it was thought about equal to last year's. The Old Time Band donated their time to supply the crowd with music.

Gene Sohler was in charge of the sale and the judging during the day. The crowd that turned out for this part of the activity was a little larger than last year. There were about 30 more calves shown and sold at the event. Each youngster could only show one calf and the calf had to be one that had been entered in a county fair. There were 107 steers and 37 heifers shown.

The girl's showmanship award went to Mary Jean Peltz of Hartington. Boy's showmanship award went to Wayne Chapman.

One of the honored guests at the sale was Senator J. W. Burback of Crofton.

Auctioneers from all over northeast Nebraska donated their services during the Tuesday night sale. Helping out were Jerry Miller and Bernie Peltz, Hartington; Ross Armstrong, Larry Lowe and Don Pollack, Ponca; Oscar Koester, Allen; Roy Johnson, Concord; Leonard Kurtzals and Tiny Lamphear, Coleridge; and Martin Lockwood, South St. Louis City.

Youngsters from Allen, Wakefield, Coleridge, Dixon, Concord, Randolph, Wynok, Laurel, Wayne, Hartington and Wausa showed calves during the show and sale.

Jackpot Now $150

Some lucky Wayne shopper will have the opportunity to pick up an extra $50 this Thursday night, as there was no winner in last Thursday's drawing. The Thursday night jackpot now stands at $150.

Mrs. John Rohlf missed out on last week's $100 prize when she was not in a cooperating store when her name was called.

Firms to Close

All Wayne business firms will be closed Monday, Sept. 2, so that their employees can enjoy the Labor Day holiday.

Wayne Post office will be closed Monday, according to Don Wightman, postmaster.

No city or rural deliveries will be made Monday. Mail will be distributed to boxholders and dispatches of mail will be made on a Sunday schedule.

PASTOR SHIRCK accepts a gift presented him by his church from Tom Hughes. The gift was presented to Pastor Shirck at a social gathering in his honor Sunday night at the church.

Many Area Exhibits Will Make Trip to State Fair

It's state fair time in Nebraska again, and as always, many Nebraskans, both young and old, are busy making preparations to journey to Lincoln to compete, be informed and entertained at this year's fair, which runs from August 30 to September 5.

Exhibits at this year's fair are many and varied, ranging from the traditional livestock and preserves entries to home decorating to electronics. Visitors at the grandstand will be able to see entertainment ranging from top-name musical performers to sprint car racing.

The largest and oldest part of the fair, livestock competition, has become increasingly stiffer in recent years. Animals are no longer judged solely on their appearance, but also on the amount and quality of meat they will produce, and the illness of their being able to produce high-quality offspring.

Only animals winning ribbons at county fairs are allowed to compete at the state fair, to make the competition even stiffer.

Wayne County 4-H'ers exhibiting livestock at the fair this year are Jack Slevers and Kevin Dorsey, beef; Amy Corryell, Tom Kerstine, Terry Davis and Don Frink, horses. Ken, Bill and Connie Sachau, John Rastede and Nancy Chapman will represent Dixon County with beef exhibits.

4-H'ers have an opportunity to do some judging of their own at the state fair too, as top county teams and individuals test their skill against one another in selecting top quality animals, foods and clothing.

Representing Wayne County in the judging divisions this year are Jacqueline Slevers, Ronnie Magnuson, Dave Roberts and Ruth Gustafson, livestock; Linda Baler, Melinda Anderson, Sandra Hansen and Ruth Kemy, food and clothing.

Judges from Dixon County going to Lincoln are Alyce Johnson, Connie Sathau, Kathryn Chapman and Pam Harder in the food and clothing.

The big event of distaff 4-H'ers is the dress revue, which is held in the 4-H arena. 180 girls will model clothing at this year's fair. These entries represent the best of 16,272 clothing entries that have been entered in county fairs across the state. In order to make the trip to Lincoln, state fair models must have won a county fair purple ribbon in one of three divisions. Modeling dresses this year from Wayne County will be Sandra Hansen and Kathy Danikau. Giving demonstrations representing Wayne County at the fair this year are Mary Pat Flinn, Linda Baler, Gloria Pollard, individual demonstrations, and Karla Miller. See AREA EXHIBITS, page 2.

Weather

Almost two weeks of no rain was broken yesterday morning. The last recorded rainfall at the State National Bank in Wayne was on August 15 when .08 inch fell. As of 9:30 a.m. Wednesday .50 inch was recorded at the bank.

Wednesday's rainfall brought the total for August up to 1.15 inch. The following amounts of rainfall have been recorded: August 4, .09; 8, .22; 9, .22; 13, .14; and 15, .08.

The total rainfall recorded in Wayne during July was 4.52. June's total was 4.47. Both are a long way from the total so far this month.

Many crops, especially a few miles in almost any direction from Wayne, have suffered severely from the lack of rain. Many farmers are already green-chopping their corn and more are planning on putting their corn in silos.

Council Opens Bids for New Paving, Light Plant Changes

Opening of bids for the building of a new intersection at Seventh and Main Street was the first order of business for the Wayne City Council Tuesday night as they met in regular session. In other business the council opened bids for the remodeling of one of the generators at the light plant, appointed a new member to the Planning Commission and conducted other routine business.

Finning Concrete Products, Winsor, was the apparent low bidder for the construction at the Seventh and Main intersection. They submitted a bid of $36,223.05. Other bidders on the project were Gerhold Co., Columbus, with a bid of $39,307.11, and Leonard Gill, Jackson, who submitted a bid of $40,969.35.

After hearing the bids, the council referred them to committee for further study.

The new construction planned for the intersection calls for widening Seventh Street from Pearl to Logan, and widening Main Street for a little over a half block both to the north and to the south. The new intersection will have left turn lanes, be wider and at some future date will have a traffic light, although the light was not included in this bidding.

The bid also included the paving of a portion of Blaine Street between Second and Third Street, as well as a small portion of storm sewer to be installed in that same block.

The appointment of a new member to the City Planning Commission was the next order of business for the Council. After some consideration Mayor Koplin appointed Cletus Sharer as the new member of the commission. A roll call vote unanimously approved the mayor's appointment. Also considered for the commission post were Lowell Thompson and LeRoy Barner.

A contract for the spraying of the city trees was then brought before the council. After considerable discussion as to the See COUNCIL, page 2

50th Anniversary Services Set for Concord Church

Concord's Evangelical Free Church will hold its 50th Anniversary services today through Sunday. Featured speakers will be some of the former pastors of the congregation.

Rev. Oscar Anderson, the second pastor of the church who served from 1922 to 1924, will be the speaker tonight. Friday night Rev. Harold Carlson of Kenosha, Wis., will preach the message. Rev. Carlson is one of four preacher brothers, sons of Mrs. Hildur Carlson of Wayne. All grew up in Concord and were members of the Evangelical Free Church.

Sunday will be marked by three services. At 11 a.m. the District Superintendent, Rev. Marvin Westlund, will preach to the congregation. He will also speak at the afternoon anniversary service at 3 p.m. Several former pastors will also be present to give greetings. Coffee and refreshments will be served following the afternoon service.

Sunday night Rev. Ray Johnson, superintendent of the central district, who served as pastor from 1952-1955, will be the speaker at the service at 7:30 p.m.

Fund Drive for New Wayne County Museum Scheduled to Begin Soon

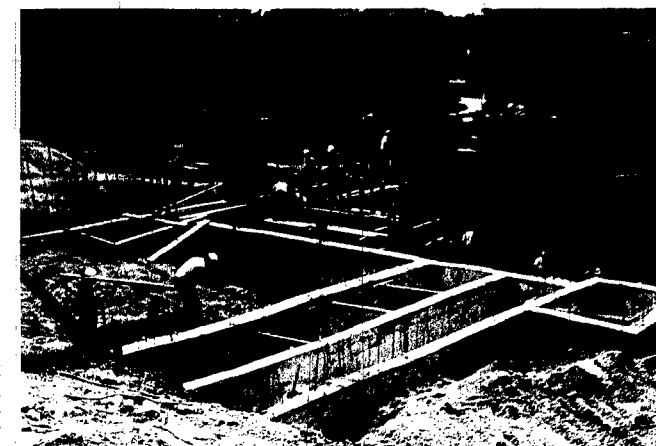

About 25 members of the Wayne County Historical Society met Monday evening to make plans for beginning a canvass of the county for new members. The memberships are to be used to construct a new Wayne County Museum.

Land for the new museum, which is to be built across from the airport east of Wayne, has already been donated to the society by Mrs. Clarence Sorenson. In addition to the building site, society officials said that they will need to sell $1 individual memberships to each person in the county or $5 family memberships to every family in the county in order to raise the money needed to construct the proposed new museum.

Membership captains have been appointed for the precincts in Wayne County, and for Wayne, Winside and Carroll. A door-to-door membership drive is to begin soon. Anyone living outside Wayne County who wishes to make a donation for the new museum should contact Goldie Leonard, secretary of the society, or Joy Hein, who is in charge of membership accounts.

A list of the membership campaign captains and additional information concerning the fund drive will be published in a future issue of The Herald.

New Construction Greets WSC Students; Housing Shortage Limiting Enrollment

The beginnings of two construction projects will greet some 3,000 students coming to Wayne State College in September. Foundation work started in July on a new science building and an addition to Conn Library.

A notable feature of the $1,500,000 science facility is that it will provide 23 laboratories, compared with five in the present building, erected in 1912. Among other features: a planetarium area, computer room, provision on the rooftop for an observatory and stable increase in space for instructional materials.

Many of the laboratories are planned for specialized use. Each pair of offices will have a common laboratory for use by faculty and upper division students to do independent study.

The new building is located just west of the present science-mathematics hall, which will be converted to lecture-room use on completion of the new structure, expected in September, 1969.

The $800,000 addition to the library will more than triple study space for students, add shelving space for some 50,000 new books and provide numerous other library facilities, especially in the instructional materials center. The three-level addition is on the front of the present library and will create an L-shaped structure. Enrollment estimates predict about 3,000 students, slightly over last fall's 2,961. Shortage of additional housing is a limiting factor, with residence halls reserved to capacity and off-campus quarters nearly all rented. For some time now, Director of Admissions Jimmie Hummel has accepted new students conditionally—if they can find a place to live or can commute.

The fall term of Wayne State's trimester schedule has these major dates: September 4, faculty meetings; 5, dormitories open to receive freshmen and registration for evening courses from 7 to 9 p.m.; 6, dormitories open to upperclassmen and registration for freshmen; 7, registration for upperclassmen and orientation for freshmen; 9, classes begin.

Among major events during the term: Band Day September 28; Homecoming October 12; Parents Day October 26; Thanksgiving recess November 28, 29; final examinations December 16-19; Commencement December 19.

In addition to major construction projects, the campus has several lesser changes. Football spectators will find the bleachers on the east side of Memorial Stadium moved to the outside of the running track, with a new aisleway in front of the bleachers.

In back of the bleachers is a revamped parking area, built up with dirt from excavation for the science building.

Several new sidewalks have been laid—following the principle that you walk to find where people walk, then put the sidewalk there.

Recreation Football Begins Next Week

Recreation football is drawing near, according to Hank Overlin, city recreation director.

Tuesday youngsters entering eighth grade can check out football uniforms at 4 p.m. at the Wayne Boys Club above the fire house. First practice for these youngsters will be Wednesday at 4 p.m. at the Wayne ball park. They will also practice at 4 p.m. Thursday.

Friday, Sept. 6, youngsters entering the sixth and seventh grades check out uniforms at 4 p.m. at the Wayne Boys Club. First practice for these boys will be from 3 to 5 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 7, at the ball park.

Boys entering the fourth and fifth grades this year are to report to the ball park at 10 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 7, for flag football practice. Also on Saturday, the eighth grade will hold another practice from 1 to 3 p.m. at the ball park.

PICTURED ABOVE is a Standard Oil Service Center similar to the one that is to be constructed at the Wayne industrial site east of Wayne. The center which is scheduled to be completed late this year, will handle agricultural chemicals, LP gas, anhydrous ammonia and liquid and dry fertilizers. The center will also have an information service to advise farmers about chemicals, fertilizers and other farm problems.

and Luann Rhode, team demonstration. Carolyn Miller is the only Dixon County 4-H'er with a demonstration entered at the fair this year.

Competitive displays also are on hand at the state fair to help inform visitors of the nutrition and beauty that can be introduced in food preparation.

The electronics division in 4-H competition proves that Nebraska 4-H'ers are keeping abreast with the space age. Competition in this bracket ranges from the simplest reading lamp to sophisticated electronic devices, including sound systems, radios and televisions.

The best of more than 5,000 home living projects will also be on hand at the state fair this year. Entries in this division feature small items such as hot dish mats up to larger items including refinished furniture, wall hangings, pictures and draperies.

Non-competitive exhibits are always on hand on the grounds to inform and entertain fairgoers. One of the most popular with the younger set is the gun safety booth set up in the Nebraska National Guard display area. This booth emphasizes the proper care and handling of guns. Boys and girls between the ages of 8 and 15 visiting this booth have an opportunity to shoot ten rounds from special air guns and receive special instructions on firearms. After completing this the youths are given a certificate and the ten rules of gun safety.

In addition to the 4-H competition and non-competitive displays, grandstand entertainment, manufacturing displays and midway rides will be on hand for the enjoyment of fairgoers.

effectiveness of spraying for dutch elm disease, the council entered into contract with Mid-America Helicopter Services for the spraying of the city's trees.

Although there was doubt as to its effectiveness, it was reported to the council that cities that have had a much lower rate of kill on their trees than those who did not spray.

The cost of spraying for dutch elm disease will be approximately $2,880, or about one dollar per tree. The contract also provides for the spraying of trees at Wayne State College, the cost of which is expected to be $301. This expense will be repaid to the city.

The Mayor then appointed members who are to serve on the Citizens' Advisory Council. Members appointed are:

Rev. Kenneth deFreese, Richard Hansen, Bonnie Otte, Clifford Pirkelman, Dale Miller, Don Kubik, Dr. George John, Harold Ingalls, Kenneth Dahl, Wilmer Griess, Louis Meyer, Mern Mordhorst, Alfred Sydow, Wayne Marsh, Ed Seymour, Bob

Goshorn, Harvey Brasch, Edith Wightman, Mary Fisher, Carl Haas, Hattie Hall, Mrs. L. D. From, Bill Reeg and Robert McLean.

The Mayor appointed Harold Ingalls to serve as chairman of the council.

E. A. Pederson Co. of Omaha was the only firm submitting a bid for the updating of the Superior engine at the power plant so that it would run at two different voltages, allowing smoother operation of the plant.

The Pederson Co. submitted three different bids to the council. The base bid for the work was $58,800. Alternate bid A, which calls for rewinding the generator was $59,800, and alternate plan B which called for rerouting the circuits was $52,300.

City Engineer Sid Magdanz reported to the council that if either the base bid or alternate bid A were accepted, the old control panel at the light plant could be sold for approximately $4,000.

A representative of the Pederson Co. also spoke to the council on the bids, explaining some of the technical differences in the three bids. The council then referred the bill to committee for further study before taking any action.

A final reading of the ordinance proposing the new land fill site was then read. Since there was no opposition to the new site, it was approved by the council.

City Engineer Magdanz then displayed the new zoning map to the council, showing changes that have been made recently. A hearing on the map will be held at a later date.

Magdanz also presented the council with a new property map. The map is up-to-date and shows all the recent additions to the city.

Magdanz submitted the estimate of the cost of constructing a drainage ditch and paving in Meadow Lane. The cost of the project would be approximately $47,600. After discussing the project, the council decided to table the matter, since the proposed drainage ditch would not help the problem of run-off water on to adjacent property.

A proposal was submitted that the city establish a nursery to replace any trees that might be destroyed by dutch elm disease. The council decided to discuss the matter with the area forester in order to determine which type of trees would be best to plant, the cost of the trees, and other considerations.

Repairing the well at the Wayne golf course was the next item of business to come before the council.

Members of the golf course had reported they believed the well needed repairs amounting to approximately $100. Norbert Brigger, after examining the well, said he believed the well needed an entire pump and that the cost would run closer to $1,000.

The question was then raised as to whether or not the golf course was in fact the responsibility of the City of Wayne. City Attorney John Addison said that he believed the golf course was a municipal facility, just as the city parks or swimming pool, and that the repairs were the city's responsibility.

After a lengthy discussion, the council decided to approve the council club's request for repairs, up to $100.

City Clerk Dan Sherry reported to the council that the sum of $8,800 had been received to pay for the new hangar at the airport. The amount is to be repaid in monthly installments of $55. He also reported that the hangar, which will accommodate four planes, is completed and that one space has been rented. Cost of renting space in the hangar is $35 per month.

Sherry also reported that the state tax commissioner will be in Wayne Sept. 16 to examine the city's books. This is necessary, he explained, because of the sales tax collections.

In further action the Council approved the sale of $220,000 worth of revenue bonds to pay for the new fire station and other construction projects.

The council adjourned at 10 p.m.

Crash, Bam—Wrecked Car; New One Wins Every Race

Gerald Bruggeman's prospects for triumphs at the Riviera Raceway must have looked pretty dim Friday night after the competition at Albion's Boone County Raceway. Bruggeman won the trophy dash and placed second in the second heat, but then had the misfortune to totally demolish his car.

Not letting the bad luck bother him, he and his pit crew bought a different body and frame and worked all day Saturday and Sunday getting the car ready for Sunday night's competition on Norfolk's oval. His new car must have run perfectly, for Bruggeman won every race he entered, including the trophy dash. He took first in both the third heat and the A Feature.

Bruggeman had trailed front-runner Gene Brudigan by over 100 points prior to Sunday's action, but his wins moved him to within 12 points of first place. Bob Anderson captured a first place in the second heat and a fourth place in the C Feature. Harold Brudigan took second in the third heat and third in the A Feature, and Gene Wagner came in fourth in the third heat and fifth in the A Feature.

Prior to Sunday's action, Gene Brudigan led the pack in point standings with 832 points. Bob Taylor, Gene Wagner and Gerald Bruggeman were tied for second place with 717 points. Farther down the pack were Harold Brudigan in 14th position with 419 points and Bob Anderson in 24th slot with 189 points.

Gene Wagner was leading the pack with 675 points going into Friday night's competition at Albion's Boone County Raceway. Gerald Bruggeman was trailing him closely in second place with 667 points and Gene Brudigan held down third place with 506 points. Having difficulty racking up points was Harold Brudigan who was in 26th position with 72 points.

Gene Wagner added to his total points by gaining a first in the third heat and coming in second in the A Feature. The best Gerald Bruggeman could do was to take second in the second heat and first in the trophy dash. Gene Brudigan took first in the A Feature and third in the first heat. Harold Brudigan won the first heat and came in fourth in the A Feature.

Wednesday, Aug. 21, Gene Brudigan, Gerald Bruggeman and

Harold Brudigan journeyed to Yankee's Westside Raceway for a night of competition. Prior to the opening races Gene Brudigan was out in front of all drivers with 130 points, seven more than the second-place man, Ray Haase of Norfolk. Bruggeman stood in third place with 112 points.

Bruggeman won the trophy dash in the competition, making three trophies garnered in one week. He also placed second in the first heat and fifth in the C Feature. Harold Brudigan captured third place in the first heat and sixth in the A Feature. Gene Brudigan's efforts yielded a third-place finish in the third heat.

Sunday is the season championship races at Norfolk's track. During the night over $400 will be awarded to some lucky spectator.

Oldtimers (Puff, Puff) Lose to Town Team

The oldtimers couldn't find the pincer to hold the Wayne town team down. They lost Saturday night's benefit tilt 20 to 3.

Several pitchers ascended the mound for the losers. Art Ellwanger started out on the mound but he was soon replaced. Also doing hurling duties were Harry Granquist, Jim Maly, LeRoy Barner, Don Lutt, Ray Vrtalaka over the whole game. Hank Overlin pitched the whole game for the town team.

A good crowd turned out for the game, played to raise money for the town team. Jim Pokett hoped a similar game can be played again next year.

ACCEPTING THE TRAVELING TROPHY from Club Pro Jim Christensen is Jim Marsh, championship winner in the annual Club Tournament at the Wayne Country Club. Also pictured are Bob Reeg, second-place finisher, and Don Sund, third-place finisher. Marsh shot a 27-hole total of two-under-par 106, three strokes better than Reeg.

Marsh's Final Round 33 Captures Club Tourney

Jim Marsh, one over after 18 holes of play, shot birdie, eagle and straight par for a final round of 33 and a 27-hole total of 106 to win the championship flight in the Wayne golf course Club Tournament Sunday. His 106 total was three strokes better than second-place winner Bob Reeg. Marsh's first round 37 was five strokes behind the record-tying 32 of Bill Schultz. Schultz faced around the first nine with four birdies and five pars, but fumbled the next time around, taking a double bogey on the par-three third hole and a bogey on the par-four seventh hole to come in at 39.

Schultz's 18 hole score of 71 was still better by two strokes than Marsh's 73, but Schultz carded a triple bogey on the first hole in the final round while Marsh birdied it and the tournament was all Marsh's from then on. Only Bob Reeg, lying 75 after 18 holes, challenged Marsh, but his two-under-par 34 wasn't good enough to overtake the leader.

Marsh will have his name inscribed on the traveling trophy, finally breaking Ken Dahl's string of three victories in a row. Dahl could never get started in the tournament, carding three straight rounds of two-over-par 88 for a 27-hole total of 114, eight strokes behind Marsh.

John Addison won the fifth flight with an 85. Wilmer Greless took second with an 87 and Doug Lyman took third with an 88.

Shorty Ellis took first-place honors in the sixth flight by shooting an 86, six strokes under second-place finisher Dick Berry. Harry Nieman came in third with a 93.

In the seventh flight, Gordon Nuernberger came in with a 94 to take first place. Second place went to W. C. Coryell with a 97 and M. Willers took third with a 98.

The tournament saw action for seven other flights and over 70 golfers. Jack Suhr won the first flight with a 38-37 for an 18-hole of 75, one stroke better than second-place winner Jim Sturm's 40-36. Don Koeber shot a 38-41 for a third-place finish of 79.

Nell Paul won the second flight with an 18 hole total of 80. S.

Siemagruz took second place with 81 and Les Lutt came in third with an 82.

In third-flight action, Arnie Reeg shot a 77 for first place honors, six strokes better than second-place finisher Bob Bergt. Rick Bornhoff and Roy Coryell shot 18-hole scores of 84 to tie for third place. Bornhoff won the toss.

Bill Taylor carded an 81 to take first place in the fourth flight. H. D. Addison and Ray Murray both shot 85's to tie for second place. Addison took the coin toss.

John Addison won the fifth flight with an 85. Wilmer Greless took second with an 87 and Doug Lyman took third with an 88.

Shorty Ellis took first-place honors in the sixth flight by shooting an 86, six strokes under second-place finisher Dick Berry. Harry Nieman came in third with a 93.

In the seventh flight, Gordon Nuernberger came in with a 94 to take first place. Second place went to W. C. Coryell with a 97 and M. Willers took third with a 98.

VA Q & A

Q—Can I buy a particular house I would like under the GI loan program even though the seller insists on getting more than the VA appraisal price?

A—Yes, you may, provided you are willing to pay in cash, from your own resources, the difference between the amount on the Veterans Administration certificate of reasonable value and the actual selling price of the house.

Q—I would like very much to serve as a volunteer in a VA hospital but my free time is limited to a couple of hours during the middle of the day. Is there a need for volunteer help during these odd hours?

A—There certainly is. The Veterans Administration Voluntary Service can use help just about any hour of the day, any day of the week, generally between 9:00 a.m. and 9:00 p.m. There are all kinds of jobs to be done. Check with your local VA hospital. Your interest and assistance will be most appreciated.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

It is the duty of an editorial writer to search all available facts before he sits down to write. From this basis the writer should be able to give a clear picture of important topics.

You may not agree with an editorial — but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

Where Are the Weapons?

With the Russian take-over of Czechoslovakia the few Czechs who feel constrained to resist the occupation are fighting occupying troops with the meager supply of weapons on hand.

Some are resorting to a passive resistance, others are writing slogans, carrying banners or participating in face-to-face battling.

Just at a time when the Czechs were enjoying some of the privileges of freedom, when liberal reforms were being instituted, when the clouds of restrictive communism were beginning to break away, their red friends moved in on a defenseless country to take away some of those hard-earned privileges.

Gunfire is used to intimidate or to annihilate, whichever is needed.

The citizenry is nearly helpless, being forced to resort to ruses, trickery and makeshift weapons.

One fact stands out in all this news. The average citizen, outraged though he may be, is helpless to do anything of a decisive nature. Why? He has no weapons except a few that are registered with authorities and what he may be able to steal from occupying forces.

It may seem far-fetched to assume that private citizens could fight enemy armor with their guns, but the French maquis were quite successful against the German forces in World War II.

Bare hands are even less effective against armor than privately-owned small arms. And these are the only weapons left now to the Czechs.

We are certain the Czechs love their country as much as we here in the United States love ours. They would like to defend it as vigorously against invasion as we would ours. But they have no guns! They must submit humbly to authority, no matter how illegal that authority may be.

So what? Registration and licensing of our guns in America could lead us to the same situation a few years from now.

State ETV System Found 'Unorganized, Haphazard'

LINCOLN — A national consulting team has recommended granting the Nebraska Educational Television Commission final responsibility for developing ETV programs for grade and high schools.

It said the present procedure of a separate ETV Council and the Metropolitan Omaha Educational Broadcasting Association (MOEBA) handling televised instruction needs improvement.

Elements for a strong ETV system are present in Nebraska, the team said, "but in far too unorganized, haphazard, or competitive fashion to do the most good."

The conclusions of a three-month study of ETV in Nebraska by the National Project for the Improvement of Televised Instruction were contained in a 16-page report.

The survey was conducted at the request of the State ETV Network, the State Education Department and the Nebraska Council for ETV.

The ETV Commission presently has little authority over televised instruction to elementary and secondary schools. The consultants said this should be changed in a hurry.

The Nebraska ETV Council and MOEBA should be dissolved, and the Nebraska ETV Commission given the responsibility for instructional television development and utilization," the report said.

The consultants also proposed pumping more state tax dollars into television programming to improve the quality of education in Nebraska and permit maximum participation by school districts.

One of the basic problems with the Nebraska ETV system, they said, is a lack of adequate programming throughout the state. Elementary and secondary schools in Nebraska now pay their own program costs through a per pupil assessment levied by the ETV Council.

The consultants said this approach has resulted in several smaller school districts declining to participate because of local costs.

The assessment plan has "reached a saturation point financially and some formula for state aid or direct appropriation for instructional television must soon be developed," the report said.

Other major recommendations:

—Development of a telecommunications center at the University of Nebraska to centralize facilities of the ETV Network. This project is now under way.

—Establishment of production facilities at Chadron State College so the needs of western Nebraska could be met.

—Appropriation of more local funds to acquire television sets for classrooms and expansion of local distribution systems.

—Operation of all production centers under the State ETV Commission.

The consultants said they heard "again and again that the problems and needs in the urban east and the ranching west were so different as to be almost unreconcilable" for ETV purposes.

However, they added, the study showed that "needs are more common than different" and that this should not be a roadblock to ETV development.

"Many of the future citizens of Omaha are now school children in central and western Nebraska, and many Omaha children will grow up and go away to make their living in rural America," the report said.

Members of the consulting team that made the study included George Balr, education director for the South Carolina ETV Network, Dr. William R. O'Dell, professor of education at Stanford University; Mrs. Margorie McKinney, in charge of instructional television at station WCET in Cincinnati, Ohio, and George Hall, associate director of the National Project for the Improvement of Televised Instruction.

ETV Group Adopts Budget
The State ETV Commission has approved a $5,118,700 tax-financed budget for the 1969-71 biennium, up $1,280,738 from the current two-year period.

The spending blueprint includes $1,792,620 for continuation of present programs and $3,326,080 for expansion. The biggest single item is $2,900,000 for a telecommunications center on the University of Nebraska Agriculture College campus.

The ETV unit was the first state agency to announce its complete 1969-71 budget plans. This year all departments must break their requests into two categories—continuation of present programs and expansion plans. This is designed to give the legislature a greater insight into state government revenue needs and how best to meet them.

The continuation portion of the ETV budget is comprised mainly of expenses for operation of the seven stations in the state network. The telecommunications building takes up the bulk of the expansion budget.

Tight Credit No Problem
State Banking Director C. R. Haines reports loans by Nebraska's 308 state-chartered banks rose $43.8 million to $523.7 million during the one-year period ended July 29.

The amount included $259.7 million for farm operation loans, $68 million for real estate mortgages, $89.5 million for commercial-industrial purposes, and $6.1 million for automobile purchases.

The remainder consisted of loans for retail consumer goods and modernization of residential property, with the exception of $6.3 million which was advanced to other financial institutions.

Haines said the figures show that the tight credit problem that confronted other parts of the country had no great impact on Nebraska over the past year.

Total resources of the state-chartered banks was listed at $1,007,600,517, a decline of $3.7 million from December but an increase of $114 million from a year earlier.

Bank deposits increased $104,641,601 over the 12-month period to $895,981,916. The bulk of the increase, or $71.1 million, was interest-bearing accounts. The state banks had $212,159,368 invested in U. S. Government Securities, com-

Cutting Cattle Corners

Holding cattle in the feedlot after they've reached finished condition costs you money twice. First, in the added cost of gain; second, because of the price-depressing effect of the extra pounds when steers hit the market.

Research shows the cost of putting a pound of gain on cattle weighing 1,100 pounds runs 27% higher than for 1,000 pound cattle. When cattle are fed to 1,200 pounds, the cost per pound of gain is a whopping 66% more than at 1,000 pounds.

Take your time when loading cattle for market!

Two-thirds of the bruises that contribute to meat loss on beef carcasses come from crowding or bumping animals during the trip to market. Half of these bruises are in the hip region or area of high-priced cuts. They apparently occur during the loading operation.

Credit Planning Needed

Credit is becoming more important every day to successful farm management. Because of the trend to fewer but larger farms, farmers must operate on borrowed capital, just like other businessmen do.

Whether a farmer gets the amount of credit he needs—when he needs it—will depend largely on his own money-managing ability.

Just as important is the way a farmer presents his case to a lending agency. He must be able to present a budget showing that the money he wants to borrow will be spent to the mutual advantage of himself and the lender. A farmer who can't demonstrate clearly how the money will be used to improve income may find credit at reasonable rates hard to locate.

Farmers, now and in the future, will need to place more emphasis on financial planning to get credit at reasonable rates. Having accurate records of income, expenses, depreciation schedules and enterprise accounting can be a big help.

Bed Linens on Sale

Shoppers planning to take advantage of lower prices offered by summer white sales should read labels carefully. Bedding manufacturers are standardizing terms used to describe bed linens. These changes might confuse customers. For example, sheets and mattresses once known as "double" are now called "full."

The bargain hunter should learn the names of popular mattress sizes. Measure your mat-

Part-Time Training for Disabled Vets

Veterans with service-connected disabilities serious enough to qualify for vocational rehabilitation through the Veterans Administration are now eligible for a part-time training allowance under a new law signed by President Johnson.

C. W. Nixon, manager of the VA Regional Office in Lincoln, said that before the President signed Public Law 90-431, which went into effect July 26, only veterans taking full-time vocational rehabilitation training were entitled to a training allowance.

In his special message to Congress on servicemen and veterans last January President Johnson called for enactment of the part-time vocational rehabilitation legislation. At that time the President said that "a disabled veteran can take vocational rehabilitation and receive a training allowance only if he trains full time. This restriction may present him with a hard choice: leave his job for training or forego the training itself. Clearly, that choice is unfair," the President said.

The new legislation continues the requirement that the veteran generally be rated at least 30 per cent service-disabled to be eligible for vocational rehabilitation but establishes a pro-rated schedule of training allowances based upon three-quarters and half-time training, Nixon said.

The full-time vocational rehabilitation training allowance remains at $110 monthly for veterans with no dependents, $150 for veterans with one dependent and $175 for veterans with two or more dependents; however, he said, permitted for the first time under PL 90-431 are three-quarters time training allowances of $90, $110 and $130 monthly, respectively, for veterans with no dependents, one dependent and two or more dependents. The newly authorized half-time training allowances are $55, $75 and $85 monthly.

Under the part-time vocational rehabilitation program, the VA will pay all tuition, fees and other training costs in addition to the training allowance, as it has done under the established full-time program, Nixon said. He emphasized that in addition to the training allowance and costs, the eligible service-disabled veteran, whether receiving full-time or part-time vocational rehabilitation training, is also paid a service-connected disability compensation from VA based on his degree of disability. Veterans rated 50 per cent or more disabled also receive an added dependents allowance as part of their compensation benefits.

The Manager said that detailed information on the liberalized vocational rehabilitation training program can be obtained from the VA Regional Office, Lincoln, Nebraska.
