Callan Speaks, Opens Headquarters 'Slave Auction' Set

Farmers should be given the same ability to compete in the open market by shutting down part of their production just as industrial plants do, Clair Callan told a group of about 60 people Wednesday afternoon in the Birch Room at the Wayne State campus.

Campaigning for election to Congress from the First District in Nebraska, Callan was in Wayne at the invitation of the Young Republicans on the campus. Following his speech to the group he helped open the Democratic Headquarters in the 100 block on West Second, Congressman Robert Denny now holds the congressional seat, following a victory over Callan in 1966.

Asked about what he would do about corporate farms if elected to Congress, Callan said that Congress can't legislate against corporations doing business in farming any more than they can against corporations doing business in steel or automobile production. "But, we should be able to demand that the corporate farms be able to stand on their own feet economically." They should not be able to transfer losses in farming to a parent corporation, thereby squeezing out the smaller farmer who cannot do this, he explained.

He noted that the federal government has a responsibility to assist Nebraska in doing those things Nebraska finds impossible to do by itself. The federal government can make the job in Nebraska easier financially because of the huge amounts of money they receive in taxes, Callan said.

Callan also said there should be a reform in the draft laws. He advocated going to a lottery system to make the draft fairer to the poorer and less educated young people in America. He also said he would be in favor of an all-volunteer army — up to a point. The nation, however, would have to make sure the volunteer army did not create an all-professional army.

Need a "slave" to help you with your housework or rake those leaves while you take in a Saturday football game?

If you do, just go to the First National Bank parking lot at 7 Thursday evening, October 17, and "buy" as many "slaves" as you need. The slave auction is being held by the Wayne High School junior class so they can raise money for the coming Junior-Senior Prom and Banquet.

About 70 hardworking Juniors will be sold that evening and will report to the buyers bright and early Saturday to begin working their way out of slavery.

The junior class hopes many housewives and businessmen will turn out to make the sale a success.

'Yes' Would Lower Voting Age to 19

By Norvin Hansen

(It is often said that an informed citizenry is necessary for a strong democracy. In fact, an informed citizenry is the last hope of a strong democracy, for only by being aware of the important questions facing the nation, state and county can a citizen cast his vote intelligently.)

(On Nov. 5 you will be asked to vote on at least 15 amendments to the Nebraska Constitution. Whether you will vote on a sixteenth amendment, that dealing with the income tax, rests with the Nebraska Supreme Court.)

(This is one of a series of articles which will discuss briefly and simply the amendments proposed to the constitution. The amendments will be discussed in the order they will appear on your ballot.)

Proposed Amendment No. 1 brings up that old question of whether the voting age should be lowered. The amendment would lower the voting age from 21 to 19 years. It would increase the size of the potential electorate by a little less than five percent and would permit about 36,000 young people age 19 and 20 to vote in future elections.

The usual argument in favor of this change goes something like this: If a young man is required to bear arms, fight wars and possibly die for his country when he is 18 or 19, then he should have a voice in the government which demands these things of him.

Proponents also point to four other states which have lowered their voting age requirements (Georgia and Kentucky to 18, Alaska to 19 and Hawaii to 20) and say that the results there have been quite good.

They also note that by the time many people are 18 or 19 years old they have finished most of the civic education in their life and they should begin taking an active part in governmental decisions. If they do not, proponents say, they become apathetic by the time they reach 21.

Opponents of the proposed amendment argue that the requirements for firing a gun and marking a ballot are very different. Nations have always fought their wars with young men, opponents say, because young men physically and emotionally make the best soldiers. These men, it is argued, do not necessarily make the best voters.

It is also argued that emotional and mental maturity are not reached at the exact time a young person finishes his required formal education. Society and government certainly are not becoming less complex and a person needs time to mature before he can begin casting his vote, opponents note.

Opinion: The argument that if a person must fight in a war then he should be allowed to vote is not valid; those using the argument are avoiding the important question: Is a person mature enough to vote at 19? The right to vote is something that should be looked forward to, planned for, not something handed a person upon high school graduation.

The best electorate is both a mature and an informed electorate—both require more than just a high school diploma to achieve; both can only be reached by the passage of time.

Proposed Amendment No. 2 would merely rename "Normal schools as colleges with the Legislature to designate the name of their governing body."

This is simply an attempt to bring the Nebraska Constitution up to date and would in no way alter the operation or structure of the state colleges in Wayne, Peru, Kearney or Chadron. These

Carroll Church Marks Anniversary

Bethany Presbyterian church members at Carroll, along with guests, marked the congregation's eightieth anniversary Sunday with a total of 200 signing the guest book.

Delivering the morning sermon was the Rev. Dr. Oliver Proett, Stated Clerk of the Presbyterian Synod of Nebraska. His subject was "Voices We Hear." Special music, "He Is Mine," was provided by a mixed quartet including Mrs. Dean Owens, Mrs. Keith Owens, Milton Owens and Robert L. Jones.

The church had guests from Valentine, Norfolk, Wayne, Win-side, and Baker, Ore. A covered dish dinner was served at noon. Bethany Presbyterian church had its origin in a Welsh Sunday school organized in 1884 by Welsh

Farmers Optimistic in Midst of Drouth

Although bound to be in difficult straits because of this year's crop-destroying drouth, many farmers seem fairly optimistic about their conditions now and their prospects for the coming year.

A spot-interview of four farmers in the Wayne area Thursday revealed little pessimism following one of the worst growing years in possibly three decades. Each farmer pointed out that the bad weather this year is going to cause many hardships to farmers, but not one of the four were ready to give up farming for a more secure job.

Gary Erwin, who farms 660 acres of rented land two miles east of Concord, was the farmer interviewed with the largest number of acres in production.

Lacking only a few hours for a degree at Morningside College irrigated, will probably produce an average of about 20 bushels to the acre.

Erwin cannot remember a year this bad since he has been farming, but did note that 1955-56 was a poor year for his father. Corn that year produced about 25-30 bushels to the acre. The best year Erwin had in 1964 when his dry-land corn yielded an average of 70-80 bushels.

Farmers haven't really begun to feel the effects of this year's bad crop, according to Erwin, but they will next spring when they find they don't have enough money to invest in fertilizer, seed and other necessities. "Farmers will just have to hope for a better crop next year," Erwin concluded.

Jack Ruback, a farmer west of Wayne, said this year's bad weather is not only going to hurt ing because it is the occupation he likes best.

A farmer four and one-half miles east of Allen, Kenneth Green, can remember when farmers were in worse conditions than they are now. "It may be bad this year," Green said, "but 1936 was a year when farmers lost all of their crops."

Green thinks that the large farmer will be hurt just as bad as the small one this year. "The large operator has a big investment along and making do with what he can scrape from the land."

Green farms 80 acres of land east of Allen and 51 acres three miles west of Allen. He had 19 acres planted to corn this year and 37 to soybeans. Thirty acres were given over to oats and the rest of his land was diverted

Vet Awarded Bronze Star

Sp/5 E5 Thomas D. Addison, RA 16 980 342, is home on a 30-day furlough, after which he will report to Ft. Bragg, N. C., for re-assignment.

Last December he was awarded the Combat Infantryman Badge for active participation in infantry operations against an armed enemy of the United States.

Specialist Addison was recipient of the Bronze Star Medal on Sept. 5 for distinguishing himself by outstanding meritorious service in connection with ground operations against a hostile force in the Republic of Vietnam during the period of Oct. 3, 1967 to Oct. 2, 1968. The Citation reads, "The energetic application of his extensive knowledge has materially contributed to the efforts of the United States Mission to the Republic of Vietnam to assist that country in ridding itself of the communist threat to its freedom. His initiative, zeal, sound judgment and devotion to duty have been in the highest tradition of the United States Army and reflect great credit on him and on the military service."

In Stouxcity, Erwin started farming on his own following the death of his father and sister in an automobile accident. He has been making his livelihood by farming for eight years.

This year Erwin had 400 acres devoted to corn, 150 to soybeans and the balance to alfalfa and oats. He is one of a few in this area who is trying to make irrigation a paying proposition—this year he irrigated 70 acres of corn with water from the Logan Creek.

Some of his unirrigated corn has already been chopped for silage and the rest will be used for cattle forage. But Erwin is quite pleased with the results of his irrigated corn even though a great amount of work was involved in running the sprinklers almost completely by himself. He estimates the irrigated corn will yield about 70 to 80 bushels an acre on the average and some of it will reach 100 bushels.

His soybeans, which went un-the farmer. "Farmers will have to spend money on grain outside of the state and this will hurt all of Wayne County."

Most farmers are going to have to change many of their plans because the money they might have wanted to spend on a new car or a new tractor will have to go for grain, Ruback noted.

Ruback farms 600 acres six miles west and one north of Wayne. This year he devoted 375 acres to row crops and the rest to pasture, alfalfa, oats and diverted acres. What corn he picks will probably produce about 30 bushels to the acre; his soybeans will yield about 10 bushels to the acre.

Also optimistic about the farmers' conditions, Ruback said he will just have to adjust to the circumstances. "Farmers have to expect years like this one on occasion because they are completely dependent on the whims of Nature," he added. Ruback said he will continue farm-

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

It is the duty of an editorial writer to search all available facts before he sits down to write. From this basis the writer should be able to give a clear picture of important topics.

A Funny Thing Happened

A funny thing happened on the way to the city council meeting Tuesday night.

A group of businessmen was headed for the same place to offer their help to the council, both in matters of decision and in matters of helping carry out civic projects.

This group was known as the Chamber of Commerce Task Force, eight men named to work in cooperation with the city council, the planning commission, the public and the Chamber of Commerce. At the council meeting the task force offered to try to come up with a long-range plan in keeping with the city's comprehensive plan of orderly growth.

They didn't say they had the answer. They said only, "Let us try. We believe we can do it."

They promised further that if they came up with an idea acceptable to the council the task force would further commit itself to carry the message to the people of the community to get such a project approved.

Further than this, the men in the task force are substantial taxpayers. Thus, if any project advocated by the group is adopted, they will be among those paying the largest part of the bill.

Last Half of the Ninth!

Pre-election activities are making it a tremendous game in the old American political park. All three of the competing presidential candidates have been both on and off base occasionally, and each has had opportunity to strike out at those questions being curved over home plate.

Photographers have appropriately recorded the traditional campaigning, sham-painting, and champagne. Suddenly we are here in the last half of the ninth inning listening to the candidates' final explanations of the opponents' "patter of little feints."

Living up to the game were the anticipated foul balls, some good hits, a bunt or two, with each nominee having his own personal line drive. As they head in toward home plate, the triumphant trio of Nixon, Wallace, and Humphrey have kept their fans well informed of the erotic, neurotic and tommyrotic.

Performing by those standards regimented according to governmental rule books, the networks have conformed to their respective obligations of releasing appropriate time, informed their oftentime un-interested viewers, and transformed equal exposure time for each candidate into the phenomena known to the American voter as political jabberizing.

You may not agree with an editorial — but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

First request of the task force was to delay the letting of bids on the fire hall addition, perhaps until spring, during which time the force would be working on a plan which would include putting several city services under one roof.

This same plan was turned down by the voters in April of 1967, but — there was no task force of interested citizens to carry the ball. There were only the firemen who carried the brunt of the load.

What specifically do these task force members want? Just the opportunity to try to work out a plan which will encompass as much advantage as possible for as little money as possible — in the long run.

Is this a dissident group unhappy with the way the council has been operating? No. They have no axe to grind except that of community betterment.

As they admit, they are perhaps one and one-half years late with the idea, but not too late to be of invaluable aid to the council and to the community.

The task force did stick out its collective neck. Now it must perform... and we believe it will. —WWR.

Irrigation's Value to Area Shown in State Survey

What is the actual dollar value of irrigation to the economy of a region and state?

Important as this question is, the matter has been scientifically studied in only a few notable instances.

Such an analysis, however, has just been completed by the University of Nebraska Bureau of Business Research under a contract with the Bureau of Reclamation, U.S. Department of Interior. The report is entitled: "The Economic Impact of Irrigated Agriculture on the Economy of Nebraska."

Stripped bare, the findings show that in 1963 for each dollar's worth of net increase in crop production due to irrigation, a total of $6.68 in new business activity was generated throughout Nebraska.

Increased business activity extended beyond the state, no attempt was made to measure the economic impact of irrigation beyond the borders of Nebraska.

The state was selected for the study by the Bureau of Reclamation for a number of reasons. Agriculture is Nebraska's dominant industry, and with more than 3 million acres of farmland under irrigation, it ranks third among the states in number of irrigated acres.

It is first in the production of alfalfa meal, wild hay and Great Northern beans, and second in grain-fed cattle marketed and in commercial livestock slaughtered.

It ranks third in grain sorghum production, grain storage capacity, and number of cattle, fourth in wheat production, fifth in corn production and sheep feeding, and sixth in hog production.

The Bureau of Reclamation was especially interested in Nebraska because of the rapid rate of growth of irrigation in the post-war period and because of future potential. Between 1947 and 1963 the fraction of the value of total crop production supplied by irrigated land in Nebraska increased from 10 per cent to 27 per cent.

Since more data were available for 1963 including the Census of Business and Census of Manufactures, the economic study was focused primarily on that year.

Of the 3 million acres irrigated in Nebraska in 1966, about 420,000 were supplied with water from Reclamation-constructed facilities. The study was of the economic effect of all irrigation in Nebraska.

Three measurements were used: (1) the current direct impact, (2) current induced-by-im-acted and (3) current stemming from impact.

For 1963 the net gain (current direct) in crop output, over dryland farming conditions, was estimated to have a value of $121.6 million.

To achieve this it was necessary to utilize other products and services such as fertilizer, seed, labor, etc. In 1963 this current induced-by effect totaled $157 million.

In other words, the Nebraskans and Nebraska interests which served as direct or indirect suppliers of irrigated crops experienced increased sales of $157 million in 1963, or $1.29 per $1 of increased agricultural output.

The third step in this chain reaction was the increase in economic activity required to handle and process the added farm production and the associated products and services.

Included here are personal income flows to households, to the livestock and other food segments, the mining, machinery, metals and other manufacturing industries and to trade, finance, insurance, real estate and transportation.

This stemming-from effect was valued at $533.7 million in 1963, or $4.39 per $1 of increased agricultural output.

In distinguishing between the induced-by and the stemming-from effects, the researchers noted that the induced-by activity may be thought of as required to support the increased crop production. The stemming-from activity is better described as related to the increased production.

There is still another important yardstick in measuring economic impact—the investment impact, which is divided into direct and indirect effects. Analysis of the investment impact presents special problems, however, and such an examination was not conducted in any great detail.

Investment impacts refer to the capital improvements needed to provide and distribute the water supply used for irrigation, to the additional farm equipment required and to investments made by suppliers and processors to fulfill the needs of increased irrigation production.

The report analyzes the estimated volume of transactions generated in the Nebraska economy associated with the hypothetical transfer of 10,000 acres of dryland to the irrigated crops sector.

An average cost pattern for the capital equipment in 1963 was assumed and the resulting direct investment impact was estimated at about $7,123,000.

"Expressing this on a per acre basis, approximately $712 of transactions are generated in the Nebraska economy as the direct investment impact when one acre of cropland is transferred from dryland to irrigated under the assumed conditions." In bringing together the large quantity of data required, countless interviews were held and approximately 200 business survey schedules were completed.

Before common usage of electronic data processing equipment, an effort to conduct such a study would have been fruitless since the results would have been outdated before the project could be completed.

An input-output analysis does not explain changes in the economy over time. The Nebraska report, however, peers into the future from a vantage point gained from the study.

"As the output of the irrigated crops sector expands, primarily serving markets outside of the state, growth can be expected to occur in closely linked sectors within the economy because of the increased pressure to supply a growing demand for goods and services used in irrigation," the report states.

"Furthermore, as the magnitude of some of these demands reaches certain threshold values, new establishments are attracted to the state to further supply the increasing demands...."

"The incremental increase in crop production attributed to irrigation during a production year sets in motion various waves of spending and responding within the Nebraska economy."

"In short, irrigated agriculture has a certain economic impact on the state's economy which can be measured in terms of an increase in gross output, an increase in personal income, or possibly some other unit of measurement."

How a Chinese Editor Does It

Whatever faults the Chinese may have it certainly must be admitted that lack of politeness is not one of them. What English editor could decline a manuscript with such grace as the writer of the following letter, which accompanied a rejected contribution?

"Illustrious brother of the sun and moon,— Behold thy servant prostrate before thy feet. I kowtow to thee, and beg that of thy graciousness thou mayst grant that I may speak and live. Thy honoured manuscript has designed to cast the light of its august countenance upon us. With raptures we have perused it. By the bones of my ancestors never have I encountered such wit, such pathos, such lofty thought.

"With fear and trembling I return the writing. Were I to publish the treasure you sent me the Emperor would order that it should be made the standard, and that none be published except such as equalled it. Knowing literature as I do, and that it would be impossible in ten thousand years to equal what you have done, I send your writing back. Ten thousand times I crave your pardon. Behold my head is at your feet. Do what you will. —Your servant's servant, The Editor."

Laurel Romps to 37-6 Win Over Stanton

The Wayne (Nebr.) Herald, Monday, October 14, 1968

The Laurel Bears completely overpowered host Stanton, 37-6 Friday night to up their season record to four wins and one defeat.

Stanton could gain only one first down in the first half on a penalty and ended up with five first downs compared to Laurel's 12. The Bears amassed over 400 total yards while holding Stanton to about 140 yards. Most of Stanton's yardage came in the last minutes of the game against Vince Bramer's reserves.

Laurel opened up in the first quarter to take the lead 6-0 on a touchdown pass from Steve Erwin to Brent Fahenstock. The Bears added three more touchdowns in the second quarter to take a 25-0 lead into halftime. Steve Erwin figured prominently in all three, running the first one in from five yards out. The second one came on a pass from Erwin to Larry Smith which went 25 yards to pay dirt and the third came on another pass, this one from Steve Erwin to Tom Erwin for 15 yards and six more points.

Laurel added to their 25-0 half-time lead in the third quarter when Tom Erwin broke loose from Stanton's defense and raced

Too Little, Too Late - Frosh Lose 12-6

Wayne High Freshmen finally met their match when they traveled to Norfolk Thursday afternoon for their fourth football contest

44 yards to put Laurel comfortably in front 31-0.

Using his reserves liberally in the fourth quarter, Bramer saw his team held to only one more touchdown. Again Laurel went to the air, scoring on a 20 yard pass play from Doug Felber to Dave Dietrich. Stanton's lone score came with only about :10 left to play in the game.

Laurel's only defeat so far this year was at the hands of Pierce Sept. 27 when they lost 19 to 14. Their next game is at Crofton Friday night. Laurel now moves into second place in the Western Division of the Husker Conference. Wayne leads the conference with a conference record of four wins and no losses.

of the season. The best they could bring back was a 12-6 defeat. Led by versatile quarterback, Norfolk Freshmen started on the road to victory with a short plunge from five yards out late in the second quarter. They added six more points early in the third quarter on a run off tackle which went 70 yards for a touchdown and moved Norfolk in from 12-0.

Wayne finally broke their scoring drought late in the fourth quarter. Lonnie Blitoff took a pass from Donnie Hansen and scampered 92 yards to pay dirt. The play started with only four seconds left on the clock and the official time ran out before Blitoff crossed the goal. It at least saved the Freshmen from being held scoreless.

Blitoff led his team in the rushing department, gaining 124 yards rushing. Donnie Hansen garnered 33 yards rushing and Ronnie Ring and Todd Burnhoff each made 24 yards. Leading in the tackles department was Blitoff with six unassisted tackles and six assists. Kenneth Frahm was credited with 11 assists, and Bill Fletcher had seven assists and three unassists.

Ponca Stalls Winside 7-7

Visiting Ponca Indians proved partial spoilers to Winside High School Homecoming hopes Friday night as the two evenly matched teams battled to a 7-7 tie. Letting Ponca strike pay dirt first in the game, the Wildcats had two and one-half quarters to battle back for a win, but could come up with only seven points late in the last quarter.

teams could never mount a lasting drive. Ponca finally broke the ice in the second quarter. Standing on Winside's 43 with a third down and seven situation, Quarterback Bob Calvert fired a pass to Halfback Mike Knerl for the first score in the game. Tom Watchorn ran the extra point to put Ponca out front 7-0.

Winside rallied in the middle of the second quarter after an alert Kevin Thompson pounced on an Indian fumble on the Indians' 37 yard line. Bob Jackson passed to Keith Wacker the next play to move the ball to Ponca's six. A penalty moved the Wildcats back five yards and the Indians were able to stop the drive on their own nine.

Coach Clears Bench in 68-7 Victory

The Wayne High School Blue Devils had no trouble in handing Plainview a 68-7 loss on the Pirates' home field Friday night. Coach Allen Hansen cleared his bench in running Wayne's winning streak to five for the 1968-69 grid season.

Wayne struck quickly in the first quarter following Plainview's kickoff when DeWayne DeTurk scampered 46 yards up the middle for the Blue Devils' first touchdown on a first and ten situation. The extra point attempt by Jerry Titze with Randy Helgren holding was good and Wayne led 7-0 with 10:29 remaining in the first period.

Less than three minutes later the Blue & White added another TD to their score following an unsuccessful series of downs by the Pirates. Wayne's score came on a 41-yard pass play from Dave Tietgen to end Jerry Titze. Titze also added the PAT and Wayne jumped ahead 14-0 with 7:47 left in the first stanza.

Plainview was forced into a fourth down and one punting situation following Wayne's kickoff and the Blue Devils were on their way to scoring touchdown number three with less than six minutes remaining in the first quarter.

The punt rolled out of bounds on Wayne's 36 and only three plays were needed by the local gridlers to add another TD to their score. The powerful Blue Devil offensive drive was highlighted by a 60-yard run around right end and a five yard scoring dash by Junior Fullback Dan Sutherland. Titze again added the extra point and Wayne led 21-0 with 4:54 left in the period.

The first quarter ended with Plainview facing a fourth and 38 punting situation and the second stanza opened with Helgren returning the punt to his own 45 yard line. Four plays later Wayne was on the scoreboard again with a three-yard plunge by Mike Blitoff. The drive was headed by a 26-yard pass from Reserve Quarterback Ted Armbruster to Gary Heithold. A perfect extra point kick by Wayne's foreign exchange student from Chile, Eghon Guzman Bustamante, increased the Blue Devils' lead to 28-0 with 10:24 left in the half.

After possession of the ball had changed four times following Wayne's kickoff, the Blue Devils were quickly on the scoreboard again when Senior Joey Hoogner intercepted a Pirate pass on his own 16 and scurried 84 yards to pay dirt. Titze continued his fine form in kicking extra points on the PAT attempt as he made the score 35-0 in Wayne's favor with 1:07 left in the half.

Everyone was surprised to see the Blue Devils score again in the first half but such was the case three plays following the kickoff when Rick Robins intercepted a Plainview aerial on his own 43 yard line and converted it into a touchdown as the result of fine open field running. The PAT attempt failed with eight seconds remaining in the half but Wayne held a comfortable 41-0 lead as the half ended.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE STUDENT Eghon Bustamante got into the action in Friday night's grid action at Plainview when he kicked this perfect extra point. Bustamante added another PAT later in the game that saw Wayne overpowering the Pirates 68-7.

Wayne's kickoff, the Blue Devils were quickly on the scoreboard again when Senior Joey Hoogner intercepted a Pirate pass on his own 16 and scurried 84 yards to pay dirt. Titze continued his fine form in kicking extra points on the PAT attempt as he made the score 35-0 in Wayne's favor with 1:07 left in the half.

The PAT attempt failed with eight seconds remaining in the half but Wayne held a comfortable 41-0 lead as the half ended.

Although halftime entertainment by host Plainview delayed the start of the second half by quite some time, Wayne remained hot as ever since the Blue Devils were on the scoring rampage again when Vaughn Korth recovered a Pirate fumble on his own 36 shortly after the kickoff. Seven plays later Armbruster hit Rick Robins with a pass in the end zone and Wayne led 47-0 with 7:46 remaining in the third stanza. Titze added the extra point, making the score 48-0.

Ken Jorgensen set up Wayne's eighth touchdown three plays after Rick Ginn's kickoff when he intercepted a pass on Plainview's 33. Although the hefty lineman failed to convert the interception into a TD himself, his offensive backfield teammates did the trick on the next play from scrimmage as Armbruster hit Randy Robins with a 33-yard scoring aerial. Personable Eghon Bustamante again added the extra point and Wayne's overwhelming margin was increased to 55-0.

As if to show Coach Hansen that his Blue Devils had depth, Wayne's reserve offensive unit added another TD at the start of the final period when Jim Kinney dove one yard for the score. The drive began on Wayne's own 15 following a Plainview punt. A fake PAT attempt with Helgren carrying the ball across the goal line made the score 62-0 with 10:52 left in the game.

Plainview finally got on the scoreboard five minutes later when the Pirates moved the ball 54 yards in 12 plays following Wayne's kickoff. The extra point was good but Wayne held an insurmountable 62-7 lead with 5:43 remaining in the Husker Conference (western division) battle.

The Blue & White's final score resulted six plays after Plainview's kickoff when Steve Kamish capped a 65-yard drive with a five-yard power play up the middle that gave Wayne a 68-7 lead. The extra point attempt failed but Wayne was able to keep its 61 point lead intact for the remaining three minutes and sixteen seconds.

Dan Sutherland was Wayne's leading rusher with only three carries for 82 yards. He was followed by DeWayne DeTurk with one carry for 46 yards, Les Echtenkamp with three carries for 43 yards, Mike Creighton with one carry for 43 yards and Randy Helgren with four carries for 37 yards.

Leading pass receiver for the Blue Devils was Jerry Titze with one reception for 41 yards and a touchdown. He was followed by Randy Robins with one reception for 34 yards and a TD; Gary Heithold with two receptions for 26 yards and a TD; and Rick Robins with one reception for 25 yards and a touchdown.

The leading defensiveman for Wayne in a game that saw the bench cleared on both offense and defense was Joey Hoogner with ten tackles and eight assists. He was followed by Jerold

"Butch" Meyer with nine tackles and one assist, Wayne Magdanz with eight tackles and three assists and Harry Lindner with five tackles and one assist.

Wayne's next game will be Oct. 18 at home against Bloomfield. That game will be followed by a road trip to West Point Oct. 24.

They concentrate on the economic condition of their district, even though the problems we are faced with are not only monetary. Therefore, I think that we need a candidate who will face the issues of racism, poverty and

Wakefield Falls 41-18

Apparently tired after playing three games in one week, the Wakefield Trojans were stopped cold by Tekamah Friday night. Tekamah sent the visitors home with a 41-18 loss.

Wakefield stopped the first drive of Tekamah, but weren't able to hold the hosts the next time they got hold of the ball. Tekamah racked up a 21-6 advantage going into halftime. Wakefield's lone score in the first half came on a 55-yard touchdown run by Rich Kline in the second quarter.

Wakefield finally scored again in the fourth quarter as Robbie Eaton intercepted a pass and took it 35 yards to pay dirt. Kline scored the last points for the visitors on a plunge from one yard out.

Wakefield's record now stands at one win and four losses.

Masten also issued the reminder that all communities in Nebraska should be looking forward to next year's program, which actually begins Oct. 16 of 1968.

Schools Held at Morningside College, Sioux City, Wednesday

The program had discussion groups answering questions such as "Respect of Law, Order and Authority Including the Teacher's Authority Is Breaking Down—Whose Responsibility?" and "Should Administrators Continue Their Affiliation With State and National Education Associations?" A noon luncheon was served in the east room of the Commons building.

Supt. Masten went to Lincoln Friday for a meeting in the State Capitol building where representatives from 53 districts met with the State Board of Education. Staff recommendations relating to hardship relief were heard by the State Board. Board action taken Friday will be final and each school will be notified of the disposition of its claim as soon as possible.

Tests for Seniors

Winside High School seniors will be able to take aptitude tests Tuesday at 9 a.m. in the school gym. The examinations are sponsored by the Department of Armed services and will meet the requirements for any branch of the military service, plus measuring one's aptitude for any vocational career.

Principal Ronald Kramer announced that nine-week tests will be given high school students Oct. 21 and 23. Report cards will be distributed Oct. 30.

attempt to do away with county lines and would create huge counties with officials too remote from the people they serve.

Opponents: The amendment would allow counties to consolidate only with the consent of all counties involved. Presumably, if a county combined with another and did not like the results, it could withdraw from the union. Therefore, the fear of some about the county lines disappearing is not substantiated because they would disappear only with the consent of the majority of the voters in the county.

Also, it would only seem logical for taxpayers to want to save money where possible, and this amendment is a start in that direction. Why have two counties each elect a county attorney or a county clerk, for example, when they could combine and elect one to do the same job? That in itself is strong enough argument to recommend adoption of this proposed amendment.

The jurisdiction of the Nebraska Supreme Court will be expanded if Proposed Amendment No. 4 passes. The amendment would provide that the Supreme Court shall have original jurisdiction in election contests involving state officers other than members of the Legislature. Original jurisdiction means that the Supreme Court can decide legal problems first without their having been considered by lower courts.

One argument in favor of this proposed amendment is that it would save time in any future cases of contested elections—the Supreme Court could immediately hear the case without its having to go through a series of judicial steps.

It is not known what argument was used by the three legislators opposing this amendment.

Oppinion: The proposed amendment should be passed—contested elections should be settled as quickly and fairly as possible. The highest court in the state should have original jurisdiction over legal matters involving the most important part of government—the election process.

Speeding up the process of amending the Nebraska Constitution is the intention of Proposed Amendment No. 5. It would authorize the Legislature to call special elections to submit proposed constitutional amendments to the electors.

The constitution now provides that proposed amendments approved by three-fifths of the Legislature shall be entered on the ballot in the next general election. If passed, this amendment would permit the Legislature by a four-fifths vote to call a special election so the voters could decide on a constitutional amendment without having to wait until the next general election.

Those in favor of the proposed amendment argue that it would give the electorate a chance to vote on a pressing matter in a special election without having to wait for the next general election.

Opponents argue that since the constitution is the basic document of government it should not be altered without plenty of consideration and thought. They also argue that the cost of conducting a special election would be prohibitive, only a small portion of the voters would turn out and proposed amendments are never so serious that a special election is needed to vote on them.

Oppinion: The present system of amending the Nebraska Constitution is the best system and the amendment should not be passed. The present system allows the voter time to consider thoroughly a proposed amendment before he is asked to vote on it. It means only a wait of one and one-half years before a proposed amendment is voted on.

Proposed amendments are never so serious or pressing that they justify the huge cost of conducting a special election—not one of the present 15 amendments is that important.

City Improvement Program Ends Soon

Winners in the 1968 Community Improvement Program will be announced at an awards banquet in Lincoln on November 8, marking another plateau in the continuing self-improvement programs being carried on by many Nebraska communities.

The banquet will mark the close of the fourth such program, designed to stimulate Nebraska communities to self-improve and reward those which conduct the best programs.

Should I Worm New Feeders?

Here's why they need worming -

- All incoming cattle need worming because the chances are 9 to 1 they come from worm-infected herds.
- Worms cause enormous "hidden" damage.

LT. COLONEL WILLIAM B. CANNING received the DFC for extraordinary achievement as a Skyraider pilot.

Vet Pilot Awarded DFC

US Air Force Lieutenant Colonel William B. Canning, son of Mrs. William P. Canning of Wayne, has been decorated with the Distinguished Flying Cross at Nakhon Phanom Royal Thai AFB, Thailand, for heroism in military operations in Southeast Asia.

Colonel Canning, commander of the 1st Special Operations Squadron at Nakhon Phanom, received the medal for extraordinary achievement as an A-1F Skyraider pilot on March 23, 1968. The colonel's mission was to deliver classified ordnance on hostile forces who were attacking and in contact with friendly ground troops occupying a forward fortification near Khe Sanh, Vietnam. Despite superior odds, he pressed his attack into and through heavy hostile antiaircraft and automatic weapons to deliver his ordnance accurately from treetop level, then circled back to strafe the hostile positions, still at low altitude and airspeed.

Colonel Canning's courageous and aggressive attack blunted the attack by opposing forces and provided a barrier against subsequent hostile movements.

The colonel was commissioned in 1942 through the aviation cadet program and served in the European Theater of Operations in World War II.

A graduate of Wayne High School, he attended Wayne State Teachers College and received a BS degree in military science in 1957 from the University of Maryland European Division.

Colonel Canning is married to the former Mildred A. Mau, daughter of Mrs. Anna D. Mau of 416 W. First St., Wayne.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor: I want to thank SWAY for drawing my name. I was very much surprised to receive the $10 in the mail. It was very much appreciated.

I'm stationed at Cannon AFB Clovis, N. M. I'm working in the 832nd supply system delivering parts to the many shops on base.

Again, I thank you. Yours truly, Sgt. Gaylen Bennett.

Dear Editor: I was glad to receive your SWAY check while I was in basic training some time ago. The $10 is always appreciated. I am home on leave now and understand that my name has been drawn once again. Thank you for your remembrance and the letter of appreciation. Sincerely, William L. Sweeney FA, USN.

Dear friends, Thank you for your thoughtfulness in remembering me again. I really appreciate the flowers. I have been remembered by so many back there. I will have to take time writing all of them but hope to get a note to send to each one.

Do I miss Wayne! That is not a question, it is an exclamation. Since I can't be there, I think it is nice I'm still remembered in a place I can't forget.

Have watched the SWAY drawings with interest. Have even suggested a similar plan for Garden County but as you know it all takes time.

The Blue Devils seem to be doing great. If I can, I'd like to see them play in the play offs, if they make them. Looks as if Serlitzer will be tough in the east division.

I had surgery Friday and am coming along fine. Hope to be back at work in 10-14 days but am not building hopes too high, just in case.

It is snowing hard. Tree limbs will be broken in Denver tonight if this keeps up. Only 5 p.m. and it's 30 degrees already. Doesn't look good.

Thanks to a bunch of great guys for being such good friends. Sincerely, Chas Greenlee.

"DOC" The Greatest Dog!

by James Stoksbury

A satin-haired little springer spaniel with puppy-innocent eyes and a pink dish-rag tongue lies on his belly and watches me. If I acknowledge his presence with a glance or a gesture, he gives me a dog-smile as wide as a hambone and his stub tail vibrates like a tuning fork.

"You're just a punk pup and you don't know enough to bury a bone," I tell him. "All this fall you're going to be nothing but a burden and a nuisance. I might as well hunt with a goat."

My young flop-eared friend comes to lay his head on my knee, and his attitude is neither apologetic nor sympathetic. There is a certain authority in it and even a hint of possessiveness.

This gangly canine character may just be able to do it: he might just glue the pieces of my heart back together and fill the void. Maybe this pup with no more sense than a tumbleweed will help me forget that death destroyed a very special relationship between his father and me.

Doc was his name. He was a shaggy, sad-eyed spaniel with a heart as big as a cabbage and the disposition of a circus clown. He died inexplicably in the prime of his happy life and he took part of me with him to his grave.

Doc was everybody's friend, but he was my dog. In an age when society demands that a man's relationships be part of the common inventory, the special place that I held in Doc's judgment was one of great personal satisfaction. I returned the feeling in kind: I thought Doc was a pretty special dog.

Doc had heart and he had character, sometimes so much character that he got us both into trouble. One late afternoon after a day of duck hunting in the icy water of a flowage, I took Doc into a friend's restaurant and tavern to feed him and let him dry off, with the consent of the owner, of course. Doc bounded in like a bundle of rags, and before I could stop him he ran around behind the bar and left his sign on a bottle.

"I wouldn't mind so much," my friend moaned later, "if it had been any other bottle but that one, but that was the only bottle of Scotch in the house."

Doc was not a house dog. He lived in a kennel on a corner of the back yard, and I know that he spent most of his time wishing that he could get out and run. As it was, he slipped away at feeding time all too often by the neighbors' standards, I'm sure.

It is fortunate that my nearest neighbor is a dog man. My control over Doc was rarely adequate to keep him from a galloping patrol of the neighbor's yard where he paid his respects to a pair of lady Brittans.

Doc had developed into an excellent hunter. He had accumulated enough experience to be bird-wise. He knew that if you didn't push a pheasant, the rooster would sneak away like a ghost. Doc pushed, and if you wanted a piece of the action, you had to run with the bird and the dog, sometimes all the way across a 40-acre field.

His big brown nose worked constantly in the alder thickets, and when the vibrations of his nostrils became so intense that his whole body shook, you knew that a grouse was going to explode up out of the leaves.

A downed bird was a bird in the bag with Doc along. He paid for his keep on countless occasions by returning crippled game to a shooter who was fraught with flaws.

Doc wallowed in the out-of-doors as we did, soaking up the delicious freedom, savoring the communion with the land and its creatures, and displaying great reluctance at leaving it.

Doc once had, what by human standards would be an indiscreet affair with a farm dog where I had stopped to ask permission to hunt. Doc, of course, was only obeying the laws of nature, and the farmer, lucky for Doc and me, was philosophical about it.

For some time I have been driving a car with a cracked windshield on the passenger side. It happened when a cat suddenly ran across the road as Doc and I were cruising toward a grouse coulee. I applied the brakes as Doc jumped toward the cat and the window, and the glass cracked. The blow didn't faze Doc. When I stopped the car, he jumped out and chased the cat out of sight in a thick corn field.

On that occasion I called Doc the kind of a name that a man can call a dog without offending the animal, but which is not acceptable in most social exchanges.

I guess I probably made many uncomplimentary references to Doc's intelligence and his ancestry, but he never seemed to mind. He would only look at me with those happy, drooping eyes, and he would pant and wag his tail. You'd think I had just expressed undying love for him. Maybe I had, in a way.

There are hunting companions who were wont to say that "Doc is not a fighter: he's a lover." Doc fought seldom, and only when his hand was forced. He was, however, possessive of "his" car, his home territory and me. He would announce with a deep, throaty growl to other dogs, that if I was going to scratch any dog's ears it was going to be his.

Doc tangled with a skunk one morning last fall, and came back to me looking foolish and smelling so bad we had to ride with the windows down for days afterwards.

He did so many things with me and for me, that of course, I didn't appreciate him enough. Even such things as the skunk encounter, or the time he got into a farmer's flock of Muscovy ducks, all of it was done in the line of duty.

Doc, I am afraid, died of a broken heart. All afternoon he watched us get the car ready for a trip. He was underfoot just enough to remind us of his presence and to convey the message that, of course, he was going along.

Then, at the last minute, we took him to a kennel to board him for a week. (How could he know it was for a week and not forever?) He didn't want to go in, but we forced him, and called him one of those "endearing" names for being so foolish about it all.

They found him dead in a kennel cage the next morning.

Doc was married last fall to a cute and spirited little bitch, and the union resulted in a litter of five. It is one of those five that now chews at my boot.

"Chew, you pup you. Chew your way through the soles of my boots and up into my heart. Your old man left it empty and cold, and I get the feeling that you can fill it with warmth again."

A man cannot live with a cold heart, and a lot of men cannot live without a dog.

5 milliseconds in the life of a "Power Piston" wad.

1 This is what the "Power Piston" one-piece wad (loaded in a Remington Express plastic shell) looks like from the time it leaves the factory until you pull the trigger.

2 Right after firing. The built-in shock absorber in the "Power Piston" compresses and absorbs the initial impact of the explosion, so the shot won't be crunched together.

3 Halfway down the gun barrel. The back end of the Remington "Power Piston" opens up to seal the barrel and keep the expanding gas from leaking past and losing power.

4 At the muzzle. Though the shot column is moving at top speed, the sides of the Remington "Power Piston" have kept it from touching the barrel and flattening the pellets.

5 A few feet past the muzzle. The "Power Piston" now peels back and drops away, but the shot column is on its way at full power, with no flattened pellets to spoil the pattern.

For some time we've been telling you that Remington and Peters shells with "Power Piston" wads shoot harder, keep your barrel clean longer and put up to 10% more shot in the pattern. But let's face it—you were taking our word for something you couldn't see. And while you may have noticed an improvement in your shooting, it was just as easy to give the credit to your new shotgun or just plain luck.

That's why this little demonstration. We feel that if we can show you what a "Power Piston" does you'll have more confidence in our shells. Also we can clear up a common misunderstanding. The "Power Piston" does not make the pattern smaller. It just puts more pellets into it by eliminating "flyers"—flattened shot that goes wild. No matter what gauge you shoot—12, 16, 20 or 28. And that's a fact.

SWEET AND EASY WITH...

MORSELS

grandfather's "good old days"

by Grover Brinkman

Will the generations to come be compelled to visit a museum to see the skills of yesteryear?

It would seem so, for grandfather's trades, crafts and habits are no more. Already the city of Chicago has within its corporate limits a model farm in daily operation as a tourist and educational facility. Urban children may go out to this farm, see the cows being milked, the hogs fed, the eggs collected from the hatchery, and other routine farm chores enacted. To many children it is illuminating, to say the least. To some it is even a "first".

Most Americans, young or old, are interested in things historic. Yet the various skills and modes of living of a particular generation are often buried in obscurity to the next. Such is the rush of today's existence.

What did grandfather do to make a living?

Ask the question today, and the average teenager gives an indifferent shrug of the shoulders. Even if an answer is forthcoming, such as: he was a farmer, or a blacksmith, or worked for the railroad, the question usually ends there. If he was a farmer, there is no knowledge of the tools he used, the crafts he employed. The same thing applies to most trades of the past.

This is the new, fantastic world of movement, computers, advanced technology, in many forms of livelihood. Today, one works for the government, for an equally large corporation or trade union. He is a specialist. Even the farmers of today are "big" in way of manual operation of their multi-acre farms. The machine has supplanted hand and animal labor, almost exclusively.

But how did grandfather do the same task? How did he harvest the grain, plow the land, provide food for the family table? How did he get water for drinking; how did he keep warm?

If you're in doubt, perhaps a glance at these pictures, depicting the routines of yesterday, will refresh your memory, or add to your concern.

If you can identify all of them, you were born soon after the turn of the century; if you name fifty percent, your age might be forty; if you can't identify any at all, you are no doubt still a very young adult.

What's your score?

1 Sugar cane was grown to make sorghum. A cane press such as this was powered by a horse, walking in a circle. The juice was cooked in open pans to form a tangy syrup grandmother called "long-Sweetenin' ". The more common name of sorghum also applied.

2 Not all the bridges were covered affairs, but a good many were. This is a restored bridge reminiscent of those early structures.

3 Grandmother saved the ashes from the wood stoves, poured it in an ash hopper shown here. The lye thus produced was used in the making of soap.

4 Where to find an underground stream of water? Grandfather was also a water witch. The forked stick or other gimmick was held tightly, as shown here. When it deflected sharply toward the earth, it indicated an underground stream of water? (debatable)

5 Great-grandfather's school was a log cabin affair, and this, too, was carried over to grandfather's day. This log school was used up to the turn of the century in an isolated Illinois community, is now a museum on a more modern schoolyard.

6 Great-grandfather's house was a log cabin. his trusty gun was a squirrel rifle. Even grandfather remembers this era quite well.

7 How did he keep his tools sharp? On a grindstone, such as this. One person turned a handle, to revolve the stone, against which a knife or other tool was held, to be sharpened by the whirling sandstone.

8 Locally raised fruit was cooked into butter and preserves. This is how apple-butter was cooked in an outside kettle, constantly stirred for hours.

cookies for overseas

by Pamela Howard

What is more welcome than a letter from home to a soldier—a box of cookies from home. Baked foods need careful packaging and mailing attention if they are to arrive in good eating condition. Cookies and brownies travel best when mailed in metal containers. Although no lining material is necessary, line the can with foil or plastic wrap if you choose. Then separate the cookies or brownies according to similar sizes and shapes. Snugly wrap 4 to 6 cookies together in foil or polyethylene bags and seal with freezer tape. Arrange the wrapped packages in layers in the can — placing the heaviest cookies at the bottom. Place paper napkins or waxed paper between each layer and fill in empty spaces with crushed paper napkins. Allow clearance space between the last layer and the top of the can for additional filler protection. Finally, close the container's metal or plastic lid and seal well with freezer, plastic or adhesive tape. To pack cookies or brownies in a cardboard box, use a sturdy corrugated kind, line it carefully with heavy aluminum foil and place a cushion of filler material in the bottom. Separate and wrap small cookies in foil, which helps give rigidity to the box. Arrange the wrapped cookies or brownies in layers in the box with a paper cushion between each layer. Fill in empty spaces with filler material. Fold the box flap to close, or cover, and seal closures securely with wide gummed paper tape.

Finish wrapping your metal or cardboard container with an outer cover of plain, heavy paper. Use tape to hold paper in position, then seal with wide, gummed paper tape and secure lengthwise and crosswise with tough string, cord or twine.

Send air-mail and for further mailing instructions contact your local Post Office for information.

The following cookie, bar and brownie recipes represent the best selection from a large group of recipes tested for travel durability. The baked foods were exposed to heat and humidity conditions similar to those in tropical countries, and the wrapped food packages were given simulated harsh mail handling and physical abuse.

MERRY CHRISTMAS TO YOU, SOLDIER!

NOTE: It goes without saying, these recipes would also be good choices for mailing to domestic locations or kept at home for your family.
