Hours of Labor Bear Fruit

A display in the Wayne State College library featuring the late Nebraska novelist Mari Sandoz represents hundreds of research hours—but a labor of love—by two Wayne English professors.

Mrs. Minnie Rice and Mrs. Ruby Pedersen have collected for the display most of the Sandoz books chronicling pioneer Nebraska. Among the books are several valuable limited editions acquired with the assistance of James F. Carr, New York publisher and book seller who worked with Miss Sandoz during the last decade of her life.

The two professors began, nearly two years ago, extensive research on Miss Sandoz—Mrs.

Rice specializing on comparison of various original manuscripts, Mrs. Pedersen investigating the author's career as a teacher. Both have received two research grants from the United States Office of Education.

Mrs. Rice's study already has produced an article about Miss Sandoz which publisher Farr plans to include in a Sandoz Festschrift he is compiling.

Research has taken Mrs. Pedersen and Rice to sources of Sandoz information in Lincoln, New York, Madison, Wis., where Miss Sandoz taught at the University of Wisconsin, and to the most interesting place of all, western Nebraska, in July, 1967, they visited the country south of Rushville where the author's father moved, alone in 1884, to begin the pioneering development of a wilderness. The story of his life became Miss Sandoz's first major book, Old Jules.

Mmes. Rice and Pedersen talked to many descendants of Old Jules living in that vicinity. Now the treasure of information gleaned from research comes to life frequently in their English classes.

Old Jules is one of eight books that Wayne State freshmen study in the first term of English composition, but Mrs. Pedersen declares, "I could spend a whole term on that book alone." Mrs. Rice shares her enthusiasm for the Sandoz literature.

Concord Driver Escapes with Bruises

Jerry Allvin, driver for Meredith Johnson Trucking of Concord, escaped with bruises when the truck he was driving overturned Tuesday afternoon as he was hauling a load of shelled corn from the Larry McAfee farm near Allen to the Dean Dahlgren farm northwest of Wakefield.

Allvin was slowing for a railroad crossing when the truck began sliding and the soft shoulder gave way. The truck overturned in the ditch, dumping most of the load of corn. Both the box and the cab were damaged.

After a trucker righted the truck, about 10 of the 254 bushels of corn were left in the box.

State Trooper Tom Nichols of Wakefield investigated the accident.

TEAHOUSE SCENE. Ron Seymour and Doug Stanley stage a comic scene during part of the Teahouse scene during the WHS presentation of the "Teahouse of the August Moon." Task Force Discusses Streets

Wayne Chamber of Commerce's Task Force discussed their proposed improvements for downtown Wayne at a meeting Wednesday afternoon. The improvements would attempt to solve the traffic and parking problems and improve the general appearance of the business district.

The Task Force is a group of Chamber members who are attempting to work closely with the city council and the planning commission in order to keep orderly growth in the downtown area.

Meeting with the group were Sid Magdanz, city engineer and Rod Monroe, district engineer for the Asphalt Institute of Omaha.

The proposed improvements were taken largely from the comprehensive plan for Wayne, a plan which outlines orderly development for the city.

The proposed plans were one-way traffic around a three-four block business district, widening and hard-surfacing 19 blocks of terrace to create additional parking and resurfacing 19 blocks of the business district's streets and sidewalks.

The one-way traffic proposal, which would send north-bound traffic up Logan from south of the railroad tracks to Fourth and south-bound traffic down Pearl from Fourth to First, met with opposition from Police Chief Vern Fairchild.

Fairchild said one-way traffic is designed to move large volumes of traffic long distances with a great amount of safety. The one-way traffic proposal of the group would only move a small amount of traffic a few blocks, he noted. No trucker is going to make four turns, Fairchild said, when he can go straight up Main.

Magdanz agreed with Fairchild, noting that Richard Womack, planning consultant for Wayne, is one of a minority who recommended one-way traffic for small towns.

Concerning the proposals for creating additional parking space and resurfacing business district streets, Magdanz gave several estimates on the amount of money that would probably be necessary two years from now in order to accomplish the proposals.

The paving of the south end of Logan from Fairgrounds Ave. to the railroad tracks (slightly over one block) would cost about $8,000. A new railroad signal would cost from $3,000 to $5,000, although Magdanz noted that the railroad will pay for these new signals.

Widening and surfacing of 19 blocks of terrace in either asphalt or concrete would cost about $3,500 per side per block, according to Magdanz, and resurfacing sidewalks and new curbs for nine blocks on Main would cost between $48,000 and $50,000. Resurfacing of Main from Clark to Seventh would cost about $50,000, Magdanz noted. This would not include any new water lines or new curbs and gutters or other improvements.

Monroe explained to the group some of the advantages of a hot asphalt surface which could be present right on top of the present brick surface. Monroe noted that cities and towns all over the nation are going to this kind of street surface because of its economy and durability. South Sioux City and Omaha have gone to this type of street improvement, Monroe noted.

Two applications of the hot mix would be required on the streets, the first one a leveling coat and the second one a finishing coat. This would give an asphalt layer about two and one-half to three inches, thick enough to carry the amount of traffic in Wayne, according to Monroe.

There was little discussion of the methods which could be used to pay for these improvements if they were instituted because no legal advisor was present. Magdanz pointed out that Norfolk has created a separate corporation of businessmen to finance its improvements. The customary way to finance such improvements, according to Magdanz, is to create a street improvement district.

No action was taken on any of the proposals. The group planned to meet again in a few days after they had thought over the estimates and the criticisms of the proposals.

Speaks on Drug Use

C. O. Porter, Registered Pharmacist of Norfolk, addressed the Wayne High school student body concerning the abusive use of drugs, in Thursday afternoon convocation.

Beginning with a summary of the various types of drugs and their medical applications, he proceeded into case histories of patients, not using their names, who had formed abusive drug habits.

Porter described with verbal realism the progressive steps one young student took from marijuana to LSD, following up with morphine, into a "hooked" condition. The addict became a "mainliner," or one who injects drugs directly into the vein, using heparin. Drugs were costing him $100 a week.

The convocation was a part of the Health Education Program of Wayne City Schools, co-ordinated by M. A. Cottrell, R.N., school nurse.

on long gainers by Cerny, Stell and Zahorek before a Laurel tackler jarred the ball loose and Lee Dahl fell on it on the five-yard line.

Laurel had to gamble seconds later on a fourth-and-inches situation at their own 12, but they lost and had to hand over the ball with only 3:50 left in the third quarter. Strong tackling by the Laurel line, including a tackle back on the 21 by Paul

It took Scribner nearly six minutes in the final quarter to score the final points in the contest. They got the ball on another pattered pass as Jim Schroeder tried to connect to Rod Erwin. They moved the ball from Laurel's 41 to Laurel's four before they decided to settle for three points—Ellermeier booted the field goal for his total of five points in the game.

The spirit on the Bears' sideline was dampened even further by persistent rain that began falling heavily about midway in the final quarter. They saw the game sputter out on the Laurel end of the field as both teams intercepted passes but neither were able to mount an offensive on the slippery field.

PLENTY OF LIGHT AHEAD has been opened up for Scribner's Rod Cerny on this play deep in Scribner territory. Scribner proved too quick and strong for the visiting Bears, ending up Husker Conference Champions for 1948 with a 29-6 victory in the play-off Thursday afternoon. Part of the large crowd in attendance can be seen in the background.

CONCERN shows in the face of Coach Vince Bramer during the third quarter as his Laurel Bears attempt to move the ball against the strong Scribner line.

Tickets Still Available for QB Dinner

Tickets are still available for the Tuesday Morning Quarterback Club's annual dinner Monday night at 6:00 at Les' Steak House. Enough tickets have not been sold yet in order to pay for the football players and the coaching staff—a group which will total about 60.

Tickets cost $2.50 or $5.00. The $5.00 ticket pays for one meal for the football group. Fathers of players who wish to attend do not have to buy a $5 ticket if they do not want to. Anybody may attend the dinner.

Guest speaker for the evening will be John Jermier, head football coach at Wayne State College. Jermier has resigned at the college, effective at the end of this school year.

Tickets can be purchased from Melvin Froehlich, Larry DeForge, Gene Fletcher or Rowan Wiltsie. They will also be available at the door.

Gets Deer

Norman Anderson, postmaster of Concord, scored on the third day of deer season when he brought down a small mule deer which weighed 107 pounds field dressed. Hunting with several others in the Calamus Unit, Anderson made the kill about 40 miles south of Bassett. The deer had three good points on each rack.

Two others in his party also got their deer, both whitetail. Ben Ammon of Bassett, Anderson's father-in-law, brought down a 133-pound whitetail Monday. Dr. Christiansen of Omaha took home a 130-pound whitetail.

Bears Banquet Set

The annual Laurel Bears football banquet will be held Wednesday evening at the high school auditorium. The banquet is open to football players, their parents and invited guests. Speaker for the evening will be Deway Harford, head football coach at Morrisville College in Sioux City.

Scribner Lashes Laurel in Play-off

The Laurel Bears couldn't stop the hard running of Scribner's Kirk Muller and ended up with their second defeat of the year when they fell to the Trojans 29-6 Thursday afternoon in the Husker Conference Play-Off at Scribner.

Scribner built up a 20-6 lead by halftime on the three touchdowns of Muller and two extra-point kicks by Dean Ellermeier. They added nine more points in the final two stanzas on a 65-yard run by Jim Zahourek and a field goal by Ellermeier.

The Bears, eight and two for the season, out-passed the hosts on the muddy and cold field, but the Trojans' rushing attack racked up 157 yards compared to Laurel's 58. Scribner ended the season with a record of 10 wins and no defeats, increasing

Head Coach Tom Long's two-year record to 17-2.

Playing under a threatening sky, the Trojans needed only three and one-half minutes in the first quarter to reach pay dirt. The touchdown came on the longest gain of the day—an 85-yard aerial from Rod Cerney to Mueller. The drive began back on the seven yard line after Laurel was forced to punt from Scribner's 43.

The long run brought a roar from the crowd, estimated at over 1,000.

Laurel gave its fans plenty to cheer about seconds later—Jim Schroeder latched onto Scribner's kick and frolicked from his own 15 to Scribner's 35 before being brought down. Steve Erwin moved the ball to the 26 on a quarterback keeper, but a penalty set them back to 31 and Scribner took over on downs on the 32.

Schroeder brought another roar from the crowd seconds later when he plated a pass on Scribner's 43 and ran it to the 25 before being knocked off his feet. The game looked like it was going to give the spectators neck cramps seconds later when Scribner's Bob Stollberg picked one of Erwin's passes out of the air and raced it 38 yards back to the 45 of Laurel.

Cerney broke loose from several tacklers two plays later and made it to the 22 before being hauled down. Laurel's Lee Dahl caught the Scribner quarterback on the 27 and forced the Trojans into a fourth-and-six situation. Failing to make it, Scribner saw Laurel take over with only about one minute to play. The visitors drove just across the midfield stripe when the gun sounded to end the first quarter. The late-quarter drive included a 12-yard run by Steve Erwin to midfield.

But Laurel couldn't hold onto the ball and fumbled on the first play of the second stanza. Scribner's Curtis Helgenberger ended up with the ball. After punts from both teams, Laurel found themselves down 13-0 with 6:58 remaining on a Robert Meyer-Muller touchdown pass which went 20 yards. Jim Zahourek and Muller had teamed up to move the ball from the 47 of Laurel to the 20. Lee Dahl broke through the line on the extra point attempt and blocked Dean Ellermeier's second try at splitting the uprights.

Laurel fans and players must have thought somebody forgot to turn the record over moments later when Muller struck for the third time in the game, this time on a 60-yard punt return. Ellermeier's toe came into play again and Scribner moved out from 20-0.

Laurel's only successful drive came on the next series of plays. The drive got started when Jim Schroeder ran the kick from his 13 to the 25 before being tripped up by Scribner's Mark Stell. The long gainer in the drive was a 49-yard Steve Erwin-Frentz Ahns stock aerial which went to Scribner's 20. Another pass by Erwin, this one good to Larry Smith, finally put Laurel on the scoreboard with just over two minutes to play in the first half. Faltnestock displayed a fine second effort as he dragged a Scribner player nearly five yards to the goal line.

Rod Erwin nearly put the Bears on the scoreboard again one minute later when he snatched a Scribner pass on his own 25 and returned it to the 45. But time ran out on the Bears and they trailed 20-6 going into intermission.

Whatever hopes the Laurel fans had about the Bears pulling the game out of the fire were dashed to the cold ground in the third quarter.

Scribner's Jim Zahourek broke Muller's monopoly on the touchdown in the opening seconds of the third quarter when he displayed some fine open-field running as he raced 68 yards into the endzone after taking a hand-off from Meyer. Laurel had a chance to score first after recovering a Scribner fumble on Scribner's 30 and moving it to the 12. But a five-yard penalty and loss of 13 yards on an attempted pass put them into a fourth-and-28 situation and they were unable to come up with the needed yards.

The rest of the third quarter was played almost completely in Laurel territory. Scribner drove from Laurel's 40 to the five.

SEVENTY YARD PUNT RETURN. Laurel fullback Jim Schroeder breaks a tackle on the 15 and tries to line up his blockers during this long punt return in the opening moments of the Laurel-Scribner play-off Thursday afternoon. Trying to open running room for him are Jerry Nelson (64) and Dwain Stanley (86).

Winside's Barber Hoists 'Old Glory'

by Merlin M. Wright
There is an American flag waving in the daily breeze on Main Street at Winside because a Navy veteran thought, "since we have boys in the service giving their lives in Vietnam, someone should care enough to see that we have a flag flying every day." This admirable patriotism comes from one of Winside's young businessmen by the name of Darrell Holdorf, or "Butch" as his friends know him. Twenty-four year old Darrell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Holdorf, who farm near Belden. He graduated from Laurel High School and then, after spending some time in Uncle Sam's Navy, he studied in a barber school in Omaha.

DARRELL HOLDORF, active Winside barber, cuts Carl Thies' hair.

In August 1965 Butch and Marsha Gaunt of Wayne were united in marriage and made their home in Omaha where he worked as a barber for two years. Then in the fall of 1967 the Holdorfs moved to Winside after buying a barbershop there on Main Street.

"Saturday nights were dead," Holdorf said, "there were very few people on the streets." Being acquainted with the fact of Wayne's weekly drawing, Butch approached the Winside Community Club with the idea of having a weekly "lucky backs" drawing. The club approved and with the cooperation of businessmen, the drawing has met with great success. "We have given $750 away already," Butch remarked, "and business on Saturday night has at least tripled. Now you can't even find a parking place on Main Street on Saturday night. It has worked out great."

Carl Thies, who farms outside Winside, came into the shop for a haircut, and consented to be photographed as the young barber gave him a haircut. Since moving to Winside and opening his barbershop, Butch joined the Volunteer Fire Department which has about 25 members. He is also a member of the Community Club which functions as does a Chamber of Commerce.

Local Winside girls complained to Holdorf that, though the boys had recreational programs, there were no facilities available to them, and they were right. So Darrell got them to playing softball and organized them into a team. "Most of the girls had never even played before," he said. "I coached them during the summer and we ended with a record of three games won and four lost."

Butch and his wife attend the St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Winside, and it was their pastor, the Rev. H. M. Hillbert, who asked Darrell if he would be willing to serve as the local Scoutmaster. "He wanted a 'yes' or 'no' answer," Holdorf stated, "and I felt there should be a Scout troop in this size of town, so I accepted. We started out with 17 boys this last June and now have 25 in our No. 179 troop."

Butch continued, "The next month following organization, we went to Camp Wakonda, near Griswold, Ia. There were 17 of us going with ages varying from 11 through 17."

Holdorf was one of 22 Scoutmasters, from a total of 32 troops attending, to stay with his troop throughout the entire week. I or doing so, he received a Boy Scout belt buckle as an award. Also, out of the 32 troops, the No. 179 troop from Winside was voted as the "best dressed" for the week of camp. This was no small accomplishment for the troop, in that they had only been organized for a month. "In recognition of their being the best dressed in camp, troop No. 179 was the only group, out of 32

Some Firearms, War Trophies Must Be Registered by Dec. 1 Deadline

Detailed procedures for registering machine gun, sawed-off shotgun, a weed-off rifle, silencer, deactivated war trophy and other destructive devices were announced last week by Richard P. Vinal, district director of Internal Revenue for Nebraska.

The Gun Control Act of 1968 requires that weapons and devices of this type must be registered with the Internal Revenue Service by Dec. 1.

Vinal said that copies of registration form 4467 are available at Alcohol and Tobacco Tax and other IRS offices.

Forms are prepared in three copies, two of which should be mailed to the Director, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, Internal Revenue Service, Washington D. C. 20024. The third copy may be kept by the owner of the firearm or destructive device.

Firearms or destructive devices should not be brought to an IRS office to be registered, Mr. Vinal said.

Under the new law all firearms and destructive devices requiring registration must be identified by a serial number. If a firearm or device does not have a serial number, the owner should phone, visit or write the Omaha IRS Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Office and a number will be assigned.

After obtaining the number, the owner is responsible for affixing it to the firearm or device before completing the registration form. Additional information may be obtained by contacting the Omaha Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Office or other IRS offices.

David and Jon Jager recipients of Ak-Sar-Ben scholarships.

The young barber also announces Winside's home football games, enjoys hunting and archery.

Mrs. Holdorf keeps a busy pace as she drives into Wayne each day and is office secretary to Dr. Seymour and Dr. Waggoner in Wayne State College's administration building.

Perhaps if you are in downtown Winside soon, you will note the American flag riding high over Main Street. As you observe it fluttering in a fall whisp of wind, may it remind you that America continues to be made up of a huge "colony of the concerned." Butch Holdorf, Winside, is one of them!

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

You may not agree with an editorial but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

Telling It Like It Is

Author of the following is unknown but here are excerpts from an article which appeared in an Army publication.

"Vietnam is still a pop art oddity 12 thousand miles away. The public (at home) worries more about living with a possible tax increase. The GI worries about living.

"His world is nightly blackout and mortar traffic. He would give a month's pay for a sound sleep, 10 years of his life for a night at home.

"He is 18, touselled-haired, tight-muscled. Under normal circumstances he would be considered as a half-man, half-boy, a pain in the employment chart.

"He is unmarried and without material possessions except for an old car at home and a transistor radio here. He listens to rock'n roll and the 105-mm. howitzers.

"He has learned to like beer because it is cold and because it is the thing to do. He smokes because he gets free cigarettes in his ration package and it also is the thing to do.

"He still has trouble spelling; writing letters home is a painful process. But he can breakdown a rifle in 30 seconds and put it back together in 29. He can describe the nomenclature of a fragmentation grenade, explain machine gun operation and utilize either if the need arises.

"He obeys now without hesitation, but he is not broken. He has seen more suffering than he should have in his short life. He has stood among hills of bodies and he has helped construct those hills.

"He has wept in public and in private and is not ashamed. His pals have fallen in battle. He has become self-sufficient. He can cook his own meal, fix his own hurts and mend his own rips, mental or material.

"He will share his water with you, break his rations in half, split his ammunition. He can do the work of two civilians, draw half the pay of one and find ironic humor in it all." — MMW.

Let's Get Some Action

For about one year now these two eyesores have been silently gathering dust in the east end of town.

The time for something to be done about them has come and gone. Now it is time for the people of Wayne to become angry and demand action of the city council and planning commission. One or both of these groups should move and move quickly to see that these two houses are either renovated or removed.

The two houses were moved onto the lots from the corner of Seventh and Main almost one year ago. Since then almost nothing has been done to them. Windows have been broken out, trash has accumulated on the lots, weeds have grown profusely. It's surprising the state fire marshal has not condemned them during one of his inspections of Wayne.

Residents in that area have been complaining among themselves for some time now. At the city council meeting Oct. 29 a letter of complaint "as read to the members. At the city council meeting Nov. 12 the subject did not come up for discussion. The next step is for a group of citizens, regardless of where they live in town, to confront the city council at their next meeting, Nov. 26, and demand that immediate action be taken.

It is rather absurd for the planning commission and city council to turn down certain housing developments in one part of Wayne in fear that the area will become run-down and then turn around and permit another part of Wayne to become a graveyard and catchall for vacant and dilapidated houses. — N.L.H.

Law or Anarchy?

Ours is a government of law. The very survival of our Nation depends on effective law enforcement. For law enforcement to be effective it must receive public support. As a rule, men who have no respect for the law have nothing but contempt for those charged with enforcing it. Thus, the law enforcement officer's task becomes more difficult and his personal safety diminishes as more crimes are committed and less criminals are brought to justice.

In a recent report, J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, wrote, "Last year, 76 police officers were killed in the line of duty. This is 19 more than the number slain in 1966. Since 1960, 411 law enforcement officers have been murdered, an average of more than 51 per year. Of the 539 offenders involved in these killings, 77 per cent had been previously arrested and 67 per cent had been previously convicted. Two-thirds of the policekillers previously convicted had been granted parole or probation, and 3 out of 10 were actively on parole or probation when they killed a police officer."

Not only does a law officer face the risk of death, but he also faces personal injury with increasing frequency. More and more suspects resist arrest, encouraged, no doubt, by judicial leniency and public indifference, resorting to violence when officers approach. Hoover comments in a Nov. 1 bulletin "the rule of law is in jeopardy; when law enforcement officers are regularly attacked and slain in the line of duty. Our concept of self-government is endangered when policemen must frequently win a physical struggle while making arrests. And our democratic processes are weakened when officers are publicly condemned and ridiculed for protecting the peaceful against violence and disorder."

Few American citizens realize that in 1967 policemen were slain on the average of one every five days. It is especially shocking and provocative when lawmen are gunned down by convicted criminals who, after exhausting all possible legal relief, are still on the streets.

While most law enforcement officers, whether they work on the state, county, or city level, seldom mention it, they are aware, nevertheless, that death is a constant companion during most of their duty hours.

FBI Director Hoover has a question for all Americans. "How long can we ask officers to risk their lives when they and the law are not respected?"

Each and every citizen must ask himself "do I want law or anarchy?" — MMW.

Out of Old

Nebraska

Early Nebraska In 1833 southeastern Nebraska was a lonely land of grass-covered hills. This is the description given by John Treat Irving, Jr., nephew of writer Washington Irving, as he accompanied an official expedition visiting the Pawnee Indian villages in eastern Nebraska that year. The expedition, headed by Edward A. Ellisworth, left Fort Leavenworth, Kan., and visited an Oto Indian village some ten miles west of where Omaha now stands. For most of their journey, they traveled parallel to and ten to twenty miles west of the Missouri River. Following is a description of southeastern Nebraska in September, 1833, found in a library volume in the Nebraska State Historical Society. "We were the only human beings, who lived and moved upon the wide waste. Nothing else was visible—not a deer, not a tree—all was prairie—a wide unbroken sea of green—where hollow succeeded hollow, and the long grass waved on the hills, with a surge-like motion, until at last it was blended with the lazy atmosphere, which met the horizon. The power of sight was shut out by nothing; it had its full scope, and we gazed around until our eyes ached with the very vastness of the view that lay before them. "There was a degree of pain, of loneliness, in the scene. A tree would have been a companion, a friend. It would have taken away the very desolation which hung round us, and would have thrown an air of sociability, over the face of nature; but there, were none.

"The annual fires which sweep over the whole face of the country, during the autumn of every year, effectually destroy any thing of the kind. There will be no forest, as long as the Indians possess these regions; for every year, when the season of hunting arrives, they set fire to the long dry grass. Once fairly on its errand, the destructive messenger speeds onward, licking up every glade and every bush; until some strip of timber, whose tall trees protect the shrubbery, by the dampness of which they diffuse beneath; or some stream, stops it in its desolating path.

"The object of burning the grass is to drive the deer and elk, that are roving over the broad extent of the prairie, into the small groves of timber scattered over the surface. Once enclosed within these thickets, they fall an easy prey to the hunters.

"We at last reached the Platte River... then striking off to the west, we followed the course of this powerful tributary of the Missouri.

"On the first night, our little camp was placed upon a high bank of the Saline River (Salt Creek), which flows through the prairie until it empties into the Platte. During the spring of every year moisture exudes from the soil near its source, covering the prairie for the distance of many miles.

"This is dried up by the heat of the summer, and leaves in its place a thick incrustation of salt. This is in turn dissolved by every successive rain, and carried off into the Saline River, giving to its water the brackish taste, from which it has derived its name. There is a barrenness around the stream, contrasting strongly with the other rivers that grace the prairie..."

Grubicide Use Cautioned

The loss of several head of calves in the state this fall following use of systemic grubicides is a warning that it is too late in the season for this type of treatment, a University of Nebraska insect specialist said this week.

Robert E. Roselle, Extension entomologist at the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, said grubs in Nebraska, Wyoming and Colorado cattle and cattle from the south are too far along in their cycle within animals to be killed now.

Nebraska cattle should have been treated by October and southern cattle by Aug. 1 to reduce the possible severe side-effects, Roselle stated.

When a large number of grubs are killed late in their migration inside cattle, reactions may vary from a stiff gait, bloating and partial paralysis to death of the animals.

The exact causes are not entirely understood, but it is known that it is a shock to the animal's system if it is forced to absorb a large number of dead grubs.

Many other factors also are important, especially animal stress, Roselle stated. Animals under stress from handling, castration, dehorning, sickness, weaning or other parasites are more likely to be seriously affected following grub treatment. If a mistake in mixing chemicals is made, resulting in too much material entering the cattle's system, they also are likely to react, he said.

If any reaction or suspicious behavior is observed, call a veterinarian at once, Roselle advised.

What Have We To Be Thankful For

Next Thursday is the day set for all the American people to return thanks to Almighty God for the blessings they have received during the past year. We believe everyone has good reason this year to be thankful. If you do not remember anything that you should be thankful for look over the following list: If you are alive you have reasons to be thankful. If you have a wife and she lives with you, you should be thankful. If she has left you, buy a new suit here and she will come back. If you are sick you should be thankful that you can buy Staley Underwear of us and get well. If your wheat failed, you should be thankful that you have corn and that you can buy the right kind of clothing of us to huck it. If your hogs died of cholera you ought to be thankful that your cattle are alive and that our calf skin coats are within your means. If your business has not been successful the past year you should be thankful that ours was, for with a small sum you can be clothed here. If you are going to be married you have reason to be thankful, for if you buy your wedding outfit here, your wife will never leave you. If you did not make any money the last year you ought to be thankful that we did not bust, for a dollar will buy more here than elsewhere. Think it over and you will find reasons to be thankful to God for the many blessings you have received. If you trade here you will prosper and enjoy good health, for which everyone should be thankful.

VA Men Killed

The Veterans Administration has suffered its first casualties in Vietnam.

Two volunteer VA contact representatives serving American military forces in Vietnam were killed in the crash of a US Air Force transport enroute from Saigon to Da Nang on Oct. 21. They were Robert Glenn Butler, 56, of Martinsburg, W. Va., and Vison W. Rabern, 49, of Roswell, Ga.

Both Butler and Rabern arrived in Vietnam last May as part of the nine-man team of VA contact representatives now serving at seven US military installations in Vietnam to provide American military forces with pre-separation briefing and counseling on veteran benefits.

Since this unprecedented battlefield counseling began in January 1967, some 30 VA representatives have briefed more than 460,000 servicemen on their veteran benefits.

The six-month voluntary tour of duty for Butler and Rabern would have ended in November.

The Allen News tells of a stranger who struck that town recently and made a big flourish on the representation that he would start a pump factory there, local capitalists, however, to raise half the money for the purpose. The News explains the scheme and how it turned out: "He was going to establish a $5,000 pump factory here and employ at least thirty men. Then he began negotiating for land, bought a residence and hotel on wind and promised to make Allen the biggest town west of Chicago. Visions of street cars and ten-story buildings were as common as chunks of clay... It was so simple and plausible that we nearly went crazy over it... Then rumors of checks being passed for board bills and returning postals began to float in... Right there was where the thing fell through. The town was ready to put up $2,500 against his $2,500, but wasn't ready to put up a cent against his hot air. And so the big pump factory died."

According to The Herald, there is a growing epidemic of marriages in Hartington.

Blacksmith's Shop

Hub of Early Town

One of the most fascinating and necessary businesses in almost every pioneer community was the blacksmith shop. Usually a wagon shop accompanied the blacksmith shop. A blacksmith was a highly-skilled craftsman who had served as an apprentice without pay for several years in the shop of a master craftsman. A blacksmith had to be skilled in a variety of duties. Pioneer blacksmiths had to repair all types of farm equipment and also build new machinery. A few of the items made in a blacksmith shop were plow shares, cultivator shovels, horse and ox shoes, crow bars and scythes as well as the tools of their trade and the equipment needed by allied craftsmen. A blacksmith shop would also produce household equipment including butcher knives, scissors, needles and pins.

Their shops were often the gathering places for local farmers and neighborhood children who loved to watch the sturdy smithy at his forge.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor: Thank you so very much for the SWAY check. The gesture is more appreciated than you may know! At a time when demonstrations, draft card burning and other methods used to show dissatisfaction with government policy are so common and acceptable, this is truly an exceptional act by the citizens of Wayne County.

I have always been proud of the State of Nebraska and my home community and this certainly justifies that pride. I have used the letter from SWAY as a means of showing my buddies here the type of people I have to go back to.

The term Servicemen We Appreciate You is really something to lift our morale. The Post newspaper here, the "Kagnew Gazette," would like a copy of this to reprint. Please send me a copy of the SWAY letter so I may give it to them. Sincerely, SSG Leon R. Koch, HHC, Box 101, USA S A F S, Asmara, APO New York 09843.

VA Q & A

Q: My son is being discharged from service next month and I want to be sure he keeps his veteran's insurance. I regret that I dropped mine after World War II. What does he have to do?

A: Servicemen are now covered up to $10,000 while on active duty and for 120 days thereafter by Servicemen's Group Life Insurance. Unlike after World War II, however, they cannot keep this insurance as veteran's insurance. Instead, within 120 days after being separated from service, they must convert their SGLI policies to policies with a commercial company. Nearly 600 companies have been approved by the VA to offer converted coverage. If your son has a service-connected disability, he may also be eligible for $10,000 special insurance through the VA that can be in addition to or in place of his converted SGLI coverage. He should check with his nearest VA regional office after he gets out of service concerning all of his veterans benefits.
