

95R Voters Face Decision

Voters in Winalde's District 95R will go to the polls tomorrow, Dec. 3, to either approve or reject the $495,000 bond issue, which if passed, would provide funds to build a new elementary school.

Hundreds of hours of preparation have gone into securing an architectural firm, fiscal agent, legal advisor, providing public information programs, investigating school needs, examining preliminary plans and estimates. Now it is up to the voters to make the decision as to whether or not to provide Winalde area youth a new facility in which to learn.

If the bond issue is approved, it is thought that construction would probably get underway sometime next spring. Fiscal agent, Mike Vanhorn, Omaha, has pointed out that if the bond issue is approved, the $495,000 could be put at interest until actually needed, thereby providing a probable sum of $25,000 in interest.

Voting on the bond issue will take place in the Village auditorium Tuesday from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m.

Qualified voters must have resided in the district 40 days and be over 21 years old and must own real or personal property that was assessed at the last annual assessment, or whose spouse owns real or personal property that was assessed at the last annual assessment or who has children of school age residing in the district.

Absentee ballots are available at the school superintendent's office.

Council Buys Building, Talks Paving

THANKSGIVING. Carroll elementary students in the kindergarten and first and second grades helped their instructors in preparing Thanksgiving festivities by making cornbread and churning butter Wednesday morning. They enjoyed eating the same with some added jelly. Mrs. Stan Harlman teaches the kindergarten class. Ruth Kestine is instructor of the first and second grades. Having studied about the pilgrims and Indians, they dressed in their costumes and posed outside the building for the photographer.

Wayne city council voted Tuesday evening to purchase the 40 x 140-foot building owned by Fred Rohrer for $19,250. The building, located south of the railroad and west of Rohrer's Farmers Elevator, will be used as a work-storage building for the city.

The building will cost somewhat more than the proposed 50 x 90-foot building which would have been built on city property. The council felt the additional space of the Rohrer building and the acquisition of land offsets the extra cost. The city will take over ownership after the first of the year.

Council members also discussed the parking problem which has developed since the house on the corner of Fifth and Pearl has been converted from a private residence to a fraternity house.

City Clerk Dan Sherry told the council that the new owner of the house had been informed by the city that they would have to provide off-street parking when he changed the private home to a fraternity house. Later the owner applied the city council to permit him to provide terrace parking. The council does not have this authority, Sherry noted, and the owner was told to apply to the board of adjustments for a variance of the zoning code.

Council members felt that the problem has been present too long and that action should be taken immediately. Members decided that if the owner does not apply for the variance within a few days the city will be forced to file a complaint. The owner would be subject to a fine each day the complaint is in effect.

The subject of how to best service the few remaining dirt roads in the city led the council to appoint a group to tour Wayne Friday and come up with recommendations about annexation of certain areas along the city limits. Making the tour will be Mayor Koplin and Councilmen Kingston and Banister.

Council members felt that by annexing these areas they could go ahead and get the dirt streets paved by creating street districts. The members were in agreement that efforts should be made to eliminate these few remaining dirt roads within the city limits.

Also coming under discussion during the meeting was utilities service to the industrial sites on the east edge of Wayne. Several members noted that it would be unreasonable to install the utilities until more industry has settled there because the utilities installed might not be those required by a particular industry.

John Adams noted that the city should get some idea about how much return from the services could be expected before deciding whether they should be installed.

The council decided on a resolution which states in effect that it is up to the discretion of the council whether to install services for a particular industry. If it is feasible, members noted, the services would be installed, but the council would have to know more about what benefits would flow from the industry before making a final decision.

In other action the city council: —Discussed the recent actions of the task force committee concerning the property of Wayne County Public Power District. The task force considered a presentation of the property to the city at their meeting Friday, Nov. 22. Council members felt that more consideration should be given to the future needs of the city, a possible city-county complex and the future use of the hospital building before any See COUNCIL, page 6

Light Tree Dec. 3

Wayne State Faculty Wives are again planning to decorate a tree and sponsor the Christmas Tree Lighting Service this year which will be held Dec. 3 at 7 p.m. in the Willow Bowl.

Included in the brief program is the singing of carols by all present and Dr. W. Brandenburg will officially throw the switch to light the tree.

Students in the college dormitories will be participating in the program which will include a personal appearance of Santa Claus.

Following the presentation, there will be free cocoa and cookies served in the lounge at Berry Hall. Public is invited.

DANGEROUS CORNER Mrs. Kenneth Locking directs school youngsters across Seventh and Main Streets, working 35 minutes each morning and about an hour after school in the afternoon. She, along with others, believes the corner to be even more dangerous now than before recent changes were made. Supl. Francis Haun has emphasized that children crossing the intersection must walk their bicycles on the north side of Seventh Street to cross Main Street, and stay in the company of the crossing guard.

Cautions Grocers About Food Stamps

Mrs. Ethel Martelle, Wayne County director of public welfare, last week cautioned grocers, food retailers and banks in the county about accepting food stamp coupons without authorization from the United States Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service.

Mrs. Martelle said that some businesses in Wayne County may make the mistake because of the surrounding counties of Dixon, Cedar, Pierce, Stanton and Dakota are already under the Food Stamp Program. Wayne and Madison Counties are among 21 counties in Nebraska which will enter the Food Stamp Program, according to a recent announcement by Secretary of Agriculture, Orville Freeman.

She cautions all grocers, food retailers and banks who have not been contacted by a consumer marketing representative of the USDA for explanation of the procedures for handling food stamp coupons and the presentation of authorization cards to grocers and food retailers who want to

Radar Spots Fast Drivers

Wednesday afternoon Wayne police set up their portable radar-operated speed indicator on south Main Street and clocked only southbound traffic as they were starting to leave town. Though it is a 30 mph zone, two blocks inside the city limits, there was one driver clocked at 60 mph.

Police officers issued a total of 26 warning tickets during the afternoon and made 29 arrests on the charge of speeding.

The radar unit is completely portable and may be placed on parkings, drives, lawns or hidden behind hedges, trees or shrubs.

Chief Fairchild has said that no car is necessary near the unit for its operation and the chase car can be stationed a block down the street. About the only visible portion of the radar unit is the scanning head which can be seen by an approaching vehicle.

Operators of motor vehicles must realize that speed limits are designed for everyone's safety and if posted speed limits are observed there is no need to fear a hard-to-see radar device.

CHIEF OF POLICE Vern Fairchild displays the Wayne Police Department's radar operated speed indicator which is a completely portable unit.

Carroll Auto Crash

Mrs. Ernest Janek, Carroll, was eastbound just one mile north and one-half mile west of Carroll last Saturday afternoon around 3 p.m. when she and Byron Janek, Wayne, who was westbound, collided head-on.

Both drivers, alone in their vehicles, escaped with cuts and bruises, although Janek was thrown out of his car upon impact. They were treated by a doctor and released.

The automobiles were both damaged extensively.

Gary Lorenzen Fund Now at $937.75

Recent contributions have brought the Gary Lorenzen fund to a new total of $937.75. Gary is still in an Omaha hospital convalescing from abdominal surgery.

He has improved, however, to the extent he is walking with the aid of a walker. His weight now is 140 pounds as compared to the more than 200 pounds he weighed when he entered the hospital.

Transfusions since his hospitalization have used 33 pints of blood.

Recent contributors to the fund include:

Mae Young, Raymond Schneider, W. Gilliland, Joyce Crockett, Darrell Harrison, Cleone's Beauty Shop, Don Pfeiffer, Steve Pflueger, Vernice Granquist, John A. Kay, Anonymous, Mrs. Roy Christensen, Swan-McLean, O. K. Brandstetter.

Singers at Kiwanis

Madrigal singers from WSC will provide the program for Wayne Kiwanis members at their luncheon meeting today. The singers are under the direction of Prof. Anthony Garlick.

Kiwanians last Monday volunteered to help Wayne High students in their drive for AFS funds by driving Christmas card salesmen around town. The students realized about $100 in the project, part of their goal of $750 to pay the expenses of another foreign exchange student next year.

Two hundred of the packets were sold, leaving fifty remaining packets still available for anyone interested. Interested persons should contact the school or one of the following AFS card

Area Dairy Day Dec. 12 at Norfolk

Topics of interest for every dairyman is planned for the Area Dairy Day scheduled for the Norfolk National Guard Armory Dec. 12. The program is scheduled to start at 9:30 a.m.

The program will be presented by the University of Nebraska Research and Extension staff who will be available for a question-and-answer period following the program. Don Kubik, extension dairy specialist, Northeast station, will be master of ceremonies.

The meeting is open to the public.

AFS Fund Drive Underway for Pupil

Wayne Chapter of the American Field Service sponsored a fund raising drive Monday night by door-to-door sales of Christmas note cards, which feature pictures depicting the Christmas season around the world.

When the entire 250 packets are sold there should be a total of $135 to go toward helping support a foreign exchange student next year.

Two hundred of the packets were sold, leaving fifty remaining packets still available for anyone interested. Interested persons should contact the school or one of the following AFS card

Wakefield Man Appointed Counselor

Jerrold Groves, Wakefield, has been appointed as an admissions counselor at Morningstar College, Sioux City, Ia. Carl C. Smith, director of admissions for the college made the announcement.

During the past two years Groves has specialized in the placement of handicapped workers through the Iowa State Employment Office in Sioux City. He worked in the capacity of a placement interviewer.

The new admissions counselor earned his BS degree from Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y., and his BD degree from Dubuque Theological Seminary.

In his admissions work for Morningstar College, he will meet with high school students in Nebraska and a portion of South Dakota.

Mrs. Groves teaches in the public schools at Wakefield. The couple have a family of six children.

No Winner Friday

The drawing for the Cash Night prize was held on Friday last week because businesses in Wayne were closed all day Thursday for Thanksgiving. But the one day off must have been bad luck for Mrs. Walter Jager of Wayne because she wasn't in one of the participating stores when her name was called. As a result, the Cash Night prize jumps from $100 to $150. The drawing will take place this week on the usual night, Thursday at 8 p.m.

As an additional incentive for shopping in Wayne, the first of several $50 cash drawings in connection with the Win-A-Car promotion will be held Friday. Winning number will be posted at 1 p.m. in business places and the person with the lucky number has until 8 p.m. to collect his prize.

4-H Achievement

The annual Wayne County 4-H Achievement Program is set for Thursday evening, at 8 p.m. in the city auditorium in Wayne.

Main features of the evening will be the presentation of awards to over 70 youngsters for their project achievements over the year and a talk and showing of slides by Art Moseman, Dakota County agricultural agent. Moseman will discuss the citizenship shortcourse trip he and several See 4-H, page 6

Honors Recital

A new event in Wayne State College's fine arts schedule is the honors recital of outstanding students in music at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Ramsey Theater. The recital climaxes a series of student performances this term.

Chosen for the honors concert are the following:

Joyce Pflieger, Sokol, Pender (formerly of Omaha), soprano and flutist; Cheryl Haase, Denton, Ia., French horn; Pat Fitzsimmons, Omaha, violin; Cassie Wildeck, Wayne (formerly of Minn-See HONORS, page 6

Allen Man Killed

Melvin Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Johnson of Allen, was killed in a one-car accident about one mile south of Ponca Thursday evening, according to Gus Schutte, Dixon County sheriff.

The accident occurred about 11 p.m. at the junction of Highways 9 and 12, Schutte said. Two passengers in the car at the time of the accident were not seriously injured.

Johnson was born Dec. 31, 1949, and was a 1968 graduate of Allen High School. He was a freshman at Wayne State College.

Funeral arrangements for Johnson have been scheduled for 1:30 today (Monday) at the First Lutheran Church at Allen with Rev. John Erlandson officiating. Burial will be in Allen's Eastview Cemetery.

Survivors include his parents and two sisters, Mrs. Rodney (Barbara) Campbell of Omaha and Gloria of Sioux City.

Finish Open House Plans for Gillaspie

Plans have been completed for an open house Sunday afternoon, Dec. 8, to honor Howard Gillaspie on his retirement as Dixon County agricultural agent.

Clyde Noyes, assistant director of the agricultural extension service at Lincoln, will be the guest speaker at the program See GILLASPIS, page 6

Legion Honors Seven Men

Seven Wayne American Legion members Tuesday night were honored with awards for 50 years of membership in the American Legion in ceremonies at El Rancho.

Present to accept the awards were A. L. Swan, Frank Heine, Henry Kugler, Bernard Meyer, John T. Bressler, Jr. and Leslie Ellis.

Paul Mines, the seventh man who earned the honor, was out of town and unable to attend the meeting.

Presenting the awards was Glenn DeWeber, department commander for the State of Nebraska.

Featured speaker was William E. Galbraith, past national commander of the American Legion. Also attending was Lauren Her-

City BB League Is Being Organized

A city recreation basketball league for adults will probably be formed in the near future, according to Hank Overlin, city recreation director.

Overlin said that already over 20 men have shown a strong interest in playing in the league and as a result he, Randy Bates and Ray Vrtiska are in the process of organizing the league. Anybody interested in playing in the league should call Overlin at 375-2584, Bates at 375-2067 or Vrtiska at 375-3861.

The league will be open to all men in Wayne, Carroll or Winfield, all college students who have graduated from Wayne High School, all married college students who live off campus and all faculty members at the college. Overlin said such towns as Wakefield are being left out of the program because they are large enough to organize their own recreation league.

Overlin said he was not sure how much the entry fee would be for each player, but he estimated it will be between $3 and $5. This money will pay for the referees, score keepers and the city auditorium, Overlin said.

The three men are planning on having at least four teams in the league. A good response may be up that number to six. Games will probably be played at 7 and 8 p.m. each Wednesday evening in the city auditorium. Deadline for signing up for the league is Dec. 11. This will give time for about two practice games before the first of the year. The league will probably play games until the first part of March and will then have a play-off.

Each team will be composed of eight players and after league action begins a team will be able to add another player only with the consent of all team captains. "We're doing this because a basic rule we want to follow is that each team member be able to play at least half the game. The league isn't being formed for competition but only for recrea-

Men Builders

The following story is taken from the Allen High School newspaper, "Eagle's Cry":

"The poster in front of the post office carried the picture of a handsome marine in dress uniform. Below, in large letters, was the message: 'The Marine Corps builds men.'

"It must have impressed someone because written just below the message in a feminine hand was this: 'Build me one.—Laura.'"

Sargent Cites Area Gridders

Two area football gridders, Dave Dietrich of Laurel and Steve Hesse of Randolph, were named last week to Conde Sargent's unofficial all-star team in his column in the Omaha World-Herald.

The all-star unit is small in size—players can't weigh more than 165 pounds in the line and 155 in the backfield. That's about half the size of one of the all-stars picked by the daily: Darrell Miller of Kenesaw, 6-6 and 325 pounds. Dietrich is 155 pounds, Hesse is 140.

Another Laurel player, Larry Smith, was cited by Sargent as being among those high school players who may make headlines in college ball if they choose to continue their education.

Larceny, Guns, Cats, and Crashes

Over the weekend Wayne's police department investigated a disturbance near the Elm Motel, had a report of lost gloves; a case of larceny when five barricades were stolen from an alley; picked up a stray dog and filed a report concerning three well-dressed young men of around 21 years old having a revolver and a German Luger in an attaché case while in a business establishment.

Officers also received a call concerning two loose dogs which they impounded and were told of a missing bicycle which was recovered.

Also a WSC student was bitten by a cat. The cat is being held for rabies observation.

An auto accident occurred at 5th and Main when a 1966 Ford heading south stopped in the line of traffic for cars ahead and was struck in the rear by a 1963 Ford. Extent of damage is unknown.

Then on Tuesday police were called to a disturbance around 11 p.m. and broke up a beer party.

Wednesday, at 7th and Main, a 1960 Chevrolet headed south on Main stopped to make a left hand turn and was struck in the rear by a 1967 Cadillac.

Pick Corn for Farmer

About a dozen friends and neighbors of Neyron Woodward turned out Nov. 19 for a corn picking bee. Woodward had his arm broken in a corn picking accident about seven weeks ago. The farmers worked until the middle of the afternoon and picked about 47 acres of corn.

Farmers who took part in the work included Russell Baird, Harvey Reibold, Warren Baird, Lowell Glassmeyer, Fredrick Janke, Don Rezac, Lawrence Sprouts, Merlin Saul, Floyd Glassmeyer, Thaine Woodward, Harold Gathje and Curtis Foote. Several women brought food and helped with the dinner for the pickers.

Owls feed extensively on rodents and are highly beneficial to farmers.

Nebraska's Special Beauty

Nebraska has its own peculiar kind of beauty. It's not bold or arrogant, but it's there just the same. In the rolling hills, the small creeks, the people. And it's apparent only to those who seek it out.

Sometimes a person is lucky enough to capture a small piece of that beauty on film.

The jet etching its way across the blue sky is doubly significant when seen from under the old windmill which stands outside of the Dixon County museum in Allen. A certain depth of character is revealed in the expression and pose of Mrs. Victor Carpenter as she discusses the library of Allen.

The cat which seems completely oblivious to the outside world has found a perfect place to observe what's going on in this shed in Carroll.

The leaning building on a farmstead north of Concord tells a story itself about the passing of the small farmer.

And the stark contrast of the dead tree limbs against the sky tells its story about the repeated birth and death which occurs on the rolling land.

MULTI-POWER NOW AT Tiedtke's

The model M.P. 12-120 MULTI-POWER unit is a low cost compact power supply that utilizes the power of the generator and alternator on present day automobiles, trucks and industrial equipment to provide from 12 volts to 150 volts up to 2000 watts. It may be installed under the dash or under the hood of most any automotive vehicle, or it may be installed on tractors or any other self-powered farm or industrial equipment having a 12-volt alternator or generator.

It will charge 6, 12 or 24 volt batteries in from 6 to 18 minutes. It is an electrical system analyzer which can be used for checking defective batteries, regulators, generators, alternators, and wiring systems.

The MULTI-POWER is especially valuable to contractors operating in remote areas enabling mechanics and service men to service and make repairs of heavy equipment right on the spot, saving expensive down time and labor by eliminating the necessity of towing or hauling the equipment to a repair shop.

The MULTI-POWER also may be used on off shore boats for emergency power for various uses such as pumps, lighting, etc.

For the economy minded, there is a junior model of the MULTI-POWER available which provides power only for power tool operations, lighting, etc. Inquire at your local MULTI-POWER dealer about this unit also.

Corn Harvest Nears End, Yields Scanty.

Although of no surprise to the farmers in the area, a spot check by The Wayne Herald of farmers in Wayne County has revealed that the harvest of this year's corn crop is about half what it was one year ago.

Nearly all the farmers in the county have finished corn picking by now, the last big crop chore of the year, and reports show that the average yield over the county this year will be well below the average over the past five years.

T. P. Roberts, Wayne County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service manager, said that the average over the past five years for Wayne County would be about 55 bushels of corn to the acre. Last year the corn crop yielded about 62 bushels to the acre, according to Roberts.

Five farmers were contacted by The Wayne Herald and the yield from their acres devoted to corn this year varied from 45 bushels to five bushels.

Emil Westerman, who farms

240 acres nine miles south and two miles east of Wayne, finished his corn picking chores about two weeks ago. He said his average yield this year would be about 45 bushels to the acre. That is a little less than his yield last year, Westerman noted.

A farmer near Westerman, Merlin Prevert who farms 240 acres six miles south and about four miles east of Wayne, reported that his corn crop averaged about 25-30 bushels to the acre this year. Like Westerman, Prevert had about 70 acres devoted to corn this year and about 40 acres devoted to beans.

Another farmer who has finished picking corn this year is Henry Doring, Doring farms four miles east and two miles south of Wayne. His yield this year will be about 30 bushels of corn to the acre. He farms a total of 120 acres.

Elder Lubberstedt, who farms four and one-half miles west of Wayne, just finished picking the last of his corn crop last week.

He said his corn crop averaged about 35 bushels to the acre, quite a drop from last year when he realized about 50 to 60 bushels to the acre on the same land. Lubberstedt farms 320 acres and this year he devoted about 110 acres to corn. The rest of the land was given over to alfalfa, beans and small grain. Lubberstedt is one of the farmers in the county who made silage out of some of his corn crop—he cut about 25 acres for silage.

A farmer six miles north and two miles west of Wayne, Marvin Nelson, reported the lowest yield from his corn crop. Nelson said his corn this year would average out at about five bushels to the acre. Last year his corn crop yielded about 70-75 bushels to the acre. Nelson, who finished picking his corn about three weeks ago, farms 700 acres, 300 of which were given over to corn this year. Like Lubberstedt, Nelson made silage out of some of his corn crop this year—he chopped about 200 acres for silage.

A CERTIFICATE OF MERIT was presented to Chris Bargholz, center, last Sunday at the VFW Home in Columbus. (In recognition of outstanding devotion and service to the Disabled American Veterans of Nebraska.) At left is Vincent Murphy, Omaha, Department Adjutant. Henry Karstad, Omaha, at right, is Department Commander for the Disabled Veterans. The certificate was presented to Bargholz during the District III Business Meeting of the Disabled Veterans organization.

1000th Tractor to Be Tested at NU

Nebraska University has planned ceremonies for the 1000th tractor to be tested at the University of Nebraska's Tractor Testing Laboratory Dec. 2.

Many folk are unaware that NU has the only University operated tractor testing laboratory in the US and although several counties in Europe and Australia have developed tractor test facilities, Nebraska's is the only such facility in the Western Hemisphere. According to Dr. William Splinter, chairman of the NU Department of Agricultural Engineering, this facility is still regarded as the world standard.

The Nebraska Tractor Test Law went into effect in 1919 and the law is now administered by the Nebraska Department of Agriculture, with testing carried out by NU under the guidance of a tractor test board. The testing season runs from March to December.

Plans call for Elmer Schlaphoff, Director of Agriculture, to drive the 1000th test tractor through the ribbon stretched across the track.

Only production models are tested and in 1920 a manufacturer could have his tractor tested at no cost, however, today, manufacturers pay a fee of $800 plus $30 per unit of horsepower for the test. An average testing fee therefore costs approximately $1,500. Tractor manufacturers ship their products to NU from all over the world to be tested which usually takes a week.

Tests completed on all current tractors are available through the County Extension Office.

Set May Bid Date For N-98 Project

Eight highway projects in north-east Nebraska, including one in Wayne County, are scheduled for bid letting from February through May, according to a recent release by the Nebraska Roads Department.

The Wayne County project involves work on Highway 98 from the Carroll corner east to Highway 81. Scheduled for bid letting in May, the project will include grading, structures and gravel.

(Other projects in the area, type of work and bid letting month:—

—I.S.-20, Laurel north and east and Martinsburg junction; grading, structures and pavement; February.

—I.S.-81, Madison south; grading, structures and pavement; February.

—N-98, Osmond south; grading, structures and bituminous surfacing; March.

—I.S.-81, Yankton south; grading, structures and pavement; March.

—Macy west; grading, culverts and gravel surfacing; March.

—Jackson southwest; grading, culverts and gravel surfacing; March.

—I.S.-275, West Point-Wisner; grading, structures and resurfacing; April.

Their accompanists are Mrs. Doris Bernstein, Wayne; Sallie Bergt, Wayne; Jackie Armstrong, Milford; Paul Thorson, Omaha, Miss Merchant and Miss Haase.

The recital is open to the public, no admission charge.

Largemouth bass are sensitive to low water temperatures and become quite inactive when the water cools to below 50 degrees.

Council

—Voted to give Wayne Chamber of Commerce $1,500 to help pay for the Christmas lights and decorations recently put up in the city, the same amount that was given the chamber last year.

—Heard City Engineer Sid Magdanz's recommendation that the city should move as quickly as possible with the proposed storm sewer district 68-1. Magdanz noted that problems may arise if St. Mary's Church decides to build onto their school at the same time as the sewer is being installed. He noted that it looks like that may happen then the city could negotiate with somebody to lay a short strip of pipe in that area before the general contractor was to move in to avoid any conflict.

—Appointed Andrew Manes to the planning commission and Keith Mosley to the board of adjustments. Mosley will keep his membership on the planning commission.

—Approved the present electric rate schedule for commercial service.

—Voted to reduce the work week of city employees from 44 hours to 42 hours and to allow them a $5 gift certificate as a Christmas bonus.

Pfc. Keith E. Lehmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lehmann, Norfolk, is now stationed at Augsburg, Germany. Right now he is on a 30-day field trip and will return to Augsburg on Dec. 9. In January he will go for 60 days of NATO exercises. He says Germany is cold. His address: Pfc. Keith E. Lehmann, US 56546241, HHC 1st Bn., 35th Army, APO New York 09029.

Captain George R. Schweers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph D. Schweers of Wisner, Nebr., is on duty at Nha Trang AB, Vietnam.

Captain Schweers, a navigator, served at St. Louis, before his arrival in Southeast Asia.

The captain, a 1953 graduate of Wisner High School, received his commission in 1958 upon completion of the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps program at the University of Nebraska where he earned his BS degree.

His wife, Marianne, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. F. Schultz of Wisner.

Army Private First Class Paul R. Sauser, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Sauser, Randolph, was assigned as a rifleman with the 1st Cavalry Division (Airmobile) in Vietnam, Oct. 24.

Equipment Operator Constructionman Reuben F. Ulrich, USN, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Ulrich of Route, Winside, is serving with US Naval Mobile Construction Battalion 121 in Vietnam. His unit is on its second deployment to Vietnam and is providing construction support to US and Allied forces in the five northernmost provinces of South Vietnam.

In Vietnam, the "Seabees" provide technical assistance to villagers with construction projects. They also build airstrips, temporary housing, port facilities, fuel storage tanks, drill water wells and construct other facilities as they become necessary.

As the "Seabees" conduct the routine job of construction in support of combat forces, they may become targets for enemy snipers. When such incidents occur, the builders become defenders and put to use the combat skills they acquired through hours of training.

Pvt. E-2 Dean Smith, US 56546101, son of Mr. and Mrs. Desmond Smith, Allen, recently finished basic and ATT training at Fort Lewis, Wash. He took his airborne training at Fort Benning, Ga.

Pvt. Smith received his Silver Wings (Airborne) and is assigned to 101st Airborne Div. (Screaming Eagles). He was one of 32 students in 559 to receive the physical fitness award. His was the only plane load where no one was injured or quit training.

Jlm and David Ring, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Ring, Wakefield, are both serving aboard an oiler, the USS Neches, as engineers at Subic Bay, Philippines.

Sgt. Dennis L. Mitchell has arrived at Mather AFB, Calif. after spending 30 days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Mitchell, Allen. He returned to the States Oct. 13 after spending 18 months overseas. His address: Sgt. Dennis L. Mitchell, AF 16979850, 3536th NTS, Box 1215, Mather AFB, Calif. 95655.

Equipment Operator Third Class Duane E. Harmeler, USN, 27, son of Mrs. Esther Harmeler of Randolph, and husband of Mrs. Lavonne A. Harmeler of Omond, is serving with US Naval Mobile Construction Battalion 11 in the five northernmost provinces of South Vietnam.

His unit has completed a project which called for the construction of more than 2,000 structures in about eight weeks. The "Seabees" worked seven days a week in order to get thousands of US

Marines and soldiers out of tents before the Vietnamese monsoon season.

Thousands of tons of materials were delivered by barges and trucks, running 24 hours a day to meet the demands of the project. Helicopters were used at times to transport the "Seabee" builders when rain made roads impassable or when the workday ended after the roads had closed for the night.

Other battalion projects have included the building of an 18 mile fuel pipeline, construction of bridges, road work on critical northern supply routes, the building of an ammunition supply point and numerous other projects for units in the area, as well as civic action work.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor: I received the $10 from SWAY and I want to thank them for it. Thanks very much.

I am serving with the Seabees in Mobile Construction Battalion 121. We are at Camp Wilkerson, Gia Te, Vietnam. Right now I'm working in the stock room for the chow hall. We handle all the food that is brought in and checked out. We have five Vietnamese women that work for us. They do general cleanup plus help us unload trucks, etc. These people are very interesting. Neither of us can understand the other's language, so we use sign language.

We have learned a few words of Vietnamese and they know a few of English so we get along. We have a book with English and Vietnamese both, so we try to teach each other. That way we both get a laugh out of it.

So far the weather has been pretty good. It rains off and on but I guess it beats snow. I don't mind it here but it will be nice to get home.

Thank you again very much for the $10.

Sincerely, EOCN Reuben Ulrich, B58-99-19, MCB 121 "A" Co., FPPO San Francisco, Calif. 96601.

Dear Editor: Thank you very much for the $10 check I just received from SWAY. It was very much appreciated. The SWAY program certainly is a morale booster, to know that everyone back home is thinking about you. I am presently serving as Senior corporal on the orthopedic ward of Jacksonsville Naval Hospital, Jacksonville, Fla. I also work part of the time in the orthopedic clinic assisting doctors applying casts, splints and various types of traction.

I would again like to say thank you to everyone and hope to be back in Wayne soon.

Sincerely, Daniel J. Bilson, HN B62-91-39, Staff Barracks, Jacksonville Naval Hospital, Jacksonville, Fla. 32214.

Dear Editor: I've been in Vietnam now for about 22 days, so I figure it's about time to start getting a few letters written.

It's late again tonight, but I'm off tomorrow as far as flying goes, so I'm going to sleep until 7 or 8 o'clock.

Am nearing the 100 hour mark already. Our company is short on pilots as just about everyone is, and when a new one comes in he gets put to work right away. I was real happy about this though. I'm located at Phu Hiep which is about 80 miles north of Cam Rhan Bay, on the coast. This is mountain country and I don't think I've ever flown over more beautiful country. It's the monsoon season here now and everything is so green and lush. As one is flying around up there it's just hard to imagine that there is a war going on down below. That is, until you start getting shot at. You can see the tracer rounds coming up at you and outside of knowing they mean business, they also scare me half to death.

The Wayne (Nebr.) Herald, Monday, December 2, 1968

Ever since the bombing halt, enemy activity has increased in this area and they are armed with bigger and better weapons than they've been known to have. Seems like they've put a halt to the bombing halt and start putting a halt to a few of these other things. The other night "Charlie" put a mortar round into our JPM fuel line and although it made a beautiful 4th of July, I don't think you could persuade the parents, wives and children of the four that were killed, of that.

Weather has been the biggest headache so far. This monsoon can bring on the craziest weather you've ever seen. More rain than I ever dreamed possible but the land is mostly sandy, so we can't have the mud problem here that they do down in the southern part of Vietnam.

The chow over here isn't exactly state-side. Powdered milk and powdered potatoes. They only get sugar in every now and then, so most of the time food is fairly flat tasting. Fruit is hard to come by, but then the other day one of our pilots was down in Cam Rhan Bay, which is where most of the supplies from the states come in and spotted a 5,000 pound crate of apples. He just hovered over them, hooked 'em up and slung loaded 'em home. Some people would call that stealing. I guess, but it sure brought the morale of the men up to have that fruit in the mess hall.

Write and let me know how things are back in the USA. I sure miss that place. WO Jan R. Beckenhauer, W3161377, 180th ASHC, APO San Francisco, 96316.

Dear Editor: I would like to say "thank you" to SWAY for the $10, which I recently received and to all of the individuals, Veterans' Groups and businesses who helped to show this appreciation.

I would greatly appreciate hearing from you and anyone else who wishes to write. Sincerely, AMN Terry L. Nicholson, AF 96065128, CMC No. 1, Box 2818, Vandenberg AFB, Calif. 93437.

HAPPY NEW YEAR

by Betty Stern
Farm & Home Food Consultant

New Year's Eve get-togethers should be planned around old favorites. These, plus a few new additions, will ring a bell with your guests to usher in the new year in gourmet style.

Canned ham, (sliced and tied by the butcher) and the new boned, rolled turkey (ready to cook in its own pan) create a new ease in entertaining. The hostess is left free to concentrate on a few specialties such as Cheese Rye Bread and Midnight Celebration Cake.

MIDNIGHT CELEBRATION

GLORIFIED PERFECTION
SALAD

CHEESE RYE BREAD

QUICK PARTY BAKED BEANS
NEW YEAR CHEESE SPREAD

Peaches and Cream

- 1 (No. 2½) can cling peach halves
¼ cup brown sugar (packed)
⅓ cup sherry wine or fruit juice
2 thin lemon slices
Coconut Cream

Drain peaches. Combine syrup from peaches, sugar, wine and lemon slices. Simmer 5 minutes; add peach halves and simmer 5 minutes longer. Remove from heat and let peaches stand in syrup until ready to serve. Serve each peach half, either warm or cold, with some of syrup and a topping of Coconut Cream.

Coconut Cream

- ½ cup whipping cream
2 teaspoons sugar
Few grains salt
¼ teaspoon vanilla
½ cup flaked or shredded coconut

Beat cream with sugar, salt and vanilla until stiff. Fold in coconut and chill until ready to use. 4-5 servings.

Midnight Celebration Cake

- ¾ cup sifted flour
¾ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
20 honey maid graham crackers (1⅓ cups crumbs)
½ cup margarine
2½ teaspoons baking powder
¾ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 eggs
California walnuts

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt; combine with honey maid graham cracker crumbs. Place margarine in a bowl. Add dry ingredients, milk and vanilla, mix until dry ingredients are dampened. Beat 2 minutes in electric mixer or 300 strokes by hand. Add eggs and beat 1 minute or 150 strokes by hand. Pour into 2 greased, paper-lined 8-inch layer pans; bake at 350° about 25 minutes. Cool. Fill and frost with confectioners' sugar frosting. Decorate with California walnuts. Makes two 8-inch layers.

Quick Party Baked Beans

- ½ teaspoon tabasco
4 tablespoons unsulphured molasses
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
4 1-pound cans baked beans

Add tabasco to molasses, mustard and salt; mix well. Stir into baked beans in skillet or casserole. Bake in a moderate oven (350°), for 45 minutes, or cook on top of range 15 minutes. 8-12 servings.

Happy New Year Cheese Spread

- 1 cup (8-ounce package) cottage cheese
¼ teaspoon tabasco
Pimiento

Mix together cottage cheese and tabasco; turn into serving dish. Cut Happy New Year letters from pimiento; place on top of cheese. Serve as a spread with saltines or chips.

Glorified Perfection Salad

- 2 packages (3 ounces each) lemon-flavored gelatin
3 cups boiling water
1 cup dairy sour cream
2 tablespoons vinegar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup finely shredded red cabbage
1 cup finely shredded green cabbage
¾ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped green pepper
Salad greens
Carrot curls
Radish roses

In a large mixing bowl, combine gelatin and water; stir until gelatin is dissolved; chill until jelly-like consistency. Mix together sour cream, vinegar and salt; add cabbage, celery and green pepper. Stir into gelatin; pour into 6½ cup mold. Cover; chill until set. Unmold on chilled plate with salad greens; garnish with carrot curls and radish roses. 10-12 servings.

Cheese Rye Bread

- 1 package active dry yeast
1½ cups milk
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup (½ stick) margarine, melted
2 teaspoons salt
2½ cups sifted flour
1½ cups sifted rye flour
2 tablespoons caraway seed
1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese

Blend the rye and white flours together. Thoroughly mix undissolved yeast, 1½ cup rye-white flour, sugar and salt. In saucepan, heat milk and margarine until lukewarm. (Margarine need not melt.) Add liquid to dry ingredients and mix for 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add ½ cup flour and beat at high speed for 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in remaining flour, shredded cheese and caraway seed. On lightly floured surface knead dough lightly. Place in lightly greased bowl and let rise until doubled in volume (about 1½ hours). Punch dough down; shape into loaf and place in pan; brush top with margarine, cover and let rise until doubled in volume (about 45 minutes). Bake at 350° for 45-50 minutes. Remove immediately from pan to cooling rack. Cool before cutting. One 9x5x3-inch loaf.

HOLIDAY CHEESE BALL
 HAM SPREAD
 CRABMEAT SPREAD
 FROZEN GRASSHOPPER PARFAIT
 CHEESE LOG
 ASSORTED CANAPES

Holiday Cheese Ball

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup milk	1 small wedge onion
1 3-ounce package blue cheese, cubed	2 3-ounce package cream cheese, cubed
$\frac{1}{4}$ cup Cheddar cheese cubed	$\frac{1}{2}$ cup California walnuts
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce	6 sprigs parsley

Put milk and blue cheese into the Blender container, cover and process at LO. When smooth, push HI button, remove cover and add Cheddar cheese cubes gradually, then add onion, Worcestershire sauce and cream cheese. Process until smooth, using rubber spatula to keep ingredients moving to processing blades. Remove from container and shape into a ball. Refrigerate overnight. Put California walnuts and parsley in Blender, cover, push control to LO and turn switch On and Off until all pieces are chopped to desired size. About 30 minutes before serving, roll cheese ball in walnut-parsley mixture.

Ham Spread

2 tablespoons cream	1 thin slice onion
$\frac{1}{2}$ cup mayonnaise	1 cup cooked ham, cubed
$\frac{1}{2}$ cup pickle relish

Put all ingredients except ham into the Blender container, cover and process at HI only until mixed. Add the ham. Cover and process at HI until smooth. Wonderful way to use up the end of a ham.

Red Devil Balls

1 8-ounce package soft cream cheese	1 cup chopped California walnuts
1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -ounce can deviled ham

Cut cream cheese into 1 inch pieces and put into Blender container. Add the deviled ham. Cover and process at HI until smooth, using rubber spatula when necessary to aid in processing. Remove from container and chill in refrigerator until firm enough to handle. Shape into small balls and roll in the chopped nuts and serve on toothpicks. Yield: 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ dozen. To chop nuts put in Blender container, cover, push control to LO and slide switch On and Off two or three times.

Cheese Log

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup mayonnaise	1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 2-oz. jar pimientos, with liquid	2 cups Cheddar cheese cubes
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce	1 cup California walnuts
	$\frac{1}{2}$ cup parsley sprigs

Put first four ingredients and a few pieces of cheese into Blender container, cover and process at Blend (HI) until smooth. Remove cover and add remaining cheese gradually, continuing to process until smooth and creamy. Use a rubber spatula to keep mixture flowing to processing blades. Remove from container onto foil, cover and chill in refrigerator several hours or overnight. Before serving, put nuts and parsley into Blender container, cover and turn control to Chop and slide switch On and Off (HI and Off) quickly several times until nuts are chopped. Empty onto waxed paper. Shape cheese into log form and roll in nut-parsley mixture, coating well. Yield: One 8" log.

Frozen Grasshopper Parfait

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup green creme de menthe	2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
$\frac{1}{2}$ cup white creme de cacao	$\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar
$\frac{2}{3}$ cup scalded cream	4 egg yolks
	2 cups heavy cream

Put first four ingredients into Blender container, cover and process at Stir (Lo) until gelatine is dissolved, about one minute. Remove feeder cap and add sugar and egg yolks one at a time. When mixture is well blended, pour into large mixing bowl and chill until almost set. Put cream into Blender container, cover and process at Whip (Lo) until thickened. Fold gelatine mixture and cream together thoroughly. Pour into parfait glasses, cover with foil and freeze. About $\frac{1}{2}$ hour before serving, remove from freezer and allow to stand at room temperature. Garnish with whipped cream and just before serving, sprinkle with red or green sugar. Yield: 8-10 servings.

DIP, DUNK, AND BE MERRY

by Pam Howard

Holidays mean friends dropping in for old times sake, and gatherings for which you want something a little different that won't take hours of preparation.

Try these easy-on-the-hostess snacks. They're so good they'll be the talk of the party. They are especially easy if you use a Blender to perform the many food preparation tasks with just a flick of a switch. If you have a multi-speed Blender, use the lower speeds to the left, if the recipe calls for LO, and the higher speeds to the right, if it calls for HI.

Crabmeat Spread

3 tablespoons cream	1 tablespoon prepared horseradish
1 cup crabmeat

Put all ingredients into Blender container, cover and process at HI until smooth. Use rubber spatula to keep mixture flowing to processing blades. Yield: 1 cup.

Canape Mayonnaise

("moisture proofs" your crisp crackers and forms canape base)

1 envelope unflavored gelatine	1 cup mayonnaise
$\frac{1}{4}$ cup cold water	Premium saltines

Soften gelatine in cold water. Place over hot water and stir until gelatine is completely dissolved. Put into Blender container, add mayonnaise, blend on HI until well mixed. Yield: 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ cups canape base.

Assorted Canapes

Spread a thin layer of Canape Mayonnaise on premium saltines. Top with a wedge of Gouda cheese and a roll of sliced chicken. Garnish with chili mayonnaise.

Spread a thin layer of Canape Mayonnaise on premium saltines. Top with seasoned chive spread and cocktail shrimp.

Spread a thin layer of Canape Mayonnaise on premium saltines. Top with crumbled Blue cheese, and a slice of mandarin orange.

Spread a thin layer of Canape Mayonnaise on premium saltine. Cut cherry tomato in half. Scoop out inside; turn upside down to drain. Fill with chicken or crabmeat salad. Set on top of cracker.

GRASSROOTS GLEANINGS

by Bill Steiner

"If you can see the handwriting on the wall, it is time to hide the kid's crayons," advises the Savanna (Ill.) Times-Journal.

In this election year, the Janesville (Minn.) Argus passes on this election story from England: The candidate out canvassing knocked at a door. It was opened by a housewife. "Madam," he said, "are you on the electoral register of this constituency?"

"Sorry," she replied, "but we cook with gas."

It is not true that entertainment tacks hold together night-club costumes, says the Fremont (Neb.) Tribune.

The Weekly Valley Herald of Chaska, Minn., says "Drivers like two-car garages because it gives them more room to park in the driveway."

The way lawlessness is increasing in this country, complains The Reinbeck (Iowa) Courier, it'll soon be very hard to tell when a looting spree stops and a normal crime wave resumes.

The Houston (Mo.) Herald tells this one: The weary shoe salesman had pulled out half the stock and still could not satisfy the fussy woman customer. Finally he mopped his brow, sat down and said, "Mind if I stop for a minute? Your feet are killing me."

The Jamestown (N.D.) Sun comments: "We've finally found out why the country is in such a financial mess today. It's all Herbert Hoover's fault. As president, he turned his salary over to the government — and the government has been trying to get the rest of us to do the same thing ever since."

The following is from The Angola (Ind.) Herald: The young son of a stage personality came home with his report card.

"Well, son, were you promoted?"

"Better than that, Pop. I'm being held over for another 26 weeks."

The Minerva (Ohio) Leader quotes: "If thou must needs have revenge of thy enemy, forgive him and see how he suffers."

Love is defined by the Steuben Republican of Angola, Ind., as the force which makes a woman sink in a man's arms and end up with her arms in a man's sink.

This one comes from The Huntingburg (Ind.) Independent:

The dying man gasped pitifully, "Grant me one last request, Julia."

"Of course," she said softly.

"Six months after I die, I want you to marry Sam."

"Sam!" she said in a shocked tone. "But I thought you hated that man?"

"Exactly," he said with his last breath.

And an expert, says the Tri-County Truth of Churubusco, Ind., is a person who tells you something you already know and makes it sound confusing.

That person who first said that father gives away the bride quite obviously never received a clutch of wedding bills, complains the Belvidere (Ill.) Daily Republican.

The Lewiston (Ill.) News carried this one: Husband angrily to wife, "What do you know about money matters?"

"Only that it does," she replied sweetly.

According to the Arenac County Independent of Standish, Mich., a conference is the confusion of one man multiplied by the number attending.

A CRACKING GO

WALNUT JEWEL SALAD

by Susan Murphy

Sure as there was an orange in the top of your grandmother's Christmas stocking, a handful of walnuts had been tucked in, too. For walnuts were—and still are—as traditional to the holiday season as holly wreaths.

A bowl of walnuts with a nutcracker beside it on the table still reflects the friendly warmth of holiday hospitality. Another pleasant custom that has come down to us is that of small packages of goodies to give a favorite neighbor or relative. The holidays are a time of special desserts as well. Eggnog Walnut Pie or rich Christmas Walnut Roll are especially good as a finale for the big holiday dinner.

Eggnog Walnut Pie

- | | |
|--------------------------------|--|
| 1 envelope unflavored gelatine | 1 tablespoon cognac or brandy (or use 1½ teaspoons rum flavoring or vanilla) |
| ¼ cup milk | |
| 3 eggs, separated | |
| ¼ cup granulated sugar | ½ cup whipping cream, whipped |
| ¼ teaspoon nutmeg | 1 9-inch walnut crust |
| ⅛ teaspoon salt | California walnut halves |
| ½ cup milk | |
| ¼ cup granulated sugar | |

Soften gelatine in the ¼ cup milk. In top of double boiler beat egg yolks together with the ¼ cup sugar, nutmeg and salt. Stir in the ½ cup milk and cook and stir over hot water until mixture thickens and coats a spoon. Add softened gelatin and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Cool. Add flavoring. Beat egg whites until stiff and gradually beat in remaining ¼ cup sugar. Fold into gelatin mixture. Fold in whipped cream. Pour into chilled shell and chill until firm. Serve garnished with a wreath of whipped cream decorated with walnut halves.

California Walnut Crumb Crust

- | | |
|------------------------|---|
| 1 cup fine sugar honey | ½ cup finely chopped California walnuts |
| graham cracker crumbs | ¼ cup soft margarine |
| ¼ cup granulated sugar | |

Mix all ingredients. Press into 9-inch pie pan. Chill or bake at 375° about seven minutes.

Honey-Creme Salad Dressing

- | | |
|--------------------------------|------------------------|
| 1 8-ounce package cream cheese | 2 tablespoons honey |
| ¼ teaspoon salt | ¼ cup dairy sour cream |

In a small bowl whip or mash cream cheese with salt, honey and sour cream. For smoother dressing, whip with beater.

Christmas Roll

- | | |
|--|--------------------------|
| 1¼ cups chopped California walnuts | 1 cup dates, sliced |
| 1 cup miniature marshmallows, cut in half | 1¼ cup sugar honey |
| ¼ cup red and green maraschino cherries, quartered | graham cracker crumbs |
| | ½ cup orange juice |
| | Whipped cream |
| | California walnut halves |

Combine all ingredients except whipped cream. Turn out onto a large sheet of aluminum foil. Shape into the size of roll desired. Wrap in foil and chill overnight. Cut into slices to serve. Mixture is rich. Small portions are suggested. Top each slice with fluff of whipped cream; decorate with walnut half. Makes eight to twelve servings, depending upon size of roll, and portions preferred.

Chocolate Walnut Candy Cookies

- | | |
|---|--|
| 2 6-ounce packages semi-sweet chocolate morsels | 1 tablespoon milk |
| 3 tablespoons soft margarine | ½ cup flour |
| ¾ cup sugar | ¼ teaspoon baking powder |
| 1 egg, unbeaten | ½ teaspoon salt |
| 1½ teaspoons vanilla | 1½ cups coarsely broken California walnuts |

Melt one 6-ounce package morsels over hot (not boiling) water. Stir together margarine, sugar, egg and vanilla; beat with spoon just till smooth. Stir in melted chocolate and milk, then flour sifted with baking powder and salt. Stir in walnuts and second package of chocolate morsels. Drop by teaspoonfuls on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake for 10 minutes only at 350°. Cookies will be soft. Cool slightly and remove to rack. Makes 3½ to 4 dozen candy-like cookies that are crisp outside and chewy inside.

Walnut Jewel Salad

- | | |
|--|---|
| 1 package pineapple flavored gelatin | 1 cup chopped raw cranberries |
| 1 cup hot water | ½ cup canned crushed pineapple, drained |
| ½ teaspoon salt | ½ cup diced celery |
| 1 cup cold liquid (drained pineapple juice plus water) | ½ cup chopped California walnuts |

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add salt and cold water-drained pineapple juice mixture. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in remaining ingredients. Turn into a one-quart mold or into eight individual molds. Chill until firm. Unmold onto bed of crisp lettuce, decorate with additional walnut halves or pieces and serve with sour cream, honey-creme salad dressing, or dressing of your choice.

Walnut Sour Cream Fudge

- | | |
|--|---|
| 2 cups sugar | ¼ teaspoon salt |
| ½ cup dairy sour cream | ¼ cup candied cherry quarters |
| ⅓ cup white corn syrup | 1 cup coarsely chopped California walnuts |
| 2 tablespoons margarine | |
| 2 teaspoons vanilla, rum or brandy flavoring | |

Combine first 5 ingredients in saucepan; bring to a boil slowly, stirring till sugar dissolves. Boil, without stirring, over medium heat to 236°F. on candy thermometer or until a little mixture dropped in cold water forms a soft ball. Remove from heat and let stand 15 minutes; do not stir. Add flavoring; beat till mixture starts to lose its gloss (about 8 minutes). Stir in cherries and walnuts and quickly pour into greased shallow pan. Cool; cut in squares. Makes about 1½ pounds.

GOOD CHRISTMAS

Walnut Chiffon Cheesecake

Graham Crust

1 cup sugar
honey graham cracker crumbs
2 tablespoons sugar

$\frac{1}{8}$ teaspoon cinnamon
3 tablespoons melted margarine

Filling

$1\frac{1}{2}$ envelopes ($1\frac{1}{2}$ tablespoons) unflavored gelatine

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup Sherry or light rum ($\frac{1}{2}$ cup milk and 2 teaspoons rum flavoring may be substituted for Sherry or rum)

3 eggs, separated
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup milk
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup granulated sugar
2 cups (1 pint) small curd cottage cheese
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon grated lemon rind

$\frac{3}{4}$ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons vanilla
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped toasted California walnuts
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped raisins
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup coarsely grated citron
1 cup mixed finely chopped candied cherries, pineapple and orange peel
1 cup whipping cream

For crust, combine graham cracker crumbs, sugar, cinnamon and melted margarine. Turn into bottom of 9-inch spring form pan; press crumbs firmly into an even layer. Chill while preparing the filling.

For filling, soften gelatine in Sherry (or $\frac{1}{2}$ cup milk if substitute for liquor is used). Beat egg yolks; combine with remaining $\frac{1}{2}$ cup milk, sugar and salt. Cook over low heat, stirring, until mixture thickens and coats spoon. Add gelatine, stirring until dissolved, remove from heat. Stir in cottage cheese (pressed through sieve if very smooth mixture is desired), lemon rind and juice and vanilla (plus 2 teaspoons rum flavoring if substitute for liquor is preferred). Chill until thickened. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites, walnuts and fruit. Fold in stiffly beaten cream. Turn into graham lined 9-inch spring form pan; chill until firm. Remove outer ring from pan and arrange cake on serving plate. Garnish top with walnut halves and candied cherries, if desired. Cut in wedges to serve. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

No-Bake Walnut Balls

2 cups vanilla wafer crumbs
 $\frac{1}{3}$ cup granulated sugar
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon cinnamon
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped maraschino cherries

$\frac{1}{8}$ teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped California walnuts
1 teaspoon lemon juice
 $\frac{2}{3}$ cup sweetened condensed milk

Mix together crumbs, sugar, salt, cinnamon, cherries, and 1 cup California walnuts. Add lemon juice, condensed milk. Form in balls. Roll in sugar and trim with walnut halves.

Holiday Hard Sauce

In mixing bowl, blend 2 tablespoons hot water with $\frac{1}{2}$ cup soft margarine. Gradually add 3 cups (or more) sifted powdered sugar; beat till fluffy. Beat in 1 teaspoon vanilla and, if you like, 2 to 3 tablespoons sherry, rum or brandy, plus a little more powdered sugar. Add $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped California walnuts and $\frac{1}{2}$ cup finely chopped and well-drained Maraschino cherries. Serve fluffy or let chill to harden.

A CHRISTMAS COINCIDENCE

By James Aldredge

It might be called a Christmas coincidence. Certainly it enriched Yuletide music in a way that nobody ever dreamed. Just fifty years apart, two organists came to the rescue of their pastors who had written words for a Christmas hymn, but lacked a tune.

And what was the result?

All over the world, at Yuletide, thousands now sing "Silent Night" and "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

On Christmas Eve, 1818, (It was just a century and a half ago!), Father Joseph Mohr returned to his rectory in a rare glow. The assistant pastor of St. Nicholas Church in Oberndorf, Austria, he had just come from a lowly peasant home where a baby boy had been born.

Somehow the happiness of those poor parents seemed to typify all the joy of the Holy Nativity season. Father Mohr was so moved that he sat down and wrote some verses in which he sought to express the profound delight he felt.

His poem began, "Still Nacht! Heilige Nacht! (Silent Night! Holy Night!)" The more Father Mohr considered them, the surer he was that those stanzas would make an appropriate carol for his Christmas Day service. But words cannot be sung without music. He must find someone who could write a tune.

As he was turning the matter over in his mind, he remembered his church organist. Franz Gruber, a gifted young musician, was accustomed to arranging scores with no trouble at all.

But when Franz learned from Father Mohr what was needed, he voiced considerable doubt. He had small hopes of success, since he was not experienced in composing tunes. Nevertheless, because he was fond of the young priest, he carried the verses home, resolved to see what he could do.

The next morning he returned with a score that must have been inspired just as much as the words themselves. Father Mohr, who also was musical, was highly pleased. The two men rehearsed the carol together. Mice had eaten away the bellows of the organ, so they depended on a guitar accompaniment.

"Silent Night" was first sung at St. Nicholas Church in Oberndorf on Christmas Day, 1818. Father Mohr sang tenor, and Franz Gruber, bass; the worshippers appeared delighted and greatly impressed. Both author and composer would have been amazed, had they known how many tens of thousands would come to know and love their carol.

Half a century later, (It was just one hundred years ago!), shortly before Christmas, a young rector in Philadelphia was making plans for a special holiday program to be given by his Sunday School children. Although Phillips Brooks had not been long at the Church of the Holy Trinity, already he was celebrated as a preacher and much beloved by his parishioners. He was especially popular with the boys and girls.

As he was working over that program, there came back to him a vivid remembrance of the Holy Land which he had visited only three years before. He had seen Bethlehem, the place of the Nativity, as it lay bathed in starlight on Christmas Eve.

It was a deeply moving memory, and Phillips Brooks was inspired to write verses, expressing his feelings of reverence and adoration. When he had completed his lines, he decided they would make a lovely carol for those Sunday School children to sing.

But now he faced Father Mohr's problem. Words are one thing, music something else.

Who could write a tune for his stanzas?

And then, as happened in the case of the humble pastor at Oberndorf, there came to the Philadelphia rector the same idea—his organist!

Lewis Redner was not only a musician, but the choir director of his church and the superintendent of the Sunday School.

When Phillips Brooks brought Mr. Redner his verses, he quipped, "If you will only write a tune for these, we'll call it 'St. Louis!'" (The name by which the carol tune is known to this day!)

Promising to see what he could do, the organist carried the poem home. After trying all evening, he finally went to bed, feeling quite discouraged. But in the middle of the night he woke with a beautiful tune sounding in his mind. Rising quickly, he put the notes down on paper, so he would have the score ready for the children's rehearsal the next morning.

Lewis Redner, it turned out, had found an excellent musical setting for his rector's stanzas. The new hymn appealed tremendously to that Christmas congregation—singers and listeners alike. From Philadelphia its popularity spread until it became a great favorite all over the country. Today it is a greater favorite than ever, for no Yuletide comes and goes without thousands joining in singing "O Little Town of Bethlehem"—words by Phillips Brooks, music by Lewis Redner.

So, once again, an organist had collaborated with his parson and together the two had achieved immortality!

SWEET AND EASY WITH...

MORSELS

Now that we've dressed up
our plain Model 742,
who's going to buy our fancy one?

Fair question.

Ever since we introduced the 742, its reliability under all conditions has made it the largest-selling automatic rifle on the market. And we've always offered it in two grades—regular and BDL Deluxe. Or, if you prefer, plain and fancy.

But this year, we've restyled our 742 standard. Instead of plain and fancy, we've now got . . . well, fancy and fancier.

Our standard model now sports a restyled fore-end, ski line checkering, white-line spacers and a non-slip butt plate. (In both rifle and carbine lengths.) Plus our brand-new vibra-honing process on the barrel, receiver and action that gives a smoother, deeper blueing and easier-working action. And all for $159.95*.

But we've still got our Deluxe. For $20* more. Who do we think will buy it, now that we've fancied up our other model?

Well, frankly, lots of people. People who like the feel of a Monte Carlo stock, with cheekpiece and basket-weave checkering. People who don't mind paying a bit extra to own one of the best-looking big-game rifles in the woods.

Both models are available in 30-06 and 308 Win. caliber. (The standard also comes in 280 Rem., 6mm Rem. and 243 Win.) Both have the quick-change clip and artillery-type rotary locking bolt; both are just as accurate and reliable and strong as you'd expect from Remington.

Which one is right for you? Sorry, but that's your decision. If we knew the answer, we'd only make one model.

Through the winter nights, now — on round, padded feet as silent as falling snow—comes the predator patrol.

A coyote emerges like a grey ghost from the sheltered niche of a prairie hillside. A red fox rises from its bed on a back pasture knoll, and trots off into the shadows.

Their black noses forever testing the night air, the predators carry their empty stomachs across the lonely winter land. Like furry sponges, they rub their appetites over the hills and valleys and soak away their hunger.

In the morning they are gone, curled in hidden places like wild hermits.

But the secret of their patrol is out. It is written with the clarity of a summons: lines of tracks zig-zag over the snow and tell the story of the predator and his night.

A chapter of the story in my farm-boy days was frequently written in the snow-covered field where I rode a bobsled load of manure behind a jogging team of black horses. A fox track that angled across the hillside and disappeared into the pasture willows removed the burden of Saturday morning chores like a sudden release from the demands of gravity.

If a fresh snow had fallen during the night, Saturday was almost ritualistic. I knew in the early morning darkness, when we followed the yellow light of a kerosene lantern down to the barn, that chores would be easy this day, and that before the winter sun had completed its brief swing, a fox would run — probably with a certain amount of amusement—before a band of shouting farm boys.

We gathered customarily on that farm nearest the Yellow river valley where we must often hunted. It was a three-mile walk from my home to the "gathering farm," and it was usually mid-forenoon before I arrived, sometimes on skis if the snow was deep, and always slightly damp with the perspiration of exertion and anticipation, no matter what the temperature.

We walked—or skied—then, to a fox track, one that we had found during the course of our morning chores, or one that we discovered as part of the hunt.

Then it began. One of us took the track, and the others—three or four of us—tried to outguess the fox and get to where the fox was going before he got there.

We were armed with .22 caliber rifles and we had them loaded with .22 long-rifle "hollow points" because we knew from reading the advertisements in the outdoor magazines and from using our imaginations that "hollow points" would knock a grizzly on its tail if you hit him right.

That boy who took the track, cold-trailed until the lounging fox was routed. I cannot help but imagine that the fox must have listened to him coming, and then thought to himself, "Ah me, it must be Saturday: here they are again. Well, should I give 'em a run or should I den up and spoil their day?"

Most often the fox was a sport about it, and loped off through the alder and dogwood of the river bottom, thence up a pine-shrouded hill and finally into the open rolling fields and pastures.

Invariably, those of us who were trying to outguess the fox guessed wrong, and the animal bounded into the open at least a quarter of a mile from its nearest pursuer. On the side of the cardboard box that held the "hollow points" it said, "Range—one mile. Be careful." With this in mind—that "one mile" range—we sent a hollow point or two snapping off in the direction of the fox even though it was so far away it looked like an ant. We never hit one, of course, but we made some of them run as if we had tied cans of pebbles to their bushy tails.

The only time I ever guessed right on a fox, one of them trotted into view fifty feet away, just after I had fallen head-and-gun-first into the snow and couldn't have shot accurately if my life had depended on it. I shot anyway, but the big red tail whipped back over the hill and its carrier suffered nothing more serious than damage to its dignity.

Some Saturdays we hunted all day and failed to get so much as a glimpse of a fox. Ours was a successful hunt if one of us got a look at Reynard, even a long-range look. The "look" brought on shouts and excitement that warmed the day like a south wind.

When the short winter day began to shrink rapidly, we headed for home — flushed and windburned until we were as red as tomatoes, sticky and chilled with sweat, as hungry as vultures, and so exhausted we sometimes fell asleep at the supper table.

I don't know if boys still run fox in the river hollow on Saturday afternoons, but it's a dead cinch that the foxes are there to run.

Maybe now, along the Yellow river like elsewhere, the fox chasers are older and more sophisticated. It is common, now, for the predator pursuers to have more years and equipment than we had. Now the hunters use hounds, snowmobiles, radio-equipped trucks, special flat-trajectory rifles, and even airplanes.

The sophistication of the hunters has brought belated respectability to the hunted. Back in the days when we chased them, predators were nothing but chicken-stealing, lamb-chasing villains that were responsible for most of the wildlife ills, particularly any downward trend in small game populations.

Game biologists helped the predators erase some of the black marks from their records. Studies showed that the coyotes and the fox were not the total "bad guys" of the wild. While they certainly eat some game species, the studies showed, they also eat a lot of other things. And they are part of a natural balance that Man is hard put to improve upon, especially with such ineffective things as bounties.

The predators are still "wanted," but not so much as bad characters; now they are wanted for the sporting challenge that they provide for an ever-growing fraternity of coyote and fox hunting specialists.

Now, of a Saturday or Sunday afternoon, there are thousands of men — and boys — in pursuit of the fang-toothed wild dogs. If they have one-tenth as much fun as we had on those afternoons a long time ago when we chased fox until our legs cramped up as stiff as pretzels, then someday they will reminisce fondly as I have done. And the predators in their memories will assume heroic proportions. That's how it should be.
