

IMMANUEL LUTHERAN CHURCH spire reaches for the Christmas sky.

Cradled in the soft-breath of starlight, a rustic church spire probes the night sky, reaching upward to grasp the Light Eternal. The symbolic earth-building, though nestled in surrounding darkness, speaks to every man, every where, every race and creed, of God's goodness to man through the Gift of His own Son, the Light of the world.

Outside these aging walls exists man's sensuous struggle with himself. He wars in the darkness of disillusion, hatred, prejudice, greed and historic egotism. Having experienced the cruel and crushing weight of baffling blackness around him, man searches for a guiding Star.

It's an old story, an old star, suddenly guiding shepherds to an old stable. Yet the Christ-child is ever new, causing human hearts to throb in living faith, while chasing daydreams tinted with doubt. He is the Door ever open, the Son ever lingering to explain Heaven's idea of true harmony.

Though it all started on a night of nights, long long ago, when His Light joined the star-studded caravan of celestial vagabonds, yet His Star continues to scatter radiant beams while in a midnight skirmish with the widening cracks in the Universe. Darkness which has crept stealthily into man's presence from some unknown beyond, is soon dispelled by that aureole framing His grandeur and Good News.

This rural white framed structure, along with thousands like it, continues a nightly vigil on a wind-swept hill, keeping a regular rendezvous with all those who care to "seek and find". Warmth by the embrace of Faith and Grace, the congregation join their voices in hallowed confession. Honest prayers of repentance break through barriers erected by deceit, and find their way home.

Common pews hold the human freight of oft-time broken spirits. Aisle carpeting has felt the passing of wedding veils and the tread of love's youthful vows. Thread-worm hymnals love to feel the tender touch of being held in hopeful hands. Windowed-walls have oft fielded the wail of death. So it was that life, carrying its myriad facets of sorrow and joy, was granted to mankind, through such a Heavenly Inn.

Somewhere tonight, out there on the horizon of Faith, His Star of peace and brotherly love ever shows mankind the Way to a new life beyond the starlit galaxies.

You can see it all in the eyes of Bethlehem's new Babe, and the contagious glow radiating from a cherub choir.

The Wayne Herald staff wishes you one and all a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. MMW

Cash Night Prizes Still up for Grabs

Now that the excitement of Wayne's Win-A-Car drawing has ebbed, Wayne shoppers can get back in the groove of looking forward to the weekly Cash Night drawing, which was almost lost amidst all the other drawings during the past two weeks.

There was a winner in last Thursday night's drawing. Frank J. Lansing of Wayne took home $150 to help him with his Christmas shopping. All he had to do to earn it was step forward when his name was announced in all the participating stores at 8 p.m. To be eligible for the drawing you must be at least 18 years old and must register in one of those stores taking part in the drawing. No purchase is required but you must be in one of those stores when the name is announced in order to win.

This Thursday night at 8 p.m. the prize will be worth $100. If there is no winner the prize will jump $50. It will climb by that much each week until there is a winner.

Fund Started for Accident Victim

A fund has been started by several people in the State National Bank of Wayne for F. H. Roland.

Roland, who is now hospitalized in Veterans Hospital in Omaha, was struck by a car Oct. 19 as he was walking along the new paving just south of Wayne. Critically injured, he was transferred to the Omaha hospital Oct. 22.

His wife recently wrote The Wayne Herald that he is only semi-conscious and almost completely paralyzed. She said that although no longer critical he does not remember who he is or why he is in the hospital.

Thirty-four years old, Roland was employed at McNatt's Hardware in Wayne at the time of his accident. Since the accident his wife and seven children have moved to Sioux City. Their address is 2214 Hamilton Blvd. Those initiating the fund for Roland said contributions should be brought or sent to the State National Bank in Wayne.

Little Improvement In Allen High Grad

Douglas Mattes, who was critically injured in an automobile accident in Iowa on Dec. 18, is still in poor condition, according to his younger brother, Lynn.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Mattes of the Waterbury-Allen area, Douglas was employed in Early, Ia., and was involved in the accident near Correctionville. He was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Sioux City. He was taken out of the intensive care ward Sunday, according to his brother, but if he does not show improvement the doctors may be forced to operate. He has still not completely regained consciousness, his brother reported.

Mattes is 20 years old and graduated from Allen High School in 1966.

Norvin Hansen New Editor of Wayne Herald

Norvin L. Hansen, 28, has been named editor of The Wayne Herald. He replaces Bill Richardson, and will assume duties as editor immediately.

Hansen is married and has one child. He graduated from Bloomfield High School in 1958 and from Wayne State College in 1967 with a bachelor of arts degree in education. He studied for one year at Wayne State under a graduate assistantship, and has been with The Wayne Herald news staff for the past seven months.

Assisting Hansen in the news department will be Merlin Wright, editorial, feature and news writer, and Marie Pretzer, society editor.

Morning Shopper Sold to Wayne Newspaper Men

Mr. and Mrs. Max Hendrickson, owners of the Morning Shopper, Wayne area advertising paper, announce the sale of their business today. New owners are Bill Richardson and Alan Cramer, Wayne newspaper men.

Richardson will operate the business. He said that no immediate changes were contemplated, although the publication may be switched to a tabloid format rather than the single sheets now distributed. In addition Richardson said that eventually the Shopper may become more regional in its coverage.

The new owners have leased office space at the present location in the Hendrickson building and will maintain the office there.

The Hendricksons have published the Morning Shopper since 1951. It has been in continuous operation since 1932 and has been published by the Hendrickson family since its inception.

Effective date for the transaction is January 1. First publication for the new owners will be January 9.

Missing a Paper? Blame the Weather

Like most other businesses in the area, The Wayne Herald was forced into changing its plans when Old Man Winter dumped several inches of snow on the ground and halted most activity last Thursday.

The Wayne Herald had planned on printing a paper last Friday and again this Monday. The weather put a damper on that idea. We were forced to cancel the Friday issue.

This issue of the paper is dated Thursday, Dec. 26, and was run off the presses Monday afternoon. There was no Monday issue of the paper this week.

Next issue of the paper will be dated Thursday, Jan. 2, and will be printed Monday, Dec. 30. Again next week there will be no Monday issue.

This alteration of schedule for the paper will allow all of The Herald employees to spend the holidays at home.

Winter Weather Contributes to Auto Accidents

Wayne police investigated an accident Wednesday at 3rd and Nebraska streets when a 1965 Diamond T truck which was headed east on 3rd struck a 1961 Rambler headed south, spinning the Rambler out of control into a parked 1968 Ford. Rambler damage was estimated at $163.48. Damage to the Ford was thought to be $407.54. The trucks suffered only minor damage.

Wednesday afternoon in the 200 block on East 10th, a 1966 Comet backed out of a parking stall and across the street, striking a parked 1969 Ford. Damage was minor.

Snow Storm Blasts Area

With a ferocity unequalled in this part of the country for several years, a snowstorm rumbled out of the northwest late Saturday night and all day Sunday, dumping about nine inches of new snow on top of that which fell the middle of last week.

The blizzard brought Wayne and the surrounding towns to a virtual standstill and caused cancellation of almost every activity.

Vern Schultz, Wayne streets commissioner, reported Monday morning that in the north part of town snowdrifts up to eight feet high were commonplace. He said he had all his snow removal equipment in operation in an attempt to clean the streets — three trucks, a maintenance and a loader.

Schultz said that many of the drifts were too huge for the normal equipment he uses to clean snow from the streets. He said he had to use caterpillars with large V blades to break through the drifts and then follow up with the smaller removal equipment.

Schultz expected to have most of the streets in Wayne passable by noon Monday barring any breakdowns.

The storm dumped about eight or nine inches of snow on the Wayne area. It seemed considerably more because of the accompanying high winds, which were clocked as high as 50 and 55 miles per hour at the height of the storm.

Norfolk Weather Bureau reported the following accumulations of snow:

Norfolk, 11 inches of new snow for a total of 15 inches in the past week;

Wakefield, nine inches of new snow for a total of 18 inches; More Snow Storms — page 6

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Fredrickson, Wakefield, were a happy couple Saturday as they held the winning ticket for the new 1969 model automobile given by Wayne merchants.

The Fredricksons held ticket No. 766,223, which was the first number drawn and gave them their choice of a new Chevrolet, Ford or Buick. They farm northeast of Wakefield.

Employment Office

A representative of the Norfolk office of the state employment division will be in Wayne Jan. 2, 15 and 29.

He will appear at the Chamber of Commerce office in Wayne at 9:30 a.m. to conduct interviews.

The Jan. 2 date is a change from the routine, caused by the holiday falling on Jan. 1. Interviewer will be Frank Nejedly.

Wortman Auto Company, Coryell Auto Company and Herb's Buick cooperated in the promotion with participating merchants.

The winning ticket had been given to the Fredricksons only the day before when they paid for a new picture tube for their television set at McNatt Hardware.

Six cash drawings for $50 each were held in addition to the car drawing. The cash drawings were spread from Dec. 6 through Dec. 20.

Saturday the couple had not decided which car they would take.

LAST $50 WINNER. Joan Ahlers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ahlers of Wayne, was the winner of the last $50 cash prize in Wayne's Win-A-Car promotion. She accepted her check from LeRoy Barner of Barner's TV and Appliance Friday afternoon. Saturday afternoon the list of 20 numbers was posted to determine the winner of the new car, the climax of the two-week promotion sponsored by Wayne Chamber of Commerce. Winners of the 1969 car were Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Fredrickson of Wakefield.

NE Tech Rejects Building Proposals; Hires Miner as Vocational Consultant

In two separate actions last week the Northeast Vo-Tech school board of governors looked at proposed long-range building program and hired a consultant.

Tuesday the governors examined a four-part building program proposed by Shaver and Company, encompassing the buildings on a 10-15 acre campus.

First phase of the proposal included two buildings estimated to cost a total of $1,917,946. Feeling the cost was too much for present finances, the board asked the architect to come up with a modified plan costing about $1,500,000.

NE Tech Administrator F. Don Macley said the board could expect to have receipt of $1,554,000 by the end of next year and a $100,000 in state funds.

Governors felt the modified program would be more in line with income expectations.

The first-phase proposal was for an administrative-academic building and a shop facility. A total of 48,480 square feet were drawn in the combination building for administration and classroom purposes. Cost was estimated at $776,350.

The shop building proposed by Shaver had a floor space of 25,533 square feet and would have cost $408,825.

Equipment and furnishings would bring costs to the $1,917,946 figure.

The proposal showed the total campus as projected by Shaver and Company with buildings, access, parking and dormitories. Wednesday night the board hired as a consultant for the school Dr. Fred Miner, a specialist in vocational education living in Stellacoon, Wash. Miner, formerly of Laurel, has been sought by the board as their first choice for the job.

He is educational director of Lakewood, Wash., and plans to continue in that capacity, visiting NE Tech three times a year for a fee of $1,000 per year plus travel expenses. Any additional trips he may be required to make to NE Tech will cost $200 per trip plus travel expenses.

Miner attended Wayne State College and the University of Nebraska. He has taught in North-east Nebraska and is married to the former Carolyn Spangler of Stanton.

MEMORIAL PLAQUE. A memorial plaque to Dwight Clatanoff was dedicated Wednesday for the new high school trophy case by Dwight's father Duane. Receiving the plaque for the school is Board of Education President Lynn Roberts. The dedication was made at the school in an informal ceremony for coaches, Dwight's classmates and teachers. mark for further genetic improvement of his herd and can be used to develop a systematic program based on both feedlot performance and carcass cutability and quality.

"From the program, facts will emerge which can be used by the producer as an aid in marketing his feeder calves and by the feeder to buy the kind of feeder calves he wants," the NU beef specialist explained.

The total results should be a "shot in the arm" toward further development of an aggressive promotion program for Nebraska-produced feeder cattle in competition with other states, he concluded.

Pilot Plan Set to Check Feedlot, Carcass Results

A pilot program designed to make it possible for Nebraska feeder cattle producers to evaluate the performance of their calves in the feedlot and the quality of carcasses after slaughter is now under way in the state.

Del Dearborn, University of Nebraska Extension livestock specialist, said this week that 66 feeder calves representing six herds have been delivered to the Ainsworth Feed Yards to begin an official test. They will be conditioned for about 28 days, wintered for 140 days and full-fed on a fattening ration until ready for slaughter.

The pilot effort marks the first step toward hoped-for development of a full-fledged Nebraska Feeder Cattle Evaluation program, with objectives similar to those of the Oklahoma State University Feeder Calf program and the Kansas Certified Feeder Calf program, Dearborn commented. Purposes of the Nebraska program would be to evaluate the growth rate, carcass grade, and cutability of cooperating stockmen's feeder cattle. Important benefits expected to accrue from the program would be increased interest in improving these characteristics in feeder cattle, and to provide factual information in promoting Nebraska feeder cattle, the NU specialist explained.

Dearborn outlined the roles of the cooperating cattle producer, the feeder, the packer and the NU Cooperative Extension Service in conducting the pilot effort.

Each producer's entry must consist of at least 10 steer calves or a number equivalent to at least five per cent of the number of cows in his herd, whichever is greater. Each cooperater will choose a random sample from his total eligible group of feeder calves and pay feed and yardage costs to the feedlot carrying out the test. Each animal will be weighed individually at the start of test.

The feeder is responsible for formulating the ration, providing facilities including scales; and providing feed and care for the cattle.

The packer would agree to buy the cattle on a grade-and-yield basis, kill cattle on designated dates, maintain individual identification on the kill floor and provide government grading service.

University of Nebraska Extension Service personnel will obtain measures of outside fat, ribeye area, an estimate of internal fat and carcass weight to estimate cutability. All growth and carcass information gathered by NU specialist will be summarized and distributed to each cooperater. The summary will include the rate of gain, carcass quality grade and estimated cutability of each of his animals and the average for all animals on test for each of these traits.

One of the most important aspects of the pilot project, Dearborn said, will be a tour at the conclusion of the test, in cooperation with interested livestock organizations. The tour is expected to spotlight commercial beef production with stops at each cooperater's ranch.

Following the anticipated timetable, weigh days would be held in February, March and May of next year, with the cattle to go on full feed sometime in May. Further weigh days would be held periodically prior to slaughter of the steers, probably in August, 1969. The tour would be held immediately after processing of the steer carcasses at the packing plant.

If plans develop as expected, the Nebraska Feeder Calf Evaluation program should provide a vehicle for identifying superior feeder calves and boosting the image of Nebraska feeder cattle in general, Dearborn pointed out.

The cooperative program involving calves in the post-weaning period of production is designed to complement other beef-cattle improvement programs available to Nebraska producers, Dearborn stated.

"Information on post-weaning performance of a producer's cattle should give him a bench-

Laurel 5' Raps CHS 87 to 63

The Laurel Bears were never in any difficulty as they walked to their fourth straight victory of the season, an 87-63 win over visiting Coleridge Friday night. Laurel Coach Larry Moore said he was "quite impressed with my reserves in at the end of the second quarter and played them all of the final quarter". Coleridge is a class C school, Laurel a class B. Moore said his reserves didn't do as well as he thought they would in the fourth quarter, getting outscored by the Bulldogs, 11 to 21. High scorer in the tilt was Coleridge's Craig Frerichs, who tallied 21 points, one more than Laurel's high point man, Tom Erwin. Starting slowly in the game, Laurel built up a 22-14 lead at the sound of the first buzzer and then moved to a 45-24 edge at intermission. Laurel's big scoring attack came after the rest when the Bears pumped in 31 points while holding the visitors to 18. Leading scorers for the hosts behind Erwin were Brent Falne-stock with 14, Larry Smith with 12 and Rod Erwin and Steve Erwin with 10 each. Also chalking up points were Jerry Nelson with eight, Jim Schroeder with six, Lee Dahl with five and Mike Olson with two. Rod Brandt had 18 points and Roger Hahne had 12 in the losing effort by the Coleridge squad. Leading in the defensive action for the Bears were Brent Falne-stock, Larry Smith, Steve Erwin and Jim Schroeder with seven rebounds each. Coming up with six steals during the night was Tom Erwin, Larry Smith pirated five and Steve Erwin four. Next action for the Bears is Friday night when they tangle with Wisner in the Wayne State College Christmas Holiday Basketball Tournament. Game time is 5:45 in Rice Auditorium. In other tournament action that night, Wayne High takes on West Point at 7:15, Wayne State challenges Puena Vista at 8:45 and University of Nebraska at Omaha takes on Westmar at 9.

Next mat action for the B team will be Monday, Dec. 30, in the city auditorium from 7 to 8:30 p.m. First scheduled games for the pound division; Marlin Kraemer pinned his man in the 138-pound class; Kurt Lienemann was pinned in the 145-pound class; Dick Johnson lost by a pin in the 154-pound class; Tom Nicholson was pinned in the 165-pound class; Mike Hammer was pinned in the 175-pound class; and in the heavyweight class Steve Rynko won by a pin. Old and Modern Uses of Evergreen

The first use of the Christmas tree as we know it today, according to legend, is traced to Martin Luther. He was walking home one wintery Christmas eve, the story goes, when lights from stars and a distant town were reflected from the snow-mantled evergreens. Luther was so impressed by the scene that he tried to duplicate it for his family. He placed small candles and tufts of cotton on an evergreen, and thus created the Christmas tree.

Today, evergreens are still used in much the same manner, brightly decorated and brought inside to remind us of the Christmas spirit. In Nebraska, evergreens have another important winter use as wind barriers to protect homes and yards. They have become a popular way to alter the severe winter winds common to Wayne County.

Over one and one-half million evergreen seedlings were planted

Turkey Drawing

Five turkeys were given away Dec. 14 in the second turkey drawing sponsored by the Concord Chamber of Commerce. Those winning the Christmas turkeys were Mark Koch, Larry Nobbe, Mrs. Jim Kircrner, Lavern Peterson and Mary Nelson.

Swedish Song Highlights Program

"Nu Tandas Tusen Julejus" will be one of the songs sung by the children taking part in the Christmas Eve program at the First Lutheran Church in Allen. The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will be a combination Sunday school program and congregation festive service.

The song is a Swedish children's Christmas song, "A Thousand Christmas Candles Bright". Rev. John Erlandson, pastor of the Allen-Concord parish, has been teaching the children to sing the song in Swedish. They will also sing several verses in English.

Title of the Sunday school program for the evening will be "Behold, The King". Classes from nursery through confirmation will take part in its presentation. The program will be centered around a film strip of the same title.

Rev. Erlandson said that in place of the usual monetary offering this year, the children in Sunday school are being asked to bring gifts for the Pethpage Mission in Axtel, Neb., a home for the mentally and physically handicapped. Rev. Erlandson and his family plan on delivering the gifts to the home Dec. 25.

TWO FRESHMEN STUDENTS from Omaha talked their way to winning places in an extemporaneous speech contest open to all students at Wayne State College. Armstrong, who is blind, made his five-minute talk without notes after the one-hour preparation allotted all contestants. The trophies are the ones they won in the contest.

Safety Inspection Schedule Change Announced by State Department

A change in the schedule for motor vehicle inspection in 1969 has been announced by Emmet J. Dennis, Jr., director of the department of motor vehicles.

Reason for the change, Dennis said, is to make it more convenient for motorists and to eliminate the confusion which could have been caused by issuance of new license plates in 1969.

The Motor Vehicle Advisory Committee planned that passenger cars, motorcycles, and farm-licensed vehicles bearing a plate on which the last number was No. 1 be inspected in January, and if the last number was No. 2 be inspected in February.

Since it is possible that motorists may not get the same license number in '69 as they had in the past the committee decided to have the vehicles bearing No. 1 and No. 2 has the last digit be inspected in November and December (1969) respectively.

Dennis stressed, however, that any motorist who so desires may have his vehicle inspected in January or February of 1969 on a voluntary basis since there will be a number of approved inspection stations at that time.

The actual schedule for the inspection of passenger cars, motorcycles, and farm-licensed vehicles is as follows:

- Plates ending in No. 3, March;
- Plates ending in No. 4, April;
- Plates ending in No. 5, May;
- Plates ending in No. 6, June;
- Plates ending in No. 7, July;
- Plates ending in No. 8, August;
- Plates ending in No. 9, September;
- Plates ending in No. 0, October;
- Plates ending in No. 1, November;
- Plates ending in No. 2, December.

Each approved sticker placed on the vehicle will be good for 12 months.

The schedule for vehicles bearing amateur radio operator's license, trailers, and semi-trailers (having a gross weight of over 3,000 pounds), trucks, tractors, self-propelled mobile homes, and buses (other than those used to transport students to and from schools), will be inspected prior to April 1 of each year. Starting March 1, new and used vehicles, sold to the public at retail and by licensed dealers, must bear a current sticker.

The items of inspection are: registration, horns, rear vision mirrors, windshield wipers and blades, glass, tires, exhaust system, brakes, steering, suspension, alignment and lights.

Certain parts of the body that present safety hazards to the operator, other motorists and pedestrians.

The inspection costs $2.00 but does not include any adjustments or repairs that may be necessary to make the vehicle safe and able to pass inspection.

In the event the vehicle, according to Dennis, does not pass inspection, the owner will be given a certificate which will show items that need adjustment, or repairs. The owner may have this work done at a place of his choice, or, he may do the work himself if he wishes. If he returns to the original inspection station to have the items re-inspected, which he must do within 10 days from the date of the original inspection, there will not be an additional charge. If he waits longer than 10 days, the vehicle must, according to law, complete another inspection and another $2.00 fee will be charged.

Inspection stations, according to Dennis, will be closely supervised by the Department of Vehicles personnel, and the personnel will offer assistance besides "keeping an eye out" for violations.

Penalty for violating the law is "up to $500.00 fine or up to 6 months in jail, or both".

Boys in County Register at 18

Wayne County boys are reminded that when they reach the age of 18 they must register within five days with the selective service board. Office of the board is open afternoons weekdays in the basement of the post office.

If a boy should fail to register within five days after he reaches the age of 18, he should notify his board as soon as possible. He should also be prepared to turn in a letter explaining why he did not register before the deadline.

Those wanting to go on to college after finishing high school must ask for a U-S college deferment. After college work is started, a student certificate must be provided the board to show a full-time course is being taken with satisfactory grades.

For those in U-S, there are possibilities of enlisting in the national guard if openings occur. When this enlistment is effective, the board will change classification from U-S to I-D (reserve component member).

Wayne County Selective Service board is asked many questions concerning selection of draftees. One of the questions concerns a "delinquent" and if one so designated can be called early.

State headquarters defines a delinquent as "a person required to be registered under the selective service law who fails or neglects to perform any duty required of him under the provisions of the selective service law". Anyone declared delinquent by his local board can be called ahead of other registrants.

One youth lives a long way from his draft board office and wants expenses paid for going to the office to register. Selective service laws do not provide for reimbursing anyone in any form for expenses incurred in performing this obligation.

One question came in concerning Classes I-A and I-A-O and the order in which such classifications are called. Physicians, dentists and allied specialists

Black and white, 21 minutes. "A Point of Return" studies the problem of suicide. A panel of experts review the events in a person's day which culminate in a suicide attempt. They comment on the important incidents of the attempt, its effects on the survivors and the need for preventive programs. Audience: adult groups, police, nurses, social workers, psychologists, clergy, college students. Black and white, 24 minutes. Films may be borrowed for community use by writing to Communications Division, Nebraska Psychiatric Institute, 602 South 44th Avenue, Omaha, Nebraska, 68105.

When Is Christmas? Is Christmas really the date of Christ's birth? Scholars don't know. For more than 300 years Christians observed His birthday on varying dates. Around the middle of the fourth century A.D. Bishop Ilibertus and the Christians of Rome began to celebrate His birthday on December 25. World Book Encyclopedia says Ilibertus probably adopted this date because people already observed it as the Feast of Saturn, celebrating the birthday of the sun. Christians honored Christ, instead of Saturn, as the Light of the World. The Christians of Egypt celebrated Christmas on January 6, and many members of the Eastern Orthodox Church still observe this date.

CERAMIC NATIVITY SCENE Mrs. Alfred Koplin of Wayne displays the nativity scene she made recently. She purchased the clay figures and then fired them in high temperatures several times to get the correct finish she wanted. Then she had to paint the pieces and set small stones and pieces of jewelry in them to add variety. She said it took her about six weeks of work to complete the set, valued at over $100. She has several other pieces of ceramic in her home which she made herself.

Group Studies Mental Health Care

A legislative council study committee headed by Sen. Elmer Wallwey, Emerson, has recommended financial support by the state instead of individual counties, of indigents or very long-time patients in state mental hospitals.

The committee also suggested establishment of uniform guidelines to determine when and to what extent a patient or his close relatives should be financially responsible for treatment costs.

Under the proposed law the Nebraska Department of Public Institutions would determine the ability of a patient or his relatives to pay based on specific factors set out in the law, such as taxable income, the patient's length of care and treatment, number of dependents, mental and physical condition and educational requirements. The relative's liability would end after 15 years or when the patient reaches age 21, whichever is last.

Other problems the proposed legislation is designed to meet include hardships suffered by parents in paying for institutional care of children, sometimes for as long as 30 years; hardships suffered by children in paying for the care of parents and lack of uniformity in county efforts to collect from relatives, some counties being extremely diligent, with others making little effort.

Group Warns of Christmas Dangers
 Somewhere in OUR town, a screaming siren may signal the end of a dream. Perhaps little Mary's dream of a beautiful new doll...fulfilled in the gaitery of Christmas morning...punctured and lost later in the rubble of a fire...because had made the mistake of using defective lights on the Christmas tree.

Or, more tragically, will it be Dad himself...faithful to his pledge not to take more than one drink at that holiday cocktail party...but the victim of another drinker's carelessness?

At home and on the highways, life's hazards are amplified and even multiplied during the Christmas holiday season, the Insurance Information Institute warned today. The Institute pointed out that Christmas, which many regard as the most joyous of holiday periods, can also be the most dangerous.

14. Next meeting for the Community Club will be Jan. 27.

Don Wacker spent several days last week in Las Vegas. He attended a truck showing there and a number of approximately 1,000 dealers throughout the area to attend.

Christmas Eve supper guests in the Waldon Brugger home will be Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Brugger, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Brugger and family, Norfolk, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Loberg and family, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Lindsay and family and Mrs. J. H. Brugger.

Mrs. Otto Graef spent a week in the Jerry Graef home, Denver, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Frank, Seattle, were guests Sunday in the Mrs. Evelyn Schreiner home.

...Plug the light cord into an outlet that can be controlled by a switch some distance from the tree and always make sure the lights are off when you leave the house or go to bed.

...If you use outdoor lighting, be sure your wiring and electrical equipment are of the kind designed for that purpose.

...Dispose of gift wrappings promptly after gifts have been opened.

...Take the tree down when needles begin to fall, and discard it outside the house. Never burn it in the fireplace or incinerator.

...Be sure there are plenty of ashtrays available to smokers, especially if you are having a party.

...If the children are to receive chemical or electrical toys, use good judgment in selecting them, and then supervise their use.

...Turning to the problem of holiday driving, the Institute acknowledged that the motoring habits of a nation are hardly subject to change overnight. Nevertheless, it cautioned, the experience of past years "should have taught us a lesson—that Christmas is

...Weather conditions, crowded highways and over-partying have combined to generate more traffic tragedies at Christmas than during any other holiday period, the Institute observed. In the home, too many people in effort invite tragedy by carelessness born of the enthusiasm of the season.

...Uptime accidents at home can be prevented through the exercise of a few simple precautions, the IIT asserted. It offered these suggestions:

...Keep your Christmas tree outside until you are ready to use it. When you set it up, use a sturdy stand that can hold plenty of water and position the tree away from sources of heat. Use flameproof decorations.

...Inspect lighting sets for fraying and loose sockets, and make sure they bear the approved label (UL) of the Underwriters Laboratories. Don't use electric lights on metal trees.

a time to exercise extra care behind the wheel!" III. "It's also a good bet that most of them would have been alive today if they or the people they were driving with had been a little more careful.

"You may consider yourself to be a good driver," the Institute continued, "but keep an eye on the guy in the next car. His carelessness may cost you your life."

The holiday periods taken into account are New Year's, Memorial Day, the Fourth of July, Labor Day and Christmas.

Of those holiday seasons, Christmas is the most dangerous of all, the Institute pointed out. In the last five years, country-wide, 3,820 persons have lost their lives in highway crashes occurring during the Christmas holidays, for an average of 294 deaths a day.

"It's a good bet that each and every one of those persons would have laughed at the suggestion

Wahoo mother is the first war widow in Nebraska to receive a certificate of eligibility to attend college under a new educational assistance law.

C. W. Nixon, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Lincoln, said Mrs. Joan Niebur is eligible for up to 36 months of educational assistance from the VA. She hopes to become a medical technologist and will attend classes part-time at the John F. Kennedy College in Wahoo.

The new law, which went into effect Dec. 1, provides education and training benefits to widows of men who died and to wives of veterans who are totally and permanently disabled as the result of military service.

Mrs. Niebur, the mother of two small children, is the widow of Edward L. Niebur who died in combat in Vietnam last Feb. 27. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Niebur, Fremont. Mrs. Niebur's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Ell, 843 North Laurel, Wahoo.

Nixon said the new legislation marks the first time in the history of US veterans' benefits that widows and wives will be authorized a VA educational assistance allowance. Payments range from $130 a month for fulltime training up to a maximum of 36 months, to $95 for three-quarters time training and $60 for half-time training.

The VA estimates there are close to 1,000 widows in Nebraska of veterans who died as the result of military service and over 750 wives of totally and permanently disabled veterans, who are entitled to these new educational benefits. The VA will mail them written material which fully explains the new law and its benefits.

Kiwanians Hear Clergy Talk on Co-op Ministry

Kiwanians heard two clergymen Monday describe the thinking, planning and organization that has gone into the unique Co-operative Ministry at Wayne State College.

Pastors and lay representatives of six local churches work together to present a unified service to the students at WSC in matters of Christian concern.

Rev. Anthony Milone, pastor of the Catholic church at Dixon and Robert Swanson, pastor of the Carroll and Winside Methodist churches and assistant at First Methodist Church in Wayne, spoke to the group.

"The problem is now what denomination will present Christ in the proper manner," Father Milone said, "but will students and other young people come to accept Christ? All churches are concerned and the Co-operative ministry is a united effort to bring Christ to the people."

Besides the pastoral council of the ministry, a board of directors meets monthly.

In other work, the Kiwanians laid plans for the Shrove Tuesday Pancake feed and set the date for Feb. 18 in the auditorium.

Kiwanians traditionally hold the pancake feed as a fund-raising project.

Sponsor Orvid Owens announced new officers elected at Circle K club at WSC. President is Dennis Sealey, Pulk, Neb.; vice president, Mark Robinson, Wayne; secretary-treasurer, Keith Wacker, Herman.

Ray Schreiner is also a sponsor of Circle K with Owens.

Circle K will start meeting each Monday evening, starting with the Jan. 13, 1969 meeting, Owens said.

Baroness Von Trapp Is Scheduled To Speak at Nebraska U. Feb. 1

The living inspiration for the hit musical "Sound of Music" the Baroness Maria von Trapp, will be the featured speaker at the University of Nebraska's "Centennial Weekend with Music" Feb. 1 in Lincoln.

The day-long feast of music will include performances by the concert choir of Omaha's Notre Dame Academy, the Pro-Arte string quartet of the University of Wisconsin and an afternoon at the opera, featuring Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro."

The Baroness von Trapp, whose life and adventures as mother and leader of the world-famous Trapp Family Singers, have captivated millions on the stage and screen, will speak at a luncheon for "Weekend" participants.

Her topic at the luncheon in the Nebraska Union Ballroom will be "Around the World with the Trapp Family Singers."

The morning program will open in the Westbrook Music Building, with Prof. Emanuel Wiklow, director of the school of Music, giving an introduction to the "Weekend with Music" and Prof. John Zel an introduction to the opera.

The site of the program will then shift to the Union for a performance by the Pro-Arte Quartet, which is the oldest musical organization of its kind in the world, having maintained its playing identity since it was founded in Belgium in 1912.

The Quartet, in residence at the University of Wisconsin since being stranded in the United States by the outbreak of World War II, interprets chamber music from 15th to the new music of today in concerts throughout Wisconsin, the United States and on international tours. Since coming to Wisconsin, the personnel of the quartet has had several illustrious replacements and now includes Norman Paul and Thomas Moore, violin; Richard Blum, viola, and Lowell Cretz, violoncello.

The 36-voice Notre Dame Academy choir will perform at the luncheon. This group, directed by Sister Joan de Notre Dame, performs annually for Omaha civic and social functions, on television and makes a yearly tour.

The "Afternoon at the Opera" will be held in the Howell Theatre on the University campus. The production of "Marriage of Figaro" by the School of Music will be directed by Dr. Richard Grace and Prof. John Zel.

The eighth annual "Weekend with Music" is sponsored by the School of Music and the University Extension Division and is designed for everyone with an interest in music, both adults and students.

Reservations must be in the hands of the Extension Division by Jan. 17, 1969. Fees for the program, $10 for adults and $6 for students, cover the cost of the luncheon as well as the programs.

Blue Devils Solve Ball Control Problems, Win 65-43 Tilt at Plainview

Wayne High School evened its season record at 2-2 Friday night by bringing home a 65-43 victory over Plainview in a Husker Conference (western division) contest. Coach Dick Nelson's local quintet overcame minor ball control problems in the first stanza and managed to outscore the Pirates in every quarter of the Blue Devils' final game before the Holiday Tournament at Wayne State College scheduled for Dec. 27-28.

A fast-moving Plainview club controlled the action in the opening three minutes of the game but Wayne assumed command by improving its ball control and led the rest of the game. Dave Tietgen led his teammates to a 17-10 first quarter lead by scoring eight points and, as the result of a five man defensive effort, forcing Plainview to be content with taking long outside shots.

Wayne tallied 17 more points in the second period while increasing its lead to 34-26 as the Pirates still failed to score under the boards. Tietgen again led the Blue Devils' offensive attack by making two field goals and 1-2 free throws for five points. He was aided by four point performances by Harry Lindner and Chuck Fisher.

Eighteen more points were added to Wayne's side of the scoreboard following the half-time intermission as the score advanced to 52-36. Lindner and Joedy Hoogner led the Blue Devils' third quarter scoring with six points each.

Plainview was unable to erase Wayne's leading margin in the fourth stanza as the Pirates were outscored 13-7, giving the Blue Devils their 65-43 victory.

Dave Tietgen led WIS under the boards with 19 rebounds. He was followed by Lindner with nine, Les Echtenkamp with eight; Jerry Titze with five; and Dwayne DeTurk and Chuck Fisher with four rebounds each.

Wayne's B Team also won the preliminary game by outscoring Plainview 60-35. The high scorer for Don Johnson's junior varsity was Dan Mau with 22 points. He was followed by Jonnie Biltoff in an away tilt with Allen last Monday afternoon. Winside clipped Allen 15-5 in the first set and 15-3 in the third. They lost the second set, 15-9. High scorers for the winners were Kathy Jackson with seven points and Linda Ilasmussen. Winside scoring was led by M. Stevens with 13, D. Kraeger with eight and G. Morris with seven.

WSC Athletes Take Two from NW Mo. State

Wayne State athletes outperformed Northwest Missouri State in two sports in two locations Friday.

The Wildcat swimmers edged Northwest, 53-51, in the Wayne State pool while Wayne wrestlers gained second place in the Northwest invitational tournament at Maryville. The host Bearscats were third.

Four Wayne matmen emerged as champions in the eight-college meet, won by Morningside of Slou City, which also had four individual winners. The Wildcat champs: Bill Schwarz, 123-pounder; Max Branum, 130; Larry Michelson, 160, and Tom Firestack, heavyweight. Michelson accomplished the only pin of the final round, nailing Jerry Hostetter of Northwest in 4:49.

Morningside scored 81 points in unseating the Northwest Bearscats from their three-year tourney title. Wayne garnered 71 points, Northwest 58, Fort Hays State 46, Westmar 37, Luther 31, Gracelead 23, Midwestern 0.

In the swimming meet Wayne's Rich Draper scored firsts in the 1,000 and 500-yard freestyle events, and Bob Meredith won the 50 and 100 free races. Other Wayne winners: Mike Maulick in the 200 free and the 400-yard medley relay team of Barry Phelps, Dwight Eveland, Dave Noyes and Meredith.

The tank meet opened Wayne's season. Coach Ralph Barclay said the close finish bears out pre-season forecasts that Wayne will miss its veteran aces, Russ Nyberg and Jim Brown, who nearly always collected two or three firsts each. Wendell McConnaha, a steady point producer, and Pat Driscoll, ineligible until second term.

Wayne State's postponed Thursday night basketball game with Northwestern College has been rescheduled for Jan. 13. Hazardous weather prevented Northwestern from coming to Wayne.

High School, College Cage Teams Vie in WS Tourney

Although most other area high school basketball teams will be idle over the holidays, Wayne and three other high school cage teams will be in action Friday at Wayne State College.

Wayne High, Laurel, West Point and Wainer have accepted invitations to enter the Wayne State College Christmas Holiday Tournament. The tournament will offer basketball fans plenty of action both Friday and Saturday.

The addition of the four high school basketball teams is something new this year—usually the tournament is open only to college teams.

Competing on the college level this year will be Wayne State, Buena Vista College of Storm Lake, Ia., Westmar College of LeMars, Ia., and University of Nebraska at Omaha.

The Wayne State Wildcats have done quite well during the past 10 tournaments—taking first twice (1961, 1964), coming in second four times, placing third three times and trailing the pack only once.

Last year's champion, Westmar, has been in the tournament only one other time, taking second in the first tournament.

All businesses in Wayne have been asked to purchase blocks of tickets for the tournament. These can be given to employees and customers and the money collected for them will help pay for the costs of the tournament.

Admission charge at the gate will be $1.50 for adults and $.50 for students.

Included again this year will be a Coffee Room where businessmen and coaches can gather during intermissions or between games.

High School Pairings: Friday, 5:45 p.m., Laurel vs. Wainner; 7:15 p.m., Wayne vs. West Point.

Winners of the first two high school tilts meet at 7:15 p.m. Saturday to determine the high school champion. Consolation game is set for 5:45 p.m. Saturday.

College Pairings: Friday, 4 p.m., UN-Ovs, Westmar; 8:45 p.m., Wayne State vs. Buena Vista.

Winner of the first two college games meet at 8:45 p.m. Saturday to determine the champion. Consolation game is set for 4 p.m. Saturday.

Norfolk Knights March to 97-37 Win Over Winside Wildcats Friday Night

The Winside Wildcats ran into a tall and aggressive ball club Friday night when they journeyed to Norfolk Catholic High for a Lewis and Clark Conference tilt. Winside came out of the affair with its worst beating of the year, 97-37.

The Knights have a team with six men over six feet, one 6-5 and one 6-4. Tallest men on the Winside squad are three at 6-3.

Monopolizing the rebounds both offensively and defensively, the Knights, now three and two, exploded in the first quarter for 33 points while holding the visitors to only 14 points. Winside went the first two minutes without a score before 5-6 Doug Deck tallied a two-pointer to move Winside within four points of the hosts, the closest they would come in the night's action.

Norfolk continued building on their lead in the second quarter, adding 15 points to their side of the clock while giving up only five to Winside, to take a comfortable 48-19 lead into the locker rooms.

Leading the Knights in the high-scoring first half was guard Larry Paul, a senior at 5-7, who tallied 21 of his 27 points of the game in the first two stanzas.

The Knights never let up in the third quarter as Winside was unable to cure their shooting difficulties or control the rebounds. Norfolk added 23 points to its total while holding Winside to only nine to take an insurmountable 71-28 lead into the final stanza of action. Helping the Knights was their sophomore center Mike Polak, 6-5, who garnered half of his evening's total of 20 in that stanza.

Winside was down by as much as 50 points midway through the final quarter, 85-35, before the Wildcats began hitting the bucket to narrow the Knights' lead to 40 points at the sound of the final buzz. Winside's Dave Witt was leading scorer for the losers as he sank four field goals and five out of five at the free throw line for a total of 13 points, the only Winside to reach double figures during the action. Coming up with eight points was Doug Deck, all on field goals. Also scoring for the losers were Bob Jackson with six, Bob Wacker with four, Scott Duerling with three, Kevin Thompson with two and Tom Witt with one.

Norfolk's Larry Paul led all scorers during the tilt, gathering in 27 points. Three other Knights hit double figures: Mike Polak with 20, Doug Denny with 15 and Bob Muehling with 11. In the preliminary game, Winside reserves dropped their game to the Knights, 82-44. Jerry Wacker led the futile Wildcat attack with 13 points. Gary Soden and Gregg Troutman added 10 each.

Next action for the Wildcat quintet is Jan. 3 when they travel to Lyons to take part in the two-day Lyons Holiday Tournament. First-night action sees Winside challenging the hosts and Allen taking on Walthill.

Red Raider '5' Ambushes Allen In Friday Tilt

The Allen High Eagles dropped their fourth straight of the basketball season to a scrappy Newcastle squad Friday night on the winners' floor, 61-49.

Allen out-played the Red Raiders in shooting from the field but lost the game at the free throw line. The Eagles swished 22 field goals to Newcastle's 18, but the Raiders monopolized on Allen's fouls, sinking 26 of 42 gift shots.

Newcastle led the Allen quintet all the way in the game but the visitors put on a charge in the fourth quarter which carried them to within three points before fading.

Newcastle held a 14-9 edge at the sound of the first buzzer and took a five-point lead into intermission, 26-21. The Raiders increased their lead to seven points at the end of the third quarter, 39-32.

Allen's heavy hands probably cost them the victory in the non-Lewis and Clark Conference (NR-10) Eagles had a total of 30 personal fouls on them. Although only one Eagle fouled out of the game, Al Smith in the third quarter, three others had four fouls called on them: Jerome Roberts, Kevin Hill and Dave Abts. The Newcastle Raiders committed only 10 personal fouls.

Leading the defense which held Newcastle to only 18 tallies was sophomore Bob Mitchell with 12 rebounds. Dave Gelger grabbed six off the boards and Tom Maggart grabbed four.

The Eagles are beginning to correct two of their faults, according to their coaches, a tendency to move the ball outside too often and a fear of taking shots. Friday night the Eagles shot 40 per cent from the field, sinking 22 of 55 attempts.

Leading in the scoring category was Mitchell with nine field goals and three out of four at the free throw line for 21 points. Only other Eagle in two figures was Dave Abts with 10. Other Allen scorers: Dave Gelger and Al Smith with seven each and Tom Maggart and Kevin Hill with two each.

Four Red Raiders reached double figures in the contest: Myrle Beyler with 15 points, Phil Lorenson with 12, Melvin Cook with 11 and Mike Pearson with 10. Next action for the Eagles is Jan. 3 when they journey to Lyons to take part in the Lyons Holiday Tournament. Allen tangles with Walthill and Winside takes on Lyons the first night of the two-night affair.

A Peek Into Uncle Sam's Mail Box

by Merlyn M. Wright
Man has tried many ways of communicating. Two persons facing each other using their voices was likely the first. Sign language, smoke signals, hieroglyphics and the written word were experiments that proved successful.

After man learned to communicate effectively by the written word, the problems of delivering the messages between sender and recipient arose.

The Pony Express, surprisingly, lived only 18 months. While it lasted, however, it was one of the most spectacular episodes in the tumultuous life of the early West, firing the imagination of men with adventure in their blood, from one end of the land to the other. It was natural for the Pony Express riders to undertake feats that courted danger and reduce them to the status of routine.

Nearly crushed by its own organizational weight, Uncle Sam's huge postal department often gets a lot of razzing as to "where do you keep the ponies?" It's a nasty way to be nicely criticized, or is it a nice way to be nasty? Either way, when your customers number in the millions, there will always be seemingly unavoidable errors made in the handling of those billions of papers carrying communicative words and pictures. Postal employees are human, believe it or not, and take the kidding in stride.

A brief description of the task swift completion of their appointed rounds".

Donald Wightman, Postmaster in Wayne since 1955, gave this reporter a brief glimpse into a few of those accomplishments made by his staff of fifteen men and considered as "routine".

Few postal patrons have any idea as to what happens after a letter or package after it disappears through the window in the post office lobby. Residents have actually had such good postal service since its inception that about the only thing most users of the service know is that "something" happens to the letter or package inside the big brick building which makes it possible for Aunt Tillie or Uncle Joe in Los Angeles to get the mail at their front door within usually three days.

Not many years ago the time for mail to get from point to point was marked in months. Then as machines went to work and transportation modes developed, mail could be sped to its destination within a week. Now in 1968 most first class mail can be clocked from sender to recipient in a matter of hours. Much of the mail today is in the recipient's hands in less than 24 hours. For instance, a Wayne resident may place a letter in the collection box on the northside of the local Post Office prior to 9:30 p.m. and it will be delivered in Lincoln the next day. packages and will have to await assortment.

Though many would consider trying to please 7,000 patrons, plus Wayne State College, as an impossibility, nevertheless, the local postal employees rise to the challenge of hopefully trying to do that very thing.

Every growing business has problems, and the Post Office is no exception. Wayne's Post Office building was built in 1935, and was very adequate for the flow of mail during the following two decades, but what was adequate for the thread-bare thirties is in no way efficient for the space-minded sixties.

Even as a good farmer realizes he must have so many square feet of space in a building per animal or bird for the best production, even so a school classroom needs a certain number of square feet per pupil to get the teaching job accomplished efficiently, and so does any business need proper working space. Wayne's Post Office has gone to a piling system in order to handle four and one half million pieces of mail in twelve months. It is not a good situation for employee efficiency or community service.

There are three window clerks in the Wayne Post Office. Each has a cash drawer assigned to him and no other employee may put money into or take money out of a clerk's particular drawer. Each of the three window clerks is responsible for a fixed credit issued by the Post Office department. This explains why only those three clerks can sell you a stamp, money order, post card, etc. They alone are responsible for the cash record of their drawer.

Why are ZIP codes important? There are several reasons. Large sectional centers, such as the one at Norfolk, operate 24 hours a day and use the ZIP code number in sorting. Another reason is that there are, for instance, twelve towns in the United States with the name of "Wayne". If the address is not legible, the ZIP code will deliver the letter to the correct city. Local post offices are also commencing to use the code in their sorting.

How important is a return address? A return address can literally save your mail and many misunderstandings. There were at least a dozen letters Tuesday morning that had been mailed locally without having any address on them at all except for is still fresh in the recipients' hands.

On the local Post Office scene, or "behind the scenes," at 6 a.m. when many residents are still snoozing, employees commence sorting the incoming mail.

Postmaster Wightman explained, "We actually have two operations. We handle the incoming mail and then turn around and start with the outgoing mail." He continued, "In a year's time we'll handle a total of four and one half million pieces of both incoming and outgoing mail."

Tuesday morning, Dec. 17, there were 400 pieces of parcel post awaiting distribution. In fact, the post office has been carrying such a pre-Christmas load that employees were making parcel post deliveries Sunday afternoon.

Monday there had been 14,100 pieces of mail handled, not including 305 pieces of parcel post. You can imagine why it can sometimes be difficult for a postal clerk to be courteous when a kindly patron asks, "Say, do I have a package?" or "Would you see if I have a package this morning." It's very possible she does have, but it's with 399 other the return address! Such a letter will be returned to the sender, but those having no return address will hit the dead letter office. Both sender and potential recipient are sorry because the communication device failed. The one mailing the letter isn't aware that he or she failed to address it and upon seeing the potential recipient at a later date will ask "Didn't you get my letter?" Both blame the Post Office. Had the letter borne a return address it would have solved the entire situation.

Wayne is rapidly growing and as more people call Wayne their home, the load at the Post Office, school system, traffic, gas and electric companies, police work, telephone company, real estate, all increases, meaning the cash register jingling more often in our business firms, and a better community for everyone.

As the Post Office continues to strive for increased efficiency and the community surrounding it continues to depend upon its services for the carrying on of business, may each strain toward the future beneath the colorful red, white and blue flag of free men. Long may it wave atop the flag poles over thousands of mail centers throughout the nation, especially symbolic of the precious freedom to communicate.

A CHRISTMAS

Let us listen in reverent wonder to the story of the first Christmas in Bethlehem long ago, when humble shepherds and mighty kings knelt together to witness the miracle of His Birth in the manger... and choirs of angels sang in the heavens, heralding a new era of hope for all mankind. EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers. It is the duty of an editorial writer to search all available facts before he sits down to write. From this basis the writer should be able to give a clear picture of important topics.

You may not agree with an editorial - but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

Nest Among the Stars

Man is finally on his way to the moon, approximately 240,000 miles distant, which in terms of space mileage, makes the moon a very near neighbor. That man is headed for the moon is no miracle, but the fact that man's mind has labored in the laboratory until he has discovered the propulsion system which acts as a slingshot, hurling him beyond the confines of Earth's gravitational hold, toward any place in space, nears the real meaning of miraculous.

Man is actually only a late addition to this planet which existed perhaps 10 billion years prior to carrying the burden of man's weight. Those brain cells existing in the first human carried the potential of giving birth to many and more mental adventures. Space travel is but the latest scientific child in the basket of the human's search for himself and the real meaning of life. Earth is a small planetary space vehicle speeding along a heavenly trajectory at 18 1/2 miles a second, carrying its cargo of several billion human passengers. As Earth lumbers along at 18 1/2 miles a second, a leisurely pace in contrast to other movements, she also rotates about 1,000 mph making it possible for all inhabitants to have some daylight and some darkness.

Our Earth is a part of a system around the Sun. Our Sun is a small star which is a part of the system of a billion starred galaxies. Then our Milky Way galaxy is just one of millions of similar galaxies whirling through space.

Our Milky Way galaxy, speeding along over a half-billion miles an hour, is a star-island containing at least 200 billion stars, and measuring 100,000 "light years" in diameter. A "light year" is the distance light covers in a year while traveling at the speed of 186,000 miles per second.

That Country Store

Two institutions made up the backbone of rural America while the country was building, growing and moving west. The country church and the country store were, indeed, the centers of action. Let's take a look at the rural and rustic store.

Before that time when men established their businesses in particular buildings, there were road merchants who arrived periodically in wagons drawn by a horse. Toys, tobacco, candy, dress goods, patent medicines and supplies, plus samples of new products were on the mobile merchant's wagon.

This cross-country businessman played two important roles in the lives of the farm folk; for he not only supplied the household with needed materials and foods for the family's physical needs, but he often brought news that he had picked up from other families, or news of the world that he had heard from other businessmen in the city.

With his jolly personality and willingness to run personal errands for his customers, this country salesman most usually was accepted into the family circle as a genuine friend.

As times changed and the salesman wanted to settle down and continue to serve his friends he started building a building in which he could display the articles he had for sale. Having already built up a trade he was accepted by the community, and in fact, as a focal point of activity.

A country store stocked just about every item man might need. Besides the groceries, and maybe a little post office, there were such things as lamps, wicks for lamps, coal hods, churns, dress goods, tobacco, candy, fruit, stove pipes, brooms, clothespins, needles and threads, spices, castor oil, molasses, calico, water buckets, milk buckets and the myriad of other items needed by busy farm folk.

Most usually the store building was heated by a pot-bellied stove around which many a winter conversation took place. In the summer the store's front porch served as a convenient meeting place. Surely you have a much loved friend that has become endeared to you through the years of acquaintance, but he or she lives far away and with a strict budget here at Christmas you feel unable to send your friend a gift. You have thought to yourself that you wouldn't know what that person would really need or want anyway. How about sending them a "country store" of memories?

May I suggest you do this, and it will cost you only a few pennies. Take a few sheets of writing paper and write to that fond friend concerning some of the joyous experiences you once had together. Make mention of some school Christmas program you were both in, maybe you both liked the same girl or boy, and remember the teacher who insisted on teaching you to spell! Bring back perhaps almost forgotten memories with the etching of your pen and relive them again with your friend via the mailbox. It will make such a great Christmas present! Does your friend remember the old country store and the pretty little white church building? Does he remember when Santa's padded stomach kept slipping after he had made his grand entry into the school house!

Running out of money at Christmas isn't a problem. You can give your best friends a gift money could not buy, and that is a letter chucked with precious memories of moments spent together in those great days of youthfulness and moments that are like the country store, all but gone from the scene in 1968.

Give your friend that special sparkle that couldn't even have been found on a shelf in the old country store, which had about everything else, by giving him a nudge toward the shelves of your letter, which hold volumes of memorable treasures only the two of you can appreciate. -MMW.

Capital News - Many Kinds of Lobbyists; Not All Good, Not All Bad

LINCOLN—At noon on Tuesday, Jan. 7, 49 men and women from throughout Nebraska will convene at the capitol for the opening of the 1969 regular session of the Nebraska State Legislature.

Because of the importance of this lawmaking body, considerable attention will be focused on these 49 legislators until the 1969 session adjourns—probably sometime in late summer.

A group of people who will devote considerable time and attention to the legislative deliberations are generally referred to as "lobbyists".

All lobbyists, however, cannot be lumped into a single category. Instead, they represent a variety of interests with a variety of views on the outcome of legislation before the senators.

One category, for instance, consists of those individuals for whom lobbying is only an incidental part of their duties. These people represent associations or organizations which are engaged in numerous other activities on a continuing basis—not just while the Legislature is in session.

Business, farm, labor, professional and teacher organizations fall into this first category.

For instance, Lincolnite Keith Anderson is executive vice president of a business organization, the Nebraska New Car Dealers who are now lobbyists, represents the Loup River Public Power Dist. The Loup district is a public utility whose operations are financed by the users of electricity.

Another example of a spokesman for a governmental agency is Mrs. Anne Campbell, Lincoln, who represents the Lincoln Public School System.

A fourth major category consists of those individuals, usually attorneys or members of public relations firms, who are hired by different firms, groups or individuals who have their own special interests in supporting or opposing specific legislation.

Unlike the individuals in the first three categories, these lobbyists receive special fees from their clients for the specific purpose of lobbying. An example of this individual is Lincolnite David Tews, a former senator from Norfolk. Other examples are Lincolnites James Raglin and Frank Rall, of the public relations firm of Rall & Raglin, and former Gov. Robert B. Crosby, a Lincoln attorney.

A fifth major category consists of those individuals who, on occasion, testify before a committee or confer with the senators for a personal or community interest. Such an individual, for instance, might be a Nebraska housewife interested in welfare legislation.

Or a hunter interested in the perennial dove bill which would put the turtle dove on the list of game birds!

The individuals in the last category may or may not file as registered lobbyists. Some do, but most do not. For the most part, these are people who are exercising their right to take an active interest in the affairs of their state government.

There is also a special category covering state government. It encompasses those agencies that have legislative programs. There are numerous examples—the governor's office, the game commission, the University of Nebraska and state colleges—just to name a few.

LB 302, a lobbying bill enacted into law by the 1965 Legislature, sets forth the regulations concerning lobbying activities in Nebraska.

According to the act, lobbying means the "practice of promoting or opposing the introduction or enactment of legislation or resolutions before the Legislature or the legislative committees or the members thereof, and shall also include the practice of promoting or opposing executive approval of legislation or resolutions."

A lobbyist is defined as "any person who engages in the practice of lobbying for hire including, but not limited to, the activities of any officers, agents, attorneys or employees of any principal who are paid a regular salary or retainer by such principal and whose duties include lobbying."

Any person employed as a lobbyist is required to register with the legislative clerk and pay a $5 fee. In addition, the lobbyist and his employer are required to file monthly statements showing income and expenses used directly or indirectly for carrying on lobbying activities.

Any person violating the act is subject to six months imprisonment, a $500 fine, or both.

In some states and at the federal level, serious lobbying abuses have occurred. In Nebraska, however, most lawmakers report no similar circumstances.

According to historians "lobby" first appeared in the English language around the middle of the 16th century. The word apparently was derived from the Latin "lobium," a covered walk or cloister in a monastery. In Britain, it came to refer to the halls and corridors of the House of Commons.

The British began to call representatives of pressure groups "lobby-agents".

New Charolais Class
A fourth breed class will be added to the 1969 annual Norfolk Meat Animal Exposition, according to the Agriculture Committee of the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce.

The new class will be Charolais. The other breed classes of the show are Angus, Hereford and Shorthorn.

The crossbreeds of these three breeds will show with the breed class, according to the predominant physical features of the animal, as has been the policy in past years. An exhibitor may show either a heifer or a steer in the four breed classes, but is limited to one entry per person.

BEEF CARCASS—In addition to the new breed class, the Agriculture Committee is planning to initiate a beef carcass show in conjunction with the "Pen of Five" show for the beef cattle feeders of the area. The Committee feels this class will be of great benefit to breeders of Northeast Nebraska in determining and analyzing their breeding and feeding programs.

Dear Editor:

Many thanks for your kind gift. Your interest and concern for the servicemen of our nation is most appreciated.

May the joy and peace of the Christmas Season be yours.

Ernest F. Wentzel, Chaplain (LTC), USA.

Dear Editor:

I would like to thank all that are responsible for the SWAY gift I received. I was on lunch break when I received it.

I'm in the Air Force Systems Command. This command's main objective is testing new and modified aircraft. It's a very interesting type of work. I'm a crew chief on two T-33A type aircraft and at the same time I'm training four new airframe. Our main objective is to fly training missions and direct pilotless QF-104's from our planes through remote control. The QF-104's are used for target practice for other interceptors.

The weather down here is far from the greatest but the cold spell we are having now only lasts a few months. It'll get pretty warm in Feb. again.

Well once again thank you for the gift. I'm sure SWAY is appreciated by all of us. God bless all of you and Merry Christmas to all.

Larry L. Ritze, Elgin AFB, Florida.

Dear Editor:

I would like to thank SWAY for the nice letter and the check. I appreciate it very much, and to know that you people back home are thinking of us boys over here.

It was a real surprise because I had been on R & R to Singapore, for six days, and when I had returned I had received your letters.

Everything has been going real good over here and the weather has been warm.

Thanks again and Merry Christmas and hope you all have a very Happy New Year.

John Doring

Dear Editor:

We're waiting out the weather again. This gets to be awful old after awhile. Be glad when the monsoon season gets over next February.

I was on my way in my 'chopper to Ben Me. About this morning to move a firebase. Got up at 0500 and took off right at sunup. Got as far as the mountains and the weather closed in on us and we turned around and came back. We'll try again in a few hours.

You know this Army is "alright". You get shot at, mortared, duck rockets, pull CA's, go into Anyone Seen Liz Ernstein?

Editor's Note:
The following letter and news release recently came to The Wayne Herald and many other newspapers in the area. The plaintive cry of grieving parents could not be overlooked.
On the small chance that one of The Wayne Herald readers could have some evidence in the case we print this heart-rending letter and news story:
Will you, please, help us find our daughter? My wife, Ruth, and I are directing this plea to you and to the ten thousand other newspapers in the cities, towns and hamlets of this country.

Our daughter, Elizabeth Lorene (Liz) Ernstein, was just two months short of her fifteenth birthday when she vanished without a trace last March 18.
She was last seen walking home from school along a lonely tree-lined street amid the orange groves of suburban Redlands. In her arms, she carried a blue notebook and a red algebra textbook.
Since then, law enforcement agencies, family members and friends have spent countless hours tracking down hundreds of tentative leads. But to no avail. Not one single, slender clue has brightened our efforts. Seemingly, Liz has disappeared like a breath of air on a winter's day.

But, surely there is a simple explanation. Was she abducted? Did she run away from home? Is she dead? Or is she alive and, perhaps, in your town?

You can help us. Ruth and I are begging you to help us find an answer to our torment—to help us end the long nightmare of these past eight months—by releasing our story and Liz's picture in your paper.

The Lord willing, someone in your area may have seen her. With sincere gratitude,
Norman and Ruth Ernstein
Please help us.

Redlands, Calif. — Monday, Mar. 18, 1968, began as an ordinary day for Elizabeth Lurene Ernstein when she left home for classes at Moore Junior High School in Redlands, Calif. But this Monday on Mar. 18 was not to be an ordinary day.

Elizabeth's school day passed without incident. She attended her last class, then left school at 3:40 p.m. to walk home, a two-mile route through blossoming orange groves. She never arrived home. Somewhere along the lonely street, Elizabeth Ernstein vanished.

There are no clues to her whereabouts, or even to what happened to the 14-year-old girl, other than a report from a Redlands businessman who was driving through the area. He thought he saw a girl resembling Elizabeth walking toward the center of the street on which she lived.

To her parents, Norman and Ruth Ernstein, the months of uncertainty and anxiety over their missing daughter "are the deepest anguish a person can go through. It is a shock so deep you become wooden," the mother explained.

The Ernsteins are appealing nationwide for help in locating their daughter. Ernstein, a chemical engineer at Lockheed in Redlands, and his wife, a psychiatric social worker, have posted a $5,000 reward for information that will solve the mystery of their daughter's disappearance. They have vowed: "We will not rest until we know."

Neither parent has rested since that first long night when their young daughter failed to come home. They have tracked miles through orange groves, fields, foothills and canyons in and around the Redland's area. They have followed every lead, no matter how slight, in the search for Elizabeth.

"I can face the daytime better than the night," the distraught mother said. "At night I find myself saying: 'Is she safe? Is she warm? Is she fed?...and finally...is she alive?'"

When Elizabeth, nicknamed "Liz" by her friends, left for school that March morning, she had only 25 cents with her. She was dressed in a blue dress with white flowers, tennis shoes and a dark-olive corduroy coat. Around her neck she wore a small gold chain with a pendant and blue star. Enroute home, she carried a red algebra book and blue looseleaf notebook. Neither has been found.

Elizabeth is five feet, five-inches tall, weighs 105 pounds and had brown hair and brown eyes. She is one of five Ernstein children. The family lost one of these, a son, to polio in 1952.

"This, the second tragedy in our lives, is even greater because of the uncertainty," the desperate father said in his appeal to end the nightmare. "I can accept anything, even the worst, which I'm resigned to, but I must know."

Any information concerning young Liz Ernstein should be reported promptly to this newspaper or to Capt. Charles Callahan, San Bernardino County Sheriff's Office, San Bernardino, Calif. Phone (714) 889-0111.

Radioman Second Class Richard P. Heers, USN, son of Mrs. Augusta Heers of Pilger, participated in Naval Gunfire Support operations aboard the destroyer USS Shelton off the coast of South Vietnam.

The destroyer answered the call of a U. S. Marine spotter ashore, requesting gunfire support for friendly forces receiving heavy small arms fire 20 miles north of Qui Nhon.

Within minutes the first five-inch rounds were suppressing the enemy's position. The destroyer fired for about 90 minutes, shifting from bunkers to trails to mortar emplacements. The fire was halted long enough for U. S. Air Force F100's to make a strike.

Damage estimates from the spotter were 10 bunkers, 16 hootches, two motor positions, one building, 1,300 yards of tree-line and two tons of salt supplies totally destroyed. Additional trails and a building were also damaged.

Sergeant Victor Rodriguez, whose wife, Beverly, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gemelke of Ft. 2, Wayne, has been recognized for his outstanding accomplishments during the 1968 hurricane season as a member of the famed U. S. Air Force "Hurricane Hunters".

Sergeant Rodriguez, a jet aircraft mechanic, is assigned to the 53rd Weather Reconnaissance Squadron, Ramey AFB, Puerto Rico, that flies the WC-130 Hercules and WB-47 Stratoforters.

His unit provides vital weather warnings after entering the hazardous weather to seek the "eye" of each storm.

Thousands of lives have been spared by the airborne reports relayed to forecasters on the ground, who then release warnings to areas in the storm's path.

The sergeant, a graduate of Rep. de Colombia High School in Rio Piedras, P. R., attended Puerto Rico Junior College.

Airman Tom Heckenhauser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Heckenhauser, is home from Tucson, Ariz. He is staying in Lincoln to be near his father who is in Bryan Memorial Hospital.

The award was earned by the school district for excellence in the development of a K-12 physical education program. A consultant for the state department of education said Wayne is the only district to his knowledge having such a comprehensive program on a K-12 basis in the state. Park also was appointed to the governor's council on physical fitness to promote physical fitness programs on all levels in Nebraska schools.
