

Winter Storms Costing Cattlemen $25 Per Head

A loss of $25 per head for cattle in northeast Nebraska feedlots is a conservative estimate based on figures from Northeast Station at Concord.

Gains on experimental cattle receiving a full grain feed at the Station were only 80 pounds per head during the last two months, while three pounds gain a day, or 180 pounds for the period would be normal. That would be a loss of 100 pounds per steer due to the weather, Walt Tolman, Station cattle research director, said.

Feed consumption was near normal and labor costs higher than usual because of extra chores and machinery breakage, so these cattle are now worth $25 to $30 per head less than they should be, he noted.

Don Kubik, dairy specialist at the Station, said that the daily production of dairy herds went down right after the December storms and has not come back yet. Kubik said the production will not revive until the weather breaks this spring.

The severe weather has emphasized to dairymen the need for good housing for their herds, Kubik pointed out.

Tolman said that everybody shares in the loss because this lowered production, over a wide storm-swept area, will reduce meat production and may be reflected in somewhat higher prices for meat that would otherwise prevail.

Death losses of some cattle during storms have been reported, but the lowered production of thousands of livestock is more important. In total, the death of a few hundred head, Tolman continued.

He suggested moving cattle to large, dry lots or fields when possible and providing them a dry bed of corn cobs, straw or wood shavings.

Icy lots, now common because of the unusually great snow pack, and wet feedlots of deep mud are sure to cause lower than usual livestock production for some time even if no new blizzards develop, Tolman concluded.

Parties Coucous Feb. 25

Wayne's two local parties, Citizens and Popular, will caucus on Tuesday, Feb. 25, and not on Feb. 15 as reported in the last issue of the paper.

Another Snowstorm Raps Northeast Nebraska Friday

Eleven inches of fresh snow had fallen in the Wayne area as of 10:15 a.m. Saturday with continuing light snow expected. About five inches of the white stuff falling on Friday closed yards and schools throughout northeast Nebraska.

Temperatures remained rather mild during the storm with 13 mph southeasterly winds causing some drifting.

Schools closing Friday due to the storm included Overridge, Sholes, both the parochial and public schools in Creighton, Wakefield, Walthill and Wadswade. Bus service was limited at other schools with classes starting late.

Highway 98 was blowing just as fast as plows could open it. Motorists traveling east and west were reportedly finding it difficult going both those traveling north and south roads.

According to the Weather Bureau the new snow is a result from the collision of cold temperatures from the west and moisture from the Gulf of Mexico. If it were possible many Wayne residents would like to scoop it up and send it back.

Wayne's city street commissioner, Vern Schulz, said Saturday, in regards to snow removal in the business district, "When scooping snow from in front of the business firms, they aren't getting the snow far enough out. Snow should be scooped at least a foot into the street so we can move it on out."

Schulz also pointed out, "In the residential area the streets are already narrow. When parking they cause some are leaving them about two feet from the snow bank and this makes the street that much narrower for use."

The commissioner advised motorists to please park as near to the snow bank as possible, in that narrow streets invite sliding accidents.

Schulz is aware that some residents have felt frustrated in scooping out their driveway after the street has been opened only to have to do it again when the

Annual Chili Feed Draws Large Crowd

From all reports, the annual chili feed of Boy Scout Troop 175 was a big success Thursday.

Mrs. Jean Nuss, one of the women on the serving committee, said that over 300 bowls of chili were served during the feed. That's about 30 per cent better than was done last year during the chili feed.

Also served during the day were 250 hot dogs, many of them going to some hungry school youngsters watching the Norfolk-Wayne basketball games in the city auditorium. Over 80 hot dogs were sold in about 10 minutes during one break in the games.

Money raised from the feed has been used in the past to finance the summer camp for the Scouts. Last year the boys went to Fremont during the summer.

NE Livestock Feeders Annual Meet Feb. 24

Annual meeting of the Northeast Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association, originally scheduled for Jan. 27 but postponed because of bad weather, will be held Monday, Feb. 24, at the Wagon Wheel Steak House in Laurel.

The meeting gets underway with a social hour at 7 p.m., followed by the dinner at 7:30 p.m.

This year's meeting will be a stag affair because of lack of space to provide for all the members' wives.

Leading the night's program will be Eddie Collins, radio livestock market forecaster who claims an amazing accuracy for his predictions. He will discuss market outlook and cattle marketing tips. Cal Ward, superintendent of the Northeast Station at Concord, will talk on some of the work being done at the station of interest to livestock producers.

All livestock producers and others interested in livestock production in Wayne, Dixon, Dakota and Thurston counties are invited to attend the meeting.

Cattle Hedging Pros, Cons to Be Explained

The advantages and disadvantages of hedging cattle as a farm management tool will be explained at the adult farm management class at Wayne High School Feb. 25.

Discussing the subject will be Mike Turner, Extension marketing specialist.

All interested individuals are invited to attend this meeting of the adult education class which starts at 7:30 in the evening. Lee Foote is instructor of the class.

Big 9 Fire Meeting Held in Dixon Monday

The Big 9 Mutual Aid Fire District held its meeting in Dixon last Monday night. Member towns represented included Dixon, Carroll, Concord, Laurel, Helden, Coleridge and Hartington. Randolph and Wynot were not represented at the meeting.

A total of 38 men turned out for the meeting. The group saw a film on grassland fires shown by Bill Fitzpatrick of the state soil conservation service in Lincoln. Included in the evening's activity was a talk by Bill Barons of the state fire marshal's office.

Next meeting of the group will be held in three months in Hartington.

Perils of Alcoholism May Be Presented to Area School Students

Area schools may learn more about the dangers of alcoholism next year. If the plans of the Northeast Nebraska Family and Community Affairs Council work out.

The board of directors of the recently-incorporated group appointed a committee to look into the possibility of holding an all-day conference for area school superintendents so they could meet with John North, director of the state division on alcoholism, and learn about the educational programs available to schools.

The conference will probably be held in the middle of April.

The council, one of the few of its kind in existence in the state, was formed last year and incorporated in January. Counties belonging to the group include Wayne, Dixon, Dakota, Thurston, Cedar and Knox.

The group is currently considering applications from trained people to work in this area with alcoholics and those affected by alcoholism.

On the board of directors of the group are Rev. John Erlandson of Concord, president; Kenneth Martin of Laurel, treasurer; and P. J. La Pointe of Winnebago, secretary.

The board of directors meets every second Monday at the Northeast Station near Concord at 7:30 in the evening. Interested persons are invited by the council to attend the meetings.

Prize Gets Bigger

The prize gets bigger every week as long as the person whose name is called is not present to win the prize.

Thursday night Mrs. Melvin Lamb's name was called. Had she been present she could have taken home a check for $250. Because there was no winner, this week's Cash Night prize is worth $300. The drawing for the weekly prize is held every Thursday night at 8 p.m.

'Night for Women Only' Scheduled Tuesday at Wayne High Lecture Hall

"A Night for Women Only," another cancer educational program, will be held at the Wayne High Lecture Hall Feb. 18 at 8 p.m., according to Mrs. Chris Hagen, Wayne County public education chairman for the Cancer Society.

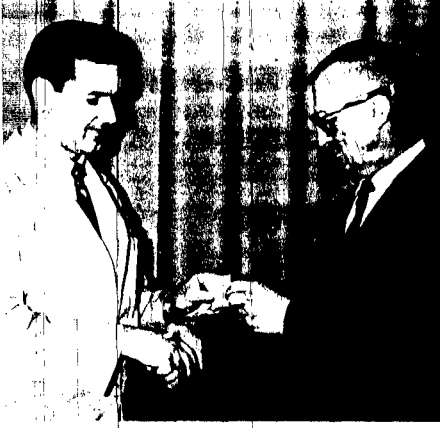

Mrs. Mary Ann Cottrell, a registered nurse and coordinator of Health and Education for the Wayne public schools, plans a series of health programs each year on the various phases of health education.

The three films to be shown this year are all different from those shown to over 350 women and teenage girls last year.

"The Woman in Question" is a colored film, narrated by Arlene Francis, well-known actress and TV panelist. This film is based on a method to induce women to take the PAP test in an effort to stamp out uterine cancer.

"A Breath of Air" is a new colored film on the health dangers of smoking and is especially designed for teenagers.

"Investment in Life" is also a

Will Your Vehicles Pass Inspection?

by Merlin Wright

(Editor's Note) The following is the second of three articles concerning information related to Nebraska's new Motor Vehicle Inspection requirements.

Approved Nebraska motor vehicle inspection stations in Wayne and elsewhere are being supplied by the Nebraska Department of Motor Vehicles in Lincoln with a book of regulations by which all Nebraska motor vehicles will be inspected beginning March 1.

According to Kenneth Francke of Norfolk, it will be required by Nebraska State law that every licensed motor vehicle operating on Nebraska highways be inspected by an approved Motor Vehicle Inspection Station beginning March 1. Francke is the area inspector for 16 counties in northeast Nebraska for the Motor Vehicle Department in Lincoln.

Is your automobile or other vehicle safe to operate upon Nebraska roads? Who is to decide whether or not it is safe? As a motorist you may take your vehicle to any inspection station in the state. The examiners will decide what repairs, if any, your vehicle needs. You will pay the inspection station a fee of $2 for the inspection. Not until you have had the repair work or adjustments made will the station provide you with an approved sticker which will be placed on the lower left-hand corner of the windshield.

The new regulations book states that on Nebraska registered vehicles, there are to be no other stickers on the windshield except those required by law. Any vehicle having stickers on its windshield, other than those required by law, will not pass the inspection test. Only after the un-approved stickers are removed will your car be given an approved sticker.

Following are some of the reasons for an inspection station to reject your vehicle until the condition is either adjusted or repaired:

- Any motor vehicle except a motorcycle, manufactured after January 1, 1935, that is not equipped with safety glass.
- Any glass that has a crack extending more than four inches into the critical or semi-critical area. (Critical area is that area covered by the normal travel of the windshield wiper on the driver's side, plus the vent windows and the forward one-half of each door window on the front doors only, less the designated "exempt area". Semi-critical area is that area covered by the normal travel of the windshield wiper on the passenger side of the car and extending left to the critical area in the windshield. Also the rear one-half of each front door window and the rear window less the designated "exempt area".)
- Your vehicle will not pass inspection if the windshield glass in the critical area has a scratch or scratches that interfere with driver vision.
- The windshield must not have any cloudiness in the critical or semi-critical area.
- The windshield must not have a "star chip" larger than one and a half inches at any location in the critical or semi-critical area.
- Glass in the left front door must raise and lower easily so hand signals can be given.
- The vehicle will be rejected if the muffler has been repaired.

Tires must not have less than 2/32 of an inch of tread.

Doors on the vehicle must latch properly, hood latch must work properly, and the gas tank must not be loose.

An approved inspection station will check the following: Tire tread depth; brake linings; wheel alignment; ball joints; steering suspension; shock absorbers; power steering belts; horn; mirrors; windshield wipers; wheels and rims; exhaust system, and the registration certificate.

Peoples Natural Gas Gives $2,000 to City

Keith Mosley, local manager for Peoples Natural Gas, presented a check last week to the city of Wayne for $2,673.57. The money was a voluntary payment by the utility based on the gross revenue for the last six months of 1968.

Wayne has received a total of $6,920.28 from Peoples for 1968 in addition to the normal taxes the utility pays. Peoples paid a total of $98,140.23 to communities across the state which it serves.

Wilson Staley, zone manager for the company, said the annual voluntary payments are a recognition by the company of its responsibility in aiding in the solution of economic problems in the communities it serves and an attempt to assure continued growth and civic development.

Peoples, which serves 256 communities in five states, is a division of Northern Natural Gas Company of Omaha.

Two Mat Powers Clash Tuesday

The highlight of Wayne State's wrestling season—that's next on the schedule when the Wildcats team takes on the University of Nebraska at Omaha Tuesday night in the UN-O Fieldhouse.

The meet gets highlight billing for several reasons:

—It will match the two top mat powers in Nebraska and also two of the best in the nation. UN-O currently ranks No. 2 among NAIA colleges, Wayne State No. 6, according to ratings by Amateur Wrestling News.

—It will give Wayne opportunity to repeat its victory over Omaha last year and, on the other side of the coin, give Omaha a chance to avenge that defeat. Its only dual loss of 1968, Wayne Coach Don Pate sees no need for pep talks with his squad. Five Wildcats regularly tangled with Omaha's Indians twice, last year, and four of the six who won in the dual are back this year. They are Bill Schwarz, 123-pounder; Larry Michelson, who went on to the national 152-pound championship; Steve Hanson, 145; and Tom Firestack, heavyweight.

Schwarz has a 11-3 record this season; Michelson 12-1, including eight wins by pins; Hanson 10-3; and Firestack 11-3.

The squad's best record belongs to a freshman, Max Brauno, who has won 15 and lost two, one of them to a Kansas State University foe, the other in the power-packed University of Northern Iowa tournament. He wrestles at both 130 and 137.

Other Wildcats likely to go against Omaha, unless beaten in the wrestle-offs, are Bill Cartwright, 8-6 at 137 and 145 pounds; John Yoder, 7-3 at 152 and 160; John Klemick, 3-8, at 167; and Jack Vaughn, 0-7 at 177.

Wayne 8th Graders Drop Norfolk, Pierce Pupils Win Hearts

Norfolk's best effort came in the final period when the visitors garnered 10 points to Wayne's six.

Leading scorer for Wayne was

Although outnumbered in the stands, Wayne high freshmen put on a fine display of ball handling and shooting to almost down a taller Norfolk high squad Thursday afternoon in the city auditorium.

But the visitors outscored the locals 18 to 15 in the final quarter to walk off the court with a 51-50 victory tucked under their wings.

After building up a 15-12 lead in the first quarter, Wayne camped up with only five tallies in the second period to Norfolk's 13 to

A program, "Paths of Prayer" opened the general meeting of Redeemer L.W. Wednesday, Feb. 12. Planned by Angie Ellis, the lesson was designed to help the 47 members "prebend" recognizing the different "roadblocks" to successful living which are created when Christians place the wrong interpretation on the meaning and purpose of prayer. Different examples of prayer, read from the New Testament, were evaluated by a four-member panel led by Roberta Carman.

Continuing with emphasis on prayer, president Viola Meyer opened the business meeting with a reminder that Shrove Tuesday, Feb. 18, will again be observed by Redeemer Lutheran Church with a prayer vigil beginning at 6 a.m. and ending at 12 p.m.

Jane Williams on Week Tour of NYC

Jane E. Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Evan Williams, Wayne, left Saturday for a week study-tour of New York City with 71 other Stephens College House Plan students and four faculty members.

The House Plan is a system where approximately 100 selected freshmen live and learn together in one residence hall, taking a common core of courses taught by four instructors. Offices for the instructors and residence hall counselor are located in the hall with the students, along with several classrooms.

In New York City, the students plan to attend four plays and the New York Opera; tour the United Nations Building, Lincoln Center and museums and visit several places of their choice, such as the Dayton Village for drug addicts, neighborhood settlement houses or Metcalf magazine office. Inspection

Inspector Francke stated that "if requirements are not met, a 'rejection' slip is given the owner. There will be no additional fee charged for a re-inspection if repairs and adjustments are made within ten days and the vehicle is returned to the original inspection station for final approval." Another $2 inspection fee will be charged if the repairs are made after the ten day period.

Francke said that no one will be allowed to operate a motor vehicle without the required certificate showing the inspection was made and the vehicle approved.

If the license plate number ends in "3", then the owner will have his vehicle inspected in March; "4" in April; "5" in May, etc. If the number is "0" then it will be the 10th month, or October.

"Once the vehicle has acquired a Safety Inspection sticker," Francke explained, "then this method will no longer be adhered to, as the owner will then renew the certificate each succeeding 12 months."

Mexican Fiesta Slated For WS Tuesday Night

A fiesta of Mexican dances is in store for Wayne when the Ballet Folklorico of Mexico comes to Wayne State College Tuesday evening during its sixth annual tour of North America.

The Ballet Folklorico, under the management of S. Hurok, has been one of the most popular touring attractions, Hurok says, since he first presented it to the American public in 1962.

The performance at 8 p.m. in Wayne's Rice Auditorium is open to the public, tickets available at the door. Admission is $2 for adults, $1 for students of high school age and under.

The Mexican troupe, founded in 1952 by Amalia Hernandez, offers a program based on the history and varied cultures of Mexico, from barbaric ritual ballets of pre-conquest origin to dances still performed at Mexican celebrations. The company of 100 dancers, singers and musicians.

From the 1982 beginning with eight dancers and only a few numbers, the company has grown to more than 200 artists, a complete school, workshop and scenic studios in a new $1,500,000 home in Mexico City.

Sra. Hernandez began studying dance at the age of eight, but within a few years she found herself more responsive to the exotic rhythms of her own part-Indian, part-Spanish tradition than to the formalities of classical ballet. In 1952, at the age of 34, she left her job as teacher and choreographer at the Mexican Institute of Fine Arts and, with eight pupils, formed her own company.

Their first successes were on Mexican television, then in appearances at the Palacio de Bellas Artes in Mexico City and in a few visits to the United States.

SOME OF THE 100 DANCERS in the Ballet Folklorico of Mexico which will appear at Wayne State Tuesday evening perform the "Guadalupe." These dancers display some of the 1,000 colorful costumes the company carries with it.

Carroll Pupils Use New Center For 'Listening'

Students in the fifth and sixth grade room in Carroll's elementary school have a new "listening center" added to their class work as of the first week of February. The center consists of a tape recorder with sound outlets for eight students. Pupils were listening to the Gettysburg address Thursday afternoon after studying about the Civil War and conditions in our country at that time.

The recordings will broaden class studies in English, phonics skills, social studies and listening to other information gathered from out of the past, according to their teacher, Mrs. Pauline Latt.

She explained, "The students will be able to make some of their own tapes in the fields of social studies and English." Mrs. Latt also said that the Band Boosters in Carroll were approached with the idea of purchasing a phonograph to add to the equipment, which they voted to do.

Records are now available covering many areas of study. The "listening center" enables eight students to "learn by listening" and not disturb any other of the class members.

Martin Hansen, Dallas Havener and Bob Peterson make up the Band booster committee which will purchase a three speed phonograph for classroom use.

Melva Kube, Norfolk, will complete her seven weeks student teaching block next week. She has been teaching the fifth and sixth grades since early in January.

NE Vo-Tech Board Opposes Community College Legislation

Board members of the Northeast Nebraska Vocational Technical School voted unanimously Thursday evening to go on record in opposition to dividing the state into two-year community college districts, according to Alan Chambers of Wayne, president of the board.

Two bills before the legislature, LB 573 and LB 979, would divide the state into several districts and create boards of governors which would be over both the academic and vocational-technical schools.

The bills would also provide additional taxing powers to the proposed boards. One of the bills, LB 979, would give the board power to issue revenue bonds for dormitories without a vote of the people.

Stephen Finn, Neigh, vice president of the board, said he was in favor of having separate governing boards for academic colleges and vocational-technical schools. Finn expressed fear that area vocational-technical schools would lose importance to the junior colleges under the proposed set up.

F. Don MacLay, Northeast Tech Administrator, was requested by the board to attend the public hearing on LB 573 set for Monday by the legislature's Education committee.

The board also examined color sketches showing a more detailed design of the exterior of an administrative-classroom building and an agri-business-shop building. The board seemed satisfied with the design—a compromise between the fancier buildings of the academic campus and the colorless buildings associated with modern industry.

In other action the board set a special meeting with the architects for Friday at 7:30 in the evening to examine the completed design and development stage in the architect's work.

Gov. Norbert Tlemann was notified Thursday that the State's request for Federal aid in the amount of one million dollars for snow removal in 42 counties had been rejected. The notification came from Vice President Agnew's office saying the requested funds would not be available. Wayne County was one of the 42 counties seeking funds to be used in cleaning out snow-clogged roads.

It appears that Wayne Commissioners will have to dig themselves out of the snow. In that State aid is not available either on the basis that in order to receive aid, a county must have spent the equivalent of one mill of the total county evaluation other than county equipment and manpower. Mrs. Chris Tietgen is asking all women and teenage girls to be at this health program, including the members of PTA groups in all the schools.

Dr. George John will be there to answer questions pertaining to the films as they are presented. Ed Braun, program director for the Omaha division of the American Cancer Society, will also be present to assist with the presentation.

Wayne County Cancer Society is working with the state and national cancer organizations in sponsoring the showings.

Cancer has a bad reputation. However, ACS points out that over 1,400,000 Americans are alive and well today, cured of cancer. Early detection is one of the factors helping in this cause.

There is much information in the films that cannot be given here. That is why all girls who are of high school age, all girls above high school age and all women are urged to attend.

Thousands of women and girls will be helped by these films this year. How many will be from this area? Tuesday night the Wayne County Cancer Society will find out.

ANNOUNCEMENT of ELECTION

On February 20th, 1969, there will be an election in Wayne County to determine the names of two persons to serve as representatives of the low income group of the county to the Board of Directors of the Golden Rod Hills Community Action Council. The purpose of this board will be to make funding and policy decisions and to approve programs of the council as they apply to Wayne County.

The Golden Rod Hills Community Action Council is an agency funded by the Office of Economic Opportunity of the Federal Government. Its function is to deal with the problems of low-income persons.

An explanation of some of the agency's programs already established in Thurston County is: Neighborhood Youth Corps employment of teenage youngsters while they are in school. Head Start - a program for pre-school child training. Operation Mainstream - re-trains men for better job positions. Geriatrics - plan of health and recreation for senior citizens.

To qualify to vote in this election, you must certify, at the polling place, that you lie within the low-income guidelines set by the Office of Economic Opportunity. These guidelines will be posted at the polling places. (Those who receive a ballot by mail need not certify and can return their ballot through the mails.)

The presence of the Golden Rod Hills Community Action Council in Wayne County has been approved by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

Date: FEBRUARY 20th, 1969
Times: 10-12, 2-4, 6-7

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers. It is the duty of an editorial writer to search all available facts before he sits down to write. From this basis the writer should be able to give a clear picture of important topics.

Do You Watch ETV?

In May, 1968, dedication ceremonies were held for KXNE-TV, a Nebraska Educational television station located 13 miles west of Wayne on Highway 98. It was the seventh station in the Nebraska Educational Television Network to go on the air.

Are you taking advantage of watching NET programs? Educational television is exactly as designated and, like all other things inviting our attention, some programs are of more interest than others.

Sunday, Feb. 9, KXNF-TV carried the videotape presentation of the Great Plains school organization hearing, taped earlier in the week, as the State Board of Education listened to proponents and opponents of the plan. Watching the telecast permitted all viewers to see and hear the proceedings exactly as they happened.

Perhaps your interests are more in the line of good music. NET has many hours programmed

You may not agree with an editorial — but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

for one's audio and video pleasure. For a long time educational television was something "in the future". Residents contemplated the day when, disgusted with commercial programs, they could, instead, watch a telecast from which they would be able to broaden their horizons of thought. KXNE-TV is less than a year old but continues to be "discovered" by a parade of area residents.

NET programs cover fields of medicine, sociology, biology, mathematics, geography, farming, home economics, literature, art, history, music, plus just about any other field of study one can name. Too, there are the special telecasts covering Nebraska University activities, hearings such as the one on the Great Plains report, and then, of course, important events related to Nebraska's Governor and government.

If you haven't as yet "discovered" the enjoyment of NET programs, then you're in for a pleasant experience. — MMW.

Majoring in Minors

Winter's snow and cold weather begin to "get on one's nerves" as a Wayne resident remarked recently. It's true. Many folk have found themselves in deteriorating moods after having put up a stalwart fight against driving on ice and walking in the snow for what seems like months. Sweet-tempter fan't as sweet as she ought to be and honey-lamb comes home from his job in the same mood. Meanwhile the kids are tracking snow, mud and dirt both in and out of the house! Let's admit it, it is hard to be nice when tired of bundling up in heavy garments, sloshing around in overshoes, scooping off the walks and sliding around with the car in what at times could be called a "bumper car game".

To counteract this, let's decide to major in some minors. We often lose sight of minor things because of their small size, but this is a big full grown "roof".

One of the "small" things, that, if majored in, could brighten the whole social picture, is a word of praise. Heavens to betsy! You and I both know employees who would nearly keel over trying to satisfy a boss who knew the keen art and tact of genuine praise! And it works the other way too! Try giving your boss a word of praise one of these dreary winter days. Words can be true miracle workers when they are sincere!

If you have ever been lonely, sick, hospitalized, discouraged, blue, or just "sick of it all," you need not have me remind you how much like pure gold are words and actions of good friends. Doesn't it help so much when they phone, share a letter or even bring flowers?

Some folk are real artists in majoring in the so-called minor of having that ability to truly communicate when it is most needed.

How many minor acts of thoughtfulness have you experienced today? How many have you been involved in giving? What delight there is in majoring in the minor of remaining courteous and pleasant when others around you are not. To do such a thing means to pioneer on the frontier of emotional control. You'll be thanked many times for having that quality.

Though it may seem minor it really is a major action for you to let those around you know daily how much you appreciate them. No, no need to be gushy, just plain and simple with appreciative acts or words. For such a minor investment there will be major rewards.

A friend called the other day to share a good record. Minor? Perhaps, but it was certainly an appreciated jewel on the necklace of time. By attempting to be extra thoughtful, maybe the rest of winter will move along faster. — MMW.

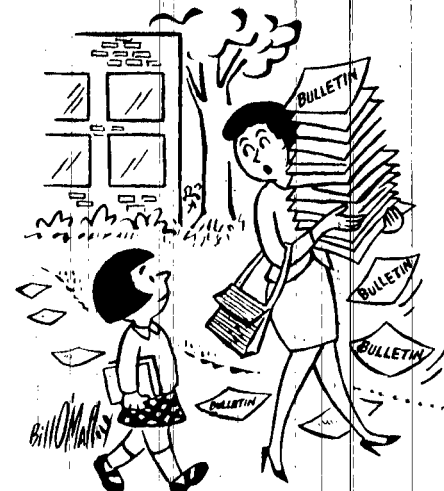

There are many folk who suddenly realize about this time in February as to just how foolishly they spent some of the gift-money received at Christmas. How a fool and his money are soon parted is not half as interesting as how they got together in the first place!

Our apology to the Wakefield High School "Patriots" for running their group photo backwards in Thursday's issue of The Herald. These youth directed by Mrs. Lyle Trullinger are making a name for themselves singing the National Anthem prior to all of Wakefield High's home basketball games. At game time the ceiling lights in the gymnasium are turned out and an overhead spotlight illuminates the flags presented by the Boy Scouts. Then the Patriots enthusiastically sing the Anthem with everyone standing at attention. It can easily bring a lump in your throat. You Patriots are doing a great job! Just keep it up. We're going to continue trying to do a better job here too and not get our pips pressed in reverse!

You bought it last spring! Expect you said some pretty nice things about it when showing it to Sunday visitors? Those words are quite a contrast to some of those you used when it wouldn't start the other day! Right? JW assumes there must be a "summer language" and a "winter language" to be used when speaking to any mechanical critter.

Just a few more weeks now and springtime will be here with more daylight saving time. The winter is going to be disappearing and leaving me sitting in my plan pit! How about you?

"YES, VIRGINIA, TEACHERS HAVE HOMEWORK, TOO."

Have you ever noticed the many northeastern Nebraska towns having names which start with a "W"? There is Warsaw, Wausa, Wynot, Wisner, West Point, Washburn, Waverly, Wadsworth, Winnebago, Webster, Winslow, Waterbury, Willowdale, Winnetoon, Winslow, Willis and Wakefield. These are all east of Highway 14 and all north of Highway 30. Wonder Why and What's With the "W"?

Washington's Equal Employment Opportunity Commission has issued an order, as you may know, prohibiting mention of preference for either a man or woman in newspapers' "help wanted" advertising. Enforcement of the order has been temporarily held up due to an appeal being made by the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Assuming the order will eventually be carried out, it means newspapers will no longer be able to use headings like "Help Wanted - Male," or "Help Wanted - Female."

Imagine not being able to use the word salesman or saleslady in that these specify sex! Maybe would-be employers could advertise for help with an ad reading "Help Wanted - IT'S! Please!"

Wave goodbye to such words as stockman, cameraman, brakeman, and JW is even worried about the possibility if "manager" may have to be changed to "Unlugager".

Let me warn all those folk living in Manhattan to beware because before they know it they will be asked to change the name to "Thinghattan" or "thattan". Anything for integration.

An 11-year-old boy was laying on the hallway floor of an area school with eyes twitching. A youngster burst into the teacher's room where a school official was visiting with the instructor. Both teacher and official looked the lad over with the diagnosis of the boy's trouble as being "flu". It was decided to phone the parents. Meanwhile the lad was put on a couch where he became conscious and was hungry. It was odd for a boy that had just "fainted" to be hungry and not have a temperature. Finally the truth emerged! Another 11-year-old friend had belted the lad in the stomach. The boy on the floor hadn't been "sick" but he had been knocked out cold! Oh the life of being a teacher!

Mark Twain, whose own tastes in house furnishings inclined to simple elegance, once commented on the extravagance of some of New York's newly-rich families, back in the late eighties. "Just consider," he said, "these new perambulating bath-tubs, for instance. I understand they are getting as common as electric elevators. A reporter was telling me about them. He called on a cotton broker one morning. The man received him in his dressing room, and after their business talk was over, the wonders of the house were taken up. The broker boasted of his Raphael and hardwood floors, his lighting system and French furniture, his gold-plated plumbing and Gobelins, but above all he boasted of his traveling bathtub. "It is onyx," he said, "a lovely, golden shade. It runs by electricity on thy, pneumatic tires, smooth and silent. Whenever I don't feel disposed to leave this room, it comes in here to me, filled with ocean water from Coney Island and warmed to 89 degrees. It comes in any time I push this button." "Push it now," urged the reporter, curiously. "The button was pushed, panels in the wall slid magically open, and the great onyx bathtub glided in stately silence into the room. In it sat the astonished millionaire's wife."

Slot Machines Must Go
Mayor Fitzpatrick of Columbus has ordered all slot machines to be removed. The Chief of Police has served the orders and all who fail to comply will be arrested and fined under the State law. There are probably fifty or more of all kinds of machines in the city.

Hurglar Prolongs Sentence
Frank Graham, the Edison burglar, and Albert Young, the Arapahoe highwayman, were each sentenced in District Court at Beaver City to five years in the penitentiary. Graham, since his conviction, has been writing letters to different persons, saying he would kill them as soon as he had served his time. Some of these letters came into the possession of the judge and Graham's sentence was made much longer than it would have been otherwise.

In the case of the State vs. George Harrigfield, in which defendant was charged with making an assault with the intent to do great bodily injury, the county attorney claimed there was not enough evidence, hence asked that the case be dismissed. On this point a great many people disagree with Mr. Northrop and think it would have been better for all concerned, had the case been tried.

The all-day sessions included demonstrations in math, arts and crafts, social studies, reading, music and modular scheduling. More than 5,200 teachers have attended since the program was launched in 1963. Helpmobiles are paid for by the Nebraska State Education Association from the teachers' dues.

Art and hobbies will be featured in the February 18 meeting of the Wakefield PTA, according to Bill Yost, PTA president. The 8 p.m. meeting will be held in the Elementary school.

Local residents will be displaying some of their own art and hobby work. Those wishing to enter their work in the exhibition are asked to contact the PTA president.

Samples of art from classes in both the elementary and high schools in Wakefield will compose a part of the exhibit.

Tom Rhodes, senior art student at Wayne State College, will assist with the showing and will also have some of the WSC art work on display.

Apparently women still tend to prepare for jobs with which they have traditionally been associated. The Labor Department reports that the most popular vocational training courses for women and girls are those which prepare them to become secretaries, typists, practical nurses, cosmetologists, sewing machine operators and food service workers.

An Opportunity to Obtain

Blue Cross and Blue Shield

Health Protection at Group Rates and Savings of Up to 30% through the New Bank Depositors Plan

Over the years, farmers and ranchers have traditionally paid high premiums and often received skimpy benefits when they applied for health protection—simply because they lived in the country and were not employees of large corporations.

Now, all this has changed, thanks to a special Blue Cross and Blue Shield Bank Depositors Plan. As one of our depositors, you are now considered as a member of a group and entitled to the same type of group protection, the same low rates and the same broad range of benefits as employees of large corporations.

Your savings under this Bank Depositors Program amount to as much as 30%, compared to what you would formerly have paid as an individual. Benefits are usually much, much greater than provided by other types of coverage available in rural areas.

And remember: This is genuine Blue Cross and Blue

Shield protection—not ordinary "health and accident" insurance. Over one-third of all the families in America rely on Blue Cross and Blue Shield to pay hospital and medical charges. Blue Cross and Blue Shield payments are based on actual hospital and medical costs right here in Nebraska—not on a limited number of dollars per day. In most cases, Blue Cross and Blue Shield pay 90% or more of all hospital and medical charges. Recently, Blue Cross and Blue Shield paid a single claim amounting to over $36,000!

Almost any present or new depositor is eligible for this protection. Blue Cross and Blue Shield representatives are now here to explain the benefits. Stop in, get the facts before our group enrollment period closes. It is indefinite as to when this opportunity may be offered again. If you are now a Blue Cross and Blue Shield member, be sure to bring your identification card with you.

VA Q & A

Q: I suffered a disability while I have been in the Army. Does this mean I will have to pay higher insurance rates when I get out of service next month?
A: No. To begin with, servicemen are covered by their Servicemen's Group Life Insurance for 120 days after discharge at no cost to them. During that period you may secure insurance from any of some 500 private commercial insurance companies at regular rates, regardless of any disabilities incurred in the service.

Q: I draw a pension as widow of a veteran. With a recent check was a folder which reported a new benefit, the supplying of medicine by the VA. May I get medicine from the VA?
A: No. The present law authorizes the VA to furnish medicine only to certain types of veterans.

Q: My wife is a veteran receiving disability pension of $119 a month as we have three minor children. I have just been retired from the Armed Forces after 24 years service due to service-incurred disability. If I am rated 100-per cent disabled, will I receive additional compensation for my wife and three minor children?
A: Yes. If rated 50-per cent or more disabled and if you elect to waive retirement pay and receive compensation from the VA, you will be entitled to additional compensation allowance for your wife and your three children as dependents.

Q: Will the VA issue any type of insurance to men entering the service now?
A: No. However, unless a serviceman submits in writing his refusal to be insured, he is automatically covered under the Servicemen's Group Life Insurance program.

Q: I was rated 100 per cent while I was hospitalized for my service-connected disability. Please advise me why my permanent rating was not increased.
A: The 100 per cent evaluation was assigned because you were hospitalized in excess of 21 days and not because the permanent residuals of your service-connected disability were considered totally disabling.

Q: Upon your discharge from the hospital, the findings in the report revealed no increase in the pre-hospitalization level of permanent disability.

Q: I understand most VA benefits are tax-exempt and need not be reported as income. Is there any VA-derived income that a veteran must report as taxable income?
A: Yes. A veteran who holds a GI insurance participating policy and has left his dividends on credit or deposit with the VA has a source of income in the interest that these dividends are drawing. This must be reported as income. The dividends themselves, however, are tax-free and need not be reported as income.

AMERICA'S FINEST CIRCULAR IRRIGATION SYSTEM

Check and compare the advantages of the Electrogator —

Flexible coupling at every tower can twist or bend without distortion or undue stress on the machine

Electric drive travels same speed up hill or down which assures even distribution of water

Speed can be set from 20 hours to 100 hours. For one round of 160 acres just by a turn of a dial

Is reversible merely by the push of a button. It is 100% automatic, aligning in either direction

Will operate perfectly from 40 to 65 PSI. This is important on a small capacity well. A 400-gallon per minute well is sufficient

Has no cables, but a truss made of solid rods which is rigid and will not whip in gusty wind.

Has four safety devices to shut the system off if a tower gets stuck or out of line

Cannot roll down hill when motor is not running. The double worm gear drive is a built-in brake

Has 9 1/2" clearance under lowest point of truss and an average of 10 1/2" clearance for tall corn and high enough to farm under through.

Wheels will pivot for ease in moving the machine from one field to another

Guaranteed to work up to 15% incline. Electrogator has 130" wheelbase, longest in the field
