It used to be easy. The boys wore pants and short hair and the girls wore skirts and long hair and everybody knew which was which and what was what. 'Most Valuable Athlete' Honor to Bernie Binger During Awards Banquet

By Norvin Hansen

Bernie Binger, a senior at Wayne High School and son of Rev. and Mrs. F. A. Binger of rural Wakefield, received the "Outstanding Athlete Award" at the annual Lettermen-Pep Club banquet Monday evening.

The award, the highlight of the evening, is presented annually to the athlete the coaches at the high school feel made the greatest efforts and contributions to the school's athletic teams during the school year.

Binger competed in football and wrestling during the year and is presently out for track. He was also voted most valuable football player by his teammates and shared with Harry Lindner the honor of being co-captain of the team and the honor of being outstanding defensive player during the season.

One of three Wayne High wrestlers who qualified in district wrestling to go to the state tournament, Binger also had the honor of making the fastest pin during the season, pinning one of his opponents in 17 seconds. In track Binger was voted the honorary captain of the team and the most valuable member of the squad. He has also set new school records in the pole vault at 42-0 and in the 180-yard low hurdles at 20.35.

Featured speaker during the evening was Dave Gunther, successful head basketball coach at Wayne State College.

Gunther told the group of several hundred people that there is a parallel between life and sports. "Life is really a series of wins and losses and how you handle the whole record of victories and defeats will determine what you make of your life," he said.

He noted that there are several traits common to people who are successful in sports and people who are successful in other walks of life. These successful people, he said, are able to accept defeat and are willing to "come back for another try," giving a "total effort" in everything they attempt and they set their goals high.

Sports is important in America because it exemplifies the "American way of life," Gunther said. "It doesn't make any difference who you are or what you are in sports," he said, "but it does make a difference what is inside you—your determination, motivation, desire."

Recognized during the evening were 101 students at Wayne High who have lettered in sports this year. Lettering so far this year—track is not finished and there may be some more students who letter in that sport—are 37 seniors, 38 juniors, 21 sophomores and five freshmen.

Several students will have their names inscribed on plaques honoring their achievements in the five major sports at the school: football, wrestling, basketball, baseball and track.

Earning that honor in football were senior Bernie Binger for most valuable player as chosen by the team, Binger and senior Harry Lindner for outstanding defensive players as determined by the number of tackles made during the year, Binger and Lindner for honorary captains of the team, and junior Les Echtenkamp for most improved player as determined by a vote of the coaches.

Senior Dave Tietgen gained all the honors in basketball except one. He was voted most valuable player and honorary team captain by his teammates and was the leading scorer (264 points), leading rebounder (172) and best free throw shooter (67 per cent), gaining the honor for best improved player was Les Echtenkamp.

Junior Randy Helgren received the honor of being named most valuable baseball player. Voted honorary team captain was Dave Tietgen. The person with the best batting average will also have his name inscribed on the plaque at the end of the season.

Bernie Binger was voted most valuable member of the track squad and also received the title of honorary team captain. Most improved player honor went to sophomore Tony Flugger.

Five students will have their names inscribed on the wrestling plaque. Freshman Mark Beierman gained the honor for the most pins during the season (11), Randy Latt and Rick Ginn for the most take-downs (15), Bernie Binger for the fastest pin (17), Steve Hys for the best season record (14 wins, four defeats) and Beierman for the most team points scored (61).

WSC's Dave Gunther Named Coach of Year

Nebraska's College Coach of the Year—this is the honor accorded Wayne State basketball coach Dave Gunther by the Omaha World-Herald. And it is the second year in a row he has gained a coach-of-the-year accolade.

Last year the Lincoln Journal and Star so honored him.

Gunther burst into the collegiate coaching ranks with a spectacular record at Wayne in 1967-68. This year squad won 24, lost three, gained conference and district NAA titles, and went to the national NAA meet that first year.

What to do for an encore this year? Do it again, that's what. Gunther's proteges virtually duplicated the previous campaign, the only noticeable difference being the 23-1 overall record. Their conference record of 7-1 was the same both years, their playoff victim the same (Oxane) both years.

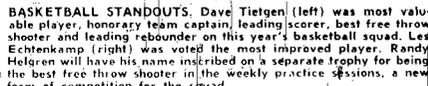

Gunther's players readily explain how it happened. Said senior guard Bill Erwin: "He knows basketball and knows how to get the best out of his players. One of the main reasons for his success is that he teaches defense."

Other players echo these remarks. "Modest Dave, however, never takes credit for coaching success. Publicly he praises his players, seldom if ever criticizes one, though on occasion he has gone so far as to say, 'We didn't play well'—agent of the 'We'."

And after Wayne's 94-70 loss in the national NAA meet, he candidly declared, "We were simply outclassed."

During practice or games, Coach Gunther does not spare criticism, never hesitates to point out faults—or accomplishments. He teaches a pressure game with fine attention to detail.

Said junior forward Bill Goodwin: "He tells us what we're doing wrong—but in a friendly way."

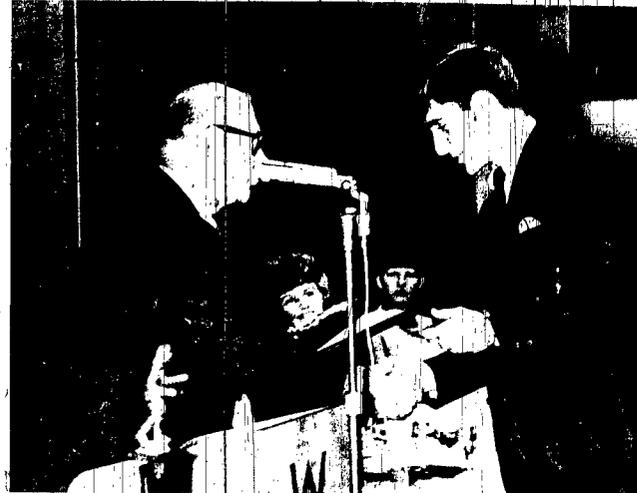

BASKETBALL STANDOUTS. Dave Tietgen (left) was most valuable player, honorary team captain, leading scorer, best free throw shooter and leading rebounder on this year's basketball squad. Les Echtenkamp (right) was voted the most improved player. Randy Helgren will have his name inscribed on a separate trophy for being the best free throw shooter in the weekly practice sessions, a new form of competition for the squad.

TRACK STANDOUTS. Bernie Binger (left) was voted the most valuable member of the track squad and also named the honorary team captain. Tony Flugger was selected as the most improved member of the squad.

OUTSTANDING WRESTLERS. Mark Beierman (left) had the most pins and the most team points on this year's wrestling squad, Randy Latt and Rick Ginn were tied for the most take-downs and Bernie Binger had the fastest pin. Steve Hys (not pictured) had the best season record.

NAIA District II Title Is Up for Grabs at WS Today

The best of Nebraska's collegiate baseball teams will clash for the NAIA District II championship Thursday and Friday at Wayne.

Chadron and Wayne split a pair of high-scoring games April 29.

Game No. 2 at 2 p.m. Thursday matches the University of Nebraska at Omaha against Dana. Omaha has a 13-8 mark after downing Wayne twice Monday. Dana owns the record of most wins and best percentage, 18-8 among the four contenders. The Vikings divided a doubleheader with Wayne April 6.

Friday night in game No. 5, the winner of game 4 meets the loser of game 4 at 6 o'clock. Then the winners of games 4 and 5 play at 8:30 in game 6.

Admission for each session is $1 for adults, 50 cents for students with identification cards, 50 cents for grade school children.

Wayne Blasts Wynot, 12-2, in 1st District Play

Wayne edged to within one game of equalling last season's perfect season of 11 wins and no defeats by blanking Wynot 12-2 in the first round of the district tournament at Wakefield Tuesday afternoon.

Wayne will now go up against Ponca, who knocked off Whitehill Tuesday, in Friday's second round of the tournament. If they get by Ponca they will see more action next Tuesday in the final round of the meet to see who represents this district in the state tournament in Lincoln on May 26.

Wayne's versatile short stop, Handy Helgren, and left fielder, Dennis Hedel, teamed up to drive in eight of Wayne's 12 runs as they tagged Wynot's Stan Keller for hits and runs batted in part of their three times at the plate.

Down 1-0 their first time at bat, Wayne tied the score in Handy Helgren's first of two doubles, driving in Steve Hix from second base. Dennis Hedel, hitting right behind Helgren, made it 2-0 as he drove in Helgren with his single.

Wayne's Jerry Tlize, who pitched four of the six innings in the game, fanned the first two batters in the top of the second inning, walked the next batter and then came back to strike out the fourth man to face him. He nearly equaled that in the top of the third, fanning the first two men before giving up a single and a walk, but he got out of the difficulty by striking out the fifth man to face him.

His single after the pitcher loaded the bases with nobody out, Hedel pushed Wayne out front 6-1 with his single before the Wynot pitcher got two Wayne men on a fly and a strike out. But Dick Helgen drove in another run with his double and Hutch Meyer added one more with his single to give Wayne a comfortable 8-1 lead going into the fourth inning.

Wayne forced the game to be called because of the 15-minute rule by adding two more runs in the fourth, but each coming once again from hits by Helgren and Hedel, and two in the sixth inning, both coming from Jerry Tlize's double after Brock Gese and Mike Glin got to base with walks.

Winning pitcher Jerry Tlize fanned nine batters, gave up only three hits and walked three batters in his three and two-thirds innings. Relief pitcher Dave Tlize gave up two hits, no walks and struck out three Wynot men.

Wayne garnered 11 hits off the Wynot pitcher, six more than their opponents could manage.

Lambert Resigns FHA Position

Tom Lambert, a native of the O'Neill area and a graduate of Ewing High School and the University of Nebraska, announced this week his resignation as county supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration Office in Wayne County. His resignation will be effective Friday.

Lambert, who has been with the FHA for nine years, has been supervisor for Wayne County for the past eight years. Prior to moving to Wayne he had been with FHA in Cedar County.

He said that the district supervisor, Dean Field of Norfolk, will be the acting supervisor until a replacement is named.

Month of April Driest Recorded Since Early 1900

April was the driest month on record for this part of the state, according to the records kept at the State National Park in Wayne. Those records go back to 1914 and never has the amount of precipitation been so slight.

Only .33 inch of precipitation was recorded during last month. Average amount of precipitation that this area of the state should expect during the month of April is 2.12 inches. That figure was arrived at by long-time records kept at Wakefield and compiled in the 1967 Progress Report of the Northeast Station.

But if the amount of precipitation was far below average, the average temperature during the month was not. Average temperature during last month as recorded by 100 cities taken at Peoples Natural Gas in Wayne, was 49.5, just above the average of 49.0 that this corner of the state can expect.

Average high recorded during April was 62.4; average low was 36.6.

Warmest day of the month came on April 21 when the thermometer climbed to 80 degrees, nearly 50 degrees higher than the coolest high temperature of the month, 32 degrees recorded in April 12. Coldest evening of the month was April 29 when the temperature dipped to 24 degrees. Warmest low during last month was 48 degrees, reached on April 8, 16 and 25.

Precipitation was recorded on April 8 (.07 inch), 16 (.22), 27 (.03) and 28 (.01) for a total of .33 inch.

Winside Begins Drawings Again

Winside businessmen resumed the "lucky bucks" drawing at 9 p.m. Saturday night after discontinuing the drawing during the winter months. Plans now are to hold the drawing each Saturday night until Oct. 25.

At the first drawing of the season this past weekend there were nine names drawn before a winner was declared. LaVerle Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Miller, drew the names. Lucky winners receive $25 worth of "lucky bucks" which may be spent at any of the participating business places in Winside.

In order to win, the person whose name is called must identify himself at the announcer's booth located on Main Street at the intersection with the city park.

Bruce Ring Scores Well in Math Test

Bruce Ring, a junior at Wayne High School and son of Mr. and Mrs. Mable Ring of Wayne, scored ahead of 5,700 other top mathematics students in the state in the 20th annual high school mathematics examination given in March. He scored about 70 from the top in the test.

About 6,000 students across the state took the test, sponsored by the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics, Mathematical Association of America, the Society of Actuaries, Mu Alpha Theta, Nebraska Academy of Science and the Actuarial Club.

Scoring places behind Bruce were the two other Wayne High students who took part in the test, Lylo Nelson and Michelle Burns.

Wayne High's team scored in the 90th percentile.

Task Force

In addition to the adequate meeting rooms, kitchen facilities and showers, and restrooms for the fire department.

The purpose of the task force was to help the council in finding a long-range building program for the city and then help in informing the public to implement whatever the council may decide.

used $70 a month and that the hourly wage for the other help at the pool also be increased. The council will make final decisions on these requests later.

Yet to be completely worked out, according to Hanson, are the plans for the swimming lessons at the pool this year. Hanson felt that they could be started on time and could be held in three sessions of about 13 days each.

Sid Magdanz, city engineer, was given approval by the street committee to begin engineering work on three street projects. The streets which will be paved are Duane from 1st to 3rd on the east from Nebraska for just over three blocks and Tilden from the 14th park to the railroad tracks.

Magdanz was also given the okay to contact a construction company which will attempt to save several blocks of street in Westwood addition from cracking and sinking. The streets are in danger because water has washed the fill from underneath them. The company will attempt to pump a thick liquid into the gaps which will dry to form a new base for the streets.

The council in other action accepted the tentative timetable worked out by members of the council and the Chamber of Commerce Task Force for steps to be taken in the construction of the proposed city complex. The timetable calls for the election on the bond issue to be held about July 24, awarding of the contract about September 1, beginning of construction about October 1 and completion of the complex about December Construction time on the project is estimated at eight weeks. Heard a request by Norvin Hansen, editor of the Wayne Herald, that a representative of the newspaper be allowed to sit in on all the council's executive sessions, which are held prior to every council meeting, and on all special meetings the council may have with various organizations or groups in the city. The newspaper will be contacted by the council's decision later.

COUNTY TREASURER Leona Bahde shows Winona Peterson and Kirt Schellenberg how some of the Wayne County tax lists are figured during Government Day.

STUDENT OFFICIALS hear Carl Scheel, Legion Commander of Post 43 in Wayne, and Police Chief Vern Fairchild present the work and activities of a modern-day law enforcement officer. Fairchild told the Government Day students Tuesday morning "the day is over when you can pin a badge on a man who has had no special training and expect him to enforce the law with all of its technicalities." He continued to explain the many involvements of a police officer in the life of a community.

Juniors Learn by Doing at County Government Day

Thirty-three junior students from Winside and Wayne high schools arrived Tuesday morning at the Wayne County courthouse around 9:30 a.m. to register and be sworn into office for County government day.

The annual affair is sponsored by the Legion posts and Auxiliary chapters of Carroll, Winside and Wayne. Chris Barcholz and Carl Scheel were in charge of making arrangements. Student officials had a bus, and following a program designed to better acquaint high school government classes with government processes on the local level.

During the morning program, Wayne's Police Chief, Vern Fairchild, addressed the youth, who had assembled in the courtroom, concerning the work, responsibilities and requirements of modern day policemen. He showed a film entitled "On A Quiet Street."

Wayne County Judge, Laverna Hilton, carried out the "swearing in" ceremony for the one-day student officers just prior to adjournment for the noon luncheon.

A noon meal was served by the Carroll Legion Auxiliary in the Woman's Club room with Wayne County officials as guests. Post 43 Commander Carl Scheel had each county official introduced and also had the candidates and their alternates stand who will be going to Boys' and Girls' State at Lincoln this summer.

Upon returning to the courthouse for the afternoon the students went to their respective offices for orientation as to the work and procedures carried out in the office. Following are the names of the students participating and with the office each held in parenthesis: Wayne: Glenn Teeter (assessor); Winona Peterson (treasurer); Cynthia Bottolfsen (superintendent); Roger Boyce (attorney); Les Echtenkamp (extension agent); Vaughn Korth (probation officer); Bruce Pflueger (attorney); Mike Biltoff (commissioner); Rick Robins

Eghon is the American Legion serving exchange student from Chile attending Wayne High this school term and making his home with the Kent Hills.

"Judges are human" was Roger Boyce's comment which brought a chuckle from fellow students in a conversational circle.

Mike Biltoff said he "got well acquainted with some of the extension office operations". Phil Witt of Winside said, "I was real impressed with all the various aspects of our county government. I didn't really realize there was so much to it." He also noted that he "especially enjoyed the informative tour of the sheriff's office."

Winside junior Kirt Schellenberg summed it up for most everyone with "I thought it really was an inspiring day."

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

You may not agree with an editorial—but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

Getting Ready for Memorial Day

Sunshine streams through the kitchen's east window and spreads its warmth over the table touching the chair where he used to sit. In his own sweet time he would finally respond to "breakfast's ready and you'd better hurry or you'll be late for school!" Is it his steps I still hear in the hall?

With the limitless grin that always found a place to sprawl across his square-jawed face, he would, in a special manner of flirty, always manage to make one last approval of his hair before dashing out of the door with a "see ya!" and we knew we would see him, although it would be after school, a chat with the favorite girl and football or basketball practice.

Then, along with hundreds of other families across this great nation, we were counting the days, then hours, when we would stand behind our tears, wave goodbye, and hear once again "see ya" as a giant jet engulfed him, lifting him off the runway for a military future.

How very handsome he looked in his perfectly pressed uniform when he was home on his last leave. How grown up. Those days went so fast, breakfast was a bit difficult for us all the morning he left. He sat there in the sun-touched chair with the glow of his family around him, but we were all prettily aware of what could happen now that he would be going to Vietnam.

As it has to thousands in the past, the words "son" and "war" stabbed our thoughts. Then it was time again for a quick wave and "see ya." That was 10 months ago.

Although our hearts are yet too sore to speak much about the government's notification of his death, the memorial service, the sympathy of friends, as Memorial Day approaches we suddenly realize that he was so right with his promise of "see ya." As other parents are notified that their sons have given their supreme devotion for this country, we relive our own experience and know that we are now part of a family scattered over across America upon which has been written fidelitly the awesome and terrible cost of freedom. We can hear "see ya" echo across the ebb and flow of each heartbeat.

Yes, son, we'll "see ya." We see you each time the flag passes by and though there are years that won't cry, our hearts are lifted in knowing that you didn't shy from responsibility and manhood. You were brave. We love you for it.

Each time a jet carries young men overhead, each time the chapel bells sound at sunset, each morning the sun fingers its way across the kitchen table to your chair, we "see ya." We thank God you were no stranger to duty or victim of fear.

As we get ready for Memorial Day we have decided to do the one thing you would want most. Rather than build a stone monument we are building a living memorial of tribute by rededicating ourselves to the basic fundamentals held dear in our country.

As Memorial Day arrives, son, and we hear the voice of the canon speak its tribute to you and your comrades as we pledge allegiance to that grand old flag; as we sing the "Star Spangled Banner," as we see our nation bow humbly in honor of all who have gone beyond the call of duty, we'll see you and your youthful courage reflected in the faces of the teeming millions...who believe "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends." (Jn. 15:13).

We'll "see ya" in the manhood of a "greater love." There is no finer memorial.—MMW

Word Planting

Words are planted in people's minds much in the same way seeds are planted in a garden. First the soil is prepared, then the seeds are planted, then the growing plant is given a lot of tender loving care. First the word is mentioned and planted in the brain, that has been prepared by careful phrasing, then much care is given to make that word grow to a meaningful reality.

Have you heard of "economic exploitation"? You know what economic means, and exploitation means "unethical utilization for selfish purposes." Webster's dictionary says that "in Marxism, to make profit from the labor of others" is one meaning of "exploit."

The phrase "economic exploitation" is thrown around quite generally now, sometimes from very surprising sources. The leader of a large religious body with headquarters outside the U. S. mentioned it only last week according to a TV news cast.

It seems many liberals believe that capitalists here in America have every right to work hard but do not have a right to spend profits the way they please. Communist leaders believe in hard work and that the "state" should be the instrument through which the profits are spent.

The word "profit," except when applied to our own endeavors, still seems to be a dirty word in some of America's corners. The stockholder's aim of never-ending struggle, touching reference to "profit" never brings a laughing enunciation by private interests seeking profit... The obvious conclusion we are supposed to draw from this is that there are two kinds of people...the good people, commonly known as the public, and the bad people...the profit seekers.

This kindergarten view of people and profits contributes a lot to the buck-passing and misunderstanding that accompanies inflation. For example, one of the top labor officials in the country has said that business profits are left out of line. He argues that inflation could be stopped without increasing unemployment if these profits were cut. Apparently, he believes inflation should be controlled by regulating profits, or maybe, eliminating them?

Two things are wrong with such reasoning. The first is that if profits are regulated, wages are next in line. Beyond this is the old truth that profits, jobs and progress are all wrapped up in one package, the incentive system, that has made the U. S. the most productive nation ever known. You cannot eliminate profits without eliminating the system.

To eliminate the system is evidently what some of the more radical "isms" want. Don't let them kid you when they plant the word "economic exploitation" in your mind and try to get you to believe that the man won't work should have some of the profits from the hard working laborer. Guaranteed incomes and other socialistic programs will not ever be brought into reality by the working man, because he knows that the finances for such will come right out of his pocket, profits if you please, into the pockets of those who are, all too often, too lazy to work. Then who is "exploited"? —MMW

Two Weeks to Live!

Lurking off stage in the wings of the calendar is a terrible disease that will likely kill over 500 Americans in just two weeks. The disease is carelessness while driving on the highway over the Memorial Day weekend.

The two eyes reading this right now and the two arms holding the paper may have only two weeks to live! Of course you are an excellent driver but you're going to be on the highway with motorists who have been plagued with the fatal disease of carelessness. That carelessness may end life on earth for you.

In just two weeks within the framework of few seconds, a grinding crash of metal, rubber and gasoline, strewn in horror, will end the dreams and happiness of over 500 people who at this moment have no idea that what they are planning for in June will occur without their presence.

Imagine! More than 500 who are planning for joyous occasions this summer, such as vacations, seeing the boy home on leave from service, seeing the daughter or niece marry to a fine young man, buying and completing a new home, retiring, or the birth of a new baby, will never live to see any of these things due to carelessness.

Many a father's voice will be silenced forever. Mothers will no longer answer the baby's cry. Teenagers with fresh high school diplomas will have their names removed from the college enrollment list. Children will weep in loneliness. Parents will sob behind pulled front room drapes because their son and his family were coming for the weekend and they didn't make it. Other Americans will read about all the accidents in the paper and say with detachment, "my, isn't that too bad?"

Everyone of those persons who will be dead in auto accidents within two weeks are alive at this very moment. Over 55,000 Americans died in such wrecks during 1968. Probably not a one of them was "ready to die."

Carelessness is a contagious, vicious, disease, respecting no age group. Give it some serious thought. Make sure your family is headed for fun and not a funeral anytime you drive. —MMW

Still No Decision Reached On Dr. Miller's 'Execution'

LINCOLN—Another State Board of Education meeting has come and gone without a decision on the fate of Education Commissioner Floyd A. Miller.

The board met in special session last week and hired an attorney to provide legal guidance as Miller's case is considered, but it made no move to put his continued employment up to a vote.

The regular May meeting is scheduled for today (Thursday). Most observers think this session, also, will pass without a vote on what board member Frank Landis of Lincoln calls "the basic issue."

Landis was one of three board members who voted against hiring the attorney. He was joined in dissent by Robert G. Simmons of Scottsbluff and Norman Otto of Millard.

Grand Island member John A. Wagoner made the motion to employ James Bruckner of Lincoln as special counsel to the board, voting with him were Mrs. Deborah Shepherd of Lexington, Dr. Allen P. Burkhardt of Norfolk and Lloyd Wright of Rey-mond.

A message to those Americans who don't happen to think the land of milk and honey is going all sour.

Our country is a strange one these days. Uncertainly surrounds us.

What if you took a long hard look at this country of ours, and all the things we do for it?

Sure we have our problems. And they're not just going away if you just stand along, and sulk as a spectator.

But they might start to go away if you people want to do something for your country.

Having U.S. Savings Bonds is one way. If you signed up for regular payrolls through Payroll Savings at your bank could also make a most good investment for yourself.

Take stock in America

Buy U.S. Savings Bonds & Freedom Shares

The eighth member is John K. Lunday of Omaha, the author of the controversial letter which predicted Miller's imminent "execution." Lunday didn't attend last week's special session.

The special meeting originally was scheduled at the request of Mrs. Shepherd who said the Miller case needed to be resolved as soon as possible.

This put Mrs. Shepherd and Landis on the same side for the first time in many months. They both have argued that further delays are disruptive to the state's education program. But they have taken different views on Miller. Mrs. Shepherd has said she should be fired and Landis supports him.

Bruckner was hired to serve as special counsel after Attorney General Clarence Meyer said his office might be involved in a conflict of interest if it supports the board in a decision to dismiss the commissioner.

Meyer's office has said it has supplied Miller with legal advice over the years, including some relating to actions which some board members feel justifies his ouster.

Originally, it was thought the board was poised to hire Asa Christensen of Lincoln. Christensen had been tapped by Burkhardt, the board president, to begin research after Burkhardt had received the attorney general's authorization to engage counsel. But Burkhardt and Wagoner said at last week's meeting that the press of his practice forced Christensen to withdraw from the case. Bruckner was recommended and he was hired.

Simmons, Landis and Otto had complained before the meeting, and during it, that there is no need for an attorney and, even if there were, that it should be a board decision and not one made independently by the president.

Simmons also contended that the fees for the attorney, which would be paid from the education department's budget, would, in effect, "steal from education programs."

Wagoner and Burkhardt said there was adequate money available.

Lunday's letter had indicated there was a majority of the eight member board ready to fire Miller last month. Lunday, Mrs. Shepherd, Wagoner and Burkhardt have said publicly they would support such a move. Landis, Otto and Simmons have gone on record opposing it.

That leaves Wright. He could create the majority or force a tie. He hasn't said how he would vote and has said it would remain a mystery until the vote is cast.

Some observers have said, however, his vote to have Bruckner hired might be a tip on how he will vote when, or if, the Miller drama ever reaches a climax. They said there is no reason for the special counsel, whose job is to show the board how it can dismiss Miller, unless the commissioner is to be fired.

Therefore, they said, unless Wright were willing to support the dismissal effort there would have been no logic in his vote to have the attorney hired.

Education Not Legislative Topic The State Education Board wasn't the only educational battle ground last week. There was action on the legislative front, as well.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff made an attempt to raise LB 1342, which had been killed by the education committee. LB 1342 is the controversial Little Hoover Commission proposal which would require all the school districts in the state to provide kindergarten through 12th grade instruction and serve at least 1,400 students or encompass 550 square miles.

Carpenter's motion to breathe life back into the committee-acted measure put the senators on record for the first time this session on the incendiary topic of redistricting. They voted 30-10 against restoring LB 1342.

The legislature's education committee, which was sustained on its LB 1342 decision, has advanced two substitute bills to the floor as its answer to the redistricting question. One would provide new school districts from being formed unless they provide K-12 programs and the other would make it easier to transfer property from Class I (or elementary-only) districts.

Those bills await consideration on the floor. Carpenter warned the state that the redistricting issue won't end with adjournment of the legislature. He said efforts would be made to put the question on the 1970 ballot.

He said there were plenty of concerned people throughout the state who would sign petitions to require a vote.

Bonds Got First OK The legislature has advanced a bill calling for the issuance of $50 million in highway revenue bonds this year.

The measure, however, received only 27 votes. That was enough to move it from first reading, but it's six shy of the total needed for the emergency clause which would make it effective immediately.

He listed these other management practices that will be helpful in controlling blight when grazing blight-producing legumes:

1. Seed and manage pastures for no more than 50 per cent alfalfa forage.
2. Feed dry hay or mow strips and leave in the field for a source of roughage.
3. Provide grass pasture along with the legume pasture.
4. Feed grain or a grain roughage mixture to reduce pasture intake. If a limited amount of grain is hand-fed, adjust the time of feeding to alter pasture intake as an additional help in reducing the blight problem.
5. Fill cattle on dry roughage or grass pasture before turning to legume pasture.
6. Once cattle are turned to pasture, do not remove at the first signs of blight. Mild sub-acute blight occurs frequently and repeatedly on alfalfa pastures. If cattle are removed at the first signs of blight, use of alfalfa pasture would be greatly limited. When cattle are first turned to pasture, leave them until the rumen is full of feed. Instead of until the first signs of distress from blight appear.
7. When feeding green chop, spread the roughage intake over the whole day. This can be done by feeding several times daily or by full feeding the green chop mixed with a substantial amount of grain.

Seed Applications Due Nebraska farmers who plan to grow certified wheat, oats, barley, rye, sweet clover, and smooth brome must submit applications for field inspections by the Nebraska Crop Improvement Association by May 20.

Dean Lancaster, secretary of the NCIA, reminds the growers that application forms are available in all county Extension offices.

This application form should be submitted to the NCIA along with the tag from the seed planted or bulk sale card for proof of the seed source. Lancaster points out, field inspections will start in early June in southeast Nebraska and continue across the state as the crops mature.

Crops that qualify for certification must be isolated from other crops to insure purity of seed, must be free of noxious and objectionable weeds, and must not be mixed with other varieties or other crops. Since certified seed insures purity of variety, high germination and clean seed, growers can usually sell their certified seed for enough premium to more than cover the cost and manage-

Aerosol Bombs The aerosol cans in your house may be potential bombs. Room fresheners, deersert tending, grooming sprays and insecticides are only a few substances that come in aerosol cans which can become real bombs if they come in contact with heat.

Never leave an aerosol container of a stove, radiator, in direct sunlight or near other sources of heat.

Do not discard an empty aerosol can into a fire or incinerator. Gas may still be present in the supposedly empty can. Heat causes gas expansion and the result is an explosion.

Never puncture a container, as all aerosols are under pressure. Puncturing, like heat, can be dangerous. Before discarding a container, hold the valve open until all the gas has escaped. Aerosol cans containing fire puncture sealants have been known to explode when left in trunks or glove compartments of automobiles parked in the sun.

Never spray a aerosol containing alcohol or other flammable materials near an open flame. Droplets or vapors from sprays may ignite and start fires. A final reminder: ALWAYS READ THE LABEL. Then store your aerosols in a safe place out of the reach of children.

Following these safety tips will help to eliminate aerosol bombs from your home. The life you save, may be your own.

BETTER WEED KILL WITH FELCO 2,4-D

The superior quality of Felco 2,4-D gives you more positive broadleaf weed control. Felco Amine is readily absorbed by the roots of the weed because it's water-soluble. Felco H.V. #4 or #6 and L.V. #4 or #6 are quickly absorbed by the weed leaf and deal the killing blow on down to the roots when applied correctly.

SMV Emblem Credited with Reducing Tractor-Automobile Mishaps, Deaths

Tractor accidents (the main cause of accidental deaths on Nebraska farms for several years) and collisions of slow-moving tractors with automobiles on highways killed 65 people in Nebraska in 1963, according to the University of Nebraska.

But the number of people killed in farm tractor upsets has decreased from 44 in 1965 to 23 in 1966 and the number of people killed in car-tractor collisions declined from 11 to six. In addition, tractor overturns and car-tractor collisions declined.

One reason for the decrease in car-tractor collisions has been the use of the Slow Moving Vehicle Emblem. The bill requiring the use of this emblem, introduced by Sen. William Wylie of Elgin in the 1965 Nebraska Legislature and signed into law on April 5, 1965, took effect January 1, 1967.

In 1967 there was a two per cent reduction in collisions while the death figure stayed the same. At the same time the overall traffic accident rate in Nebraska increased approximately .14 per cent.

In 1968, the death rate from car-tractor collisions dropped 40 per cent while the number of collisions dropped 15 per cent. This is more meaningful when it is realized that the farmer is traveling over the roadway more than ever before and in traffic that is increasing each year.

Safety people wonder how much more farm tractor-car collisions could be reduced if the emblem were required on slow moving equipment used on all roads in the state. The emblem is required only on the state highways of Nebraska, about 10,000 miles of roadway, and not on the remaining 100,000 miles of county roads.

In Michigan, there has been a 34 per cent reduction in car-tractor collisions where the SMV emblem has been in use on all roads.

Nebraska news media have pushed the emblem. Farmers, contractors, the State Highway Department and all other agencies using slow moving equipment, installed and properly used the emblem. This is one key to the reduced accident rate.

Farm equipment dealers, through their retail associations, were early promoters of the emblem. With their help, the emblem was made available to the farmer.

The greatest leadership probably came from the Nebraska Farm Safety Council, a group composed of 75 safety-minded people from farm organizations, news media, farmers or anyone interested in farm safety.

Manufacturers are also helping to prevent tractor overturn deaths. Research on roll-over and crush-resistant cabs is leading the way to improved tractor safety.

A farmer receptive to this type of protection is the principal key to reducing death or injury from tractor overturns.

During February, 1969, 11,769 fish were stocked in Nebraska waters by the Fisheries Division of the Game Commission.

Empty Insecticide Can Left in Field Over Winter Kills Twenty Heifers

Editor's Note: The following is a true story about the tragic consequences of not heeding instructions on the use of pesticides. Written by John Furver, Extension pesticides specialist at the University of Nebraska.

It is especially timely now during the current planting season in Nebraska. Empty insecticide containers are left in fields and are not picked up later. These were the instructions of a Nebraska farmer last spring when he finished planting corn. There was every intention to remove the box later on, but there it stayed through the summer, fall and winter.

Early this spring 150 head of cattle were turned into the field. Some of the more inquisitive heifers found the box containing Thimet granules from the 1968 corn planting operations. It wasn't long before the combination of curious animals and highly toxic corn rootworm insecticide began to take its toll—one animal dropped dead near the box, 16 others within 150 yards of

It, another near the pond and two others in the field for a total loss of twenty 750 to 900-pound heifers.

Thimet (phorate), like many other corn rootworm materials, is a highly toxic pesticide. Containers are marked with the skull and crossbones, dangers, antidotes and other information for safe and proper handling. The lethal dose rating is two to four parts per million, translated into everyday terms, this means a fatal dose for a 1,000-pound animal is about one-half ounce or one tablespoon of 10 per cent granular Thimet. Lesser amounts could be fatal to smaller animals or humans.

Some of the more popular corn rootworm materials are almost as toxic through skin absorption and breathing as they are when taken orally. A good inhalation of dusts and keep them off the skin. Wash as soon as possible after handling the products. Wear rubber gloves if you have to work on your applicator. Better still

Many Vets' Widows Eligible for New Education Assistance

Widows of World War II veterans have only until July 25, 1970, to use their GI home loan entitlement. The entitlement of eligible Korean Conflict widows expires Jan. 31, 1975, with eligible post-Korean widows having 20 years from their husband's death in service, 20 years from the veteran's discharge or until Mar. 3, 1976, whichever is later, to use their entitlement.

Education Assistance

A veteran's widow entitled to GI home loan benefits is automatically eligible for the newly created widow's educational assistance from the Veterans Administration. But the reverse is not necessarily true.

W. Nixon, manager, VA Regional Office, Lincoln, said that only unmarried widows of World War II, Korean Conflict and post-Korean veterans who died as the result of military service are entitled to VA home

Loan Guarantee

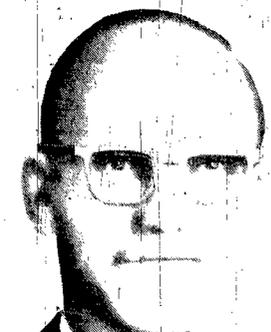

However, unmarried widows of veterans who served at any time since the Spanish-American War and who died as the result of military service are eligible for VA educational assistance up to a maximum of 36 months, he said.

In addition, the wives of veterans who are permanently and totally disabled because of service are also eligible for the education benefits, which amount to as much as $130 a month for full-time training.

Nixon said that eligible widows of World War II veterans have only until July 25, 1970, to use their GI home loan entitlement. The entitlement of eligible Korean Conflict widows expires Jan. 31, 1975, with eligible post-Korean widows having 20 years from their husband's death in service, 20 years from the veteran's discharge or until Mar. 3, 1976, whichever is later, to use their entitlement.

Widows and wives eligible for educational assistance have until Nov. 30, 1976, or eight years after their husbands' deaths or VA finding of permanent and total disability, whichever is later, to complete their education or training.

Food contamination in general is not a serious problem, if the chemicals are used according to the specifications and instructions of the manufacturer, such contaminants should not lodge in foods, Dr. Shatani concluded.

'Food Contamination Sources Will Persist Unless Precautions Taken'

Several sources of contamination in food products will persist unless precautions are taken by producers according to Dr. Niem M. Shatani, professor of food science and technology at the University of Nebraska.

Some of the contaminants are food poisons produced by microorganisms, along with radioactive, insecticides and pesticides and antibiotics, Dr. Shatani said. Experimental explosions from the atomic bomb testing and equipment may emit radioactivity in the atmosphere which then settles on vegetation, crops and in the water supply.

Insecticides and pesticides used by a farmer and food manufacturer can get into foods, he noted.

For example, if a farmer sprays animals, the animals could lick off the chemicals and these chemicals will then appear in the meat of milk. If the animals are fed the contaminated feed, the milk and meat will contain residues from these chemicals.

The farmer should use only the non-toxic or approved compounds, recommended Dr. Shatani.

Food contamination in general is not a serious problem, if the chemicals are used according to the specifications and instructions of the manufacturer, such contaminants should not lodge in foods, Dr. Shatani concluded.

Questions About 2nd Jobs, Overtime Work To Be Asked in Area

Questions about second jobs and overtime work and pay will be asked in households of this area by Census Bureau interviewers Monday through Saturday. Guy A. Lutz of the Bureau's regional office in St. Paul announces.

Interviewers who will visit households here the week of May 19 are: Ruth Koehler, of Norfolk and Catherine V. Moeller, of Winside.
