

'Never Accept Defeat' Allen Graduates Told

"Winning isn't everything, it's the only thing," the featured speaker at Allen High School commencement exercises told the 40 graduating seniors Thursday evening.

Dr. Max Landstrom, assistant dean of administration at Wayne State College, borrowed the statement from Vince Lombardi, highly successful professional football coach, to open his speech to the graduates.

Craig Schultz was awarded the trophy for being the valedictorian and Cynthia Ellis the trophy for being the salutatorian. Receiving the K. R. Mitchell scholarship for outstanding performance in school was Margaret Ankeny. At the honors convocation Friday morning Schultz also received the honor of being named the outstanding athlete of the year.

Mark Jorgensen, eighth grader at Allen, received the Craig Kjer Athletic Award which is presented annually to the eighth grade student who shows both high scholastic and athletic potential. The award was started in 1967 in memory of Craig Kjer, an eighth grade student who was killed in a tractor accident shortly after finishing school in 1966. It was started by Howard and Merle Kimbrell.

At the Thursday night commencement Dr. Landstrom told the seniors that every body—farmers, teachers, businessmen—attempts to win in life. "Nobody plans to finish last," he said.

"Refuse to accept defeat, refuse to fail, but if you do fail learn something from it. You're in a competitive world and everybody loves a winner," he noted.

"The two most useless expressions in the English language are 'What's the use?' and 'Why should I? But 'It can be done' and 'You can count on me' sparkle with success," he said.

The graduates should plan on winning in all things they attempt, he said, because confidence is contagious, confidence builds. See "NEVER ACCEPT," page 9.

Roy Stohler Hired As New Dixon Co. Extension Agent and Youth Specialist

The Dixon County Extension board has hired Roy F. Stohler of Battle Creek as the new county extension agent. He replaces Howard Gillaspie, who retired last fall after 28 years as county agent.

In addition to the normal county agent duties, Stohler will work on a cooperative basis with Wayne, Dixon, Cedar, Dakota and Thurston Counties as a youth specialist, according to Cal Ward, district extension supervisor at the Northeast Station near Concord.

Stohler will have his office at the Northeast Station. Half his work will be devoted to the Dixon County Extension program and half to the area youth program.

The new arrangement is an attempt to use the special talents of the people at the Northeast Station, according to Ward. The area specialists there will handle the Dixon County problems in their respective fields, leaving Stohler free to specialize in the field of his major interest and training, youth, on the five-county basis. WHS German Student Ranks 2nd in Area Test

Linda Lesh, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lesh of Wayne and a junior at Wayne High School, received word last week that she had scored second highest among the high school German students from three states taking a test earlier this year.

Her score, 76, was only two points lower than the highest score made in the regional German test for students in Nebraska and the two Dakotas.

The student scoring highest, Lawrence Day of Lincoln, wins a trip to Germany this summer sponsored by the American Association of Teachers of German. If he decides not to take the trip, Linda would be eligible to see GERMAN STUDENT, pg 10.

Brush Pile Moved Back to Old Spot

The city brush pile has been moved back to the old location just south and west of the Logan Creek bridge on South Main, according to Vern Schulz, streets commissioner.

Schulz said last week that no more brush should be taken to the location south of the Morris Machine Shop since that area has been closed off.

The new brush pile, which can be used anytime during the day, will be closed only on wet days. Only burnable brush and branches can be taken there, Schulz said.

Residents using the brush pile should not burn their own dumpings and should not pile brush on a burning pile. The city will take care of the burning of the material, according to Schulz.

Adkins Tells 37 Wakefield Seniors 'Always Give That Little Extra'

"Your school system isn't going to be any better than your personal involvement," Richard E. Adkins, Osmond banker, told 37 Wakefield High School seniors and their parents Wednesday during the commencement service. The 8 p.m. program was held in the elementary gymnasium.

Adkins, who is president of the Nebraska University Board of Regents, reminded his audience, "You'll never receive something for nothing. Always give that little extra." His commencement address was entitled "The Tough Way".

Betty Johnson at the piano and Cheryl Kahl at the organ played both the processional and recessional as organ-piano duets, using "Pomp and Circumstance".

Musical selections on the program were presented by Roger Hoeckenbauer, who sang "The Impossible Dream," accompanied by Mrs. Lyle Trullinger, and a choral group known as the Patriots, who sang "This Is My Country," accompanied by Marilyn Felt.

Following the main address, principal of Wakefield High School, Larry Jess, made presentation of scholarships.

Name College Facilities in Honor of Three Wayne Men

The new $1,500,000 science building under construction at Wayne State College was named in honor of Ralph M. Carhart, well known Wayne businessman, by the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State Colleges Saturday.

Name of the new science facility will be the Ralph M. Carhart Science Hall.

The Board held its regular monthly meeting in Peru Saturday afternoon while attending the 110th graduation ceremony of Peru State College.

The Board also decided that the planetarium in the new science building be named the Fred G. Dale Planetarium and that the main reference room of the library addition now under construction be named the Carl R. Ellermeier Room.

Ralph Carhart served on the governing board of the Nebraska state colleges for 11 years. He was appointed to his original six-year term by Governor Dwight Griswold, and reappointed by Governor Victor Anderson.

During Carhart's incumbency four presidents served Wayne State College—J. T. Anderson, Victor P. Morey, John D. Rice and William A. Brandenburg.

It was a period of rapid growth, starting with the heavy influx of World War II veterans.

In 1956 the college instituted its graduate program. Three major buildings were constructed during the period: Morey Hall, Anderson Hall and the Rice Health and Physical Education Building. The college acquired land and developed long-range plans for the present physical plant and enrollment of 3,000 students.

A member of the board of Nebraska Masonic Home for 17 years, he also served as Grand Master of the Nebraska Masonic Lodge in 1964.

In commenting on the Board action President Brandenburg said, "Mr. Carhart was deeply interested in the development of the state colleges, gave wise counsel and enjoyed the respect and friendship of all. I am happy his memory will be perpetuated in this manner."

Carhart, who died of a heart attack in 1965, came to Wayne with his parents in 1914. After living in Randolph for a period of time he returned to Wayne in 1939. He was director of the Carhart Lumber Company, headquartered in Wayne.

Active right up to the time of his death, he was working on plans for the new Masonic Lodge for Wayne and had helped present the plans to the Lodge the week of his death.

The new science building, which is being constructed just west of the present science-mathematics building, will have 23 laboratories, compared to the five in the present building. Among other features: a computer room, provision on the roof for an observatory and sizable increase in space for instructional materials.

The Board's decision of naming the planetarium in memory of Fred Dale honors a 1917 graduate of Wayne State who taught at the college from 1921 until 1961.

Initially coach of all intercollegiate sports, Dale developed an interest in geography and taught in that field until he retired in 1961. His special interest was meteorology and climatology.

President Brandenburg said that Dale was an outstanding performer in the classroom who inspired many students to self improvement in character and determination. Many of his former students have advanced to positions of high responsibility in weather bureaus, both in industry and government.

The planetarium will be located in the basement of the science facility, expected to be completed in September. The main reference in the new $600,000 library addition is named after another well known and well liked Wayne State teacher, Carl Ellermeier.

Ellermeier, who died of a heart attack in 1967, taught at Wayne State from 1955 until his death. Although teaching in the fields of mathematics and science, he maintained a deep interest in intercollegiate sports and served as head track coach from 1959 until his death. President Brandenburg said that he earned respect and devotion from the students he came in contact with.

The addition to Conn Library will more than triple study space for students, add shelving space for some 50,000 more books and provide numerous other library facilities, especially in the instructional materials center. The three-level addition is on the front of the present library and will create an L-shaped structure.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

It is the duty of an editorial writer to search all available facts before he sits down to write. From this basis the writer should be able to give a clear picture of important topics.

What Is Your Newspaper?

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This editorial, which appeared in the Waterloo, Wisconsin, Courier, is dedicated to the high school graduates of this area. The "older readers" of this newspaper probably regard a newspaper as a recorder of local history more than the young people. In reading it we hope you will give more thought to the part your newspaper plays in your life and your community).

It's a yellowing clipping in a Bible telling the birth of a baby who smiled but a little while, otherwise remembered only by the parents and God.

It's your life history, and the life history of those you know.

It's your joys and sorrows, and those of your neighbors, recorded by the only news medium in the world that cares about you.

It's your conscience joined with others to form a guard against injustice by government.

It's the difference between you and being an uninformed animal or a human being, knowing and forming judgment based on facts made available to you easily, quickly and truthfully.

It's the support from which you ask and get the strength of many in furthering the welfare of your own world — your community.

Food Producers Have a Right to Profit

"Cattle prices are now no higher than they were 17 years ago," David H. Stroud, Chicago, president of the National Livestock and Meat Board said in a statement recently.

"How many other products and services cost the same or less than they did in 1952?" "Check what you have to pay today for automobiles, medical care, housing, entertainment — you name it — compared with what you would have paid back in 1952," Stroud challenged.

The president continued pointing out that the standard of living has increased much more rapidly than have food prices, thus consumers now spend only about 2 and one half per cent of their after-tax income for beef. This is a smaller portion of take-home pay than it took to buy beef 20 years ago, and, he added, "It was less than three per cent even then."

Stroud explained that Americans are getting 66 per cent more beef for that 2 and one-half per cent of spendable income than they did back in the early 1950's.

It costs Wayne County livestock producers more to do business today than 15-20 years ago, just as it does in every field, but stockmen are getting fewer real dollars in return for their labor.

Did you know the House of Representatives recently voted to approve legislation granting free mailing privileges to all servicemen located outside the 48 contiguous states and to all servicemen hospitalized as a result of disease or injury incurred while on active duty? Presently, this privilege is available only to those in a combat area or to those hospitalized as a result of service in a combat area.

Let's not forget June 14 is "Flag Day." A good dose of enthusiastic patriotism throughout every nook and cranny of this great land sure wouldn't hurt it any. Perhaps there are organizations in Wayne looking for a program theme for a June meeting. A theme centered around our country and its flag might be just what you're looking for.

An early "Happy Fourth of July" to all of you who will still be around to enjoy it. By now you know that about 500 of our neighbors and friends will discover their automobiles to be their caskets over Memorial Day weekend. It's a horrible thought. Why do we Americans turn on the faucets of blood over holiday highways?

Will our beautiful American highways always have to be "out-of-door insane asylums" (Or maybe you haven't had the experience that J. W. had not too long ago of seeing one youth pinned behind the steering wheel of his car while the other youthful driver was thrown out of his auto and was sitting in a pool of his own blood. It wasn't even their fault! A third party had caused it all by not being able to wait a few minutes before pulling onto the road.

With Memorial Day weekend coming up, you're absolutely "sure" that you aren't going to get into an accident, aren't you. Well, friend, let me remind you that out there some place, right now, there are from 500 to 600 drivers who think to themselves, "It won't happen to me" is only a self-created illusion. It can happen to you and it may not be your fault.

Just seven days from now there are going to be names listed in the newspaper's obituary column with notice of the funeral service; names of those who right at this moment are living, warm, wonderful people. Of course "it won't happen to me!"

In one split-second of jelly-brained driving there will be a sudden screeching of rubber shedding on concrete; metal will be twisted into ugly shapes with flesh and blood being chewed into unrecognizable bits of garbage. Horrified passers-by will creep by the wreckage, and will remain driving at more of a sane pace for at least the next 10 miles!

Everything you've ever lived for and loved can come to a terrible end just because of a moment of carelessness. According to national statistics a great percentage of deaths are caused by "tipsy" drivers, drivers who thought their alcoholic pleasure was all fun! Once sobered up it is difficult for them to imagine they have "killed."

Drinking alcoholic beverages may indeed be a "civil right" of celebrants, but it is also a "civil right" of others using the highways to drive their lives safely.

There are those who would quickly condemn a drinking driver but then forget to dim their lights when following another vehicle or meeting an oncoming car, thereby causing an accident. There are about a thousand different ways to "kill" oneself or others with the automobile as a weapon.

Our "war" on the U. S. Highways is taking a higher toll in life than the "war" in Vietnam. Where are the "peace-niks"? Why don't they demonstrate as to the immorality of killing with metal missiles driven by humans? Every automobile being driven on the highway is in reality a gasoline-laden death trap. Such machines are killing over 100 human beings like yourself every 24 hours just in the United States alone.

If you took the time to read this, think of the many people who will read your small classified advertisement. They'll read it and you'll get results.

day, just remember that driving is a privilege and not a "right". Remember when you climb behind the steering wheel that you can, by being careless, turn your car into a two-ton monster like those which killed 55,370 people during 1968 in the U.S.

J. W. didn't mean to wax "gruesome" but maybe a gentle reminder will cause each of us to be just a wee bit more cautious? Memorial Day is a wonderful day to pay tribute, so let's really do our best to keep from marring the entire weekend by carelessness.

Summer will soon be here! Fried chicken, potato salad and lemonade? Then, of course, we can't forget bacon and tomato sandwiches, ice tea, butter-covered sweet corn and fresh garden vegetables.

If you are feeling well, good food is a big help in making any day a lot more enjoyable.

Summer is made up of other great things like crisp bright mornings, perfectly temperate days, red sunsets. Special moments may come to you as you stand in the flower garden smelling the fragrance of a beautiful rose. Or a memorable moment may occur unexpectedly as you just happen to spot a rainbow in a cloud-broken sky. And having been raised on the farm J. W. always enjoyed watching birds feed as they follow the tractor plowing up a buffet dinner for birds!

You gals won't want to miss hearing about a new cookbook we hope to review for you here next week. Of course bachelors read cookbooks! Let me tell you, without a cookbook it wouldn't be safe for J. W. to live anywhere except right beside the WVD firehall. And if you think that is bad, most people are afraid they are going to "crack into" somebody's house after a rain, but my problem is, I have to be careful so as not to track anything "out" of my house onto the neighbor's lawn! Maybe things will perk up, however, as I've been asked now, several times, to get married...by my mom and dad.

The Year the Century Turned

The Wayne Herald May 25, 1969

Local and Personal

Work on the excavation for the new court house will begin next week and from that time until the building is completed, Oct. 1, work will be pushed and the scenes on court house hill will be of an extremely active appearance with a large force of men at work. The contractors, Rowles & Moore, presented their bond to the county commissioners Saturday and it was approved. It is signed by the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland in the sum of $10,000, and the conditions are that the said Rowles & Moore, will faithfully perform the contract they have entered into with the county of Wayne.

Next week is the closing week of the Public Schools of this city and according to every report, we are of the opinion that it has been a most profitable school year, due in a large measure to the efficient principal, Prof. Conn, although materially aided by a very able corps of teachers. The time lost because of the prevalence of diphtheria, has been made up to a large extent and the school will close with a creditable record of progress.

The sun has been behind the clouds for a long time and the silvery lining has been facing toward Mars. As a result we haven't been reveling in the old-fashioned Italian brand of Nebraska weather. But there's a brighter day coming when the silvery lining will flop this way and all nature will wear its broadest smile. Be thou merciful.

The Democrat says that if Editor McNeal doesn't want to get the worst of it from that paper, let him "use the same consideration for others that he expects himself." Oh, we don't know about getting the worst of it. Time will tell. McNeal is not losing any sleep, besides, he has a few more of late issues of the Democrat containing some choice libelous insinuations, laid away for future use, and they will not be used for political purposes, either. Goldie is a pretty specimen to talk about consideration for others. Have he and his man Friday used the same consideration for McNeal that McNeal has for them? Furthermore, The Herald has never changed its adopted course to personally attack Goldie, out of consideration for himself and relatives, not even when he took his departure so suddenly between the setting and rising of the sun. But in the future we propose to deviate from our usual course and should the Democrat again publish any of its contemptible insinuations concerning McNeal, we propose to use that same consideration for Goldie, and his friend, that the Democrat does for us.

Wayne High '91 Plays in State Tourney Today

Wayne High baseball team, undefeated so far this season, plays the winner of the Elmwood district tournament at 9:30 this morning (Monday) in the first round of the state baseball tournament.

Mike Mallette, head baseball coach at Wayne High, said Saturday morning that he would put Wayne Magdanz on the mound Monday and would go with the regular lineup in Monday's game. Magdanz, a senior, has built an impressive record of eight wins and no defeats. Last time he pitched was in the finals of the district tournament at Wakefield Tuesday afternoon. He went just over four innings then before being relieved by Randy Hejren.

The class B state baseball tournament will be played on the University of Nebraska baseball field just north of the football stadium.

Wayne High Golfers Finish 8th in State

Wayne High golfers finished eighth in a field of 12 during the state golf tournament Friday at Lincoln's Pioneer Park.

Wayne ended up with 261 strokes, far back of winning Sidney with 233 strokes. York took second place with 242, Auburn third with 243.

In ninth position was Hartington Cedar with 266 strokes.

Summer Baseball Set For Winside Again

Most of the details have been worked out for Winside's summer baseball program.

Frank Weible will be chairman of the baseball program. The Fee Wees, ages eight to 12, will practice three afternoons a week beginning the first week in June. Midgets, up to 17 years old, and Legion, 17 to 19 years old, will practice evenings beginning the first week in June. Exact time for the practice sessions has not been set yet.

City Recreation Summer Program Schedule Planned

Wayne's city recreation summer program, under the direction of Hank Overin again this year, will get underway the second week in June.

Overin said that all youngsters who live outside of the city limits are subject to the $10 fee in order to take part in the program. Those who live inside the city limits do not have to pay the fee. Any boy from outside the city limits who participated in football or basketball and who paid the fee will not have to pay it again because it is good for one full year, he said.

Deadline for the entry fee is June 21. Checks should be mailed to Mrs. Mike Karel, treasurer, Wayne Recreation Board, Wayne.

Overin said the bus to the golf course will make two stops in town before taking the youngsters to the course. It will leave at 9 a.m. from the Wayne ball park and will stop at the Lil' Duffer and Arnie's. Those taking part in the golfing part of the summer program should try to have their own clubs, Overin said. If they are unable to get their own there will be some available, he noted.

Following is the schedule for the summer program:

Monday—Golf, age 10-18, 9 to 12:30. Baseball, age 8-10, 1 to 2:30. Baseball, age 11-13, 2:30 to 4.

Tuesday and Thursday—Softball for girls, age 8-11, 9:30 to 11, and age 12-16, 11 to noon. Baseball for boys, age 8-10, 1 to 2:30, and age 11-13, 2:30 to 4.

Wednesday and Friday—Dony League baseball, age 13-15, 9:30 to noon, age 8-10, 1 to 2:30 and 11-13, 2:30 to 4.

Former WSC Coach Visits Here on Recruiting Trip

Al Svenningson, 34, head basketball coach at Wayne State College from 1959 to 1967, was back in Wayne visiting for two days last week on a recruiting tour. Svenningson, who is now head basketball coach at the University of Alaska, at Fairbanks, also teaches in the physical education department of that institution which had an enrollment of 2200 undergraduates during the past year.

ALASKA VISITOR: Al Svenningson, former Wayne State College coach (1959-1967) stopped in Wayne for a two-day visit last week. He is presently head basketball coach at the University of Alaska in Fairbanks, and says of that State, "I had a lot more difficulty adjusting to continuous light than continuous darkness."

In visiting about his work at the University of Alaska, Svenningson related that the majority of the student body are from California with Washington having the next highest enrollment. He said there are 47 states represented in the student body with students also from 15 foreign countries.

Al said he had developed a strong basketball schedule at UA in his first year there, 1967-68, and won only five out of 18 games, but he felt the strong schedule would attract more players. This year's team had a record of 12 wins and 12 losses and a lot of enthusiasm for next year. He commented that 40 out of 42 high schools in Alaska have basketball teams and the game was extremely popular. Many of the UA team fall from junior colleges in California.

Coach Svenningson's UA team squares off on the court against such squads as Washington, Oregon, Idaho and California. He said they have a home and home series with Hawaii with the game played in the Islands this year. His schedule for the next term calls for games in Mexico, Japan and Europe. The Alaskan team flew over 21,000 miles last season playing basketball.

"Due to our location," Al pointed out, "except for Mexico, it is just natural to schedule with Europe as international flights from Japan and Europe come to Fairbanks." Continuing, the youthful appearing coach said, "Pan-Am has just been awarded the run from New York to Fairbanks and into Tokyo which opens up another area of recruiting. It is the fantastic thing about the geographical location of Alaska."

When asked about Alaska's climate Al said that the winters can have extremely low temperatures but without any wind or dampness in Fairbanks, the temperatures are quite tolerable. "We had 50 inches of snow this past winter which is about what you had here," he remarked, "and the summers there are extremely nice."

Svenningson also has a top-flight amateur baseball team which will be playing a "midnight sun game" on June 21, and according to Al, "They never have to turn on the ballpark lights."

"I had a lot more difficulty adjusting to continuous light than continuous darkness. It is hard to go to bed when the sun is still shining," he remarked. An oil boom is presently causing Fairbanks to expand. Food prices are high compared to those on the mainland, along with .58¢ a gallon gasoline but wages are comparatively higher too.

Svenningson said he enjoys hunting and fishing but the fishing is only average when the spot is accessible to the public," he explained that the best fishing is done in those regions accessible only by air.

After completing his recruiting tour, Svenningson will return to Fairbanks.

Nearly $100,000 Paid Monthly by Social Security

A record $98,000.00 in monthly social security benefits was being paid to residents of Wayne County at the end of December, 1968, an increase of 5.3 per cent above the amount payable at the end of February, 1968, according to Robert Pelkey, district manager for Social Security. "Throughout Nebraska monthly benefits payable at the end of 1968 amounted to $16,693,000.00, some $450,000.00 higher than at the end of 1967," Pelkey continued. "Approximately three-quarters of the increased monthly amount resulted from higher benefit rates authorized by the 1967 amendments to the Social Security Act. The remainder of the increase was simply due to a greater number of beneficiaries."

By the end of May, 1969, Social Security will be paying monthly benefits to more than 25 million people — one out of every eight Americans, he said.

Although retired workers comprise the largest group of beneficiaries, almost one-fourth of all people receiving benefits are under 60. There are currently more than 3.8 million children and 5 million young widowed mothers receiving payments, yet the public continues to think of Social Security as a program for old people, according to Pelkey.

In Wayne County, 180 people under 60 are receiving benefits. That figure breaks down into 98 under 18, 26 18-21 and 56 22-59.

Many students would have been unable to continue their education were it not for the 1965 amendments to the Social Security Act which extended survivors and dependents insurance benefits to students until their 22nd birthdays. In 1968, that provision resulted in continuing benefits for 470,000 students.

Monthly payments to the family of a worker who dies leaving a widow and two or more children range from $42.50 to $434.40 a month, depending on the worker's average earnings under Social Security. Payments to the young family of a worker who dies at an early age could total as much as $85,000.00 to $100,000.00.

Pelkey concluded by saying, approximately 90 per cent of Americans 65 and over were either receiving cash benefits or would have been eligible for such benefits if they retired.

Winside

Winside Legionnaires' firing squad and colors plan to leave Winside at 8 a.m. May 30 for with youth programs.

An active 4-H member for 10 years in Perkins County, he graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1953 and completed work on his master's degree from Colorado State University in 1964.

In 1967 Stohler attended the Merrill Palmer Institute in Detroit where he spent two months working with urban low income youth.

Ward says, "With the experience, background and enthusiasm Mr. Stohler brings with him, he should be a real asset to Dixon County and the northeast Nebraska area."

Stohler's newspaper column, "Notes on Youth," is carried in The Wayne Herald.

Nearly Two Million Clarke-McNary Trees Planted by Farmers

Nebraska farmers and ranchers ordered more than 1,850,000 trees through the Clarke-McNary program this year.

Orders were taken from November, 1968 through April, 1969. More than 30 species were available, including tall and medium hardwood trees, shrub species and evergreens. The red cedar tree was again the most popular with more than 1,000,000 orders being taken.

University of Nebraska Extension foresters have just completed shipping trees. Evergreen trees came from Bessey Nursery at the Nebraska National Forest near Halsey. The broad leaf trees were obtained from commercial nurseries in the state.

All of the picking was done by local people with mostly women doing the picking and counting.

The Wayne (Nebr.) Herald, Monday, May 26, 1969

according to Earl Loerch, state forester.

Over half of the trees were picked up at Bessey Nursery at Halsey, by the Soil Conservation Districts and by cooperators who ordered large numbers of these trees. The other half were mailed out parcel post and delivered directly to the mail boxes of the cooperators.

In 1969 either bare root or potted trees were available through the Clarke-McNary program. Orders were taken for some 43,000 evergreen species that came in boxes of 30 potted trees, Loerch reported.

Prices for Clarke-McNary trees were $8.00 plus tax per 100 bare root trees and $6.00 plus tax per 30 potted trees.

The majority of these trees were planted by Nebraska farmers and ranchers for the development of windbreaks to protect farm buildings, feed lots and crop land. The trees planted will protect wildlife and add to the beautification of Nebraska landscapes, the forester explained.

In addition, trees protect from the wind, reduce livestock losses during blizzards, keep the wind from scattering feed, reduce home fuel costs and add to the land's sale value.

Some 5,000 cooperators received trees for planting this year, Loerch concluded.

You need not permit runoff to rob your land of valuable topsoil, the Wakefield office notes. A waterlogged adequately protected with terraces allowed only one ton per acre per year soil loss during this same period. Not only was precious topsoil retained on the land, but flood peaks were reduced 20 times.

For more information regarding soil loss contact the Agricultural Research Service, Post Office Building, Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Nearly 45 million workers throughout the Nation are now covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act—the Federal minimum wage and overtime law.

Changes Being Planned For ASC Loan Program

Changes will be made in the Farm Storage and Drying Equipment Loan Program effective Friday, May 30, according to John H. Mohr, chairman Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee in Wayne County.

The changes are being made in order to slow down the rapid acceleration of the program and reduce government expenditures as an aid in the fight against inflation, Mohr said.

Dixon Co. American Cancer Workers Meet in Allen, Plan 1969 Campaign

The Dixon County chapter of the American Cancer Society met Saturday at the Home Cafe in Allen in preparation for the 1969 cancer crusade.

Richard George, field representative for the area, presented a documentary film, "The Million Club", which gave histories of people who had been cured of cancer.

"Funds which the American Cancer Society receives are used primarily for research to find the causes and cures for cancer and for education so that people can understand more about cancer and realize it can be cured. Anyone who has any of the seven danger signals should see his doctor immediately because early detection is most important," Mrs. Irma Louks, the Dixon County chairman, stated.

"At the present time we have no claim for Looker, Otter Creek or Logan townships," Mrs. Louks pointed out. "We would appreciate any volunteers from these areas."

NEN Livestock Feeders Will Promote Beef, Pork on Monday's Annual Tour

"Eat more meat" may be the slogan of the Northeast Nebraska Livestock Feeders. Plans to publicize the glamour of beef and pork will be made at the close of the Feeders Association tour Monday evening, June 2.

The tour will start at the National Livestock and Meat Board, and Paul Johnston, State Feeders Association secretary, will speak to the feeders and help in the planning.

Stockmen will tour three unusual livestock setups earlier in the evening. At 6 p.m., the Jim Gustafson hog plant at Wakefield will open the tour. Jim converted a large grain storage building into a modern farrowing house. He still feeds his bred sows to limit their feed. Much of his equipment he made himself.

The large new Dixon County feeders on Highway 20 north-west of Allen will be visited by the feeders at 7:30. Flowing drinking water, a steam and flake feed processing mill and big feed trucks with mounted electronic scales which can serve several tons of cattle on each trip are among innovations there.

The final stop will be a visit to the Northeast Station near Concord to view the new hog buildings and the cattle research cards. A light lunch will precede the meat promotion discussion there.

All stockmen are welcome to join the tour at any stop. Planning the tour are the Dixon County directors of the Association: Tom Gustafson, Merlino Holm, Virgil Ekberg and Kenneth Schroeder along with the new county agent, Roy Stohler.

Police were called when the burglar alarm at First National Bank sounded, first on Wednesday and again on Thursday. The mechanism was thought to have been triggered by a malfunction in its circuit.

The inner-city 4-H program in Nebraska is attempting to assist the nation in fulfilling its promise of guarding the rights of the individual, ensuring his personal development and enlarging his opportunity.

The Nebraska 4-H youth opportunity program reached approximately 500-600 different youth during 1968. These youth were residents of the areas designated as the poverty communities within the cities of Lincoln and Omaha. The program included group learning experiences revolving around club organization, tours, camps, field days, cultural visitations, community-wide achievements and group recreational programs. The program also included individual learning experiences revolving around individual consultations, project activities in areas such as foods, clothing, woodworking, wildlife conservation, entomology and electricity and in personal recognition or achievement.

The leadership for these activities was provided during the school year by over 150 different volunteer college students from the University of Nebraska in Lincoln, University of Nebraska in Omaha and Region University in Omaha. The leadership during the summer was provided through the college work-study program of those three universities. Seventeen college students were employed, trained and placed in the two cities. They were called 4-H program aides and given the responsibility to develop and conduct volunteer youth educational programs with the youth in their respective areas of assignment.

recognition, social acceptance, peer interaction, individuality, avenues of creativity and personal satisfaction, individual learning is a reality. These learning, in turn, create attitudes and skills that make individuals who are more responsible and understanding of their roles in society.

The 4-H'ers are young and of an impressionable age. If responsible social attitudes and skills can be instilled now, the future will yield them a better chance at keeping pace with changing times.

4-H'ers and leaders are not the only ones who experience learning. Community organizations have realized the challenge of working with disadvantaged youth. Parents and other residents of target communities have recognized 4-H as the avenue for exposing their children to society. They have seen the results of 4-H work. They have approved and now are anxious to contribute to the continuing of 4-H programs. With these ambitious attitudes, more learning experiences are being created.

The Nebraska 4-H program is adaptable and available to all youth in the state with projects and activities that meet the specific needs and interest of the individual differences found in the youth involved. The program appears to appeal to an ever-growing circle. It has shown evidence of ability to grow and involve others. It must be given room to expand, and by doing change and develop citizens from all levels of economic, racial and cultural environments. As the circle grows, the accomplishments grow and personal growth and development is experienced by those involved.

A study of the hard-core unemployed hired by General Motors over an eight month period showed that their rate of retention on the job was virtually the same as for all other employees. Of the 21,000 disadvantaged persons hired, 67.6 percent stayed on the job. This compares to 67.8 percent for other workers added to the payroll during the same period.

Whether or not Billy learns how to take a chokey pie or Jane learns how to ball a hook for billiards is beside the point in this program. What does matter is that they become involved in social intermingling with club leaders and fellow club members.

Through the cooperation of community centers, churches, schools, community councils, community action programs, civic groups, colleges and the County Extension Service, more than 600 youths from the inner-city have been involved in this program.

Utilizing the philosophy of "learning by thinking and doing," advisors, leaders and members are provided with many unique experiences. The most important consideration is an understanding of different cultural, educational and racial backgrounds. Along with this understanding must come the ability of recognizing and learning to accept individuals for what they are-whether of a different color, different language, way of expression or different code of morals.

Working with the minority and disadvantaged youth brings all involved to the core of the tensions in our urban communities and the recognition that all are human beings. Each has social, psychological, emotional and physical needs and desires. As these needs are satisfied, tensions are eased, and there are less opportunities for feelings of inadequacy.

Through 4-H work, the basic needs of the 4-H members were touched upon. The fulfillment of the need for accomplishment,

Memorial Day

*A Time
to Pause...*

to Remember*

Once again, on Memorial Day, we pause to recall, with respect and much pride, the selfless sacrificers of our brave and valiant departed heroes. Gallantly, they marched forth, united as one in defense of freedom. And with unflinching courage and unyielding devotion to cause, they gave their lives so that our precious heritage of liberty might endure. Lest their deeds be forgotten or ignoble, and their sacrifices be in vain, let us all now resolve to be equally steadfast and courageous in preserving that which has been so heroically achieved. Let us dedicate ourselves to ever cherish and uphold that priceless freedom, which is the legacy of those whose memory we honor today.
