

200 High School Grads To Invade WS Monday

What's college all about? Some of the answers will be given to freshmen planning to enter Wayne State this fall when they attend one of the orientation days. Director of Admissions Jim Hummel has arranged.

Nearly 200 freshmen are scheduled to visit the campus Monday, and others will come July 2, 8, 11 or 17. About 575 have responded to invitations so far. Another orientation day for transfer students is planned for July 24.

Most of the students will bring at least one parent, if experience from past years is any indicator, Hummel said. And both students and parents will ask questions about all aspects of college life.

Set to answer questions are Dean of Students Donald Merriman, Associate Dean Vivienne Brady, members of the Student Senate and the faculty.

Students attending will take an English test, and the result may give them the option to bypass the freshman composition course.

The incoming students also will meet faculty members of the academic division in which they have expressed interest, and they will, after conferring with a professor, enroll in first-term courses.

'Odd Couple' Will Open Tonight

"The Odd Couple" to open tonight (Thursday) at 8 p.m., begins Shore Acres Summer Theatre's second season in Sioux City.

Once again the Wayne State Players will make up the company with Dr. Helen L. Russell, Professor of Theatre at WSU, directing. Elaine Bess, Omaha, will assist.

"The Odd Couple," the hilarious comedy by Neil Simon, is the story of two divorced bachelors with opposing personalities who become roommates. The situations that arise from their

Dedication of Church Sunday At Wakefield

Members of the Evangelical Covenant Church, Wakefield, are planning dedication services Saturday and Sunday for their new church building on the corner of Winter and Eighth Streets, according to the Rev. Fred Jansson.

Dr. Milton B. Engebretson, president of the Evangelical Covenant Church of America, Chicago, and the Rev. T. W. Danielson, Sibley, Kan., will be guest speakers for the dedication services. The Rev. Danielson is superintendent of the Midwest Regional Conference of the Covenant Church.

Dr. Engebretson will speak Saturday evening following a 7 p.m. banquet in the new structure and will speak again in the 10:30 a.m. Sunday service. There will be no Sunday school sessions, according to Pastor Jansson, but members of the Sunday school will be attending the morning worship service.

A dedication service will be

Voters May Resolve State Aid Question

Whether non-public schools receive state aid may be left up to the voters to decide unless the state senators change their minds.

The current status of this controversial bill are discussed in the "Capital News" column on the editorial page of this issue. Also explained is a move to get the legislature to meet annually.

City Council Hears Of Petition Progress

Voters in Wayne will apparently have a chance to decide whether to build a large city complex out of the present fire hall.

Bob Garhart, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Task Force, reported to the city council Tuesday night that enough signatures would probably be obtained on the petitions calling for a bond election by today (Thursday) so the legal gears can start turning which would require an election on July 24. About 100 signatures are needed on the petition.

The bond election would be for $138,000. This and the $30,000 the city has left over from the bond election last year would go to adding to and remodeling the present fire hall into a city complex housing the city clerk, fire department and police.

Sid Magdanz, city engineer, showed the city council some of the preliminary prints of the

Old Settlers Parade to Have Holiday Theme

Theme for the 1969 Old Settlers annual parade July 24 at Winside will be "holidays," according to David Warmemunde, parade chairman. Churches will have first choice in using holy day themes for their floats.

The Old Settlers picnic has been set for July 24 with a children's parade at 10 a.m. and the main parade at 11 a.m.

Wayne County Old Settlers' association held its first reunion in 1901, when everyone was invited to take the day off for a picnic. Families from all parts of the county assembled at Bressler's grove a mile north and a mile west of Wayne.

Plans were announced for holding the picnic annually. In 1918 Winside invited the association to hold its reunion there each year which it has done for the past 51 years.

Over Two Inches of Rain Falls on City Wednesday

The skies opened up about midnight Tuesday and dumped just over two inches of rain on the city in about four hours, bringing the total rainfall for the month to over seven inches.

Farmers driving to Wayne early Wednesday morning unable to do any field work for nearly a week, saw the results of the past three days' heavy rainfall—fields flooded, roads overflowing, Logan Creek out of its banks in several places and city airport flooded for the first time in memory.

Wayne could consider itself fairly lucky—Norfolk recorded 4.23 inches of rain, Laurel had 3.25, Winside had 2.43 and Wakefield had 2.31, all in about five hours Wednesday morning. Unofficial reports indicated that up to 3.50 inches of rain fell about 10 miles west of Wayne.

Although moisture was needed, farmers were probably hoping this summer wouldn't turn out like 1967 when rain fell almost daily, keeping the farmers out of the fields for several weeks during the busy time of the year.

Wayne has already recorded 7.24 inches of rain this month—4.94 falling during the first three days this week. And the Norfolk Weather Bureau predicts a 10 per cent chance for more rain today (Thursday).

Repair crews from the Wayne County Public Power District started working on isolated power outages about 1 a.m. Wednesday morning. Manager C. W. Comstock reported that two or three poles were struck by lightning during the storm.

Workers at the city light plant reported that there were several power outages in the city during the storm and at least one transformer burned out.

Half-hour readings from area towns: Lyons—5.5, Euhling—5.5, Heemer—3.7, Pilger—2.00, Pender—1.55, Emerson—2.01, Stanton—2.16, Pierce—3.46.

Middle School Head Chosen For Workshop

Loren Park, principal at Wayne's Middle School, was one of 400 outstanding educators from throughout the United States selected to participate in the fourth annual Institute for Development of Educational Activities, Inc., Fellows Program.

He will attend a one-week session dealing with the mounting problem of student activism and curriculum relevancy schedule for Mills College in Oakland, Calif., July 6 through 12.

The 400 educators are chosen from among thousands of applications submitted each year.

The professional workshops are held at four different locations in the country. They are unique in the educational field in providing both the opportunity to hear recognized authorities speak and the opportunity for interaction with other professionals.

Wayne VFW Men Named All-Staters At Kearney Meet

Roy Sommerfeld, post commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Wayne, was named an all-state post commander at the 49th annual Department of Nebraska VFW convention in Kearney last Saturday and Sunday.

The honor was bestowed on Sommerfeld and only 10 other men for such outstanding achievements as increasing membership and participating in various VFW projects and activities.

There are about 40 post commanders in the state eligible for the honor.

Named an all-state membership chairman during the Kearney meeting was Walter Chinn, Jim Grashorn was named an all-state quartermaster.

Sommerfeld received a diamond lapel pin and a VFW hat.

Chinn and Grashorn received ruby lapel pins.

Also attending the state convention were Merle Whitney, Norb Darguz, Mel Wells and Al Lamphear. Mrs. Roy Sommerfeld and Mrs. Merle Whitney also attended.

Elected new state commander was Jim Hurt of Creighton. Marian Whitaker of Sidney was named senior vice commander and Bob Mahoney of Omaha was named junior vice commander.

County Schools Get Board Accreditation

The public schools in Wayne and Winside received notification last week that they have been accredited for the 1969-70 school year by the State Board of Education.

A school must meet all of the Board's requirements, such as adequate staff, required courses and so on, before it can receive accreditation.

$143,344 in law enforcement aid sought—Regional Crime Group Sifts Requests

Eight northeast Nebraska counties and their towns have applied for a total of $143,344.25 in action grant funds to assist in law enforcement and criminal justice in the area, according to Norris Weible, secretary of the Regional Crime Commission. Some $75,051 will be made available by the federal government and the balance of around $68,293 will come from matching funds supplied by the eight counties and their towns.

Weible reports that in a meeting in Norfolk last Thursday 13 members from seven of the eight counties making up the regional crime commission examined the applications for funds and placed them on a priority basis.

Following are seven out of 20 requests which were ranked highest on the priority list:

—No. 1, Madison's application for funds to purchase one two-way radio mobile unit which will operate on the sheriff's frequency. Total cost will be $800, of which $320 will be provided by the city's general fund.

—No. 2, Newman Grove's request for $2,460 to purchase one transistorized solid-state 100-watt mobile unit and one frequency monitor on 42.46 megacycles. Newman Grove will provide in-kind matching funds by use of the city owned police car. Matching funds will equal 58 per cent of the total grant.

—No. 3, Stanton's request for funds to purchase two two-way radios 39.9 megacycles and two 42.46 megacycle receivers, one for a mobile unit and one for a base station. Stanton will provide 40 per cent of the $2,450 total cost in matching funds, or $980, from its general fund and use of a city owned police car.

—No. 4, Norfolk's application for $1,600 to provide a base station-remote control antenna and cable and 16 crystals for communication equipment. This project will enable Norfolk police to install a new radio frequency for local police use. The local government share is $640 out of city funds.

—No. 5, Norfolk's application for funds which will enable the police department to have one additional incoming telephone line added to its existing system and two extension phones to each of two offices and one phone to the dispatcher's desk. The project also will enable the department to monitor and record all messages on the two prime lines upon which complaints and emergency calls are received. Total project cost is $2,160; the local share, 40 per cent or $864, will be provided out of the city's general fund.

—No. 6, Randolph's request for $6,347.40 to purchase a mobile radio unit, base unit, antenna tower, line kit, base station housing and cost of installation, of which the city would pay 40 per cent or $2,538.96.

—No. 7, Pilger's application for a grant to purchase two 100-watt 39.9 megacycle and 42.46 megacycle two-way radios and a police car at a total cost of $4,692. Pilger would provide $1,876 of this amount from city funds.

An application for funds by the Wayne Police Department with which to aid in constructing an office and jail facilities was put in fifteenth place on the priority list.

According to the Wayne police application, the city presently has 3,010 square feet housing the police and fire department and plans are to construct an additional 7,120 square feet of floor space for use by the police, fire department and city clerk. The police department's share of the building will be 2,352

Tour, open house slated Tuesday

Unique Swine-Activated Waterers Are Feature of NEN Station Research Center

A new concept in swine-activated waterers for confined pork production, developed in West Germany, is one of the innovative features of the new swine research complex at the University of Nebraska Northeast Station near Concord.

Visitors at the open house and dedication of the Swine Research Center next Tuesday can see the watering system featuring "self-service" drinking taps for the feeder pigs in two of the six finishing units.

The tap mechanism requires the pig to put the device directly in its mouth before a flow of water is started, explains Bob Fritschen, area swine specialist in charge of the center.

This cuts down on water waste, helps maintain a sanitary environment in the complete confinement units and provides a constant source of fresh water whenever the pigs need a drink, Fritschen commented.

Fritschen decided to give the system a try after reading about it in a swine publication. When the equipment arrived, instructions for installation were in German, he commented. Fritschen enlisted the aid of Ernie Wrieth, Concord resident who can speak and read German, and later a set of English language instructions were obtained.

The three modified open front buildings in the complex are equipped with circulation, frost-proof watering systems, Fritschen said. This system involves hollow bowls through which water circulates. The water is circulated continuously, and if electricity is shut off or stops for any reason, the water automatically drains into a pit, preventing freeze-ups and possible damage to the system during the winter.

The sixth finishing building, one of the concrete fill-up structures, is equipped with conventional waterers.

The watering systems are only one of several variables being evaluated in housing and management studies being carried out at the Swine Research Center, Fritschen explained.

Variations in construction of the buildings themselves, differences in the ratios of slotted to solid floors for waste disposal, different ventilation systems and other practices are being examined in closed, open front and modified open front buildings, he said.

Public tours of the Research Center will be conducted from 4 to 6 p.m. Tuesday. Visitors are asked to check in at Haskell Hall 1111 (Northeast Station headquarters), where groups will be assembled to tour the facility.

A free pork barbecue will be held shortly after 6 p.m., followed by a brief speaking program at 7 p.m. Additional tours will be given following the talks until dark.

GROWN-UPS HAVE FUN TOO: Students in the Wayne State workshops on language arts got an assignment from Dr. Lyle Skov to dramatize some story from children's literature. The results went on stage in Ramsey Theater Tuesday, and the students—most of them teachers demonstrating what they might do with children in school—had more fun, if anything, than kids would. Picture is one cast costumed for an "original demonstration" entitled "How Porcupine Got His Quills"—from left, Mrs. Adeline Malmberg, Norfolk, playing the educated bear; Mrs. Mavis Knutson, Niobrara, playing a squirrel whose long long tail is the envy of the porcupine; Miss Mable Fredrickson, Lincoln, and Mrs. Joyce Engaugser, Norfolk, garbed as a bee. Among other skits were a shadow sheet show, a large box movie, a chalk talk, a shadowbox, a puppet show, and a flannel board story.

Youth Injured In Auto-Truck Mishap Monday

Lorence Johnson, 18, of rural Wayne was hospitalized Monday night in Wayne following a car-truck accident two and one-half miles west of Wayne Monday evening. The accident occurred around 6:20 p.m. according to State Trooper J. L. Turgeon of South Sioux City.

Johnson was westbound on Highway 35 in a 1959 Chevrolet and was making a left turn onto a county road, according to Turgeon, when struck on the left side of the vehicle by a truck being driven by Richard A. Busskohl of Norfolk, also westbound. The resultant collision knocked the Johnson auto into a water-filled ditch.

Trooper Turgeon reported that Busskohl said he was attempting to pass a pickup and was unable to see the Johnson auto in front of the pickup due to the pickup's stock rack.

The patrolman said he arrived

Jeanine Lundahl Married Saturday In Pipestone, Minnesota Ceremony

Jeanine Bernice Lundahl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Lundahl, Wakefield, and Dr. William Howard Olson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fannie Olson, Janesboro, Minn., were united in marriage Saturday afternoon in a double ring ceremony at First Lutheran Church, Pipestone, Minn.

The Rev. Robert Sorenson officiated. Vocal soloists were Allen Opland, Pipestone, and Gail Schrover, Pipestone. Mary Opland played a flute solo and Paul Hanson played the trumpet. Organist was Mrs. C. W. Carlson, Omaha.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a floor length gown of white ribbon silk over lace styled with Sabrina neckline, long tapered sleeves and full silk organza chapel length train attached at the waist. Her elbow length veil of imported silk illusion fell from a crown of Venice lace, and she carried a cascade of white roses.

Mrs. Glenn Lundahl, Omaha, was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Richard Larson, Austin, Minn., Mrs. Paul Hanson, Chicago, Ill., and Florence Iere, Pipestone. They wore floor length pink linen gowns with A-line skirts, empire waists and scalloped necklines trimmed with velvet ribbon. They wore matching picture hats and carried basket bouquets of pink and white daisies.

Rev. Hans Lillejord, Brown-ton, Minn., was best man and groomsmen were Dr. William Yseth, Pipestone, Dr. Harold Seim, Sioux Falls, S. D., and Dr. David Nessel, Rochester, Minn.

Robert Morgan, Pipestone, Rev. Paul Hanson, Chicago, Ill., Dr. Daryl Williamson, Minneapolis, and William Burkholder, Pipestone, were ushers. Tom and Gregg Lundahl, nephews of the bride, were candlelighters.

Three hundred guests attended the reception at the church parlors following the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Peterson, Pipestone, were hosts. Mrs. Allen Opland, Pipestone, registered guests and Mrs. Harold Oberg, Wayne, and Mrs. Keith von Busch, Minneapolis, arranged gifts.

Mrs. Laurence Hanson, Wakefield, cut the cake, which was served by Mrs. Frank Frahm, Pipestone. Mrs. Melvin Larson, Allen, and Mabelle Lundahl, Brooklyn, N. Y., poured. Margaret Sweetman, New Tim, Minn., and Mrs. Don Ehlers, Pipestone, served punch. Waitresses were the girls sextet of the First Lutheran Church, Pipestone. The altar girls served.

For her going away ensemble the bride chose a yellow oot dress ensemble with matching accessories complemented by her white daisy corsage. The couple will make their home at 910 Third Avenue Southwest, Pipestone.

The bride, a graduate of Gustavus Adolphus College, St. Peter, Minn., has been teaching elementary music in the Pipestone School system. The bridegroom, who was graduated from St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn., and from the University of Minnesota School of Dentistry, is in private practice in Pipestone.

Wedding Rites for Cleveland, Wehrer Held at St. Mary's

Arrangements of gladiolas and carnations decorated the altar of St. Mary's Catholic Church Saturday morning, June 21, for the marriage of Sharon Ann Cleveland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Cleveland, to Jerry Wehrer, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. G. Wehrer, which was solemnized in double ring rites at 10:30 a.m. by the Rev. Paul Bergley. Mrs. Jean Nuss sang and played the accompaniment.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a toe length A-line gown of organza and Venise lace threaded with marine and daisy motifs and styled with empire bodice, high Victorian neckline, long bishop sleeves and court length train attached at the waist. The illusion veil was accented by silk leaves and fresh flowers and she carried a white wicker basket with an assortment of flowers.

Jacqueline Stevens of Omaha, the honor attendant, and bridesmaids Judy Wehrer and Cindy Cleveland of Lincoln, wore alike frocks of maize karate A-line demi-fitted skimmers with self trains. Venise lace encircled the boat necklines which extended into a deep V-back. Their forward star headpieces were of Swiss braid and Venise appliques. They carried baskets similar to the bride's without the roses.

Serving Mr. Wehrer as best man was Doug Manske of Minneapolis, Minn., and groomsmen were Doug Hanson of Carroll and Chuck Thompson. Seating the guests were Larry Hanson and Terry Lutz. James Cleveland, Lincoln, was ringbearer.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Cleveland chose a dark gold dress with matching accessories. Mother of the groom wore a coral knit dress with white accessories. Both wore corsages of tea roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Cleveland, Lincoln, were hosts to the 200 guests attending the reception at Wayne Country Club immediately following the ceremony. Mrs. Chuck Thompson was in charge of the registration book, and Mrs. Doug Hanson, Mrs. Glenn Nichols and Peggy Vollers arranged the

The bride chose a white rayon pique sleeveless dress with black accessories as her going away ensemble.

After a wedding trip to the Ozarks, the couple will reside at 117 Blaine Street, Wayne.

The bride was graduated from Wayne High School, attended Wayne State College and is employed at Mines Jewelry, Wayne. The bridegroom was graduated from Wayne High School, attended Wayne State College, served in the Army for two years and works for the Wayne REA.

Linda Hansen Wed To Garry Whiting, Area Agronomist

St. Cecilia United Methodist Church was the scene of the candlelight wedding June 14 of Linda Hansen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hansen, Scotia, and Garry Whiting, Concord, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Whiting, North Loup.

The Rev. Leonard Clark officiated. Nichole Keller was vocal soloist, accompanied by Mrs. M. G. Williams.

The bride, given in marriage by her father was attended by Cynthia Hansen, her sister, who served as maid of honor, Ginger Bridge, Grand Island, Susan Boldt, Minneapolis, Minn., and Darlene King, North Loup.

Charlie Kriewald Jr., Ord, was honor attendant for the bridegroom and groomsmen were Larry Whiting, Max Whiting and Floyd Whiting, North Loup. Ushers were Bob Sevenker, Olathe, Kan., Galet Hansen and Russell Coufal, Scotia.

Kimberly Iverson, Grand Island, was flowergirl and Doug

Hansen, Kearney, was ringbearer.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of re-embroidered Venise lace and sheer organza with a Sabrina neckline, long sleeves tapering to bridal points, crescent waistline and controlled skirt flowing into a cathedral train. She carried a cascade of pink roses centered with a white orchid.

Her attendants wore sleeveless floor length gowns of shell pink tulle with rolled collars at the high rise necklines and panel trains. Their matching net headpieces were caught to forward clusters of flowers and they carried white mums with pink sweetheart roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Williams, North Loup, hosted the reception for 184 which followed the ceremony at the church. Assisting with the reception were Mrs. Madge Van Skike, Scotia, Mrs. Gene Beck, Cheyenne, Wyo., Virginia Iverson, Grand Island, Sheryl Russell and Carolyn Russell, Delorus Dierberger, Grand Island, arranged gifts.

City, Mo., and Grand Island School of Business. The bridegroom attended Central Nebraska Vocational Technical School and is an agronomist at the University of Nebraska Northeast Experimental Station, Concord. The couple toured Nebraska and are now residing in Concord.

S. Nissen-Rogers Wedding Held at Redeemer Church

Shirlee Nissen and Richard Randall Rogers exchanged vows in an 8 p.m. candlelight ceremony Saturday at Redeemer Lutheran Church, Wayne. Parents of the couple are Mrs. Lars Nissen, Wayne, and Mr. and Mrs. John G. Rogers, Le Claire, Iowa.

The Rev. S. K. de Freese officiated at the double ring rites. Gordon Nedergard sang "The Cause" and "Wedding Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Bill Kugler.

The bride appeared on the arm of her brother, Robert Nissen, wearing a floor length sheath of Chantilly lace featuring long tapered sleeves with wrist points, a circular chapel length train of lace and taffeta attached at the shoulders and a sequin detailed portrait neckline. Forward petals of Chantilly lace accented with a soft organza bow held her elbow length bouffant veil, and she carried blue carnations and white sweetheart roses.

Honor attendants were Mrs. Daniel Gustafson, Wayne, and Gary Bemiss, West Union, Iowa. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Nissen, Wayne, and Marjane Hansen and Sandra Hansen, Omaha. Groomsmen were John P. Rogers, Davenport, Iowa, Lance Rogers, Le Claire, Iowa, and Gerald Laetke, Omaha, Mitchell

Nissen and Dan Gustafson, Wayne, ushers; Gary Hansen, Carroll, Tom Nissen, Wayne, and James Rogers, Davenport, lighted candles. Pamela Nissen, Wayne, was flowergirl.

The bride's attendants wore gowned identically in light turquoise floor length dresses of sheer georgette satin over satin styled with lace bodices and flowing wattleau back panels. Each carried a colonial nosegay of blue and white pom poms.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Nissen chose a beige dress with blue accessories. The mother of the bridegroom wore aqua with pink accessories. Both had pink rose bud corsages.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Nissen were hosts to the reception at the church immediately following the ceremony. Mrs. Elnor Cook, Mrs. Louie Ambrose and Mrs. Henry Hoffman cut and served the cakes, assisted by Mike Nissen. Mrs. Harvey Henningsen poured and Mrs. Roger Lutz and Wanda Hofeldt served punch. Waitresses were Debra Cook, Denise Cook and Kathy Nelson. Mrs. Stanley H. Hansen was dining room hostess.

Glorie Nissen registered guests and Mrs. Don Cook, Mrs. Richard Cook and Janet Hansen arranged gifts.

For her going away ensemble the bride chose a mint green dress complemented by her white rose corsage.

The bride, a 1964 Wayne High School graduate, attended WSC where she was also employed three years. She will be a student at the University of Iowa this fall.

The bridegroom was graduated from WSC in 1968 and is teaching Industrial Education at West High, Iowa City. The couple's address is Rural Route 2, Oxford, Iowa.

Decatur, Whiting Sluggers Leading NEN League Race

Dan Sears of Decatur has joined Denny Turnure of Whiting as co-leaders in the Northeast Nebraska League batting race. Both are hitting .556. In third spot is Randy Olson of Whiting with an even .500.

The league will be assured of a new batting champion. Art Oordt of Whiting has signed a contract with the Chicago Cubs organization and has been assigned to Huron in the Northern League. Oordt was hitting .538 at the time of his departure.

Ron Amick of Lawton has the most hits, eleven, and shares the lead in runs scored, seven, with Ev Bradshaw of Homer. Bob Jacobsen of Homer has four doubles, and Denny Turnure of Whiting has rapped five triples. Four hitters - Randy Olson of Wakefield, Gerald Jacobsen of Homer, Gary Carrels of Homer and Oordt - have each hit two home runs.

In pitching, Dale Martinson of Lawton is 3-0, one victory more than Mark Brosamle of Whiting and Gene Gooden of Wayne.

Plainview Tourney Nears; Wayne Meet Set for July 19-20

Next area golf meet scheduled will be at Plainview this coming Sunday. Tee-off begins at 7:30 in the morning.

Prizes will be given to the top four winners in all flights plus a medalist prize. There will be medal play in the championship flight, match play in all other flights. Also included will be flights for first year players and beginners.

The annual Wayne amateur golf tournament, originally scheduled for July 12 and 13, has been moved to July 19 and 20 because of a conflict with the Yankton tournament.

Whiting Battles To 5-3 Victory Over Wakefield

Held to only one hit in five innings by Wakefield's Randy Jacobson, Whiting came back from a 2-0 deficit to knock off Wakefield, 5-3, last Thursday night. The win kept the Strong Whiting squad on top of the heap in the Northeast Nebraska League.

Whiting went into a 3-2 lead in the fifth inning when Tom Flynn slapped out a single to drive in two runs. Whiting added another run in the seventh stanza and one in the ninth.

Wakefield's Gregg Guinn tallied two hits and two RBIs and Ron Halm connected for two hits as Wakefield just edged Whiting in hits, 7-6.

In other NEN League action last week, Remsen rolled over Ponca for their first win of the season.

Fred Bleil had two doubles and five runs batted in as he sparked the Remsen squad. Dick Lenertz, aided by Daryl Beckman's homer, tossed a four-hitter to gain the victory.

At Decatur, Homer came from behind with a five-run fourth inning to keep Decatur winless. Although Decatur out-hit Homer, 11-8, four errors in the fourth contributed to their downfall.

All Sunday night games were rained out. Next action for the league is this coming Sunday when Wayne travels to Homer, Wakefield plays at Remsen, Ponca at Decatur and Whiting at Lawton.

The Whiting-Lawton and the Wayne-Homer clashes should provide the most excitement since those four teams lead the league, in that order.

Winside Hardballers Drop Two at Laurel

Winside Midgets and Legion dropped two games to host Laurel last week. The Midgets came off the field 4-6 losers, the Legion 8-4 losers.

Laurel tallied six runs on six hits in the five inning Midget tilt. Winside tallied seven hits and committed the only two errors in the game. Schroeder was credited with the win, Soden with the loss.

In the second game, Laurel rapped out seven hits and scored eight runs while holding Winside to four scores and five hits.

Pitching for the Winside squad were Cleve Leland and Deek Schroeder and George handled the mound duties for Laurel.

In the second game, at 8 p.m., Team I meets Team II. Standings in the league:

Team	Won	Lost
Team III	3	0
Team I	2	1
Team IV	1	2
Team II	0	3

Annual July 4th Horse Show Set

Invitations have been sent out to about 25 saddle clubs in Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota asking them to attend the seventh annual Wayne Saddle Club horse show the Fourth of July at the Wayne County fairgrounds.

Marlyn Koch of rural Wayne said he expects about 150 to 175 individual contestants to turn out for the show and about 400 or 500 spectators. That is about the kind of turnout the show has had the past couple years, he noted.

The show will start at 10 in the morning. If rain forces postponement, it will be held Sunday, July 6.

Seventy-five per cent of the entry fees will be returned to the first four winners in each event. Entry fees will be divided on a 25, 20, 15 and 10 per cent basis.

First place winner in each event will also receive a trophy and the next three finishers will receive ribbons.

The 21 performance and halter events include pole bending, western reining, junior and senior hat race, pick-up race and key hole race.

Admission price is $.50; children under 12 will be admitted free. Lunch will be served on the grounds.

Further information can be obtained by contacting Marlyn Koch or Jack Beeson of Wayne.

Pender Rider Named All-Around Cowboy

Mark Finsminger of Pender was named all-around cowboy at the State High School Rodeo Sunday at Harrison.

Finsminger also finished first in the Boys cutting and second in the calf roping events during the rodeo, earning him the right to compete in both events during the national high school rodeo in August in San Antonio.

Hoskins Drivers Win 2 Firsts at Yankton

Gene Wagner and Gene Brudigan, both from Hoskins, each took a first place in Friday's stock car racing on the Albion oval. Wagner raced to a win in the second heat and Brudigan in the C Feature. Wagner also took third in the A Feature and Brudigan took fourth in the first heat.

In racing on the Yankton oval Wednesday night of last week, Brudigan was the only area driver to pull down a first place, winning the second heat. He also came in fifth in the A Feature.

Gene Wagner raced to second place finishes in both the A Feature and the first heat. Gerald Bruggeman took second in the third heat and sixth in the A Feature.

Action at Norfolk's Riviera Raceway was rained out again Sunday night.

Wayne Takes Three Diamond Tilts from Hoskins Friday Night

Wayne treated host Hoskins roughly last Friday night, coming off with victories in all three games on the Hoskins diamond.

The Wayne girls soundly trounced their Hoskins counterparts in the softball game, 30 to 5. Strong hitters for the Wayne squad were M. de Freese with three hits in three at bats, G. Fitch with four hits in six at bats and G. Hix with three hits in five at bats. Wayne batters tallied 23 hits in the contest.

Hoskins came up with nine hits—two each by Peters and Graves.

In the baseball tilts, Wayne's youngsters knocked off the Hoskins squad 5 to 4 in the first game, 11 to 3 in the second game.

Wayne had to come from behind in the first game when Hoskins scored four runs in the second inning to go in front 4 to 2. Wayne tallied two runs in the third inning to tie the game and then came up with the winning run in the fourth inning.

Winning pitcher P. Malleffe relieved D. Hix in the third inning and tallied five strike outs, gave

Stringer Empty Lately? Listen to the Master

Are you one of those fishermen who comes home with an empty stringer while your neighbor always catches his limit?

If so, you have a pretty lucky neighbor, according to Howard Wiegers, University of Nebraska Extension wildlife specialist. "It has been said that 95 per cent of the fish caught are taken by five per cent of the fishermen."

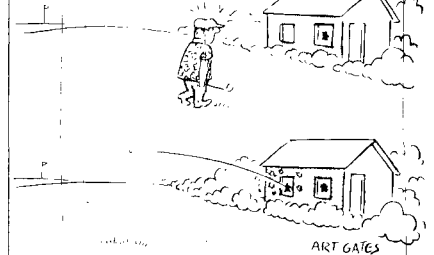

Fishing is a simple act, but catching fish is not, according to Wiegers. "The really big difference between a successful fisherman and an empty-handed one is experience."

Wiegers said a common misconception is that as long as there is water, fish are automatically present. "Some bodies of water cannot support fish if properties of the water are incompatible with the physiology of the fish. Bullheads and carp can tolerate pollution, but trout and bass can not."

Some people don't know where to find fish either. "Fish in a pond are like cattle in a pasture," he said, "they won't be scattered all over. The fish will be grouped much as cattle are, in shallow weed beds to feed or resting in deeper water."

Every species of fish has its own peculiar habits. For instance, Wiegers said, "the channel catfish is primarily a nighttime bottom feeder. Catfish tend to stay in deep water during the day and move into shallow water at night."

The solution to acquiring a full stringer like your neighbor's depends on your willingness to learn about fish, Wiegers said. "This knowledge can be gained from books, but the best source is a successful angler. Of course fishing secrets aren't always easily obtained, but there are some fishermen, if properly approached, that will tell all."

up no hits and walked none. Hix gave up two hits and four runs in his three stretches on the mound.

Losing pitcher Lienemann gave up four hits, struck out eight and walked two.

Wayne tallied six big runs in the fourth inning in the second round ball game, then added four more in the fifth and one in the seventh as the locals walked by Hoskins, 11-3.

Wayne's hitters tallied seven hits off Bruggeman, including three by pitcher R. Nelson. Hoskins hitters came up with five hits.

Nelson struck out 11, gave up nine free passes to first base in his seven innings. Bruggeman struck out six, walked four.

District 4-H Horse Show May Attract 200 Riders

About 200 4-H members are expected to turn out at the Carroll arena Monday, July 14, for the annual district 4-H horse show. This is the first year the horse show has been scheduled for Wayne County.

The 11 counties belonging to this 4-H district include Burt, Cedar, Cumming, Dakota, Dixon, Knox, Madison, Pierce, Stanton, Thurston and Wayne.

Hosting the event will be the Carroll Saddle Club.

Riders earning either a blue or a purple ribbon in any of the five different performance and timed events will earn the right to compete at the state fair or AK-Sar-Ben. Winners must follow normal entry procedures to enter these shows.

Harold Ingalls, Wayne County agricultural agent, noted that complete yellow entry card and responsibility waiver must be mailed to his office in Wayne along with the entry fee. Entry fee for the first class will be $1 and each succeeding class will be $2.

Ingalls pointed out that horse identification forms 2-97-69 must be brought to the district show by each county agent or his representative and all horses must be identified by these forms by 9:15 a.m. They must be certified by the county agents before horses can be shown.

The show begins at 9:30 in the morning with the following show order:

- Pleasure horses (14 hands and under), girls and boys divisions.
- Pleasure horses (over 14 hands), girls and boys divisions.
- Horsemanship, girls and boys divisions.
- Reining, girls and boys divisions.
- Pole bending, girls and boys divisions.

Omaha Mustangs Sign Two Former WS Grid Stars

The Omaha Mustangs football club has signed two former Wayne State gridgers for the 1969 season. They are Terry Christensen of Fort Dodge, Iowa, and Don Grubaugh of David City.

Both all-conference selections, they were regulars for three of their four Wayne years. Christensen was a bulwark of the offensive line at tackle and also played some defense. Grubaugh played four or five positions - mainly in the defensive backfield, but also at offensive halfback and end. He did most of the placekicking and some punting for two seasons.

Coach John Jermier had strong praise for both, and he tabbed Grubaugh "the most versatile player I ever had."

Meyer, Hepburn Win

Steve Meyer and Jim Hepburn joined forces Saturday afternoon to turn in a 504 series to win the junior bowling action. Coming in second were Monte and Mark Lowe with a 443 series.

Steve Meyer's 141 took honors for high single game, Mark Lowe's 133 took honors for second high.

Ten verified catches of striped bass were recorded by the Game Commission at Lake McConaughy in 1968.

County Fair on Aug. 9. Governor Norbert Tlemann, recent participant in ceremonies kicking off the Cookout King contest to be staged throughout the state this summer, will serve as Honorary Cookout King until the 1969 winner is crowned following a giant cookout contest at the Nebraska State Fair on Sept. 2.

Contestants can compete in one of six events—beef, pork, lamb, poultry, turkey and a novelty class which includes a combination of meat just listed, or meat other than that included in the major classes. Contestants will be judged on the basis of excellence of meat preparation, use of Nebraska quality products, originality of meat cut and showmanship. Each contestant must furnish his own special equipment and supplies.

The contest is open to any male over 16 years of age and a resident of the State of Nebraska. Top contestant in the local contest will receive an award and a chance to compete in the state finals at the Nebraska State Fair in Lincoln.

The winners in each event at the state finals will receive gas grills, and the State Cookout King will receive a self-cleaning gas range.

The statewide contest is sponsored by the Nebraska Blue Flame Gas Association and the I.P.G. Gas Association and the Nebraska Meat Industry in an effort to promote outdoor cookery and the use of Nebraska's quality meat products.

Burialbearers were Roy Korth, Donald Brudigan, William Meier, Wallace Meyer, Marvin Meyer

LOGAN CREEK was out of its banks in several places Wednesday morning, the first time in several years it has happened. This view was taken from just south of the bridge on the south edge of Wayne. Water was pouring heavily into the field in the right foreground.

Grandpa Made This Merry-Go-Round

"I made the merry-go-round in the early thirties when the times were hard," recalled Tom Thompson of Allen Thursday during a visit in his daughter's home two miles east of Wakefield. His daughter, Mrs. Robert Miner, easily remembers when she played on the homebuilt merry-go-round as a small girl. Now the unique playground equipment is a favorite with the three grandchildren and their friends.

Granddad Thompson spent many years doing mechanical work and now farms northwest of Allen. Making "things" has always been a hobby. His creations are many, such as an attractive swinging gate made from iron wheels now located in his daughter's yard. Flower planters made from the teeth of an old hayrake and several made from old hot water tanks are other evidences of Thompson's creative abilities. The merry-go-round, which was originally made for his own youngsters, measures nine feet in diameter and is made up of two manure spreader wheels for a base, center bearings and a hub from a Hupmobile car, Model T Ford fender braces, and the seats are running boards from old Hupmobiles.

About one year ago the Miners moved the merry-go-round from Granddad's place to their farm home where the youngsters and their friends can enjoy it daily.

Jerry Miner described the performance of the old but reliable equipment with "It goes like crazy man!"

"Ah, the fun of being a youth on a summer day, especially when grandpa is around!"

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

You may not agree with an editorial — but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

Why Die on the Fourth of July?

It is Monday morning as this is being written and I have just read about a young couple in their early twenties, married only a few hours, who were killed in a horrible traffic accident. Officers investigating the accident blamed their deaths on the other driver.

"That's terrible," we say and then read something else.

The Fourth of July, a national holiday, will be celebrated in approximately another week. A question each person in the U. S. might ask himself is "Why die on the Fourth of July?"

Undoubtedly, some of those fearful that the U. S. astronauts will not make it to the moon and back in mid-July will themselves be killed instead, only on earth, while driving on a level dry highway.

In this age of computers, statistics bore us. So what if 55,300 people died in auto wrecks in 1968? What is it to me if 4,400,000 more were injured?

In a nation where the accent is on youth we hardly note that one third of the drivers involved in fatal accidents during 1968 were under 25 years of age.

More than half of the deaths occurred during the hours of darkness and 40 per cent of the deaths occurred on weekends. Perhaps you think, "So what? I wasn't involved in any of them?"

Our 1968 national daily "kill" was over 150 human beings whose bodies were mangled, torn and smashed by unimaginable forces while riding in crashing automobiles. Were any of them your friends? Several of them were acquaintances of mine and the loss is great.

As I write these words and as your eyes scan them, we feel very sure that our names will not be listed among the fatalities over Independence Day. But will we survive our own driving skill, or lack of it, and that of the oncoming driver?

The newlyweds mentioned earlier undoubtedly had everything in the world to live for, but it all ended in a few seconds. Would you just shrug your shoulders and say "Isn't that awful" had they been your family members?

Over 150 human beings had breakfast this morning.....for the final time. Some of them will have lunch and some of them dinner but none of them will sleep in their beds tonight. Instead, their bodies will be in mortuaries throughout the country. Families will weep behind drawn drapes. The same thing will happen tomorrow and the next day after that.

Then will come the Fourth of July, on a Friday, and the National Safety Council predicts one of the bloodiest weekends this summer.

Take extra caution when driving, will you? Why die on the Fourth of July. — MMW.

Race with Catastrophe

It seems that many agree that the U. S. postal service is functioning in a state of near crisis, raising the question as to whether any serious efforts are being made to revamp the operating methods of the Post Office Department, which former Postmaster General O'Brien referred to as a "race with catastrophe".

Change in a system which has remained basically the same for a hundred years is going to require time, even though President Nixon has made it clear that a "comprehensive reorganization of the Post Office Department" is a major goal of his administration.

Winton M. Blount, present postmaster general of the United States, recently wrote, "In an age that has witnessed such amazing developments as nuclear power, synthetic furs, pre-fabricated housing, electric typewriters and instant coffee, it is sometimes difficult to imagine that anything has remained the same as it was two centuries ago. But there is such a place. For students of history, lovers of tradition and dingers to the past, a place stands in virtually every American community that has been untouched by time and unchanged by progress. That place is the good old United States Post Office."

Top management is stymied in the postal departments due to being long on responsibility and short on authority. Progressive action is difficult when management is weighted down by laws, rules and regulations that have been accumulating for nearly two centuries until they are now totaling 2,330 pages and weigh about nine and one-half pounds. The document is known as the "Postal Manual". Its restrictions alone are enough to stifle the initiative of any supervisor. The more than 740,000 members of the postal family work in cramped, outdated and uncomfortable surroundings, using inadequate and outmoded tools and machinery, according to Postmaster General Blount.

The necessity for change is obvious. The need for postal reform is critical. The time is now in this "race with catastrophe".

Two bills have been introduced in the U. S. House of Representatives having to do with postal reorganization. One of these, the Edall Bill, follows closely the recommendations of the Kappel Commission which recommended months ago that the Post Office Department be converted to an autonomous, government-owned corporation. It proposes a Postal Corporation, owned by the federal government, which would operate the postal service of the U. S. on a self-supporting, businesslike basis. The charter of such a corporation would provide powers analogous to those of private corporations. The second bill submitted to Congress is the Dulski Bill. It would change the operation of the Post Office but retain it as an executive agency, having as one of its features, a strong promotion of union organization.

Postmaster General Blount has commented, "We simply can no longer tolerate a mail system that fails to properly service the public or adequately provide for its employees."

We agree wholeheartedly. Our nation should not stand on the doorstep of 2000 A. D. carrying with it a postal system designed for neither the atomic era nor the space age. — MMW.

Capital News — Legislature's 'Hot Potato' May Land in Voters' Lap

LINCOLN—Unless they change their minds later, the state's senators plan to pass along to the voters a hot potato.

The legislature last week gave initial approval to a bill calling for a constitutional amendment permitting state school aid to non-public schools.

The bill almost surely will continue to receive broad support among the lawmakers because they prefer to have that controversial decision made in the 1970 general election — and not on the floor of the Unicameral.

Under the provisions of LB 1083, non-public schools—including parochial institutions—would be qualified to receive state grants of up to one-third the amount given public schools for comparable non-religious course work, if the voters accept the constitutional amendment.

While this bill was still in the education committee, it sparked one of the largest mail campaigns of the 1969 session — if not the largest.

The sentiments expressed in the vast majority of the letters indicated that the voters of the state ought to have an opportunity to decide the issue. Since many of these letters were from constituents, senators who privately say they oppose aid to non-public schools have endorsed the idea of putting the issue on the ballot.

That is a proposal to allow the legislature to decide whether the State Board of Education members should be appointed or elected.

The board members now are elected.

The proposal to give the legislature flexibility stemmed from the controversy earlier this year over the board's decision to dismiss Education Commissioner Floyd A. Miller.

This same controversy might be responsible for a third constitutional proposal dealing with schools. Supporters of mandatory school redistricting have announced they will launch a petition campaign to put on the ballot an amendment setting a deadline for kindergarten-through-12th grade districts throughout the state.

Once-a-year? The legislators took a step last week toward putting the Unicameral on an annual basis.

First-reading approval was given to a proposed constitutional amendment which would require once-a-year meetings. The lawmakers now meet every other year — with special sessions when necessary.

PRESIDENTIAL COUNCIL ON YOUTH OPPORTUNITY

bill traditionally is designed to provide financing for spending programs approved during the current session.

Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter has been contending that pending bills with a fiscal impact — such as proposals to increase the state school aid program — should be considered in the light of the message the senators receive when they are home for the Fourth of July recess.

Ideally, Carpenter has said, the lawmakers should recess for four or five months to let the public see for itself how it likes the budget committee's proposal which he calls "unreasonably frugal".

Carpenter sought to have Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann's executive budget swapped for the committee bill, but this was rejected by his colleagues. The Scottsbluff senator said the governor ought to be the best judge of what spending is necessary and the legislature should give him a chance to prove he is right.

Tiemann's budget was about $17 million higher than the committee recommendation.

County Agent's Column

Watch Now for Corn Rootworms Nebraska farmers should observe both previously treated and untreated cornfields from now until the first week of July for signs of rootworms, Dermit Munson, University of Nebraska corn rootworm research specialist, said this week.

Corn rootworm eggs normally begin hatching in late May, and the first larvae are found the first week of June, with injury beginning to show by mid-June. This year, the hatch is later due to cool soil, Munson explained.

The first rootworms were found during the period of June 15-20 the last three years, a week to 10-days later than normal. Munson said he expects that farmers will find rootworms during the same period this year, if they will check corn carefully.

Peak injury usually occurs during the first two weeks of July, a time when heat and drought may add to the damage, especially if corn is small.

Due to late planting and delayed development of corn, fields may be more severely damaged and stands reduced by fewer numbers of larvae than in normal springs, Munson warns. "It is important that farmers be watchful this spring to detect infestation in time to apply a corn rootworm insecticide at cultivation or lay-by time," he emphasizes.

The suggested procedure to check for rootworms is to dig a few plants in several locations

Cost comparisons of dairy products might help you save pennies and still provide the minimum daily milk requirements for your family. Fresh whole milk costs about 25¢ per quart, while non-fat dry milk costs from 9 to 10¢ per quart. Dry milk is easily used in soups, baked foods and puddings. Evaporated milk is another economical substitute for fresh whole milk in cooked and baked foods.

The wise consumer will also compare the costs of cheese products. Cheese in a presuritized can might cost nearly $2.00 per pound. A solid piece of equally nutritious cheese might be priced near 75¢ per pound.

Prices of whipped toppings can range from 3¢ per ounce for whipping cream to 6¢ per ounce for a non-dairy product in a presuritized can. Whipped topping from powdered milk can cost as little as 1¢ per ounce.

A big share of the food dollars is often spent for fancy wrappers and convenience features. Dollars spent in this way do not improve the family's diet. Add more milk to your family's meals by trying a variety of milk and dairy products.

As A Matter of Fact Wayne City Code: Section 12-319: "It shall be unlawful for any person or persons within the corporate limits of the city to indulge or engage in any riotous, tumultuous, or disorderly conduct, or to fight by agreement or otherwise, or to strike or hit another person, or to assault or menace another person in a threatening or menacing manner, or to do or engage in any other disorderly act or conduct tending to disturb the peace and quiet of the city."

AG Youth Institute Fifty-two Nebraska youths have been selected as delegates to the third National Agricultural Youth Institute (NAYI) to be held August 4-15, at the University of Nebraska.

Fifty-six delegates have also been selected from 43 other states and are expected to attend.

D. E. Loewenstein, Director of NAYI, said enthusiasm is high among the Nebraska delegates who will host the visiting youths.

"We expect an exceptionally good institute this year," he said. The Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben have made $2,500 available for scholarships to Nebraska delegates.

During the institute, various symposiums on agricultural careers will be held, speakers will discuss the future in agriculture and outstate delegates will be weekend guests at the farm homes of Nebraska delegates.

Nebraska scholarship winners include Michael E. Baier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Baier, Route 2, Wayne.

History Buffs, Sportsmen Offered Much on Mini-Trip

By Mrs. John Gobbe, Guest Writer

A trip south from Omaha through Sarpy and Cass Counties can provide a full weekend for the history buff, the fisherman, the camper and an all-around good time for the family with a variety of entertaining activities.

Starting from Omaha go south on Highway 73-75 to Bellevue Boulevard, a winding scenic drive along the Missouri bluffs. Fontenelle Forest is a "must" stop. This nature center provides interesting material. Some animals are in cages for easy viewing and walking trails are marked into the depths of the forest.

Further south the Bellevue Cemetery provides one of the most spectacular views of the Missouri River. Here, too, is the grave of Big Elk, the last of the lineal chiefs of the Omaha Indians.

In Bellevue are four buildings which were built in the 1850's, the old Presbyterian Church, first west of the Missouri; the Log Cabin Museum, open each Sunday afternoon; Riverton Lodge, formerly the home of the Rev. Hamilton and the old Fontenelle Bank building. The latter was hoped to be the Territorial Capitol of Nebraska. It served as the Sarpy County Court House and Bellevue City Hall and is now an antique shop.

Returning west on Mission Avenue, turn south to the SAC Aerospace Museum at Lincoln Road. The museum is open every day. On display are many obsolete and experimental aircraft and missiles.

Follow Highway 370 to Highway 50, south for about four miles to the Spring Rock Museum, interesting to all but especially to the rockhounds.

South on Highway 50 to Louisville and the state lakes. Now if you brought your tent, camper or trailer, you're set for the night. After setting up camp you might want to go west to the Gretna Fish Hatchery, a park-like atmosphere prevails and the fish ponds provide interesting watching.

Back at the lake, it's time to get the charcoal going, throw in a line and spend the evening relaxing under the Nebraska stars.

South on Highway 50 are fertile fields checkerboarded with the colors of growing crops. Turn right on Highway 1, near Manley, go west past Murdock and south to Elmwood. If you didn't get an early start this morning or if you'd just like to stay a while, visit Grandpa's Woods, three and one-half miles northeast. Here you'll find 120 acres of woodland, a lagoon stocked with fish, picnic and camping facilities and even a nine-hole, sand green golf course.

Now, we could visit Nehawia or Weeping Water or could pick up the trail on Highway 73-75 and visit Plattsmouth.

Plattsmouth is an old town, once a transportation center for river traffic, stagecoach lines and later the railroad. A drive down Main Street, looking above the modern store fronts at the old buildings, the towering old court house lends enchantment to her past. The Cass County Museum, open from 2:00 to 5:00 daily except Wednesday, displays the relics of the past and rocks, fossils and Indian artifacts gathered from the countryside.

A drive through the beautiful tree-lined residential streets is an interesting view of the changing architecture of the years. The Nebraska Masonic home is surrounded by beautiful trees and grounds.

East of Plattsmouth, first road north after crossing the railroad tracks, is a main gate to the state-owned Plattsmouth Waterfowl Management Area. This 1,510-acre area includes about 35 acres of water, for breeding, resting and feeding grounds for waterfowl and public hunting and fishing.

And now as you leave Plattsmouth towards Omaha, just one more stop. At LaPlatte, just two blocks east, is the Old Stone Hall. This building, too, is well over 100 years old and now also houses an antique shop.

And now home, with memories of a trip that took us back to the days of the Indians, the early settlers, the magic of the Old West, through towns more reminiscent of the past than omens of the future, through fertile lands of crops and lush pastures of grazing livestock, to parks, lakes and recreation areas demanded by modern society, through areas where once the Indian hunted, fished and lived, where the early settlers eked out a bare livelihood on the grassy plains and brought us eye to eye with the beauties of nature as they exist today.

A TOURIST PARK is under construction just off Highway 33 on the west edge of the Wayne Municipal Airport and will cover a two and one-fourth acre area. The project is being sponsored by the Wayne Lions Club, according to Willis Johnson, Club president. Dirt is being hauled from the Merlound Lesman property two miles east of town by the Milo Meyer construction company. One of the heavy equipment units is shown unloading fill dirt on the park site. Johnson said Friday that plans call for seeding the area in blue grass and providing restrooms for tourists stopping to camp overnight in camping trailers.

Kiwanians Hear Plans for City Office Complex

Wayne Kiwanians met in the Woman's Club room Monday noon and heard the Chamber of Commerce Task Force chairman, Bob Carhart, describe what he termed as inadequate and crowded, the conditions in the city offices, and the city's fire and police facilities.

As an answer for giving those services adequate space in which to work, Carhart presented the architect's drawing of what the new proposed city complex would look like when completed and the floor plan. A question and answer period followed the presentation.

The Task Force chairman pointed out that the cost of the building would amount to 2.03 mills, just over $2 per $1,000 of assessed property evaluation, if the bonds are issued for a 15-year period.

Kent Hall, Kiwanian vice president, was master of ceremonies in the absence of Max Lundstrom, president. Hall plans to attend the Kiwanian's International Convention early next week in Miami, Fla.

Student Ephron Guzman Bustamante from Chile, and Bob Merchant, Ed Smith and Duch Fuglberth.

Wilmer Marra introduced Bob Carhart as the luncheon speaker.

An 'Exclusive Opportunity' School

By Merlin Wright

Many wonderful opportunities are available today in a modern school system which are startlingly different when contrasted to the little red school house of yesterday. Wakefield Public School's special education class which started June 9 and will end July 11 is an example of the advancements made in 20th century educational procedures.

Mrs. Hazel Holston, director of the remedial summer program in which 63 youngsters are enrolled, described the curriculum as "a building up program" and "an exclusive opportunity." Staff members are Dennis Krogman, Mrs. Mildred Brownell, Dennis Crawford, Stanley Goodwin, Mrs. Mary Anne Weeks, Dennis Crispin, Mrs. Lesta Hubbard, Mrs. Alice Johnson and two assistants to the teachers, Connie Roberts and Vleki Grose.

A unique feature about the summer school is each student has a different curriculum. Student enrollment was first selected by the teaching staff and each pupil works in a special field most meaningful to him. The elementary school education act passed by Congress in 1965 provides Title I funds for financing such summer schools throughout the nation.

There are five students in the special education class receiving personal tutoring. How are teacher adjustments made in tutoring? Mrs. Lesta Hubbard replied, "I feel in tutoring, when I get to know the child personally, that I can adjust to the stu-

Mrs. Alice Johnson, instructor, guides Jon Wirth (left) son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wirth and Eugene Freeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Freeman, through a series of discussion questions. dent's need, whereas in a group class one adjusts to the majority in the class." She also pointed out that the main goal in special education is "to give these individual children an extra opportunity for individual instruction at their ability level." Although Mrs. Hubbard has taught in the Wakefield schools for eight years, she says, "This is my first year teaching in the summer classes."

Another instructor, Mrs. Alice Johnson, was asked concerning some of the advantages and challenges a teacher finds working in special education. She explained, "The advantage in special education is working with only a few children. One can find their interest area and build their reading skills around it." Continuing she remarked, "In the classroom some children do not get to contribute due to such great competition with other children and therefore lack the self-confidence to participate in classroom discussions. It is rewarding to see these children progress."

Mrs. Johnson has taught 22 years, 14 of which were in Wayne County and the past eight years have been in Wakefield. She noted some of the changes occurring in the classroom during her career. "Equipment has changed considerably. The overhead projector has basically taken away the need for the blackboard as far as I'm concerned. The terminology today is far advanced over that the sixth grader was familiar with 15 years ago, especially in the math and science areas. Students today," Mrs. Johnson continued, "also have so many extra curricular opportunities which really makes a full schedule for them."

In reply as to whether or not she could foresee the concentrated use of computers in the classroom in the next 20 years, she confessed, "I hope not as it would take away the teacher-pupil relationship. It would be too mechanized."

PERSONAL ATTENTION such as Instructor Dennis Crispin gives Marvin March, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin March, in mathematics, is one of the outstanding advantages students may have in the special education classes being held at Wakefield June 9 through July 11. Classes begin at 8 a.m. Monday through Friday and dismiss at 11 a.m.

"I go along with the state requirements that a teacher going into the field today must have a degree from college," Mrs. Johnson noted and then added, "I have always thought the first year I taught in rural school that I should have paid them! After 20 some years of teaching I am still amazed there are yet so many things to learn."

Wakefield's summer school is placing heavy emphasis upon reading, using a machine called a "controlled reader" and other equipment such as overhead projectors, tape recorders, a Science Research Association Reading Laboratory, filmstrip projectors and records. "It is really programmed reading," Mrs. Hubbard explained as she demonstrated a "language master" which is a type of tape recorder through which taped words give the student both a visual picture of the word and a phonetic "sound" picture. The student may also record his own voice on the tape to compare his enunciation with that which is pre-recorded.

Summer courses offered students are classes in art, math, physical education, science and special education work. Special education students may take two other subjects besides the special education class.

In preparing to leave, after visiting school Thursday morning, this writer could better appreciate a comment made by Mrs. Robert Miner, a mother of a student. She said, "One doesn't realize all the privileges there are until one needs them. We can't talk this subject (special education) up enough. Jerry is advancing rapidly, thanks to the wonderful teachers we have here at the Wakefield School."

Muri Beller is superintendent of the Wakefield Public School system.

Social Security Q & A

Q: I have heard that anyone 72 or over can get social security even if he never worked or paid social security contributions. Is this correct?

A: Not quite. People who reached 72 before 1968 can get these special payments even if they never worked under social security. People who reach 72 after 1967 need credit for some work under social security to get them. The special payments may be reduced if the person is receiving public assistance or other government payments.

Q: My mother because 112 months ago, and since she lives alone, she hired someone to do her housework for her until she is able to do it herself again. I asked my mother whether she was taking social security tax out of the wages and my mother says the lady does not want that done. What should she do?

A: Your mother must make quarterly reports of these wages and pay the social security tax, regardless of the wishes of the employee. This is assuming that at least fifty dollars cash wages are paid in a quarter. (January, February and March would be the first quarter of the year, etc.). Wages of less than fifty dollars per quarter for domestic work in a private home are not covered for social security tax purposes.

MONEY FOR COLLEGE. Robert Swan, left, from the Norfolk Social Security office presented the first of many Social Security checks to follow for daughters Cheryl and Laura to Ervin Hagemann, Jr. Tuesday afternoon. Grandmother, Mrs. Ervin Hagemann, Sr., is at right. It was due to grandmother's reading that the Hagemanns found out about available Social Security benefits.

Several years prior to her death, Charlene Hagemann had worked under Social Security for over five years, so the children now qualify under the change in the Social Security law.

Laura and Cheryl Hagemann will receive these benefits until they are age 18 or until age 22 if they are unmarried and continue in school. Their father states that this unexpected income from Social Security will insure the girls having enough money to attend college.

Food Poisoning Can Spoil Picnic Outing

Here's a health tip from the Nebraska State Medical Association:

Picnics are popular in Nebraska from now until September. Do not let food poisoning spoil your holiday outing.

Food spoils quickly in hot, summer weather. If the bacteria that cause food poisoning are present, they will grow rapidly in un-refrigerated food.

To be safe, leave sandwich ingredients in the original wrappers and containers, and make up your sandwiches at the picnic. Take meat in a can and open it just before serving.

Potato salad is sometimes a trouble-maker. Keep it in the picnic icebox to keep it cold. That icebox, by the way, is an excellent food saver. Be sure it has plenty of ice.

These few precautions will help ensure that your family outing is free of the illness caused by food poisoning.
