City, County May Hire Civil Defense Director

Civil Defense
City officials in Wayne may soon be working with the county commissioners in an attempt to find somebody to take on the job as county civil defense director.

The city council decided Tuesday night to have its newest member, Anton Netherda, meet with the county commissioners to decide what steps the county and city should take in finding a qualified person for the job.

The decision was made after Vern Fatrchild, assistant civil defense director, told the council that the present director, Don Welble, is going to resign. Welble is resigning, according to Fairchild, because he has been unable to keep up with the large amount of paper work involved in the job and because in any disaster his job as civil defense director would probably conflict with his job as contiled the complement Alan Wittig, fol-

Wayne Scout Troop 174 had an unusual experience on a campout last weekend. No rain.

Most of the troop's camping ventures in recent years have encountered rain or snow or miscellaneous other weather—to the point that the scouts were about to hire out as rain-makers. Unfortunately, the rain didn't appear this time, when all of northeast Nebraska would have welcomed it.

The troop's campout was in the Devil's Nest on the south shore of Lewis and Clark lake. Attending were 10 boxs, Scoutmaster Paul Hanks, Assistant Scoutmaster Rob Barr and Institutional Representative Days Russell.

Another campout to the same place is scheduled September 6-7.

Lawmen To Have State Fair Booth

Great Booth

One of the displays at the State Fair in Lincoln, which opens tomorrow (Friday), will exhibit various firearms and other items of equipment assembled by law enforcement officers throughout Nebraska. The display is being sponsored by the Police Officers Association of Nebraska of which Police Chief Vern Fairchild, Wayne, is president.

Fairchild said he and Officer Penlerick would be helping with the booth on Monday. The airconditioned tent containing the exhibit will be located just inside the south gate at the southwest corner of the State Game Commission's building, according to the police chief.

Besides a gun display, badge collection and film showings, various pamphlets will be available with titles such as "What Do You Mean You're Not A Viettin", "Their Future Goes Hand in Hand With Yours," "A B C's of Baby Stitting," and "An Ounce of Prevention Could be Worth a Life," Chief Fairchild said the Federal Bureau of Investigation will be participating in the State Fair booth.

COMMENT EDITORIAL

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

It is the duty of an editorial writer to search all available facts before he sits down to write. From this basis the writer should be able to give a clear picture of important topics.

You may not agree with an editorial but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

A Day to Honor Labor

Why honor something like hard work? When thousands of Americans are retired, and millions are not old enough to work, why honor labor? Who knows the number of souls who hear the morning alarm ring and wish they didn't have tog to work? When labor disputes often grab the headlines; when unbons and managements are feuding: when thousands are striking — why honor labor? If a person didn't work, what would he do? Hove you ever noted how certain individuals work toward retirement, talk about it, dream about not having to get up in the morning and going to work, but when the day to quit comes — it comes with a joh? Idleness tells us we are not useful or needed by anyone — enough to drive a person out of his mind — and in cases has done that very thing. The human mind is a goal-seeking mechanism. Labor provides a use for our ability, plugiting us a passageway of creativity toward setting goals, reaching them and setting up more. To be happy the mind needs to be constantly be working toward some objective.

Labor, of course, provides that which is called money. Lappy is that individual whose job not only provides an income but also stimulates the mind with resultant satisfaction. Labor keeps our minds busy contributing, not only to our own welfare, but to the welfare of others.

Next Monday is Labor Day, As the holiday approaches consider the following statistics brought about by labor. The United States, with six per cent of the world's land area and six per cent of its population, accounts for 33 per cent of the world's production of goods and services. It produces 12 per cent of the world's wheat, 44 per cent of its corn and 20 per cent of its meat - enough to feed 200 million Americans and much of the world besides. U. S. electrical production in 1987 came to one third of the world's output, and exceeded the combined capacity of the Soviet Union, Japan and the European Common Market countries. U. S. automobile factories produced 7.6 million passenger cars in 1967, or 41 per cent of the world-output.

Ilard work, and the freedom to choose the type of work one wants to do, has brought into existence an abundance of products and wealth in this great land of ours. Factories, rallroads, airlines and private power plants, telephone systems and supermarkets, plus almost any other service facility you can name, have been brought into existence by the past savings of people... hard working people. These things exist because people have been willing to work, save and invest.

One of the best things government can do for us is to protect our savings, through rigid govern-ment economy and alertness to inflationary threats wherever they arise.

Let us salute on Monday that which has brought productivity, sanity and peace of mind - labor and its fruit. - MMW.

What Price for Your Eyesight?

Most of we humans have two eyes which are actually highly sophisticated technicolor cameras, the likes of which have not as yet been duplicated by the ingenuity of man. Some 33,500 Americans will no longer have use of their eyes in just another 12 months according to the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, ONSPB).

September has been designated as "Sightaving Month" by the NSPB. They know and want us to know that half of all blindness, whether due to disease, accident, neglect or ignorance, is preventable.

Cataract is the leading cause of blindness in the U.S. today with glaucoma coming in second. At this moment, the NSPB representatives have noted, an estimated 1,718,500 Americans 35 years of age and older are threatened with blindness from glaucoma, which for the most part can be controlled and sight saved if discovered and treated in its early stages. Glaucoma can very gradually rob its victims of their sight, without a pain or a symutom.

Some of us know that a child should have his eyes examined before school age; or that every child who wears glasses should be wearing safety glasses. Some of us know that blinding cataracts are not a consequence of growing old, that surgical treatment can restore sight. Some of us know that glaucoma can be halted with medical treatment. Sight-Saving month is for those who don't know... or for those who need to be reminded. For just a moment think of your son or daughter as being blind. Imagine that within a week your eyes, or those of your wife or husband, would no longer provide sight. Suppose you realize too late that proper medical attention could have prevented the blindness!

'Natural Foes' Skirmish Over 'Distrust, Suspicion' and executive branches are na-tural enemies.

Although there have been skirmishes throughout 1969 – and even stretching back to the De-cember special legislative ses-sion – seldom has each side pre-sented its case as strongly as last week.

What sparked it was the announcement by Robert P. Rogers that he was resigning, effective Sept. 1, as director of the Department of Administrative Service (DAS) ices (DAS).

Sen. C. W. Holmquist of Oakland said the fight was silly. He said the executive and legislative branches both should be seeking the same results - information upon which to base intelligent decisions about how state government should be financed and managed.

He said "intelligent adults" should be able to sit down and come to a solution acceptable to both sides and save the state money to boot.

As budget bills stood at the end of the week, more than $400,000 was ticketed to hire supporting staff for the legislature and about $118,000 was earmarked to pay salaries for additional DAS budget officers.

The DAS appropriation grew by $100,000 Friday, partially as a result of the flap which followed Rogers' resignation announcement.

The Final Week? Probably Not

This was supposed to be the final week of the 1969 session. It still could be, but most observers figured it probably wouldn't be.

So, even though the lawmakers were as eager to go home as some citizens have said they were anxious for them to quit, an extension was likely.

On the other hand, there was a faction in the chamber which preferred to have the session end without the supplemental budget measures passed. Sen. Clifton B. Batchelder of Omaha did his best last week to kill the second supplemental measure.

If large numbers of grubs in or near the cattle's backs are killed at one time, however, shock reaction may be severe. Native Nebraska cattle can be treated for grubs ideally until Oct. 1, but if necessary until Nov. 1. For best results, grubs should be killed in the earliest part of the life cycle, or within the next two months.

The easiest and most effective treatment is a pour-on solution of Neguvon, Co-Ral or a new preparation called Famphur.

Ruelene, diluted one to three parts water, is another treatment. Pour the measured amount down the cattle's backs with dippers. This treatment penetrates into the skin, is absorbed and systemically kills the grubs in the flesh.
