Dear Editor:

I would like to express my sincere thanks to all the participants of SWAY for making this gift possible. This small token of appreciation as you refer to it, has indeed given me a greater appreciation to the citizens of Wayne County for what they are doing for their servicemen.

Currently I am stationed at SHAPE, Belgium. This international community which we (U.S.) share with our other 14 allied nations of NATO, has given me the opportunity to learn more about the alliance while working with members of our NATO nations on a daily basis.

Brothers Under the Pigskin

WATCHING the Wayne High School football squad during their first workout of the season recently are David Dunning, 11, (left) son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Russell, and Larry Creighton, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Creighton. The youthful friends are keeping a close eye on their older brothers, Mark Dunning and Mike Creighton. David and Larry plan to play on the Middle School team.

By Merlin Wright

"Fellow" means a person who shares. Football is for fellows—fellows who are brothers of the skin—the pigskin in this case. Football is a game for the guy who likes the rough and tumble life, to grunt and shout, hit and be hit—hard enough to knock his teeth out.

Muscles bulge, the heart pounds, lungs gasp and the brain races with a flurry of strategy—that's the game—with its friendships and fun.

Football is not a woman's game for she doesn't understand how there could possibly be any rules controlling a game which seems to be but a bashing of hard skulls. For a man to say it is fun—is folly! If the game isn't dangerous, she asks, then why do the participants have to dress in all that padded battle gear? Asking for the truth she gets it. The game is dangerous—giving it a fitful of fascination and fighting fun.

Why do men climb mountains, sail the ocean in a fragile craft or jump from airplanes in giant swings made of silk? Why do great-shouldered men race on raceways at break-neck speeds, dive in nuclear powered submarines to the ocean's floor or ride a spaceship to the moon? It all has to do with a man's mind which houses a driving determination to command his body to perform long after the weak, the hesitant, the common and apathetic man has dropped by the wayside. It is the part of a man's mind telling him, "I was born to win!"

Football is for fellows of all ages. What fun for two youths to spend the tall end of a summer day watching older brothers sweat it out with the squad in the season's first workout. In a matter of days the two 11-year-old friends will themselves don gear and play the great game for the Middle School.

Discipline is the word for the wiry disciples of hup-1-2-3-4. Beef and potatoes, long workouts, personal discipline, desire, hard hitting desire, proper diets, desire, no smokes or drinks, desire, drive and hit, beat, pound and desire—go into the making of a top player.

From the practice field to the playing field, to the bench and to the showers—the broad-shouldered, narrow-hipped, able-armed football player is familiar with each. He knows agony, and ecstasy as companions of the thrills and spills.

Not yet in their teens, these youthful friends watch the heroes of the WIS gridiron. They are seeing more than flesh and blood, gear and guts, fear and frustration. While watching the older fellows shout, jump, leap, throw, catch, pass, run, laugh and ache, they are also seeing what they want most to become—winners!

After one has trimmed up, slimmed up and knows how to get slapped around without serious injury—then the young males from the neighboring town, who have also practiced the pigskin art, are invited over for a muscle-match. It's no tea party! The invitation might well read, "Come on over and let's see who's the tougher...you guys or us guys!"

The whistle blows—the teams clash—and the sidelines yell "right-fight-fight." Eleven men on opposing sides of a yard line search for their best strategy, play by play, in order to taste the toasts of victory.

Victors throw arms across the shoulders of teammates and walk off the field refreshed by the challenge of conflict and confidence. It's all a part of the game when you not only play it, but eat it, sleep it and live-football!

Today these youthful friends watch the game. Tomorrow they will be a part of the high school squad. Without doubt, at some time in the future, they will, as grandads, stand on the sidelines and yell heartily in support of a grandson... whose muscles are bulging, heart pounding, lungs gasping—in the game where a man may prove he is that—a man.

Overin Won't Direct Town Team Again

Hank Overin announced his intentions to quit managing the local town team during a dinner Friday night at the city auditorium. The dinner, sponsored by the American Legion, was in honor of the Wayne Midget and Legion baseball teams.

Overin said he hopes to devote more time to coaching the young baseball players in an attempt to take both the Midgets and Legion to the state tournament next year. This year, Overin took his Midget squad all the way through district action at Wayne and area action at Lyons. The locals fell to Rushville in the first round of the state tourney at Broken Bow.

About 50 baseball fans and 25 Midget and Legion players turned out for the short dinner.

Heading the speaking duties during the feed was Gerald Hix of Wayne.

Attending the dinner was Carla Sue Janssen of Carroll, recently crowned Sloux City Truckers Queen. A senior at Wayne High school, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Janssen.

Reserve QB Breaks Wrist in Workouts

A promising young Wayne High quarterback broke his wrist in practice Wednesday afternoon and will probably be out of action for the rest of the season.

Junior Mike Creighton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Creighton of Wayne, broke his wrist when he fell during a quarterback sneak in practice.

Coach Allen Hansen said Creighton was a second team quarterback and was showing good progress in the initial prac-

Gene Brudigan Cops 2 Firsts at Westside

Gene Brudigan copped two firsts and a third in racing at Westside Raceway in Yankton last Wednesday night. He took first place in both the trophy dash and the second heat, came in third in the A Feature.

Gerald Bruggeman took third place in the B Feature during the night's action.

Last Monday night at LeMars, Iowa, Brudigan took first in the second heat and came in fifth in the A Feature.

Gene Wagner, another stock car driver from Hoskins, came in first in the trophy dash, first in the championship race and first in the A Feature in racing at Riviera Raceway on Aug. 31. He also came in second in the third heat. The same night Harold Brudigan came in first in the first heat, fourth in the championship race and seventh in the A Feature. Gerald Bruggeman captured eighth place in the championship race.

At Clearwater on Aug. 28 Gerald Bruggeman came in first in the first heat, Bob Anderson of Winside came in fourth in the B Feature.

Wacker-Johnson Win

Kirk Wacker and Brian Johnson teamed to roll winning a 314 series recently in the Junior bowling action. Wacker copped top prize in the afternoon of action when he rolled a 168 game. Johnson came in second with a 146.

It is unlawful in Nebraska to shoot game birds with rifle, pistol or revolver.

Wildcats Name Barclay, Klutcharch Co-Captains

Co-captains of the Wayne State football team are Doug Barclay, an offensive tackle, and Tom Klutcharch, a defensive end.

Good choices, said Coach Del Stoltenberg of their election by the team. Both are seniors and veteran starters. Barclay's home is in Brookfield, Ill., Klutcharch's in Chicago.

Stoltenberg introduced the captains and his assistant coaches at the season's first meeting of the Second Guessers Club Thursday noon. The club meets every Thursday noon—with a few exceptions—during football and basketball seasons. Everyone interested in college athletics is invited to attend. Generally the program presents comments by coaches on games past and future, and sometimes movies of recent games.

The Second Guessers have moved the lunch site from the campus to Patsy's Pizza Parlor this year, making it handier for business people.

Stoltenberg said the Wildcats reported for practice in unusually good condition. This may have been a factor in the lack of serious injuries during the first two weeks of drills. It's a rare year when there aren't a few fractures, sprains, shoulder separations and dislocations by this time.

Team spirit is high, the coach reported. For the coming week that spirit will be aimed at girding up for the season opener Saturday night against Kansas State Teachers College at Emporia.

Stoltenberg mentioned a few statistics about the Hornets—like having the leading NAIA pass receiver of 1968 back this year. Senior split end Bruce Cerone nabbed 91 passes for 15 touchdowns and more than 1,400 yards. Also back is quarterback Bob Leahy who passed 1,698 yards on 117 completion in 215 attempts, good for 17 TD's.

Rows Turned Around

Breaks 25 Straight

Albert Anderson of Wayne was one of five members of the Norfolk Gun Club who broke 25 straight blue rocks in competition at Norfolk Wednesday night.

Dale Nelson of Norfolk won the 50-rock event with a 48X50 score.

Hitting 24 out of 25 blue rocks was Ray Wilson of Wayne.

More than 11,000 campers used facilities at Chadron State Park during 1968.

NATALEE SIEVERS, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Sievers of Wakefield, showed the champion Hereford 4-H market steer at the Nebraska State Fair. Her calf, named Spot, weighed 1,006 pounds when sold to Carnhusker Hotel in Lincoln for 80 cents a pound, returning $804.80.

Purple Ribbon

Other area girls earning runner-up ribbons were Lori Chace of Laurel, Jean Milander of Cedar County, Cynthia Chace of Stanton, LuAnn Hansen of Cuming County and Lois Kment of Stanton.

Red ribbons went to Bernita Johnson of Dixon, Kim Chace of Laurel and Marie Wechman of Cuming County.

Miss Pollard picked up another blue ribbon in the 4-H home living demonstrations. Her demonstration was entitled "Cake Roll." Pat Dangberg, only Wayne girl to earn a purple ribbon at the State Fair, won a blue ribbon in the same contest for her "I'm a Knit Wit" clothing demonstration.

Kathryn Carlson of Wakefield, Lori Bermet of Randolph, Carol Puls of Pender, Lynette Misty of Stanton and Linda Bermet of Randolph earned blue ribbons in the 4-H demonstrations. Earning reds in the competition were Linda Baier of Carroll and Kathy and Carol Dowling, both of Randolph.

Stanton's Sheila Mae Pohlman earned a purple ribbon and Lori Chace of Laurel earned a blue ribbon for their entries in the 4-H demonstrations related to animals.

Wayne County earned a red ribbon in the herdsman's competition during the State Fair. Members of the 4-H clubs are judged on the conduct in barns, dormitories and arena. Cuming County earned a purple and a red ribbon for its herdsman'ship.

Nancy Kment of Stanton was awarded the bronze medal for placing third in the clothing judging contest during the Lincoln affair.

MINUTES OF SPECIAL MEETING OF BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF CARROLL, NEBRASKA A special meeting of the Board of Trustees of Carroll, Nebraska, was held on Saturday, August 23, 1969, at 3:00 o'clock P.M. with the following trustees present: Percy Johnson, Walter Bethwisch, Joy Tucker. Also present were Robert Johnson, Clerk, Kenneth M. Oads, attorney, and Mr. Pat Rensch of Robert E. Schweerer and Company, Omaha. Mr. Rensch discussed with the Board the possibility of financing a sewer system other than through FID loan and grant or by the sale of bonds on the public bond market. He indicated that present legislation pending in Congress could have an effect on the ability of the Village of Carroll to sell bonds since the exemption from income tax on municipal bonds may be eliminated in future years under pending legislation. Clerk, Robert Johnson, reported that a meeting would be held on September 22nd with representatives of the Farmers Home Administration. No formal action was taken upon the information given by Mr. Rensch, since it was primarily an informational meeting. Robert E. Johnson, Village Clerk  Carroll, Nebraska September 2, 1969

Take the city to the farm

Michigan farmer has the idea!

by Jean M. Pitrone

As the United States becomes increasingly urbanized great numbers of children grow into maturity with a lack of knowledge of the rural scene. Thanks to the Knight Webster family of Oxford, Michigan, hundreds of thousands of urban children are experiencing a "Sunday visit to the farm" where each child can milk a cow, cuddle a newborn baby lamb, and participate in a number of the many activities carried on at the diversified Upland Hills Farm.

The Websters — Knight and Dorothy and their three sons, 18-year-old Kenneth, 16-year-old Steve and 13-year-old Bruce — are in the eighth year of operating their 240-acre Upland Hills Farm, bought with the help of friends and located thirty-four miles north of Detroit.

From the first, the Websters had determined never to permit any hint of carnival atmosphere to intrude into Upland Hills. The farm was to be completely recreated as a diversified, typically midwest farm of the recent past.

The ruddy-faced, overall-clad owner — who encourages visitors to address him as "Farmer Webster" — personally conducts most of the visitors' tours of Upland Hills, open to family groups every Sunday from April first through October from 11:00 a.m. until 6:00 p.m. The tour starts at the first barn where Farmer Webster places a pail underneath one of the cows and pulls at the cow's udder.

"Who wants to milk Rosie?" he asks. The children crowd around in open-mouthed awe as one of the more fearless of the group reaches beneath the cow to squirt a stream of white liquid into the pail. Now, all but the most timid clamor for a turn.

The tourists move on as the farmer pours some of the milk into a pop bottle, affixes a nipple to the bottle and lets the children take turns feeding a baby lamb. The rest of the milk is poured into a bucket with a large nipple at the side near the bottom and given to a child to feed one of the calves nuzzling at the farmer. Newly-hatched baby chicks and ducklings occupy the visitors' attention as they go from the first large barn to the second barn.

A ferocious looking billy goat, several female goats and their babies occupy the second barn.

"Anyone want some goat's milk squirted right into his mouth?" the jovial Farmer Webster asks. With no takers for his offer, he squirts the milk from Gertrude's udder directly into the animal's mouth.

The children admire the pony, the donkey, the rabbits and, most of all, the litters of baby pigs crowding around the heavy sows.

"This is Gloria — she weighs more than 600 pounds," Webster informs the visitors. "Each of Gloria's babies has its own nipple. If one of the other babies goes to that nipple, there's an argument!"

Some of the children are afraid to hold the loudly-squealing baby pigs held out to them in Webster's hands, but all of them (and the parents, too) have many questions when the farmer conducts them into the chicken house where he tells them how different breeds of chickens were brought to this country by the immigrants, including the Polish fowl with its great feathered crest and the Mediterranean White Leghorn.

Ducks roam about outside the chicken house and nimble-footed goats and sheep climb upon bales of hay stacked in the barnyard. A highlight of visitors' day is the springtime, mid-afternoon sheep-shearing when Farmer Webster takes his electric shears and clips the wooly coat from a sheep. Visitors pick up scraps of the fleece or purchase plastic bags filled with wool.

From six-hundred to one-thousand school children currently visit the farm each weekday on school tours from the first of April until mid-June. Mrs. Webster, a former nursery school and kindergarten teacher, assists with the conducting of school tours. The sheep-shearing session is enhanced by a demonstration at the spinning wheel as Mrs. Webster spins the sheep's wool into threads.

School tours of Upland Hills are arranged at special rates, as are Girl Scout, Cub Scout and other group outings on Saturdays. Regular Sunday family tours have an admission charge of twenty-five-cents per person. At the conclusion of the barnyard tour, many of the visitors climb into a big wagon drawn by two hefty Belgian draft horses for a fifty-cent hayride and wagon tour of the farmlands.

Others head for the picnic grounds, while the children play in the farm playhouse, climb the rope nets attached to trees, ride the ponies around the riding ring, sit in the tractor seat, or pat the dogs — Tinker Bell, the St. Bernard, and Valiant, the gentle German Shepherd. Some of the families who did not bring their own picnic lunches, enjoy spaghetti dinners, hot dogs or sloppy Joes served in the Webster cafeteria, separated from the animal display by a glass wall.

For eight weeks in midsummer, Mrs. Webster's time is fully occupied with the managing of a day camp for hundreds of youngsters. Other projects include barn dances in the big loft and sleigh rides and tobogganing on the hills of the farm in the wintertime.

With the success of their unusual project assured and the name of Upland Hills Farm becoming better known, inquiries have been coming to the Websters from various out-of-state communities about setting up similar operations.

Rural Midwestern Youth Go to Washington, D.C.

"It's a Challenge" usually is.

The challenge is a quiz show on current events, history, government and the rural electrification program that highlights Youth Day activities during the Rural Electric Youth Tour — held in Washington, D.C. this summer, June 7-14.

But "It's a Challenge" is only one of many activities the nearly 1,000 teenage delegates from 28 states take part in during the event. From the Midwest there were the following numbers: Illinois, 62; Indiana, 43; Iowa, 104; Kansas, 35; Minnesota and Wisconsin, 41; Missouri, 100; Montana and North Dakota, 68; Nebraska and Oregon, 40; South Dakota, 42.

A VIP group tour of the White House, meals — breakfasts, lunches and dinners — with Congressional delegations, a Washington Senators baseball game with Miss Rural Electrification 1969 tossing out the first pitch all vied with the quiz show for the highlight of the 1969 week.

Sightseeing at monuments, historic sites and government buildings, as well as an evening boat ride on the Potomac River, was still another aspect of the tour.

A pretty Iowa lass, 18-year-old Sandi Brombaugh of Mount Pleasant, was official hostess for the 1969 tour. She was named Miss Rural Electrification 1969 in March.

Iowa with 104 students and Missouri with 100 led in numbers of delegates.

The youths who take part in the Youth Tour are mostly high school juniors who earn their trip through essay and speech contests. Around 65 percent of the total group are members of national honor societies and many are class officers or members of 4-H Clubs, Future Homemakers of America and Future Farmers of America.

These future leaders of rural America arrive in Washington by plane, train and bus. Early-bird groups from Nebraska and North and South Dakota arrive Saturday, but other groups arrive through Tuesday.

HOME CANNING?

You can't go wrong for a penny a pound.

You get perfect results with Fruit-Fresh every time. It preserves the natural color and flavor of fruits when canning and freezing—keeps fresh-cut fruits appetizing for hours before serving. One can of Fruit-Fresh does up to 75 lbs. of fruit for about 1¢ per pound. Look for it at drug and grocery stores, and wherever you buy Kerr jars, caps and lids.

THE MEN RESPONSIBLE. Senator Thomas F. Eagleton (D-Mo.) meets with the 100-strong Missouri youth delegation in Washington to see government in action. The high school students listen intently to their newly elected member of the U.S. Senate.

They go to the nation's capital to see their government in action and to meet some of the men responsible for the welfare of the country. At the same time, they familiarize themselves with the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Rural Electrification Administration and the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association — service organization for the nearly 1,000 consumer-owned electric systems throughout the U.S.

While most of the week is spent in state-group activities, Youth Day brings the entire 28-state group together so the youngsters can hear from REA Administrator David A. Hamil and NRECA General Manager Robert D. Partridge.

Then there is the quiz show.

This year North Dakota and Minnesota were represented on the "It's a Challenge" winning team, the Stripes. Catherine Wells of Robinson, N.D., and Barbara Smith of Grand Rapids, Minn., teamed up with Susan Van Hassent from New York, Mike Wallace from Texas and Jane Hibbard from Utah to defeat the Stars featuring Ronnie Shaw of Rensselaer, Ind., Dottie Beeler of Oxford, Neb., Terry Spitzenberg of Bonesteel, S.D., Freddie Franklin Pierce from Kentucky and Barbara Ramsey from Virginia.

The two scorekeepers for the quiz show were Daniel Shriver of Quincy, Ill., and Lee Cook from Georgia. Richard Mummert from Pennsylvania was timekeeper.

All the challenge participants are chosen by their state groups after the state name is pulled from a hat at the tour directors' meeting the day before the session.

After the quiz show, 26 buses line up to load for the trip to the South Lawn of the White House. A police escort leads the way. A member of the President's staff greets the group and the VIP tour starts.

That evening the delegates get together for an all-states banquet and the "Happening" with a youthful dance band.

UNICYCLING ROYALLY ON THE MALL. Miss Sandi Brombaugh of Mount Pleasant, Iowa, shows her skill on the unicycle during the 1969 Rural Electric Youth Tour. The lovely lass, Miss Rural Electrification of 1969, served as official hostess to almost 1,000 rural teenagers from 28 states in Washington to meet their Senators and Congressmen, and to create an interest in building a better rural America in these men responsible for the welfare of the nation.

Made with the high-price spread?

No; made with Blue Bonnet Margarine.

Make any recipe with Blue Bonnet, and you make it great. Because Blue Bonnet has the same great taste as the high-price spread. But Blue Bonnet fries better. Browns faster. And when you spread it on bread, Blue Bonnet's closer to the high-price spread than any margarine. It releases its flavor almost instantly—just like the high-price spread.

Everything's better with Blue Bonnet on it (or in it).

The following definition of a Grandmother is taken in part from the New Ulm (Minn.) Journal. The author is a third-grader:

"A Grandmother is a lady who has no children of her own . . . Grandmas don't have to do anything except be there. They're old so they shouldn't play hard or run . . . Usually they are fat but not too fat to tie your shoes. They wear glasses and funny underwear. They can take their teeth and gums off . . . Everybody should try to have one, especially if they don't have television, because grandmas are the only grown-ups who have time."

A writer in The Reedsburg (Wis.) Times-Press wonders why little brother can't kiss the dog goodnight after instead of before he kisses the other family members?

The Mackinaw Valley News of Minier, Ill., reports that most of the 30,000 Eskimos now living have never seen an igloo. And what's more, none of the rest of us have seen one that was paid for.

The Devils Lake (N.D.) Morning Journal asks if anyone has heard about Marine Corps Anonymous? If you ever feel like re-enlisting you get an ex-drill instructor to come over and yell at you.

"At age 20 we don't care what the world thinks of us," says The West Bend (Wis.) News, "and then at age 50 we find out it wasn't thinking of us at all."

The Democrat Tribune of Mineral Point, Wis., says, "Politicians are like old clothes — they only come clean in hot water."

In these difficult days of struggling to tell the men from the women, the Belvidere (Ill.) Daily Republican offers these tips: A man eats a piece of filled chocolate by popping the whole thing into his mouth, while a woman bites off half and studies the filling. A man stands facing the fireplace while a woman backs up to it.

If "it" is not eating filled chocolates or standing by a fireplace, you are on your own, and good luck.

"There is never a shortage of help when you want to mind your own business," comments the Savanna (Ill.) Times-Journal.

The Cannelton (Ind.) Tuesday News tells about the fellow who, "plays a fair game of golf — if you watch him."

The New Richmond (Wis.) News says that a lot of men admit that they can't run their own homes, but every one of them has firm notions about how to run the country.

The best way to stop a charging elephant is to hide its credit cards, comments The Morris (Minn.) Sun.

The Crookston (Minn.) Daily Times says, "A wife feels underprivileged now if she doesn't have at least two bathrooms in her home. But when Queen Victoria ascended the throne of England in 1837 there wasn't a single bathroom in all Buckingham Palace."

This might have made for a dirty queen except that servants lugged jars of hot water to the queen's bedroom where she bathed in a portable tub.

Obviously, many of the descendants of foreign royalty have become plumbers in this country.

"We should never resent growing old," says the Lake Mills (Iowa) Graphic. "Think of the many people who never had the opportunity to do so."

A traffic light, as defined by The Clay City (Ind.) News, is a little green light that turns red as your car approaches.

The best time for a man's ship to come in is before he is too old to navigate, says The Ogden (Iowa) Reporter.

The following treatment for baldness comes from The Onaway (Mich.) News, and is offered without recommendation or comment: take the inner bark of a wild cherry tree and boil it over a low flame for twenty minutes. Use it as a scalp wash.

Semi-Sweet Chocolate Party Petites

Pastry for single crust pie $\frac{2}{3}$ cup (1 small can) evaporated milk
 1 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels $\frac{1}{2}$ cup heavy cream, whipped and sweetened

Prepare pastry for single crust pie. Cut pastry in circles to fit on back of small muffin pans or into small tart pans. Prick with tines of fork. Bake at 425° for 10 to 12 minutes, or until delicately brown. To prepare filling, reserve 1 tablespoon semi-sweet chocolate morsels to use as garnish; put remaining morsels and evaporated milk in saucepan over low heat. Cook slowly, stirring constantly, until mixture is slightly thickened, about 3 to 5 minutes. Fill pastry shells; garnish with whipped cream and a chocolate morsel. Yield: Filling for 8-16 tarts using 1 to 2 tablespoons filling depending on size of tart shells.

Smoky Cheese Spread

Put all ingredients except olives in blender container in order listed; cover and process on Blend (HI) until smooth. Stop the blender when necessary and push ingredients toward blades with rubber spatula. Add stuffed olives; cover and process on Blend (HI) just until olives are coarsely chopped. Makes $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups.

Sprinkle with finely chopped California walnuts. Cut into fingers to serve or stack four deep, ice sides and top with more cheese and refrigerate; at serving time cut into four miniature tortes.

why coffee? why not Tea?

by Betty Stern
 Farm & Home Food Consultant

Tea is one of the pleasant customs that we have inherited from our British ancestors. We have adapted the tea as a warm, informal, economical way to welcome new neighbors, introduce new members or guests at a club meeting, or just to renew old acquaintances.

Two kinds of foods are offered at teas — savory and sweet. A sharp knife, a few cookie cutters, some white and whole wheat bread and several easy blender-made spreads are all you need for the savory. Tiny tarts, sweet cookies or small cakes add the sweetness.

To brew tea properly use one teaspoonful of instant tea for each serving. Milk not cream is recommended to be served with tea, as milk lets the true flavor of the tea come through. Thin slices of lemon point up the flavor of the tea.

Of course, all of these serve-with-tea recipes are delicious served anytime. Try them soon.

And remember... Americare pays!

When you're flat on your back, staring at the walls, wondering...

"How am I going to pay $33 a day for this hospital room?"

...it's very nice to know: Americare pays.

Proof that Americare pays is this simple fact:

American Republic has the Number One claim paying record in its field.*

What's more, with Americare you get Tailored Protection—the modern way to hospital protection that's up to date, without paying for coverage you may not want or need.

Let's say you now have $15 or $20 a day hospital room coverage. You can add $5...$10...$15 a day—as much as $25 a day—to your present room coverage with Tailored Protection.

You can also select additional types and amounts of coverage you need to help pay for medical, surgical and nursing costs; lab fees; X-rays; operating room; electrocardiograms and other things that make hospital bills run so high.

Another good way to expand your coverage could be an Americare Direct Cash Plan. You can buy 1, 2, 3, or 4 units—whichever you need. Each unit pays $7.50 a day cash—direct to you while you are in the hospital. (You can spend this money any way you wish.) The 4-unit plan pays $30 a day cash direct to you—as much as $10,950 in a year.

If you are under 65, you can use this money to supplement your regular hospital insurance.

If you are over 65, you may choose an Americare Senior Direct Cash Plan, and use it to fill the gaps in your Medicare coverage.

Whatever coverage you now have...whatever additional coverage you may need...there's an Americare Tailored Protection Plan® to fit you.

A BONUS

Your benefits automatically increase 10% when you pay your Americare Tailored Protection premiums annually in advance (5% if you pay semi-annually).

And it doesn't matter if you're in the hospital because of an accident or sickness. Americare pays either way.

*Americare pays! The latest 5-year figures show that American Republic returned a greater percent of premium dollars to policyholders in claim benefits than any other Top 40 insurance companies offering individual accident and health insurance.
