M. L. Nuernberger, director-state engineer, Lincoln, has informed Robert Boeckenhauer, Wayne, that the state is planning to take aerial photographs of several thousand feet of the South Logan Creek channel and flood plain this fall in an attempt to make further plans concerning the drainage situation connected with the Highway 15 crossing of the South Logan south of Wayne.

Boeckenhauer had written to the State Department of Roads in regards to the problem of potential flooding after heavy rains in the area south of Wayne due to drainage problems related to the bridge.

In his letter to Boeckenhauer, Nuernberger said, "The drainage situation along South Logan Creek flood plain south of Wayne, has been under study by the Nebraska Department of Roads for some time.

Some Late for Work

Quite a few people in Wayne, including students at Wayne State, probably got up almost 10 minutes late Wednesday morning if they had electric alarm clocks.

A city-wide power outage occurred yesterday morning shortly after six o'clock and lasted about eight minutes.

The outage was probably caused when a small generator which furnishes current for the alternator overheated and shut down, according to Norbert Prigger, manager of the city light plant. All electricity in the city and at the college was off during the outage.

Chamber Welcoming Dinner Attracts 85

Seventeen new teachers at Wayne State College and six new teachers in the Wayne City Schools were welcomed by local businessmen and their wives at the first businessmen-educator dinner held in Wayne for about three years.

The dinner, which attracted 85 people, was quite successful, according to the Chamber of Commerce office. A similar welcoming dinner will probably be held again next fall.

Welcoming the new teachers to the city and offering them the help of the chamber was Bob Merchant, Chamber president.

The welcoming dinner was planned by the Chamber's education committee, two members of the retail committee and Lyle Seymour, board of directors member. On the education committee are Dean Pierson, Francis Hain, Al Kern, Kenneth Olds, Rowan Wiltse, Dave Ewing and Ken Dahl. Retail committee members helping were Roy Coryell and Arnie Reep.

When Crisis Strikes: Care

A serviceman is wounded in Viet Nam... A young wife gives birth to a child whose father is in military service abroad... a family of migrant workers has a car breakdown in Wayne and has no money for repairs, or for housing in a hotel or motel... a local family already down on its luck has a major emergency... a hurricane ravishes a coastal area or a tornado demolishes a Nebraska town... A Wayne girl, unwed and pregnant, needs help and care...

Real cases, all of these. And there was real help for them—a quick message to or from a serviceman, a loan or a gift of money, temporary shelter, a hospital for surgery or delivery, or perhaps an encouraging word from a professional counselor trained in easing crises.

Human solutions, all of these, for real human needs.

And they are possible because millions of Americans, including several thousand in Wayne, give money so that professional people can meet the needs. In Wayne, the Community Chest steps in to support seven agencies that are organized to help people in distress.

Starting Oct. 6, the Wayne Chest will ask for contributions to support the Wayne recreation program, the Boy Scout Mid-America Council, the Girl Scout Prairie Hills Council, the Red Cross, the Salvation Army, the USO, and the Florence Crittenton Home of Sioux City.

This first of three articles describes briefly the latter four agencies. Succeeding articles will explain the two Scout organizations and the Recreation Program.

Both the Red Cross and the Salvation Army function worldwide in ways well-known to most Americans. Sometimes they function in Wayne without being known because charity likes anonymity.

Local residents who represent the Red Cross can tell many stories—usually without mentioning names—of local folks

Boy Scouts to Pick Up Papers Again Saturday

Saturday will be newspaper pickup day in Wayne.

Boy Scout troops plan to start collecting newspapers about 8:30 a.m., and request residents to have the papers stacked in front of their homes. The stacks can either be tied or placed in boxes.

Only newspapers can be used by the Midwest Paper Company of Omaha, which buys them from the troops. Silk paper magazines and Sunday newspaper magazines are not usable in the process of converting the newspapers into fresh newsprint.

By re-using newspapers, it is possible to avoid cutting down substantial numbers of pulpwood trees. Thus, the paper drives serve the purpose of conservation, plus relieving residents of a disposal problem and a fire hazard.

Scout troops earn $8 a ton or more for the paper they collect.

DEMOLISHED. This auto in which three youths were riding, left Highway 20 about one and a half miles east of Belden around 12:50 a.m. Sunday, rolled over and came to rest inverted on railroad tracks running parallel to the highway on the north. Marvin Arp, 18, driver of the car died Tuesday in the Wayne Hospital from injuries received in the accident. Passengers in the auto, Terry Jones, 17, and Robert Sanders, 18, both of Laurel, were hospitalized and later released.

Sunday Wrecks Injure, Kill

Several persons were injured and one youth died Tuesday of injuries received in a series of two accidents involving several vehicles near Belden and Laurel early Sunday morning, according to Trooper D. Matejka, Nebraska State Patrol, Norfolk.

Trooper Matejka reported a westbound auto, driven by Marvin H. Arp, 18, Carroll, went off Highway 20 about one and a half miles east of Belden at 12:50 a.m. Sunday, entered a ditch on the north side of the highway, rolled over and landed on its top on railroad tracks parallel to the road.

Terry Jones, 17, and Robert Sanders, 18, both of Laurel, were passengers in the auto. The patrolman said Donald Jacobsen of Laurel was passing by and noticed lights on the railroad tracks, investigated and summoned help by using a citizen's band radio in his car.

The Laurel ambulance was dispatched, picked up the three injured youths and then started to Wayne only to have a flat tire three and a half miles east of Laurel on Highway 15.

Officer Matejka stated that Glenn Morten of Morten's Service Station in Laurel took a spare tire to the ambulance and that the Wayne ambulance was summoned to meet the Laurel ambulance in order to transfer the three injured youths and take them into the Wayne hospital.

Charles L. Thomas, 28, accompanied by his wife, drove the Wayne ambulance to the scene and backed the vehicle up to the rear door of the Laurel ambulance, the Norfolk patrolman reported.

A southbound auto, driven by Dennis D. Schlines, 20, Wakefield, collided with the rear of the Morten Service's light pickup, which was north of the two ambulances. The impact knocked the small pickup into the south ditch, Matejka said. The Schlines vehicle continued on, striking the Wayne ambulance, injuring its driver, administrator of the Wayne Hospital. His wife was not injured in the collision, according to the report.

Trooper Matejka said the Wayne ambulance was pushed 11 feet backward by the impact and struck Harold White, 39, Laurel, who was starting to open the rear door of the vehicle.

The Laurel ambulance was not hit and its driver, John Kruld, was not injured.

A passing motorist took young Sanders to the Wayne Hospital, Matejka explained. He said the tire was changed on the Laurel ambulance and it, along with the Wayne police ambulance, the Wakefield ambulance and passing motorists, took the remaining injured into the Wayne hospital.

Law enforcement officers from Wayne and Laurel assisted Troopers D. Matejka and Nichols of Wakefield.

Marvin Arp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Arp of Carroll, died Tuesday at the Wayne Hospital. Funeral services have been set for 2 p.m. Friday at the Redeemer Lutheran Church in Wayne.

Extra Spice Added To Attract Farmers To Classes at WH

Farmers in the Wayne area are again being offered the chance to profit from the adult farmer classes which will be taught this year at the Wayne High School.

The series of courses, which begin Oct. 13 and run through most of January, will cover a variety of topics in farm management, dairy production, swine production, beef production and corn production. On the agenda for the courses are discussions of such topics as using farm credit as a management tool effectively, disease and parasite control of beef cattle and different methods of harvesting and drying corn.

Last year the class, which had an enrollment of about 15, was restricted to farm management and was taught by Lee Foote, agricultural representative at First National Bank in Wayne. This year the offering includes the other four areas of study—dairy, swine, beef and corn production.

A person can enroll for any one of the units of study or for any number of them. A fee of $3 per unit will be charged.

Helping Foote in the instruction this year will be Don Kubik, area dairy specialist at the Northeast Station near Concord; Bob Fritschen, area swine specialist at the Station, and other individuals who are qualified in each field. Foote will again teach the farm management section.

Classes will be held at the high school at 8 p.m. Each unit will run for three consecutive Tuesdays.

Following is the schedule for the series of courses, the dates the classes will meet and the subjects which will be covered each evening:

Ikes Will Renovate Lake

Members of the local Izaak Walton League met above the fire hall Monday night to confer with Alan Carson, Norfolk, State Game Commission representative, to discuss renovating Ikes' Lake northwest of Wayne.

It was discussed whether or not to proceed with recommendations made earlier by the commission to renovate the lake. The members decided to follow the game commission's suggestion to drain the lake to a lower water level. Chemicals will then be applied to eliminate the present fish. A new stock of bass, catfish and blue gills will be furnished by the State Game Commission next spring for restocking the renovated lake, according to Norris Weible, chapter president.

Weible said the Ikes will begin the renovation project immediately. He reported the group discussed the possibility of deepening the lake as a part of the project. Carson recommended deepening to decrease winterkill of the fish. The club decided to investigate the cost of increasing the lake's depth. Weible said.

Wayne High Juniors Named Officers of Library Organization

Tom McDermott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McDermott of Wayne, was elected president of the Nebraska Association of Student Library Assistants at the organization's annual convention Saturday.

McDermott named Betty Fisher, daughter of Mrs. Mary Fisher of Wayne, as secretary of the group. Both are juniors at Wayne High School.

Last year's president, Michele Reed of Randolph, conducted the meeting, which was held at the South Sioux City High School. Each candidate delivered a campaign speech before the general assembly prior to the voting.

Other officers include Vickie Linafelter, vice president; Susan Richards, treasurer, and Judy Pangborn, news reporter. All are from South Sioux City.

The Nebraska Association of Student Library Assistants focuses primarily upon northeast Nebraska, although membership is not limited to this area of the state.

A quarterly magazine, "The Library Card," is published by the group. The mailing address for NASLA is 720 Lincoln St., Wayne.

Bob Hill, WNAX news director, Yankton, S. D., was guest speaker and cautioned his listeners to overcome the apathy now apparent among American people. Hill spoke of the U. S. involvement in Viet Nam, student revolts on the campuses and the lack of genuine concern nationwide.

Conservation awards were presented by Ross Armstrong, Ponca, chairman of the district board, to Ray Wiedenfeld and Don Kneiff of Newcastle; Wark and Don Arends of Ponca; and William Sachau and Paul Koester of Allen.

Soren Hansens Visit Denmark

Mr. and Mrs. Soren Hansens, Dixon, returned Sept. 8 from a three-month trip to their native home, Denmark. Mr. Hansen, originally from Fyn, Denmark and his wife, from Fredericia, Denmark, first met on board ship to America in 1928, and have each crossed the Atlantic four times by ship and three times by air.

plane from Sioux City June 3 and the following day sailed from Newark, N. J., on the Swedish American Line, Gripsholm, docking June 12 in Copenhagen after a pleasant and smooth voyage. The couple noted that there had been 24 waters in the dining room for each meal.

Hansens have nine sisters and brothers in Denmark and during their stay visited in the homes of 30 to 40 friends and relatives.

They reported that the small grain harvest in Denmark this year had been exceptionally good, though the summer had been drier and warmer than usual. Schools there are back in session, operating from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day. The majority of students travel by bicycle and it is not uncommon to see people in their seventies still bicycling. All roads are hard surfaced.

Vacant farm homes are well cared for and many people from Germany, France and Spain come north to occupy them for the summer months. The languages of these countries, as well as English, are spoken fluently there.

On market day, when farmers bring produce, vegetables and flowers to the cities, there are many bargains available, such as huge bouquets of flowers for 50 cents. Many roadside fruit and vegetable stands are left-untended. Buyers help themselves, leaving payment and making change if necessary. All stores close at twelve noon Saturday and do not open until Monday morning.

July 4 Hansens attended the Danish American Festival at Hotel Iyldi Hus (White House) in Aalborg where Hubert Humphrey was one of the speakers, and met there, among the thousands of guests, Mr. and Mrs. Jens Jacobsen of Laurel and Mrs. Ingrid Skibo and Mary of Blair. They also visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kyois in Aggr Mors, Denmark.

While on their trip Hansens took a guided bus tour in the Harzen and Goslar, Germany area, and Sept. 8 they boarded the plane at Copenhagen, bound for Greenland, Montreal and Chicago, and arrived in Sioux City at 11 p.m. that evening, completing just 12 hours flying time.

At the Sioux City airport they were met by the Marvin Elyson family and enjoyed with them later in the evening the Danish pastry Mrs. Hansen had purchased earlier that day in Copenhagen.

WAKEFIELD TROJANS. These are the Wakefield boys who have been knocking helmets weekly on the football fields in the area.

The boys are coached by Lyle Trullinger, fifth from the right.

Carnes: Offensive Line Shines in Reserve Win

Receiving plenty of support from their offensive line, the backfield of the Wayne reserve football squad was able to overcome an 18-point deficit to emerge with a 38-24 victory in Monday's clash with Pierce.

Playing on the Mercer field, Wayne found itself trailing the hosts 18 to 0 with only seconds to play in the first half. Tony Plueger took a handoff from quarterback Dick Tietgen with eight seconds before the gun sounded and raced 91 yards for Wayne's first score in the contest.

Wayne rallied for another 22 points in the third quarter while giving up only six to the Pierce squad to take a 30-24 lead. Scores came on a three-yard pass play from Tietgen to Lonnie Biltoff, a 37-yard run by Plueger and a three-yard scamper by Jim Kenny. Ron Ring was the final Wayne player to cross the Pierce goal when he took the ball over from 19 yards out in the final quarter. Pierce was unable to put together a successful drive in the final quarter as the Wayne defense stiffened as the game drew to a close.

Coach Ron Carnes noted that his offensive line played its finest game in a long time, enabling the ball carriers to rip through the Pierce defense after the unsuccessful first quarter of action. That front line is made up of Tim Sharer, Bill Fletcher, Rod Cook, Lynn Gunderson, Joe Roberts, Donnie Hansen and Mike Ginn.

Strong in the defensive department in the action were John Roberts with nine unassisted tackles and two assists, Lynn Gunderson with six unassisted and four assists and Jerry Reeg with six unassisted and two assists. Also racking up at least four lone tackles each and helping out in several others were Rod Cook, Bill Fletcher, Dick Tietgen and Dave Johnson.

Workhorses in the rushing department for the local squad were Lonnie Biltoff and Kenny. Biltoff carried the ball 25 times for a total of 128 yards, just over five yards a carry. Kenny averaged over four yards, handling the ball 19 times for 83 yards total. Tony Plueger ripped through the Pierce line 10 times for an impressive 167 yards. Dick Tietgen carried four times for 26 yards and Ron Ring carried two times for 19 yards.

Next non-varsity football action will be Monday afternoon at four o'clock when the South Sioux City sophomores meet Wayne on the practice field. West Point's freshmen travel to Wayne next Thursday, Oct. 2, for another four o'clock game.

Score by quarters:
Wayne 0 8 22 8-38
Pierce 12 6 6 0-24

Laurel-Pierce Is Week's Highlight

Three area teams—Wayne, Laurel and Allen—will be looking to increase their perfect records to three straight victories Friday night. Two other teams—Winside and Wakefield—will be attempting to get above the .500 mark.

Wayne hosts Neligh Friday in another West Husker Conference clash. The Blue Devils have already defeated Madison and Winside-Pilger.

What looks to be the game of the week will probably take place on the Laurel High gridiron when undefeated Pierce takes on the Bears in another West Husker contest. Laurel has yet to meet as stiff an opponent as the Pierce squad (the Bears have already rolled past Bloomfield and Neligh) and the outcome of that game will probably have great importance in determining who wears the West Husker Conference crown at the season's end.

Possibly still a bit nervous after their slim 17-14 win over Winside Friday, the Allen Eagles will attempt to make their 1969 homecoming perfect by marking up the season's third victory in Friday's tilt with arch-rival Ponca.

The two area teams with their records already marred by defeat will both be on the road Friday night. Winside takes on Hartington and Wakefield takes on Pender.

Laurel Ranked 10th

Apparently impressed by Laurel's 36-0 victory over Bloomfield and 52-14 victory over Neligh, the Omaha World-Herald reserved 10th place for the Bears in its first rating of class B high school football teams earlier this week.

Holding down the top spot among the class B teams is Cozad. Pender earned fifth position in the daily paper's rating of class C schools.

Given top spot in the first rating of northeast Nebraska teams by the Norfolk Daily News is Pierce, a team touted by those who have seen it in action. Laurel earns fifth, Pender sixth and Wayne seventh in that rating.

Whites Return Insults Sunday In Rec Football

Both White teams in the city recreation football program knocked off their Gray opponents in Sunday's action, making up for the previous clashes in which the Gray squads came out on top.

In the action among the lighter boys, Brian Hendrick and Charley Johnson scored for the Whites to give them a 12-8 victory in the first game. Hendrick took the ball over from five yards out in the first quarter, Johnson scampered 80 yards in the third to return a kick for a score.

The Gray team came to life in the final quarter, scoring its only touchdown on a five-yard run by quarterback Paul Mallette. Mallette seconds later connected on a pass to Steve Johnson for a two-point conversion to move the Grays within four points, 12-8.

The Gray team forced their opponents into a punting situation with about two minutes of action left, then moved the ball all the way to the White five before the gun sounded.

Leading the White team were Hendrick and Randy Parks. Gray players effective in the action were Mallette, Johnson and Robert Mitchell.

The heavier White team blanked the Gray squad, 6-0, in the second game.

That contest saw good—but ineffective—charges by both teams. The Whites halted the Gray team inside the White 20 twice. The Grays held the Whites inside the Gray 20 three times. But with about 1:30 left to play Marty Hansen passed from his own 20 to Earle Overin on the 40 and Overin raced all the way for the game's only touchdown.

Outstanding players in the contest included Kevin Heithold, Todd Bigelow, Hansen and Overin for the winners, and Bill Schwartz, Gordon Cook, Greg Stammer and Bruce Kucera for the losers.

Stoltenberg Hopes WS Offense Will Improve Against MSC Saturday

Missouri Southern College provides the next target for Wayne State football as the Wildcats battle for their first win Saturday night at Carthage, Mo.

A year ago on the home field Wayne edged Southern, 20-16, in their first encounter. That was Southern's first season in senior college football after rating among the nation's top junior college teams, and it gave 10 opponents a stiff tussle though losing eight games.

Wayne coaches figure Southern will be a formidable foe again this year. Among returning veterans is quarterback Pat Wozniak, who hit 14 of 23 passes for 198 yards against the 1968 Wildcats.

The MSC football brochure notes that "defensively the Lions came a long way in the spring after learning a new system called the Fun Defense. Coach Rube Berry (new at MSC) feels that a good team must start with a reckless bunch of defenders, and the spring scrimmage indicated that the Lions might be on their way to having a little fun defensively."

Defense is Wayne's strength again this year, though not strong enough against passing, Coach Del Stoltenberg observes. In rushing, neither Wayne opponent this year and few in recent years managed much progress on the ground.

Main problem concerns offense, Stoltenberg said again after Wayne's 10-0 loss Saturday to Hiram Scott College. A week before it was Kansas State Teachers College that stymied the Wildcat attack. Against the Wildcats, Wayne ended with a minus 39 yards rushing, the result of leaky pass protection.

To help plug the leak, coaches have been drilling two senior defensive stalwarts, Chuck Lellos and Tom Klutcharch, at offensive tackle and guard.

Part of the offensive problem may be cured with the return to full performance of tackles Doug Barclay and Randy Cordes, both handicapped in the Scott game with injuries from the previous week.

The Wayne-Scott skirmish was a peculiar spectacle—plenty of action, but not much yardage to show for it on either side. The Wildcats mounted six attacks to the Scott 20 or deeper and twice were inside the 10. One of the deep penetrations ended with an interception in the end zone, the other with a lost fumble when quarterback Marty Going was blitzed on a pass attempt.

At that point in the fourth quarter, Scott led, 3-0, from a second-quarter field goal. The fumble gave the foe possession on its own 21, and 11 plays later a 33-yard pass from Ken Kinsey to Jon Davis reached Wayne's goal. Ron Caso, who had booted the field goal, added the extra point.

The Scotties, in their season opener, were penalized 17 times, 10 of them for being offside and once for offensive holding which nullified a touchdown.

Survey of Consumer

Buying, Improvement Scheduled for Area

Census Bureau representatives will take their quarterly survey of consumer buying and home improvement expectations in the Wayne area during October, according to Guy A. Lutz, director of the Bureau's regional office in St. Paul.

The survey is part of a nationwide effort to gather information used to guide Federal agencies and other groups in developing programs based on consumer spending patterns. A sample of residents in this area will be asked if they expect to buy a house, car or major appliance during the next year and if they have made recent purchases of these items. Homeowners will be asked about home improvements and repairs during the last three months and any planned for the future.

In the most recent survey of the series, taken in July, families in the U. S. indicated that their plans to buy new cars were about the same as they had been a year earlier, but that expectations to buy houses were off sharply from a year earlier. The survey also showed a continued high level of expenditures for household durables.

Households in the sample to be surveyed are not identified. All answers are kept confidential by law, and information obtained will be published only as statistical totals, according to Lutz.
The Census Bureau representative in this area is Ruth Koehler of Norfolk.

Winside Church Plans to Honor Pastor Sunday

St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Winside, is planning special services Sunday in honor of the Rev. Herman M. Hilpert, who has ministered to the congregation all of his 45 years in the ministry. Dr. Oliver Harms, past president of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, St. Louis, Mo., will be the guest speaker at the special worship service at 10:20 a.m., according to Melvin Froehlich, chairman of the congregation. Froehlich emphasized that the dinner at noon and special services are open to the public. He noted that no special invitations have or will be sent. Participants in the 2 p.m. afternoon services commemorating the Rev. Hilpert's 45 years in the ministry will include the pastor's son, Rodney, a ministerial student at Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, Mo.; a Sunday school choir; the Walker League, and the senior choir. grateful for the Red Cross communications system. Through it a Red Cross representative in every county of the nation can quickly contact a Red Cross field director stationed with every major U. S. military unit in the world. Or a field director, by checking a directory of county representatives, can send an emergency message back home for a GI in need.

Sometimes the messages concern births, deaths, serious illness or other tragedy. Sometimes a GI is stranded without money enroute home, or a young wife arrives at a military base to find her husband suddenly transferred without her knowing, and she has no more money. A Red Cross call home has solved such problems - here in Wayne.

The Red Cross maintains reserves for major disasters, but occasionally the disasters - like the recent southern hurricane - become too major, and additional funds are asked. Red Cross blood bank, swimming, lifesaving and first aid programs have involved Wayne.

The Salvation Army works in many ways. In major cities, its centers provide relief for the down-and-out. In time of disaster, Salvation Army personnel move in quickly to organize and give relief. When small-scale disaster affects individuals or families, the Salvation Army again moves in - with care for unwed mothers, with money for a family that has had everything go wrong.

Locally, the Salvation Army designates a portion of the money it receives from Wayne right back to Wayne. This is administered by a committee composed of Adon Jeffrey, Dave Theophilus and Don Reed.

The Florence Crittenton Home provides care for unwed mothers and an adoption service for infants. Officials of the home in Sioux City report they have about

Memorial Book Aid

To Music Students

Recently placed on the shelves of the Wayne Public Library in memory of Janine Brown was a handy reference to music students. The book, "The Milton Cross Encyclopedia of the Great Composers and Their Music" by Milton Cross and David Ewen, not only gives information on the lives on the musicians past and present but also tells of their contribution to the history of music.

Also new to library users is a reference of value to history students. "The Annals of America" gives an account of yearly events in the history of American and tells what important Americans had to say about the events at that particular time.

Among the many new adult fiction books which have been added to the library recently are "Bullet Park" by John Cheever, "The Death Committee" by Gordon, "The Image Men" by Priestly, "Indian Hater" by Vernam, "The Two of Us" by Claude, "In the House of the Lord" by Flynn and "Ice Station Zebra" by McLean.

Some of the new non-fiction books on the shelves are "Twelve Cities" by Gunther, "Linkletter Down Under" by Art Linkletter, "The Day the World Ended" by Thomas, "The Quiet Rebels" by Bacon, "Martin Luther King Jr." by Miller, "The Tragedy of Lyndon Johnson" by Goldman and "The Prison of My Mind" by Benzler.

Aim NET Series at Rural, Urban People

Three program series of special interest to both urban and rural Nebraskans are scheduled for presentation as the Nebraska Educational Television Network begins a new broadcast season. "Cattleman's Calendar" is a series of five programs concentrating on the problems of raising cattle. "Water Resources" is a series of programs which will center on the problems and solution of the state's water needs and "Project 3-F: Food, Farms and the Future" is an in-depth study of the national and state farm problem.

Returning features on the 1969-70 schedule include "House and Home" and "The Bookshelf." Five programs will be produced on a cooperative basis with the states of Kansas, Oklahoma, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana and Nebraska in an attempt to define the problems and reactions of various segments of the economy to the farm problem.

Special programs this season include a tour of the state house, a conversation with former governors and a tour of the governor's mansion. Also, the second and third programs of a three-program series of "Know Your Government Tests" will be broadcast this fall. The second program deals with the electoral college, the third with state government. The first program, which dealt with county and city government, was broadcast last spring.

After a thorough discussion of the matter the planning commission voted to make a final recommendation that the Knolls subdivision plat include the intersection of Oak Drive and Third Street, or Fairground road, meet in a single point of intersection, the angle which is not more than 10 degrees from a right angle; and further recommended the street commencing at Third Street and Oak Drive intersection, continuing south on Oak Drive to Second Ave., then east to Maple Street, south on Maple to the intersection with Grandland Road shall be 60 feet wide serving as a collector street; that First Ave., Birch Street and Second Ave. west of Oak Drive, be allowed to serve as a minor residential street and remain at 50 feet in width.

The recommendation will now be presented to the city council, according to Keith Mosley, commission chairman.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers. It is the duty of an editorial writer to search all available facts before he sits down to write. From this basis the writer should be able to give a clear picture of important topics.

You may not agree with an editorial — but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

Guess Who Pays?

"Taxpayers revolt" are words being used more and more often by newspaper journalists throughout the nation. No one is yet ready to say they believe taxpayers will actually revolt against the ever increasing tax bite as no one knows.

There are, obviously, many Americans who talk about tax inequalities and excessive taxation including an occasional remark like, "I guess I'll just send my whole check to Washington and live on relief." Regardless of how often taxpayers talk about taxes, however, more often than not, they do not actually intend to carry on an overt revolt — not yet anyway.

Information in a report by Chairman Wilbur (D-Ark.) of the House Ways and Means Committee in the Aug. 6 Congressional Record is the type which could conceivably cause folk with less than $10,000 a year income to think about organizing a tax revolt.

We owe Chairman Mills a debt of gratitude for providing the information concerning a taxpayer who, through use of tax shelters, managed to claim a tax refund of $10,000 while receiving a two-year income of $600,000.

Rep. Mills described the case as follows: "A person I have known for a number of years deliberately set out in the taxable year 1968 to see that he could, through the use of these tax shelters and preferences, avoid the payment of any tax on $300,000 of income and not dispose of one penny of it. In the taxable year 1967 he paid a tax of somewhere between $155,000 and $165,000.

"He decided to change this by using two types of shelters — one an interest deduction, and the other, excess depreciation — divided among a series of partners in the ownership of a building. In this way he reduced the tax on his $300,000 not to zero, but to the point where he was entitled to a $10,000 refund when he filed his tax return on April 15, 1969. Despite this he received $600,000 of cash during these two years.

"He brought his return to me," Mills noted, "and he said, 'It is not right. I wanted to show you, as Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, and you in turn could show the members of the committee what is going on all over the country.'"

"These things, in my opinion, have brought about a situation where we might be faced with a breakdown of taxpayers' morale. Tax reform is needed to provide a sense of fair play in our tax system."

Whether or not a taxpayer's revolt ever develops may depend upon the number of taxpayers who discover how many non-taxpayers there are who also get refunds. — MMW.

Auto Expenses Up

Little, if anything, has remained untouched by the elevator of inflation, including the operational costs of one's automobile. Costs for the auto owner are scheduled for more increases on Jan. 1, 1970.

"Happy New Year" may be just a trifle more difficult to say with sincerity since Jan. 1 is the day when the state gasoline tax will climb from seven and a half cents to eight and a half cents a gallon. The increase was made official by the Nebraska Legislature on the last day of July.

LB 1300 which raised the gasoline tax was but one of several designed to launch the state on a stepped-up 20-year program of street and road improvements. At eight and a half cents a gallon, Nebraska's gasoline and diesel fuels tax will become one of the highest in the nation.

Another bill going into effect Jan. 1 will increase the previous $9 licensing fee for passenger cars to $15.50. Truck fees will increase correspondingly. License plates will be used for three years and will alternate from scarlet to white on scarlet.

All of the new revenue bills passed by the Legislature related to the state's road program are expected to add about $20 million a year to the highway revenue available for road and street purposes, boosting the total to $92 million.

It is this writer's opinion that Nebraska roads certainly can stand being improved and $92 million should provide the state with enough funds to build a few miles of new road each year and remove many a chuck-hole and rut.

Let's hope Highway 98 west of Carroll and 57 north of Carroll are given more than a face-lift in the near future. Many other highways in northeast Nebraska are much in need of some TLC (tender-loving-care) including Highway 15 north of Wayne.

Every bump, rut and hole a motorist hits, which may cost him an $8.50 alignment job, is going to remind him of the eight and a half cents a gallon tax he is paying.

One thing for sure, if the state expects to keep the taxpayer's feathers smoothed, they are also going to have to keep the roads that way also. — MMW.

Capital News — Unicameral Adjournment Will See End of Srb Era

LINCOLN — For 32 years — as long as Nebraska has had a unicameral legislature — Hugo Srb has been clerk of the state's law-making body.

With the end of the marathon 1969 session, Srb's long career comes to an end.

Moving in to replace the 69-year-old veteran is Vincent D. Brown, 33, who has assisted Srb during the 1967 and 1969 sessions. Brown's appointment and Srb's retirement were effective with the final adjournment.

Srb's association with Nebraska's legislature goes back to the two-house days.

He was a member of the senate during the 1931 and 1933 sessions.

In 1935, the last session of the bicameral legislature, he was secretary of the senate.

Then, in 1937, he was appointed clerk for the first session for the one-house system. He has been clerk ever since.

"There is some dispute about who really deserves the title of father of the unicameral system," he said, "but I've always felt

I was the mother."

A resolution signed by each of the senators was passed. It praised Srb for his service and commissioned him to write a history of the one-house system.

The history, the resolution said, would be a useful document to have in the state's archives and would help Nebraska school children better understand the state's unique system of law-making.

Srb is an unrelenting advocate of the unicameral. He has traveled throughout the nation to explain how Nebraska's system works.

Although no other state has made the switch from two houses to one, several new nations have. Srb has hosted groups from all over the world who have come to Lincoln to learn about the system.

He is to be furnished with office space and clerical help while he works on the writing project. The senators agreed his $14,128 annual salary should be continued for two years while he does his research and writing.

Brown will be paid $15,750 as clerk. This salary, according to Sen. C. W. Holmquist of Oakland, also will be paid to John Wilson, revisor of statutes, and Marlin Rein, fiscal analyst. They are the other two key officials on the legislature's full-time staff.

Holmquist is chairman of the executive board of the legislative council. As the administrative arm of the legislature, it was the board's job to recommend that Srb's retirement begin with the adjournment of the 1969 session.

Srb said he would have preferred to have stayed on the job as clerk until the loose ends from the session had been tied together.

Holmquist was the chief sponsor of the resolution. Srb normally reads resolutions into the record, but that job was assigned this time to Speaker Jerome Warner of Waverly.

Warner's father, Charles, was speaker of the first one-house legislature — when Srb began his duties as clerk.

Declines "Babysitting" Payment. It was almost time for adjournment — time to laugh about some of the wounds which were opened during the long session.

One of the major controversies was the speeding ticket a State Patrol trooper gave Sen. William R. Skarda Jr. of Omaha — the reaction the trooper said Skarda had when the ticket was issued. Skarda paid a $35 fine. Last week, under the sponsorship of Sen. Thomas Kennedy of Newman Grove, the "hat" was passed for Skarda and $38.75 reportedly was collected to reimburse the Omaha.

Skarda acknowledged the money and said he was going to send the extra $3.75 to Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann as his pay for "babysitting" the legislature this session.

This was a reference to a remark Tiemann made a few months earlier at North Platte. "I'm a part-time state employee," the governor said, "and a full-time babysitter for the legislature. A page was dispatched to the governor's office with the money and a note addressed "To our leader."

Highways bring Better Living

Tiemann got a big chuckle out of the offering, but he declined with thanks.

"The babysitting services of this office are free," he said in a return note. Most services of this office are non-professional. He said the cash was being returned to be divided between Skarda and Omaha Sen. Eugene T. Mahoney, who was with Skarda when their car was stopped by the trooper. He added a quarter for each of the lawmakers "to soothe your bruised feelings." Sessions Scheduled

Gov. Tiemann has a schedule of 25 "town hall" meetings starting in October and running through April.

Next month, the governor will be in Omaha on the 13th, Blair the 14th and Papillion the 21st.

The remaining schedule: Omaha, Nov. 3; Hartington, Nov. 10; Bassett, Nov. 19; West Point, Dec. 1; Albion, Dec. 2; Fremont, Dec. 8; Wahoo, Dec. 15; Lincoln, Jan. 6; Falls City, Jan. 19; Omaha, Jan. 26; Gordon, Febr. 2; Alliance, Febr. 16; Scottsbluff, Febr. 23; Kimball, March 2; Grant, March 9; McCook, March 16; Lexington, March 17; Minden, March 30; Broken Bow, April 8; Grand Island, April 13; Hastings, April 20, and Fairbury, April 27.

Wakefield

Dear Editor: In reply to why we don't hire a teacher to teach typing in the rural school is very simple. The first thing is the pupils need all the practice they can get in hand writing, as there are many who are poor writers (and you can't carry a typewriter with you all the time). The reason for a few years it was thought penmanship wasn't necessary.

Another thing, typing shouldn't be taught till they are about a junior in high school. So after graduation from high school it is still fresh in their minds if they get a job or go on to college where it is a necessity to know how to type.

The 1970 light-your-fire Buicks are here.

They're just for you. The cars you've been asking for. From Buick 1970.

This one is the GS 455 Sleek, sporty exciting.

Its engine? 455 cubic inches, 350 horses strong. With a four-barrel carburetor that breathes through real air scoops.

Four on the floor? A finely tuned 3-speed automatic? Both are available. Power disc brakes. Positive traction differential. High performance rear axle ratios, too. And lots more.

Wide-tread fiberglass belted tires that are standard on all 1970 Buicks give improved traction during braking, cornering and acceleration, significant increases in tread life, and substantially superior resistance to road hazards.

Side guard beam construction for added protection. Body by Fisher.

There's luxury, too. Bucket seats, if you want them. Full carpeting.

Obviously the most exciting car we've ever made. And one that you've been asking for. See it. See all the 1970 Light-Your-Fire Cars. The Gran Sports and Skylark Sport Coupes and Convertibles.

HIGHEST RATED of All Encyclopedias Available In Supermarkets*

Now at last you may own at a price that all can afford, a truly great encyclopedia that contains an enormous amount of helpful information for all the family arranged so ingeniously that, despite its vast scope, it achieves an ease of consultation equaled only by its completeness in essential information. Yes, a truly great encyclopedia... but an encyclopedia with a difference... a modern in concept that it tends to make the rigidly alphabetical "dictionary" type encyclopedia obsolete.

UNIQUE METHOD OF ORGANIZING MATERIAL

Thirty years of experience in this field have convinced the publishers of THE ENCYCLOPEDIA OF WORLD KNOWLEDGE that the usual old-fashioned method of alphabetical arrangement still used by most of the multi-volume encyclopedias no longer is in keeping with modern day needs. Our studies have shown that when totally unrelated subjects are ranked next to each other in a uniform A-to-Z arrangement, a vast amount of information is unavoidably duplicated. This means a great loss of space, which, under our plan, is utilized for additional information.

Because of our system of classification under subject, and then alphabetical within the subject, rather than a system of general alphabetization, THE ENCYCLOPEDIA OF WORLD KNOWLEDGE contains the greatest possible amount of information in the smallest space so the reader spends much more of his time learning rather than just searching.

This work much more than a mere source book of information, presents a range of knowledge much greater than you might imagine possible. Some idea of the scope of this remarkable encyclopedia may be gained from the fact that it covers more than 26,000 index topics and 8,500 Dictionary subjects.

The majority of the Chicago Livestock Cattle Futures Contracts are handled at various livestock centers. In one month, some brokers handle more paper cattle than Longhorns traveled the Chisholm Trail. These Druggstore Cattlemen are without the odor, manure, haying or six-foot snowdrifts. It's cattle-buying Hart, Schafner and Marx style, with more pressure and tension than a Miami Beach duplicate bridge tournament.

Futures are as vehement to a farmer-feeder as the bite of a Black Widow. Yet to a commercial feedlot, Futures mean a heaven on Earth. Reason: no farmer can afford to lock in a minimal $10 per head profit (which would not even pay the school tax). But to a commercial lot with 10-50,000 head capacity, $10 per head means the need to jockey bookkeeping to prevent overpayment to the Internal Revenue.

Futures are with us, it's big business. Brokers and speculators make and lose fortunes — but commissions are steady. That alone guarantees continuation.

But, Futures need a thorough, complete and massive overhaul. Cattlemen should not be subjected to the secret combinations of packer, chain store, broker and commission man. Nor should he be subjected to unregulated power swings by conglomerate packers that sell high contracts in April and then dump carlot meat prices 50 cents lower for 13 consecutive days, as this past July. Results: big profits on Futures while holding plant operations at a break-even point. Meanwhile, the cattle industry suffered a $60 to $70 per head drop in the past 90 days.

How will a commission man sell your live cattle if he owns a short position? How would a packer beefman sell meat higher if he personally wants a down swing? Would a major chain feature chicken or beef if it owned hundreds of contracts?

This past fall and winter many bankers insisted their small customers protect themselves by a hedge, by a sale. Results: a $40-$50 head loss in either delivery and replacement combination, or a $40 loss in purchasing back the contract. Speculators profited in December and February. A Whittier, Calif., combine cornered the market and whipped the hedging cattleman $3 to $4 per cwt. Above the cash market.

Neither delivery or reception of cattle is satisfactory; inspection is as inconsistent as Russian Roulette. Yet, with a housecleaning, Futures could be extremely beneficial.

1. Add and permit a bonafide outright sale and purchase contract to prevent a call-up of additional margin money.
2. Regulate packer, commission companies and, chain store executives to own no more than 10 per cent of three days' needs.
3. Register and publish the names and contract positions of any individual or firm covering 1,000 or more head.
4. Allow more delivery tolerances, either on live or dressed basis, with examination by cattleman — not office boys.
5. Use only qualified cattle brokers. Not Las Vegas without a floorshow!

Unfortunately I'm still optimistic, like an inventor living on welfare. The cattle market has been manipulated, ran into an all-time record slaughter, caught a vicious, questionable USDA Cattle on Feed Report and faced Koshier non-slaughter days. Psychologically, the chains absolutely controlled the dressed market — whittling with both hands, whittling with a keen, sharp blade.

Yet, the beef demand is high. If consumers borrow from our future cattle supply now, he will pay higher prices later.

Suggested price range, using hot carcass weight: Steers, $47.00, Heifers, $45.00. Again, this is above the Yellow Sheet.

Spray Now to Control Weeds

Now is the time to carry out fall spraying programs for weed control. Farmers have the opportunity to help themselves with some of next year's weed problems.

Musk thistle is a good example: where dense infestations occurred this summer, a tremendous rosette population is likely this fall. Spraying rosettes this fall will prevent established seed-bearing plants next year.

Musk thistle is easier to kill in the rosette stage than at any other time. Frequently in the spring, with the rush of work, spraying at the rosette stage may be missed and done later when the plant starts to bolt or bloom. This is too late for effective control.

Plumless thistle, a close relative of musk thistle, should be handled the same way. Use two lbs. of 2,4-D per acre in 10 to 20 gallons of water. Where a dense overgrowth occurs, it may be necessary to mow and then spray to get the herbicide down to the plants.

Another weed that is widespread in Nebraska, but particularly in the northern tiers of counties, is leafy spurge. Leafy spurge is another plant that can be partially controlled by fall spraying. Use 2,4-D at two lbs. per acre. The important consideration with this plant is to be sure and follow up the next spring with an additional spraying to control seedlings. This spring application should occur when the old surviving plants of the previous year are in the bud stage. At this time, the new plants are still seedlings and the old plants are susceptible to 2,4-D. Both stages can then be controlled with 2,4-D at two lbs. per acre.

Repeat — spring spraying is essential for success, however, to ensure that seedlings do not become established and provide a new crop of perennial plants fall spraying is recommended.

Vollmar Talks of Market; 'Muscle Power' of Farmer

Will the farmer ever have any "muscle power?" Will he continue to passively accept an "offered price" for his products?

Do those who farm the land, feed the cattle, etc., have an obligation or responsibility to humanity?

Will all marketing of agricultural products some day be managed by the government?

These and other questions were presented by Dr. Glen Vollmar, chairman of the University of Nebraska Agricultural Economics Dept., at the Great Plains Agricultural Council meeting recently at Oklahoma City, Okla.

Dr. Vollmar asserted that as far as society is concerned it is "still questionable" whether farmers and ranchers can and should exert organized, market power which approaches monopolistic action, and he noted that if farmers are successful in bargaining, there is "considerable concern" over the nature of economic and social impacts.

With his topic being various bargaining arrangements, especially as they would affect Great Plains agriculture, Dr. Vollmar discussed bargaining alternatives in both the private and the public sector.

"Some of the private sector opportunities which one might consider for organized bargaining," he said, "are marketing cooperatives, commodity groups, farm organizations and individual farm contractual arrangements with integrated markets or processors."

"For the most part, these possibilities look to voluntary membership and action. Major changes in organizational structure, farmer attitudes and legal limitations are needed if the bargaining strength of the Great Plains farmer is to be enhanced through private sector alternatives."

In discussing public sector bargaining alternatives, he noted marketing orders and agreements, bargaining boards, and farm production and marketing programs of the USDA.

He observed that marketing orders are now limited to only a few commodities, and that such orders (mandatory if, through reference, two-thirds of producers vote approval) can strengthen producer position "at least over the short run." Proposed legislation would extend marketing orders over a wider range of commodities.

Marketing agreements, he said, are less effective than marketing orders because they involved a voluntary agreement for producer participation.

Dr. Vollmar said the bargaining board or committee mechanism could provide Great Plains farmers with "increased market power," and he said it appears that national programs involving public action "can offer modestly effective means" for that if farmers are successful in bargaining, there is "considerable concern" over the nature of economic and social impacts.

"Our present farm production and marketing structure, attitudes particularly in regard to independent decision-making, and legal bases will need to undergo considerable change before farmers can stand toe to toe with highly organized and industrialized marketing, processing and supply firms."

Dr. Vollmar asked if bargaining for higher prices "can ignore the possibility of increased research and development and further entry of synthetic food products (for example, soybean products as a substitute for milk or meat products) into the market."

Barley Added to Grain Program

Barley will be included in the 1970 feed grain program, it was announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Decision to include barley in the program follows the Sept. 10 crop report which indicates a record new national average yield of 44.4 bushels per acre, according to T. P. Roberts, manager of the ASC office in Wayne.

Until 1960, annual barley yields since 1866 had averaged less than 30 bushels per acre. In 1960, the crop average was 30.9; in 1965, it was 35.1; in 1967, 40.6, and this year, 44.4. Although harvested acreage has been declining, the larger yields

Soybean Field Day

To Be at Field Lab in Mead Thursday

University of Nebraska researchers will outline soybean studies being conducted at the field laboratory at Mead and other locations in Nebraska during a field day Thursday.

Soybean producers and others interested in soybeans will assemble at the agronomy headquarters at the field laboratory at 1:15 p.m. The first part of the afternoon will involve an extensive tour of fields and plots at the laboratory where soybean variety trials, date-of-planting studies, row spacing, use of TIBA (growth regulator), hail recovery, harvesting practices and foundation seed plots will be observed.

At 3:15 p.m., those attending the field day will return to the field lab headquarters to hear reports on soybean research being conducted at other sites in Nebraska. These discussions will touch on fertility, subsurface irrigation, weed control, disease and insects affecting soybeans, and variety evaluation in the out-state testing program.

"The Field Day will provide an excellent opportunity for all those interested in soybeans to get an overview of the entire research program on this important crop being conducted by the University," commented Duane Foote, secretary-manager of the Nebraska Grain Improvement Association.

Windbreak Site Plowed Now Will Help in Spring

Now is the time to begin planning for a new farmstead windbreak next spring, according to Arnold R. Marr, district conservationist. Fall plowing a site, he said last week, is the best assurance for establishing new trees.

It is important in preparing the site to be certain it has the right length and width, the conservationist points out, and that it should be located properly to protect the farmstead area.

The windbreak, Marr noted, should be about 100 feet to the northwest of the building area. A good windbreak should contain at least six rows of trees and the rows should be 14 feet apart. Half of the rows should be evergreen-type of trees such as cedar and pine.

Marr said windbreaks are not costly, but it takes time for them to become effective. An average windbreak costs an owner less than $50, but it takes around four or five years before much benefit is received.

Anyone interested in planting trees next spring should start making plans this fall, for the project, Marr advised. He said the technicians at the Wayne Soil Conservation Service would be glad to assist anyone planning a windbreak.
