Twenty-three persons from northeast Nebraska recently completed the American Red Cross First Aid class which was held at the Northeast Station at Concord, Roy Stohler, Dixon County agent, taught the course.

These persons received training in care of the sick and injured, including treatment for shock, poisoning, fractures, severe bleeding and stoppage of breathing.

In addition, 10 persons are taking additional training in Medical Self Help. This includes radioactive fallout and shelters, health for living in emergencies, nursing care of the sick and injured, infant and child care and emergency child birth.

Those completing the First Aid Course: Dale and Dorsey Miller, Laura Test, Allen and Betty Wittig and Vicky Skokan, all of Wayne; Mrs. Norris Emery, Melissa Emery and Ruth Whig, Allen; Arlene and Melvin Young of Wisner; Mrs. Sharon Stockwell, Mrs. Marlys Saylor and Mrs. Neva Pearson, Hartington; Mrs. Erwin Lubberstedt, Mrs. Thure Johnson, Mrs. James B. Marlett, Myrtle Stauffer, Mrs. Ervin Bartels, Mrs. Elvris Olson, Mrs. Vern Carlson and Mrs. Elnor Jensen, Wakefield, and Mrs. Marlen Johnson, Concord.

Those taking the Medical Self Help training are Melvin and Arlene Young, Mrs. Elnor Jensen, Allan and Betty Wittig, Mrs. Marlen Johnson, Mrs. Sharon Stockwell, Mrs. Neva Pearson, Mrs. James' Marlett and Dale Miller.

Corn Stalks OK As Cattle Feed If Supplemented

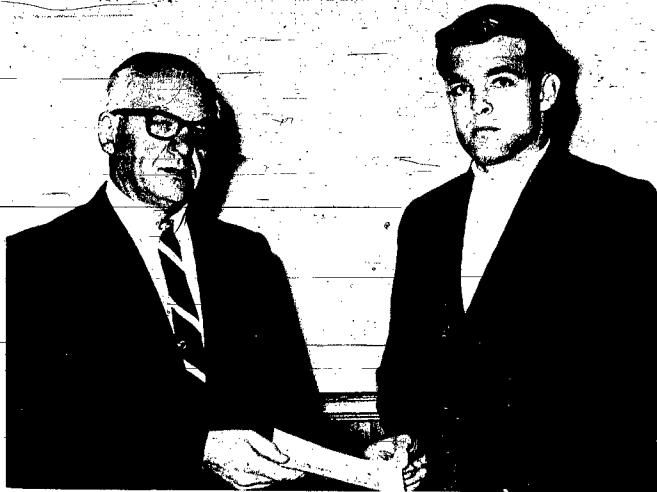

Pasturing corn stalks can cheapen beef cattle rations if they are properly fed. However, unless their natural faults of low protein, mineral and vitamins are corrected, corn stalks may be an expensive feed.

That reminder comes from Walt Tolman, area beef specialist at the Northeast Station near Concord.

In a Northeast Station test, corn stalks alone produced less than half a pound daily gain for beef calves. Interest, risk of death loss and a little charge for labor and use of equipment could equal the value of this gain, according to Tolman. He notes that adding a protein, mineral and vitamin supplement can easily double this gain, resulting in a nice profit for the feeder.

An ideal supplement for corn stalks is alfalfa hay, with from three to five pounds of alfalfa hay per day balancing the ration, he notes. Daily hay feeding is not recommended, because cattle eat more when fed nearly equal shares every other day or twice a week. They also seem to fill better on the rough feed instead of waiting for a daily hay feed, Tolman notes.

Herald Prints Early Next Week

Next Thursday's issue of The Wayne Herald, the eighth of nine "extraordinary" issues, will be printed one day early because of Thanksgiving holiday.

That issue of the paper, which will be printed Tuesday afternoon, will have a press run of 7,500 and will be distributed throughout northeast Nebraska.

The cooperation of advertisers and correspondents will be required so that all copy for that Thursday issue of the paper will be received one day earlier than usual.

Hamer Is Named As Interviewer

Members of the Regional and 25 Joint Planning Commission for Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice recently named David Hamer of Wayne to carry out the interview work in Wayne County as part of making an eight-county survey of police, prosecution, court and penal institution practices.

Counties cooperating in the northeast Nebraska crime commission project are Wayne, Dixon, Antelope, Madison, Pierce, Knox, Cedar and Stanton.

Richard E. Mueeting, consultant to the commission, noted earlier this fall concerning the survey, "Specifically, it seeks to determine what differences and similarities exist in the daily implementation of Nebraska's criminal law by police, prosecutors, judges and juries."

Meeting said the principal objective of the study is to determine the practicing standard or standards followed by law enforcement officials in the region and will provide citizens with facts with which to determine whether such standards are satisfactory.

Norris Weible, commission secretary, said former Wayne County Judge Hamer was named last week to carry out the interview work related to the survey in Wayne County. He will begin his work in the immediate future.

Allen Lady Absent

An Allen lady, Mrs. V. C. Geiger, missed a chance to take home a very timely gift from the Wayne Chamber of Commerce when she was not in town Thursday night.

Her name was the one called during the weekly Cash Night drawing. Had she been present in one of the stores which makes the drawing possible, she would have taken home a check for $300.

This week's prize now jumps to $350. The drawing will be held Friday night at eight o'clock.

Publisher Tells Wakefield PTA Of Alcoholism

Kerry Leggett, publisher of the Ord Quiz, spoke to about 70 members of the Wakefield PTA Tuesday night in the elementary school's multi-purpose room.

Leggett explains in his talks to schools and related organizations concerning his battle with alcohol that a desire to be "one of the gang" originally started him drinking. "I was an alcoholic before I was of legal drinking age," the publisher said. He observed that alcoholism is a disease of mind and body.

After recalling his school days, being expelled from school and being sent to a military academy, he stated, "I liked what booze did to me."

Leggett confessed, "I wouldn't listen to my folks. I know how to run the show. Alcoholism is progressive; it gets worse; it never stops," he informed his listeners.

The newspaperman said he finally attempted suicide with sleeping pills while in the military. After he was discharged he returned home and only wanted to die.

The guest speaker then noted some of the things which helped him recover from his dependency and alcoholism. He told of being able, through guidance of good friends and prayer to get hold of himself.

Hearing Set Tuesday

The proposed amendment concerns mobile homes.

Specialists Say Beef Losses Can Be Reduced in Winter

Area cattle feeders don't have to be reminded about the huge cattle losses suffered during last year's severe winter.

However, cattle losses could be cut this winter if cattle feeders will follow some recommendations made by two University of Nebraska staff members at the Northeast Station near Concord. Those two men—Walt Tolman and Wayne Fisher—put their thoughts together last week in order to come up with some ideas for improving feed yards for wintering cattle.

And the ideas they came up with won't take much time or cost much money. Tolman, area beef specialist, says that feedlot cattle gain faster and cheaper if they are protected from mud and biting cold wind. Fisher, area agricultural engineer, suggests that farmers can protect their big investments from these two threats by building mounds in their feed yards. These mounds can be pushed up so cattle can have a dry resting place; at the same time they will serve as a windbreak, Fisher points out.

Because working weather is at a premium now, Fisher suggests that a day or two spent preparing lots now could benefit the operator all winter and spring. Lot improvements may pay bigger dividends than rushing the fall harvest, according to Fisher.

Although feedlots have been better this fall than usual, most of them are dry enough now for dirt and manure moving with a tractor and loader. Unless they are improved now they will create plenty of headaches when they freeze solid and then thaw this coming spring, the two specialists remind farmers.

Mounds should be oriented so they don't block natural drainage and so they will blow free of snow, Tolman suggests that if possible the mounds should extend to the banks so cattle don't have to walk through mud between mound and bank. Mounds in a "U" formation from the bank apron is a good design, says the beef specialist.

The two men recommend that three feet or more of elevation and a crowned surface makes the best mound. The ideal mound should have 20 to 30 square feet per animal since a 100-pound steer takes 13 square feet standing room in a crowded truck. Limestone on the mound surface is recommended by some sources.

Building windbreaks may not rate in importance above finishing harvest, but placing any needed posts before ground freeze sounds logical. Tolman notes that the most important function of windbreaks may be in keeping snow out of lots. This may be more important than reducing

Wayne High Schedules Clinic for Measles

All students under 15 years of age in the Wayne City Schools will have a chance to get a shot for measles during a measles clinic scheduled for Tuesday.

The vaccinations, which will be given at the nurse's office in West Elementary from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m., are for red measles and not the three-day measles.

Sponsored by the schools at Wayne and Carroll and the Nebraska State Department of Health, the measles shots are available for $1 per student. Youngsters should pay their fee at the time they receive their shots.

The shots will not be available for students 15 years of age or older. Students attending rural schools in the county are invited to take advantage of the clinic if they are accompanied by a parent. Pre-school children must also be accompanied by a parent.

Two Wrecks Wednesday Due to Ice

Ice-coated streets in Wayne were a contributing factor in two accidents occurring Wednesday.

Wayne police were called to investigate when a 1968 Buick, driven by Orvella Blomkamp, was going east on West Fourth Street about 10:10 a.m., and slid into a parked pickup. The 1967 Dodge pickup is owned by Harvold Erdman and received an estimated $55 damage. The Blomkamp auto had an estimated $165.37 of damage.

Wednesday afternoon around 4:30 p.m. another accident occurred in the 100 block on West Sixth Street just north of the Methodist Church. Mrs. Anne Lage, driving a 1958 Chrysler, started to back from the curb and then stopped, according to the police file. Curtis Carmichael was approaching in a 1956 Chevrolet, applied brakes, slid on the ice and struck the Lage auto.

A vandal or vandals entered a restroom at Ray's DX Station Friday and removed numerous articles according to police.

Dismissing Wednesday

Students in the Wayne public school system will be let out at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon for Thanksgiving vacation. Buses will begin their normal run at that time. Classes will be held regularly again next Monday.

Winside Native Named VA Insurance Officer

A native of Winside has been named Insurance Officer at the Veterans Administration Center at St. Paul, Minn.

In his new post, Oliver O. Koles, 55, will supervise one of only two offices in the nation responsible for the VA's insurance program—the third largest ordinary life insurance enterprise in the world.

Koles attended elementary and high schools in Wayne County. He attended college at Iowa State University in Ames and Wayne State College.

Koles, who now lives in Edina, Minn., was formerly chief of the St. Paul VA Center's finance and data processing division. He is a veteran of 33 years of federal government service.

The St. Paul office services policies held by veterans living generally west of the Mississippi River. The VA's Philadelphia office covers the eastern part of the country. The total VA insurance program serves nearly 9.4 million policyholders.

Koles joined the Veterans Administration as a finance officer trainee at the VA regional office at Lincoln in 1946, after 10 years in the Army. Shortly afterwards he transferred to the VA office at St. Paul, where for the past See OFFICER, page 6

Winside Pupils To Get Vaccine

Educational Service Unit Ipersonnel will be at the Winside Public Schools Tuesday to inoculate students, grades kindergarten through twelve, against hard measles.

Children, one to five years old, may also take advantage of this service and must be accompanied by parents. Children of teachers not attending school in Winside or not yet in school may also get the shot, according to Ron Kramer, principal. The inoculations cost one dollar per child and the ESU I nurse, Mrs. Parrot, will start giving the shots at 9 a.m. tomorrow in the school gymnasium.

Housing Authority Gets Nod to Build 38 Units

Members of the Wayne Housing Authority received a telegram Friday from Senator Roman Hruska, Senator Carl Curtis and Congressman Robert Denney stating that approval in Washington D. C. had been made for a preliminary loan of $5,700 which would allow Wayne to begin planning construction of 38 low-rent housing units.

George Thorbeck is chairman of the Wayne Housing Authority with other members being Robert Lund, Dale Johansen, the Rev. Frank Peterson and Mike Eynon. The housing authority was appointed by the mayor several years ago and approved by the city council.

Chairman Thorbeck said the application to HUD (Housing and Urban Development) originally asked approval for a total of 96 units. The application was sent in for approval approximately one year ago, he noted.

Housing authority members in Wayne will now await further instructions from the HUD office in Chicago.

Play Has New Date

Wakefield High School's junior class play, "Boarding House Reach," originally scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday, has been scheduled for the evening of Dec. 10, according to school administrators.

The three-act comedy to be presented in the elementary school auditorium, has a plot centering around a family with a boy who has an enterprising young mind when it comes to getting enough money to buy a bicycle.

New Publication Appears on College Campus

The first edition of a new publication, the Wayne State College Social Science Review, made its appearance this week, published by the college's Social Science Division.

Editor Francis Moul, instructor of political science, described the Review in a foreword as "a new venture on campus, to provide a vehicle for the publication of views, comments and research by faculty members and students. It is an inter-disciplinary undertaking, not restricted to any particular point of view or subject, with an emphasis on contemporary issues."

The first issue contains articles and reviews by faculty and students of the Social Science Division, but Moul said he hopes in future editions to include contributions from faculty and students of other campus disciplines.

A major article in the No. 1 issue is "The New Pattern of Pressure Politics" by Dr. T. H. Stevenson, associate professor of history. He cites the growth of legislative lobbying which, he writes, "typically, although not invariably, increases the range of the authority exercised by government officials over private individuals."

In recent years, Dr. Stevenson noted, more and more lobbying is done by "performer groups"—that is, by government officials and employees—"more or less formally authorized to speak for government agencies that carry out services, mainly for non-governmental persons."

Dr. Stevenson also cites a growth in "recipient-group" lobbying, which he calls "usually just a little less morally reprehensible than 'performer-group' lobbying."

Another article, "The Shape of American Politics," makes a case for strong centralized government. The author is William Schwarz, a recent Wayne State graduate with a political science minor, formerly of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, now teaching at Mandamin, Iowa.

Dr. Charles Hepburn, chairman of the Social Science Division, has an article graphically contrasting the basic premises in the Declaration of Independence with Marxism-Leninism. He shows diametric opposites in their concepts of the metaphysical, political, ethical and judicial matters that undergird a way of life.

Other articles in the Review: "The Pentagon and Social Science Research" by Mary Volkmer, a senior social science major from Nebraska City.

"Overview of the New Left" by Rod Karr, a senior history major from Ireton, Iowa.

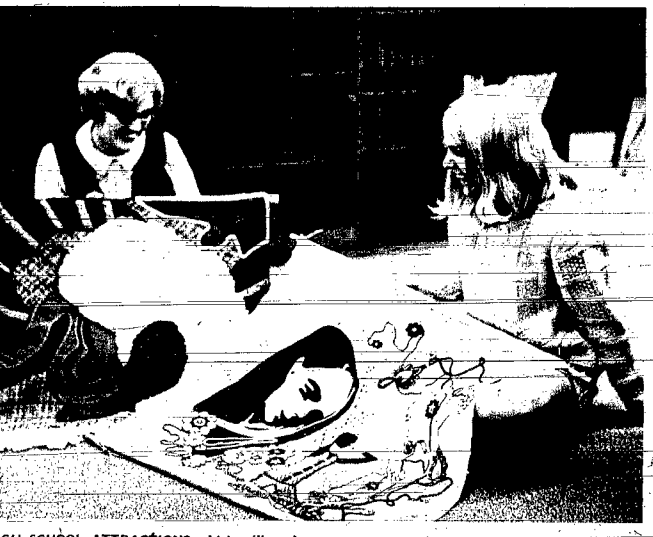

"The New Left: Programs and Politics, Radical and Moderate" by Rod Wagner, a senior social science major from Craig.

"The Tsar Nicholas, and Alexandra" by Dr. Charles R. Denton, assistant professor of history.

"The American Cowboy, Myth and Reality" by Ron Wilby, a junior history major from Blair.

Closed

Offices in the Wayne County Courthouse will be closed all day Thursday in observance of the Thanksgiving holiday.

HIGH SCHOOL ATTRACTIONS which will probably receive plenty of comments during open house tonight (Monday) include the wall hangings recently completed by the art students. Among those wall hangings are those done by Peggy Barrer (left) and Linda Gust. Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gust of Wakefield; Peggy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Barrer of Wayne. The high school open house is scheduled from 7 to 9 p.m.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

You may not agree with an editorial—but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

'Pro' Drivers Needed

Professional drivers should be the only motorists on the road. This means that everyone who drives should consider the operation of a motor vehicle as a job that requires the utmost in skill. It means every driver should constantly work toward becoming a professional driver.

may have to be made for motorists. You have met enough vehicles while driving at night to know that about half of the motorists are obviously unaware that there is a mechanism on the floor of their car called a dimmer switch.

Increase your following distance in the winter as it takes three to five times as far to stop on snow and ice as on dry pavement.

Questions of Rehabilitation

Fourteen state reformatory inmates were paroled Thursday in Lincoln by the State Board of Parole. The men ranged in age between 18 and 30 years old.

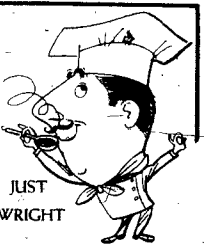

Hester has stated that this is the only refrigeration school in the state that offers complete on-the-job training in addition to laboratory and textbook work.

During the month of October there were 22 new men to arrive at the state reformatory. Each has been assigned to a job, a place to live (either in the dormitory or in the cell house), and undoubtedly each looks forward to the day of parole.

There is now only a vacant crib featuring a tired old corn crib with its ribs wired together where once stood a magnificent castle. You would have called it a barn, of course, for that is what it was, but when the mind of a country lad was loosed, the structure served as a great variety of things.

Is there anything like a hay-loft? One can hide away there from bandits or use the gaping doors as giant keyholes through which to view huge billowing clouds drift lazily by in an ocean of summer sun.

After coming home from one-room school house each day, it was my responsibility to make sure there were enough cobs for the cook stove and enough wood stacked in a corner of the kitchen and on the back porch to do until the next day.

Wayne High Senior Reads Science Paper

A Wayne High School senior presented a paper during the fall meeting of the Northeast Nebraska Junior Academy of Science at Norfolk last Thursday evening.

Leah Havener presented her work, entitled "Determining the Order of Amino Acids in Peptides and Proteins," as an example to area teachers of presentations which will be given in the spring competition of the Academy. Also presenting a paper during the meeting was Maureen Ortmeier of West Point. Teachers from Wayne High attending the meeting were Darrell Rahm, chemistry and mathematics, and Robert Porter, physics and mathematics.

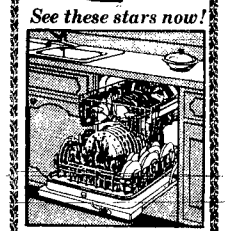

The Academy is planning a winter meeting which will be held at Wayne State College in order to inform teachers about the new science facility being constructed on the college campus. The highlight of the meeting will be a demonstration in the planetarium.

Tests conducted by the National Safety Council on a glare ice course have disclosed that conventional snow tires provide only a small improvement in pulling ability as compared with regular tires. Studded tires develop about three times the pull of regular tires, and reinforced tire chains develop about seven times the pull of regular tires. Regardless of the type of traction device employed, however, the Nebraska Department of Roads reminds motorists that driving speeds on icy pavements must be sharply reduced.

Gunther: This Year May Be Toughest Yet

There is an old saying, "The third time's the charm." And Dave Gunther, beginning his third year as head coach of Wayne State College basketball, might wonder what that will mean.

Gunther-coached teams won 47 games, lost seven in the past two seasons. Nearly all the key players from last year are back for the 1969-70 campaign opening Tuesday night—7:30 in Wayne's Rice Gymnasium—against Southern State of South Dakota.

Six of the eight returning lettermen were regulars two years ago when Wayne won championships of the Nebraska College Conference and the Nebraska NAA District.

The Wildcats repeated both championships last year, but Coach Gunther, never one to be publicly optimistic, figures the third year will prove tougher than ever.

Probably the strongest prediction he ever made was something like, "The opposition will know we're there."

Wayne's 26-game schedule looks more challenging than last year's to Gunther. Newcomers include Augustana and the University of Northern Iowa, both of the strong North Central Conference, and Wayne also will enter the Optimist Classic at Bolivar, Mo., with Southwest Baptist, John Brown University and Southwestern College. Collegiate basketball is regularly excellent in that area, Gunther says.

While the Nebraska College Conference is dissolved, Wayne will play each of its former conference foes twice. The NAA District title remains at stake, and Gunther expects a stiff tussle, with many of the teams improved.

Among the eight Wayne lettermen, four started regularly last year, and a fifth, Dave Schneider of Blair, led the team in scoring though he seldom started. He averaged 16 points and 8.6 rebounds.

The returning starters: Bill Goodwin, Lawton, Iowa, who averaged 15.3 points, 7.7 rebounds; Dean Eljofson, Wayne, 14.2 points, 9.9 rebounds; Paul Emanuel, North Bend, 11 and 6.5; Marc Sommerfeld, Odebolt, Iowa, 7.7 and 2.1. Together they averaged 64.2 points a game. All are seniors.

Three other lettermen expected to play often are Mick Anderson, Oakland, Rich McGill, West Point, both seniors and Steve Hoffman, Pawnee City, a junior.

The only regular player lost by graduation was playmaking guard Bill Kruse, who averaged 11.4 points. His successor as back court strategist is a question mark.

A possible contender is freshman Jim Merchel of Hazel Park, Mich., the only rookie currently tabbed for varsity duty only.

Several other freshmen will play with both the varsity and the junior varsity. Among the most promising are 6-7 Dennis Siefkes of Somers, Iowa, and 6-6 Harvey of Des Moines, Iowa, both all-stars.

Four sophomores who sparked last year's undefeated (14-0) freshman team are on the varsity roster: George Jones, an Omaha Benson High product; Randy Rohlfen, Paulton, Iowa; Dana Trofholz, Schuyler, and Jerry Woodin, Pocahontas, Iowa.

Two others from that freshman team, Denny Brummer of Kenard, Nebr., and Mike Metzger of Des Moines, Iowa, are on the junior varsity.

Wayne's schedule after the Nov. 25 opener:

December—2, Southwest Minnesota; 5-6, Optimist Classic at Bolivar, Mo.; 9, at Concordia (Nebr.); 10, at North Western (Iowa); 13, Westmar; 19, Northern State (S.D.); 29-30, Wayne State Christmas Holiday Tournament.

January—2, University of Northern Iowa; 3, Augustana; 9,

USD COACH Speaks During Bears Banquet

Larry Donovan, assistant football coach at the University of South Dakota at Vermillion, was guest speaker Tuesday night during the annual Laury Bears football banquet in the Laurel High auditorium.

Recognized during the evening were the five Bears who were recently named to the Northeast Nebraska Athletic Conference all-conference football team: Juniors Paul McCoy, Steve Anderson and Steve Erwin, and seniors Rod Spath and Jim Schroeder. Also recognized were the 36 graders and the five student managers who earned letters this year.

Bears Place Five Players On All-Conference Squad

Five players from this year's strong Laurel High football squad—Paul McCoy, Rod Spath, Steve Anderson, Steve Erwin and Jim Schroeder—were named to the Northeast Nebraska Athletic Conference all-conference offensive squad.

Laurel, which had no trouble holding opponents out of the end zone until the Pierce and Wayne games, failed to place a man on the defensive unit.

Pierce, this year's NENAC champion with a 5-0 record, placed four men on the offensive unit and four men on the defensive unit.

McCoy, 5-10 and 150 pounds, made the team as an end. He is a junior. Spath, a senior at 6-2 and 190 pounds, was named to the team as a tackle. Junior Erwin, director of this year's Laurel squad, was named quarterback for the team. He's a tall 6-5 and weighs 185 pounds. Anderson, centers this year's mythical team. Another junior, he stands 6-1 and weighs 225 pounds. The other Laurel senior on the squad, Schroeder, was named as one of the full backs. Schroeder is 6-0 and weighs 175 pounds.

The full units: Offense: Paul McCoy, Laurel, and Don O'Neal, Pierce, at ends; Ernie Lieb, O'Neill, and Rod Spath, Laurel, at tackles; Steve Thomsen, Plainview; Randy Long, O'Neill, and Terry Wragge, Pierce, at guards; Steve Anderson, Look what's happened since Maverick was introduced in April.

Your Ford Dealer's holding the price line. Maverick. Still $1995*

When it comes to prices, you know what's going on. And what's going up. But there's one thing still going straight. Maverick. It holds the line. And its small price makes it America's biggest car value. Here are the facts about our Simple Machine.

It's simple to drive. You get the passing power of a 105-hp Six. Great gas mileage too.

It's simple to park. Maverick can turn in a tighter circle than the leading import.

It's simple to service. Maverick is easier and less expensive to maintain than an economy import. It needs fewer oil changes, fewer chassis lubrications.

It's simple to repair. You can do many routine maintenance jobs yourself.

Wayne High's Hansen Gets Autographed Ball

Allen Hansen, head football coach at Wayne High School, accepted an autographed football from his teammates during the annual appreciation banquet for the Blue Devils Friday night.

The ball was the one used in the Wayne-Pierce game when Wayne eked out an 8-6 victory to win the West Husker Conference championship.

Presenting the ball to Hansen was Kenny Jorgensen, this year's honorary defensive captain.

Mike Biltoff, member of the "W" club at the high school, accepted a check for $40 from Gene Fletcher. The money, which will go into the "W" club treasury, was the profit realized this year from the sale of men's football hats.

Guest speaker at the banquet, attended by 163 people, was LeRoy Simpson, athletic director at Wayne State College.

Simpson showed the group part of the film taken during the recent Wayne State-Lea College football game. Highlight of that film was the tackle made against Wayne's Doug Radtke after he had broken clear of all tacklers and appeared headed for a certain touchdown. "Credited" with that tackle was an over-anxious player on the Lea bench.

The banquet was made possible by Wayne businessmen and area residents who purchased extra tickets in order to pay for meals for the football players. Les Echtenkamp, secretary-treasurer of the "W" club, expressed his thanks to all the people for buying those tickets.

Wayne High ended the season with a 4-1 record. The Blue Devils tied Pender, 6-6, in the season finale for co-championship honors of the Husker Conference.

Two Trojans Named All-Conference Men

Wakefield High School, which finished the football season with a 1-6 record in the East Husker Conference, placed two men on this year's all-conference team.

Leland Miner, a 150-pound junior, made the team as an offensive back. Dennis Paul, a 215-pound senior, was selected as a defensive tackle on the team.

The offensive unit:
Backs: Gary Slaughter, Lyons; Jim Novak, Pender; Leland Miner, Wakefield; Roger Leonard, West Point; Tom Weddingfeld, Pender; Kevin Tonjes, Pender; John Babe, Wisner-Pilger; Brad Denton, Oakland-Craig; and Curt Going, Lyons. End: Dennis Broekemeier, West Point. Guard: Jerry Hasenlamp, Scribner.

The defensive unit:
Ends: Warren Stork, Wisner-Pilger, and Mark Meyerink, Scribner. Tackles: Dennis Paul, Wakefield, and Pete Rexin, Scribner. Middle guards: Larry West-erhold, Pender; Rick Georgeson, Lyons, and Greg Sheets, Tekamah-Herman. Secondary: Rick Albin, Oakland-Craig; Butch Koshlmoos, Wisner-Pilger; Keith Moeller, Pender, and Hal Wagner, West Point.

Robert D. Bennett, of Omaha holds the state record for freshwater drum, with a 23-pound whopper taken from Carter Lake on June 6, 1963.

WAYNE HIGH'S "W" CLUB was $40 richer after receiving a check for that amount from Gene Fletcher. The money was the profit from selling football hats this year. Mike Biltoff accepted the check during the annual Blue Devils appreciation banquet Friday night.

Dalton, Robinson Guide Team III Past IV, 60-57

Ron Dalton pumped in 16 points in the first half and then turned the scoring duties over to Mark Robinson as Team III rolled to a 60-57 victory over the taller Team IV Wednesday night in the first action in the men's city basketball league.

Dalton led his teammates to a 20-6 first quarter lead and a 37-22 halftime lead as he hit all but two of his points; Robinson picked up his team when it began faltering in the second half by scoring 13 of his 18 counters.

Team III led the hosting squad by as many as 18 points several times in the first half, but then Harlan Freese started hitting for Team IV, coming up with 14 of 24 points in the final two periods to nearly pull his squad to a victory. Keith Tietgen hit 12 points in the second half in a losing effort. He came up with 17 for the evening.

Also hitting in the double figures were Tom Bertsch with 10 for the winners and Jack Manske with 12 for the losers.

Other scorers: Team III's Norvin Hansen with eight, Bill Waverly with four and John Rebensdorf with two, and Team IV's Roger Elder with four.

fessional pitcher, with 13 points. Also coming up with points but unable to break into two figures were Don Johnson with eight, Brent Lessmann with seven, Larry Teast with six and George Rehm with four.

In the first game of the night, Team I whipped Team II, 67-59.

Hank Overin, director of the city league, said that he will start collecting the entry fees tonight (Monday). The fees are due by Dec. 3.

Overin also noted that some players may be switched to another team after the end of the first round, Dec. 10, if certain teams are much weaker than the rest.

During the Christmas break, from Dec. 17 to Dec. 29, there will be at least one practice night at the National Guard Armory, Overin said.

wind chill, says Tolman.

In the absence of permanent tree windbreaks, temporary snow fences should be located at least 100 feet north and west of lots to drop the snow outside. If windbreaks are uphill from the lots, water from melting snow should be diverted around the lots with a terrace or ditch, Fisher emphasizes.

Some other recommendations about windbreaks: They should be designed to provide some wind passage in order to prevent snow drifting. Board fences should have an inch of space between the 10- or 12-inch boards and should clear the ground at least one foot. Sheet metal or other tight material will have to stand at least two feet above ground if the snow is to blow clear.

Further information on lot improvement or cattle management problems is available for county Extension agents or from specialists at the Northeast Station.

Corn Stalks

If alfalfa is not readily available, range cubes, which supply at least .6 pound of protein (two pounds of 32 per cent or one and a half of 40 per cent protein cube) can be fed.

Tolman cautions against leaving stock yearlings or calves in fields too long after the grain is gone. On the other hand, he notes, cows may overeat on dropped corn, so dividing fields into sizes cows will clean up well in a week or 10 days is recommended.

On Waste Treatment
Oxidation ditches for swine waste treatment have had many successes in hog operations around the state when compared with the other common treatment methods - lagoon and honey-wagon.

Use of oxidation ditches will be discussed by Dr. Otis Cross, professor of agricultural engineering at the University of Nebraska, during the NU-sponsored Area Swine Day program at Laurel on Jan. 29. Another Area Swine Day will be held in Columbus on Jan. 28.

The oxidation ditch, usually oval-shaped and varying in size with the hog operation, is generally located at the base of a slope or beneath slatted floors, giving maximum accumulation of waste materials.

A major advantage of the oxidation ditch method is its ability to break down solids - greater than 50 per cent decomposition is achieved. This lessens the need to dispose of solids.

When solid disposal is required, the ditch method usually is least difficult, because drag-line operations are not necessary as they are for the lagoon. Honey-wagon must carry all solid and liquid wastes, sometimes an inconvenient arrangement.

Old problems are found with waste treatment, but a properly operated oxidation ditch normally is not offensive. Dr. Cross says. Honey wagons can create odor problems for one week, and field application near houses or communities may prove offensive to the public. Although commonly used, the lagoon is often allowed to over load, creating major odor problems, the NU engineer noted.
