

'Plan in Advance for Viet Nam Phone Calls'

Wayne area residents were advised this week by Northwestern Bell to plan ahead if they wish to talk during the coming holiday season to relatives or friends stationed in Viet Nam.

"It is generally easier for a serviceman to call home than for his family to try reaching him in Viet Nam," according to Northwestern Bell Manager M. D. Smith.

And to avoid disappointments, servicemen are encouraged to notify their families in advance if they expect to telephone home, particularly during the holidays.

Smith said that more than 42,000 calls were completed between the United States and Viet Nam last year. That's 4,000 more calls than the year before. Most of the calls, he added, were made from Viet Nam rather than the U. S. because of the difficulty in locating servicemen when calls come in from the States.

"The heavy concentration of so many troops in a small country at war creates some real communication problems," Smith said. "Service is still not what we would like it to be but it has been improved substantially in recent years."

People living in the Laurel area should jot down Mrs. Thompson's telephone number - 256-3788 - so it is handy any time they have something of interest they would like to have appear in The Wayne Herald. Secretaries and officers of the various clubs in Laurel should also keep the telephone number handy so they can use it to report on an Im-news in Saigon complicates the task of locating servicemen to take telephone calls. For this reason, when a call is made to Saigon it is important for the caller to have the serviceman's unit, his APO number and, if possible, a telephone number where he can be reached.

Until 1967, servicemen could call home only from Saigon. Calls now can be placed from hospitals and bases in Ton Son Nhut, Long Binh, Cam Ranh Bay, Nha Trang, Qui Nhon and Da Nang.

U. S. callers, however, can reach only telephones in Saigon and the immediate vicinity.

The speed of handling a call to Viet Nam depends on the volume of calls.

Area Men Meet For Explanation Of Election Law

Representatives of both Wayne and Wayne county, including the county attorney and city attorney, were to meet with Allen Beermann, deputy secretary of state, at the Marina Inn in South Sioux City Wednesday night to discuss new election legislation.

Beermann, a native of Dakota City, was to explain to the Nebraska League of Municipalities new legislation regarding laws pertaining to combining city, county and school district elections. The Northeast Section is made up of cities and towns in Wayne, Dixon and Dakota counties.

Norris Weible, clerk of Wayne county, noted that in order for Wayne county elections and those of the city and school district to be combined, the city would first have to pass an ordinance affirming their cooperation in such a joint effort. Such an ordinance would be presented to the county commissioners, who in turn would decide for or against the combined elections. The commissioners would notify the city council of their decision by writing.

Weible noted that a combined election would cost less than separate elections in which materials and staff members are needed for each.

"No" say voters at Wakefield on liquor question.

Wakefield voters went into their election booths Tuesday, marked a municipal ballot with the majority saying "no" to the question "Shall the sale of alcoholic liquors except beer by the drink be licensed in the City of Wakefield?"

A total of 382 votes were cast with 204 "against" the license to sell liquor by the drink, and 178 voted "for" the license, according to one of the election judges, V.H.R. Hanson.

There were 101 "for" and 108 votes "against" the license in the First Ward whose electors voted at the V.H.R. Hanson building. Those voting in the Second Ward did so at the city hall with 77 votes "for" and 96 votes "against" the question.

A sample opinion poll along Main Street late Tuesday evening about the time the polls closed showed a majority believing the issue would be defeated. A final tally of the votes showed the issue was defeated by a majority of 26 votes.

Considering Merger

Two rural school districts on the northern edge of Wayne County - District 68 and 72 - are considering merging, according to a legal notice appearing in this issue of The Wayne Herald.

A public hearing on the proposed merger, brought up by the petitions of the voters in the district, will be held in the county courthouse next Wednesday morning at ten o'clock. The hearing is open to the public.

School District 72, which lost its school by fire a few years ago, is currently contracting its students to another school district.

The two adjacent districts are northeast of Carroll.

Santa Claus To Arrive in Wayne Friday

Santa Claus, loaded with candy and good cheer for the youngsters, arrives in Wayne Friday afternoon, signaling the start of the city's month-long Christmas promotion.

climax of that promotion will be the drawing for a new car two days before Christmas. Winner of that drawing can take home his choice of a Ford from Wortman Auto, Chevrolet from Corvell Auto, Buick from Herb's Buick or Scout from International Harvester.

The promotion also features six drawings for cash prizes of $50 each, first of which will be held Friday night.

Santa Claus will arrive at his small house in the alley between Second and Third Sts. on the east side of Main Friday afternoon at 4:15. He will also be there for the children to talk to on every open night this month and on the afternoons of Dec. 11, 13, 18 and 20. Free candy will be handed out to the children who give Santa their orders for gifts this Christmas.

Also of interest to the youngsters will be three free shows during this month. The first show - "Tarzan and the Great River" - is scheduled for Saturday afternoon at the Gay Theatre. The other two shows - "Head" and "Island of the Blue Dolphin" - are slated for the following two Saturday afternoons. "Head" will also be shown at the Gay Theatre; the last one will be shown at the city auditorium. All shows begin at two in the afternoon.

Leading up to that drawing for a new automobile - valued at $3,000 - will be those six $50 drawings.

They will be handled in the same manner as last year. Numbered tickets will be handed out to shoppers by the participating merchants - whether or not any merchandise is purchased. At 1 p.m. on each day of the drawing there will be 20 numbers posted in each merchant's window. The number at the top of the list will win the $50 cash prize if the holder of that ticket is present at eight o'clock that evening. If he isn't present, the cash prize goes to the person holding the next number. That will continue until there is a winner or until the 20 numbers have been called off.

That drawing for the first $50 prize will be held Friday evening. Another drawing is scheduled for Tuesday evening. Other drawing dates: Dec. 12, 15, 16 and 19.

The drawing for the new car, which will be handled in the same manner as the six cash drawings, will be held on Dec. 23. If bad weather forces postponement of that drawing, it will be held on Dec. 27 and the drawing will be at 5 p.m. rather than 8 p.m. All employees in stores and businesses in the city are eligible for this year's drawings. County Hopes To Hire Engineering Consultant Wayne county's commissioners have been contacted by five engineering firms interested in serving as engineering consultants for Wayne county, according to Norris Weible, county clerk.

Such a firm would serve as a superintendent of highways for the county. Like other counties, Wayne county must have a superintendent of highways or engineering firm as consultants before qualifying for state financial aid in the form of incentive payments, Weible explained.

Incentive payments are a part of Nebraska's plan to provide for distribution of state funds for road purposes.

LB 1312 passed by the Nebraska Legislature states, "An incentive payment shall be made to each county having in its employ a qualified county highway superintendent."

The bill goes ahead to explain that such a person shall mean an individual capable of and actually performing the following duties:

College 'Cats Heading South for Tournament

Fresh from victory No. 2, no losses, Wayne State heads south this weekend to play in the Optimist Classic at Bolivar, Mo. The Wildcats, 80-59, winners over Southwest Minnesota State Tuesday night in Rice Gym, will be in new territory for the four-team tourney.

They are matched against John Brown University of Siloam Springs, Ark., for the meet opener at 7 p.m. Friday. Host Southwest Baptist College of Bolivar goes against Southwestern College of Winfield, Kan., in the second Friday game. Consolation and championship decisions will come Saturday night.

Judging by last year's records, 23-4, Wayne will have by far the best win-loss ratio of the tournament. Southwest Baptist was 13-11, John Brown, 12-16, Southwestern 7-15.

But that was last year. Coach Dave Gunther hastens to say. Southwest Baptist already will have played five games before the meet. No information is available on the other two teams. In a general way, however, Gunther knows that basketball rates high in that southern area.

The Wildcats handled Southwest Minnesota with no serious difficulty, though the visitors made a scrap of it all the way. Balanced Wayne scoring—nothing new—produced a 37-27 halftime pad and stretched the lead steadily through the second period. Dave Schneider went on a spree with 12 of his 16 points in the last half, but Bill Goodwin topped him one point for the night's effort. Dean Eloffson added 13, Paul Emanuel and Mick Anderson 10 each.

Wayne's next home game will be December 13 against Westminster.

In the preliminary game Tuesday Wayne State's junior varsity defeated the Briar Cliff College junior varsity, 89-58, after a 41-27 first half. Gordie Jorgenson, former Wayne High star, led the junior Wildcats with 15 points while four others scored handily: Jerry Woodin with 14, Dennis Slefkes, 12; Denny Brummer and Stan Tyson, 11 each.

Vindication for the sportsman concerning littering came recently from statistics gathered by Keep America Beautiful, Inc. Of all categories of people using the outdoors, sportsmen were the least offenders with litter. They were responsible for only five per cent of the litter in rural areas investigated. Picnickers were responsible for 25 per cent and passing motorists for 70 per cent.

RETURNING LETTERMEN on the Winside High School basketball court this year are (from left) Doug Deck, Scott Duerling, Fritz Weible, Dave Witt, Phil Witt, Mick Jeffrey and Bob Jackson. All are seniors and it is the fourth year of court action for each. Winside will journey to Wakefield Friday for the season's opening game.

38-36. The game was tied about four times in the final two minutes of action before Team III pulled ahead.

Helping out Dalton with the scoring chores for the evening were Mark Robinson with 10 points and Ray Vrtiska with nine.

Top scorers for hapless Team VI were Don Johnson with 18 and Sid Hillier with 12. Coming up with eight points each were Grant Halsne and Larry Test. Brent Lessmann added six points for the losers.

Team II's Tim Robinson pumped in 14 of his 20 points in the second half as his squad pulled off a come-from-behind victory over Team IV in another game Monday night.

Team II, now with its first victory of the season, trailed by seven points after the first quarter, 10-3, and by five at intermission, 26-21, before pulling off the win, a 52-43 decision.

The squads were tied, 34-34, going into the last period.

That win didn't come without a strong effort by Team IV's Jack Manske. He tallied 20 points in the contest, 12 of them in the first half. No other member on that squad hit in two figures. Harlan Freese, usual strong scorer for the squad, ended up with six points after spraining his ankle and being forced out of the game in the second period. Coming in with nine points was Keith Tietgen.

Also scoring for the winning unit were Wayne Wesseland Darrell Doescher with eight each. John Matson had six.

In the other game Monday night, Team V had little trouble in winning its second game of the season, a 68-53 victory over Team I.

Leading them to that win were Dick Nelson, who came up with 25 points, and substitute Harry Lindner, who potted 20. Don Kramer had 10 points for the winners.

Team I had three scorers in double figures despite their loss—Lynn Lessmann with 17, Roger Lintz with 16 and Hank Overlin with 10. Overlin came up with 10 of his points in the second half.

Team V led 17 to 8 after the first period, 37-25 at intermission and 56-40 going into the final

Schuyler Quintet To Compete in Holiday Tourney

Schuyler, state Class B basketball powerhouse for the past several years, has been invited to take part in the high school end of this year's Wayne State College Christmas Holiday Tournament. That announcement comes from Dave Gunther, head basketball mentor at the college.

Getting the "privilege" of going up against that tough Schuyler squad in the opening high school game of the tourney is Laurel. That game is slated for 5:45 Monday afternoon, Dec. 29, coming on the heels of the tourney opener pitting Briar Cliff and Washburn University at 4 p.m.

Other games scheduled for that evening are Wayne High vs. West Point High at 7:15 and Wayne State vs. Gustavus Adolphus at 8:45.

Last year Laurel and Wayne State swept to top honors in the tournament, the first one to include a high school division. That Laurel-Schuyler battle should provide plenty of action and excitement for avid basket-eight minutes of action.

Games which were scheduled for Wednesday night were Team I against IV at 7 p.m., Team II against VI at 8 and Team V against III at 9.

Hank Overlin, director of this year's recreation program, emphasized that all players in the league should make sure they turn in their entry fee as soon as possible. That fee is $7.

ball fans. Both teams are probably hoping they can equal last year's showings. Schuyler finished second in the state, Laurel seventh.

And both teams have at least one big man—Laurel's Steve Erwin and Schuyler's Gene Harmon, both 6-6—plus several other players towering right at or just over six feet. Schuyler also has another Jura on the squad. He's 6-4 Dan, brother to the University of Nebraska's 6-10 Chuck.

The consolation and championship games in the annual tournament are scheduled for the afternoon and evening of Dec. 30. Again this year, businessmen in the city are being asked to purchase books of tickets to help pay for the costs of putting on the tourney. These tickets can be given to employees and customers over the Christmas holiday.

Tickets will be available at the gate for $1.50. One ticket is good for admission to all the games on that day.

Defending champion Wayne State also has a tradition to uphold in the tournament. The Wildcats have won the tourney three times—the first two coming in 1961 and 1964—and have placed second four times. They took third three times, trailed the pack only once.

Last year Wayne State beat out the University of Nebraska at Omaha in the championship game. Buena Vista defeated Westminster for third slot. Laurel downed West Point in the finals last year and Wayne High defeated Wisner in the consolation game.

Team III remained the only undefeated team in the men's recreation basketball league after pulling off a slim 54-52 victory in Monday night's game

Blue Devil Mentor Sees Tough Opener

Dick Nelson, head basketball coach at Wayne High, isn't looking for an easy night when he sends his Blue Devils up against Blair Friday night.

Nelson, in his third year at Wayne High, says his team is going to be at a disadvantage when they face the taller Blair team, a team which has two players near 6-4 and another one at 6-2. Wayne High's tallest players, and possible starters, are Ted Armbruster and Dick Tietgen, both at 6-1. Another squad member who may open the game Friday night, scheduled for Rice Auditorium, is Les Echtenkamp at 6-0.

Beyond that, things are pretty indefinite for the Blue Devils. Mike Biltoft and Randy Helgren, both at 5-8, are possible starters for Nelson but both have been sick the past few days. Whether they play much Friday night, Nelson says, depends on how they feel.

That Friday opener should give basketball fans some indication of how the Blue Devils will fare this year—they meet several teams this year with considerable height. Among those taller squads are David City Aquinas, Schuyler, Madison and Laurel.

How will the Blue Devils do against those strong teams? That, also, is pretty indefinite. Nelson says that much depends upon how well the players can do under the boards. If they can control a good percentage of the rebounds, Nelson says, they will work for the good shots. They will have to do that, he says, because no players have greatly impressed him with their outside shooting.

Nelson points to his team's aggressiveness as one of its strengths. "We will press later on if the boys work together well," he says.

Some of the weaknesses the Blue Devils will have to overcome if they hope to at least equal last year's 10-9 record are their outside shooting, rebounding ability and speed.

Nelson may also call upon several other players to help out those five players, all lettermen, if they run into difficulty Friday night. Among the cagers who might see considerable action are Dan Sutherland, a wrestler out for basketball his senior year; Rod Cook, a 5-8 junior; Mike Creighton, a 5-9 junior, and Terry Ellis, a 6-2 senior.

Looking ahead, Nelson sees this year's Wayne State Holiday Tournament as one of the humps his team will have to surmount. Wayne will face West Point High in the opening round of that meet.

Running straight at a rooster pheasant will often "freeze" him long enough for a shot.

WAKEFIELD WRESTLERS who earned letters last year include these five boys. They are among the wrestlers who will see action tonight (Thursday) when they host Whisside. From left: Tom Nicholson, Bruce Luhr, Dave Lehman, Steve Oswald and Devon Fisher. Coaching the Trojans again this year is Lyle Trullinger.

Lady Bowler Sets New Record

Mrs. W. C. Petersen of rural Wayne, a bowler in the El Rancho League at Melodee Lanes in Wayne, set a new record for high single game in league bowling Monday night when she rolled a 279.

That 279, 14 pins higher than the previous high game, came on nine straight strikes, a spare and another strike. Mrs. Petersen, who said she became "all weak" when the ladies stopped bowling after her ninth straight strike, got that spare when she left the nine pin standing after hitting the Brooklyn side of the pins. But then she rolled another strike after picking up that spare.

An avid bowler for several years, Mrs. Petersen holds down a 170 average in her league bowling at Wayne and Winner. The highest game she had prior to Monday's 279 was a 249, rolled several years ago.

Her 279 replaces Mrs. Maurice Proett's 265 for the record at the Wayne bowling alley. Al Bane, manager at the bowling alley, said he cannot remember any other lady ever bowling a higher score in league bowling.

Area Cage Teams Open Season Friday Evening

Area basketball action, highlight of winter sports in the area, gets underway hot and heavy Friday night.

Seeing action will be Allen, Laurel, Wakefield and Winside. Allen, a team which will attempt to improve upon last year's dismal 5-12 record, faces Ponca in Friday's season opener. That away game, a traditional rivalry, will give head coach Cläre Jordan some idea of how his team will do this year.

Jordan, a Coleridge native in his first year of coaching, will be calling upon several tall boys in his attempt to begin his coaching career on a winning note. Those players include 6-4 Jeronim Roberts and 6-1 Bob Mitchell, both juniors, and 6-2 Dennis Geiger and 6-3 Dave Geiger, twin brothers in the last year at Allen.

Other players who may see action against the Ponca squad are 5-10 senior John Abts, 5-8 junior Loren Reuter, 5-10 senior Mike Ellis, and 5-11 junior Brian Linafelter. Abts and Reuter are returning lettermen; Ellis and Linafelter are promising candidates, according to Jordan.

Jordan, who says he expects his team to have a well-balanced attack this year, looks for his home town, Coleridge, to be one of the toughest opponents the Eagles will face this year. He also looks for a battle when he sends his quintet against Wakefield later in the season.

The Laurel Bears, who open in a home game against Norfolk Catholic Friday evening, will probably be playing a fast and aggressive game, much like last year, according to Larry Moore, in his fifth year as head coach.

Moore, who has forged an impressive 73-12 record in his five years as head coach at Laurel, will call upon at least three reliable players — the fourth is uncertain — to carry the load in this week's opener. Those players include Steve Erwin, a 6-6 senior; Rod Erwin, a 6-0 senior; and George Schroeder, a 6-3 junior. Moore says it still undecided whether Jim Schroeder, 6-0 junior, will play Friday. He suffered a dislocated shoulder during the football game against Wayne and it may be too dangerous to let him see much action.

How well the Bears do this season, Moore notes, will depend a great deal on how capable the players on the bench are able to do. Those substitutes may be forced into tight games if Laurel's aggressive ball results in the starters getting into foul trouble, according to Moore.

Laurel's toughest battles this year, Moore says, will be with Pierce and Madison in the west end of the Husker Conference. Both of those teams have good height and plenty of experience, says Moore.

Wakefield and Winside square off Friday night in the season opener for both squads. The game is scheduled for Wakefield. On paper, Wakefield will have the advantage. The Trojans have five seniors on the club who lettered last year: 6-3 Bob Johnson, 6-1 Denny Paul, 6-0 Mike Berns, 6-0 Lyle Brown, 5-11 Rich Kline and 5-8 Kip Bressler. That amounts to a considerable amount of experience.

Winside fans will probably see plenty of 6-2 senior Fritz Wetble, 6-1 senior Scott Duerling, 5-11 junior Gary Soden, 5-9 senior Doug Deck, and 5-7 senior Bob Jackson in that opener.

Wakefield's coach, Dennis Crawford, notes that his team will be playing a very aggressive type of ball this year. The Trojans will be running a lot and pressing much of the time, he notes. They will have to do this, he says, because they will be weak under the boards against teams with much height. And that type of ball may lead his players into foul trouble. If they get into trouble from their style of play, he says, there may be several players he can call upon from the bench to take over the duties.

Jim Winch, in his first year as head mentor at Winside, says his boys have been doing a considerable amount of work in preparation for the opening game. They, he notes, have a lot of desire to improve upon last year's 6-16 record. If the enthusiasm from the football season carries over, they could be well on their way to just that, he notes.

Winch points to his team's shooting ability as one of its weaknesses. He also notes that it may take the cagers a few games to get used to his style of offense, something completely different than that used last season.

WS Gridders Named To All-Star Team

All-star honors for Wayne State gridders continue to mount. Latest addition: Tom Klutarch and Sam Singleton on the Omaha World-Herald All-Nebraska College Team, announced Wednesday.

Klutarch drew strong support from the nominating coaches who liked his offensive guard performance. Singleton rated the accolade as a back who worked both ways — a rare thing these days. While playing defense most of the time, he also managed to rack up 805 yards rushing in the six games he played an offense.

Other Wayne nominees for the all-star team: Chuck Lehos, offensive tackle; Jerry Luettke, fullback, and Threo defensive players, Rosco Goodpasture, end; Mike Wynn, tackle, and Doug Radtke, halfback.

Season Tickets for Trojan Fans Ready

Season tickets for the Wakefield High School basketball games this year will be on sale at the Wakefield school during the Winside-Wakefield basketball game Friday night.

The tickets, which will sell for $5.25 for adults and $2.50 for high school and elementary students, will enable the holders to see all the volleyball games played on the same evening as the basketball games. The tickets will not admit the holders to the Holiday Tournament scheduled for Wakefield on Dec. 29 and 30.

Single admission tickets for the basketball games at Wakefield will be $1 for adults and $.50 for students.

City Cautions About Removal Of Winter Snow

The Wayne streets department this week again urged all residents in the city to comply with the city ordinances regarding snow removal on sidewalks, streets, off-street parking areas, gas station platforms and the like.

City ordinances state that all sidewalks must be cleared of snow and ice to full width of the sidewalk within 24 hours after a storm. If they are not cleaned, the city will hire somebody to do the job and will send the bill to the property owner.

In the business district, snow must be thrown into the street at least one foot from the curb as soon as possible to permit removal by the street crews. Only snow on the sidewalks can be dumped into the street for city hauling; all snow behind the sidewalks, stations, off-street parking areas and so on must be removed by the private owners of the business.

A list of private snow removers is on file at the city clerk's office for anyone interested in hiring his snow removal done. Also, anyone interested in scooping or hauling snow should contact the city clerk's office.

Members of the Wayne Planning Commission held a public hearing about the fire hall Monday night in regards to a request for special use of ten lots of ground in the Roosevelt Park Addition as a trailer camp. After hearing a single opponent and the advice of the commission's consultant to secure a more detailed plat, the five members present of the nine-man planning board decided to table the request.

Arline Ulrich requested the special use permit for Lots two, three, four and Lots eight through 14 in Block two of the Roosevelt Addition. The lots are bounded on the north by Fairgrounds Ave., on the east by Windom Street, on the south by Folk Street and on the west by Nebraska Street.

Ulrich and his legal counsel proposed that the trailer court would be an improvement and offered several drawings illustrating possible trailer arrangements.

Ed Raywinkle expressed his opposition to the request noting that if there were 15 or 16 trailers on the lots it would increase road traffic on streets which are already at times in poor condition. He said he felt that from 50 to 60 per cent of the people in the area of the lots were against the proposal although he did not have a petition.

Richard M. Wozniak of Fremont, consultant to the commission, declared the sketches presented by Ulrich of the proposed trailer court were inadequate and that a detailed plat would be needed before the planners could approve the request.

Legal counsel for Ulrich pointed out that as far as he could determine the Zoning and Subdivision Regulations in the Wayne Comprehensive Plan did not require a detailed plat for what he and his client were seeking. He explained that the only thing Ulrich wanted at this time was for the Commission to make a recommendation of approval for a trailer court on the lots providing the project complied to all requirements made by the Wayne City Code.

Wozniak repeatedly advised the planners they needed a detailed plat and should not make an approval without it.

Following the close of the hearing, the commission decided to table the special use request until Monday at which time a sketch plat may be submitted for the planning member's consideration. The commission felt they will need a plat from Ulrich showing adequate access to all the lots, street right-of-ways, type of street surfacing, type of utilities, drainage, set-backs, sufficient lot area and an approximate scale drawing of all dimensions.

Keith Mosley, planning commission chairman, reminded the board of the need for updating the comprehensive plan. Consultant Wozniak suggested that the commission take a land-use and zoning survey of Wayne as a first step in the updating program. He suggested that a second step could be to study and revise, if necessary, the business district plan.

Paper Drive Set Saturday

Boy Scouts will pick up old newspapers in seven Northeast Nebraska towns Saturday as a fund-raising project for their troops.

Drives will be in Wayne, Laurel, Wakefield, Carroll, Winside, Pilger and Peesmer, according to project chairman Rowan Wiltse.

Residents in these communities are asked to put their papers on porches or steps where they will be visible from the street by 9 a.m. Scouts will start their pickups shortly after 9 a.m. in most cases, Wiltse said.

In case of windy weather, the paper piles should be weighted to prevent blowing away unless they are boxed or banded.

Wiltse asked that no magazines or slick paper publications be included in the papers. Only newsprint is wanted, as other papers contain substances that slow down reprocessing the paper.

Scout Troop 175 of Wayne will pick up the papers in Winside Saturday morning so residents there should have their papers on the porch no later than 9 a.m.

Midwest Newspaper Salvage Company of Omaha buys the newsprint to be processed for re-use. By gathering the papers Scouts help the homeowners get rid of papers, help save cutting more trees for wood pulp and also earn funds for their various Scout programs.

Wayne Postmaster: Mail Letters Early

Christmas is only three weeks off, Wayne Postmaster Don Wightman points out, and Wayne residents had better begin mailing their letters and cards if they expect them to arrive on time.

Wightman urged the people in the area to mail their cards, letters and packages as soon as they have them ready rather than waiting until they are all done with addressing them. That will create a large backlog, he noted, and some of the mail will not reach its destination before Christmas.

Shoppers should get their gifts bought, wrapped and mailed as soon as possible, Wightman noted.

YOUR CHANCES IN WINTER: This chart, prepared by the Nebraska Department of Roads, shows the latest test findings of the National Safety Council's committee on winter driving hazards. These tests disclosed that conventional snow tires provide only a small improvement in pulling ability on glare ice as compared with regular tires. Studded tires develop about three times the pull and reinforced tire chains about seven times the pull of regular tires.

SCENES SUCH AS THIS are fairly common in the Wayne area this year as farmers are realizing one of the best corn harvests in years. Although other areas of the state are having trouble moving the grain after it is out of the field, that doesn't seem to be the trouble in northeast Nebraska, according to Dean Schram at Wayne Grain and Feed. He said Tuesday that the elevator there still has room for more corn and that new corn was shipped in recently from Iowa. Harold Ingalls, Wayne County agricultural agent, said that many of the farmers are piling unshelled corn on the ground after filling their own storage units. This corn will probably be used as feed before spring. Some farmers have even dumped shelled corn on the ground, something almost unheard of before the picking-shelling practice came into use a few years ago. Agent Ingalls noted that farmers are taking the chance of having the corn mold and spoil when it is dumped on the ground. However, whether it spoils depends a great deal on the type of weather we have, he noted.

WS First Fall Concert In Ramsey on Sunday

The Wayne State band will present its first concert performance of the fall term Sunday afternoon at three in Ramsey Theater.

Director Raymond Kelton and Assistant Director Lee Mendyk have chosen music ranging from marches to symphony, most of the numbers by 20th century composers.

A feature selection, "Concerto Grosso," included solos by trumpeters Keith Krueger of Winside and Bonnie Doten of Wausa, and trombonist Bruce Linafelter of Allen.

The symphonic wind ensemble, a select group from the full band, will play "The Mad Major," a Kenneth Alford march; the overture to "Symphony in B Flat," by Paul Fauchet; "Victory at Sea," a symphonic scenario by Richard Rodgers, and "Festival" by Clifton Williams.

The band's program, in addition to "Concerto Grosso": Sousa's "The Fairest of the Fair," three chorale preludes on religious themes by William Latham, "First Suite in E Flat" by Gustav Holst, and the mighty Sibelius tone poem, "Finlandia."

There is no admission charge for the concert.

Also on the music department calendar is a Tuesday evening concert, at eight o'clock in Ramsey Theater, by the brass choir, the madrigal singers, and a clarinet ensemble.

'Bolts and Nuts' — A Hit on Laugh Parade

By Merlin Wright

Winside juniors scored a bullseye on the laugh target Monday with their afternoon and evening performances of "Bolts and Nuts" in the Winside auditorium.

The wacky three-act comedy written by Jay Tobias was directed by Mrs. Lois Bertsch and Mrs. Shirley Trampe, WHS faculty members. The cast of thirteen turned the auditorium into a "lunatic asylum" for a hilarious 110 minutes of action-packed fun.

Gaylen Steven, who mastered the memorization of difficult medical terminology, played Dr. Joy and summarized the entire play rather well with the line, "We are all a little touched in the head!"

The story is centered around a widow lady, Rebecca Bolt (Carol Von Seggern) who decides to turn her home into a sanitarium. Her daughter (Benita Bolt played by Nancy Jones) is in love with Twink Starr (Gary Soden). In order that the two can be together Starr comes to the sanitarium pretending to be a patient suffering from hallucinations. Other "nuts" coming to the home include Prunella Figg (Janet Svenson) who has a fear of being shut in and insists the doors and windows be left open. Cadwallader (Lippy Dave Langenberg) is a patient who fears cats and cannot stand having any door or window open. Mrs. Gertie Glossop (Mona Langenberg) and her "brat" Wilbur (Jim Hansen) spray the stage for fear of germs. She claims it is her son who needs to see the psychiatrist while she "vaporizes" everything including her host, so as not to become contaminated with "germs".

Jane Witt played the part of a spunky maid, Lottie Spinks, and carried a heavy load of the script in sparkling manner. Her problem was fluttering eyes which caused those men she met to think she was flirting.

Hippocrates Joy; Nancy Jones as Benita Bolt; Jane Witt as Lottie Spinks (back to camera); and Carol Von Seggern as Rebecca Bolt. Lunacy and laughter made the play one to be remembered.

Also involved in the gleeful plot were Martha Grubb (Barb Jackson), Henry Goober (Paul Wantoch), Jack Gordon (played by Gene Weible, and Phineas Plunkett (Dale Miller). All of the "nuts" were hunting for $15,000 left in the house of the "Bolts".

In the final act of the play it turns out that all of the "nuts" were actually sane, but wanted their share of the $15,000 while Dr. Joy, who was assumed to be sane, was really the "nut".

This cleverly written play relied heavily upon interpreting lines with a lot of body action. Cast members played parts to the hilt with two male characters being on the receiving end of some hefty facial slaps. Jim Hansen, as a "brat," added originality to the script by throwing a realistic temper tantrum. Paul Wantoch, playing the part of a negro, lacked nothing in characterization.

The playwright wrote the script in such a manner that a major portion of the cast is on stage constantly. This puts a burden on the cast to maintain endless full-stage action. All too often when there are eight cast members on stage in a high school production there is little going on except between the two speaking. However, in "Bolts and Nuts" there were few dull moments as the juniors kept the stage alive one-hundred percent.

Following is the production staff: Kevin Frevort was stage manager; Eugene Jensen, technical director; costume and makeup by Bunie Landanger and Joyce Wagner. Property masters were Kevin Johnson and Rich Krouse with Terry Jaeger, Darwin Smith and Doug Siegest as crewmen. Working on publicity and ticket sales were Jeannette Hansen, Roger Anderson, Helva Wade, Chuck Moritz, Dale Vanosdahl and the art class.

Gene Weible, Joyce Wagner and Bunie Landanger designed the set. Debbie Meierhenry, Cynthia Moritz, Linda Prince and Ida Berg were on the bake sale committee.

Another member of the cast turning out a splendid performance was the large and beautiful yellow Persian cat. Sorry we do not know its name or owner, but its acting was perfect. One well, that is the way it was in "Bolts and Nuts."

Nation's Farmers, Fishermen Getting IRS Forms Early

About three million 1969 federal income tax forms for America's farmers and fishermen have already been sent to them, a month earlier than usual, the Internal Revenue Service announced today. All other taxpayers will receive their packages about Jan. 1.

A first for Internal Revenue, the early mailing is an attempt to assist the farmers and fishermen in taking advantage of options open to them in filing returns and paying their tax, IRS officials said.

Estimated tax forms, in a separate package, will reach farmers and fishermen about the same time. In previous years, the estimated tax forms were included in the income tax packages.

Like the other 77 million taxpayers expected to file tax returns for 1969, farmers and fishermen will be using the new income tax Form 1040.

The form, which replaces both the old Form 1040 and the 1040A, is a one-page basic form to which separate schedules can be added to cover any tax situation.

'Gap in Agricultural Technology, Practice Now Being Closed'

There is now a gap between agricultural technology and agricultural practice in Nebraska, but educators are trying to close that gap, according to Roland Peterson, assistant professor of agricultural education at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

Noting specifically the gap that has developed between the agricultural engineer or the agricultural scientist and the farmer, Prof. Peterson says the problem has been "quite evident in the tractor and machinery mechanics area."

As a result, he says, implement dealers often find a shortage of well-qualified mechanics to employ in their businesses. The "gap situation" is evident in several other agricultural areas, particularly in sales and service, Peterson believes.

To help close the gap, post-secondary school agriculture is receiving increased emphasis in Nebraska, as well as in nearly every other state.

Many young people, as well as adults, are feeling a need to be trained in a special area. Since many Nebraskans have a rural or farm background, it seems logical that they would seek to develop skills in agricultural occupations. As a result, several programs are being developed for the preparation of technicians.

The NU School of Technical Agriculture at Curtis and to some extent, area vocational-technical schools are preparing their graduates for employment in agricultural business. Students who wish to further their education in a technical area, such as farm machinery, agricultural business, commercial horticulture and production agriculture, will find courses that are practical and oriented to the world of work.

It is evident, says Peterson, that many Nebraska youth will not seek an education beyond high school. As a result, the vocational agriculture curriculum in high schools is undergoing a number of changes. One important change is that of building the curriculum around the basic principles of biology, physics and economics. This Peterson explains, is an attempt to provide the student with a basic subject matter in the animal, plant and soil science areas, the mechanical areas and the management and marketing areas of agriculture.

Courses are being developed on a semester basis in such areas as horticulture, machinery and equipment, agricultural chemicals and farm building construction, along with supervised on-the-job training in agri-business. These curriculum changes focus on providing the high school student with the competence needed to enter a wide selection of employment opportunities in farming, ranching and agricultural business sales and service, concludes Peterson.

Nebraska law requires that mail be in flight before a hunter may attempt to take them.

Fifty-five men gathered with 15 pickers at the Ronald Allen farm last week and picked 60 acres of corn by noon. Mr. Allen has been ill and underwent surgery this month.

A group of women brought dinner which was served at the United Methodist Church at noon.

Those helping at the picking were Dale Furness, Larry Koester, Duane Calvert, Sam Igom, Marvin Rastede, Gaylen Jackson, Norris Emry, Craig Williams, Jim Furness, Darrel Novak, Joe Novak, Barney Gelfer, Harold Von Minden, Duane Koester, Howard Wharton, Jim Warner, Ray Ellis, Maurice Swanson, Verne Swanson, Clarence Wilson, Dale Jackson, Claren Igom, Merle Von Minden, Maynard Hansen, Ray Brownell, Duane Lund, Leland Sawtell, Ernest Stark, Larry Warner, Ed Novak, Bob Jones, Basil Wheeler, Doc Pitts, Clarence Onderstal, Jack Mitchell, Marty Karberg, John Karberg, Frank Astbury, Herbert Ellis, Earl McCaw, Monte Landahl, Wendel Emry, Kenneth Green, Allen Trube, Allen Rastede, Ben Jackson, Ezra Christensen, Perry Lockwood, Wayne Allen and Curt, Basil Trube, Alvin Rastede, Arnold Onderstal, K. Christmas Drawings Set at Wakefield

Wakefield businessmen will hold the first of four Christmas drawings at 3:30 p.m. Saturday. An electric blender and three prizes each worth $10 in groceries will go to lucky ticket holders.

Other drawings are scheduled Dec. 13 and 20. The grand prizes on the final drawing Dec. 23 at 8:30 p.m. are a colored television, refrigerator-freezer or washer and dryer, and a pony or bike.

All drawings are to be held on Main Street in Wakefield.

Brief Police Report

Wayne police officers investigated Saturday when a 1962 tractor, parked in the alley west of 312 East Ninth Street rolled backward hitting the left front fender of a 1968 Chevrolet which was also parked. The Chevrolet is owned by Wade Lee Winters Jr. of Marshalltown, Iowa, and received an estimated $121 damage. Arthur Babe of Winsted was the driver of the tractor, according to the police file.

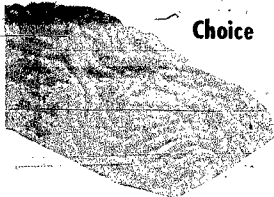

Thomas Prenger drove over a manhole cover on Crescent Drive Tuesday with a 1969 Ford van, according to the police report, when the manhole cover flipped up under the van and hit the gas tank and then rolled 60 feet.

The first trail drive of Texas longhorns appeared in Nebraska in 1866, founding an industry that caused a boom in Nebraska cowtowns that lasted until 1887.

Hunter success during the 1968 antelope rifle season was just over 81 per cent, with 1,750 animals taken by 1,750 permit holders. The North Sioux unit was most productive, yielding 426 pronghorns.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

Rights of Private Property

How much right do you have to use your property as you see fit? Remember when a deed to a property provided full evidence of ownership? Private ownership of property is one of the fundamental rights in our nation.

A number of years ago communities began to control the uses of private property by establishing zoning laws. Although owning the property purchased with money earned by his own efforts, a landowner in or near a city may use his property only in accordance to zoning laws.

As a city grows and zoning becomes more restrictive, it is possible for a new kind of segregation to appear. This time it isn't a segregation based on skin color but rather on income.

According to a recent report the average selling price of a new suburban home is now $26,700 versus $18,000 in 1963.

If local zoning controls transgress on property rights as conceived by titles and warranty deeds, then take a look at what is beginning to happen

You may not agree with an editorial — but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

on yet a higher level. Local zoning controls in some states are being challenged by controls on the state level. A new Massachusetts law permits the state to override local zoning decisions.

Another problem that helps explain why many communities have been more than a little zealous in raising zoning barriers to lower-cost housing is that the cost of community services soars as congestion increases.

Is the constitutional right to own property going to become more fuzzy in the future? Will there be increased local, state and even federal control?

Evidently zoning, like fire or drugs, can be of great help to a community, but if misapplied can also spell disaster.

Principles involved in owning property and private enterprise are inseparable from political and economic liberty. It seems the question is just how much control can a community collectively have over the owner of private property and yet allow him his due rights of ownership. — MMW.

License Plate Changes

Many questions remain unanswered concerning new license plates or stickers for 1970 due to new legislation passed by the recent session of the Nebraska Legislature.

LB 809 (Section 1) states that the Department of Motor Vehicles shall in each odd-numbered year, beginning in 1969, furnish to every person, whose motor vehicle shall be registered, two number plates except that only one number plate shall be issued to dealers or for motorcycles, truck-tractors, semi-tractors and buses.

Several things are to be noted. Plates issued in 1969 are black on white and will continue being used through 1971 when new plates will be issued for 1972.

Wording of the bill is unclear and could easily lead some to believe new plates of white and scarlet colors will be available Jan. 1, 1970.

Passenger cars will continue having a license plate on both the front and rear of the vehicle, but motorcycles, trucks and buses will only need one plate with the sticker attached.

In previous years county treasurers deducted a sum of 50 cents plus two and one half per cent of each registration and sent it to the state's general fund, however LB 1304 changes this.

Legislators Letting Voters Decide Types of Sessions

LINCOLN—After nine months in the saddle, Nebraska's legislators were of a mood this fall to consider, very seriously, a change from biennial to annual sessions.

They advanced to the 1970 general election ballot a proposed constitutional amendment which would require the legislature to meet each year instead of every other year.

The bill was LB 527 and it proposed that the sessions be limited to 90 legislative days in the odd-numbered years and 60 legislative days in the even-numbered years.

These deadlines could be extended if four-fifths of the elected members decided more time was needed for a session. Four-fifths equals 40 votes in a 49-member legislature and supporters claimed that was pretty tough to get on almost any issue—so the protection against protracted sessions would be there.

The proposed amendment also says that all bills and resolutions being considered upon adjournment of a regular session in an odd-numbered year would be kept alive for consideration at the next senatorial meeting. Under present rules, a bill or resolution which hasn't had final action prior to adjournment is dead automatically.

The chief sponsor of LB 527 was Lincoln Sen. Roland Luedtke. He got his dander up last week when the president of the Nebraska Tax Research Council, K. B. Boyer of Omaha, made a statement opposing the annual session idea.

Boyer made his comments in the president's message at the NTRC annual meeting at Lincoln. It would be twice as difficult, Boyer said, to achieve the NTRC slogan "Better Government at a Better Price" if the lawmakers were in regular session each year.

While he said there would be more opportunities to pass good legislation, there also would be greater opportunities to pass poor bills.

Not so, said Luedtke. Poor bills are most apt to get passed, the senator said, when a session drags on through the "long, hot summer" and the lawmakers begin to get on each other's nerves and rush legislation through just to get rid of it.

Luedtke said Boyer, representing a businessman's organization, should understand the need for the legislature to keep up-to-date tabs on agency spending habits.

"It just can't imagine a businessman," he said, "who would be happy to appropriate money for the operation of his business and then not have the flexibility to take a look at it for two years."

Luedtke's comments were volunteered when he heard about Boyer's message to the NTRC meeting.

Another senator, however, was a speaker at the meeting and he also put in a plug for the annual session idea.

Sen. Don Hanna of Brownlee said he was "enthusiastic" about annual legislative meetings.

Hanna said two other changes could help the lawmakers do their job more effectively and efficiently. One, he said, would be a partisan legislature, and the other would be a reduction in the number of lobbyists—especially those representing government agencies.

Over the years—in fact, going back to the change to a unicameral form of legislature—there have been efforts to have the lawmakers elected by party labels. None of these efforts ever has gotten off the ground.

But Hanna said partisan elections would "greatly reduce, if not eliminate, the legislative-executive friction" evident during the 1969 session. In addition, he said, it would provide leadership on the floor, something, he said, "you just can't have in a nonpartisan body."

Hanna said governmental officials at all levels should be elected "on the two-party concept."

A majority of the lawmakers has always shied away from partisan elections because many of them rely on support at the polls from members of both parties and figure their seats could be in danger if they had to wear Republican or Democratic labels.

They also maintain the issues decided on the legislative floor are not partisan issues as much as regional issues.

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann, like Hanna, has become a booster of the partisan plan.

November 30, 1939: Wayne county rural public power district is now serving 125 customers. Braden Carhart has accepted position with the L. W. McNatt Hardware and began his duties Monday. In a conference game that closed the season for both teams, Bloomfield and Wayne football teams played a scoreless tie last Thursday at Bloomfield. A high wind made playing hard. Farmers from north of Dixon who were in Wayne Thursday reported a corn yield of 45 bushels to the acre. Lawrence Texley was taken to an Omaha hospital Friday to have his jaw set. He suffered a broken jaw and other injuries a few weeks ago in a car accident.

He was cited for establishing a four-acre tree farm. Lawrence Jochens, Hoskins, shared high honors on the Omaha market last week. His shipment of 20 steers averaged 1,171 and sold for $27. Mrs. Basil Ostum, Wayne, has been named chairman of the 1960 Wayne county March of Dimes campaign scheduled Jan. 2-31.

Business Notes

Grant Halsne, International Harvester Store manager in Wayne, and David Hedrick, sales representative, recently returned from Sheridan, Wyo., where they saw the presentation of new International farm tractors, as well as new farm and industrial equipment scheduled for introduction in 1970.

Among the machines on display in the presentation at the firm's Hickory Hill farm was a new 130-horsepower turbo-powered farm tractor, two additional heavy-duty models equipped with hydrostatic drive and another heavy-duty diesel tractor in the 90-plus-horsepower class.

Some 23 IH district offices and their dealer organizations, representing 3,000 ranches and farm equipment dealers, visited the company's farm throughout November to witness the presentation of the products introduced for the 1970 selling season.

Previously, the company showed the machinery to some 200 top sales executives from its various farm equipment sales offices located throughout the United States.

Cash Night Drawing

Coffer Holds $100

This week's Cash Night drawing drops down to only $100, the result of Jerry Baker's taking home a check for $350 in last week's drawing.

The drawing will be held again Thursday night at the same time, eight o'clock, and the name drawn will be announced in all the stores which take part in the promotion. The person whose name is drawn must be present to win.

Additional incentive for shopping in Wayne this week is the first $50 cash prize drawing on Friday night. That drawing, tied in with the "win a car" promotion, is for $50 and is the first of six prior to the drawing for a new car. The other drawings are scheduled for Dec. 9, 12, 15, 16 and 19. The drawing for the car will be held on Dec. 23.

of the University of Nebraska, Chancellor Manatt was also a lecturer at the Lancaster County Normal Institute, as was H. I. Grant, Peru, Nebr. Demonstration classes were taught by Mrs. Abbie Tiffany and Miss Mara A. Byam. Prof. J. H. Miller of Johnson County introduced a new philosophy for the special purpose of elevating the professional spirit of teachers. More time is given to the lives and works of prominent educators, to literature, and to discussion than is usually the case in institutes. The duration of the institutes was seldom less than one week and might be as long as three. Sup. Scovell of Thayer County was especially commended for closely following the course laid down by the State Superintendent for Normal Institutes. The Thayer County Institute was divided into two departments, one for those beginning teaching and another for those who had taught. Another innovation in the Thayer Co. Institute was the "general discussion" in the afternoon between teachers and patrons in regard to matters of interest in connection with schools. (Nebraska's first PTA?) Also, the County Normal Institute was often one of the social events of the summer season. In 1884 the Saunders County Normal Institute opened with an evening reception for the teachers at the Court House, which was attended by the largest number of teachers in the history of the county. The program included orchestral music, "appropriate" remarks by Sup.

man, and an address of welcome by Mayor J. B. Davis. Our reporter tells us that the Normal opened the next morning "in real earnest," for a three-week session. Mass communication, rapid travel, and better trained teachers have made the institute a thing of the past. But in Old Nebraska it served to link the lone teacher in the one-room school to other teachers for a few weeks each year in friendship and enthusiasm.

Ninety-four Nebraska communities are anxiously awaiting the annual Community Improvement Program awards day activities which take place in Columbus Friday.

Thirty-one of the communities are finalists in the community awards competition. 52 are entered in special awards competition and 11 are seeking the title of

"All-Nebraska Community."
Of the 31 finalists in general competition, a total of 15 will receive first, second and third place awards at ceremonies Dec.
5. As many as eight others can receive outstanding achievement awards for special efforts expended in eight selected community improvement categories, and only the competition judges know how many communities might be selected as All-Nebraska communities.

Awards day activities will feature community booths this year, and other groups. Fourteen State agencies will have personnel on hand during the afternoon to discuss community problems and asvide interesting commentary on the national scene.

Highlighting the day's events will be the presentation of the awards by Nebraska Governor
Norbert T. Tiemann.

Course Offers Help In Returning Taxes

A two-day federal and state income tax short course for persons who assist others in filing state or federal returns or prepare their own will be held in five Nebraska cities during December.

The courses are sponsored by the University of Nebraska Department of Agricultural Economics, the Omaha district director's office of the Internal Revenue Service and the Nebraska State Tax Commissioner's office.

Among the cities where the short course will be offered is Norfolk. The course will be held at the Norfolk city auditorium on Monday and Tuesday.

During the first day, consideration will be given to changes and review of federal and state income taxes and the state sales tax, federal estate and gift taxes and the investment tax credit.

The second day will be devoted to the comprehensive study of federal and state income tax problems and filing of the Nebraska non-resident return.

The short courses are also scheduled for Ogallala, Kearney, Omaha and Lincoln.

Inquiries about the course should be directed to C. W. Bow-master, Nebraska Center for Continuing Education, 33rd and

Good Morning Feeders & Hi Mom

By Eddie Collins

A new poster is on the local bank bulletin board announcing a farm close-out sale at 1:15 p.m. with the Lutheran ladies serving coffee and sandwiches. The handbill mentioned . . . "Due to the fact that I'm taking a job with the Extension service near North Platte as efficiency counselor, I'm selling my farm, livestock and equipment."

Two old-time farmers view the bill.

"Isn't that young Charlie . . . 'ole Pete's boy who went to college and got those good grades, picture in the paper and all those big awards?"

"Yeh, 'ole Pete left him 800 acres of the best farm land in the county and 11 sections of good sand hill grass country."

"And now he's selling out! My, Sam, wasn't he given the outstanding 'something' last year . . . some state award? I think it was for efficiency."

"Yeh, and man, he is efficient. Best records imaginable. He even dotted the 'I's' and the 'S's.'" He could tell you the daily cost of a honey bee in alfalfa.

When he went to the banker he needed a wheelbarrow to cart his records."

"Yeh, Sam, I remember his dad, 'ole Pete, kept his records on the back of an envelope or a bank check. Wonder how this boy got that way?"

"He was influenced . . . in clubs, in school. He attended every farm meeting in six states, all seminars presented by the USDA, the university research, Extension service conclaves. He joined 10 farm organizations in the country. Charley either became the secretary or the president. Gave talks every place. Mostly on efficiency. Everything from the cost of gain to grub eradication, from hog cholera to Newcastle disease. He helped at a feedlot at Minatare . . . what'd they lose, $10 million? And now even Charlie's gone broke.

"Yeh, he was so computerized, he couldn't add, couldn't subtract, couldn't think, couldn't work. He measured the cost of gain, university style, with free college kid labor . . . with the state paying the bills.

"He would take the advice of every Hart, Schaffner and Marx office efficiency economist, but never from one of us depression and drought dung-diggers. I once suggested improved cattle and promotion. He just whipped out a computer card. It showed the state put gain on a Brahma, Holstein, Brown, Swiss milking Shorthorn cross for 16.254782 cents per pound. Also the San Diego Zoo put on gain for 7.936217 cents on elephants up to four years of age. Both figured without labor, depreciation or interest.

"Then last month young Charley built a 30,000 head feed complex . . . Small Business Administration loan. Some efficiency expert helped with the calculations and on paper it looked great to stockholders. But they made one mistake . . . forgot to add in labor. No one to press the buttons. They didn't even have anyone to dial the telephone to call the rendering trucks. As the expert said, 'It's hard to pinpoint and program every consideration to calculate for optimum efficiency.'"

"I guess that's where we go wrong, Gus, our goal never was efficiency, just meet the issue head on. All those computers ever meant to me is when will some conglomerate farm try to gobble me up. As long as I do the work myself, I'm in the dark as to how bad I'm doing, but I can pay my bills. What time is that sale? I just might buy that place."

LIVESTOCK FORECAST
HOGS: Strong bearish packer stand as soon as Christmas gift hams are completely delivered.

CATTLE: A-okay. All systems go upward until first glut in either Chicago or Omaha and plus annual crippling tax assessment ahead—not the money, the forced movement.

The cottontail's habit of circling back to his home territory after being pursued is often his undoing. Hunters wise in the ways of rabbits simply wait until the bunny makes his return.

"There goes the egg money and my new washing machine."

Cattle Weights

Whether or not feeding of heavier weights is profitable depends on several economic factors:—Feeding efficiency and costs.—Demand for, and supplies of, livestock.

—Price discounts on heavy-weight carcasses.

Feed itself is one of the major costs in livestock feeding. A feeder's profit is determined to a large extent by his ability to convert feed into meat efficiently.

Several studies made in recent years show how rapidly feed conversion efficiency drops as livestock weights increase.

For example, the feed conversion ratio for 600-pound yearling feeder steers is about 6.7 to 1, compared with 5.3 to 1 for steers weighing 800 pounds and 11.2 for steers at 1,100 pounds.

In other words, two-thirds more feed is required to put on a pound of gain as the animal nears 1,100 pounds than was required at 600 pounds. When animals are carried beyond 1,100 pounds, feed conversion ratios continue to rise at accelerated rates.

Better Health Reported
Health experts report that because of better nutrition, people with good incomes tend to be taller, and healthier than those with low incomes.

Proper food is also essential for the development of mental health. Actual hunger, or even just inadequate meals, produce wrong thinking. Hungry people can be turned into mobs with little effort.

We still have a long distance to go, but the people of the nation are being better fed.

The National Center for Health Statistics reports that World War II inductees were 0.67-inch taller and 10.7 pounds heavier than World War I inductees and that men inducted during 1957 and 1958 had grown another half inch and were more than seven pounds heavier.

American men's average weight is 168 pounds (90 per cent weigh between 126 and 217 pounds); women's is 142 (90 per cent weigh between 104 and 199 pounds). Women's maximum average is 152 pounds in the 55 to 64 age groups; their average weight drops 14 pounds in the 75 to 79 age group.

Men's average height is 5 feet 8.2 inches; women's is 5 feet 3 inches.

USDA: Over Half Nation's Livestock Being Fed Urea

Use of a synthetic protein source in Nebraska and U.S. livestock rations is now widespread. It's urea.

More than half of all the cattle in U.S. feedlots are probably being fed some urea—judging by the findings of a U.S. Department of Agriculture survey covering more than 6,000 cattle feeders and 20 per cent of cattle on feed April 1, 1966.

Urea is fed in three main ways: in commercial mixed feed, in a concentrate ration mixed either by the cattle feeder himself or custom mixed to his order, and mixed in silage.

Unmixed, urea takes the form of white, water-soluble crystals. Until 1828, chemists thought that only life processes could produce this organic substance that was the final waste product from protein foods. Then a German chemist, Friedrich Wöhler, figured out a way to produce urea in his laboratory. And the nitrogen compound is made today by dehydrating ammonium carbonate and carbon dioxide.

Commercial urea is used to replace part of the protein in the ration for cattle, sheep, and other cud-chewing animals whose four-way stomachs are naturally efficient feed processors.

Urea supplies no food energy itself. It must be used along with a carbohydrate, such as corn or molasses, before micro-organisms in the ruminant stomach can convert it to digestible protein.

Properly formulated, urea is as effective a protein source as natural feeds like corn and cottonseed and soybean meals. And the combined cost of urea and the carbohydrates to activate it is usually much less than that of natural protein sources.

Up to now, it has been difficult to measure the quantities of urea used in livestock feed.

The main reasons: Urea is widely used for fertilizer and industrial purposes as well as for feed, and technical problems formerly restricted feed use to so-called feed-grade urea.

But these problems have now largely been solved and most commercial grades of urea have become multi-purpose in use. Thus, commonly quoted estimates of feed-grade urea represent only a part of the urea actually fed to livestock.

The survey of actual use in feeding indicates that about three times as much separately purchased urea is being used as an ingredient in feed as might be supposed from information about so-called feed-grade (42 per cent nitrogen) urea.

Among other findings of the survey:

—About 327 million pounds of urea were consumed by cattle in U.S. feedlots during the 1965/66 feeding year.

—More than 30 per cent of all operating feedlots and 58 per cent of the cattle on feed April 1, 1966, were using urea. This included three-fourths of all feedlots with over 300 head on feed.

—About 80 per cent of the urea ration was bought in mixed feeds and 20 per cent as a separate ingredient to be mixed in concentrates or in silage.

—Three protein percentage grades of urea were purchased as a separate ingredient. A little more than half of the first-quarter 1966 purchases were 45 per cent nitrogen grade; a third, 42 per cent; the balance, 46 per cent.

—More than half of all feedlot operators who buy urea as a separate ingredient mix it on the farm with their own equipment. Local feed dealers are the major mixers for small feedlots. Only in the northeast are mobile mills most commonly used.

—Local feed or farm supply stores are the main source of supply for urea as a separate ingredient. But urea manufacturers supply most feedlots with more than 1,000 head on feed. Urea is used in cattle feeds in all regions, but size of operation can swell the quantity.

Appliance Storage

How many small kitchen appliances do you have? How many do you use? How many appliances do you have stored away where you can barely reach them? Are many put up far away from where you'd use them? Or, can you even remember where they are, offhand?

Storage is the key to getting your money's worth of use from appliances; according to Coral K. Morris, Extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware. "Store appliances near the spot where you use them, where you can see and where you can reach them easily and safely."

Most women find they can easily reach cabinet shelves or drawers that are no lower than 30 inches from the floor and no higher than 60 inches. Heavy or bulky appliances such as broilers or mixers are best stored and used on the same surface. In fact, any appliance you use every day—toaster, mixer, can opener, for example—is most convenient stored on the work surface itself. Of course, don't leave so much on the surface that you have a cluttered kitchen.

When you're organizing storage and work space in the kitchen, remember that right-handed people usually work right to left. Naturally, the reverse is true for southpaws.

Take a good, long look at all your appliances, suggested Miss Morris. Where do you use them? How often?

Probably you only use a knife sharpener once a week or less; it can be stored in a more out-of-the-way cabinet than an appliance you use every day—even in the dining room. A can opener is normally used every day; usually near the sink or the range. So leave it out on the work surface between the two.

Frypans can be stored several ways. Use a convenient cupboard or shelf, hang on the wall or pegboard, or store upright in a base cabinet or on a pull-out shelf also in the base cabinet.

Pressure cookers can save you time and money—if you use yours. They're heavy and bulky, so store the cooker within easy reach, preferably close to the water supply. An electric knife can be a necessity or a luxury; certainly it's an expensive appliance if you only get it out to carve the Thanksgiving turkey or Christmas ham. Keep it handy, use it often.

But at this point, are you running out of "handy" storage spots? Unfortunately, today's kitchens are often small and homemakers complain they simply don't have enough storage cabinets. If your husband is a do-it-yourselfer, perhaps he could make moveable storage units on casters or ready-to-use tables on wheels with several shelves are available in many stores. With its own work surface and an electric outlet, such units are an answer to a homemaker's dream—if you have a place to put the storage unit.

The Wayne (Nebr.) Herald, Thursday, December 4, 1969

ings the fourth Monday of each month from 8 to 10 p.m. The Christmas party will be Dec. 29 with a potluck lunch.

A. D. Browns and William Domsches served.

Kris Kraemer, news reporter.

Census People Won't Rap Doors For Farm Count

The census taker won't be paying farmers a visit next year. Instead, the 1969 Census of Agriculture will be taken by a questionnaire, mailed in January 1970. Farmers are required by law to complete and mail back the questionnaire within a reasonable time. Followup procedures will be used to obtain missing reports.

This "mail out, mail in" technique should prove cheaper than the "knock-on-door" method used in 1964 and earlier years.

Formerly, paid enumerators called on all farm operators to help them complete the questionnaires.

Next year, though, farmers and ranchers will be on their own when it comes to filling out and returning the forms. It's assumed they have farm records to serve as a guide.

Some statistical items will be reported in 1969 only for farms with sales of $2,500 or more. Typical items are: acres of crops irrigated, number of wheel-type versus crawler-type tractors, acres of alfalfa harvested, number of regular hired workers, tons of dry and liquid fertilizer used, acres of major crops fertilized, acres limed, inventory numbers of cattle, hogs and sheep by age-sex classes, and number of grain-fed cattle sold.

In most respects, however, the 1969 Census and what it covers will be comparable to 1964 and earlier censuses.

The definition of a farm has not changed. Places of less than 10 acres will be counted as farms if 10 acres or more will also qualify as farms if sales amount to at least $50.

4-H Club Leaders To Meet at Wausa

"New Dimensions for 4-H and Youth Education" will be brought to Nebraska 4-H club leaders through conferences at Wausa and Atsworth next week.

The conferences will be held at Atsworth on Monday, Dec. 8, and at Wausa on the following day.

C. J. Gauger, state 4-H leader at Iowa State University, Ames, will be the keynote speaker at the two 4-H Leader Forums, part of a series being sponsored around the state.

The conferences, with the theme "4-H in the Jet Age," are conducted by the University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service in cooperation with county extension agents. The Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben have provided funds to underwrite a noon luncheon for participants and cover expenses of program resource personnel.

Leaders will gather at 9 a.m. at the city auditorium at Wausa. Gauger's presentation, developed by the Iowa 4-H and Youth staff, is designed "to help all of us sharpen our concerns, broaden our vision and strengthen our commitments as we pursue a mission of developing creative, productive citizens," according to Gauger.

The presentation covers the needs of youth, program strategy and guidelines, and a look at new dimensions in such areas as program-curriculum content, programming techniques, audiences and organizational methods, management and information programs.

The four objectives of the conferences is to help 4-H leaders be informed of trends and current emphasis in the 4-H program, gain new program ideas for clubs, share ideas with other leaders and feel the importance of their leadership job.

APRICOT GLAZED PORK ROAST
Garnished with Lemon Apples

A welcome change from the usual holiday party main dish!

- 1 Easy Carve Waste Free Boneless Pork Roast (about 4 lbs.) salt, pepper, sage
- 1/3 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- *1 cup apricot nectar
- 2 teaspoons cider vinegar

Rub roast well with salt, pepper and sage. Place roast fat side up on a rack in shallow open roasting pan. Place meat thermometer so bulb is in center of roast.

Roast in a 325° oven allowing for: center loin roast 30 to 35 min. per lb. blade loin or sirloin 40 to 45 min. per lb.

Mix brown sugar, mustard, apricot nectar and cider vinegar. About 30 min. before roast is to be done, spoon glaze over roast. Baste with glaze several times during last half hour. A 4-lb. boneless roast should serve 12.

Super Tip: *If apricot nectar is not available in your store, use 4% oz. strained baby food (apricots with tapioca) and thin with orange juice to make 1 cup.

LEMON APPLES

Arrange these colorful apples topped with jaunty lemon slices around pork roast.

- 3 cups sugar
- 1 1/2 cups water
- 12 lemon slices
- red food coloring
- 12 Delicious apples (small), cored and peeled

Put sugar and water into a large heavy pan. 1 use my Dutch oven. Add lemon slices and cook until sugar is dissolved and lemon slices are translucent. Remove from syrup. Add red food coloring to syrup. Place apples in syrup. Cook over moderate to low heat so syrup doesn't boil over. When apples are half-cooked, turn carefully and cook 'til tender but not mushy. They should still hold their shape. Remove apples to plate. Cook remaining syrup until thick and jelly-like, being careful not to burn it. Spoon syrup over apples to glaze. When ready to serve, top each apple with a lemon slice. May be served warm or cold. Serves 12.

BAKED POTATO SLICES

Put a pan of these in the oven on the shelf above the roast. They'll come out golden-brown and crispy.

Choose one medium Idaho Russet potato per person to be served. Scrub potatoes and cut in thick slices (about 1"). Leave skins on. Melt butter in shallow oblong baking pan. Dip potato slices in melted butter (1/4 cup for every 5 potatoes).

Bake in 325° oven 45 min. Season with salt and pepper.

CREAMY GREEN BEANS

A "quickie" your family will like.

- 2 slices bacon
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1/4 teaspoon dried dill leaves, crushed
- 1/3 cup milk
- 1 can (10 1/2 oz.) condensed cream of potato soup
- 1 pkg. (9 oz.) Flav-o-Rite cut green beans, cooked and drained

In saucepan, cook bacon 'til crisp; remove and crumble. Pour off all but 1 tablespoon drippings; add onion and dill and cook 'til tender. Add remaining ingredients. Heat; stir now and then. Garnish with bacon bits. Serves 4.

SCOTTISH TOFFEE

One of those rich "sweets" that we reserve for the holidays. Serve to friends with a steaming cup of coffee.

- 2 cups quick cooking oatmeal
- 1/3 cup butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup light brown sugar
- 1/4 cup honey
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
- 1 cup semi-sweet chocolate bits (7 oz. package)
- 1/3 cup finely chopped nuts

Pour melted butter or margarine over oatmeal. Add brown sugar, honey, salt and vanilla. Mix until combined; Pack firmly into a 9x9" greased pan. Bake in 425° oven 12 min. Mixture will bubble. Remove from oven and place pan on wire rack to cool slightly. Melt chocolate bits over hot water and spread on top oatmeal mixture. Sprinkle with nuts. When cool, cut into 48 pieces.

MOD ENGLISH TRIFLE

The Campbell Soup Company developed this recipe in their test Kitchens for Bounty canned puddings.

- *3 cups pound cake, cut in 1" cubes
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 1/4 cup sherry
- 1/3 cup strawberry preserves
- 1 cup orange sections
- 1 can (15 1/2 oz.) French vanilla pudding, chilled
- Whipped cream

Place cake in shallow serving dish (a clear crystal bowl is nice). Combine juice and sherry; pour over cake. Soak for 1/2 hour. Spread with preserves, top with oranges, reserving a few for garnish. Pour pudding over all. Refrigerate. Garnish with whipped cream, orange slices and for the holidays with chopped maraschino cherries. Serves 8.

Super Tip: *Angel cake, sponge cake, white or yellow layer cake may also be used. A good way to use stale cake. This dessert is best used the same day as it's made, since it tends to become slightly watery the second day.
