Reading program proposed

School Seeking State Aid

The public school system in Wayne will achieve another "first" in Northeast Nebraska if a request for funding of a proposed program is okayed by the State Department of Education. That request is for $83,420 in Title III funds which would be used to set up a program for students who suffer from specific language disability, a disability which affects a person's ability to read.

Mrs. Henry Ley, who made a report on the request during the school board meeting Monday night, noted that the program could very well be the first of its kind in the state. No school in Nebraska has a complete program for this type of student, she noted, but the Wayne program would be the most complete in existence if the funds are allocated and it is put into operation.

The SLD child, according to a copy of the request sent to the state department, is a child who has great difficulty in reading because he has not developed his perceptual skills. In the most simple terms, he is the child who often reads "saw" for "was," "on" for "no," "tops" for "spot" and so on.

The problem, which has gone largely unrecognized until a few years ago, probably affects more students than many people realize, according to Mrs. Ley. She noted that some authorities in the field estimate that up to 20 or even 25 per cent of the students in the nation have some difficulty in reading because of this problem. Estimate of the

'When It Rains, It Pours' for Schlines Family

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Schlines who farm north of Wakefield may be well convinced this fall of the old saying, "When it rains, it pours."

Several weeks ago Schlines was seriously injured in a corn picker accident when his left hand became caught in the husking rollers of a tractor-mounted picker. Being unable to get his hand free from the rollers he drove the tractor back to his farm house for help. He had surgery on the wrist last week in a Sioux City hospital where he has been since the accident.

Monday evening Mrs. Schlines fell on the ice at their farmhouse about 5:30 p.m., resulting in a fractured pelvic bone. She was home alone at the time and crawled to the house. Her daughter, Mrs. James Hallstrom of Wakefield, stopped by about 6:15 p.m. and found her inside the back door unable to crawl up the steps and on into the house to reach a phone.

Mrs. Schlines was taken to the hospital in Wakefield where she is being treated.

Her granddaughter, four-year-old Lisa Hallstrom, has the measles just now when her parents are planning to move this weekend from a farm into Wakefield.

Wayne Resident Hurt in Wreck

A Wayne resident received chest and back injuries about 12:15 p.m. Monday when the propane truck he was driving rolled into a ditch two miles north and a little more than a mile west of Winslow.

Keith Ellis was taken to the Wayne Hospital after his east-bound 1969 Ford truck ran into difficulty on ice-coated roads and rolled into the north ditch, according to the Wayne County Sheriff's office which investigated.

Authorities report extensive damage to the vehicle.

Farm Laborer Killed in Tractor Accident Near Dixon Monday

A hired farm worker on the Vince Kavanagh farm northeast of Dixon was killed when a tractor upset on him about six o'clock Monday afternoon. Dead is David Glanzer, 20, of Uteca, S. D. Glanzer was killed when the tractor he was driving tipped backwards on him on a county road about three miles east and two and a half miles north of Dixon. The tractor was in the road ditch at the time of the accident.

Present when the accident took place was Vince Kavanagh. He said death was immediate. Called to investigate the mishap was Dixon County Sheriff Gus Schutte.

A member of a Mennonite colony, Glanzer was to have been buried in his home town Wednesday afternoon. He had worked on the Kavanagh farm for about the past seven or eight months.

Fashion Show (Crinkle, Crinkle) Set for College

Lined of all the clothes in your closet? Want something different?

Then take a look at the fashion show that basic design students at Wayne State College are putting on Friday evening at 7:30 in Ramsey Theater.

About a hundred students—men and women—will model the creations they produced as projects in Richard Fesh's basic design classes. His instructions: design some kind of wearing apparel, take plain white paper fabric, cut, sew, and paint their patterns on the paper—then model the result in the show.

In previous years, students have come up with all types of apparel, formal, sports, everyday school clothing, even some that would do nicely at a costume party. Many of them, Lesh said, would have been appropriate in the best of fashion circles. And his observation of plans for apparel that will appear in this show indicates more of the same.

Council Votes Money for WS Foundation, City Pool

Wayne city councilmen voted Tuesday evening to contribute just over $700 to the Wayne State Foundation.

The contribution, which is one per cent of the gross electrical revenue during the past year, will help that non-profit organization support its scholarship programs, various institutes and other projects it takes on during the year. Special project the Foundation is involved with now is the purchase of a pipe organ for the college's Fine Arts Center.

The Foundation last year made available $9,000 in scholarships and spearheaded a Nebraska-Scandinavian Institute and a Latin American Institute.

The council also decided to spend about $700 on the city's swimming pool in order to have it ready for opening next summer. Part of that money, $379, will be spent on a new water heater for the showers at the pool. The present heater burned out the last few days the pool was open last summer. That $379 is the bid turned in by Tiedke Plumbing of Wayne. It was $42 under the lowest bid, turned in by a company outside of Wayne.

The rest of the money, $315, will be spent for a slippery slide swimmers can use to slide rather than to dive into the pool. Made of fiber glass, the slide will be about 10 feet high and about 12 feet long.

Councilmen also voted to give all city employees a $5 gift certificate for Christmas. That certificate will be for the same amount as voted last year.

In other action, the city council approved a request to remove the house just west of the First Baptist parsonage on West Fourth St. The vacant lot will be turned into a parking lot for the church.

Council also:—Heard a request from the owner of an aerial spraying company that the city continue its spraying for Dutch elm disease. The council earlier this year decided to halt spraying because the city has lost several trees already and will probably lose several more next year. Council members at that time felt it was useless to spend the money on the spraying if it was having little effect.

—Heard a request from a representative of Consolidated Engineers that his company be hired as the city's street superintendent. The city will have to hire a qualified street superintendent if it wants to get a share of state money which will be made available to cities and towns in the next few years.

—Heard a complaint the city clerk had received about parking on Pine Heights Rd. Residents along the street are having difficulty parking during the day because of the large number of cars in the area. The councilmen noted that they could do little about the problem unless residents see COUNCIL VOTES, page 8.

The Story Behind 'Peppermint Bottle'

Youngsters in the early grades of school can be some of the most creative people around at times. The first grade students in Mrs. Mike Mallette's reading class at West Elementary are proof of that.

Those students put their heads together recently and had a try at story telling. The result—"The Little Bottle of Peppermint"—is printed elsewhere on this page.

Those who remember their fairy tales well will notice in that story traces of stories they read when they were young. That's because, says Mrs. Mallette, the children had just finished reading several stories for children. Even at that, Mrs. Mallette says, all the children who have read the story thoroughly enjoy it.

'Messiah' Soloist Named

Soloists for Wayne State's performance of "The Messiah" Sunday afternoon were announced today by Dr. Jacques Norman, director of the college choir.

The women soloists are Mrs. Bonnie Moore Bothe and Mrs. Barbara Fletcher. Mrs. Bothe, vocal instructor at Wayne State, is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and a former teacher in Iowa schools. Mrs. Fletcher, music instructor in the Winslow schools, is a graduate of Augustana College where she sang in numerous recitals. She is a graduate student at Wayne State.

Robert R. Hansen and Raymond Miller were named as the male soloists for the Sunday performance. Frequently a recitalist and church soloist, Hansen is a soloist with the Sioux City Symphony. He has sung solo roles for the Wayne State "Messiah" several times. He is currently the night editor at the Sioux City Journal. Miller, of the University of Nebraska, is a soloist with the

Wayne County Nears Century Mark; Plans Set for Celebration

'$50 Makes Nice Gift,' Says Lucky Housewife

"I was on my way to church," explained Mrs. Gerald Pospisil of rural Wayne, "and stopped at the drug store to copy down the numbers. I was helping with the Christmas supper at St. Mary's and decided perhaps I'd better check the numbers. Sure enough I had the number nine on the list (37519) and turned the ticket in around 6:15 p.m."

Shortly after eight o'clock the manager of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce telephoned Mrs. Pospisil and told her the good news that her ticket had won the $50 prize Tuesday night.

The Gerald Pospisils farm six miles south of Wayne and one quarter miles west. They have two children, six-year-old Steven and Rebecca who is two.

"It sure makes a nice gift," the housewife explained, "since my birthday is on the twenty-first, Christmas on the twenty-fifth and our wedding anniversary is on the thirtieth."

The regular Thursday Cash Night drawing is worth $150 this week and if the lucky person whose name is drawn is present in a participating store, he or she will have a sizeable sum of extra Christmas cash, a $150 check, which most everyone could use.

Another $50 will be the prize given away in the Friday drawing when another list of 20 numbers will be posted. Like drawings will also be held Monday, Tuesday and Friday next week.

The person holding the first number at the top of the list has first chance at the $50 prize if he or she turns in the winning ticket to the Chamber of Commerce office before 8 p.m. that See NICE GIFT, page 8.

Movie, Games, St. Nick Highlighting Tots' Party Scheduled for Saturday

A fraternity and a sorority at Wayne State College are planning a Christmas party Saturday—but not for themselves. They're inviting all the children from the Wayne area to attend, and all of them from elementary school age on down appear.

The Wayne City Auditorium will be a busy place indeed.

Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity originated the idea with willing cooperation from the fraternal organization, the Order of Diana, and Kappa Delta Gamma sorority. Practically all their members are taking part in the party, and most of them have devised costumes representing children's story book characters.

Randy Cordes, Scribner, a TRE member who is general chairman, said the guests are invited to come at 10 a.m. and stay until 3 p.m. Activities will keep them busy all the time.

TKE and the Order of Diana also have planned a Friday night party for the Norfolk Opportunity Center from 7 to 8:30 in the Norfolk Junior High School. Mick Colovos, chairman of the party, said some of the Saturday party events will be used at Norfolk, including a carol sing and several Christmas skits.

The Saturday party in Wayne will begin with games from 10 to 10:30, a pinata breaking at 10:30 and another at 11; then from 11:20 to 12, the first part of a

Blue Devil Mat Season Opens Tonight

The Wayne (Nebr.) Herald, Thursday, December 11, 1969

Wrestling, a sport which began attracting fairly large crowds last season, gets underway hot and heavy tonight (Thursday) when the Wayne Blue Devils begin host to Fremont Bergan.

The meet, which opens with reserve action at 6:30 in the city auditorium, pits a potentially strong Wayne squad against a somewhat unknown Fremont team. Head coach Don Koenig, in his third year as wrestling mentor for the Blue Devils, has noted that the Fremont team is going to be a strong one again this year. Last year Wayne lost to that squad.

But Wayne's team shouldn't be any pushover this year. Forming a core of that team are eight returning lettermen, two of which made it to the state tourney last season.

Those lettermen include Mark Beiermann, Tony Fluogger, Bruce Ring, Steve Hall, Doug Maurer, Rick Ginn, Gary Heithold and Alan Wischhof. All but Hall have earned positions on the varsity squad for tonight's opener.

Two of those lettermen—Beiermann and Maurer—will have plenty of incentive to equal last year's efforts which won them shots at the state meet. Beiermann will be wrestling the opener at 115 pounds, Maurer at 165 pounds.

Koenig will be hoping his squad can improve on last year's record of seven wins and four defeats. Handing the locals their losses last year were O'Neill, Schuyler, Albion and Fremont Bergan. The year before, his first at

165	Doug Maurer	Tom Dierolf

Wayne High, Koenig fielded a team which ended the season 8-1. Neligh, a school which has dropped wrestling this year because of "lack of interest," was the only team to defeat Wayne last year. But, Koenig notes, Wayne wasn't matched that year with the tough team which handed them losses the following season.

Jarry McHure, in his first year at Wayne, is assisting Koenig this season.

Missing from this year's squad because of graduation are Bernie Binger, Steve Hix, Handy Lutt, Mark Ellis and Alan Thomsen. Binger was the third of the Wayne High trio to make it to state last year.

The Wayne wrestlers will be on the road Monday when they travel to Blair for their second meet of the season. The rest of their schedule: Dec. 20, Wahoo Invitational Tourney: Jan. 3, at Schuyler; Jan. 5, Plainview; Jan. 8, at Norfolk; Jan. 16, Albion; Jan. 20, O'Neill; Jan. 22, at South Sioux City; Jan. 22, at Wakefield; Jan. 31, Albion Invitational Tourney; Feb. 3, Wisner; Feb. 7, Husker Conference Tourney; Feb. 13-14, District Tourney; Feb. 20-21, State Tourney.

All home matches will be held in the city auditorium. For those uninitiated into the sport of wrestling the following summary may prove helpful:

A match is divided into three periods of two minutes each. The wrestler, matched against an opponent in his own weight, is going after the match-ending pin, achieved when a wrestler forces his opponents shoulders to the mat for a short period of time.

At the start of the first period, the wrestler face each other on their feet. The second period starts with one wrestler on top in the starting position, and the third period with the other wrestler in that starting position. The three periods, if they are needed to determine a winner, give both wrestlers a chance to show their skill in three positions: standing, on top and underneath.

Points are awarded the individual wrestlers for such things as takedowns, reversals, escapes and predicaments. Team points are earned from decisions (3), pins (5) and forfeits (5). Maximum number of points a team could earn would be 60-5 in each of the 12 weight classes.

4 College Grapplers

Win at UNI Meet

Four Wayne State College wrestlers won places in the University of Northern Iowa Invitational Saturday, a tournament that attracted about 300 matmen from 26 colleges and universities.

Placing third for Wayne were Max Branum, 134-pound sophomore from Park Forest, Ill., and Ken Monroe, 167-pound freshman from Rosemont, Ill. Fourth placers were Vince Emery, 150-pound sophomore from Omaha, and Dennis Reid, 177-pound sophomore from DeWitt, Iowa.

Wayne wrestlers go next to the Northwest Missouri State Invitational at Maryville Saturday. They finished second last year in the eight-team meet, close behind winner Morningside.

Local Girls Rap Omahans, 42-22, In Sunday Tilt

Wayne's girls' basketball team handed St. Mary's College of Omaha a 44-22 loss Sunday afternoon at Wayne State's Rice Auditorium.

The defeat is the second one the St. Mary's squad has suffered at the hands of the Wayne team. In the season opener, Wayne knocked off the Omaha team, 53-29.

Balanced scoring marked the Wayne attack in the Sunday game. High scorers were Sue Gatewood with eight points, Paula Messerschmidt with seven and Karen Hadenfeldt with six. Betty Egan was high for the St. Mary's team with 12.

Saturday night the Wayne team suffered its first defeat of the season, a 64-53 loss to Look Magazine of Des Moines.

The Wayne squad, sparked by Tracey Peterson's scoring, led the Des Moines team by one point, 32-31, at intermission, but was unable to sustain that scoring pace in the second half.

Also getting into the double figures in that Saturday night game, played at New Virginia, Iowa, were Sue Gatewood and Karen Hadenfeldt. Both finished the action with 10 points. Bev Anderson's 18 was high for the winners.

The Wayne squad, which is made up of college and area girls, has a long lay-off before it sees more action. Next game: Jan. 10 at Wayne against Westmar College of LeMars, Iowa. The team is not affiliated with the college and any area girls who wish to try out for the team are welcome to do so. Coaching the girls again this year is Miss G. L. Willoughby.

completely to the Wisner-Pilger grapplers.

Results of the rest of the matches, all won by Wisner-Pilger wrestlers:

Jim Pollock won by forfeit in the 145-pound class; Warren Podany defeated Bill Gustafson, 4-3, in the 155-pound class; Leon Koehimoos pinned Tom Nicholson in 3:24 in the 165-pound class and Steve Tagge pinned Kirk Gardner in 3:15 in the 175-pound class. The Trojans had to forfeit the final two matches because they had no wrestlers to compete in those two weight divisions, 185 pounds and heavyweight.

The Wakefield grapplers will be seeking their first victory of the season Saturday night when they play host to Leigh. First match gets underway at 6:30 p.m.

Coming Matches

—Tonight (Thursday), Fremont Bergan at Wayne.
—Saturday, Wakefield at Leigh.
—Monday, Wayne at Blair.
—Tuesday, Norfolk at Winside.

Wisner-Pilger Hands

Wakefield Grapplers

38-18 Loss Monday

Grapplers from Wisner-Pilger finished strong in Monday night's meet with Wakefield, taking the seven final matches to rack up a 38-18 victory over the visiting Trojans.

Wakefield held an 18-10 lead going into those final seven matches after the Trojans had racked up three pins and one decision while limiting the hosts to two pins.

But Wisner-Pilger used a decision, two pins and three forfeits to overtake the Trojans. Wakefield's Devon Fisher, wrestling in the 98-pound class, started the scoring for the Trojans when he racked up a 6-3 decision over Jack McQuire, but Wakefield's Dave Carlson in the 107-pound class was pinned by Dick Wiechman in 3:40 to give the lead back to the hosts.

In the 115-pound division, Trojan Steve Kraemer pinned John Pollock in 3:28, and in the 123-pound class Wisner-Pilger's Ben Wiechman pinned Bob Twite in 1:16, fastest of the seven pins of the evening.

Wakefield wrestlers racked up two more pins to give the Trojans their final points of the evening when Steve Oswald pinned Don Vaborny in 2:27 in the 130-pound class and Dave Lehman pinned Harlan Stahl in 3:28. Then, the momentum switched

Boxing Smoker Slated for Friday Night

THE MEANS AND THE END: Ron Dendinger displays what must be used in order to win a second annual one for the Catholic group, will be held in the city auditorium. First action begins at eight o'clock.

Club boxing smoker Friday night. The smoker, second annual one for the Catholic group, will be held in the city auditorium. First action begins at eight o'clock.

Sports fans in the Wayne area looking for some variety to brighten up the day will find just that when they turn out for the boxing smoker scheduled for the city auditorium Friday night.

Scheduled to begin at eight o'clock, the smoker will attract fighters from as far away as Sioux Falls and from as close as Wayne and Wayne State College.

Last year's boxing smoker, first one sponsored by the St. Mary's Men's Club of Wayne, attracted between four and five hundred fans despite bad weather which kept another two hundred people away.

Tickets for the event are selling for $2.50 for reserved seats, $1.50 for general admission. Tickets will be available at the door.

On the card again this year are the two crowd-pleasing "heavyweights": Dan Gill and Pat Fox. These 50-pound scrappers fought to a draw last year to open that smoker. Their fathers, Jim Fox and Mike Gill, were well-known in the area several years ago for their boxing prowess.

Fans who turned out in last January's miserable weather to watch that first smoker saw action enough to last them for a while. Highlighting that action were two TITLES, one by South Sioux's Bob Hixon over Lloyd Hamilton and one by Wayne State's Randy Simson over Norfolk's Penny Munson.

Hixon, now calling Neligh home, will be stepping into the ring again Friday night.

Also returning this year are Wayne State student Tim Frank, who last year dethroned Earl Fourcloud, Bob Hixon, Roger Pelster of Neligh, Ed Combs of South Sioux City, Jeff LaMar of Sioux Falls, Jim Ross of Sioux Falls, Ron Dietrich of Norfolk and Neal Harrison of Norfolk.

Other fighters on Friday's card include Vaughn Korth of Wayne, John Zimmerman of Wayne State, Junior Pelster of Neligh, Rick Bailey of South Sioux City, Jim Nelson of Sioux Falls, Jerry Turgeon of Sioux Falls, Steve Sears of Sioux Falls, Lonnie Beynon of Sioux Falls, Frankie Ovidea of Norfolk and Larry Jackson of Norfolk.

Announcing the action tomorrow night will be Ron Dodd, Referee will be Bill Engle.

ONE MORE INCH is about all one of these cagers need in order to bring down this rebound during the Winside-Ponca game Tuesday night. Fighting for it are Dave Witt (12) and Scott Duering of Winside and Warren Wood of Ponca. Ponca won that encounter, 62-48.

Coming Games

—Friday, Wayne at David City Aquinas, Allen at Homer, Hartington Cedar Catholic at Laurel, Wisner at Wakefield.

—Saturday, Papillion at Wayne, Pender at Allen.

—Tuesday, Laurel at Wayne, Pender at Allen, Wayne, Winside at Cole-ridge.

UNCONTESTED: Bob Mitchell, 6-1 junior at Allen, has no trouble in getting this shot off during the Allen-Coleridge game Saturday night. Awaiting the rebound are Coleridge's Steve Nordby (24) and Roger Hahne and Allen's Dennis Geiger (33). The Bulldogs handed the Eagles their second defeat of the season, 83-54.

Allen Quintet Suffers 2nd Cage Defeat

Allen was completely overpowered by a strong Coleridge team, 83-54, in a Lewis and Clark contest Saturday night at Coleridge.

The defeat, second in a row for the Allen squad, was doubly embarrassing for the head coach of the Allen Eagles, Claire Jordan, Jordan, in his first year of coaching after graduating from Wayne State, is a native of Coleridge and played his high school basketball for that school.

Allen made the first basket of the game to lead for the only time of the night, but the Coleridge quintet started to rack up points and with two minutes gone held a 11-5 lead. Three minutes later the lead had stretched to 10 points and by the close of the three periods. With 3:50 left in the quarter Coleridge led 57-37. The Coleridge team effort continued as all five cagers scored to finish the quarter with a 65-32 lead.

The home team ran away with the fourth quarter, adding another 18 points. Allen started the quarter with three quick points, but Coleridge exploded for 43 points within a span of five minutes. With 2:40 left on the clock Allen found the target again and sank seven points to finish out the scoring at 83-54.

Coleridge put four men in double figures. Roger Hahne led that effort with 26 points, followed by Steve Hines with 18 and Randy Rhoad and Randy Hoffart with 11 each. Allen's scoring led by Bob Mitchell and Dennis Geiger with 13 and 11 points respectively.

In the rebound department, Steve Hines and Steve Nordby led the Coleridge quintet, and Bob Mitchell and Dennis Geiger led the Allen squad.

Coleridge also ran away with the reserve game, 55-27. Jim Leapey led the winners with 14 points, followed by Marlin Kalin with 12. John Warner led the losers with eight points, followed by Duane Mitchell with six.

Allen continued its good percentage at the charity toss making 12 of 16 for 75%. Coleridge sank 13 of 24 for 52%.

Allen is on the road Friday at Homer and has their first home game Saturday night meeting Pender.

WS Quint Rips Concordia

The flashing Wayne State basketball quint will be back on home court Saturday night—Westmar the 7:30 foe after a 5:30 preliminary with Creighton freshmen playing the Wayne junior varsity.

The Wildcats ran their record to 4-1 with a 93-71 win over Concordia at Seward Tuesday and had another road game scheduled Wednesday with Northwestern College at Orange City, Iowa.

For balanced scoring—a Wayne trademark—it would be hard to beat the performance at Concordia: 16-15-14-12-10 respectively by Paul Emanuel, Marc Sommerfeld, Mick Anderson, Dave Schneider, Dean Elfson and Bill Goodwin. It was the second time this season that six Wildcats scored 10 or more.

Wayne had some early trouble finding the basket and traded the lead several times before moving in front 34-32 at intermission. The second half, however, turned into a typical Wayne rout as substitute forward Mick Anderson went on a 13-point spree and Sommerfeld hit 12. Result: Wayne outscored the Bulldogs, 59-39, in the second period.

Saturday night's game is likely to be a crowd pleaser—if the history of Wayne-Westmar games is any clue. They have

Athlete of the Week

Loren Reuter
Allen High School

By Norvin Hansen

Height doesn't mean everything in today's style of basketball in spite of the overwhelming importance given it by fans, sports writers and coaches.

Loren Reuter, a 5-8 junior at Allen High School, is proof of that. He was named this week's "Athlete of the Week" by the sports writers at The Wayne Herald for his fine showing against the Ponca Indians in Allen's season opener last Friday night.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Reuter of rural Allen, he scored 18 points in that game, an effort even more noteworthy when considering he didn't get into the game until the second quarter. Only players outscoring him in the contest were Ponca's Steve Forney with 21 points and Jeff Knerl with 20. Both are taller than Reuter.

Allen lost that game to Ponca, traditional sports enemies for the Allen athletes, 70-60.

Reuter, who didn't see much varsity action until late last season, is one of the quickest players on the Allen squad—he runs the 100-yard dash in about 10.8. And that quickness is one of his biggest assets, according to Coach Claire Jordan, since he can use it to work for his shots against the taller cagers he must face when going inside. Jordan says Reuter gets down the court quickly on the fast breaks, giving the Eagles scoring potential in that area to go along with that provided by their tall boys.

One thing this week's "Athlete" will have to work on is defense. "He's fast and he moves well," says his coach, "but he's going to have to work more on his defense in order to get a starting berth."

This selection marks the beginning of this new sports feature for The Herald. Each selection—chosen from the previous week's basketball games and wrestling matches—will be announced in the Thursday issue of the paper. The athletes chosen for the honor will receive a small "Athlete of the Week" card from the newspaper.

been able to hunt the lands on which they live without a hunting license for the past several years, and many have undoubtedly become interested in hunting and wildlife conservation as a result. Yet, the cover that is needed to support wildlife is still disappearing from the landscape at an alarming rate.

Steen: Don't Destroy Our Wildlife Habitat

"Now that the fall harvest and other year-end chores are nearly finished, land operators might turn their attention to wooded draws, weedy roadside ditches and grassy waterways on their land," suggests M. O. Steen, director of the Game and Parks Commission.

"But instead of taking fire and ax along to destroy this precious cover as many have done in past years, why not take along a shotgun and enjoy hunting the pheasants, quail and cottontails that make their homes in such areas?" he recommended.

Farmers and ranchers have erways will be the nesting places where another generation of wildlife will be produced. Letting these areas stand can mean life for a great number of pheasants, quail and other game species next year," Steen points out.

'Honorable Mention' At Dakota Wesleyan

Ed Sherry, a 1966 graduate of Wayne High School, has been singled out for special recognition for his efforts as a member of the 1969 Dakota Wesleyan University football team.

Sherry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Sherry of Wayne, has received honorable mention on the All-South Dakota Intercollegiate Conference Football Team, and has been awarded his letter in football as a member of the Tiger football team.

A junior student at the Mitchell, S. D. college with a major in history, Sherry played defensive center.

Indians' Tough Press Stifles Winside 'Cats Tuesday Night, 62-48

By Kiehn Tietgen

The Winside Wildcats met defeat for the second time in as many games as the result of a full court press by the opposing team, this time Ponca, 62-48. The encounter between Winside and Ponca was a makeup game played Tuesday at Winside after being postponed Saturday because of bad weather.

Ponca's effective press which was employed from the second stanza on forced the Wildcats to make 25 turnovers, many of which were converted into baskets by the Ponca players. Up to the point when Ponca started their press both teams had committed only four miscues.

The Indians took the early lead on a free throw by Kelly Asmusen, but Winside came right back with two points by senior Scott Duering, who finished the evening with eight points.

were forced to make 13 turnovers and with 2:54 remaining before intermission Ponca pulled away from the Wildcats and into a 32-22 halftime lead.

The Indians' pressing defense that had rattled Winside during the first half lost some of its effect in the second half as the Wildcats miscues numbered only 12. But the hosts fell farther behind as they were out rebounded 13 to 6 and outshot 44% to 38% by the visitors. Winside was behind by as much as 19 points, 59-40, with 2:27 remaining in the contest. From that point the Wildcats made a strong final effort as they outscored the Indians eight to three but they couldn't erase Ponca's lead before time ran out.

Fritz Weible gained scoring honors for the Wildcats with 10 points. He was followed by Dave Witt with eight, Phil Witt with five and Bob Jackson with one.

Ponca had three players in double figures: Warren Wood with 16, Jeff Knerl with 14 and Kelly Asmusen with 10.

Dave Witt led Winside under the boards as he came up with 14 rebounds. He received plenty of help from Weible and Duering as they grabbed seven rebounds each.

Winside's yearlings lost their second game of the young season to the Ponca reserves, 29-25, in a closely played contest. The first loss was a heart-breaker in overtime last week to Wakefield.

Jerry Wacker led the scoring parade for the reserves with 13 points. He was followed by Kevin Frevert with eight, Kevin Johnson with three and Bob Kruger with one.

The Wildcats' next encounter will be Coleridge Tuesday night on the latter's court.

'Cats Take 2nd In Cage Tourney; Etofson Honored

Wayne State's Wildcats finished second Saturday night in the Optimist Classic basketball tournament at Bolivar, Mo., defeated, 68-63, on the late hot shooting of host Southwest Baptist College.

Dean Etofson, Wayne forward, landed a berth on the tourney's all-star quintet, along with three Baptist players and one from John Brown University.

The Wildcats took a 29-21 lead into the second half on the championship game, but saw it dwindle as Andrew Jackson's long-shot spree led a Baptist surge. The score was tied several times, then the hosts pulled from a 49-41 count with just over eight minutes to go.

In this time the Bearcats were able to cash in numerous bonus free throws as the pressing Wildcats were charged with fouls. Wayne had only nine free throw chances in the game and hit five while the Bearcats went 18-27 at the charity line. Wayne outscored the foe from the field, 29 goals to 25.

Paul Emanuel led Wayne with 15 points, Dave Schneider hit 13, Etofson and Bill Goodwin 12 each.

In the consolation game, John Brown 1, downed Southwest College, 79-73.

Wayne brought home a second-place trophy which Coach Dave Gunther describes as "about the biggest I have ever seen"—almost as big as the champion trophy.

Feed Raw Soybeans?

What is the value of raw soybeans in swine feeding? How do cooked soybeans compare to soybean meal? Is it economical to cook soybeans on the farm? These are some of the questions which are answered in the county agent's column this week.

The county agent also devotes part of his column to comments on the value of windbreaks in reducing the severity of those strong north winds which always accompany winter.

Read about what he has to say in his column in this issue of The Wayne Herald. You'll find it on the "Farm Page."

studded tires give three times the starting ability and 19 per cent more stopping ability than regular tires.

To contend with severe conditions—packed snow or ice—reinforced tire chains top them all. For getting started, chains offer seven times the pulling power of regular tires on glare ice. They'll stop 50 per cent better.

On loosely packed snow, reinforced tire chains reduce braking distance by 37 per cent as compared with regular highway tires.

For cornering on ice or snow, however, traction aids offer little advantage unless used on all four wheels to maintain steering control as well as traction.

Ryan also points out that in no instance can a driver stop or go nearly as well, regardless of traction aids on snow or ice, as with regular highway tires on dry pavement.

The National Safety Council committee has also issued six steps to safer winter driving developed through years of skid testing. In addition to tires, these include:

- Get the "feel" of the road—when you start and as conditions change.
- "Pump" brakes to slow or stop—three to five times a second—to maintain steering control.
- Carry—and use—reinforced tire chains when traction problems are severe.
- Keep windshield and all windows clear. When wiper blades streak, replace them, and keep your windshield washer filled with the recommended mixture of windshield antifreeze and water. Never use radiator antifreeze on your windshield.

State Safety Head

Cautions Motorists About Poor Traction

"Always Drive on sound tires with good treads," the chief of the State Accident Records Bureau, Tom Ryan, warns motorists.

"That's a life-saving idea at any time of year," the safety official says. "It's especially appropriate at this time of year—before winter sets in with a vengeance."

According to Ryan, drastically impaired traction is a major winter problem and tires and traction aids are one answer. He outlines facts developed in research conducted by the committee on winter driving hazards of the National Safety Council:

If you equip your car with conventional snow tires, you can gain as much as 13 per cent better stopping on loosely packed snow than with regular highway tires. However, snow tires little or no improvement in stopping on ice.

Where ice is a major problem,

Extra Effort Might Help Mail Delivery

Wayne area residents sending off a large number of Christmas cards and letters are urged by the Wayne post office to bundle their local and out-of-town cards separately.

This will help ensure that they get on their way quickly and correctly, according to Postmaster Don Wightman.

Mail users should also make sure they have the correct street addresses on the letters and their own return address in the upper left corner on their letters or packages. If for some reason the mail cannot be delivered, the return address will stop the letter or package from ending up in the dead letter office, Wightman said.

Postmaster Wightman also urges people sending mail to someone in Wayne to use the full street address, the box number or the rural route number. Although the mail carriers know many of the people living in the city, they can't possibly know where everybody lives, he explained.

If anybody is having trouble finding the correct zip code for their letter or package they should call the post office for help.

Finally, Postmaster Wightman urges mail users to mail early and often.

Taxes In County Exceed $2 Million

Wayne County's 1969 total real and personal property tax bill climbed from $1,912,134.31 in 1968 to $2,120,858.37 in 1969, according to a report compiled by the Wayne County Assessor's office for the state tax commissioner.

The $208,724.06 increase in the total tax bill over last year is thought to be the second largest increase in any previous single year in the county. The largest single increase in tax in Wayne County is thought to be the $227,758 increase occurring between 1965 and 1966. The total tax bill reached over $2 million for the first time in 1969. After dropping slightly below that mark through 1967 and 1968, the total has once more exceeded the $2 million mark.

Figured on a tangible assessed valuation of $36,330,435, the 1969 tax bill represents the amount Wayne County residents pay to support county, city, school and fire district costs.

The $36,330,435 assessed valuation for 1969 is an increase of $96,530 over the 1968 assessed valuation of $36,233,905. The annual tax bill is figured on the basis of the total valuation for the particular year.

The total county mill levy dropped from 9.49 in 1968 to 9.15 in 1969. Taxes levied for the county amounted to $343,859.76 in 1968 and dropped to $332,423.48 in 1969. This amounts to a difference of $11,436.28.

Funds from the county for payments in state institutions dropped from $52,901.50 in 1968 to $20,345.04 in 1969 while monies for the county assistance fund increased from $21,015.66 in 1968 to $45,413.04 in 1969. While $121,021.24 was deposited in the county's general fund in 1968, the amount climbed to $134,422.61 in 1969.

County road fund monies increased from $61,597.64 in 1968 to $86,466.44 in 1969 or $24,868.80.

While $15,218.24 went into the bridge fund in 1968, nothing was levied for bridges in 1969.

The county's sinking fund received $54,350.86 in 1968, but only $27,247.83 in 1969. Funds for the county fair amounted to $9,058.48 in 1968 and $9,082.61 in 1969.

There was an increase of $749.77 in the 1969 noxious weed district fund which was $8,696.14 in 1968 and $9,445.91 this year.

Total assessed valuation for cities and villages amounted to $8,689,810 in the county this year showing an increase of $122,235 over the 1968 assessed valuation of $8,567,575. Total taxes for cities and villages reached $176,345.93 in 1969 whereas the figure last year was $171,462.19. This increase amounts to $4,883.74.

Total taxes for rural fire districts amounted to $13,812.22 last year and increased to $17,464.69 in 1969.

School districts receive the largest portion of taxes. The county's town schools include Wayne, Winslow, Hoskins, Sholes, Wakefield, Randolph and Pierce. They need $1,200,960 in taxes compared to $987,041 needed in 1968. This is an increase of $213,919. Most schools received more monies in 1969 but the bigger increases were noted in the Wayne and Winslow school districts. Wayne's District 17 gets $685,755 this year, or $14,190 more than in 1968. Winslow's 95R gets a total of $340,967, or $110,569 more than the $230,398 received last year.

The assessor's 1969 report shows total taxes for Educational Service Unit I being $36,330.44 and the area vocational school will receive $65,394.78. This combined total for the special educational districts is $101,725.22.

The county's rural schools have levied $291,939 this year which is a decrease of $12,198 over 1968.

Total taxes for city and village schools, rural schools and special educational districts amount to $1,594,624.27.

By adding the total county levies fund of $32,423.48, the total cities and villages fund of $176,345.93, and the rural fire districts fund of $17,464.69, the total is $226,234.10. This amount added to the total school fund of $1,594,624.27 results in a total Wayne County tax bill for 1969 of $2,120,858.37.

Carroll Man Injured As Vehicles Collide

A collision involving two pickups occurred less than a mile north of Sholes about 9:30 a.m. Monday and hospitalized a rural resident of Carroll, according to Trooper Roy Van Winkle of Plainview who investigated the mishap.

Kenneth Fiddle of Carroll was taken to the hospital in Osmond with a forehead laceration and injured foot. He was driving a pickup west when in collision at a country intersection with another pickup driven by Charles Junck of Randolph who was southbound. Junck received minor injuries but was not hospitalized.

Trooper Van Winkle estimated both pickups to be a total loss.

Three Honored As Secretaries

Three Wayne High School girls have been honored by being selected as "Secretary of the Month" during October, November and December.

Cynthia Bottolfson, daughter of Helen Bottolfson, was selected as "Secretary of the Month" in October while the honor went to Mary Morris, daughter of Stanley Morris, in November and to Lynn Roggenbach, daughter of Preston Roggenbach, in December. The girls were also named "Outstanding Secretaries To Be."

Each month a special award is presented to the student in vocational office practice who displays the most outstanding characteristics in charm, poise, personality, initiative, trustworthiness, honesty, punctuality, neatness, appearance and in special skills and abilities.

The "Secretary of the Month" is nominated and selected by classmates and then presented a corsage to wear for the day. She also receives a certificate of merit. Her duties accompanying the title include acting as receptionist for the class and performing clerical duties for the month.

Vocational office practice is a class specifically designed to prepare girls to obtain a clerical job after graduation from high school. Content of the course includes advanced typing, business communications, data processing, operation of the stencil and ditto machines, charm and personality improvement. The class also studies general clerical duties, mail and messenger services; filing, ten-key adding machines, calculators and transcription machines.

Highlight of that day for the youngsters will be the arrival of Santa Claus. Santa will be in Allen with day beginning at 3:30 to visit with area youngsters and to take orders for the gifts they would like this Christmas. He will also hand-out treats to the youngsters.

Equipment Damaged

Wayne County Sheriff's office reports that some of the equipment being used to work on Highway 98 15 miles west of Wayne was maliciously damaged Dec. 1.

The sheriff started a caterpillar scraper and rammed it into a tractor having an earth-packer attached. The smaller tractor was demolished according to the Sheriff's office.

The equipment belonged to J.P. Thelsen and Sons of Osmond. A criminal investigator from Norfolk also investigated the damage.

Cordes noted that about 90 college students will be taking part in the party, first of its kind in the city.

He said that the event is being planned for children between grades one and seven but that children of all ages are welcome to attend. He also said that parents should feel free to leave their children at the party while they go about their business or shopping. "Our 'babysitters' will take good care of them," says he.

Over 50 businesses and individuals in the city and area have made contributions in order to finance the day-long event.

number of students in the Wayne system who are not reaching their potential because of SLD is not at 10 per cent, or 125. Another 10 students from St. Mary's Catholic School may also need help in this area.

Superintendent Francis Haun pointed out to the board that the funds for such programs have not yet been released to the states by the federal government. Even where they are, he noted, the school's request will have to compete with requests from other schools across the state.

The program, if set up, would begin operating next summer with the training of personnel in the Wayne schools. Students would receive their first help next fall. The timetable for the program lists expansion to area schools after the first year of operation.

In other action during the school board meeting, Superintendent Francis Haun informed the board that the school has received the first state aid payment for the 1969-70 school year. That payment amounts to $69,004.53, slightly above the $67,500 which the school anticipated it would receive. The school still has some money due it from last year, but that money is tied up pending the outcome of a suit filed against the state by the Omaha school district.

Haun also reported to the board that the lights to illuminate the United States flag outside the high school building have been installed and are being turned on at dusk each day. A law passed by the recent state legislature requires the national flag to be lighted from dusk until dawn until the war in Viet Nam ends. The law goes into effect Dec. 25.

School board members also heard a report about the recent activities of the academically talented class in the Middle School. Making the report were Loren Park, Middle School principal, and Mrs. Jan Woodward, teacher of the class.

Superintendent Haun has instituted a program where the board members hear from a different teacher about every month. The program, he notes, should enable the board members to learn more about the teachers in the school system and about what they are doing in their classes.

The school board took no further action on the subject of the school bus which was delivered without post-traction. The board has withheld $500 in payment toward that bus until the post-traction is installed.

Board members also heard a report from Superintendent Haun

ASC Chairman Says Marketing Year for Wool Ends Dec. 31

Wool producers were reminded today by Harry Henemann, chairman of the Wayne County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, that the 1969 marketing year under the wool and mohair program ends Dec. 31.

Payments for the current marketing year, 1969, are based only on marketings completed during the year. Marketings completed after Dec. 31 will be in the 1970 marketing year and are not eligible for payments until early 1971, he said.

Henemann urged producers to be sure all 1969 sales details are completed by the end of the year, including passing title to the buyer, delivery of the wool or mohair to the buyer either actually or through documents transferring control to the buyer, and having available all information necessary to determine the buyer's total purchase price.

Requests for 1969 marketing year payments under the National Wool Act may be filed with the county ASCS office. They should be filed by Jan. 31. Incentive payments under the wool program are based on the average national price for marketings during the year.

Payments for the 1969 marketing year are expected to begin in April of next year.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers. It is the duty of an editorial writer to search all available facts before he sits down to write. From this basis the writer should be able to give a clear picture of important topics.

You may not agree with an editorial — but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed — you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

1970 Elections

There will be some notable differences in the handling of Wayne County elections in 1970 as there will be throughout the state. The Nebraska Legislature saw fit to make a number of changes, the details of which will be available at a later date.

County officials are at the moment being briefed on the changes and what they will mean. Representatives of both Wayne and Wayne County met with Allen Beermann, deputy secretary of state in South Sioux City last week for a briefing on the new legislation. Other members of the Northeast Section of the Nebraska League of Municipalities present were from Dixon and Dakota counties. One of the changes in election laws allows the county, city and school district to combine their elections into one. It is thought a combined election would cost less. A voter will be able to vote for his favorite candidates running for offices in the county, city, and school district in only one trip to the voting booth. A combined election would save election expense money in relationship to staff and materials.

Norris Weible, clerk of Wayne County, has pointed out that in order for county elections and those of the city and school district to be combined, the city would have to first pass an ordinance affirming their cooperation in such a joint effort.

Such an ordinance would then be presented to the county commissioners who in turn would decide for or against the combined elections and inform the city council of their decision.

Another change we'll see in 1970 is the absence of caucuses. Candidates desiring to run for office will file for the office. A filing fee amounting to one per cent of the annual salary of the office will be charged each candidate. In other words if you filed to run for an office which paid $6,500 annually, then you would pay a fee of $65 to file. The fee is likely to limit candidates to only those who are truly desirous of the position.

Those county offices involved in the May primary election are assessor, attorney, clerk, clerk of the District Court, sheriff, superintendent, treasurer and two county commissioners. Only the one commissioner's office, now held by George Stolz for District II, and the county judge's office, presently held by Mrs. Laverna Hilton, will not be involved in the 1970 elections.

The general election is scheduled for November.

This writer believes the combined elections and the eliminating of caucuses are both progressive steps in the right direction. — MMW.

Killer Loose in Area

Locking the doors of your home cannot protect you from the frightening spectre of the killer loose in our area. He usually travels on four wheels, works 24 hours a day and has little respect for age, creed or nationality.

Since January 1, 1969 the killer has taken the lives of 22 people who were as human as yourself. They all lived in the area of Northeast Nebraska bounded by the Missouri River on the north and east, by a line from Decatur to Norfolk and from Norfolk to Yankton. This "pie" shaped section of our state is sure to feel the killer strike again before Dec. 31.

Twenty-two human beings who lived and breathed, combed their hair, celebrated birthdays, anniversaries and Christmas are no longer alive because the end of their world came in a traffic accident.

These folk, like yourself, got ready to go some place with little thought that when they closed the front door to their house, it was for the very last time.

When they hung up the phone after talking with a friend that morning, they couldn't know it was the final conversation with that individual and the last telephone call they would ever make.

Each of the 22 persons had many reasons to live and surely no reason to die. But they did die, rather than live, through no choice of their own, due to carelessness behind the wheel. Somebody made an error in driving.

Capt. Whitney of the Nebraska Safety Patrol

In Norfolk said last week that in the Troop B area, 14 people died in traffic accidents during November. This figure represents one-fourth of the total number of fatalities in the area so far this year, Whitney noted.

"It won't happen to me because I'm a good driver," is the voice of a little conscience elf whispering in your ear. What drivers will not recognize is that the little elf is a liar. Some of the best automobile drivers ever to live die on the U. S. arteries of blood called highways. Maybe they should be renamed "dieways". More than 100 humans like yourself are killed every day on streets and roads in the United States. Each thought it wouldn't happen.

Sir, that bright and shiny car sitting in your driveway may look pretty. It may go "80" so easy that you hardly realize you are moving, but when you bought it, you may have purchased the family casket.

That "metal with a motor" can so easily be the way your world will end that it is as if a monster was chasing you each mile of every trip. The highway fatality list is monstrous.

Saying nothing about the 55,300 who died in traffic mistakes last year, those 22 residents who lived here in Northeast Nebraska as our neighbors should not have died this year.

Christmas 1968 was the final one for many. Drive with extreme sensitivity to other traffic. Don't let Christmas 1969 be your last holiday. — MMW.

Automobiles in Old Nebraska

In the files of the Nebraska State Historical Society is a list of Registrations of Motor Vehicles in Nebraska issued from the office of George C. Junkin, Secretary of State, 1907-1911.

Olds, Reos, Cadillacs and Fords appear among less well-known makes long vanished. H. E. Sidles Cycle Company of Lincoln registered a ten h.p. Cadillac. Gould Dietz of Omaha was burning up the road with a forty h.p. Thomas, which cost at least $3,000, possibly equipped with the Thomas Back Stop Safety Device. Your automobile might be a "do-it-yourself-project" for which several early-day manufacturers advertised running gears and kits to be assembled. Leslie Cushman of Lincoln registered "Own Make" of 1 1/2 h.p. Nebraska physicians were quick to recognize the usefulness of the automobile. In 1908 thirty-seven registrations were to doctors, who chose eighteen different makes, with the greatest choices going to Olds, Reos, Fords and Maxwells. Ownership of autos was not concentrated in the larger cities. From Niobrara Frank Holan registered a Pipe, while at Long Pine Seth H. Clay owned a Jeffrey. At Broken Bow Fred H. Ream drove a Toledo, while F. S. Case toured the Stockville area in a 4 h.p. Orient. R. F. Neeley

A few years ago this same picture appeared in The Herald as an early scene in Wayne but no one remembered where it was. When we saw the picture it rang a bell. My son was here and he remembered; taking the pictures to Wayne. It was on a Sunday but he immediately drove to Wayne and saw someone who worked on the newspaper. He was told there was a drawer full of old pictures and he would endeavor to find our two pictures. To this day we have never recovered our pictures. Your print in this Dec. 1 Issue leads me to think and hope you have found the original pictures. If you have them I would be so glad to get them back with other pictures I have of early Randolph and the early history of our town in which our grandfather took an active part.

Mrs. Hestie Houghin (Editor's note: We deeply appreciate the information and are glad to have the correction on the photo. The picture identified as Wayne in the Dec. 1 Issue was in the Chamber of Commerce files, so Mrs. Houghin's thoughtfulness in writing has cleared up the photo error. We are carrying a picture of Wayne in this issue which was taken in 1890 showing the west side of Main Street. The large painting hanging in the city clerk's office was made from this photo.)

Businessmen from many of the state's largest industries were used on the consulting teams. They spent several weeks studying the operations of various state government agencies and then retired to discuss their findings.

Finally, they submitted to Tiemann, who had appointed the study group, their list of proposed changes which they said would streamline government and save money.

Case, the chairman, said one of the chief benefits of the study was the knowledge the businessmen picked up about how their government works. This increased understanding, he has said, could be as important as the implementation of the recommendations for improvement of government.

When they made a recommendation, the Hoover commissioners included their estimate of the effect the proposed change would have on operational expenses. Using these calculations, Barnett reached the $15 million figure for savings from changes already put into effect. He said the price tag on recommendations either partially implemented or for which bills were offered to the 1969 Legislature was about $5.2 million.

He said the recommendations which were rejected either by the senators or the administration carried a potential savings of about $4.8 million a year. Money News From Washington Nebraska is in the for $35.8 million in "federal aid."

A conference committee for members from the House and the Senate has agreed on appropriations of that amount for public projects in the Cornhusker State.

The Senate and the House each must give its blessing to the conference committee's report. The money is ticketed for work on river projects, power transmission lines and planning studies, according to Nebraska Sens. Carl Curtis and Roman Huska. The Army Corps of Engineers is to get $20.5 million for a score of separate projects in the state. The biggest single amount is $6.1 million which is to finance completion of a 242-mile power of Geering registered a twenty-four h.p. Auburn and Dr. D. H. Shall of Berlin visited his patients in a Locomobile.

Many two-car families appear with one car often registered in the wife's name. The "small" car was often the second car as Frank Young of Broken Bow registered a twelve h.p. Stanley Steamer and a 4 1/2 h.p. Olds. The familiar name of Rambler recurs constantly. A bit of research shows that in 1902 Thos. B. Jeffrey of Kenosha, Wisconsin started building the Rambler car. The Jeffrey car succeeded the Rambler and the Nash succeeded the Jeffrey when the company was purchased in 1916 by Charles W. Nash. The 1907-1911 registration list shows that 112 Ramblers were registered with h.p. ranging from seven to forty-five. Fifty of these Ramblers were in the eighteen h.p. class, which was about average for those years. The conservative and practical appealed to the motorists of Old Nebraska.

'Little Hoover Commission Saving State $15 Million'

LINCOLN — A former member of Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann's personal staff has recommended additional studies such as the consulting work done by the Little Hoover Commission.

Robert E. Barnett, who has resigned as Tiemann's executive counsel to become director of the constitutional revision commission, submitted a report on the results of the Hoover study as one of his final jobs.

Barnett's report said 44 per cent of the recommendations made by the businessmen who studied all phases of state government have been adopted either by legislative decision or by legislation.

He says the changes could save about $15 million a year in the operation of state government. "It would be extremely help-

Dear Editor: Pardon me, but the picture at the top of page one in the Dec. 1 Issue of The Wayne Herald is a street in Randolph in 1887. We used this picture on our Jubilee plates. The hotel and town well were constructed by my husband's grandfather, Z. Houghin, one of the founders of the town.

I think I can explain how the picture came in your possession. My son, Keith Houghin, took two original pictures, one of the street and one of the hotel, to have some copies made, to a man by the name of Cobb Olson. Time went by and the prints weren't made and I lost track of what became of them.

eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kingston, broke his arm while roller skating. Marlon Ring who lives four miles north of Wayne, was spared the job of baling a stack of straw this week. A fence fire spread to the stack burning it completely. Because of his outstanding play in leading Wayne Prep to a tie for the Cornhusker Conference championship, Tom Bahe was recognized by the World Herald when Gregg McBride placed him on the roll of honor of six-man teams in the state.

The building, only recently finished, was constructed on the site of the old sale barn which burned last summer. Lemoyne Cunningham gave the winning speech at Wayne Toastmasters Monday night at the Woman's Club rooms. He spoke on the "squeaking wheel" highway policy. Farmers planning on purchasing trees under the Clarke-McNary Act should make their applications now. County Agent Harold Ingalls said this week. He pointed out some trees and shrubs will be sold soon. Price of the trees is $2.75 per 100 for broadleaf trees; $3.25 for evergreens and $4.50 for shrub species. ful to have a management study committee established by statute or to expand a section within the State Department of Administrative Services to provide the same expertise," Barnett said.

"Even assuming a 25 per cent error in the figures which we have had submitted to us, there still is a savings already accomplished through the use of this commission of over $10 million.

"It makes sense," he said, "to attempt to duplicate that kind of savings in the future."

Barnett said an audit could be made by reactivating the Little Hoover group or assigning members of the governor's staff to do the job. This, he said, would take another reading on how the recommendations are being received.

It also would pin down the actual savings, instead of having only the savings the commission members estimated could be made if their recommendations were followed.

Using the commission's estimates, Barnett said, about 60 per cent of the potential taxpayer savings have already been realized.

"I am sure," he said, "that this is as good a result as any comparable state government management study group ever has achieved."

Phil Gass, an executive of the Northern Natural Gas Co., in Omaha, was the director of the Little Hoover group, formally known as the Nebraska Management Analysis Study Committee.

The "Little Hoover" tag was adopted because of a similar study conducted several years back under the direction of former President Herbert Hoover.

The Nebraska study resulted in 433 individual recommendations.

Barnett said 187 of those suggestions have been put into effect either by administrative order or by laws passed by the 1969 Legislature. He said another dozen either have been only partially put into practice or weren't offered as proposed legislation.

The former gubernatorial assistant said 123 recommendations were rejected either by department heads or by the lawmakers.

Businessmen from many of the state's largest industries were used on the consulting teams. They spent several weeks studying the operations of various state government agencies and then retired to discuss their findings.

Finally, they submitted to Tiemann, who had appointed the study group, their list of proposed changes which they said would streamline government and save money.

Case, the chairman, said one of the chief benefits of the study was the knowledge the businessmen picked up about how their government works. This increased understanding, he has said, could be as important as the implementation of the recommendations for improvement of government.

When they made a recommendation, the Hoover commissioners included their estimate of the effect the proposed change would have on operational expenses. Using these calculations, Barnett reached the $15 million figure for savings from changes already put into effect. He said the price tag on recommendations either partially implemented or for which bills were offered to the 1969 Legislature was about $5.2 million.

He said the recommendations which were rejected either by the senators or the administration carried a potential savings of about $4.8 million a year. Money News From Washington Nebraska is in the for $35.8 million in "federal aid."

A conference committee for members from the House and the Senate has agreed on appropriations of that amount for public projects in the Cornhusker State.

The Senate and the House each must give its blessing to the conference committee's report. The money is ticketed for work on river projects, power transmission lines and planning studies, according to Nebraska Sens. Carl Curtis and Roman Huska. The Army Corps of Engineers is to get $20.5 million for a score of separate projects in the state. The biggest single amount is $6.1 million which is to finance completion of a 242-mile power

Good Morning Feeders & Hi Mom

By Eddie Collins

Mom, agriculture today's the sharpest looking Secretary of Agriculture in history. I saw him . . . up close. He's Nebraska's answer to Rudolph Valentino. Not in coveralls nor bibs, not in boots nor high tops, the ex-Chancellor, now nearly inactive agriculturally, dresses real citted. Sharp looking . . . deep blue eyes, correctly spaced, wavy, dark hair, glistening in the TV lights. Actually handsome.

Although Mr. Hardin permits the largest meat imports of all times, he was not pressed in a Hong Kong suit. He surely wore a Navy blue, neat, narrow lapel, white shirt with a wide, modern but conservative necktie. Mr. Hardin had that Oxford look . . . British diplomat.

It is nice to listen to the beautiful diction of Mr. Hardin. At the grassroot meetings of Nebraska, Texas and the West Coast, Clifford merely listened while continually trying to light his pipe. This past week in Chicago at the Illinois Hotel, at a press conference, he spoke . . . artfully dodging agricultural questions. His answers were accompanied by a quick, nervous smile which flashed on and then quickly disappeared.

Most questions were asked by assigned neophyte reporters from city newspapers that push for cheap food. Questioned by the same news media that furnishes agriculture with so much bad national press. That very day, in fact, with the Chicago International Livestock Exposition entertaining the nation, the fabulous Chicago Tribune splashed headlines, "Milk to Rise 2¢" and "Farm Boys Wear City Haircuts," while the Des Moines Register pushed "Farm Prices Jump 3%." The favorable Exposition news was delegated to small print in back pages.

Disappointingly, the Secretary failed to explain, failed to defend agriculture, but suggested stability at today's levels. With cattle off $80 per head since June, with dollar corn, dollar wheat, dollar-ninety milo and with farm expenses running at all time levels, agriculture does not need stability nor does it need to apologize to anyone.

Mr. Hardin's main concerns were, first, the Welfare stamp program, and, second, a move to push the deprived urban youth to rural areas. City boys go to the country. At the Farm Broadcaster's Convention, four separate major company representatives earlier had asked me to push to find homes and encourage by press and radio this person displacement project. True, this coordinated plan is underfoot . . . through industry, through government. Meanwhile, Mr. Hardin explained that financial help for qualified farm boys personal, singular intent . . . "til pension time.

Mom, Mr. Hardin will need never return to agriculture nor to higher education. Surely his next field to conquer is either motion pictures or TV. In color, he comes on solid. Betting at the local pool hall are even odds that his first role will be a back hills Vermont dairy farmer or an ear-notching Ozark pig farmer dressed in denim shirt, bibs, slouched hats, and safety shoes. Or a tobacco and pipe representative . . . a male answer to Edie Adams.

FORECAST: December 5-18 . . . Cattle up, Hogs down . . . both 50/100.

You mean those are the boxcar's we've been waiting 5 weeks for.

Evergreen Windbreaks
Evergreen trees in a windbreak can hold back as much as 90 per cent of that bitter winter wind blowing in from the north and knock out at least two-thirds of the wind chill kick. Foresters have found that a good three-row evergreen windbreak of 25 foot trees can reduce the velocity of a 10 mph wind by 80 per cent at a 75 foot distance on the protected side of the windbreak. This means that if the wind is blowing 10 mph when the temperature is 10 degrees below zero, a good evergreen windbreak will cut the chill factor from 33 degrees below zero to 12 degrees below zero—or reduce 21 degrees in chill factor. A good windbreak system, can lessen much of the discomfort of a Nebraska winter. A large part of a good windbreak system should be made up of evergreen species—Red cedar and Austrian, Ponderosa or Scotch Pine. Three-fourths of all trees planted for windbreak purposes in Nebraska are evergreens. Moisture is not a critical factor in preparation for a windbreak planting this year, but usually fall ground preparation is better than springtime preparation.

Another consideration in establishing a windbreak is that broadleaved trees shed their leaves in winter while evergreens do not. In addition, if you are contemplating what type of trees you want in a good windbreak, consider the fact that once established, evergreens live far longer than most broadleaved trees. Potential loss of broadleaved trees by herbicide sprays also is a consideration.

Soybeans: Raw, Cooked or Meal
With commercial machines now available to process or roast soybeans at the farm, producers are asking questions regarding this new possibility in regard to swine rations. These questions include:

1. Value of raw soybeans for swine?
  2. How do cooked soybeans compare to soybean meal?
  3. Is it economical to cook or roast soybeans on the farm?
- Two universities have recently reported research on these questions, the University of Guelph-Canada, and the University of Arkansas.
1. Decreased gains occur as soon as five per cent and above raw soybeans are replaced in the ration. The amount of feed per pound of gain also increased in proportion to levels of raw soybeans.

2. Pelleting of raw soybeans did not improve rate of gain.

3. Copper slightly increased gain with raw soybeans (probably an antibiotic-like effect).

4. Cooking of soybeans increased feed value.

5. Soybean meal and cooked soybeans yielded a about equal daily gains. It takes about 1.25 pounds of dry cooked soybean to supply the same amount of protein as one pound of soybean meal dry matter.

6. If the cost of cooking soybeans is figured at $5 per ton over raw soybean prices as compared to $95 to $100 per ton of soybean meal, the cost of feed per pound of gain was slightly lower for soybean meal than cooked beans.

7. A slightly higher gross energy in cooked soybeans was due to their oil content, but this energy was not used as efficiently by swine as energy in soybean meal.

8. The commercial machines that roast beans with gas show promise—but need more research. The cost of equipment dictates that fairly large quantities of soybeans need to be processed.

Teen-Age Bankroll

Are there teenagers in your family? Do you wonder how they spend money? Do they know where their money goes?

Changing Times Magazine states that last year's teenagers spent $20 billion on personal and leisure time items. According to one estimate, by 1970 teenage spending will hit $30 billion. Youths 16 to 19 years old are the big consumers in the teenage market. Boys in this age group have average weekly incomes of $18.35. Girls average $19.50 a week.

The Rand Youth Poll, a research organization that studies teenage spending, reports that this is how the money is spent:

Boys spend $4.45 for movies and dating; $3.25 for gas and auto; $3.10 for clothing; $1.65 for candy, ice cream and cigarettes; 95¢ for personal grooming; $1.40 for magazines, records and books; 85¢ for hobbies. These expenses total $15.65. The remaining $2.70 is put in savings.

Girls spend $2.15 for movies and entertainment; $1.60 for gas and auto; $4.20 for clothing; 80¢ for candy, ice cream and cigarettes; $4.60 for personal grooming; $2.00 for magazines, books and records; $1.50 for jewelry and notions. These average weekly expenditures for girls total $16.85. Of their average weekly income of $19.50, girls put $2.65 aside for savings.

Encourage the teenagers in your family to keep income and expenditure records. Record keeping has become a necessity for most adults. Help the next generation develop the habit in their youth. January is a good time to start a record-keeping system so get prepared for it now.

WANTED: Youth of America—Largest youth organization in the world—4-H. No dues, no uniforms, lots of fun, opportunities for learning, leadership and travel. Only those 8 to 19 can apply. Lots of fringe benefits. Join the crowd to "Make The Best Better."

4-H Fair Stand Nets Over $400

The Wayne County 4-H fair stand wasn't as successful this year as it was last year, according to a report released last week by County Agent Harold Ingalls.

The report shows that the stand made a total of $468.70 during the fair, nearly $100 under the $549.30 it made during last year's fair. Gross receipts from sales during the fair amounted to $1,247.63; expenses amounted to $778.93.

The financial report for 1969 shows that there is a total of $1,344.91 in the bank, just over $300 more than the $1,051.37 balance at the beginning of the year. Last year at about this same time there was a bank balance of $731.12.

Proper Feeding of 4-H Calf As Important As Selection

Editor's Note: The following story, prepared by the University of Nebraska, describes a new "dimension" in feeding 4-H calves, taking into consideration differences in response to feeding attributed to the sex or breed of a given calf.

For most 4-H beef project members in Nebraska, that search for a "special" club calf to feed for next year's county fair, and hopefully State Fair or Ak-Sar-Ben, has been completed, whether the animal was found in dad's feedyard, at the neighbor's or several hundred miles away. Most experienced club members have now recognized the importance of selecting a calf correct in weight and age, conformation and type, to feed out for exhibition at a particular show.

But selecting a suitable feeder calf is only the first step—although a big one—toward a high ribbon placing or championship trophy in next year's show circuit. A calf's inherent ability and potential to gain efficiently and develop into a prize winner will be cancelled out unless it receives proper feed and care. Once club members have selected a proper animal for a specific show or marketing date, the calf should be fed according to a systematic plan which will allow it to develop naturally into a profitable market steer or heifer of acceptable weight, finish and grade.

A 4-H market steer should weigh 1,000 to 1,250 pounds—a slightly higher weight range than recommended in recent years—and carry about 4 to 6 inches of finish and grade choice when shown and sold. A market heifer will finish at a lighter weight than a steer of the same age.

A detailed feeding program for market calves is outlined in the 4-H members' beginning beef manual, available to all Nebraska beef project members from county agents.

During the first (growing) phase of this program, a high roughage-low energy ration is fed to permit the calf to grow and develop normally, but not fatten. At the end of the last (finishing) phase, the calf is fed a high energy ration so that it will continue to both grow and fatten.

This type of feeding program is considered sound and practical by present day feeding standards.

Furthermore, the 4-H beef manual outlines a two-phase program showing the number of days an "average" club calf should be fed a growing ration and a finishing ration, respectively, pointing toward a particular show.

However, such a program has one big limitation: It is designed for an "average" calf of all breeds and doesn't take into consideration important differences among breeds of cattle.

Most 4-H members are now ready to extend their knowledge and know-how one step further in learning how to feed club calves: to become knowledgeable with the predictable differences in responses to feeding by different breeds of beef cattle, to make adjustments between steers and heifers and to incorporate changes in feeding programs to meet in the most ideal way possible the biological responses of a particular calf.

Evaluation of the rate at which calves grow, fatten, marble and mature shows that there are definite differences among the various breeds.

Some of the principal differences in breed response, documented through feedlot tests, observations and controlled experiments, can be briefly outlined as follows: Growth rate: using the Hereford as a base, it exhibits a faster growth rate than the Short-horn and Angus, in that order.

heterosis (hybrid vigor) through crossing two breeds accounts for greater rate of gain on a daily basis, other factors being equal. As an example, a Charolais-cross will gain 2 to 3 lb. faster per day than a straight breed, such as Hereford or Angus.

Ability to reach desired grade at given age: Angus and Short-horn will "marble" at lighter weights and with less finish than Herefords. All three English breeds accomplish this at lighter weights than Charolais or Charolais-crosses.

The breed differences in rate of gain and length of time required to reach maturity, as designated by desired marbling, must be taken into account in:

1. Selecting particularly growthy calves to compensate for the breed characteristic of slower growth.
2. Adjusting the length of feeding period to adjust for breed differences in reaching maturity so that the desired grade and finish is reached at show time—before or after.
3. Cutability, as expressed in per cent of lean retail cuts of total carcass weight, and desirable—muscling. Charolais-crosses will have higher cutability than Herefords, while Herefords will, as a general rule, have higher cutability than Angus and Shorthorns.

Maturity—Angus and shorthorn mature at earlier age and at a lighter weight than Herefords. Herefords will mature at lighter weight than Charolais-crosses. It appears to be a big order to a 4-H'er to take the conventional feeding program and narrow the range of alternatives further by designing a schedule to fit a calf of a particular breed and sex for a specific show.

However, a table has been developed which contains guidelines to follow in feeding to meet the requirements of an animal exhibiting the genetic characteristics of the average of a breed. It should be emphasized that there are variations within a breed, so a program developed might have to be adjusted after the feeding period is underway to account for individual differences.

In using the chart, the assumption is made that a desirable type of calf within a breed was selected in October, to be fed out for a livestock show to be held in September, 1970.

The chart is designed to fit the experience and facilities usually available to 4-H club members. Because of this, the number of days indicated for a calf to be on growing and finishing rations is slightly different than the period considered desirable for cattle fed by an experienced cattle feeder.

It would be expected that commercial feeders would have groups of feeder cattle on a finishing ration 10 or so days less but on a growing ration perhaps 10 or more days longer. A commercial or farmer-feeder would anticipate faster gains than those shown on the chart, especially during the finishing phase, because of the advantages of sophisticated equipment, refined rations perhaps produced in batches or on a larger scale and the intangible advantage of accumulated management ability, experience and savvy in feeding cattle.

However, considering the experience and accomplishments of the current crop of 4-H beef club members, the expected gains outlined on the chart for various breeds are realistic.

Bit of Lunar Surface On Display at NU

A moon rock, returned to Earth by Apollo 11 in July, will be on display at the University of Nebraska State Museum starting Friday.

Allan Griesemer, curator of educational services at the Museum, announced that the moon stone will be on display in the Museum's Elephant Hall for about 10 days.

The single stone, about the size of an alarm clock and housed in a gaster, is one of six specimens being circulated throughout the world by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Dr. Harvey L. Gundersen, professor of zoology at the University and associate director and curator of zoology and records in the museum, will pick the moon rock specimen up in Alabama and bring it to Lincoln. It must be returned to Washington, D.C., on Dec. 22 for shipment to Europe on Dec. 26.

The University of Nebraska State Museum, located on the City Campus at 14th and U Sts., is open from 1:30 to 5 p.m. on Sunday and from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

When you stand up,
do your pantyhose sit down?

Kirbury

If you start out with a saggy, baggy elastic waistband you're going to end up with saggy, baggy pantyhose. And a customer who would absolutely jump up and down with anger if she weren't afraid of tripping herself up in her loose pantyhose. Kirbury® is here to make a firm stand and say that waistbands belong on the waist. That's why they design the right elastic to do the job. We think there's no reason in the world for our customers to be let down by a few inches of elastic. No better fit at any price and our famous Kirbury® Pantyhose are only $1.75 per pair.

Holiday Coffee Free of Charge As Safety Aid
 "Stop in for a free coffee-break and help reduce traffic accidents." That's the message passing motorists will be getting from the Lil' Duffer at Seventh and Main St. during the high traffic Christmas and New Year's holidays. The Lil' Duffer will, according to Tobe Shupe, manager, serve free coffee during critical high traffic hours as part of the National Coffee Safety stop program. It is a nationwide effort to reduce the nation's highway fatality toll by getting drivers off the highways for frequent rest breaks.
 The program, sponsored by thousands of restaurants across the country, has the enthusiastic support of Police Chief Vern Fairchild, and of national traffic safety organizations.
 "Rest breaks have long been recommended as basic to safe driving," explained Shupe. "Unfortunately, people are usually in such a hurry to get somewhere also for the holidays, they tend to put off or ignore the rest break altogether."
 "The coffee-break, however, appeals to everyone and research shows drivers think of a cup of coffee as a reward. So we are serving free coffee as an incentive to get motorists off the highway for a safety stop," Shupe noted.
 The cost of the coffee service is being absorbed by participating restaurants as a public service. The Lil' Duffer will serve free coffee Dec. 23 through Jan. 4.
