NUMBER SEVENTY-ONE

Unpredictable Weather of 1969 Named Most Important Story Covered Last Year

Weather—at its best and at its worst—was selected top news story in The Wayne Herald circulation area in 1969.

It ranged from the cold, snowy weather which blocked almost every country road in the area last winter to those sweltering hot days in July which resulted in considerable losses of livestock.

Early in January trite farmers began demanding that Wayne County officials do something to relieve the dreadful road conditions they had been forced to put up with for so much of the winter. But almost everything the county did to try to open the city complex proposal in an election in August. Voters in Wayne left little doubt in anybody's mind about how they felt about that city complex; they defeated it by a 445-198 vote.

The city complex would have housed the fire department, city clerk and police department in a building built from remodeling and adding to the present fire hall. The bond issue was for a total of $138,000.

Next on the list of main news stories last year was the fiery two-car crash four miles south of Wakefield in early August which took the lives of three Wakefield people and seriously injured three others.

Killed in that crash were Gaylyn (Sonny) Warren Lund, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Verdel Lund; Walter Henry Ote, 70, and his wife, Harriet, 64. Injured were Bruce Lundahl, 21; Richard Fischer, 20, and Lamson Larson, about 20, all of Wakefield.

Deaths of young people from the Wayne area in the Viet Nam war gained the fourth spot among the top 10 stories in 1969. See IMPORTANT STORY, pg. 8

PHOTOS was useless, for winds and blowing snow would soon drift most of the roads closed, sometimes within hours after they were opened.

And in the middle of July northeastern Nebraska and northwestern Iowa were hit by one of the most humid spells in years, causing numerous cattle and swine to drop over from heat exhaustion.

Although it's difficult to obtain accurate figures, it is safe to say that those few days of hot and humid weather killed well over 100 head of livestock in the Wayne area and considerably more than that in northeast Nebraska.

But last year's flighty weather—which also included a flood along the Logan Creek from a sudden and heavy rain in late June—enabled the farmers in Wayne, Dixon and Cedar Counties to harvest one of their best crops in memory.

Next most important news story in 1969 was the defeat of

Area Cagers Prove Tourney Prowess

Tournament action was hot and heavy for area basketball teams last week. And those basketball teams—with the exception of Wayne High and Allen—did extremely well for themselves.

Wayne State and Laurel swept the college holiday tournament, repeating their performances of one year ago in the meet. Over at Wakefield the hosting Trojans rolled to a first place finish in that tourney, and at Lyons the Winside Wildcats fought their way to their first two victories of the season and the top trophy.

Stories and pictures of these holiday tournaments can be found on the sports page of this issue of The Wayne Herald.

Auto Tags Cost More This Year

Motor vehicle license plate tags for 1970 went on sale Friday morning in the county treasurer's office at an increased cost of $6.50 per set over the $9 fee last year for passenger cars.

Treasurer Leona Bahde explained the absence of a scramble for tags during the morning hours being due to residents not yet having their mail and tax statements.

Friday afternoon a steady flow of Wayne County motorists kept the clerks busy but there was never a long waiting line.

Motorists got new plates last year, the first since 1966, but only receive small tags to be attached to the plates for 1970.

Miss Bahde emphasized that residents must bring or mail all copies of their 1970 motor vehicle tax statement. Renewal licenses cannot be issued unless applicants bring along the 1969 registration certificate for the vehicle, she noted.

The treasurer also pointed out that camper units placed on pickup trucks will require a separate application. Tax and license fee of $2.50 will be charged in addition to the tax and license fee on the pickup, she said.

All license fees have been increased this year. Following is the schedule for fees:

Passenger cars, $15.50; farm trucks, one ton or less, $18.50 and $22.50 in excess of one ton; commercial licenses for three ton or less, $18.50; local license for six ton or less is $18.50.

The 1970 stickers are to be placed in the lower left-hand corner of the 1969 license plates.

Deadline for picking up the new tags is Feb. 28.

Kiwanis to Host Four State Men

Wayne Kiwanis will host four prominent Nebraskans as guest speakers for club programs during January, according to Dr. Freeman Decker, program chairman for the month.

Mel Olson, a native of Wayne and now in the State Department of Education, will speak to Kiwanians today (Monday) following a noon luncheon at the Woman's Club room. Olson is a graduate of Wayne State College and has also been a school superintendent in several northeast Nebraska communities previous to his present work in Lincoln.

Chairman Decker informed Kiwanians that Maurice H. Sigler, director of corrections at the Nebraska Penal and Correctional Complex; Mel Steen or a successor from the State Game Commission; and Clarence Mayer, attorney general, will be in Wayne to address the club during January meetings.

City Asking County To Share Dates for Coming Elections

The Wayne city council agreed Tuesday night to ask the county to cooperate and hold elections at the same time, beginning with those scheduled for this coming spring.

The county commissioners, who will probably consider the suggestion at their meeting Tuesday, will have to vote to decide whether the city-county elections will be held at the same time. If the two units of government decide to hold the elections on the same date, residents will go to the polls at the time of the statewide primary election in May rather than in April.

The council also decided to discontinue furnishing crossing guards at Seventh and Main and see SHARE DATES, page 8.

Three Wayne Youths Begin Army Training

Three Wayne County youths enlisted in the U. S. Army recently and flew from Omaha to Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., on New Year's Eve. They will begin basic training Jan. 12.

Volunteering were Larry Groner, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Groner; Dennis Jensen, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jensen; and Randy Latt, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Latt. All three boys are from Wayne.

Carroll Youth To Tour Europe, Study in Vienna

A 1968 Wayne High School graduate and Merit Scholarship recipient left Chicago Dec. 27 for a four-week tour of western Europe during January and a semester of study in Vienna.

Tom Havener, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Havener of rural Carroll, will study at the Vienna center of the Institute of European Studies starting Feb. 1. He plans to complete the course June 30. Tom is a sophomore, majoring in political science and English at the Macalester College in St. Paul, Minn.

The Institute center in Vienna is one of five in Europe where American college undergraduates have the opportunity of studying at a European university. The Institute, based in Chicago, is one of the largest American programs of foreign study.

The Institute of European Studies considers the main objective of its various programs to be the critical examination of the experience of a foreign culture in the reflective and organized conditions of an institute of higher education.

Explosion, Fire Kills Livestock Near Winside

Somewhere between $2,000 and $3,000 in livestock was lost in a fire at the Harlan Brugger farm about one-half mile north of Winside early Thursday morning.

The fire, which started after an explosion about nine o'clock Thursday morning, killed 12 sows and over 100 small pigs. It broke out in the farrowing area inside one of the small buildings on the farm after a kerosene heater exploded and ignited the area.

Brugger, who was doing chores nearby but who was not injured by the explosion or fire, immediately called the Winside fire department to the fire. The Wayne fire department was also called to help put it out. The fire created extensive smoke, forcing the firemen to fight it through the windows and doors of the building.

County Officers Will Run Again In '70 Election

Two Wayne County officials, the treasurer and clerk, report they have filed as candidates for their present offices in the upcoming 1970 elections.

Leona Bahde announced last week that she filed Monday as a candidate for the office of treasurer in Wayne County. She has served as treasurer four terms and before that was a deputy in the office.

The candidate only recently completed a term of service as president of the state treasurer's association.

Norris Weible, county clerk, said he also filed Monday as a candidate for the office he presently fills. He is completing one four-year term and will campaign for a second term.

All of the county officers except those of the judge and one county commissioner, George Stolz, are up for grabs in the 1970 election.

Clerk Weible noted that most candidates for county offices usually file in January but the deadline for filing is not until Mar. 13.

A person filing as a candidate for a county government office must pay a filing fee equal to one per cent of the annual salary received by the officer. Those filing for the office of sheriff, treasurer, clerk or assessor must pay a fee of $2 in that the new pay scale for the county calls for a salary of $7,200 for those offices beginning January 1971.

County Raises Pay Scale; Hires Highway Consultant

Salaries of Wayne County officials will be increased starting January 1971 and the commissioners have hired an engineering firm as a consultant for future road improvement programs. These were major year-end decisions made by the three-member county board late in December.

The treasurer, clerk, assessor and sheriff will continue receiving the old state minimum of $5,400 through 1970, but beginning next year and continuing through 1974, the officers will receive $7,200 annually.

Wayne County superintendent of schools will start receiving $8,500 next January, a $1,500 increase over the $5,000 salary paid during the present four-year term.

The present $4,600 salaries of the county attorney and clerk of the district court will be increased to $6,500 next year.

The county commissioners acted in compliance with LB 580 passed by the 1969 Nebraska Legislature which sets the minimum salary for county officials at $6,500 in a county having over 9,000 population. A county may pay more than the minimum but cannot pay less.

The minimum salary of $6,500 was set by the state legislature for Class III counties in a population category of 9,000 to 16,000 persons. Counties having more than 16,000 residents must pay a minimum of $7,500. Population in Wayne County is near 10,000 people.

LB 580 also provides a salary of one full-time deputy at not less than 65 per cent of the county official's salary.

Salaries of county officials may not be changed during the four-year term of office according to law.

Following minimums established by the state legislature, county commissioners set the salaries of county commissioners are set by the state governing body. Commissioners presently receive $3,000 a year. This figure remains the same for the next four-year term.

Top State Issues of '69 Covered

That never-say-die state legislature of 1969 tackled subjects ranging all the way from a unique way to finance highway construction to a controversial self-defense act. And as it did so, it created a great deal of news.

During its nine months of life, the legislature talked about, argued about and fought about such things as compulsory school redistricting, state aid to private and parochial schools, local sales taxes, open housing laws and a host of other subjects.

On the editorial page of this issue of The Wayne Herald can be found a complete wrap-up of the top issues which faced the recent legislature. The story was written by Melvin Paul, statehouse correspondent for the Nebraska Press Association. His column appears weekly in the Herald, giving our readers a solid link with what is going on in Lincoln during the year.

Belden Man Named Cedar Co. Chairman For March of Dimes

David G. Hay of Belden has recently been named the new chairman of the Cedar County chapter of the March of Dimes as well as the county March of Dimes campaign chairman.

He succeeds the Rev. J. Keith Cook, who has held those same posts for the past six years.

The Rev. Cook is moving from Cedar County to Omaha.

Hay recently moved to Belden from Omaha. He is employed by the First National Bank in Belden.

The Cedar County chapter of the March of Dimes collects funds to fight the problems of birth defects and to provide assistance to persons in the county who are born with birth defects. It has a record of conducting one of the highest per-capita campaigns in the state. The campaign is held during the month of January each year.

LHS Graduate Gets Certificate of Merit

Jim Erwin, son of Mrs. Marble Erwin of Concord, recently received a certificate of merit from "Who's Who," a national publication.

The award is given annually to a high school graduate who deserves to be commended for their high standards of academic excellence and community leadership. Only three per cent of the students graduated in the nation's high schools last year received the honor.

Erwin, a 1969 graduate of Laurel High School, is presently attending Wayne State College.

Property Assessment Has March 1 Deadline

Personal property assessments got underway late last week at the Wayne County courthouse. Henry Arr, assessor reminds taxpayers that the assessment deadline for personal property is Mar. 1. Schedules filed after that date are subject to penalty, he noted. Taxpayers must go to the assessor to have property assessed.

An assessor is available in the courthouse from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily except Saturdays and Feb. 12 and Feb. 23. Assessors will also be working in other communities on the following dates: Ioskins, Jan. 26; Winside, Jan. 27; Carroll, Jan. 28; Sholes, Jan. 29; Altona, Feb. 2; Carroll, Feb. 4-5; Ioskins, Feb. 9-10; Sholes, Feb. 11, 13; Winside, Feb. 16-17 and Altona, Feb. 19.

Persons being assessed are asked to bring their 1969 schedule or other records to show year and model of machinery. Household goods and personal effects are exempt from assessment and tax when such property is not used for financial gain or profit to either the owner or

County School Group Holds Planning Meet

Members of the Wayne County School Reorganization Committee met Friday in the office of Mrs. Gladys Porter, county superintendent of schools for an organizational meeting.

During the business meeting Friday, Frederick Mann was elected chairman and Merlyn Reinhardt, vice-chairman.

The committee's newest members, Biermann, Fleer and Verba, will serve four-year terms.

Ripples of Success Rocking WS Tutorial Boat

Problems of success are causing a re-evaluation and reorganization of the three-month-old tutorial program at Wayne State College. One solution to the problems is a new recruitment drive for more tutors, including adults from Wayne who would be interested.

Last semester, some 40 WS students signed up to tutor Indian and white children at Winnebago. It was hoped that a 1-1 relationship between tutor and pupil would help the slow learners in problems of homework and attitude toward school—and help give a boost to accelerated students.

However, the program became so popular there, with as many as 70 children showing up over two nights of tutoring, that the college tutors were sometimes swamped with pupils. This fostered some discipline problems and is forcing a cutback in the number of children participating. A number of pupils who need tutoring will have to be turned away, unless more tutors are involved.

Winnebago students range all the way from first graders to high school seniors and most are eager to learn and work with the tutors. No special training is needed to tutor, for much of the work involves simple home-work problems or basic skills such as reading and writing. Art work such as drawing and sketching are also emphasized.

However, a knowledge of the "new math" would be very helpful.

Wayne State tutors travel to Winnebago two nights a week, Wednesday and Thursday, leaving from Connel Hall at the college at 5:30 p.m., and return by 9:30 p.m. Recently, a group of about 20 University of Nebraska students have joined the program, on Thursday nights.

The reorganization will probably entail putting an emphasis on Wednesday night tutoring, for WS students, with the University students taking the bulk of the Thursday-night load.

This should mean as many as 30-40 tutors at Winnebago each of the two nights, it students presently in the program continue. However, even more can be used—up to 50 or more tutors—and Wayne residents are invited to join.

Persons interested should contact Francis Moul at the college or at home, 1217 Pearl Street (375-2545). He is also available to explain the program to service clubs or other organizations in Wayne.

The program will be undergoing other changes in the future also, according to prospective plans. Winnebago parents will serve as hall monitors and will identify students who need the most help there. Tribal leaders will begin discussion classes on Winnebago Indian history and culture after the regular tutoring sessions are ended.

And WSC students are helping initiate a new 4-H program in conjunction with the tutoring project at Winnebago. Adults who have worked in 4-H programs in the Wayne area, or who would be interested in doing so, are encouraged to contact Moul.

In addition, future expansion plans call for tutoring programs at Macy and Walthill schools. Some eight-10 NU students have recently started a Macy program, for Omaha Indian children and additional Wayne State tutors may join in, or may begin a new one at Walthill if feasible.

TEACHING MUSIC to students at Winnebago is one of the jobs of Nancy Geary, one of the Wayne State students involved in the tutorial program begun last year for the Indian and white children going to school in the small, eastern Nebraska community.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

The Double "H" Can Kill

There you are, driving down the road alone or possibly with members of your family, and you see a "double H" standing at the edge of a town with his thumb in the air. The "handsome hitchhiker" or "doubtful H" wants a ride. He is very apt to want something more.

According to recent statistics, hitchhikers in America committed an estimated 35,000 assaults, murders and thefts during 1969.

Chief J. Edgar Hoover of the Federal Bureau of Investigation warns, "Few vicious hitchhikers look like criminals. Giving a ride to any stranger is as reckless as passing on a sharp curve."

Nebraska is one of six states in which it is still entirely legal to hitch a ride, but getting a ride is rather difficult according to a brief survey of drivers in downtown Wayne Monday afternoon.

Fifty persons were asked as to whether they would pick up a hitchhiking stranger. Out of the 25 women drivers questioned, only one said she would pick up a stranger; two said they would pick up a stranger only occasionally and 21 said "no" they definitely would not pick up anyone hitchhiking. Nineteen men also answered "no"; two said they would pick up a hitchhiker and four said they would pick up hitchhikers only occasionally.

Most everyone seemed in favor of picking up a hitchhiker "If I know him." (Our brief survey related, however, to only strangers.)

Several of those questioned indicated that under the right circumstances they would probably pick up a serviceman thumbing a ride.

One gentleman said he thought picking up a woman hitchhiker would be even more dangerous than picking up a man, in that there are cases on record where a gal hitching a ride has waited until arriving at the next town, ripped her clothes, jumped out of the car screaming and later filed a law suit for assault. Wagging tongues have a lot to talk about in such a case regardless of the fact that the man is guilty of nothing except giving her a ride.

Anyone who has hitchhiked can also relate a few frightening experiences regarding odd strangers behind the wheel.

When this writer was attending college in his youthful days he averaged hitchhiking 350 miles each week. Believe me, there are some real weird people cruising the highways as well as standing alongside the road.

As to whether you pick up the next stranger thumbing his way is entirely up to you of course. Just keep in mind that he may want a little more than a ride. The double "H" may want your life. — MMW.

The Bumper Crop

Rather than grain, we're talking about the bumper crop — on the front of your auto. Figuratively speaking, more than 100 humans died daily in the nation's auto-bumper crop during 1969. Such tragedies are too awesome and horrible to comprehend in a total sense.

The new year of 1970 is here and already hundreds are dead over the holidays' lingering hours. Many were the plans they had made, but they suddenly became what appears to be mere statistics. However, if you have lost loved ones in such crashes of grinding metal, you know the agony, loneliness and pain.

As always at this time of year, when the snow falls and sledding is such great sport, there are always reported deaths of youths who forgot momentarily that the auto is a killer.

Wayne's street department crew have marked off streets for sledding following recent snows, but there are youngsters who prefer sledding on unmarked streets. They surely don't realize the danger.

There is the danger of a fun-loving youth having such a good time he forgets to look out for vehicles. There is the danger that a driver, thinking about personal matters, may fail to use caution and run over a sled, crushing its occupant. We humans seem heir to the weakness of saying, "Isn't that tragic!" and then go right out and throw caution to the winds again.

Wayne residents should be on the constant lookout, not only for other vehicles, but for youths enjoying the "fun" of winter snow. Watch for youngsters coasting down hills, coming out of alleys and driveways, intersections or shooting across the street from off their front lawn.

Would you care to ride with a pilot who didn't know enough about his aircraft to insure proper safety? How about riding with an auto driver who doesn't know enough about his car to insure the safety of his passengers or those he meets? Are you aware of what causes an auto to skid on ice? If your car does slide should you slam on the brakes? Or may you observe drivers in Wayne who are either inexperienced or incompetent to the point of going too fast on ice, slamming on the brakes, or driving in a manner dangerous to everyone.

Such people are driving on Wayne streets without any guarantee but what they may come upon your child on a sled. After an accident has happened and a child is dead or injured, the words, "I just don't know how it happened" sound rather foolish and empty.

Let's be as careful as possible during these winter months of driving, and continue to make Wayne safe for both those on sleds and those behind the wheel. — MMW.

1970 Is the Year

Our Wayne police handle an increased load of responsibilities each year. Chances are that some time in 1970 you will find need to contact the Wayne Police Department for assistance. Crime rates continue to climb ever higher throughout the nation and that includes Wayne and Wayne County.

There were 4.5 million serious crimes in the U. S. recorded in 1968, according to the Federal Bureau of Investigation which believes the 1969 report will show considerable increases. Director J. Edgar Hoover recently noted that the volume of crime in the nation soared 122 per cent since 1960 while the population increased 11 per cent.

Hoover pointed out, "Americans have good reason to be concerned about the wretched record of crime and violence during the sixties, a decade which could be referred to as a revolutionary era of permissiveness. Certainly, our citizens were subjected to some shocking and rebellious criminal events. A President was assassinated. Some of our major cities were put to torch by rioters and looters. Open defiance of the laws and constituted authority was urged by many so-called public leaders. Colleges and universities were overrun by mobs of misled young people. Organized crime was exposed as a dangerous threat to our economic and social structure. An increasing number of our Nation's youth turned to dangerous drugs. And as crime increased, the public's safety diminished."

We who live in Wayne County should understand that since 1960 the risk of being a victim of a serious crime has nearly doubled throughout the nation.

Thefts considered as "small" are occurring constantly. Over 3,442,000 thefts were reported to police across the country in 1968 with an average loss of $111. Total loss exceeded $344 million. Wayne and Wayne County had their share of the loss. This new year of 1970 is the year for wide-awake residents to help put an end to the stealing by putting everything under lock and key, inasmuch as possible, and to report any suspicious actions witnessed that may help police solve a theft. Get involved.

There were 1,828,000 burglaries in our nation in 1968. Total dollar loss was approximately $545 million. Again, this area had its share of the loss. This new year is the time for everyone to make sure their buildings and properties are as secure as locks can make them. According to the Wayne police files, there are usually from two to three businessmen who fall to even lock their place of business sometime during a week. Such a failure is an open invitation to thieves.

Starting right now, make 1970 the year you always lock your car any time and every time you leave it parked. Nearly a million mark. Most of us pay little attention, but the next stolen auto could easily belong to you.

Begin the year by always locking your house. Burglary of residence during daylight hours has climbed nearly 250 per cent since 1960 and nighttime burglary of residence has climbed 91 per cent.

You'll not err in taking every precaution against losing your possessions in 1970. Maybe you'll be one of the lucky ones who escape both vandals and thieves. If you are not, then you'll join the rank of those who so much appreciate having competent law officers in Wayne and Wayne County. Support your police and help them whip the crime problem. Let's begin that all-out support now in this year of 1970. — MMW.

Roads, Money, Education, Taxes Top Issues in 1969

LINCOLN — State government made a lot of news in 1969. There were such things as University of Nebraska Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin's selection for President Nixon's cabinet session which seemed it would never end. It ended nine months after that January day in which Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly was elected speaker and the emotional tone was set with a sharp verbal clash involving Sens. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff and Henry F. Pedersen Jr. of Omaha.

When it finally ended late in September there had been many a verbal clash — and a lot of new legislation.

But overshadowing everything else was the legislature — and the sometimes-furious controversy over State Education Commissioner Floyd A. Miller. Miller was the legislature —

For A World Free of Birth Defects

nine months' were highways, budgets, education and taxes.

The package of highway legislation set Nebraska on an entirely new course in road-building administration and financing. Every mile of highway, road and street in the state is to be classified according to its function and minimum standards are to be set for each classification.

The state will be helped in bringing its system up to standard with funds from revenue bonds — authorized for the first time in Nebraska history. The state and the cities and counties will all be given additional financial assistance through increases in fuel and registration levies.

The package of new laws also establishes committees to bring together state, city and county officials to guide and coordinate highway and street planning — something never before required.

Because the state will be sending more financial help to the lower subdivisions of government, it also is insisting they have qualified professional engineering talent at the local level to handle planning, construction and maintenance.

The highway package probably was as significant as any of the major issues — but the budgets contributed many of the fireworks of the 1969 session.

In fact, some of the budget decisions still have to be resolved. A court case — brought by the attorney general at the direction of the legislators — currently is in progress to find out whether the senators or the governor have the correct interpretation of the constitution in body, raters matters.

At issue are gubernatorial vetoes of certain items in budget bills passed with fewer than 33 votes and a legislative decision to tell state agencies how much of their appropriation can be spent on salaries each of the two years of the biennium.

The State Supreme Court is expected to have its decision in that case sometime within the next two months, probably in February.

There were a whole series of fights over various aspects of education.

In fact, LB1 — out of a total of 1,140 legislative bills — dealt with a school issue. It would have had Omaha's school board members elected by districts instead of at-large, it was defeated.

Following that came scraps over such things as compulsory school redistricting. A bill and a resolution on that subject both were killed, but a petition effort to put the issue on next year's ballot is planned by a group of laymen.

Another hot educational issue was state aid to private and parochial schools. The legislators did agree to put that question on the 1970 ballot, but they also passed a resolution saying they did so without taking any official stand on the issue.

The state aid program itself was a session-long issue. The lawmakers wound up increasing the program by $10 million a year — boosting the annual appropriation to the state's school districts to $35 million.

State aid to junior colleges was increased and a bill establishing community college and vocational-technical school systems on a district basis was passed, but vetoed by the governor.

A constitutional amendment which would create a single board to administer all public higher education in the state was advanced to the voters for their approval or rejection.

Taxation also inspired a series of battles. One that raged for many weeks was an effort spearheaded by Sen. Dick Budd of Nebraska City to establish a standard rate for motor vehicle taxes throughout the state. The flat-rate portion of the bill was killed, but a portion establishing central collection of prorate taxes on interstate trucks was adopted.

Bills were passed to strengthen, according to the sponsors, local property assessment and help equalize valuations among counties.

Cities were granted the option to levy local sales taxes — and the Omaha and Lincoln city councils took advantage of the opportunity. Omaha's half-per cent tax went into effect Nov. 1 and Lincoln's is effective New Year's Day.

Counties were relieved of most of the burden they had been carrying in the financial support of patients in the state's mental institutions — with the state picking up the tab.

There also was new legislation which: — Established, with a gubernatorial veto override, a controversial self defense act.

— Created an open housing law. — Provided tougher riot control statutes.

— Increased the weight limits for trucks on state highways. — Created the Nebraska Dairy Products Advisory Board which will set minimum prices for dairy

News of Note around Northeast Nebraska

A Nelloh youth, Marvin D. Lucht, 26, was one of three Nebraskans arrested late in December and charged with counterfeiting. The other two people arrested were Carol Strand, 31, of Alinsworth, and Lee McConnell, 23, of Purdum.

The trio was taken into custody by Secret Service agents for passing bogus bills around Alinsworth.

The Secret Service office stated that the government charges that Strand brought about $20,000 in counterfeit money from Los Angeles and later sold some of the money to Lucht. Later Strand sold some more bogus money to McConnell and others. Strand was indicted by a grand jury on 12 counts of possession and sale of counterfeit bills.

Several public buildings in Plainview are now flying the American flag 24 hours a day and are illuminating it from dusk to dawn. The town has taken the step in order to obey the law recently passed by the Nebraska legislature which requires all American flags flown at public buildings to be lighted during the evening every night until the war in Viet Nam ends. (Editor's Note: The only public buildings in Wayne with the flag illuminated at night are the Wayne High School building and the National Guard Armory.)

The county commissioners in Pierce County recently voted to raise the salaries of the county employees starting with Jan. 1, 1971. Present salaries for the clerk, treasurer and assessor are $5,800; this will be raised to $7,200 next year. The other four county officials earn $5,000 now; this will be upped to $6,500.

That $6,500 base is the minimum salary that can be provided starting next year as a result of a law passed by the last state legislature.

Laurel Quintet Nips Schuyler, WPH in Meet

By Kieth Tietgen

The Laurel Bears won their second straight WSC Holiday Tournament as they narrowly defeated a fine West Point High team, 64-61, Tuesday night. Laurel reached the finals by sneaking by undefeated Schuyler by only three points, 63-60, in overtime. West Point reached the finals by pasting the Wayne High Blue Devils, 76-51.

In the consolation contest the Schuyler Warriors bombed the local Blue Devils, 82-54. The game wasn't won as easily as the score indicates, for Wayne put quite a scare into the Warriors, who trailed 22-17 after one quarter and 33-32 at half-time.

West Point had little trouble with Wayne's Blue Devils, advancing to the finals by outshooting Wayne from the field 43 per cent to 35 per cent and by badly outbounding the smaller Blue Devils.

Schuyler wasn't ready for Wayne in the consolation game as the Blue Devils hit for 60 per cent of their field goals in the first quarter to Schuyler's 37 per cent. From then on the Warriors had an uphill battle until midway in the third quarter when they ran away with the contest.

The Laurel Bears opened the high school division of the tourney Monday with a very impressive over-time victory over Schuyler, 63-60, after being tied 57-57 all at the end of regulation play.

After the victory over Schuyler, Laurel Coach Larry Moore stated, "After the first quarter we knew they were only human." That they were as the Bears bounced back after trailing 14 to 8 after one quarter to lead going into intermission 34 to 32.

The Bears were tensed up in the first quarter as they committed six turnovers to Schuyler's three. The Bears finally scored after two minutes of play on a charity toss by senior Rod Erwin.

Behind six points going into the second stanza, the Bears moved to a full-court press with only 65 seconds gone. It was the right move as Rod Erwin picked off a pass for an easy lay-up and seconds later Steve Erwin tied the score at 15-15 after stealing the ball, being fouled and making two free shots. The score was tied two more times in the quarter—17-11 and 24-11—before the teams retired at half-time with Laurel leading, 34-32.

With five minutes remaining in the third quarter the Warriors were able to tie the score at 42-41 and finally regained the lead, 44-42, at 4:35 in the period, building that to six points as the quarter ended, 50-44.

Laurel blew the Warriors off the court in the final canto as they poured in 13 points to Schuyler's seven.

George Schroeder and Steve Erwin led the onslaught with seven and five points respectively. Schuyler's only hopes were in Gene Harmon who put in all but two of the Warriors' final seven points.

Forced into a three-minute overtime period, Schuyler could only manage one field goal and a free throw against the aggressive Bears who put through six points on field goals by George Schroeder and Steve Erwin, a free throw by Rod Erwin and a final charity toss by Schroeder. The score read 63-60 and Laurel had its sixth victory of the season.

Steve Erwin, a 6-6 junior, led Laurel under the boards with 17 rebounds; Schuyler's 6-7 Gene Harmon pulled down 18 rebounds.

The Wayne High Blue Devils dropped into the consolation bracket as the Cadets of West Point High dealt them a 76-51 setback Monday.

The only time the Blue Devils were within striking distance of the Cadets was when Dick Tietgen tied the game at 2-2 just seconds into the contest. From then on it was all West Point.

The Cadets hit a fine 40 per cent to Wayne's cool 22 per cent from the field in the first canto.

Wayne 7 16 11 17 51
West Point 20 14 23 19 76

enabling them to put 20 points on the scoreboard to just six for the Blue Devils.

The Blue Devils picked up the tempo in the second quarter as they hit seven of 17 shots from the field for 41 per cent to West Point's four of 11 for 36 per cent. But that wasn't enough to stop the Cadets and Wayne trailed 33-22 at half time.

In the second half West Point scored 11 points before the Blue Devils could find the range on a jump shot by Randy Helgren. The Cadets outgunned the Blue Devils during the second half 17 to 12 from the field and eight of 10 compared to five of nine at the line.

Ted Armbruster led the Wayne rebounders with nine. Tietgen pulled in six and Don Mau five. Ron Siebrandt led the Cadets with 17 rebounds.

Wayne High stunned the Schuyler Warriors in the consolation finals Tuesday, scoring on the same play after time while hitting 60 per cent of their shots from the field in the first quarter. The Warriors couldn't stop Wayne's inside shooting as the Devils effectively screened out the defenders and built a 22-17 lead going into the second canto.

In the second stanza Schuyler stopped Wayne's chance of getting the easy inside shots but not without fouling the smaller Blue Devils. Although outscored from the field 5-2, the Blue Devils hit seven of nine free throws while Schuyler counted on five of eight charity tosses, giving Wayne a 33-32 lead going into intermission.

The second half saw the Blue Devils fall apart as they committed 12 turnovers when Schuyler hit the Blue Devils with a full-court press. The Blue Devils could only connect on two of 14 field goal attempts for a dull 14 per cent while the Warriors hit on eight of 22. The locals found themselves far behind the Warriors as the third canto ended, 55-38.

Wayne hit a respectable 50 per cent from the field in the fourth quarter but that wasn't enough. The Warriors connected on 13 of 18 charity tosses to push their lead out of the reach of the Blue Devils, icing their 82-54 consolation victory.

Taller Schuyler dominated the boards, outbounding the Blue Devils 48-33 as 6-7 Gene Harmon grabbed 15 rebounds and 6-4 Dan Jura eight. Wayne's leaders were Terry Ellis with seven and Randy Helgren and Ted Armbruster with six rebounds each.

The championship finals between Laurel and West Point started fast and furious and ended in the same manner. Neither team let up until the final buzzer sounded with the score at 64-61 in the Bears favor.

Coach Moore felt the deciding factors in the game were just 10 turnovers for his Bears and the five free throw shooting of Steve Erwin and George Schroeder, 7-7 and 6-6 respectively. The Cadets had hit three more field goals than Laurel, 27 to 24.

Roger Leonard hit two quick field goals to put the Cadets in the command, 4-0. With 5:51 remaining in the first canto Laurel tied the score at 6-6 on a jump shot by Jim Schroeder. At this point Laurel jalled time and came back in a full-court press. The play was intense for the remainder of the quarter with the score tied four times before Laurel grabbed a three-point edge at the quarter's end, 19-16.

The Cadets gained a 20-19 lead at 6:41 before intermission on a lay-up by Dennis Broekemeier, but West Point held the lead for only three minutes before the Bears regained it, never to relinquish it for the remainder of the game. The Bears held a half-time lead of eight points, 33-25.

Laurel built an 11-point lead in the third stanza before the Cadets could find the range. The Cadets started gnawing at that lead and had it down to two points, 45-43, going into the fourth quarter.

History Reflected As WS, Laurel Sweep Tourney

History repeated Tuesday as two defending champions retained titles in the 12th Wayne State College Christmas Holiday Basketball Tournament.

Host Wayne State became the first to win the college division two straight years and Laurel downed West Point in the second year of the high school division. They were final foes last year.

Another bit of history repeated, Wayne State gained its first tourney championship at Washburn's expense in 1961. That victory, by 17 points, came easier than this year's rematch, which produced 11 changes of lead until Wayne prevailed, 71-65, in the final seconds.

Laurel staved off a West Point surge in the final quarter for a 64-61 decision. The three-point spread duplicated Laurel's overtime margin over Schuyler, 63-60, in the Monday first round. In that tussle the Bears came from a five-point deficit at the end of the third quarter to tie, 57-57, before regulation time ran out.

Both consolation games produced runaways—Gustavus Adolphus of St. Peter, Minn., downing Briar Cliff of Sioux City, 88-63, in the college class; Schuyler whipping Wayne, 82-54, in the high school division.

Individual scoring honors belonged to players on third-place teams. Gary Gustavson hit a 29 single-game high in Gustavus' 91-65 loss to Wayne State, then added 23 in the second round for a 52 total. Schuyler's Gene Harmon scored 18 and 35 for a 53 total, tops in the high school class.

Wayne State's Dave Schneider ranked second in scoring with a 38-point total, followed by Wash-burn's Kevin Sweeney and Briar Cliff's Fred Karpuk, tied with 33. Three Wayne Wildcats totaled 20 or more: Dean Eloffson 27, Paul Emanuel and Jim Merchel 25.

Two Laurel Bears had scoring sprints, George Schroeder with 48, Steve Erwin 41, while Roger Leonard of West Point tallied 33. For Wayne, Randy Helgren was high with a 25 total; Terry Ellis and Ted Armbruster hit 18 each.

In the college finale, rugged defense took a toll of field goal accuracy. Wayne State, which has a 49 per cent field goal record in its 2-1 season, managed only 35 per cent while Washburn connected on 52 per cent. The Wildcats from Topeka, Kan., however, were torrid at the free throw line, hitting 19 of 20.

Another bit of repeating history showed up in Wayne's field accuracy. Last year the Wildcats hit the same percentage as they defeated UN- Omaha for the championship and the free throw performance was almost identical. Wayne hit 31 of 43 against Washburn, 32 of 44 against Omaha.

Wayne and Washburn battled on close terms all the way. The Wildcats several times forged six-point leads while the Wildcats twice moved four points ahead after trailing 36-35 at the half.

The last change of lead came with 9:05 left when Dean Eloffson hit two free throws to break a 50-50 tie. Washburn pulled within 65-63 less than a minute from the end, but Wayne successfully evaded a full-court press and controlled the boards in the hectic windup.

Attendance set records both days, with overflow crowds of an estimated 2,500 at each round.

Lyle Brown, a 6-0 senior starter for the Wakefield quint, dumped in 20 points in Tuesday's contest with Emerson-Hubbard for high point honors in the final night of the meet. That effort equaled the one he turned in the previous night when Wakefield downed Allen, outscoring Brown that first night of the tourney

Athlete of the Week

George Schroeder
Laurel High School

By Norvin Hansen

It was just a matter of time before a member of the Laurel High basketball squad earned recognition as The Herald's "Athlete of the Week." And George Schroeder was the first to break the ice.

Although only a 16-year-old sophomore, Schroeder has been having no trouble in keeping up with the fast pace set by the Laurel Bears this year. At times he has even set that pace for the older and more experienced cagers who make up that starting five. Like in the game against Wayne High when he scored 22 points for scoring honors. Or like in the game against Stanton when he hit 23 points, again high for the contest.

The effort in that game against Stanton, played at Laurel on Dec. 23, was what earned George "Athlete of the Week" honors for Dec. 22-27. He also pulled down eight rebounds as the Bears rolled over Stanton, 86-59, for their fifth straight win of the season.

Standing 6-3 and weighing about 170 pounds, Schroeder was the second highest scorer on the Laurel squad going into last week's holiday tournament at Wayne State. He had tallied 97 points in those first five games, only two behind team-leading Steve Erwin's 99.

And his rebounding ability, praised by Coach Larry Moore, has also been helpful to Laurel this year. High for him in that category this year was in the game against Hartington Cedar Catholic when he pulled down 16 loose balls.

Proof of his versatility on the basketball court is the letter he earned under Moore last year as a freshman, not an easy job considering that Laurel team was one of the best Class B teams in the state.

How is he able to keep a firm grasp on a starting assignment for the Laurel team? Says Coach Moore: "He's got a fine shot, especially from the corners and from outside. He is a tough rebounder and his long arms enable him to get a few extra rebounds he otherwise might miss. He's also a good driver and gets down the court quickly on our fast breaks."

Schroeder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Schroeder of rural Laurel, has to do those things and do them well. If he wants to start with the likes of brother Jim Schroeder, Rod Erwin, Steve Erwin and Steve Smith.

And to top-it all off, George is an honor roll student at Laurel High. That's quite a record going for a 16-year-old sophomore.

6 Area Archers Are Successful

A half dozen Wayne area deer hunters were among the latest archers to post kills with their bows during the recently closed archery deer season.

Gaining their deer were Eddie Broke of Hoskins, Curtis Niles of Stanton, Irvin Lerman of Bemer, Thane Woodward of Concord, George Vrasper of Emerson and Edwin Lewon of Newcastle.

The archery deer season, which saw a record 4,122 of the ambitious hunters taking out permits, closed one half hour after sunset on New Year's Eve. Last year there was a total of 3,579 permits issued.

Even with the harvest of the last few days of the season not tabulated, Game and Parks Commission records show that archers will better the 1968 hunt. So far, 64 deer have been taken for a success ratio of just over 16.1 per cent. During the 1968 hunt, 16.2 per cent of the hunters scored.

Winside Quint Takes Lyons Holiday Meet

The Winside Wildcats went into the Lyons Holiday Tournament with a dismal record of three straight defeats on the basketball court.

But they emerged with two victories, one against the highly regarded host team and the top trophy awarded in the tourney.

What caused the sudden change in fortune for the Winside quint? Coach Jim Wirth says much of the reason for the quick success is the fine free throw shooting of his cagers and their extreme caution in committing unnecessary fouls.

In both games in the Lyons tourney the Winside team was outshot on the field and outscored on the boards. But the Wildcats hit a fine 13 of 26 free throws in the game against Lyons, just enough to win the game after making only 23 field goals compared to Lyons' 24.

And that victory earned the Wildcats a shot at the top trophy. Facing them in the championship bracket Tuesday night was Walthill, winner over Wisner-Pilger in Monday's opening round of action.

Again the Wildcats came in second in the number of field goals made, 14 to 20, but their free throw shooting, this time an enviable 23 of 30, kept them in the game and won them the top trophy. Hitting a superb 10-10 at the free throw line, including a couple clutch gift shots when they were needed late in the game, was Fritz Weible, a 6-2 senior for Winside.

Now... Your Bank Makes It Possible for You to Obtain Famous Blue Cross and Blue Shield Health Protection at Group Rates and Savings of Up to 30%

Now... as a depositor in our bank... you are eligible to obtain famous Blue Cross and Blue Shield health protection on the same group basis as employees of large corporations.

There's no qualification other than being, or becoming, a depositor. Savings amount to as much as 30% over comparable coverage on an individual basis.

Don't confuse Blue Cross and Blue Shield with ordinary health and accident insurance, which often pays only a specified number of dollars per day. Blue Cross and Blue Shield payments are based on actual hospital and medical costs right here in Nebraska. As these costs rise, Blue Cross and Blue Shield payments rise. In most cases, Blue Cross and Blue Shield pay up to or over 90% of all hospital and medical bills.

In order to insure the greatest possible saving under this plan, a large number of members must be enrolled during a short period of time. Consequently, you must join during this open enrollment period—or perhaps wait for as long as a year for a new open enrollment period.

A special staff of highly-trained Blue Cross and Blue Shield representatives is now in town to explain this program to you. Remember—any present bank depositor or any NEW depositor is eligible for this special Blue Cross and Blue Shield health protection. Come in and investigate—do it now before this special open enrollment period ends. This may well be one of the most important steps you take this year! If you are now a Blue Cross and Blue Shield member, be sure to bring your identification card with you.

Share Dates -

(Continued from page 1) Seventh and Sherman intersections. Council agreed that the lights at Seventh and Main, which can be triggered by pedestrians, make that intersection safe enough without a guard. The school will now have to decide whether a guard is needed at Seventh and Sherman or any other intersection in the city. The cost of hiring the guard will have to be borne by the school district rather than the city as was the case in the past.

Arline Ulrich of Wayne was given a nod of approval on his request for a special use permit for property he owns in the southeast corner of the city. That property is located south of Fairground Ave. just west of S. Windom. The property, which is one block long and half a block wide, will apparently be used for a trailer court.

Council also gave the city engineering firm authority to bring plans and specifications for furnishing the new subdivision to the city with utilities. That new subdivision, The Knolls, is located on the southwest edge of the city.

Failure to do so by the mid-March deadline is waiver of exemption. Applications for homestead exemption are available at the county assessor's office.

Important Story -

(Continued from page 1) Killed in that war last year were Marine Lance Cpl. Steven D. Wilkerson of Wakefield. The 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Wilkerson, he was killed late in December of 1968 but information about his death was not available until early in January. Also killed in that war last year was Pfc. Mark S. Witt, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Witt of Winfield. He was killed late in August.

Gaining the fifth rung of importance were the numerous stories related to the astoundingly successful athletic teams produced in the area last year. Tops among those teams as far as success goes were the Wayne High baseball team and the Wakefield Legion team. Both teams fought their way clear to the finals in the state tournaments, but both lost in those last rounds of action. Wayne Midgets also made it through district and area competition but fell in the first round of the state tourney.

Other athletic teams which exhibited their prowess throughout their seasons were the Wayne High football team, the Wayne State basketball team and wrestling squad and the Laurel High basketball team. The Wayne High graders battled to an undefeated regular season before being forced to settle for a tie with Pender in the Husker Conference play-off. The Wayne State cagers downed Doane the first two times the teams met in the two-out-of-three series to determine who would represent the Nebraska NAIA District at the tournament at Kansas City.

Next in importance to readers of The Wayne Herald were the pay raises voted by the local school board and the city council. The pay raise decided upon by the board of education in March upped the base for beginning teachers from $5,700 to $6,000 and increased the increment for each year of teaching from 2.5 per cent to 3.5 per cent. The council voted a 12 per cent pay raise for its 34 city employees in late October. Early in the year the council voted a pay raise of just over six per cent for the city employees.

Last spring's city council and board of education elections gained the seventh spot among the top 10 stories. In those elections, incumbents Ed Smith, Jack Kingston and R. H. Banister were re-elected to another two-year term on the city council and incumbent Dorothy Ley and Arlyn Brandt were named to fill the two three-year positions open on the school board. About 700 of the potential 2,000 voters in the city turned out for the "off-year" election.

The decision by the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State College in late May to name several new college facilities after three well known Wayne men earned eighth place among the top 10 new stories.

The group decided to name the new science facility in memory of Ralph M. Carhart, Wayne resident who served on the governing board for 11 years. The group also decided to name the planetarium in the new science building the Fred G. Dale Planetarium and the main reference room of the library addition the Carl R. Ellermeier Room. Both men were well known during their years of teaching at Wayne State College.

Next to last on the list was the opening of the Senior Citizens Center in Wayne. The city obtained a grant of $4,744 from the state to establish a program of recreation and social services for the elderly. The city put the money to use by renting and helping furnish a building on Main St.

Governmental money also figured into the story which ranked in 10th spot on the list of top stories. The various stories about Allen's successful attempts to obtain federal and state aid in putting in a sanitary sewer system in the community earned that position on the list. The sewer system, a dream of several years by a few people in the small community, is still in the preliminary stages because the village is waiting for approval of plans by a federal agency.

Austrian Student At WSC Enjoys Tutorial Project

The Wayne State College tutoring program at Winnebago has taken on an international flavor recently, and gained from the Christmas spirit of giving from WS students.

Gertraud Havranek of Flagenfurt, Austria, an exchange student at Wayne State, has been tutoring Indian and white fourth graders at Winnebago. She came to Wayne last September under a Fulbright travel grant and has scholarships from the Institute of International Education and W.S.C. She has been studying American literature and government thus far.

"I entered the tutorial program partly for the experience of seeing another side of America," Miss Havranek said, "and to see the American Indians. We get a lot of myths from American western films about Indians, but nothing about their modern problems."

She has found little trouble working with the Winnebago children, and has become a favorite of some of them by telling

State Patrol Says Trooper Jobs Open

The Nebraska State Patrol is accepting applications for the position of state trooper, according to an announcement by Colonel James F. Kruger.

"The class will be limited to providing replacements for patrolling vacancies that have occurred during the last 18 months due to retirements, re-assignments and normal attrition. The seven-week basic training program will begin April 30 to assure assignment to duty before the summer holidays and vacation season and to assure qualification for "solo" service after six months of in-service training before the winter holidays," Kruger said.

Kruger added, "Since each of those periods are times of unusually heavy traffic with extra demands for patrolling services, it is especially important that the Patrol be at full authorized personnel strength."

Applicants may expect a screening procedure that will include a mental test scored by the Merit System Council, a character investigation, polygraph examination and an interview plus a physical examination for those endorsed for training.

Kruger noted, however, that in order to merit consideration, applicants must have at least a high school education, be between 21 and 35 years of age and in excellent physical condition with a minimum height of 5'10," and be a legal resident of Nebraska and a citizen of the United States. Those qualified and interested should contact the nearest Nebraska State Patrol office.

JUST WRIGHT

by Merlin Wright

Here we are in a new year, new decade and new month of January. Are you getting a new start after the holidays or can you still feel the effects? When you think of your yearly calendar, do you think of a year with January being at the top and December at the bottom (a vertical year); or do you conceive of January being at your left and December at your right (a horizontal year); or do you think of your calendar months as running in a circle? Whatever shape your concept of the calendar takes, here is wishing you 12 good months.

Alaska became a state 11 years ago last Saturday, but she is only a youth compared to Wayne County which is 100 years old. Wayne is one of five Nebraska counties marking their one-hundredth birthday this year. The other century-old Nebraska counties are Cheyenne, Buffalo, Pierce and York.

J. W. has been having trouble with the sound on his portable TV. Have you ever tried watching any kind of show at all without sound? Not being able to read lips, even the best of TV productions are flops when there is no accompanying sound track. Imagine what life would be like if there were no sounds of any kind. Think of all the different sounds that have used the air waves across Wayne County in the past 100 years!

A garden grows without sounds normally audible to the human ear; clouds float around over Wayne County without being noisy most of the time; the full moon and brilliant sun move across heavenly arches in silence and frost forms on the fence line in quietness, but most happenings are accompanied by sound.

Your own two healthy ears are marvelous microphones which bring sound to hidden tape recorders in your mind. Then you can recall those recorded sounds at will for your own pleasure. Most ears are highly sensitive to sound and its source. Our ears are feeding sound data into the mind constantly, even during the night when another part of us has gone to sleep. The little messenger guarding the ear's doorway feeds all normal sounds into the mind with the accompanying note, "This is a normal sound. Do not awaken. There is no emergency."

However, let a loud blast, the sound of a burglar or that of your child crying in the night occur and the little ear guard attaches a note to your mind, "Wake up sleep head you can't afford to sleep through this!" So your ears work 24 hours a day. Sound plays a tremendous part in making life more colorful.

If you aren't already in your easy chair, be seated and just for fun, think back to sounds you have recorded in your brain which will probably linger there forever. Remember the sound of a walling coyote not too terribly far from your childhood home? What a lonely wail that is at night. Is there anything more eerie than the lonesome call of a freight train passing over the countryside after midnight?

When J. W. was but a young lad on the farm, strange shadows would occasionally jump through my bedroom window at night and play tag on the wall. They weren't noisy but the leaves scratching on the windowpane were enough to scare a boy half out of his wits. An old windmill was located about 100 feet away from the house and any time she played with the wind there was always a rhythmic creak to be heard.

How about those tremendous claps of nighttime thunder which sent your childish head deep into a pillow! Raindrops falling into a shallow pool of water just off the porch played a tune of their own making with each "bloop" and "plip". There was always something therapeutic about the sound of each droplet diving in with a splash. Rainbows make no sound but they are magnificent in their own right.

Have you ever heard the rhythmic struggle of pistons playing the game of "It is your turn to bang now" in the old Model "T" Ford? It is music for enthusiasts of motor cars from yesteryear. Engines and motors are capable of doing more than providing power, for they can literally "talk" to a mechanic and tell him of internal ills. Ah! The sound!

Blackbirds in a tree, locusts with their sunset serenade of biz-a-wiz-aw, woodpeckers knocking on wood, call of the bobwhite, croaking of the frog, bark of the dog, the beat of a lamb, a cat's purr, a cricket's odd little chirp, and the golden voices of canaries are all sounds which entertain or aggravate the human family via the ear. Sound!

Crunching is a sound all of its own. Walk on zero-cold snow and listen to it squeak and crunch. Then another type of crunch occurs when walking on autumn leaves, a gravel road, or cornflakes on the floor lost there by your youngsters. A bacon and tomato sandwich crunches when you bite into it as do toast, celery, potato chips and hard candy. But there is any crunch quite like that of ice when you're making homemade ice cream?

Probably the sawing of wood has more variety of tones, pitch range and rhythms than the handling of any other one product. Remember the sound of sawing away preparing wood for the winter stoves? Even a handsaw sings as dad sinks its teeth into a two by four. A large circular saw in the sawmill can really whine. There are no words to interpret the sound.

If you want to experiment as to how dependent upon sound we are as an aid to interpret a movie or TV show, turn the sound or volume control completely down next time you go to watch television. A quiet soap opera, football game, or news cast means little or nothing. Ah! But what a pleasure to hear nothing when the commercials come along!

Music is the sound! Whether it comes to us via the radio, the stereo phonograph, recorded tape or "live," music flows in on us daily to create mood. Grocery stores create a shopping environment with piped in music as do banks, shopping centers and many

by Tom McDermott

Happy New Year! The appointed time is here. In this special installment, I'm going to show you the basic rudiments of casting a natal horoscope chart. Don't get the natal chart confused with the progressed chart. The former is used for character analysis, the latter for delineating tendencies - commonly misnamed "predictions." Anyway, let it be known that I'm casting a true horoscope here - not one of the forecast types. So get set for a character analysis - no chorus pocus.

The reader should understand, first, that the making of a horoscope (better known as "natal chart") can be divided into two parts: actual erecting or casting of the chart, and delineating or interpreting of what has been erected or casted. The casting of a chart involves a lot of mathematics and astronomy, so much so, in fact, that even astronomers can't dispute the validity of the natal chart itself. However, astrologers and astronomers part when the interpretation of this astronomical phenomena is made.

As mentioned before, I'm going to cast, then interpret, President Nixon's chart. Before any chart can be cast, an astrologer must have three pieces of data: the time, place and date of birth. Therefore, you can see that the "horoscope" you pick up on your newsstand isn't a horoscope at all; What is it then? A bunch of balderdash, that's what.

Thanks to Mildred Schuler of Kansas City, I have before me Mr. Nixon's birth data. He was born in Yorba Linda, Calif., on Jan. 9, 1913. The birth hour (exact, of course) is 9:30 P.M. P.S.T. As you will see later on, I will use each and every piece of this birth information. Without it I am unable to cast anything.

Since men seldom ever agree on a solution, there are many different ways of going about casting a chart. The Placidian House Division System is used most. However, the new Equal House System, which is much simpler, is used by more scientific astrologers. Furthermore, I'm beginning to think that it's the most accurate. Therefore, I'll cast the President's chart using the Equal House System. Keep in mind that this is a far simpler mode of casting a chart than the Placidian System.

First off, let's work with the time of birth. It's 9:30 P.M. Of course, this is in Pacific Standard Time. Due to a technicality which I can't remember, the time has to be corrected so that the time of birth is in Local Mean Time - said to be the true time of birth. (We, as astrologers, must do this with every chart we cast, not just the President's.) According to the reference book "Longitudes and Latitudes in the U. S.," 11 minutes must be added to the time of birth to get the Local Mean Time of birth. Thus, the LMT is 9:41.

The second step in casting a chart is the determination of the Sideral Time of Birth. Sideral Time, simply stated, is "star time." To do this, the astrologer must refer to his ephemeris. (That's a book, not a part of his body). The ephemeris comes in two types: the astronomical and astrological. The ephemeris is a book containing the positions of the planets, along with the two luminaries, in the zodiac signs. The ephemeris, ironically, is a complicated and impressive book. It serves as evidence to the astronomical accuracy of the true astrologer of today. The ephemeris is a technical book, issued each year since 1857, and the less said the less confusing.

According to the Metz Ephemeris for 1913, the Sideral Time at Greenwich on Jan. 9, 1913, at noon, was 19 hours 13 minutes 40 seconds. To correct this figure for Yorba Linda, Calif., I add 9 hours 41 minutes, the L.M.T. The sum is 28:54:40. This is larger than the diurnal/circle of 24 hours, so we subtract that amount and get the President's exact Sideral Time: 4 hours 54 minutes 40 seconds.

What good is a Sideral Time once you get it? An astrologer must know the Sideral Time before he can refer to his second reference book, the table of houses. This book, also a complicated and impressive manual, is concerned with the house cusps. House cusps are difficult to define. There are 12 houses and 12 signs, but they are not the same. The houses represent the departments of life (birth, death, vocations, avocations, etc.), and the signs represent the character. The planets provide the necessary vital principle to spark activity in the houses and signs. The table of houses tells the astrologer exactly what zodiac signs were on which house cusp at the time of birth. For example, on my chart I have Sagittarius on the cusp of the first house, with the sun 14 degrees in Capricorn in the first house. It's all very confusing but it does substantiate the claim that no horoscope can ever be duplicated. It's impossible.

Like the ephemeris, the less said about the table of houses the better. I referred to the table of houses and found that President Nixon's ascendant (sign on the cusp of the first house) is Virgo. This, then, is an important characteristic of the President. I place Virgo (16 degrees of Virgo to be exact) on the cusp of the first house and then proceed to write in the other signs around the wheel. (The reader isn't expected to follow all of this, by the way.)

If you've been paying attention, you know that we now have the signs on all the house cusps. All that's left is the insertion of the planets on the chart. Of course, to find out just where the planets were at the time of the President's birth I must again refer to the ephemeris for 1913. The ephemeris is set up according to Greenwich Mean Time, so I must again convert the time of birth into this new type of time. President Nixon's GMT is 5:29. Jan. 10, 1913. Since the President was not born at 12:00 noon GMT, the astrologer must correct the positions of the planets. This is a cumbersome job and requires the use of proportional logarithms.

I hope my readers can actually realize that the judgments of casting a chart are scientific and deserve, at least, attention from the intelligent man of the world.

Accompanying this article is an actual horoscope chart. It contains all the astrological "hieroglyphics." I hope I have elaborated enough on the subject of casting the chart. Now I will delineate, or interpret, the horoscope chart. INTERPRETING THE CHART
Tom McDermott is no swami. I didn't have to use ESP to interpret the chart. Nor did I go into a trance. All it takes to interpret a horoscope chart is years and years of experience and knowledge. Obviously, my interpretation isn't going to be the best. Far from it.

cast, that's a different story. No two reporters can report the same story in the same way, and so it is with astrology.

THE PRESIDENT NIXON'S CHART
Mr. Nixon's Sun is in Capricorn in the Fifth House. His vitality and self-expression is often capped, for his is a cautious nature. I might add that I believe his nature to be prudently cautious. This, possibly, explains our President's apparent procrastination in bringing the war to an end. The Fifth House tends to make the entire influence one of "cautious risks."

His Moon is in Aquarius in the Sixth House. This, to me, provides a special insight in the President's nature. This tendency produces an independent response while engaged in service, or the Presidency. This means that the President, as long as he is President, will do his own speaking. Perhaps, then, Spiro T. is expressing his own ideas. This is reassuring to know.

Mercury, the planet of intelligence, was in Capricorn in the Fourth House. This reaffirms my proposal that Mr. Nixon prudently takes his own time. Let me add here, also, that the President has three planets in Capricorn. Capricorn, then, is an important sign, characteristically. The keywords of the sign Capricorn are "prudently, coolly, aspiringly." Capricornians do, in fact, strive for the top. They're leaders, not followers. We can easily see why he sought the Presidency and got it. Furthermore, prudent procrastination always seems to be characteristic of his.

Venus, mythologically the planet of love and beauty, is in Pisces in the Sixth House. President Nixon can comprehend intangible things. He is, as we already know, moved by the starving of his people and general suffering of mankind. He's doing all in his power to relieve this stigma.

Uranus, planet of change, be it disruptive or passive, was in Aquarius in the Fifth House. Uranus' sign is Aquarius, and when it is in this sign a powerful tendency is apparent. This could signify that he will detachedly solve problems. This configuration denotes also a forward attitude and thought. The President is no cornball and we should, I believe, respect his proposals before weighing them. He's "at home" with the so-called Age of Aquarius. And, should we personally know the President we would readily notice his youth.

The planet of jocularity, abundance and so on is Jupiter. Jupiter is in Capricorn in the Fourth House. Notice that the three most occupied houses are the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth. I take this to mean that the President is strongly bonded to his home, family, children, service and work. This is true. His home life will be comfortable. There is a tendency for frugality, too. He is also, no doubt, not discouraged by his role as President.

The final planet below the horizon of the chart is Mars. Some of us who have studied mythology can remember Arles' fitful way. When badly aspected, the planet can sometimes produce the same effects. Mars bubbles over with activity, no matter whose chart he's in. Mars is in Sagittarius in the Fourth House. Here's a tendency for wide-ranging energy and activity to be used in the home.

On the top of the chart we find Neptune, Pluto and Saturn. Neptune was in Cancer in the Eleventh House. Many times the President is in the state of nebulosity, but it is kept out of notice, as to his objectives. No doubt he has often been bewildered as to which way to turn to find a peaceful end to the Viet Nam war. So have we.

Pluto, the recently discovered (1930) planet, is still hard to interpret. Not enough is known of it yet. Pluto is in Gemini in the Tenth House. Pluto, according to astrologer Ellen McCaffery, means "a change in profession." This could refer to Mr. Nixon's change to politics from law, although at times it was difficult to see just which one he was pursuing.

Our final planet, Saturn, was in Taurus in the Ninth House. Traditionally, Saturn is an old union. Up until 1900, many astrologers still thought it stood for death. Luckily, we aren't so gullible today. The President possessively limits his more profound mental interests. Elaborated, this could mean he's capping his interest in sublime and classic thought and literature. Who knows?

Personally, I have learned a lot about our President through this mediocre interpretation. I feel certain that he is a deeply moved man, one who is cautious and careful every inch of the way. He's a go-getter, and once he's got where he was headed he stands independently and forcefully.

I have repeatedly spoken of "tendencies." This, to the reader, might seem to be the easy way out of saying "probably, just possibly" to ease I am wrong. Let's get something straight. Astrology deals with tendencies, just as meteorology does. Just because the weather man might be wrong once in a while in his predictions doesn't deprive the subject. So it is with astrology. Astrologers admit to the fact that astrology isn't a starched sort of subject which deals with certainties. In certainties were the case, but weather forecasters and astrologers would have been totally dissolved in minutes. Unfortunately, astrology has experienced a little corrosion! FINAL WORDS

Good Morning Feeders & Hi Mom

By Eddie Collins

The Monday cattle run at Terminal City was 10,216 head. The national dressed market was sluggish all day. Early market reports issued by the Stockyards Foundation and the USDA Market News were steady... late reports mentioned a weakness.

All buyers moved single file to their Batmobiles... checking first their two-way radios. Every buyer reported that he had just looked at cattle. Every buyer reported that he had the lowest orders in the area... and quoted fictitious prices.

Funny thing, too, as they left, each buyer had stiddled up to Eric and whispered he'd drop by that he had the best orders. Within an hour, all six will get Mom Swensen's kitchen muddly. Drinking Mrs. Swensen's coffee and Danish cookies. But still bid grade/yield a dollar under the sheet.

"But how can I retire-- I just bought another 160 acres!"

Local cattle feeders drove home late, too late for supper, in fact. With Mom at choir practice, they ate at the local restaurant... ordered a hamburger steak, french fries, salad with red dressing and coffee. Second cup, too.

That market was steady all right... headed steady straight down. Barney, our commission man, got bid 8 1/2 on the first go-around... but got set... couldn't get 8 at noon. He put them to bed for the night. Do you think those cattle will fill?

Next morning, the terminal city had another glut... 7980 head... overdrawn by yesterday's erroneous, premature report.

At your town five double-antenna sedans were parked outside of the local gasoline-station cafe. On each left door "ensplendored" a modern coat of arms... steer heads, black and white, horned and polled and with big crossed blocked letters. Time was a quarter 'till noon. That meant Batman and Robin his spotter, Mr. Nice, Minnesota Fats, Huckleberry Hound and the Road Runner, all country cattle buyers had low orders. In fact, steal or pass.

Inside, were six cattle buyers, seven farmers, the cook and two mini-skirted, teenage waitresses. The ten cent coffee was on the second and third refill. Total bill for the cafe office-privileges... $1.55 tax included... with a ten cent tip, due to the Christmas spirit. We eavesdrop.

Topics covered... varied. Pro football, Nebraska University's escape from Georgia, mini-skirts, high school basketball, women's sports, the parkinghouse strike, girls, weather, women and the market. That was the "red hot" hog market, not cattle. Reason of this mafia-like conclave was that all packing plants were filled up. All country cattle had been brought grade/yield or in-the-beef at a full dollar below the yellow sheet. Sold easy by tax-influenced farmers escaping the first of January cattle assessment.

Finally, one quitted coat moved. Mr. Nice got up and pays the bill. That is the cue for all to move. "What are ya using, Batman?" "You know the P & S forbids me to tell you..." But Eric Swensen, a farmer, spoke up, "He bid me 44 fifty, but the paper quotes Chicago dressed beef a buck higher."

Eric and whispered he'd drop by that he had the best orders. Within an hour, all six will get Mom Swensen's kitchen muddly. Drinking Mrs. Swensen's coffee and Danish cookies. But still bid grade/yield a dollar under the sheet.

FUTURE FORECASTS: I should stick to cattle. With bullish feeders, it will take one added hog to pay the steer mortgage in late spring. Study April and June futures... May break you even.

Tired Muscles & Fatigue

Are you one of the homemakers who complain about holiday fatigue? It might be because you don't use your muscles properly and you don't relax.

A particular job which uses the same muscles constantly is tiring. It's more tiring to iron for hours at a time than to jump from one task to another. Changing from task to task after short intervals may sound disorganized, but it makes good sense in terms of muscle health and fatigue prevention.

Try using smooth rhythmic movements. Rhythm can be applied to any form of task requiring repetitive movement.

Hurrying causes fatigue. Running instead of walking up a flight of stairs puts a greater strain on muscles.

Short rest periods at frequent intervals are more effective in preventing fatigue than lying down a couple of hours after a big job is completed.

Don't sit or stand in one position for a long period of time. When the body is held in a fixed position, muscles are constantly contracting without letup. Change your position, stretch and let your muscles relax.

Some homemakers feel that resting during the day means naps of one or two hours and they therefore feel guilty about taking rest periods. Rest periods of three to four minutes every hour or so are effective in preventing fatigue and muscle strain if you learn to relax during such a short time.

Separate Weed Seeds

A new way has been found to separate weed seeds from crop seeds. It is called magnetic separation.

Iron powder, water and the surface characteristics of the seeds themselves are used to separate the seeds magnetically.

Many crop seeds are smooth or waxy surfaced while weed seeds and contaminants often are rough or sticky. That peculiarity helps make a magnetic separation process work.

When iron powder and moisture are mixed with seed lots, rough or sticky components pick up the powder, while smooth or waxy ones do not. The two can be separated by passing the treated lot over a magnetic drum where the iron-coated material is attracted to the drum, pulled out of the mixture and discharged separately from the smooth, uncoated fraction. The process can also be used to remove damaged seed along with the contaminants.

Crop seeds that can be cleaned on magnetic separators include small legumes like alfalfa and clover and other smooth seeds like flax. Typical contaminants removed are dodder, plantain, skinned dock, knapweed, mallow, hoary cress, broken seed, dirt clods and trash. Most common separations in the United States are dodder and buckhorn plantain from alfalfa and red clover.

Avoid Rabbit Damage

The only sure method of protecting small trees from rabbit damage during the winter is to enclose each tree with a wire netting of some type. Nail screen or small net-poultry wire is most satisfactory. The netting should be firmly attached to the ground.

During periods of mild weather and when other food is available, a rabbit repellent may be effective. A repellent that has been effective and can be easily applied to trees is also one that can be easily prepared. It can be prepared by mixing one gallon of asphalt water emulsion to two gallons of water, then stir in three pounds of Thiram 75 per cent and mix thoroughly. This mixture is then painted on the tree trunks.

Asphalt water emulsions can usually be obtained from lumberyards and other dealers in building supplies. Thiram 75 per cent is sold as a fungicide under the name of Arasan SF-X and Tersan 75, and can be obtained from seed and feed outlets.

turned Wayne into a winter wonderland last week only to be crowned with an early-morning frost.

Glistening crystals covered tree tops, fences, gates and communication lines. Small imperfections on the surface of the earth were covered by Dame Nature with the beauty of pure white snow.

Quietly, snowflakes found lodging in nooks and crevices, covering park benches, man-made structures and other marks of human existence.

Such elegance was momentary prior to its erasure by warmth of the morning sun. But for a while the eyes of earthlings were entertained by an eerie display of dazzling enchantment.

Some of the symmetrical sparkle was caught for you by a Wayne Herald camera.
