Jaycees Buy Teaching Aids

Jaycee Week was emphasized on a national level last week and local members of the young businessmen's association noted it in a special way. Wayne Jaycees were both recipients and contributors.

"but it is necessary to teach these youngsters," Dick Hammer, president of Wayne Jaycees, said the funds they are contributing to the class for equipment are the proceeds from selling honey throughout Wayne on "Honey Sunday" last year.

Having a class for the trainable retarded on the lower floor of the Middle School is a cooperative venture with the Educational Service Unit I.

1969 Temps Failed to Top 100 Mark

Weather in Wayne last year left some unique temperature and precipitation records. For instance, July 14 was the hottest day of 1969 when the mercury climbed to 98 degrees. Even the oldtimers might have a little difficulty remembering a previous year when the mid-summer thermometer failed to reach or top the 100 degree mark in town.

The hottest weather arrived in July when the temperatures stayed in the nineties for 12 consecutive days with the 98 degree reading on the fourteenth. The other 19 days of July had varying readings mostly in the mid-eighties. A night time low of 50 degrees was recorded July 1. It was 20 below zero on New Year's Eve as 1969 was born in Wayne and 20 below Dec. 30 as the old year neared its end 12 months later. A minus 22

'Game of Week' Set

They're billing it as "The Game of the Week." It might turn into just that.

What's getting that billing? The coming benefit basketball game between the fighting Wayne High faculty and the tenacious Wayne Jaycees. Where will it be held? At the city auditorium Thursday evening at 8:30.

There will be no admission charge for the game, but a free will donation is being asked by the sponsors of the basketball tilt, the student council at Wayne High. ## New WSC Science Hall Has Premiere Showing

The planetarium in Wayne State College's new science hall gave its premiere performance Thursday night. The first audience to view it: visiting high school science students and teachers who came to an open-house sponsored by the Northeast Nebraska Junior Academy of Science.

Three groups of about 70 each filled seating capacity in the planetarium.

"Lean back and think pleasant thoughts," said Planetarium Director Carl Rump, and the spectators leaned back in reclining chairs to observe a 30-foot dome. Slowly the lights (of day) faded, soft music swelled and became "Stardust," and pinpoints of light gained brilliance on the hemisphere of star-filled sky.

Then Rump treated the audiences to a preview of longer, more elaborate shows to come, when a schedule of public performances will be arranged. He started the spectators by moving the heavens around and upside down - in the process upsetting some normal senses of what's up and down, north and south.

The planetarium was a highlight of the open house for about 160 high school students and 25 teachers who came to tour the Carhart Science Hall and to consult with college professors. Many students had questions on procedures in setting up a scientific experiment.

Schools that brought students to the open house: Northeastern Nebraska College, Wakefield, West Point Central Catholic, West Point Guardian Angel, Bloomfield, Emerson-Hubbard, Randolph St. Francis, Norfolk, Wausa, Niobrara, Lynch, Windsor, Rock County, Logan View, Clarkson, Wayne High, and Wayne Middle School.

School Districts To Receive Share of Money Collected Under Co. Free High Levy

If an agreement reached by the legal opponents in the District Court in Wayne last week is any indication, the "heat" may be off the numerous school districts which have had their free high tuition money frozen by lawsuits.

The opponents agreed that 65 per cent of the money being tied up by the lawsuit in Wayne County should be released so the schools can continue educating the high school students who attend the school from outside the school district.

J. Alan Cramer Named President Of State Board

J. Alan Cramer, publisher of The Wayne Herald, was elected president of the state college board of trustees Friday.

He succeeds James A. Lane of Osallala. Henry Freed of Chadron was named by the trustees as vice-president.

Dr. James Todd, executive vice-president at Kearney State College, was directed to handle the board's secretarial duties in that Albin Larson, 66, board secretary for many years, was put on leave of absence without pay due to ill health. Effective Jan. 1, the leave will continue until his health improves.

James Knapp of Kearney, who made the motion to allow Larson on leave, said he wanted to avoid "any implication that Larson wouldn't be welcomed back in the event of improvement in his health."

He worked at State National Bank part-time while attending college before accepting a full-time position as a clerk and teller in 1949. He has been cashier since 1963.

Mr. and Mrs. Armbruster's three children are Michele, a freshman at Wayne High; Ted, a senior at Wayne High, and Debi, a sophomore at the University of Nebraska. Mrs. Armbruster and the two children at home will live in Wayne until school is out this spring.

Dr. G. E. Hartman Dead

A former Wayne resident who practiced dentistry for probably more years than any dentist in the nation died in a hospital in Blair Thursday.

Dead is Dr. G. E. Hartman. He would have been 102 years old in July.

Never one to seek the easy life - he said on his 94th birthday that there's no place in God's world to sit down - Dr. Hartman finally gave up his work as a dentist in 1967 when he moved to the Crowell home in Blair. But for over 70 years before his retirement, his life was devoted completely to dentistry.

Born in Shelby County, Ill., on July 10, 1868, Dr. Hartman spent the first 24 years of his life on his parents' farm. Aware that he would never get ahead if he stayed on the farm, he left on a trip which would not bring him back to that farm for eight years. His wanderings took him into Minnesota and then into South Dakota where he worked as a grain scooper, a janitor and finally a helper in a father-daughter "dental" business in Mitchell, S. D. At that time, he was fond of recalling, prices for a new set of teeth, uppers and lowers, were $16. The better sets cost as much as $20. After a brief stretch of shoveling wheat in South Dakota, Dr. Hartman enrolled in the Western Dental School in Kansas City, Mo. He completed his dental training at the Omaha Dental College, receiving his degree in 1900. Before enrolling at Omaha, he moved to Randolph to work with Dr. C. E. Walden, the local dentist. When Dr. Walden moved from Randolph, Dr. Hartman took over his practice, returning to the small town once a week to See HARTMAN, page 6

Assisting Ley in his duties will be Edgar Decker, a certified public accountant in Lincoln.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

You may not agree with an editorial — but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

Chuckle Break

Although we can't speak for all our readers, we are fairly certain that a large number of them are getting a good chuckle out of the thickheadedness being exhibited by the college officials at Chadron State College.

We have noted before that our country is a very strange one. We stress constantly the importance of the individual, noting that only by being himself can a person really be comfortable and happy.

our young people over and over again. And then, amazingly, we punish the very individualism we have attempted to foster.

We could certainly berate American society much more for this strange and nonsensical trait. But the comment made by the student turned away from college because his hair and moustache were too long says it better than we ever could.

That student — who earned nearly all A's last semester — noted that such regulations would have permitted Hitler to attend Chadron State but would have barred Mark Twain from attending.

David vs. Goliath

according to an analysis of the book's contents on the inside of its own cover. As you mentally join the caravan of those heading west near Nebraska City and travel along with men and women seeking their fortune nearer the sunset, it becomes increasingly difficult to lay the book aside.

Mattes notes that The Trapper's Trail, the Oregon Trail, the Council Bluffs Road, the California Road, the Pony Express route, and the military road from Fort Leavenworth to Fort Laramie — all converged in the broad valley of the Platte, forming what he calls a kind of superhighway.

The writer explains how the word "Platte" is the French word for "flat" and an honest translation by French explorers of "Nebraska." Mattes leaves no stones unturned in providing the reader with abundant information to assist the mind's eye in drawing a reasonable likeness of events occurring on Nebraska soil in yesterday.

Clothing styles for different occasions, religious practices on the trail, character sketches, virtues of a camp fire, the essential mid-day halt called "nooning," burning buffalo chips, scenery, abandoning equipment, Indian attacks, cooking, crime and quick trials on the trail, disease and death, weather, stampedes, and people turning back from the trip are all described in fascinating verbal color by author Mattes as he uses quotations from original diaries and documents. The reader, if acquainted with Nebraska's geography at all, may find it easy to follow the trail Mattes traces across the plains on a caravan of descriptive paragraphs. Chapters of his book are not unlike covered wagons carrying a cargo of word pictures. Each link with the others making up a wagon train that travels across Nebraska from cover to cover.

Though the book costs $7.95, it is well worth saving those extra pennies, nickels and dimes for awhile in order to have it in your home library. Your teenagers will not only find it of interest but may use it as a source book related to school studies. Nebraska has a history filled with action, glamour, suffering, struggle and progress.

Other states probably also have historical backgrounds of equal interest, but if one lives here in Nebraska you'll get a new thrill and feeling of pride as you travel from page to page of "The Great Platte River Road."

Don't plan on reading the book hurriedly. It has a total of 521 pages of factual history, not fictional, and another 48 pages of bibliography. It is a book with more plot, characterization, adventure and drama than you'll see on the television in a week. What is more, it is about the state you live in and of which you may be rightfully proud.

Author Merrill J. Mattes has been an employee of the National Park Service for 35 years. Beginning in 1935 he arrived in Nebraska as the first full-time Superintendent of the Scotts Bluff National Monument. In 1946 he was transferred to the Midwest Regional Office of the National Park Service in Omaha where for 20 years he served as regional historian. He is presently with the National Park Service in San Francisco. "The Great Platte River Road" is his third book on western history.

Dr. Lyle Seymour of Wayne State College was master of ceremonies at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet Monday night in the city auditorium. Among other comments he made during the course of his duties at the head table was one regarding Wayne. It was a good statement, the kind that lingers in one's mind. He noted that Wayne may be "small on the outside but large on the inside." Material like that has the quality and durability of lasting a long time. If those of us living here do not boost our community, who will? We don't know whether or not the statement was original with the master of ceremonies, but we sure liked it. We hope to see the businessmen, college men, high school students, college students, men, women, boys and girls of all ages living in Wayne use 1970 as a year to "boost the best" ... Wayne.

If Wayne isn't the best, and we're living here, that alone should tell us something! By

News of Note around Northeast Nebraska

The sheriff of Cuming County says he believes that vandalism done to a Cuming County Public Power substation near West Point is related to the strike at Iowa Beef Packers at Dakota City.

The damage was done by high-powered rifle bullets and caused a power outage to several hundred rural customers. That marks the second time the substation has been damaged in the past three months. In October a transformer was dynamited and other transformers drained of oil to make them inoperative. Damage then amounted to over $2,000.

Ten bullets were fired into the substation, nine hitting the regulators and another striking the chain link fence surrounding the substation.

Substations in the Dakota City area have suffered similar damage.

About 200 farmers are expected to turn out for the second annual corn and soybean clinic scheduled for the Madison city auditorium on Feb. 12. The clinic will run from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The clinic, which is sponsored by seven national companies, is being held to orientate farmers on the newest methods from planting to harvesting. Main subjects scheduled for discussion during the day include insecticides and herbicides, seed fertilizer, irrigation and new harvesting methods.

Sale barns and packing houses in northeast Nebraska and northwestern Iowa have been alerted to watch for between 17 and 20 head of butcher hogs which were stolen from the Bill Fluett farm northwest of Ponca about two weeks ago.

The hogs weighed between 200 and 250 pounds and were apparently hauled away in a pickup farm about a half mile from the Fluett farm home.

A $300 scholarship will be awarded by the Burt County Public Power District to a senior high school boy who wishes to enroll in a trade school. The scholarship, which will be paid at the rate of $75 per quarter for four school quarters, everyone and every organization in town unitedly working to promote the "Wayne-Way" of life, there just couldn't be any place else more enjoyable to live. Soil maps are available at the Soil Conservation Service offices in Wakefield. The maps, available to any land owner or operator without charge, are valuable to today's farmers because most of the fertilizer being used is closely tied to the soil type. Farmers can use the map as a guide when collecting soil samples for fertilizer analysis.

Nearly 50 people from South Sioux City and the surrounding area will take part in an "enrichment program" at St. Michael's Parochial School in South Sioux, according to a story in Thursday's issue of the South Sioux City Star.

The people will serve as guest lecturers in order to expand the students' horizons and to combat the usual mid-year doldrums, school officials note.

Some of the subjects to be covered during the week include music, photography, medicine, Negro history, Viet Nam, journalism, painting and sketching, biology, city government and sports.

The school board at West Point is standing by its guns. It voted last week to continue its lawsuit testing the constitutionality of the Nebraska statute which requires a 55 per cent majority of favorable votes on a school bond issue.

The school board, arguing the statute is unconstitutional because it violates the one-man, one-vote principle, has accepted an offer by the Nebraska State Education Association to provide the legal assistance and to pay the costs of the suit.

The test case will move through the district court channels before being heard by the state supreme court. This is necessary because the board has issued an order restraining it from going ahead with the bond issue. The board had planned on issuing the bonds as a means of bringing the issue directly before the State Supreme Court.

A Lot of Things Are Right

A national magazine captioned a gloomy editorial in one of its issues a few months ago, "Wherever We Look, Something's Wrong." Perhaps it was a confession or maybe just a comment, but though there are many things wrong in the world today, there are also a lot of things that are right.

We wonder if too much of the communication via television and the press isn't continuing to use an outdated, self-defeating journalistic theory that bad news gets readers and viewers while good news turns them off?

As one reporter said not long ago, the mirror which much of the media holds up to the nation has so many built-in distortions that the reflection is almost constantly out of focus, presenting a false image of America in which nearly everything is wrong wherever you look.

This isn't telling it like it is; it is telling it like it isn't. News sources race to see if they can be the first with the worst while good news is often buried in small items inside a paper.

Don't be blinded by those news projectionists who insist upon man-in-mirrors, who overlook thousands of well-grounded college people on their way to the top only to focus national attention on a few rabble rousers.

There are many things that are right. The majority of citizens do obey the law and support the police in their work; fine schools are turning out intelligent youths; great things are happening in the world of science; and new movements are in action attempting to make religion relevant.

Following is an illustration of one of the things that is right. The Athletes in Action wrestling team will be wrestling Wayne State College grapplers on the evening of Feb. 4 in the WSC gym.

Who are the Athletes in Action? They are a team of ten men from a larger group of 1,800 who are dedicated to making a positive impact for good in the United States and the world. American Athletes in Action is part of the campus division of Campus Crusade for Christ International, an interdenominational movement designed to present Jesus Christ to the world and to bring America back to a sincere faith in the Christian principles upon which it was founded.

The members of the Athletes in Action wrestling team are concerned about the moral, spiritual and social problems evident among Americans. As a result they are devoted to presenting how individuals can solve their problems by faith. They will be sharing what they believe to be the answer to life at their athletic performances.

The athletes are on tour of universities and colleges. After appearing in Wayne Feb. 4 they will wrestle against the University of Nebraska at Omaha on Feb. 5.

To hear and see young people engaged in doing something toward betterment of the world is not unusual, but such constructive activity seldom makes the front page, but they go ahead anyway.

There is a lot that is right in the world. —MMW.

rather than just "Wayne City School" as in previous issues. We congratulate Claes Vogel on the letter he sent to The Herald a short time ago. We, too, often wondered why "Carroll" wasn't used as part of the name for the school.

Maybe the school board has now agreed that the school should be called Wayne-Carroll or Carroll-Wayne.

JUST WRIGHT

by Merlin Wright

Allow me to take a few minutes of your time to tell you something of a new book capable of keeping you spellbound for hours of fine, factual entertainment. Published by the Nebraska State Historical Society and written by Merrill J. Mattes, "The Great Platte River Road" is "must" reading for anyone interested in the great plains which came to be known as Nebraska.

In a research project extending over two decades, haunting libraries from Illinois to California, as well as following the old trails, M. J. Mattes has consulted over 700 original overland journals. This monumental work is based largely on these contemporary sources, and wherever possible the fresh original language of emigrants, soldiers, foreign observers and other travelers has been utilized.

Although original maps, sketches and photographs in the book will catch your eye, author Mattes allows the reader, via the magic of his pen, to hear the shouting voices that ring out across the prairie as a wagon train heads west following alongside the Platte River in the middle of the nineteenth century. Wagon wheels thrifty for grease sound off in the reader's ear as one is permitted to relive both heartening and harrowing experiences occurring more than 100 years ago.

Great Platte River Road is a study in depth of border towns, trail routes, river crossings, Indian encounters, stage stations, military posts and the famous North Platte Valley landmarks,

'Psyched-Up' Dragons Scare Bears

"We knew they would be psyched up for us," Coach Larry Moore said after his Laurel Bears sneaked out a 69-68 win over Madison Friday night.

Madison 23 14 17 14 -- 68
Laurel 11 26 12 20 -- 69

The Bears' Steve Erwin, after watching George Schroeder carry the scoring duties in the second quarter and Rod Erwin in the third quarter, put together a fine final eight minutes of action, coming up with 12 of his 23 points to spark Laurel into a six-point lead over the hosts at one point.

Moore, who will be forced to send his crew against his assistant of last year, Al Boelter, when O'Neill comes to Laurel Friday night, said he gave all credit to his players in pulling off the victory.

Winside Tourney Set

Six schools from northeast Nebraska will put their wrestling pride on the line this week at Winside High School during that school's invitational wrestling tournament.

The tournament, scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday, will pit grapplers from the host school, Leigh, Stanton, Clearwater, Niobrara and Howells. The tournament will begin at six o'clock.

Probably the most important statistic in the game was Laurel's excellent shooting at the free throw line. The Bears hit 13 of 16 attempts for 81 per cent, considerably better than Madison's eight of 12 for 67 per cent.

Leading retriever during the night's action was Steve Erwin. That 6-6 junior pulled down 17 rebounds.

Turnovers were more numerous for the Laurel squad in Friday's game than they have been for several contests, Moore noted. The Bears gave up the ball on errors a total of 12 times.

Also turning in a respectable performance in that squeaker was Laurel's Paul McCoy. Although he didn't see action until the second period, McCoy, a 5-10 junior, dumped in eight of his 10 points within eight minutes, helping keep the Bears in the game in the second period.

Leading scorers for Madison were Dave Wehrle with 23 counters, Rick Rotherham with 18 and Gary Rakowsky with 15.

The accident occurred west of Ponca on Highway 12 when the three-axle rig was being home from a sports meeting in Sioux City.

Nelson, a 1962 graduate of Newman Grove High School, received his undergraduate degree from John F. Kennedy College in Wahoo.

Replacing Newcastle in the tournament was Homer.

Wildcats Win Over Randolph, 66-55, Friday

The Winside Wildcats, playing another near perfect game, downed Randolph High, 66-55, in a Lewis and Clark Conference clash Friday night.

The Wildcats relied on the balanced scoring efforts of Dave Witt, Scott Duerling and Doug Deck as they turned a 16-16 tie at the first quarter break into a 30-25 edge at intermission.

Coach Jim Winch, in his first year at Winside, singled out the few turnovers of the Wildcats in Friday's game.

Winch and his Wildcats, 5-5 after Friday's win, were scheduled to go up against Wynot at Hartington Saturday night.

Winch was able to get over that .500 mark for the first time this year if the Wildcats continue to show the improvement which he has noticed throughout the year.

Sparkling in Friday's contest was Winside's Dave Witt. A 6-1 senior, he hit a season-high for himself when he came up with 24 points.

The other two losses for the Trojans have come at the hands of Tekamah and Oakland-Craig.

Friday's defeat came as the result of one of the poorest showings turned in by the Trojans this season.

'Cats Turn Tables on Peru

The first 10 seconds set the tempo as Wayne State's basketball Wildcats took control over Peru State Friday.

Dean Elorson swished a fielder in the early seconds, and half a minute later Paul Emanuel added a three-pointer for a 5-0 lead.

While the game was a long way from won, the first minute proved typical of Wayne mastery which finally forged a 79-51 verdict.

The Wildcats dominated the boards with 64 rebounds to Peru's 45.

Next on Wayne's schedule is Hastings, Tuesday night at Hastings, and that likely will pose Wayne's toughest remaining assignment.

The girls knocked off Stanton, 15-0 and then sneaked by Rosalie, 15-7, 12-15 and 15-8.

Helgren, Cook Lead Devils To Season's Third Victory

The Wayne Blue Devils chalked up their third cage victory of the season as they crushed the Neligh Warriors, 94-45, Friday in a road game.

Wayne's game tactics were to use a full-court press with a man-to-man defense and a deliberate fast-breaking offense. Both proved successful as the Blue Devils forced the Warriors into 36 turnovers and a poor 30 per cent accuracy from the field. Meanwhile, Wayne was charged with only 18 turnovers and hit a warm 48 per cent from the field. The Blue Devils also hit 61 per cent of their free throws compared to the Warriors' 42 per cent.

Senior guard Randy Helgren and junior guard Rod Cook put the fire in the Blue Devils' offense, scoring 26 and 18 points respectively. Helgren connected fourth quarters as they put 48 more points on the scoreboard. Neligh could manage only seven field goals the second half while Wayne produced 20.

With the victory almost certain Coach Nelson started clearing his bench with three minutes remaining in the third stanza and the middle of the fourth quarter had all his reserves seeing action. Thirteen of 14 hit the scoring column.

Backing Helgren and Cook in scoring were Ted Armbruster with 11 points, Don Mau with nine, Mike Creighton with eight and Mike Biltoff with six. Les Echtenkamp had four points, Doug Sturm three, Todd Bornhoft, Dick Tietgen, Lonnie Biltoff and Dan Sutherland had two each and Terry Ellis had one.

Armbruster was Wayne's leading rebounder with 11 retrieves. He was followed by Helgren and Ellis with eight each, Mau with seven and Sutherland with five.

Despite ball control problems and a cool night from the field, Wayne's reserves won their game, 68-55.

Wayne had 31 turnovers and hit only 30 per cent from the field, but Wayne never trailed in the game as they led 21-10, 39-28 and 51-45 at the quarter breaks.

Leading the reserves to their victory were Kyle Willis and Rod Cook with 22 and 17 points respectively. They were followed by Doug Sturm with nine, Steve Petersen with eight, Scott Berning with three, Lonnie Biltoff with two and Scott Nieman with one.

Supplying the muscle under the boards were Willis with 20 rebounds, Sturm with 16, Petersen with 14 and Biltoff with 10.

Wayne's next game is at home Friday as they entertain the Pierce Blue Jays.

Coming in close behind him was Tim Robinson with a 21.6 average, followed in third place by Sid Hillier with a 19.1 average. Rounding out the top five scorers over the season were Lynn Lessmann and Larlan Freese, both with an 18.6 average.

Ponca Sweeps Tournament at Allen; Hosts Must Settle for 4th Position

Ponca, one of the strongest Class C basketball teams in northeast Nebraska, swept to championship honors in the two-day Newcastle Invitational Tournament last week.

The Indians knocked off Emerson Sacred Heart with little trouble in Thursday's opening round, 80-58, then came back to hand Homer a 47-41 setback in Friday's finals.

Allen—host for the tournament after it was moved from Newcastle following Thursday's death of the Newcastle basketball coach—came in fourth in the tourney, taking a 52-50 loss at the hands of Homer Thursday and a 74-62 loss at the hands of Emerson Saturday.

The Newcastle basketball coach, Mike Nelson, was killed in a one-car accident a few miles west of Ponca on Highway 12 early Thursday morning. He had attended a sports meeting in Sioux City Wednesday night.

Ponca's scoring trio of Steve Forney, Jeff Knerl and Wayne Morrow led the Indians to their Homer's Randy Miller, a 6-5 cager, almost single-handedly defeated Allen in the game Thursday evening. He pumped in 31 points, high performance for the tourney, as the Allen defense was record for the year and in a tie with Team V for runner-up honors in the league. Tied for fourth and fifth positions with 4-6 records were Teams II and VI. Team IV had full grass on the cellar position with a lackluster 2-8 record.

Major contributors to Team I's win Wednesday night were Lessmann with 20 points and Overlin and Lintz with 17 each. Adding six to the total was Dick Hammer, while Jim Keating and Ted Bahe both came up with an important point each late in the contest.

Scoring for Team III were Ron Dalton with 19, John Richards and Mark Robinson with 11 each, Bill Wylie with 10 and Tom Bertsch with nine.

Team V moved into a tie for second place honors by knocking off Team II, 66-58. Leading the way to that win were Don Kramer and Dick Nelson. Kramer hit a season high for himself when he canned 26 points; Nelson, the league's highest scorer, came up with 24. Also scoring for the winners were John Rebersdorf with 11 and Bill Lub-berstedt with five.

Darrell Doeschler, high scorer for the losing team, also turned in a season high effort during the evening with 16 points: Also in double figures were Ken Dahl and John Matson, 13 each, followed by Bill Carlson with six and Wayne Wessel with two.

Sid Hillier's 24-point effort—half coming from 15 attempts at the charity line—sparked Team VI to a 56-46 win over Team IV. Helping Hillier with the scoring chores were Don Johnson with 13, Grant Halsne with eight and Larry Test and Brent Lessmann with four each.

Kleth Tietgen was the third man that night to hit a season high for himself when he pumped in 22 points for the losing squad. Also hitting were Jack Manske with 13, Wayne Magdanz with seven and Green with four.

on 10 of 21 shots from the field for 47 per cent; Cook burned the nets as he hit 9 of 13 attempts from the floor for 69 per cent. Helgren scored 19 of his 26 points during the first half while Cook tallied all his points in the third and fourth quarters.

Both teams opened the game with presses, but the Warriors' was in vain as they couldn't halt the Blue Devils. Wayne had a seven-point lead after two minutes of play, 9-2, built that to 11 points by the quarter's end, 19-8, as the Warriors made 11 miscues and hit a slim 22 per cent from the field.

Wayne intensified the tempo of the game in the second period, repeatedly fast-breaking with the ball. Wayne hit 53 per cent from the field during the second quarter as the visitors were getting easy lay-ups as the result of some fine ball handling. By intermission the Blue Devils had a 22 point lead, 46-24.

The Blue Devils did little to let up the pressure in the third and GETTING THE SQUEEZE is Blue Devil Randy Helgren as he drove in for this lay-up against Neligh Friday night. Helgren scored a three-point play, making the basket and getting a free shot as the result of being fouled. Wayne crushed the Warriors, 94-45.

IBP Head Challenges Livestock Men

The Nebraska-Iowa area has a greater potential for expanded beef production than the Texas area, Jerry Frankl, vice-president of Iowa Beef Packers, told northeast Nebraska livestock feeders last week.

Nebraska Livestock Feeders Associations echoed Frankl's opinion of Nebraska's beef producing potential by reporting plans to erect meat promotional billboards and to organize a "check-off" plan to secure finances for livestock research and for promotion of meat.

Proper Cooking Key to Feeding Raw Soybeans

"Economics and Value of Cooking Raw Soybeans," a topic of intense interest in swine circles, will be discussed by Dr. E. R. Peo, University of Nebraska swine nutritionist, at Thursday's Area Swine Day at Laurel.

cooked whole soybeans are nutritionally equal or superior to regular soybean meal for swine.

If the bean is not heated sufficiently, the antigrain factor is still active, but if heated too much, protein (amino acid) digestibility and availability are affected and gains and feed conversion are reduced.

Research conducted in Canada, Florida and Arkansas indicates that gains are about the same for pigs fed on cooked whole soybeans as for those fed soybean meal.

However, feed conversion is usually improved up to six percent with the cooked whole bean, Dr. Peo said.

Thus, whether or not a producer can afford to feed whole soybeans to swine is dependent on these factors: -Feed efficiency-must be improved.

-Location-proximity to a soybean crushing plant. -Cost of cooking beans-varies with the cost of the equipment and the size of the operation.

Although "properly cooked" soybeans are food feed for swine, Dr. Peo emphasized that economic considerations need careful appraisal before venturing into on-the-farm processing of soybeans. To date, packer discrimination toward possibly "soft" carcasses produced with whole soybeans has not been and should not become a problem if the level of whole beans fed is restricted to the amount needed to meet the pig's protein requirement.
