Forged Checks Net Wayne Man More Than $50

Wayne police were notified Saturday of an individual who has been signing checks on a bank at Laurel, forging the name of a Laurel resident, and has cashed more than $50 worth of checks in Wayne at several places of business.

Bank personnel at Laurel noticed the forger and notified the man whose name was being forged.

An accident occurred around 10:30 p.m. Saturday in the 100 block on West Second Street when a 1967 Chevrolet driven by Tom Cyza of Alliance struck the rear end of a 1969 Oldsmobile driven by Kenneth Whorlow. Whorlow was pulling into a parking stall on the north side of the State National Bank at the time, according to police.

Sunday, officers were informed that a battery was stolen from a car parked behind Kugler Appliances.

Around 10:05 p.m. Monday, a 1968 Chevrolet driven by Mrs. Howard Wacker of Wayne was northbound on Main Street and stopped for a traffic signal at Second and Main. Her auto was struck in the rear, according to police, by a 1970 Ford driven by Larry Jensen of Wayne.

Two Wayne Men Honored for Service To Roads Department

Two Wayne residents - Earl F. Echtenkamp and Clifford T. Sherlock - were honored with their service and certificates for 10 years of service with the Nebraska Department of Roads.

The employees received the pins and certificates in a ceremony early last week. Making the presentations was George F. Koester Jr., division engineer at Norfolk.

The 19 employees recognized by District III were among some 126 employees to be so honored by the Department for 10 years or more of service.

Echtenkamp works in the construction division in Wayne as an engineering aide. A native of Wayne, he started his career with the Department on Sept. 27, 1959. Sherlock works in Wayne as a maintenance employee. He started his career on Sept. 3, 1959. A native of Emerson, he is married and has two children.

Building Adds New Look to Campus

Wayne State College campus has a new 1.75 million dollar look since the recent completion of the Ralph M. Carlhart Science Hall, named for the late Ralph M. Carlhart, former member of the State College Governing Board and a prominent Wayne business man.

In this first of several articles concerning the new four-story structure, with Dr. Irvin Brandt as guide, we are going to take a brief verbal tour of the building. Please join us. Here is the front door, let's go in.

Immediately upon entering the building we notice the simple, straight architectural lines of exterior beauty are carried into the interior. Large but not huge, the structure which houses the departments of biology, chemistry, earth science, mathematics and physics, not only has considerable eye appeal, but displays a built-in efficiency.

"Dr. Brandt, out of the total space of 66,000 square feet in the building, how much of that area has been assigned to offices and instructional programs?" This is our question and our guide is quick to reply. "Thirty-six thousand square feet is assigned to office and instructional programs. Of the 36,000 square feet, 22,000 square feet are designed to laboratory and independent research areas. Thus, approximately 65 per cent of all the assignable space is given to laboratory and independent work areas.

Five lecture rooms, each of which can accommodate 36 students, utilize an area of 3,500 square feet.

"As we continue opening and closing doors while looking into various rooms, Dr. Brandt informs us that "All laboratories are built with a maximum 24-pupil size. In the complex there are a total of 22 laboratories, five of which are physics laboratories, two earth science laboratories and six chemistry laboratories. There are 33 faculty offices.

For the laboratory science faculty, there are research areas immediately behind each two faculty offices. The research areas are to serve independent study students, and other upper division students who will be involved with major and minor science programs."

"Dr. Brandt," we ask, "could you give us a brief description of the departments and areas on each floor, beginning with the basement?"

Our guide is ready for our question and replies, "In the basement area is the Fred G. Dale Planetarium which houses a Spitz Model A4RPY projector within a 30-foot dome. The planetarium will contribute immensely to the benefit of the earth science program at Wayne State College. Also, the planetarium will be available for public use and it is the intent of the School of Science and Technology to see BUILDING, page 8

Local Group Seeking Better Bus Service For Area Residents

The transportation committee of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce is attempting to set up a meeting with a representative of the Arrow Stage Lines office in Wayne to discuss the recent curtailing of bus service to Wayne.

The Norfolk office manager told the committee in a letter that he would be happy to meet with the group to discuss the subject.

He noted that the bus firm has asked for permission from the Nebraska Railway Commission to discontinue its daily run between Pilger, Wayne and Hartington because of lack of enough passengers to make it profitable.

The bus company has devised a new schedule for service between Norfolk, Wayne and Sioux City which will go into effect next Monday. That schedule lists a bus leaving Wayne at 7:50 a.m. and arriving in Sioux City at 9:15 a.m. daily except Sundays and holidays. A bus will leave Sioux City at 4:45 p.m. and arrive in Wayne at 6 p.m. and will arrive in Norfolk at 6:45 p.m. Available on Sundays and holidays is a bus which leaves Wayne at 6:15 p.m. and goes to Wisner, offering passengers connections on those days to Omaha.

The Chamber committee has noted that it is concerned about having adequate transportation available so people can get to and from Wayne with the smallest amount of trouble. The group has filed a letter of protest against the halting of part of the bus service to Wayne.

Wakefield Man To Seek Office Of Commissioner

A rural resident who has farmed in Wayne County south of Wakefield since 1935 filed Tuesday morning as a candidate for one of two offices of county commissioner in the primary election May 12.

Joe Wilson, 61, complied with filing procedures in the county clerk's office and said he will campaign for county commissioner in the first district as a Republican.

Wilson was born in Valley County, near Gordon, and was associated with road construction in Hall County for six years around Grand Island. He came to Wayne County in 1934.

He and his wife, Alvena, have one son, Melvin, who also farms south of Wakefield.

Candidate Wilson noted that in order to have good schools it is necessary to have good roads in order to get the youngsters to school. He indicated that a part of his campaign will be based on road maintenance and getting the utmost out of each tax dollar.

With 11 days left in which to file for office, three men, Floyd Burd of Winslow, Roy Davis of See WAKEFIELD, page 8

Deadline Friday For Assessment, Auto Licenses

Only a few hours remain for Wayne County residents to be assessed and to purchase auto license tags at the courthouse before the March 1 deadline.

Courthouse offices will be open at regular hours Friday. Although the courthouse is not normally open on Saturday, Leona Bahde said she will have the treasurer's office open this Saturday morning from 8:30 a.m. until noon as an accommodation for those who want to come in and renew their licenses. All other offices in the courthouse will be closed Saturday.

Treasurer Bahde emphasizes that the applicant must bring his or her auto tax statement and certificate in order to obtain the new tags.

Assessor Larry Arrp will be doing business as usual during regular hours Friday. It is the final day for anyone to be assessed without facing possible penalty. His office will be closed Saturday, as will all the offices with the exception being the office of treasurer.

A program has been planned at the Hoskins United Methodist Church with members of the Peace United Church of Christ participating. Theme of the 7:30 p.m. service is "Take Courage."

Pastor John E. Saxton, Mrs. Erwin Ulrich, president of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Hoskins United Methodist Church, and Mrs. Fred Brunels, president of the Dorcas Society of Peace United Church of Christ, are in charge.

Ball Park, Scout Cabin 'Not for Sale'

Signatures of just over 600 people on a petition proved to the city council that a good number of people in Wayne want the city to have no part in doing away with the city baseball park and the Girl Scout cabin along East Fourth St.

That petition—and the presence of over a dozen people at Tuesday's council meeting—prompted the council to vote unanimously to not offer the land for sale at this time.

At its meeting on Feb. 10, the council had been asked by the Wayne housing authority to come up with a fair selling price for that land since the group had decided on it as the best site for the proposed elderly housing development. The housing authority wanted that dollar figure in hand when the representative of the Housing and Urban Development office in Chicago arrived in Wayne to look over the possible sites for the development.

Shortly after the story about using the ball park and the cabin site for the possible development appeared in The Wayne

Herald, several women, among them Mrs. Ivan Creighton and Mrs. Wayne Tietgen, began a drive to get names on a petition opposing using the land for anything but park and recreation space.

In less than one week, the women had obtained several hundred names.

The legal advisor for the housing authority told the city council that the authority would be willing to omit this area as a possible site for the development if a large number of people in the city were opposed to it. He noted that the housing authority felt that this site is the best one in the city.

There is apparently a question about whether the city can even use the land for anything but park and recreation, according to Mrs. Tietgen. She presented information concerning the original sale of the land which revealed that the seller meant it to be used only for recreation purposes. Also, she told the council it was through a great deal of volunteer labor that the ball park was built and the council would be overreaching its bounds if it decided to use the park for a housing development.

The Wayne recreation board, the group which oversees the recreation programs in the city, was told by Wilmer Marra, president of the council, that the council would first notify it before any vote was taken on the question of selling this land. That group, he said, would have a voice in whether the land could be sold. "You don't have to worry about the council selling our youth shorts," said Marra.

Council decided later in the See BALL PARK, page 8

215 WSC 'Teachers' Begin Duties

The seven-week period of directed teaching began Monday for 215 Wayne State seniors. Assigned to schools in 48 towns, they will devote the rest of the winter term to practicing the art of teaching what they have learned.

Nine of them are teaching in the Wayne schools.

Each will work under the direction of selected supervising teachers, who at term's end will report on their proficiency. And during the term, each student teacher will be observed at least three and generally four times by members of the Wayne State faculty, one from the school of education and one from the student's major field.

Dr. Morris Anderson, WSC director of student teaching, said the seniors will perform most of the classroom duties of the regular teachers, plus many extra-curricular activities.

Students assigned to Wayne High School are Marvin Steffen, Fordyce, Gene Wachholtz, Plainville; Marc Sommerfeld, Odessa; Mike Anderson, Oakland; Wayne elementary school: Charlene Wendt Irish, Ralston; Janice Wrange, Newcastle; DeLores Paulson, Wakefield; Arlyn

Charmi Milligan Enters Hospital In Cincinnati

Charmi Milligan, 7, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Milligan of Carroll who was severely burned two years ago Feb. 5 when her nightgown caught fire, has returned to the Shriners Burns Institute in Cincinnati, Ohio, for additional skin grafting. She and her mother left for Ohio Friday.

Charmi is having skin grafting on her collar bone and left arm. Mrs. Milligan called home Saturday evening saying Charmi was quite lonesome. Anyone wishing to send a card is encouraged to send it early as it is necessary for them to be sterilized two days before Charmi may have them.

The other Milligan children, Marci, Shelley, Cheri and Christine are staying in the Ron Billheimer and Jess Milligan homes. Charmi's address is Shriners Burns Institute, 202 Goodman Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Salary Committee For Wayne Teachers To Meet with Board

The salary committee which has been negotiating on contracts with the Wayne-Carroll school board has asked to meet with the board members Monday night to discuss the proposal the board offered following the meeting earlier this week.

The school board decided to offer the teachers a salary schedule which contains a $6,300 base and increments of four per cent for each year of experience and four and a half per cent for each additional step on the preparation ladder.

In something of an unexpected move, the board decided to raise the extra duty pay for department chairmen to the top of the schedule, making that job equivalent to those held by the head basketball and football coaches. Under the present extra duty schedule, department chairmen are paid on the next to lowest step and earn the same as those teachers who take on sponsorship of dramatics or the Future Homemakers of America club.

The rest of the extra duty salary schedule was accepted as proposed by the salary committee when the two groups met last week.

The school board agreed that there would have to be increases in both the base salary and the increments paid for teaching experience and education if the See SALARY, page 8

Kiwanis Holds Banquet Marking 47th Birthday

Wayne Kiwanis Club members, accompanied by their Kweens, held their 47th Anniversary Banquet Sunday night in the Student Center on the Wayne State College campus with about 125 present. Kenneth Olds gave the invocation.

Kiwanians and their Kweens attending from out-of-town clubs came from Fremont, South Sioux City, West Point, Albion and Norfolk.

Kent Hall, club president, introduced guests. George Phelps, club secretary, presented three Wayne Kiwanians with perfect attendance pins. Dale Gutschall received a five-year pin. Dr. George John was awarded a two-year pin and Don Wightman was presented a one-year pin.

In behalf of the South Sioux City Kiwanis Club, Roy Broxhill presented Wayne Kiwanians with a traveling inter-club lectern. The local club will keep the lectern until passing it on to another club in the area.

Dr. Orvid Owens introduced Circle K members present. The Circle K Club is the college auxiliary organization with 16 members. The banquet also marked the second anniversary of Circle K of which Mark Robinson and Doug Schreurs are charter members.

Red, white and blue carnations, along with miniature American and Kiwanian flags, were table decorations. President Hall presented the headtable floral centerpiece to Mrs. Walter Ingram and noted her husband's contribution to the club prior to his death last year. Table carnations were given to each of the ladies present.

Dick Manley, club program chairman, introduced the 30-voice Wayne State College Chamber Choir, directed by Dr. Jacques Norman. The group entertained with a variety of musical selections, concluding with "Aquarius, Let the Sunshine In."

Kiwanis Club directors are Dr. Freeman Decker, Dr. Orvid Owens, Dale Gutschall, Richard Keidel, Carl Lentz, George Phelps and Dan Sherry.

Getting into the car and driving back to the office, we are amazed as to how educational facilities have advanced in just 20 years. It is really great that such a beautiful campus and modern buildings can be a part of the community which we call home.

In the near future we plan to further explain the manner in which the new science facility will assist the departments of mathematics, biology, chemistry, earth science and physics in their provision of an enriched instructional program.

Wakefield —

Winside and LeRoy Wichter of Hoskins, have filed as candidates for the office of third district commissioner. John Surber and Joe Wilson have both filed for the office of first district commissioner. George Stolz of Carroll is second district commissioner and the office is not up for election this year.

school system wanted to remain competitive with the other systems in this part of the state. The proposal finally agreed upon was slightly lower than what the teachers had asked for last week. The teachers are seeking a base of $6,400 and increments of five per cent for both experience and preparation.

Total cost of the teachers' request, according to the salary committee, would be approximately $85,000. Total cost of the proposal offered by the school board, according to figures made available by Superintendent Francis Haun, would be somewhere over $56,000.

evening to accept a lease agreement for a new billing machine for the city clerk's office. The machine, which would replace a fairly new but unsatisfactory machine now being used under a lease agreement, would cost about $19,000.

Opened during the evening were two bids on a new high velocity sewer cleaner. Those bids, which will be reviewed by committee before a decision on them is reached, were for $7,950 from a Dallas firm and $8,321 from an Omaha firm.

Council also listened to a resident of the city explain why he thinks something should be done to change the flow of vehicles and students around West Elementary School.

The resident, Andrew Manes, said that the small "T" turn near the school could cause a disaster by causing a pile-up of cars if a tornado or storm ever struck the city and parents clogged the area trying to get their children out of the school.

He said a street should extend from the elementary school west to connect with Oak Drive. That, he said, would avoid any dangerous situation and would also enable the young children to get to school without walking across the undeveloped land between Oak Drive and the school. Several of those children, he told the council, have ended up getting stuck in the mud on their trek across that area.

Vehicles Collide North of Wayne

Two vehicles were involved in a rear-end collision slightly less than two miles north of Wayne on Highway 15 around one o'clock Sunday morning, according to Trooper Tom Nichols of Wakefield who investigated.

Trooper Nichols said Larry Echtenkamp, 32, of rural Wayne, driving a 1968 Chevrolet, pulled out of Fredrickson's Station and was northbound when struck in the rear and left side by a 1969 Pontiac driven by Terry Meyer, 16, of Wayne.

Joe Fresquez, a Wayne State College student, and John Meyer were passengers in the Meyer auto. Fresquez was taken to the Wayne Hospital for overnight observation.

Echtenkamp's wife was a passenger in his vehicle, but neither was injured, according to the investigating officer.

Considerable damage was done to both autos.

More than 40 species of the minnow family inhabit Nebraska waters.

Area Members of Bar Association Meet at Norfolk

Several Wayne residents attended the Ninth Judicial District Bar Association meeting in Norfolk Saturday. The district includes the following counties: Antelope, Madison, Knox, Stanton, Wayne, Pierce, Cumming and Burt.

John Addison, Don Reed, Budd Bornhoff, Kenneth Olds and Mike Eynon were those attending from Wayne.

Senator Roland Luedtke of Lincoln was guest speaker using as his topic a proposed constitutional amendment concerning court reform in Nebraska. The amendment would do away with justice of the peace courts.

Following the executive meeting at 3 p.m., a business meeting was held at four o'clock during which the following officers were elected: Judge Joe Humker of West Point, president; Judge Merritt Warren of Treighton, vice-president; John Lee of Norfolk, secretary and treasurer; Budd Bornhoff of Wayne was elected to the executive committee from Wayne County.

Among other items discussed, but voted down 14-13, was a volunteer legal aid program for the judicial district.

Fire Damages Home

Hoskins volunteer firemen were called to the Bill Helderman home in Hoskins Monday afternoon about 2:30 p.m. to extinguish fire in a wall between the kitchen and living room. Boards and plaster were removed so firemen could get water inside the wall in an attempt to put out the blaze.

Some smoke damage was reported. The building is owned by Fred Kruger of Hoskins and is reportedly covered by insurance.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important part of it...

You may not agree with an editorial but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject...

Should the Public Know?

It is setting a dangerous precedent when public officials on any level, city, county, state or national, assume the prerogative of seeking to control by criticism or innuendo what a citizen should write...

Should the general public of taxpayers know how their funds are being spent? Should the public know the salaries being paid public officials?

Are there some who would like to control the news? Yes. It reminds one of the practice of the devilfish that can squirt out black fluid in order to cloud the water and hide his own motives...

Unhappily, this official desire to censor or control free speech and press grows, because freedom of expression is the one thing that political opportunists fear most.

expression there is no freedom for the individual.

Nearly 11,000 country weekly and smaller daily papers scattered throughout the 50 states of this nation are one of the greatest guarantees of freedom U. S. citizens enjoy.

Just last weekend a high public official would not permit a public speech to be televised reported because the light hurt his eyes.

Certainly this is not an isolated case when public officials have sought to limit their statements to a local area.

Whenever a newsman sees attempts to impinge his motives, he can be almost sure that the critic seeks to control expression.

If you give up cigarettes, you might gain a few pounds.

The plain, unfiltered fact is that people who smoke cigarettes get lung cancer a lot more frequently than nonsmokers.

Wed rather have you stay alive and in good health. Because even if you do gain a few pounds, you'll have the time to take them off.

Will County Court Disappear?

Voters in November will cast ballots on a proposal that could make major changes in the official article of the state constitution.

It means voters will decide in November whether or not to allow the Legislature to change the court system.

Even as there are hearings being conducted across the state by the Nebraska Legislative Council regarding these proposed changes...

Robert Barnett is the executive director of the Nebraska Constitutional Revision Commission...

portedly proposing to eliminate county courts completely.

In other words if Nebraskans should vote in November to permit the Legislature to create county courts on a district level, then the next year the Legislature would get the proposal from the Nebraska Constitutional Revision Commission...

Perhaps there is some need for the making of court changes. It would be strange indeed if there were not, as upgrading programs are needed occasionally in every field of endeavor.

Another subject which was scheduled for discussion at the Norfolk meeting Monday was the possibility of phasing out the office of the county superintendent of schools.

Efficiency is certainly a jewel and no one could object to upgrading any government program, but if the trend continues it is just possible that county government will go to district levels.

What a long look into the future and assuming that the trend toward district level government continues, would there be much of a chance that a district courthouse would be in Wayne?

We're doing a lot of assuming but it is something to think about.

Now Teaching at LHS

Three-student teachers from Wayne State College began their duties at Laurel High School Monday.

The student teachers, who will teach at Laurel until April 9, are Thomas Bertsch in physical education and library, John Lipert in mathematics and Linda Sommerfield in English.

Area secondary school principals met early last week in Norfolk for a second assembly this year to discuss mutual subjects of interest as related to school administration. The first meeting was held in Norfolk Jan. 27.

William Schnoor of Wakefield and Ronald Kramer of Yonkers both attended the meeting which discussed the following: National Honor Society, student council, teacher workload, activity schedules, closed lunch hours and teacher evaluation sheets.

NU Annual Festival
Set for April 17-18

The University of Nebraska's annual Fine Arts Festival for high school students interested in music, speech and drama will be held April 17-18 on the Lincoln city campus.

The festival will not include students interested in art as it has in previous years. Changes also have been made in the speech and dramatic arts section of the festival. In previous years students have presented their own selections in competition with other students for ratings. This year students in each division of speech and drama will meet in general sessions with a staff member who is an expert in that division.

The staff member will discuss techniques and principles of that division. Then several high school students who have won superior ratings in the division at the district contest will present their selections.

The staff member will present a critique on these selections which will be followed by a question and answer period by the audience.

"This will give the young people a chance to learn by observing and listening, rather than competing as they have done at other contests all year long," Dr. Borman said.

The music section of the festival will be organized as it has been in the past.

Leo Wortman Named Exon Campaign Head

Democratic gubernatorial candidate J. J. Exon today announced that Leo Wortman of Wayne has been appointed president of the Exon for Governor Club in Wayne County.

Exon for Governor Clubs are being formed in each county in the state.

The Democratic candidate encouraged those interested in his campaign in this area to contact Mr. Wortman or write directly to Jim Exon, Suite 1970, 2246 "O" Street, Lincoln, Nebraska.

Exon has been carrying on a state-wide campaign based on excessive state appropriations, taxes and spending. He also has been demanding that Governor Norbert Tiemann exercise leadership in Washington on obtaining a better break for agriculture. Exon has assailed the lack of advance feed grain payments, saying a postponement of a few months can hardly be anti-inflationary but will hurt Nebraska farmers without helping the economy of the country.

Recent Rulings Add Exemptions For War Widows

Attorney General Clarence Meyer has ruled that all unmarried widows of war-time veterans are eligible for additional homestead exemptions. To be eligible widows must have been the owner of record on January 1, 1970, and the residence must have been owner occupied on that date.

Widows whose husbands were in receipt of 100% service connected compensation from the VA at time of death are eligible to the 90% exemption. Other widows are entitled to the additional 10% exemption. Date of death of age at time of death has no bearing on eligibility.

Eligible widows should contact Chris Bargholz, Wayne County veterans service officer, located at 108 Main St., Wayne, and complete SDVA Form 34 which is signed by the county service officer and taken to the county assessor's office.

It is also suggested that eligible Veterans over age 70 complete their SDVA Form No. 31 prior to March 15 to qualify for the additional exemption.
