

Area Farmers Warned About 'Soil Additives'

Many Nebraska farmers, particularly those in the northeast section of the state, are being sold costly soil additives and soil conditioners which have no known advantages. That statement comes from University of Nebraska Department of Agronomy officials.

A check with seed and fertilizer dealers in Wayne revealed that some farmers in this area have purchased these soil additives, only to find out later that they were next to worthless. One dealer in the city said that farmers are just throwing away good money in purchasing these products, but too often they don't realize it until it's too late to get their money back. The threat, the dealer said, is present each year.

There are a number of such products being promoted at the present time by those who claim that their fantastic materials will increase germination if applied prior to seeding of crops, the agronomy officials point out.

A soil fertility specialist at the University assured the Lincoln Better Business Bureau recently that "such products will not increase germination. They are tremendously costly and they are not practical for farm fields use." The specialist explained that only under ideal conditions, such as provided in green houses for limited testing purposes, can any of the claimed benefits be obtained.

"Such products cost Nebraska farmers at least $250,000 a year," an NE Agronomy Department publication reports. "Each year," the report continues, "farmers get caught in a tighter economic squeeze between the pressure of high yields and the desire for lower production costs. In their eagerness, some farmers fall prey to the 'Gyp' sold as a soil additive or soil conditioner. Such products are here one year and gone the next. The product sold is usually See FARMERS, page 6."

Chemical Guide Now Available

A 1970 guide for chemicals which control weeds is now available. The circular presents pre-plant, pre-emergence and post-emergence recommendations of herbicides for different crop uses, plus other guidelines.

Extension circular 70-130 includes that information for field crops and lists recommendations for pastures, ranges, forage crops, non-crop areas, lawn and turf weeds, troublesome weed and woody plants, trees and shrubs, orchards and windbreaks, conifers, forest plantations and ornamentals.

The circular also describes the calibration of equipment, with broadcast type sprayers and band sprayers discussed. Granular applicators are also included within the discussion.

Other information concerning methods necessary to prevent buildup in the soil or harmful herbicides and problems encountered by natural occurrences like rainfall are some other areas covered.

Interested persons may contact county Extension agents for a copy of this up-to-date guide on herbicides.

More Licenses Sold This Year Than Last

Wayne County Treasurer Leona Balde reports the sale of 1970 license tags has now reached a total of 5,421, or 67 more than had been sold at this time a year ago.

She said 1,466 of these were sold in the final four and a half days of February. Many Wayne County residents put off getting license tags until the last few days prior to the deadline. Consequently some had to wait in line for an hour or more.

Area Students Earn Speech Ratings

Doug Stanley, Scott Kerl and Tessie Urian earned superior ratings in oral interpretation of drama during the Husker Conference speech contest at Wisner-Pilger Saturday.

The students, all seniors, entered their reading of the play "Red Carnations" in the competition.

Earning excellent ratings from the judges were seniors Jana Reeg and Joan Meyer. Jana, who took part in the oral reading of poetry competition, read several selections from "Spoon River Anthology." Joan earned her excellent mark for her reading of "The Pedestrian" in the oral interpretation of prose competition.

The students, accompanied by speech instructor Mrs. Doris Clatanoff, were the first Wayne High students to enter the contest for several years.

Wayfield High School students also entered the competition and

Food Bills Too High?

Is food a bargain in spite of the high prices a housewife must pay at the grocery store? Or should those food prices be blamed for wrecking family budgets?

One of the area home extension agents at the Northeast Station near Concord asks those questions and attempts to answer them in her column in this issue of the Wayne Herald. Read what she has to say on the subject on the society page.

WHS Pupils To Compete In Testing

Thirty Wakefield High School students will take the National Mathematics Test Tuesday, according to Dennis Crippen, WHS math instructor. He notes the test includes difficult math questions to exclude an abundance of exceptionally high scores.

Crippen said all high school students in the state taking the exam will be in competition with one another. Each school taking the test has a team score which is used to determine the rank of the school. Team scores are figured on the sum of the three highest scores made in a school on the test.

Weather

Area residents have been talking about the dry months of January and February, contrasted with the snow just a year ago. Loud claps of thunder accompanied by a small amount of precipitation early Monday morning has given cause to think March may bring some pleasant spring rains.

Tornadoes were ripped across the southern portion of the United States Tuesday afternoon and evening. We here in northeastern Nebraska do not wish our southern friends any ill will, but we would just as soon they keep the tornadoes down there.

The Wayne area received a total of .19 inches of precipitation Sunday and Monday. Heavy fog covered the area Monday.

World Traveler Here to Speak As Ikes' Guest

Danny Liska, native of Nebraska and veteran world traveler, will be in Wayne March 15 at the city auditorium for a one and a half hour narrated show beginning at two o'clock telling of his adventurous trip from "Alaska to Argentina." The program is sponsored by the local chapter of the Izaak Walton League.

It is a family type show, according to Norris Weible, president of the local Ikes chapter. The Liskas will take their audience with them on a trek from Northern Alaska to the southernmost tip of South America via film and lecture.

In the life-like reality of color film, the audience will share the experience of being the first and only humans to have accomplished this extraordinary feat.

Lacking through steaming jungles, canoeing down uncharted rivers, climbing glaciers and ice-cold mountains and erupting volcanoes, crossing parched deserts, and living with Amazon headhunters, the Liskas recorded the unbelievable on their cameras and lived to tell of it. They made the trip via motorcycle.

Tickets are available, Weible said, in advance from any Ikes member or at the Morning Shopper Advance tickets for adults are one dollar; 75 cents for those in grade or high school. Tickets at the door will be $1.25 for adults and one dollar for students.

No One Injured As Two Cars Hit

Two cars collided on Highway 35 three miles north of Winside Monday afternoon around 3:55 p.m., according to Trooper R. E. Stokes of the Nebraska Safety Patrol who investigated.

Dean Holliday, 23, of Orchard, was southbound in a 1970 Chevrolet. Rodney Deck, 15, of rural Winside, driving a 1961 Ford, was, according to Trooper Stokes, attempting to back onto the highway when the collision occurred. Fog covered the area at the time.

Both drivers were alone in their vehicles and neither reported any injuries. The Holliday auto sustained considerable front-end damage. Damage to the Deck car was confined to the right rear fender.

Gross 1st to File For City Council

The manager of Triangle Finance in Wayne, Pat Gross, filed earlier this week for a position on the city council from the Second Ward in Wayne.

Gross, 29, is a former officer and director of the Wayne Jaycees. He is now holding positions as the treasurer of the Heart Fund, March of Dimes and Multiple Sclerosis drives in the county. A member of the Wayne volunteer fire department, he is on the governing body and is chairman of the finance committee of the Catholic parish in Wayne.

He noted that he feels it important to have somebody run for council who can give a fresh approach to some of the problems facing the city. This new approach will be beneficial to the city, says Gross.

The city council will be almost completely new unless some of the current members up for election decide to file before the March 13 deadline. Going off the council this term but not filed are William Marz, Alan Wittie, Marty Willers and Anton Netherda. Willers and Netherda are the current representatives of the Second Ward, north of Fifth St. and east of Main. Netherda is filling in for Jack Kingston, councilman who resigned in the middle of his term last fall.

Dean Schram, the other school board member whose term expires this year, has said he will not be a candidate for the board again. Like Sandahl, he is in his second term on the board.

Also up for grabs this spring will be the post of mayor for the city, a post currently held See FILE, page 6

Hoskins Man Dies in Crash

A two-car crash on a fog-shrouded highway three and a half miles south of Winside Monday afternoon took the life of a Hoskins man and left his wife and a young man from Newman Grove with serious injuries. The two vehicles hit nearly head-on around three o'clock in the southbound lane of Highway 35, according to Trooper James O'Dell of Norfolk.

Killed instantly was Floyd Jones, 68, of Hoskins, a front-seat passenger in a 1950 Chevrolet driven by his 64-year-old wife, Fern. Their vehicle was southbound, returning to Hoskins after a trip to Wayne.

Driver of the other vehicle, a 1966 Chevrolet, was Harry Fudge, 19, of Newman Grove, who was northbound. Trooper O'Dell, investigating officer, reports that Fudge may have been attempting to pass a car in the heavy fog when in collision with the Jones auto in the southbound lane. No one knows exactly what caused the crash as there were no witnesses and the investigating officer has been unable to question the driver of either vehicle.

Both cars were totally demolished according to Trooper O'Dell who was assisted in the investigation by Don Reed, county attorney; Don Weible, county sheriff; S. C. Thompson, deputy sheriff, and Trooper T. R. Nichols of Wakefield.

A Wayne ambulance was summoned to take Mrs. Jones and the Newman Grove youth to the Wayne Hospital where both were reportedly in serious condition. Fudge was transferred to a hospital in Omaha Tuesday. Mrs. Jones' condition remained serious as of late Tuesday night, according to a hospital spokesman.

The death raised Nebraska's traffic fatality toll for 1970 to 42 compared with 59 at this time a year ago.

Funeral arrangements are being made with services tentatively for Saturday morning at Canby, Minn., for the accident victim who originally came from that area.

Transformer Blamed For Electrical Outage

A burned out transformer is being blamed for the electrical power outage in Wayne Monday.

That outage lasted for about five minutes in some parts of town and about 45 minutes in other parts. It tripped the fire alarm system at Dahl Retirement Center, causing the local volunteer fire department to be called out on a false alarm.

Bill Mellor, line chief at the city light plant, said the outage was apparently caused by a transformer which burned out in a substation which supplies the north portion of the city. That tripped the breakers which cut the circuits in the other parts of town, he noted.

The trouble was a unique situation, Mellor said, since it is very seldom that so many breakers will go off at the same time. It took time to check out the trouble to make sure somebody had not knocked down a power pole and that is why the outage lasted so long in some parts of town, according to Mellor.

Sandahl Enters Race For School Board

Morris Sandahl, salesman at Logan Valley Implement in Wayne, filed Tuesday for another term on the board of education of the Wayne-Carroll school system.

A farmer up to last December, Sandahl is now serving his second three-year term on the school board. The term he has filed for would be for four years.

Sandahl graduated from Wayne High School and attended Wayne State College prior to entering farming. He still lives on his farm west of Wayne. He and his wife have three children in the Wayne school system—Jennifer, a sophomore, Ed, a seventh grader, and John, a senior.

Dean Schram, the other school board member whose term expires this year, has said he will not be a candidate for the board again. Like Sandahl, he is in his second term on the board.

Field Shelling Topic Picked for Coming Meeting

Are you shelling your corn in the field at harvest time? Will you be using this method of harvesting in the next three years?

Field shelling has become the predominant method of harvesting in south central Nebraska and is increasing rapidly in the northeast area according to Cal Ward, Superintendent at the Northeast Station. This trend and the high moisture content of much of the ear corn harvested last fall caused the program committee to select this topic for emphasis at the annual meeting of the Northeast Nebraska Experimental Farm Association in South Sioux City on March 10. The meeting will be at the Paddock Restaurant and will begin at 10 o'clock.

Russell Moomaw will discuss maturity dates as one factor in selecting corn hybrids and George Rehm will discuss fertility practices as related to both yield and maturity. Moomaw and Rehm will also report on weed control and row spacing and plant population research. Wayne Fish See SHELLING, page 6

Consider Salary Offer

The teachers in the Wayne-Carroll public school system were planning on meeting Wednesday evening to consider the latest salary proposal of the board of education.

That proposal, hashed out at a board meeting Monday evening, includes a salary base of $6,300 with increments of four per cent for each year of experience and five per cent for each step up the preparation ladder. Also included is a five per cent increase between the third and fourth year of experience.

West Elementary Open House Slated

Parents of young children and parents-to-be should have special reason to attend the coming open house at West Elementary School in Wayne, scheduled from 7:15 to 9 p.m. Tuesday evening. The public is cordially invited to visit the school during those hours, talk with the teachers and browse about the school.

Principal Richard Metzger said there will be no special demonstrations or guided tours during the open house. Most of the parents are familiar with the school and are welcome to spend the time as they please, he said.

Coffee will be available at the central office during the open house.

Last year the open house attracted about 85 to 90 per cent of the parents of the youngsters in the school. Considering the 310 students, that amounts to somewhere around 275 parents who turned out for the open house.

All 20 teachers will be on duty during the open house.

Parents of youngsters in the Allen school system are being offered the chance to have their children be given the tuberculin test when educational service Unit One makes the service available at the school.

Slips asking for parents to give the school their permission for administering the tests are being sent out by the school.

The testing will be done on May 5 for students in kindergarten through the senior grade. Parents of these Allen students are also being informed through notes that the Educational Unit hopes to make vaccination for three-day measles available this spring as soon as the vaccine is obtained.

A charge of $1.30 would be collected for this measles shot, which would be available to pre-schoolers ages one to five and school children ages five through 12. Parents will be notified prior to the offering of the shots.

Three-day measles, explains Educational Unit Nurse Connie Parrott, are the same as German measles; the red measles are the seven-day or hard measles. They should not be confused, she notes.

Unbelievable Describes 123-73 Demolition of Broncos

That overworked word, unbelievable, really served a purpose Tuesday night in the Wayne State-Hastings basketball spectacle.

Take the score for starters: Wayne 123, Hastings 73.

Consider the circumstances: The site was Hastings College's new gym, filled to capacity of about 3,500, including 250 to 300 fans from Wayne. It was the second game in the Nebraska NAIA District playoff, after Wayne had whipped the Broncos the previous night, 83-72, on the WSC court.

Hastings had demanded a reversal of a district NAIA ruling that Wayne would have the second and, if needed, third game at Wayne, and the national NAIA had told the district to reconsider which team had the better record. Result: the district decided Hastings was the stronger team, therefore by the rules should have the home-court advantage for the playoff finale.

So the Wildcats invaded the Broncos corral, and minute by minute it became more unbelievable what was happening. Even Wayne fans accustomed to the heroics of their Wildcats over three seasons were astonished.

The Cats apparently had decided they would settle—decisively—on the court what NAIA officials had tried to decide on paper.

Wayne dominated all the way. Defensively, the Wildcats stopped Hastings' potent running game, shut off the often accurate Bronco outside shooting, blocked most Bronco drives, broke up plays and passed time and again. Offensively, the Cats penetrated Hastings' zone defense with ease, and their aggressive attack forced 35 Bronco fouls.

By game's end, five Broncos had fouled out, and Wayne had shot 50 free throws, probably an all-time Wayne record.

Understandably, numerous other records fell in the high-scoring spree as Wayne earned its third straight ticket to the NAIA national tournament at Kansas City, Mo., starting Monday.

The 123-point burst erased the Wayne single-game high of 113 against Doane in 1960. Dave Schneider's 37 points were his four-year career high and a season Wayne mark. Also, his 15 field goals were a season high for the team.

Wayne's 50-point first half—Hastings had 39—was a season high, and the second-half 64 may be a WSC record for one half. The 50-point victory spread freshman Jim Merchel, hoisted by teammates, cut down a basket net, the traditional champion trophy. The net at the other end had been claimed seconds earlier by senior Bill Goodwin. Now the Wildcats go to the NAIA national tournament next week.

is the largest ever against a Wayne foe—not counting the 114-16 game back in 1916 against Pierce High School when the college was still playing a few prep teams.

Other records may be revealed in closer study of old statistics.

But the total game is what counts, and Wayne fans, though expecting a tough game and almost prepared for a loss, knew the Wildcats had played their real potential. After all, a record of 70 wins and 12 losses in three seasons was no accident.

Wayne's schedule in the national meet will be announced late Friday.

Tuesday night's first-round game at Wayne provided fans plenty of excitement before Wayne tucked it away, 83-72, with a rocket burst in the last three minutes.

The Wildcats had the upper hand all the way, except for a brief Bronco lead at 45-43, early in the second half. But the visitors kept up the challenge until with 2:50 left, they pulled to a 70-67 deficit.

That's when Wayne defense—hustling all night—really went to work. Several turnovers forced by Wildcat aggressiveness gave the Cats crucial scoring opportunities, and they cashed most of them. Dean Elflon's three-pointer with a minute and a half to go probably broke the Bronco back, lifting Wayne to 77-68.

Paul Emanuel gave the Wayne cause a decisive push with a career-high 26 points, plus 18 rebounds, which set a season team record. Elflon contributed 18 points, Bill Goodwin 12, Jim Merchel 11 to balance the scoring against a stubborn Hastings zone defense.

Last, Not Least Describes Laurel At Season's End

Tenth position on a 10-team list isn't such a poor place to be when those 10 teams are the best ones in the state.

Holding down that bottom rung of the top 10 Class B cage teams in the state in this week's listing by the Omaha World-Herald is the quietest from Laurel High. The Bears tumbled to that spot from No. 7 after a loss to Class C West Point High in the Husker Conference play-off. They fell from third to seventh position following a close win over Class C Crofton earlier in the season.

In spite of several slim victories this season, the Bears have been handling their opponents about as well as any of the other rated teams. Laurel, 20-1 at the end of the season, has been scoring an average of 74.6 points while holding the other teams to an average of 50.9, close to the largest winning margin among the top 10.

Holding down the top spot on the World-Herald's list was Cozad, a 16-0 team going into district action.

The full list of the top 10 teams: Cozad, 16-0; Lexington, 16-2; Fairbury, 16-2; Holdrege, 10-5; Schuyler, 15-2; Omaha Central, 16-2; Seward, 14-3; Genoa, 15-3; Valentine, 16-3; Laurel, 20-1.

The Class B teams across the state moved into district tourney play this week to settle on the eight teams which would earn the right to represent their districts at Lincoln in the state meet next week.

Local Girls Win Trip to 4-State AAU Tournament

Coming up from the loser's bracket, the Wayne women's basketball team reached championship the hard way Sunday in the Midwest AAU Women's Tournament at Omaha.

They defeated Omaha X-L twice in one evening—44-42 the first time, then after 15 minutes rest, trouncing X-L, 58-38, for the title.

With the championship goes a trip to the four-state regional AAU meet next Saturday and Sunday at Milwaukee. Teams playing here from Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin. The regional winner goes on to the National AAU meet at Gallup, N. M.

Three members of Coach G. I. Willoughby's Wayne team gained all-star recognition from the Omaha tourney—Sue Gatewood, Sergeant Bluff, Iowa, Tracy Peterson, Ames, Iowa, and Kathy Erickson, Remsen, Iowa.

The team is sponsored by Corvair Auto Co. in Wayne.

Athlete of the Week

Don Mau
Wayne High School

By Norvin Mansen

Don Mau, a junior who worked his way into a starting assignment on this year's Wayne High basketball team, has been named the latest Wayne Herald "Athlete of the Week" for his nearly perfect performance against Hartington Cedar Catholic last week.

In that game he produced 27 points as the Blue Devils rolled over their hosts, 81-58, for their fifth win in 18 regular season outings. That point production was second high turned in by a Wayne cager this year—senior Randy Helgren hit 33 against West Point Central Catholic—and was certainly the high water mark for this junior who had been averaging just over eight points a game going into the season finale.

Mau came off the boards in that contest with nine rebounds, slightly better than the seven to eight he had been averaging in the other games.

His showing against Hartington CC, a team which has its share of height, is noteworthy considering his 5'6-1 and about 155 pounds. In that game he was going up against Hartington players several inches taller than him, but he was still able to get some of his points on easy lay-ups when Wayne broke through the half-court press used by Hartington much of the night.

Coach Dick Nelson pointed out that with a little more height and weight and some hard work Mau could develop into a fine "tall player his senior year." "He's a good rebounder for his size and has a good hook shot and jump shot," his coach commented. "He also has some good assists and got the ball moving quickly after getting the rebound by passing off rather than dribbling."

Mau moved into his starting position for Nelson about midway in the season.

Son of Mrs. Gilbert Mau of Wayne, Don played end on the reserve football team this year. Last summer he held down some of the mound duties for the Wayne Midget squad.

Conservation Plans Being Sought from Area FFA Members

Young Nebraskans across the state have aired their plans for improvement of game habitat in five district contests of the Future Farmers of America Wildlife Conservation Speaking Contest, and more district competitions are set for Saturday at Wisner, Columbus and Newman Grove.

Coordinated and sponsored by the Game and Parks Commission, the contests will lead to the fifth annual state competition in Lincoln on April 9. Topic of the contest this year is "My FFA Plan to Improve Game Habitat."

The plans that the young people propose in their speeches must be economically feasible, according to instructions issued by the Game and Parks Commission. The plans are to stress use of the land that makes allowances for the needs of wildlife without affecting efficiency for agriculture operations.

Winners of the district competitions will be awarded ribbons and will compete in the state contest for cash prizes and trophies. Prizes include $100 for first place, $50 for second place, $30

Pierce Gains Revenge, Downs Wayne

The Pierre Bluejays avenged an early season loss to Wayne as they eliminated the Blue Devils from district tournament competition Tuesday night at Norfolk, 52-47.

Foul shooting was the key to victory for the Bluejays as they hit 20 of 28 attempts to Wayne's 13 of 19 as the Blue Devils outshot the Pierce team from the field 17 to 15.

During the first eight minutes it was Don Mau and Randy Helgren who shouldered the entire scoring load with Mau pouring through 10 points and Helgren six. The Blue Devils controlled a 16-15 lead heading into the second quarter.

Wayne	16	10	11	10	47
Pierce	15	13	9	15	52

The second eight minutes showed an entirely different game as Pierce grabbed the lead at 17-16 on two foul shots by Mark Luebe. The Bluejays tallied nine points while the Blue Devils collected four and with 2:15 remaining the score was 26-20. Wayne bounced back to knot the score on two Helgren free throws and at intermission Wayne trailed by only two, 28-26.

The third quarter was just a reversal of the previous eight minutes as the Blue Devils were

Laurel Advances in District Tourney

"We played a lot better the second half,"

That's the way Larry Moore, coach of the Laurel Bears, described part of the 69-46 conquest of West Point Central Catholic in Monday's first round of the Class B district tournament at Norfolk.

The Bears met Oakland-Craig, a winner over Hartington Cedar Catholic in Monday's second game, Wednesday evening to see

Laurel	12	14	10	23	69
West Point	9	6	7	24	46

who would advance to Friday night's final round of play. Winner of that Friday contest, of course, would head for Lincoln to take part in the state tourney.

Laurel has a good chance to make that trip, but the Bears had to get by the winner of Wednesday's Creighton-Pierce match if they made it to the semifinals. Pierce downed Wayne and Creighton downed Wisner-Pilger in Tuesday's tournament action.

If the Bears do get that ticket to Lincoln, it would be their first since the fracas was started many years ago. Last year, most area cage fans thought the Bears would make it to Lincoln, but a surprisingly strong Scribner team defeated Laurel in the finals. Laurel had defeated Scribner in the Husker Conference play-off only a short time earlier.

There was no doubt Monday night about who would win the game. But, as Moore said, the Bears played better in the second half after leading by 12-9 and 26-15 at the first two quarter breaks to build a 46-22 lead at the end of three quarters of action.

Leading that strong offensive attack were sophomores George Schroeder and junior Steve Erwin, the only players who hit more than 20 points. George had 24 counters, Erwin 22. Also contributing to Laurel's cause were Rod Erwin with 15, Jim Schroeder with five, Brent Johnson with two and Steve Smith with one.

Brochure Offers Aid To Puzzled Campers

Nebraska's campers had the guesswork taken out of their favorite pastime recently with the publication of the Game and Parks Commission's "NEBRASKA Land Camping Guide," a listing of more than 200 federal, state, municipal and private campgrounds in the state.

With the handy brochure, campers can tell at a glance the location of each area, what activities are offered and the facilities available at each. Lists include the availability of fishing, hunting, boating, swimming and horseback riding, trailer parking, shelter houses, fireplaces, showers and more.

Included is information on camping at federal, state, municipal and private areas. Copies will be available shortly from NEBRASKA Landers across the state. Game and Parks Commission offices or by mail from NEBRASKA Land, State Capitol, Lincoln, Nebr. 68509.

Pate's Mat Crew Faces Final Challenge

One more challenge is booked for Wayne State College wrestlers Saturday night at 7:30 in Rice Gym before some of them go to the NIAA national tournament next week.

The challenge will be Minot State of North Dakota, a team that dominated St. Cloud State, which beat Wayne by 20-18 in January, then lost to Minot, 20-14, in February.

But those were weeks ago, and Wayne Coach Don Pate takes an optimistic view of the present. Fearful is, he's been surprisingly cheerful all season while his young team, half freshmen, kept getting better and winning a respectable share of meets.

Pate, in his third year as WSC wrestling mentor, aims his whole season at the final goal—the NIAA national meet. Strong opponents, he reasons, toughen his wrestlers for that main event.

"I've seen kids run up a 24-0 record against easy opponents, and think they are pretty good. Then they go to the national and meet somebody with, say, a 16-9 record, and they get whipped. But maybe that fellow with 16-9 lost to some top-flight wrestlers, and he's better for it."

Now Pate thinks his crew is approaching readiness for the big meet next week at Superior, Wis. He has had at least four he felt sure would be national prospects, and lately two or three others have improved enough to earn a trip to the national.

The four strong contenders:

158-pound John Yoder of Woodstock, Iowa, a fourth-place winner last year in the NIAA, now 13-7 for the season; Max Brannum, 134-pounder from Park Forest, Ill., the team's top winner at 19-2-1; John Kletnick, also of Park Forest, 12-3-1 at 167 pounds; and Ken Monroe, Arlington Heights, Ill., 19-3 at 167, 177 and 190.

Several of these may change weight classes for the national, mostly down.

Additional prospects for the national include 142-pound Davey Rosenbaum of Albion, now 5-4, with pins in four of his victories; Lee Hill of 131 remort, 138-pound of 177, now 8-8, and Larry Stanfield, Columbus, Ind., 9-7-1 at heavyweight.

All three have picked up mat sava in recent weeks, Pate says, and in the national tourney they just might pick up some points.

Local Keglers Take Lead in Tournament After Three Weeks

A bowling team from Wayne, McNatt Hardware, took over first place in the St. Mary's Men's Club tournament in Wayne after three weeks of competition.

The 2,832 points of that team was good enough to bump last week's leader, Greenlee Drug of Pierce, from the top seat. Greenlee Drug is now in second with 2,807 points. Still holding down third place is another local team, Wayne's Body Shop, with 2,805 points.

Still with a tight hold on top spot in the doubles action is the Wayne duo of Beckman and Schiermeier with 1,295 points. Burt-Waier of Wayne is in second with 1,241 and Van't leave-heagle of Wakefield is in third with 1,204.

Singles competition is dominated by keggers from Randolph and Wakefield. Randolph's Galen Anderson is still tops with 876, followed by Wakefield's Joe Keagle and Randolph's Bob Hint with 631 each for a tie for second.

Joe Keagle leads in the all events' scratch action with a 1,691 score.

Hoskins Keglers Win

Several young keggers from Hoskins won trophies and prizes in the Norfolk bowling tournament which ended recently.

UP, NOT IN: Wayne's Dick Tietgen blocks a lay-up by Pierce's Gary Garvin. Pierce knocked the Devils out of the tourney, 52-47.

Laurel Bowlers 2nd

Two Laurel bowlers, Dick Nelson and Bob Kools, were standing in second place in doubles competition after the first weekend of competition in the Nebraska Men's Bowling Tournament.

The team had a total of 1,294 points after the action, just a few below the 1,310 of leaders Mel Price and Jim Hiddell of Lincoln.

The tournament is being held at Fremont.

Wayne Teacher Thrilled by Visit Of Film Crew

Mrs. Norma Harms of Wayne described as "thrilling" the visit to her classroom by the filming crew from the Bureau of Research of the United States Office of Education.

It was probably just that. The rural school, located southwest of Pender was one of only a few which the federal agency included in a national filming venture which will hopefully enable the agency to publish guide lines for its Instructional Media Centers located across the country.

The filming crew and the men working on the filming project were impressed with the intimate involvement of the center's science consultant with the students, according to Mrs. Harms.

The film, shot by the author and photographer for the recent production of "Old Turkey" filmed in Iowa, will be released early in June. It was taken by the OEO as part of the survey the agency is conducting of the media centers across the nation.

The Wakefield drama students under the direction of Dennis Crippen and Mary Anne Weeks, will attend the district speech contest at Wayne March 21.

Thirteen schools were entered in the all-day contest, won by Lyons. Laurel won the second-place trophy.

Judges for the event were Dr. Maxine Trauernicht and Gary Cook of the University of Nebraska and Dr. C. Fred Phelps of Morningside College in Sioux City.

Farmers - (Continued from page 1) claimed to be 'previously undiscovered' or 'naturally occurring' with almost magical powers when applied to the soil.

Farmers are led to believe that these products are as good as fertilizer, the local seed dealer explained, when actually they can't be compared.

Doctors Say Eyes Injured Viewing Eclipse Directly

The Nebraska Ophthalmic Association has issued a warning not to directly watch the eclipse of the sun Saturday. Looking directly at the sun can cause permanent, serious eye damage.

In 1960 in Utah complete blindness was reported in 21 cases of persons watching a partial eclipse without adequate protection. But even when the eclipse is total, as it will be Saturday in parts of Florida, Georgia, North and South Carolina and Virginia, eye damage can occur.

Saturday's total eclipse will last between three and four minutes but a partial eclipse will be visible longer and over all of North America. In the Midwest, the moon will cover about 72 percent of the sun. The eclipse will begin at approximately 11:01 a.m., CST, midpoint will be about 12:18 p.m., CST, and will end around 1:32 p.m., CST.

Looking directly at the sun for as short a period as ten seconds can cause permanent eye damage. The sun's rays burn or coagulate a spot on the retina of the eye, typically at the most important vision point.

The Nebraska Ophthalmic Association suggests some safe ways to view Saturday's eclipse using indirect projection. The simplest is a "pinhole camera."

It is made by punching a clean hole in the end of a shoebox with a pin or a needle. Cover the opposite end of the shoebox with white paper. Then point the pinhole toward the sun so that the rays move through the pinhole and project a clearly defined image of the sun on the white paper.

A more sophisticated method is the sunscope. It requires a little more preparation. It fastens a piece of white paper over the inside of one of the small ends of an oblong cardboard box, about 1 by 2 by 3 feet. Cut a one-inch square hole in the opposite small end and cover the hole with aluminum foil.

Children's eyes are more easily damaged by the sun's rays than adult eyes. Parents can encourage older children to use one of the indirect projection methods but younger children should be kept indoors and occupied with other activities.

There is almost no safe way to look at the sun directly. But human curiosity will urge some people to look anyway. One fairly safe direct method for adults is to view the sun through a double layer of completely overexposed photofilm.

Do not, under any circumstances, look directly at the sun through binoculars, opera glasses, telescopes, smoked glass, a pinhole in a card of even sunglasses. One of the unfortunate problems in preventing eye damage during eclipses is that first symptoms of damage may not appear until several hours or even several days after the eclipse.

Smallmouth bass were first introduced in the state in 1898. Its cousin, the largemouth bass, is a native Nebraskan.

Two other men from the Second Ward, Gene Fletcher and Ivan Weeks, filed for the city council late Wednesday morning. Information on them will be carried in Monday's issue of the newspaper.

Wakefield Man Will Seek County Office - Reinhold Miller, 48, of Wakefield has filed in Dixon County as a candidate for county sheriff. Miller has been a businessman in Wakefield for approximately eight years.

The candidate and his wife have three children, a married daughter, Cheryl Husman; Dallas, a service technician at Wortman Auto Co. in Wayne, and Lynette who is a senior at Wakefield High School.

Miller will campaign for the sheriff's office on the Republican ticket.

Heart Fund Report - Mrs. Don Wacker, chairman of the Heart Fund drive at Winside, reports a total of $123.17 was collected during the February campaign.

Assisting Mrs. Wacker in the house-to-house drive were Mrs. Kenneth Gramberg, Mrs. Lee Johnson and Mrs. Paul Zoffka.

C. Banister Dies - Funeral services for Clark Banister, 80, will be held tomorrow (Friday) at 2 p.m. at the First Baptist Church, Wayne.

Mr. Banister died Tuesday morning at the Wayne Hospital.

The body will lie in state Thursday at the Hiscoc Funeral Home from 2 till 9 p.m. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

IRS Says Use Check When Paying Taxes - Use a check or money order to pay your 1969 federal income tax, Richard Vinal, district director of Internal Revenue for Nebraska, said this week.

Unlike a cash payment, a check or money order gives you a record of payment in case of loss or misdelivery.

Vinal pointed out that payment can be stopped on a misplaced check or money order and a new payment made.

Checks or money orders should be made payable to the Internal Revenue Service. Write your social security number on the check or money order and state the exact purpose of the payment to help assure your payment is properly credited.

Scout Men Attend Meeting in Omaha

Two Wayne men, Marvin Sword and Dana Lefstad, planned on attending the meeting of volunteer Boy Scout leaders and friends of scouting Wednesday evening in Omaha.

Speaking to the approximate 300 people attending the meeting was Alden G. Barber, chief Scout executive of the Boy Scouts of America.

Sword is the executive director of the Lewis and Clark District of the Mid-America Council. Lefstad is district commissioner. Barber spoke on behalf of the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America and its current long-range program, Boypower '76, and gave specific recognition to the volunteer adult scout leaders, committeemen and den mothers for the fine program and growth record in 1969.

The present appeal for financial support is necessary, said Marvin Ober, Omaha Council president, if the Mid-America Council is to maintain the necessary support service, such as the Council Service Center, the four summer camps, the Explorer Base at Carter Lake and so on. The goal of the annual drive is $287,000 and will supplement the allocations from the 31 United Funds and United Appeals in the Council.

According to Major General Lyle Welch, Nebraska Adjutant General, the National Guard is launching a new program called "Try One in the Guard." The new recruiting program is part of a nationwide campaign. Kick-off day for "Try One in the Guard" is Sunday which is traditional Muster Day in the National Guard. "Try One in the Guard" is a specially designed recruiting program to increase enlistments of prior service personnel for one year as a "get acquainted" offer and one year extensions by current Guardsmen whose enlistments expire in 1970 as a "stay with us" offer.

The benefits to be derived from the "Try One in the Guard" program, Lt. Lintgraff is maintained by rotation of trained personnel and unit readiness levels are greatly enhanced by experienced personnel.

General Welch in a letter of instructions to commanders on the "Try One in the Guard" program established the maintenance of unit strength as priority effort and assigned a monthly quota for each unit.

The target or goal of this program "Try One in the Guard" is to build and maintain the strength and readiness of the National Guard by obtaining new enlistments to cover the losses.

Although some enlistments are authorized, 48 per month for Nebraska, 5,125 nationwide emphasis is being placed on re- tion of personnel by one-year extension (Stay With Us) or by enlistment of prior servicemen (Get Acquainted).

To aid in achieving the goals established the National Guard Bureau has lifted previous manning levels imposed on the states as a result of reorganizations in 1967-68. Units can now recruit to authorized strengths. The National Guard Bureau will also provide updated personnel rosters of qualified prior service personnel who are potential volunteers for the National Guard.

In addition to maintaining the strength of the National Guard commanders are also faced with the challenge of quality to insure that unit readiness capabilities are maintained. This means that a large portion of the replacement must be experienced personnel. The most logical source of the needed experience is among soldiers and airmen with recent prior active duty with the armed forces. The experience or quality being sought especially applies to those who have had combat experience in Viet Nam. Recruitment of these individuals is the prime goal.

Your Place in the Stars

by Tom McDermott

It came as no great surprise when I read that the University of Chicago is now offering graduate courses in astrology. These courses compensate for 10 per cent of the total number of courses in the history of science and medicine program. David Pingree, author of "The Thousands of Abu Masher," will be teaching the courses on astrology. Three courses are being offered in Greek, Byzantine, Indian and Islamic astrology.

It is now possible to earn a Ph. D. degree in either the history of astrology or the role astrology played in the development of science.

It is only a matter of time before other large schools follow suit. Astrology, whether you believe in it or not, played a very influential role in the development of science and in the course of nations. It is for this reason that astrology, and any other subject which has played so large a part in history, should be studied on the university level.

It was with great interest that I read recently of the work of a noted Czechoslovakian psychiatrist and gynecologist, Dr. Eugen Jonas. This man has stumbled across a method of lunar birth control.

Says Dr. Jonas: "The fertility of women, the viability of the embryo, even the sex of offspring, depend decisively on the position of the Moon at the time of conception. The results of research have now made it possible to establish beforehand the most suitable days for conception and to determine the sex of the child to be born."

Dr. Jonas says that he had become alarmed at the number of children born deformed. While studying about ancient Greek and Indian moon lore, Dr. Jonas set up a system of birth control using the mother's horoscope. The doctor is no astrologer.

"I asked myself," said the doctor, "whether there could be any truth in the belief of some astronomer-physicians of former times that a woman was capable of conception only at certain phases of the moon. This led me into research, the results of which have surprised even me—notably the discovery that the sex of the embryo depends upon the moon and that bodies in the solar system can effect the viability of the new-born child."

"At first I regarded these things as fantastic and I could not bring myself to believe in their truth. However, my observations and examinations, running into thousands of cases in the gynecological clinics in Pozsony showed me that the more obstetric cases I studied and the more exact the astronomical calculations I carried out, the more did the results show the existence of a hitherto unknown law of nature."

"Dr. Jonas' theory produced three conclusions: First, the ability to conceive is dependant upon the fact of whether the moon was in the same position with the sun at birth. Second, the sex of the child depends on whether the moon is in a positive or negative sign of the zodiac. Third, the viability of the embryo depends upon celestial influences.

When asked what proofs there are for this hypothesis, Dr. Jonas said, "First, we calculated retrospectively the sex of children, using as a basis, the record of 250 births at the maternity clinic in Pozsony. We were correct in 217 cases, which is 87 per cent.

Over all, the doctor said his theory has proved 87-89 per cent correct.

Dr. Jonas has spoken at various medical institutes and even some cosmological (astrology) conventions. Presently, scientific work is being carried out to test the theory even more. A nearby university is conducting computer tests. The conclusion to this mystery of whether the moon does control the sex of offspring, etc., is not yet known.

Interesting parties who would like to read the entire account of this study, taken from "The Lunar Cycle in Relation to Human Conception and the Sex of Offspring" by F. Rubin, B. A., B. Sc., can contact me for photostats.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

O Say, Can You See?

There are some things you can wait for — a new car, a new appliance, a new coat. There is always some way to make the old one do. But you cannot wait for a brand new set of eyes.

You may not agree with an editorial — but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

long has it been since you have had your eyes examined? Optometrists all over America are warning residents not to look directly at the eclipse of the sun around mid-day Saturday, as doing so can cause permanent eye damage.

Good Morning Feeders & Hi Mom

By Eddie Collins

Across the U. S. exists a credibility gap that is the envy of even the Pentagon press on Viet Nam and now the State Dept. on our Laos position. The gap or origin is on some registered cattle, luckily only a handful.

Once I bought 273 supposed registered cows. When the papers arrived four weeks later, less than one hundred matched. This cost me over $27,000. But that is peanuts compared to what I envision now.

Mom, some great cattle herds exist. Some of the proudest, most independent men alive protect their quality and their personal reputation. Their problem, they fight atomic bombs with BB guns, fight backroom politics with absenteeism. Like signaling moon stationed astronauts with a flashlight.

Ranchers who own honest reputation herds of third to sixth generations are being devoured by conglomerate ranches. They cannot sell a bull. How does it happen? Simple. Eastern opportunists.

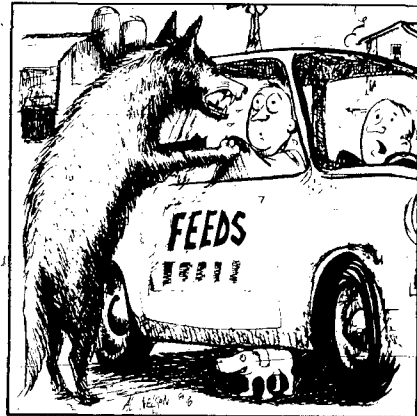

First: Loopholes exist in tax laws that give the Eastern high flyer a rapid depreciation schedule.

Second: Mass promotion, using bulls of questionable but highly advertised beef qualities.

Third: Involvement on the National Boards of various associations by these cattle "weirdos" who then manipulated breeding rules and selected judges that preferred their "new style" "race horse" cattle.

Fourth: Artificial insemination. By A. I. hundreds upon hundreds of "neglected" females are dishonorably and dishonestly serviced. Hundreds, in a dozen different states. Same bull, registered, true selected champion. But Mom, I've seen 10, 20 per cent, maybe fifty per cent of calf crop with outstanding shape, size and alertness. But from the same Papa Bear are like numbers that are just "beef" bulls. Hundreds of hundreds of thousands of acres and not one sharp nor dull knife. Some are steered accordingly, but only by barbed wire. They cull by advertising. Spend thousands and develop average sales that are in that big money bracket. Ranches, run by Madison Avenue.

Meanwhile, back at the ranch this longline breeder, often with much better cattle, sits like a wallflower at a Polish Polka

Don't worry about the big dog—It's the little one that bites.

Notes on Youth

by ROY STOHLER
Area Youth Specialist

"More than half of the riders injured in bicycle accidents are between 10 and 16 years of age. About six per cent of all bicycle accidents result in death and 94 per cent in injuries." With this introduction, the Bicycle Safety Program Handbook for Nebraska 4-H'ers gives some information to assist youth in safer use of bicycles.

Bicycle laws in the Comstock state specify that every person riding a bicycle is subject to the provisions of the traffic ordinances for vehicles except those which do not apply. This means that when you ride a bicycle you must obey the same traffic laws which are required for driving a car.

It is against the law to attach your bicycle or yourself to any moving vehicle upon any roadway.

You are forbidden by law to carry other persons upon the handlebar, frame or tank when driving a bicycle or motorcycle on a street.

For your own information, check Nebraska bicycle laws. Then check yourself the next time you go wheeling down the road or street. Are you a safe driver?

Watch Out For Brucellosis
Livestock producers should remember to get replacement heifers vaccinated for brucellosis before they are too old. Federal regulations on brucellosis vaccination have been changed, so beef heifers must be vaccinated at from three to 10 months of age, dairy heifers from three to eight months.

If a cow in the herd should abort her calf, immediately suspect brucellosis or some other abortive disease. A single abortion might be a sign of serious problems to come.

When an abortion is discovered, keep the fetus and placenta cold or frozen. Take it to a veterinarian or diagnostic lab as soon as possible for a definite diagnosis. It could be other diseases such as trichomoniasis, listeriosis or vibriosis. Don't let it go, because an early diagnosis might help prevent a serious herd problem.

Labor Predictions
"Overall, the supply and demand for college graduates is likely to achieve a balance during the coming decade but there will be shortages in some areas and a surplus in others, notably school teachers."

"Job openings for elementary and secondary school teachers will be 2.7 million during the period from 1950-1980, compared with a new supply of 4.2 million."

"There will be shortages of doctors, dentists, chemists, physicists, geologists, geophysicists, counselors, social workers, urban planners, city government administrators and probably engineers during the next decade. There may be a surplus of

Wayne School Nurse Attends Drug Confab

The nurse for the Wayne-Carroll school system joined approximately 200 Nebraskans who attended the Governor's Conference on Drug Abuse at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education in Lincoln earlier this week.

Mary Ann Cottrell joined those other representatives of organizations and agencies across the state in an attempt to initiate a partnership between youth and adults to solve the drug problem in the state.

Governor Norbert Tiemann welcomed the participants and presented them with the conference challenge the first morning of the two-day meet.

Headlining the conference was Dr. Daniel K. Freedman, a University of Chicago psychiatrist. He has published more than 80 articles, written one book and has two books in preparation. His topic was "Confronting the Drug Problem."

Speakers during the conference included Dr. Edward B. Roche, assistant professor of pharmacy and pharmaceutical chemistry at the University of Nebraska; Dr. Emmet M. Kenney, chief of the adolescent unit of Nebraska Psychiatric Institute in Omaha; Lee Terry of television station KPTV in Omaha and John Hamilton of radio station KFOR in Lincoln.

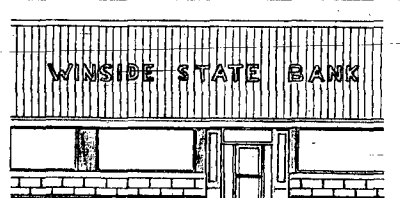

Tuesday, the second day of the conference, was devoted to workshops designed to further develop previous recommendations with special regard to education, legal professions, health professions, youth and citizens groups.

The conference was arranged by the governor's office and the University of Nebraska Extension Division.

People were invited from all walks of life, including attorneys, judges, public school representatives, news people and high school students.
