Winside Seniors Act Angelic in 'Down to Earth'

Winside High School seniors are working in angelic surroundings getting ready to present their class play, a three-act comedy called "Down to Earth," at 1 p.m. and 8 p.m. Friday and again at 8 p.m. Saturday night in the Winside auditorium. The three-act farce, written by Betty Knapp, has several mixed up angels, and one with the particular problem of having only one wing. Directing the comedy-fantasy are Kirt Schellenberg, student director; Mrs. Doug Trampe and Mrs. Lois Bertsch.

(Cast members are as follows: Carol Wagner as Agnes, an angel; Stanley Nathan is another angel named Wilfred; Stephen Carlson will play the part of Pilate, a mischievous angel; JoAnn Westfall plays Augusta Applegate; Marilyn Stevens will act the part of Diana Clump, and Diane Bruggeman is Orpha Teel. Others in the cast are Donna Krueger as Ruthie Teel; Debbie Peter characterizing Millie Bromley; Gregg Troutman speaking as Baxter Bromley; Bev Grises has the part of June Bromley; Doug Deck will play Richard White; Phil Witt interprets the part of Herman Howell and Fritz Weible will walk on as silent Hanley.

Seniors assisting with the play are Bob Jackson, stage manager; Scott Duerling, sound effects; Sharlene Brockmoller, Judy Litengood and Bev Grises designed the scenes.

Working with make-up and costumes are Sandy Deek, Lisa Jensen.

Girl Scout Cookies Slated for Delivery

Girl Scouts in Wayne and area towns will this week begin delivering the cookies their customers ordered during the drive late in February.

The cookies will be delivered by the girls beginning Friday. A few extra boxes may be available and can be ordered by contacting the neighborhood chairman for the Girl Scouts. Neighborhood chairmen in Wayne is Mrs. Sylvia Denton.

The Girl Scouts in the Prairie Hills Council sold 71,148 boxes of cookies this year, quite an improvement over the 52,724 boxes sold in 1969. Each troop retains 15 cents per box sold for the troop to use in camping. The remainder of the profit is used for the maintenance and further development of "Crossed Arrows," the Girl Scout camp at Nelkeson.

Wayne Attorney Gets Appointment To Commission

Wayne attorney Kenneth M. Olds has been named to the judicial nominating commission for the Ninth District. He and 34 other lawyers were named to the commissions across the state by balloting by fellow lawyers.

Olds, the other two attorneys on the Ninth District commission, three laymen and Supreme Court Judge Hale McCown of Lincoln would submit nominees to the governor of the state each time a judicial vacancy occurs in this district. Also on the commission with the Wayne attorney are laymen Dr. Robert Benback of Wayne, Cecil Enrich of Norfolk and Edward McMones of Lyons. Lawyers on the commission are George Meyer Sr. of Madison and E. D. Heech of Pierce.

The appointment, the second straight one for Olds, is for a six-year term.

Current District Court judges are George W. Dittreich of Norfolk and Merritt C. Warren of Creighton.

Winside Juniors Named Delegates For Boys State

Two Winside juniors have been named as delegates to the 29th Cornhusker Boys State to be held June 6-12 at the University of Nebraska.

Gary Soden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Soden of Winside, was named as delegate, and Darwin Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs.

Gary Soden

Delbert Smith of Hoskins, is alternate delegate to the American Legion's training school in citizenship and government. There will be about 400 boys from junior classes of Nebraska high schools attending.

Soden has participated in football, basketball and track during his high school career.

Teachers Return Contracts; Resignations Remain at Six

Finding replacements for the teachers leaving the Wayne-Carroll school system this year may not be as difficult as it at one time seemed if the number of teachers returning signed contracts is any indication.

The deadline passed last week and all the teachers in the system who had not already indicated they would resign returned their signed contracts for another year in the system.

Only seven people will have to be replaced as it stands now; however, Superintendent Francis Haun expects a few others to resign their positions before the June 15 deadline. Teachers can resign up to that time without penalty.

Leaving the school system at the end of this school term are Fred Rickers, high school principal; Doris Clatanoff, 11th grade English; Sherlan Frey, art; Darrel Rahn, high school chemistry and math; Shirley Freidel, Middle School mathematics; Dianne Maguire, Middle School and high school typing, and Anna Thomas, West Elementary remedial reading. The remedial reading position at West Elementary is being abolished by the school system.

Superintendent Francis Haun said he was pleased that no other teachers in the system resigned. The teachers in the system are of a high quality, he noted, and the fewer resignations the easier the job is for the school board and the administration.

A principal to replace Fred Rickers has already been hired by the school board. Hired for that spot is Deryl E. Lawrence, a native of Cozad currently in administration at Inglewood Junior See RESIGNATIONS, page 5

WSC Orchestra Concert To Feature Sallie Bergt

The spring concert of Wayne State College's orchestra, at 3 p.m. Sunday, Apr. 5, will feature a solo piano role by hometown Wayne senior and a concerto for two violins by the orchestra conductor and a Columbus musician.

Sallie Bergt, a music major who lives in Wayne, will perform the piano solo with orchestra in "The Dream of Olwen" by Williams. Dr. Benjamin Bernstein, conductor, and Art Sundermeier, string music director in the Columbus schools, will join in the

Each "Concerto in D Minor for Two Violins."

Great names in music fill out the program: the introduction to Act III of Wagner's "Lohengrin," the Waltz from Tchaikovsky's "Sleeping Beauty," Moussorgsky's "Great Gate of Kiev," Smetana's "Dance of the Youthful Villagers," the Triumphant March from Grieg's "Sjurd Jorsalfar."

Attorney Named To Head Law Day In Wayne County

Wayne attorney Donald R. Reed has been appointed chairman of Law Day USA for Wayne County. The appointment was announced by Charles E. Oldfather of Lincoln, state chairman for the observance scheduled for May 1.

The 1970 theme for Law Day is Law—Bridge to Justice. "The emphasis in the nationwide event will be on the law as a bridge for reaching social goals and resolving grievances that cause divisions in American society," Oldfather said.

"The achievement of justice is the objective of our legal system. We believe that Law Day can help create a better understanding of the fact that utilization of our legal system is the key to promoting unity of purpose in our national life."

Chairman Reed will be responsible for planning and arranging public programs in observance of Law Day in the county. He will seek the cooperation of civic clubs, schools and churches in making the event an occasion to inform citizens of the role of law in American life, Oldfather noted.

Coffee Host Named

Northwestern Bell Telephone at 215 Pearl St. will be the next business firm in Wayne to hold a Chamber of Commerce businessmen's coffee.

The coffee, which is open to all businessmen and their employees, is scheduled for Thursday morning from 9 to 11 o'clock. Coffee and rolls will be furnished by the hosting company. The informal coffees are held about once each month in order to enable businessmen and their employees to learn more about other firms in the city.

Fund Drive Nets $1000 In 1st Week

"The response is very encouraging." That's the remark made by one of the people spearheading the drive to raise money to buy an artificial kidney machine which would be available to anybody in northeast Nebraska.

The remark came after a total of $1,072 in donations was counted late Friday afternoon. That's quite a jump from the $85 in donations at the middle of the week when the drive really got underway.

But the people responsible for the drive—technically the Wayne Community Kidney Aid Non-Profit Corporation—aren't discouraging anybody from donating to the fund. Although they have not set a definite goal, they hope to raise enough money to buy the machine, which sells new for about $3,000, and to pay a good share of the huge hospital bill Pete Haberer has already built up because of his weekly trips to Sioux City for treatment on the kidney-machine there.

Those organizers of the drive, enthused because of the large response, a kidney machine could save others in the area, hope to be able to raise several thousand dollars above the price of the machine. A drive which has been going on in Pierce for the past

Prize Jumps to $200

The prize in the weekly Cash Night drawing will jump from $150 to $200 as a result of the lack of a winner in Thursday evening's drawing. Chosen for the Chamber of Commerce gift—but not present to collect it—was Mrs. Allen Stoltenberg of Carroll.

Another drawing will be held Thursday night with the name drawn for the prize to be announced in all participating stores at eight o'clock. The person must be present to collect the check; no consolation prize is awarded.

All-Night Teach-in on Environmental Crisis Set for WSC Friday

Environment is a big problem, so there will be a big teach-in on "The Environmental Crisis" at Wayne State College Friday night—all night.

Six hours of talks and discussion, punctuated by music off and on by campus combos, will start at 5:30 p.m. in Rice Auditorium and last till midnight Friday. Student Senate President Bob Matthews said, "I will share master of ceremonies duties with Francis Moul, instructor of political science who has been one of the main organizers.

A variety of speakers will discuss the myriad forces that interact when man upsets the balance of nature. Moul said. The keynote speaker: Dr. Wallace Peterson, head of the economics department at the University of Nebraska, giving an economic See TEACH-IN, page 5

Local Man Burned

Paul Wischhof remained in the Wayne Hospital Saturday morning with burns suffered in a fire in his trailer house at Wheeler Trailer Court in the southeast corner of town Wednesday afternoon.

Wischhof had apparently been smoking on the davenport and fell asleep with a lit cigarette. Firemen called to the scene had difficulty finding which trailer had found the fire alarm because no smoke could be seen coming from any of the trailer houses. Paul's brother, Leonard, finally opened the door and the firemen carried Paul out of the trailer.

Wayne-O'Neill Guard Unit Receives Superior Award

Nebraska National Guard members of the Wayne-O'Neill unit have reason to be proud: their unit is one of four named to receive the Army National Guard Superior Unit Award.

The award, made for the 1969 training year which ended with annual field training last year, qualifies the unit for competition for being named the top unit in the state. Winner of that honor will be presented the coveted Eisenhower Trophy.

Also named superior units were those at Norfolk, York and Columbus.

To receive the Superior Unit Award, units must meet several criteria, including citation for outstanding performance at the annual field training. Other criteria which must be met are maintaining an average of 95 per cent of authorized strength, having 95 per cent of the personnel qualified in military occupational specialty, maintaining an average of 90 per cent drill attendance and attaining 95 per cent attendance at the annual field training.

The Wayne-O'Neill National Guardsmen also had to achieve the training objectives prescribed by the Army, attain satisfactory rating—the highest possible—on the annual general inspection and attain satisfactory rating on the command maintenance inspection.

Major General Lyle Welch, Nebraska Adjutant General who announced the four winners, said the Superior Unit Certificates were received Tuesday from the Fifth United States Army Headquarters. Presentation of the awards—normally done during Governor's Day ceremonies at annual field training—will be made as determined by the Commanding General, 67th Infantry Brigade.

One of those four units will be selected as the most outstanding unit in the Nebraska Army National Guard during 1969 and will be awarded the Eisenhower Trophy.

The Wayne-O'Neill unit, Company A, First Battalion, 34th Infantry, is commanded by Lieutenant Edward Mullen of Norfolk.

Allen FHA Members Heading to Lincoln

Eleven girls at Allen High School will be going to Lincoln this Friday and Saturday for a two-day Future Homemakers of America convention at the University of Nebraska Center for Continuing Education.

Attending this year's meeting will be Paula Reuter, Ginger Heckens, Darcy Swanson, Linda Book, Nadine Short, Joan Koster, Janice Kraemer, Sandy Jones, Corrine Peacom, Vickie Hirschert and Lindy Hirschert. C. Lindy, a senior at Allen High, will be considered for the state homemaker degree during the convention, a degree similar to the state farmer degree awarded top Future Farmers of America members each year.

Attending the convention with the girls will be their sponsor, Mrs. Mary Ward, and one of the chapter mothers. Named new chapter mother by a vote of the girls recently was Mrs. Marvin Reuter. She joins Mrs. Norris Emry as one of the two women holding the two-year office.

IRS Issues Warnings Against 'Guarantees' Of Tax Preparers

Nebraska taxpayers are being warned against "guarantees" offered by some commercial returns preparers that make it appear the preparer will represent the taxpayer in any subsequent audit.

Richard Vinal, district director of Internal Revenue for Nebraska, said only attorneys, CPAs and certain others who have demonstrated their qualifications can represent a taxpayer before the IRS. Taxpayers should be sure of just what is meant by a "guarantee" offered by a preparer.

Ads in newspapers, radio and television, said Vinal, convey the false impression that the tax law recently passed by Congress greatly complicates taxpayers' 1969 returns. Actually, the changes made by the new law that apply to 1969 affect only a few taxpayers.

Other advertising, according to Vinal, exaggerates the complexity of the new Form 1040 so as to discourage taxpayers from at-

Grant Will Buy New Base Radio For Police Use

The State Crime Commission has recently informed Richard E. Muelting, consultant to members of Region 11 and 25 Joint Planning Commission for Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice, that a number of new applications for action grants have been approved by the state commission.

Wayne will receive $969 for new radio communications equipment for police use. The new base station will be located in the city clerk's office.

Vern Hill, mayor of Winside, received a letter last week from Walter Weaver, director of the state commission, saying that the Superior Unit Certificate of $765 for a 100-watt mobile radio unit had been approved. Hill noted Thursday that the village plans to have a police car soon and the radio equipment will be used in it.

The Northeastern Nebraska College at Norfolk received the largest grant which amounted to $25,950 and will be used for setting up a course to recruit and educate law enforcement personnel.

Other towns and counties receiving action grants are Pflger, $1,263 for communications equipment; Stanton County, $1,060; Dixon County, $787.65 and also $1,601.46 for communications equipment.

'City to Share Alley Improvement Costs'

The streets department in Wayne is already fielding calls from property owners wondering what can be done to improve their muddy alleys in the rear of their houses.

Vern Schulz, streets commissioner, says that muddy and impassable alleys are always a problem at this time of the year. Some of the alleys without any gravel or rock on them will be in worse shape this year than they have in several years because of the recent wet weather.

Schulz points out that the city will help the property owners with the expense of improving the alleys by paying for the grading and for part of the gravel or rock that is put on them. The city will pay for half of the gravel on a third of the rock, Schulz said.

Property owners who want their alleys improved should pick up a petition at the city clerk's office and circulate it among the other property owners whose land abuts the alley. Those signing the petition would split the cost of improving the alley not paid for by the city.

Schulz estimates that each alley in the city could be improved for about $1.50 to $2.30 per property owner. Two loads of gravel.

White Elephant Sale Slated for April 26

Anybody in the city with white elephants collecting dust around the house will have a chance to see them go for a good cause when the Wayne Lions Club holds its white elephant auction late in April.

The sale is scheduled for Sunday, April 26, at the Wayne County fairgrounds. Auctioned off during the afternoon will be any usable items donated to the service organization by people in or around Wayne. Proceeds from the auction will go to help build the sight clinic at Omaha, a clinic which will offer medical help to anybody with any kind of visual problem.

Some of the Lions Club members plan on being present at the east gate of the fairgrounds three Saturday afternoons before the white elephant sale (Apr. 11, 18 and 25) so the unwanted items can be dropped off by the owners. Plans are also being made so people can phone and ask that their items be picked up by a Lions Club member.

Nine Persons Fined In Four-Day Period

Nine persons appeared before Judge Laverna Hiltton in Wayne County Court Tuesday through Friday and paid a total of $270 in fines and court costs.

Terry Lee Glaze of Broken Bow paid a fine of $10 on each of two stop sign violations and a $25 fine for speeding, plus $5 court costs.

Others paying $5 court costs and speeding fines were Reggie Smith of West Point, $23; Edwin Nellor of Beemer, $13; William Carstens of Sioux City, $14; Daniel Sutherland of Wayne, $10; Donald Westerhaus of Winside, $13, and Brian Nelson of Wakefield, $22.

Michael Atkins of Wayne was fined $10 and costs of $5 for illegal parking.

Ronald Kimble of Creighton paid a fine of $15 and costs of $5 for illegal parking.

Indirectly use the alleys in several other ways, including garbage pick up, cable television and telephone service, delivery services and sewer servicing.

He also noted that gravel or rock on the alleys would make the alleys a lot neater and would make it easier for the city to mow, trim trees and grade along them each year. Property owners should make a point as soon as warm weather arrives to move their garbage cans, trash piles and so on inside their own property lines. This will make it easier for the service trucks and private vehicles to use the alleys, Schulz said.

Carroll Scouts Will Hold Court At Club Dinner

Carroll Community Club members will meet tonight (Monday) at 7:30 p.m. in the Carroll auditorium for a club supper, according to Dave Luhn, secretary.

He said a Court of Honor for Carroll Scouts will follow the dinner meeting at 8:30 p.m.

Luhn is also Scoutmaster and said the following Scouts will receive Tenderfoot badges tonight: Randy Bethune, Tim Granfield, Terry Granfield, Alan Chapman, Larry Peterson and Joe Kenny. Rodney Kuhnenn and Todd Hurlbert will become second class Scouts.

Marvin Sword, executive Scout director, Wayne, will show a Scout-related film. The club will have a business meeting and among other items on the agenda for discussion is the subject of toll-free telephone service between Carroll and Wayne, possibly also between Winside and Wayne.

'West Side Story' Opens Friday

Leonard Bernstein's "West Side Story," a modern adaptation of Romeo and Juliet, will be presented at the Wayne High lecture hall Friday and Saturday evenings as this year's all-school production.

Leading characters in this demand production are Ted Armbruster (Riff), leader of the Jet Gang; Les Echtenkamp (Bernardo), leader of the Shark Gang; Veri Preston (Anita), Bernardo's girl; Beth Bergt (Maria), Bernardo's sister, and Ron Seymour (Tony), Riff's friend.

The story revolves around the problems arising following a challenge for a War Council between the two gangs made during

Dozen Resignations Accepted at Allen

A total of 12 people—11 school teachers and the principal—will have to be replaced in the Allen school system before the 1970-71 school term opens, according to Superintendent Ed Heckens.

Principal Harold Peterson, with the school system for his first year, resigned his position effective the end of this school year. Peterson, undecided about where he will go next fall, said he plans on staying in the teaching field.

Replacements will also have to be found for Mrs. Dorothy Moore, social science; Don Kruse, social science and physical education; Jack Schrieber, junior and senior high vocational and instrumental music; Mrs. Mary Ward, home economics; Mrs. Janelle Erickson, English; Mrs. Marsha Sorenson, third grade; Mrs. Janice Case, sixth grade; Lynn Schlupebier, vocational agriculture; Noelyn Isom, See TEACHERS, page 5

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

You may not agree with an editorial — but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

More Than A Good Deed

The banding together of a group of local residents to form the Wayne Community Kidney Aid Non-Profit Corporation, in order to make an artificial kidney machine available to the entire area, is more than a good deed.

Members of the corporation not only want to help Pete Haberer, a Wayne resident, who finds it necessary to be on an artificial kidney machine once a week at a cost of around $400 each time, but the group made it explicit that the machine would be available to the entire area and could possibly be used for a youngster or adult who in some way became poisoned.

According to a publication of the U.S. Public Health Service, many drugs or chemicals are normally removed from the body by the kidneys, but an overdose can cause permanent kidney damage. An overdose can permanently damage brain, liver, and other vital organs if the kidneys cannot remove the chemical quickly enough. The government bulletin notes that the artificial kidney can relieve the overload on the patient's kidneys. The machine can remove poisons rapidly before permanent damage takes place. So the artificial kidney equipment will be available in this area not only for those finding themselves stricken with kidney disease, but the machine could easily save the life of your own husband, wife, or child.

The corporation is presently in a fund drive to raise at least $4,000 to purchase the equipment which has already been ordered. Many contributors are helping out, but more are needed.

Securing the machine is a good deed, but it is more than a good deed, it is taking another step forward in the attempt to save the lives of those we know and love.

The contribution you make toward the purchase of medical equipment such as the artificial kidney could easily act as a yo-yo. In other words you let it leave your hand and it could come back to you and your family many times over, although one always hopes illness doesn't strike.

In large metropolitan areas people may often not even know the person or family living next door, but out here on these rolling plains of northeast Nebraska, we not only know each other, we still have the heart to care and share. —MMW.

Letter Hits Home

A letter to the editor in this issue of the newspaper points out the inconsiderate young people who walk over lawns and flower beds, damaging and destroying the property of others. The letter writer is brate because those people do not use the sidewalks when they are present, insisting on crossing across private lawns to get where they are going.

The person brings out one important point — the lack of sidewalks throughout the city. Sidewalks do exist in most sections of the city, especially the older sections. However, they do not exist everywhere for some reason and students and other people have the choice of walking over lawns or on the street.

When the new city council takes office later this year we hope it will try to do something about the lack of sidewalks in some parts of the city. In several areas of the city young children are forced to use lawns or walk in streets with heavy traffic. This city council should not allow.

We look upon the lack of sidewalks in some parts of the city as a definite fault in our city, a fault which should be corrected as soon as possible and a fault which should not be permitted to grow as new areas are built up around the edges of the city. —NLH.

One-hundred years ago there was no such organization as Wayne County. Our county wasn't officially organized until September 26, 1870. It contained 444 sections of land or about 284,000 acres, and measured 28 miles wide and 18 miles long.

Just 100 years ago there were herds of deer and even a few buffalo on these rolling prairies. The first homesteader, Col. B. F. Whitten of Maine, lived about a mile southeast of the present site of Wakefield in 1868. In the next two years there were more dugouts and shanties built and called "home" by daring people coming west.

Stage coaches were running from Ponca to Wisner by 1876, twice a week, carrying passengers and mail.

Can you possibly imagine how quiet it was in our county a century ago? There weren't many human beings around to enjoy the quiet, but there were many varieties of wildlife. In just 100 years, man moved in and most of the wildlife moved out.

Early Wayne County residents were never bothered by the jangling of a telephone; the sound of cars in the street or the roar of planes overhead. They not only didn't think about traveling 600 m.p.h. in a jet, they didn't even think about riding six miles an hour in a car for there weren't any. Weren't they the lucky ones in not having a pollution problem? Or were they?

Just 100 years ago the sound of a train whistle had never been heard in Wayne County. No one had any electricity bills and no one had to scoop their sidewalks. There was no newspaper printed in Wayne County a century ago and there weren't any school buildings, college buildings, gas stations, manufacturing plants, tractors, trucks, fire engines, airplanes, motor boats, fences, paved or gravelled roads, or section lines.

Early settlers had no problem with blaring radios or stereo recordings. They had no concern as to advertising clear-ettes on television, and no one had ever been killed in an automobile accident here. People in those days never heard the sound of grinding gears and screeching tires; never left home leaving electric lights burning; never heard wailing sirens of police, firemen, or ambulances; and had no public parks where the laughter of children and their shouts carried across a swimming pool.

The sign in the accompanying photo pretty much tells the story of the past 100 years as the residents have had a "rough road" in their move toward progress.

As recent as 1930, Wayne County had six miles of concrete, brick or asphalt roads. Seventy-three miles of roads were gravelled, 774 miles were improved dirt roads and there were 577 miles of unimproved roads. Much progress has been made in the county even during the last 40 years, and if you don't believe we're the "holys" generation, just stick your head out the front door and listen. We've moved from quiet families into noisy neighborhoods. We've moved from prairie schooner to a moon ship. On the ground we've moved from old rough roads to new rough roads.

We'll give you one guess as to where we think there could be a lot of improvement made in northeast Nebraska. —MMW.

Wayne
Dear Editor:
Tenants are, as a rule, honest, industrious and conscientious. There are sometimes exceptions. The following is an account of my own experience in this county:

Landlord A leased to tenant B land, buildings, dairy herd, equipment and machinery. B gradually disposed of A's dairy herd without notice. Neither the number sold, or the weights, did verify animals were all A's dairy cows. After two years of mismanagement of land and dairy stock, A demands premises vacated. A was disabled and out of the state during the time. B demanded a rather large sum of money; B was given notice to vacate in September, but not before September 1. A and B signed memorandum agreement that in consideration of money paid by A, B would vacate before or on a certain date in March. Same agreement stated that each party releases each other from all claims, demands and suits of all kinds and nature. After B has finally vacated, A discovers his share of grain and hay, or the rent for two years, is not on premises. A has now no recourse to recover same.

In this case owner or landlord left real estate and all his personal property in trust to tenant, relying on his integrity. Tenant sought only his personal gain and advantage, and did irreparable damage to owner's reputation, welfare and financial interests.

There is no statute to protect a landlord from dishonesty and irregularities; in fact, the party in possession is favored by law. It is indeed prudent to be cautious of unscrupulous tenants.

Dear Editor:
This letter is addressed to anyone who will read it. Sunday was March 29 — Easter. On that day we recognized that Christ was crucified on the Cross. He died for our sins. He died so that we might live.

Today the earth is getting less and less habitable. By the year 2,000 there will be 7.4 billion people living on the earth. By 2,050 the population will have risen to 14 billion. The earth's population is rising at a rate of two per cent a year. At this rate in six and one-half centuries it will give each person only one square foot of land surface on the globe, including mountains, deserts and arctic wastes. In 1,566 years we will generate a population which would weigh as much as the earth itself.

Many of the rivers of the United States are liquid garbage bins. Lake Erie and Lake Michigan are dying. Soon there will be no plant or animal life in them. There is not a place in the United States that does not have a pollution problem. Some ecologists predict the earth will be dead by the year 2,000. Did he die in vain? Do we deserve to live on a planet we are killing? Is the human race worth saving?

Wayne

Dear Editor:
Why don't parents take time to teach their children to have respect for other people's property and to at least use the sidewalks provided for them to use when they go to and from school.

Several years ago, if my memory serves me right, property owners were requested by the city to have walks put in where there were none so school children could walk to school on walks. Do they? Property owners could have saved that great expense to be used to better advantage.

I am new at this location and was shocked to see the least to see how the children cut across yards, flower beds, yes, even up and across my front porch. They seem to manage to hit the muddiest spots in the yard — my walks, porch and yard look like a hog pen. I could compete with any hog yard in Wayne County and I would come out ahead.

They could care less, cracking and even breaking storm windows. Throwing snowballs and knocking down tele poles right on a window. I am just sick to have to confess I have never seen such a mess of ill-mannered children and young folks as we have today. Do you parents honestly expect them to grow up to be law abiding citizens and have respect for others? Or are you leaving that up to someone else? Or perhaps the school? Don't blame the young folks, but rather yourself. The parents are responsible for the well being of the children.

Have you ever discovered yourself being uncomfortable in particular social situations? For instance, the other day when introducing two of my friends to each other (meanwhile being suspicious that I had introduced them before but my whirling brain couldn't remember and kept asking, have I or haven't I?) one remarked, "My land, you have put on a lot of weight since I saw you last!" (No doubt about it now, they had met previously, and this time it appears to be with locked horns). So what do you say?

Should one say, "O come on now, Smitty, you're a lot fatter than he is!" (Probably not unless you're hankering for a broadened horizon on the nose). Certainly it would not be correct etiquette to say, "Smitty, you've got just as sharp an eye as you always had judging livestock." The friend who had been offended was just ready to tell Smitty he had a fat brain when I interrupted and asked them both to go with me to coffee. There is something about being invited out for a snack that is hard to resist and the coffee sort of washed down their early greetings.

It is all very nice for writers on public etiquette to tell us what to say when we are introduced (something like "Hi-yai"), or when we throw several final words over a shoulder to the hostess when leaving a party ("Thanks a thousand, hon!"). The problem seems to be, what do two perfect strangers talk to each other about when they suddenly find themselves alone together?

Fred McNamara of Beemer has been named president of the Exon for Governor Club in Cumling County, according to J. J. Exon of Lincoln, Democrat. The Democratic candidate has been carrying on a campaign against excessive state spending.

Three young people from Bancroft were hospitalized after the car they and two other youths were riding in went off a road about one-quarter mile west of Rosalie and hit a tree last Monday night. Hospitalized were Brian Buchholz with a broken vertebrae, Bradley Buchholz with a dislocated elbow and several cuts, and Bob Lutjen with cuts and bruises.

Leland Carson and Gale Miller were crowned king and queen during the Wisner-Pilger Pep-Club Get-Club Informal recently. In order to be eligible for the crown, boys must have lettered in two sports and be a senior and girls must have earned a letter in pep club and be a senior.

For the first time in memory, there will be no candidates on the ballot for the board of education for the Laurel-Concord school system. Incumbents Quinten Erwin and Jack Erwin, both of the Concord area, have declined to accept the petitions circulated to put their names on the ballot. Voters will now have to choose somebody to replace those two men by writing in the name of their choice.

Three new teachers have been hired at Randolph for the 1970-71 school year: George Whitney for senior high social studies and ninth grade athletics; Mrs. Sharon Rissler for business and Diane Erhardt for elementary. Still to be filled are vacancies in English and speech, vocal music and library, junior high mathematics, art and science. Vacancies total 16 to date.

Kenneth Moody, a Junior at Emerson-Hubbard, has been named Boys State representative by the Emerson American Legion organization. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Moody of Emerson, he is active in Suppose you are in an apartment house, hotel, or a hospital and there you are with a stranger waiting for the arrival of the elevator. Presumably he has buzzed the buzzer. Surely he wouldn't just be killing time watching the little cars go up and down. (Or would he?) There are some strange people in the world any more! You want him immediately to know that you too know your way around the big city and that you too have a respectable knowledge as to the operation of electronic gadgets. Manfully, you step up and press the buzzer. It is a heroic act and you perform admirably.

Actually, there is always a little distrust between two strangers waiting for an elevator, especially in a hospital. He may be distraught and upset over just having been told he is the father of quadruplets, and didn't push the buzzer hard enough or at all. Then again, you think, maybe he pushed the "up" buzzer when you are wanting to go down; So you push the bell, clear your throat, and step back having exhibited your talent of pushing.

Your arrogance turns him against you immediately, for you see, you have cast a doubt on his bell-pushing abilities. His brain automatically classifies you as a splendid dunderhead. He gives you his first gift — a dirty look.

Not being a happy recipient, your eyes suddenly don't know where to go. Eyes must always go some place and stare because if we close them completely folk will think we are asleep in the deep. So you step back and pretend to fiddle with your necktie, pull up your trousers, adjust your wristwatch band, and suddenly discover your necktie needs adjusting again. The countdown has reached zero.

The elevator is always a long time in coming at the hospital. The freight elevator (ugh! That is a terrible name staring you in the face as you see them roll one surgical patient after another into and out of that little square room that hangs on a cable and goes up and down hauling its "freight") seems to be working fine... but where is our elevator!

Well, it finally comes to the time when one must break the ice. If you don't do it within the first five minutes it is obvious the breach becomes a communications gap wider than the Grand Canyon. An obvious remark to your fellow elevator-waiter would be, "You must have broken the buzzer when you buzzed it, you old buzzard!" This would, however, only bring a reply of something like, "If you thought it was broken, you were sort of stupid to step up and keep trying to ring it, you ring-dinger."

Now this exchange of introductory courtesies wouldn't clear up anything and wouldn't make the elevator run any faster.

Being the kind-old-heart you are, you comment something to the effect, "Real service, eh?" "Sure is," he replies. You've broken the ice! Now, let's see, what else shall we talk about? We could talk about the weather but we can't see outside to talk what is going on. Would he care to see my kid's picture? Probably not if he has just had fly new ones of his own! The thought runs through your mind, without stopping fortunately, that you could ask him about his health, but that is always dangerous in a hospital as he might decide to take two hours to give you a full report.

You suddenly notice that your necktie

Donations to the Woslager Hospital Fund in Platteau are still being accepted. The fund, being raised for Mrs. Lee Woslager, totaled $15,663.62 by the middle of last week. Mrs. Woslager was to have both of her kidneys removed last Friday or today (Monday) by doctors at the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn. That would be the first phase in a two-step operation.

Young men from Allen, Waterbury and Ponca have been inducted into the armed forces, according to officials at Ponca. Inducted recently were Gerald R. Klne-tobe of Allen, Paul D. McCoy of Waterbury and Ira D. Mentzer Jr. of Ponca. The April induction call which has just been issued by the Dixon County local draft board is for four with random sequence numbers through 115. Two will be called for physical examinations in April.

About $200 damage was done to a camper and pickup owned by Ken Schueter of Dakota City, a worker at Iowa Beef Processors in Dakota City. Schueter, who recently returned to work at IBP, discovered the damage early in the evening last week. The damage included broken left window and windshield on the pickup and two broken windows on the camper.

Lyle "Scotty" Lorenzen achieved a "first" for Neligh recently when he bowled a perfect 300 game at Antelope Lanes. He had a series of 703 for the night with other games of 211 and 192. Lorenzen has an average of 177 and bowls every Tuesday evening in team play.

There were no fillings for the offices of county attorney or county superintendent for Thurston County as of the middle of last week. All other offices in that county had at least one candidate. Drawing the most interest was the office of county sheriff. Filling for that post were Sheriff Clyde Storie of Pender, Gilbert "Red" Nelson of Rosalie, Bob Chaney of Pender and James L. Miles of Walthill.

needs adjusting once more and that your throat needs clearing. The silence continues to deepen until you suddenly decide to take a stairway and blurt out, "Nice chatting with you!" As you head for the exit you hear him over your shoulder say, "Same to you."

It isn't often a person gets into such a soul-stirring conversation with a fellow human but it does happen on occasion. Now why don't those writers of manners books get busy and tell us what to say on such occasions?

Just as I got down to the next floor, I spied the elevator going up, but was too late to get it to stop. So I decided to wait until it came down. Sure enough it was coming now, the doors open and I step inside and... there he is again! Doors close and we start down, just the two of us in that moving box. "Some service, eh?" I ask. "Sure is," he said.

Getting into my car and driving away from the hospital my mind wonders as to why the Creator gave us human beings such a great urge to feel the need to communicate — but so little to say. Then I headed home for a talkathon with Old Pooch. You know it is an amazing thing as to how many things a man can think of to say to his dog. But then again, we aren't strangers.

Independent Study Being Tried at WHS

Some Wakefield High School students have been participating in an independent study program this year. This program is designed to make a significant contribution to a student's ability to assume an increasing amount of responsibility for his own education.

A student who wants to become a part of the Independent Study Program is required to evaluate his record in school, present some evidence of his ability to work without supervision, make an application for the Honor Pass Independent Study Program and secure the signature of the principal, three teachers and his parents indicating their approval.

Independent study privileges include studying on the stage or in the student lounge, watching television on the stage and recreation in the lounge.

Ministers Host Guest Speakers

The Wayne City Ministerial Association met at St. Mary's School Hall Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. with nine members and four visitors present.

Mrs. Bernard Asbra of Laurel spoke concerning services she offers to low-income people of Wayne County. She is an aide with duties similar to those of a social worker, and works for the Goldenrod Hills Community Action Council, Inc. of Walthill, Nebr. This organization works in a five-county area, including Wayne County. Mrs. Asbra can offer aid in finding jobs for low-income people, and can acquaint people with a large number of government programs available to help them. She is available for other services designed to aid those who need help in the county.

Rev. Harvey Mitchell, Colorado Springs, officiated at the ceremony and Iana Jenkins, Winside, sang, accompanied by Mrs. Cheryl Roth, Colorado Springs.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in an A-line empire silhouette gown of white silk peau, fashioned with fitted lace bodice, standup neckline, Juliet sleeves and full chapel length train. Her silk illusion elbow length veil was caught to a rose headpiece.

Sandy Maas, Englewood, Colo., was maid of honor and Julie Behmler, Colorado Springs, was bridesmaid. Their empire styled A-line gowns were of silk organza in light green and apricot and were fashioned with back panels caught to the scoop necklines with re-embroidered organza flower arrangements which were repeated at the edges of the angel sleeves. Short bustle veils were caught to matching headpieces.

Wrecks Fill Police Report

Six auto accidents and several thefts filled the Wayne police report during the past ten days. Around 8:10 p.m. March 20, officers investigated an accident in the 100 block on Main Street when a parked 1964 Buick owned by Patrick Ivers was hit by a pickup, according to officers, driven by Duayne Fritzlinger of Schuyler who backed into the auto. Damage was minor. Saturday, March 21, a 1962 Chevrolet driven by Frank Burgess of Palumas, N. M., was northbound in the 300 block on Pearl Street around 12:30 a.m. He told officers that another oncoming auto going south on Pearl was over the center line and forced him to hit a parked 1965 Pontiac owned by Thomas Hanson of Denison, Iowa. At 3:50 p.m. the same day officers were called to investigate an accident in the 500 block on Main Street when a 1969 Oldsmobile, driven by Howard Carson of Fremont, had just turned north onto Main Street from East Fifth Street, when a 1967 Ford driven by Joni Lutt of Wayne struck the Carson auto in the rear end, police said.

Monday in the 100 block on Pearl Street around 3:23 p.m., a 1966 Chevrolet driven by Frederick Heller of Beemer was northbound when in collision with a 1963 Chevrolet driven by Edward Frevert of Wayne who was, according to police, backing out of a parking stall.

A little more than an hour later another collision occurred in the 200 block on Main. A 1965 Oldsmobile driven by Margaret Lundstrom of Wayne was turning right into a parking stall when hitting a parked 1967 Plymouth, owned by Mrs. Charles McCarthy of Norfolk. Damage was minor.

Around 8:30 p.m. Monday, Lynn Jeffery reported that someone had entered his home and taken money from a dresser drawer. Louis Lutt of Wayne was backing out of a parking stall in the 100 block on West Third Street Tuesday afternoon around 2:45 when in collision with a parked 1969 Chevrolet pickup belonging to the City of Wayne.

Police were notified at 4:44 a.m. Wednesday of a disturbance in the Woehler Trailer Court. The complainant said two shots were heard. The investigating officer found two men arguing and confiscated their guns. Police said the parties had been drinking.

Dwayne Fritzlinger informed officers Wednesday that someone had stolen the stereo tape player from his pickup parked on Valley Drive.

Camp Fire Girls Meet

W-A-K-T-V Camp Fire Girls met Wednesday after school. Guest speaker was foreign exchange student from Brazil, Tablo Silveira, who told the girls about scouting activities in his country. He plans to send for more information and pictures on the program there.

Leader Mrs. Kraemer explained honor beads and badges. Honor court will be held in May. Tablo Silveira was issued a special invitation to attend.

Fifth Grade Camp Fire Girls met to work on the window display at Manz TV building. The display includes a ceremonial gown, arm band and headdress, last worn in 1925 and a wood gatherer ring last worn in 1943 and 1945, which were all donated by former Camp Fire Girls.

Attends Training Session

Camp Fire Girl leader Mrs. Marlen Kraemer, Laurel, who attended a Camp Fire Girl training session at the Norfolk Elk's Club last Saturday, reports that Bluebirds are now welcomed into the program at age six instead of seven. Bluebird units will also be able to receive honors in certain areas of achievement.

Registration fees for all age groups and leaders have been increased and honor badges and beads will now cost more. The formation of a Northeast Nebraska Camp Fire Girl Council was also discussed at the session, with no definite decision being reached. Mrs. Kraemer opposes the formation of such a council because of the amount of money that would go out of Laurel and not benefit the local group.

At present Laurel has 50 registered Bluebirds and Camp Fire Girls and 14 leaders and sponsors, for which fees are sent to New York City National headquarters. The remainder of funds raised are used locally at present.

Visiting Danish Prof Bridges Gap

Communication, everybody says, is important. And difficult. Consider, then, this problem: A Danish professor and his wife, both skilled in drama, take a Swedish play about human nature and translate it into American English, then recruit a cast of college students in Nebraska and direct them in staging it. The goal: to communicate to a Nebraska audience what the playwright wrote in Swedish about people anywhere.

This was the task assumed by John Carlsen and his wife, Karin, who are visiting professors at Wayne State College during the January-April term. Both are on exchange from the faculty of the Herning Folk High School in Denmark while Dr. Robert G. Johnson of the Wayne faculty teaches at Herning.

Before leaving Denmark, the Carlsons decided to translate into English a recent one-act play by the young Swedish playwright, Sandra Key-Aborg. They might, the Carlsons thought, use the play in some class.

They are using it, not in class, but as the opening feature of the "Spotlight: Scandinavia" conference scheduled at Wayne State April 5-6. Attending will be faculty members from 10 Nebraska colleges that participate in the Humanities and Social Sciences Development Program of the U.S.

Office of Education. Residents of the area, especially the many of Scandinavian descent, are invited to attend the play, at 7 p.m. Sunday, April 5, in Wayne State's Val Peterson Fine Arts Center. Following the drama, Danish pianist Mogens Dalsgaard will play another in the series of concerts during his month as musician-in-residence at WSC. Admission is free for the play-concert.

The play, titled "The Empty Room," is unusual. Though labeled a one-act, it is a sequence of 12 brief scenes, unrelated, with varying numbers of characters.

"How should we describe the play?" Carlsen was asked. Thinking awhile, he puzzled, "I don't know how to describe it. Here, take the script. Maybe you can decide what it is."

So the reporter read it—and also found description elusive. How about saying most of the scenes are satires on how people treat each other—badly, in some cases? Translator-director Carlsen agreed.

The reporter noted that the play's language and meaning sounded very much American. Carlsen beamed, but shared the praise with his wife, who, he said, did much of the actual translating into English. Both the Carlsons have studied drama extensively, both have involved professionally with the stage, and both studied and acted in England. Mrs. Carlsen studied what in America would be an English major.

Several weeks ago Carlsen recruited a cast of 12. At first they found the script a real challenge in interpretation.

"They are doing it well now," Carlsen said. "I am having to be more of a dictator than I like because time is short, but I think everybody is enjoying the play. We have no scenery or costumes. Everything depends on lighting, sound effects and the inflection of words in the script."

The cast includes one faculty member, Susanne Faulstich of the communication arts department, and 11 students: Chris Boger Gasper, St. Edward; Gary Fandrick, Schuyler; Donna Forbes, Atkinson; Elaine Gross, Ashworth; Joe Fresquez, Sidney; Judy Aufrecht, Omaha; Gary Ehler, Missouri Valley, Iowa; Donna Noll, Sanborn, Iowa; Renee McDonough, Long Beach, Calif.; Fred Wittington, Schuyler; Sherry Cole, Omaha, and Janet Fritzynger, Howells.

Warnings —

On the contrary, he explained, the new form was designed to eliminate problems that taxpayers had with the old 1040 and to make it easier for low-income taxpayers to claim such things as sick pay exclusions, itemized deductions and retirement income credits if they are entitled to them.

Vinal said if a taxpayer elects to employ a commercial preparer to fill out his return, he should select a reputable preparer. Regardless of who fills in the form, the taxpayer is responsible for the accuracy of the return.

Fund Drive —

Pat Gross and Larry DeForge, both influential in initiating the drive, emphasized that the kidney machine would prove of great value not only to Wayne people but could also be used by people in any of the surrounding towns in the area. It will first be used on Haber, whose plight initiated the drive for the machine, but anyone with a kidney ailment which forces him to be on such a machine could use it for a fraction of a price which is usually paid for such a machine. Haber would be on the machine for only a few hours a week and the rest of the time it would be available for others, they noted.

Donations can be sent to either the First National Bank or the State National Bank in Wayne. Donors, unless they request otherwise, will have their names printed each Thursday in The Wayne Herald.

Teach-In —

The emphasis through all the talks and discussion will be on educating people to the extent of the problems and on seeking solutions, Moul said.

Matthews said he expects about 1,500 students and many townspeople to attend. After the speech-discussion session ends at midnight, the teach-in will move to the Co-operative Christian Ministries house on campus for an all-night vigil of students who wish to think and talk more about the environment.

Among topics of the speakers: an ecosystem and how it functions, air pollution, over-population, chemical pollution, political possibilities, changes in the U. S. value system, abortion and population control, the pH changes needed in academia and the student role in environmental crisis.

Most of the speakers will be WSC professors, students and campus ministers. Coming from Sioux City is Scott Phelps of Iowa Public Service Company to discuss what industry is doing to clean up pollution.

No 'April Fool,' Census to Start Here Wednesday

Postal carriers in Wayne and throughout the nation had an extra load Saturday as census forms were distributed to more than 40 million homes. The questionnaires ask seven questions about every person in the household and 13 questions about the dwelling.

It is the first time for a census to be carried on through the Post Office to such an extent since the first census in 1790.

Mrs. Faye Mann is in charge of the census in Wayne. She pointed out Friday that it will save a lot of time if people will fill out the questionnaires prior to the enumerator coming to the door.

She said a special place enumerator will cover the Wayne State College dormitories. Students living in the dorms are asked to fill out the questionnaires early this week.

Mrs. Mann said there has been some confusion the national census just getting underway with a recent agricultural census, but noted that the two are in no way related.

Enumerators working in Wayne will have identification badges. Eugene Bergman, district director of the census, is asking everyone's cooperation in getting the questionnaires completed.

Most of the questionnaires are not overly long, but Mrs. Mann said that every fifth family or person on the address register will receive a more lengthy form.

The census officially gets underway Wednesday when every American alive on that day will be counted. Persons who die and babies born on Wednesday will be included.

Allen-High FFA Banquet Planned

Boys in the Allen-High Future Farmers of America chapter have scheduled their annual Parent-Son Banquet for this coming Saturday evening in the high school auditorium.

The evening program will begin with supper at 6:30. The short program following the banquet will include a talk by Wayne Rasmussen of Allen, the state FFA vice-president of the northeast area. A 1968 graduate of Allen High, Wayne is the first state officer from Allen.

The evening's entertainment may include musical groups, according to Lynn Schlukebler, vocational-agricultural teacher at the Allen school. Scheduled for heading out are the honorary chapter degrees which will be made public at that time.

Test Results Ready

Wayne High School sophomores now have the results of the Differential Aptitude Test they took early this month at the city auditorium, according to Kendall Carlson, guidance counselor.

The exam differed from an achievement test in that it is not designed to reflect accomplishments in school subject matter, but rather the ability to learn in various areas, the counselor noted.

Results of the exam show the student's capability for learning in verbal reasoning, numerical ability, abstract reasoning, clerical speed and accuracy, mechanical reasoning, space relations and language usage.

Counselor Carlson said Monday that all sophomores who took the D.A.T. will receive the results through the sophomore English classes. He said parents should contact him concerning any questions arising.

The test results are accompanied by an interpretation score sheet indicating how the student ranks with other sophomores in the national sample of sophomores taking the test.

Bob Carhart Named Tiemann Chairman

Bob Carhart, Wayne businessman, has been named Wayne County chairman of the Re-Elect Governor Tiemann Committee. The announcement was made by Dorothy Murphy of Neligh, Area 9 chairman of the committee.

Mrs. Murphy said she is encouraged with the volunteer support that she and her county chairman has been receiving in connection with Governor Tiemann's campaign. Governor Tiemann will take his campaign to Area 9 on April 29.

Named chairman in Pierce County was Mrs. Bert Garvin of Pierce.

Former Allenite Skis His Way To Top Honors

A young boy who took his first ride on skis down a hill near Allen has skied his way to high finish in a combined U. S. and Canadian national meet.

Turning in that feat was Brian Troth, son of former Allen residents, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Troth. Brian, who now lives in Bozeman, Mont., with his parents, won 12th place in the combined Junior National Ski Meet held March 16-21 at Jackson, Wyo. Over 200 top Nordic skiers from the United States and Canada competed in the event.

A two-year football letterman at Bozeman Senior High, Brian has been invited to take part in the international competition now going on at Unavic, Yukon Territory. That meet began Friday and will last until Sunday, April 5.

This skiing season alone Brian has won the following awards: First in the Northern Division of the U. S. Ski Association Nordic Gold Cup, first place in the Montana High School meet cross country 10-kilometer race and fifth place in the state high school jumping meet. He was invited and attended the U. S. Olympic Nordic training camp at Winter Park, Colo., prior to the team's trip to Europe. Also, he was a team member of the champion Northern Division team at the Western States Championship races held recently.

Brian has been offered a major college athletic scholarship.

Wanted: More Pheasant Cover

Nebraska's pheasants will begin seeking places to build their nests and hatch their young within the next month or so if spring arrives on schedule, but the majority of hens will be unable to find a safe nursery, according to M. O. Steen, director of the Game and Parks Commission.

"Each year, we face the same dilemma, a demand for more birds on one hand and a decline in the safe nesting cover that is vital to a good hatch on the other hand. Unfortunately, a hen can't hatch and rear a brood in a narrow fence line or a barren, burned out roadside," he said.

The early spring season is a time when much vital cover is destroyed, often needlessly. Permanent cover is burned or eliminated even though the land is not devoted to agricultural use, the director notes. Roadside ditches produce one-quarter or more of all the pheasant chicks hatched in Nebraska and could provide more if given the chance.

Nesting cover is the principal bottleneck in building and maintaining a large pheasant population in Nebraska. Natural food is plentiful, and the birds are hardy enough to survive our winter weather if they have good cover. Pheasants are prolific enough to make up for annual losses up to 70 per cent, provided they have habitat that permits this, according to the Game Commission director.

"But the limited amount of good nesting cover Nebraska now has can support only limited production, hence the potential of breeding birds is largely wasted. Each year's crop of birds is determined primarily by the quality and quantity of nesting areas. Unless we stop destroying the limited cover we have left, we will have to accept even fewer pheasants in the future," Steen concluded.

WS to Host PE Teachers On April 11

Wayne State's Rice Auditorium will be the site next week of an elementary physical education workshop designed for the classroom teacher. The workshop is scheduled for Saturday, Apr. 11.

Dr. Ralph Barclay of the college's physical education department said the workshop will center around movement exploration, a problem-solving approach to physical education which focuses upon concepts of space, time and force. Fast becoming an integral part of elementary physical education programs across the nation, the approach has shown great success in helping children develop an understanding of how their bodies move, Barclay noted.

Cooperating with the college in putting on the workshop are the Nebraska Department of Education and the Nebraska Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Workshop clinician for the day will be Mrs. Betty Eikar of the Exeter Public Schools, recent clinician for the Nebraska State Education Association Helmpole in elementary physical education.

"In the program will be a video tape presentation of children exploring movement, brain-storming sessions to develop problems to be solved through movement and a live demonstration using local elementary school children. Material will be handed out to teachers to help them in implementing movement exploration.

Registration time will be 9:30 a.m. with the program planned to last until 3:30 in the afternoon.

State College Heads Told to Plan Campuses

Members of the board of trustees of the Nebraska State Colleges met in the Student Center on the Wayne State College campus Thursday and directed the presidents of the four state colleges to actively pursue over-all campus planning and provide recommendations to the board, according to J. Alan Cramer, board president.

Campus planning had been ordered earlier by the Legislative Council Executive Committee which noted comprehensive planning was needed to determine future appropriations.

Trustees gave approval to an average five per cent pay increase to faculty and staff members at Peru State, Kearney State, Chadron State and Wayne State Colleges. The pay increase had been approved by the Nebraska

Residents of the Pender Community Hospital District voted nearly two to one in favor of adding onto the present hospital. The vote was 1,107 in favor and 583 against.

Voting by precinct was: Pender, 717 for and 175 against; Rosillo, 56 for and 108 against; Washhill, 131 for and 52 against; Bancroft, 80 for and 194 against; Thurston, 123 for and 54 against.

Total amount the bond issue was for was $584,000. Part of the district is in the southeast part of Wayne County.

25 Carroll Men Go to 'Roundup'

About 25 men from the Carroll area were guests of Phil Olson of Farmer's State Bank and First National Bank of Omaha Thursday. The group left Carroll at 6:15 a.m., had breakfast in Fremont, and then went into Omaha to participate in First National Bank of Omaha's fifth Annual Chuck Wagon Roundup at AK-Sar-Ben Field.

The roundup is a "see and hear" type of meeting where, during a fast-moving program which started at 10 a.m. and concluded at 3 p.m., experts in agriculture, banking and ag-research were brought together to cover new developments in livestock and agriculture.

Participants in the roundup were guests of First National Bank of Omaha at a big chuck wagon feed at noon.

25 Carroll Men Go to 'Roundup'

About 25 men from the Carroll area were guests of Phil Olson of Farmer's State Bank and First National Bank of Omaha Thursday. The group left Carroll at 6:15 a.m., had breakfast in Fremont, and then went into Omaha to participate in First National Bank of Omaha's fifth Annual Chuck Wagon Roundup at AK-Sar-Ben Field.

The roundup is a "see and hear" type of meeting where, during a fast-moving program which started at 10 a.m. and concluded at 3 p.m., experts in agriculture, banking and ag-research were brought together to cover new developments in livestock and agriculture.

Participants in the roundup were guests of First National Bank of Omaha at a big chuck wagon feed at noon.

The Service Station

Ray Vrtiska, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Vrtiska of Wayne, has completed 12 weeks of basic training at San Diego and is presently visiting in his parents' home on a 16-day leave. Vrtiska graduated from basic training March 6 and arrived home March 13. He will report to Pensacola, Fla., March 30 and begin a 20-week school training to be a communications technician. Classes begin April 13 in which he will study classified and secret codes.

Pfc. Robert L. Jenkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jenkins of Winside, reported to Fort Riley, Kan., Sunday after spending a 30-day furlough with his parents, friends and relatives. Pfc. Jenkins was hospitalized at Fitzsimmons Hospital in Denver prior to his leave.

Sp/4 and Mrs. Lynn Bailey recently moved to a new apartment. Their new address: Sp/4 and Mrs. Lynn Bailey, 4806 4th Ave., Oxon Hill, Md. 20021.

Sp/4 Earl Koch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Koch of Winside, is stationed at Camp Eagle, near Phu Bai, Viet Nam. Koch entered the service July 31, 1969, took basic training at Fort Lewis, Wash., and advanced training at Fort Lee, Va. He recently was promoted to Sp/4, which, according to an Army spokesman, is quite high for a man in the service such a short time. In the accompanying photo Koch, at right, chats with a pilot friend, Jack Abern from Brighton, Mich. His address: Sp/4 Earl Koch, 507-62-6304, Co. B, 101st Avn. Bn. (AH), 101st Avn. Div. (AMBL), APO San Francisco, Calif. 96383.

The airman is a 1967 graduate of Wakefield High School.

Pfc. William W. Holtgrew, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Holtgrew of Winside and Pfc. Harold Meyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Meyer of Winside, both entered the service July 21, 1969 and took basic training at Fort Lewis, Wash. Last September, both men were transferred to Fort Sam Houston, Texas, for truck driving and medic training. They both left Oakland, Calif., Feb. 2 and arrived in Viet Nam Feb. 3 where upon arrival they were separated. Each has a new address:

Meyer's address: Pfc. Harold Meyer 508-58-9042, C Company 1/5 Cav., 1st ACO, APO San Francisco, Calif. 96490.

Robert Meyer Earns Honors at Academy

Cadet Robert J. Meyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Meyer of Allen, has earned academic honors for the first six weeks grading period of the second semester at Wentworth Military Academy at Lexington, Mo.

Cadets who earn academic honors during the specified grading periods at Wentworth are accorded extra privileges and are permitted to wear the Scholastic Bar on their uniform.

Pfc. William W. Holtgrew, 506-66-6715, Co. A 2/5 Cav., 1st ACD, APO San Francisco, Calif. 96490.

U. S. Air Force Staff Sergeant Gerald D. Mann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Mann, Wayne, has arrived for duty at Travis AFB, Calif.

Sergeant Mann, an air operations supervisor, is assigned to the 1202nd Support Squadron, a unit of the Military Airlift Command which provides global airlift for U. S. military forces.

Winside Pupils Win Top Places In Art Contest Students in the Winside Public Schools entered a total of 515 entries in the recent District III Federated Women's Club Fine Arts Festival held at Oakland.

First place winners who will be among those having works entered in the state contest April 7, 8 and 9 at North Platte are Gene Welbe, who entered a tempera batik, and Robert Holtgrew, who won with a crayon etching. Both are senior high school students.

Second place winners from Winside were Robyn Winch, first grader, with a collage, and Ervin Bruggler, fifth grader, with a mixed media.

Winning third place ratings were Tommy Anderson with a crayon etcher and Bill Westfall, who entered materials from crayon junk. Anderson is in the second grade and Westfall is in third grade.

Winside elementary students getting honorable mention were Becky Westerhaus (tempera - first grade); David Ritze (crayon - third grade); and Rhonda Topp (tempera - fourth grade).

Randolph Voters OK $695,000 Bond Issue

Randolph citizens gave overwhelming approval - 666 to 178 - to a $695,000 bond issue which will enable the public school system to purchase and remodel the present St. Frances school before the 1970-71 school term.

A record number of people turned out to vote in the special election. Percentage in favor of the bond issue was 79. A 55 per cent favorable margin was needed.

The Randolph public school system will have to take on the responsibilities of educating the students currently in the St. Frances Catholic School System, schedules to be disbanded after the present school year.

A total of $390,000 of the amount approved will be used to purchase the Catholic school building. The remaining $305,000 will be used for various purposes, including transportation facilities, an addition to the St. Frances school for a lunch room and additional classroom space. Also included are monies for supplies, athletic expansion expenditures and debt retirement. A total of $29,500 will be spent on improving the old school building.

The Boy Scouts of America submits an annual report to Congress which granted the organization a Federal Charter in 1916.

Busy Stage

One of the busiest places around is the stage of Ramsey Theater in Wayne State's Fine Arts Center. Most any time, day or night, the cast of "Peter Pan" is building the set or rehearsing. Or the choir is singing. Or a class meeting. And then there is Mogens Dalsgaard, the Danish pianist spending a month as musician-in-residence. Most any time, day or night, he may be found practicing at the concert grand on Ramsey's stage, as pictured above. And all the activity swirling around bothers him not a bit as he concentrates on concert preparations. Still, he cheerfully takes time to consult with student musicians, or just to chat about anything. One rapt student listener at left is Karen Orr, a music major.

a drug use and abuse workshop Apr. 10 and 11 at Wayne High School at a cost of $4. The National PTA Conference will be at York Apr. 15 and 16.

By-laws were distributed and Dan Russ, a Wayne State College student teacher, spoke on the book fair.

Serving were Mrs. M. J. Mastan, Mrs. Marion Glass, Mrs. Art Grone and Mrs. Howard Iverson.

A music program under the direction of Mrs. Fletcher will be given at the Apr. 28 meeting.

Gene and Gary Klug, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Klug were confirmed Sunday at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Winside. A dinner in their honor was held afterwards in the Herbert Klug home, Norfolk. Guests were the Merlin Klug family, the Dale Klug family, Tony Thelens, Randolph, and Randall Fulmers, Norfolk.

Dinner guests Sunday in the Willard Jeffrey home for Debra's confirmation were the Verdel Goldberg family, Millard, Alfred Jankes, Robert Jones and the Richard Dttman family.

Dinner guests Sunday in the Don Langenberg home for Joni's confirmation were Mrs. Otto Graef, Mrs. Ruth Langenberg, Dick Sorensons, Edward Niemanns Jr., Henry Langenbergs Jr., Myron Graets, Gordon Hills and Roy Jensens, Omaha. Sponsors are Mrs. Dick Sorenson and Mrs. John Iwaniec.

Stamp Sales Up As Regulations Are Liberalized resulted in an 87 per cent increase in bonus coupons for Wayne County recipients.

Mrs. Martelle noted that 29 participants spent $750.50 for food stamp coupons and received bonus coupons worth $1213.50. This was a bonus average of $19.26 per person or $10.75 over the January average.

Low-income persons in need of food assistance are certified for the program by local welfare offices. The amount that a family pays for food coupons is based on family size and income, reflecting a normal level of food purchases.

To increase low-income families' food-buying power and to improve their diets, USDA issues bonus or free coupons to recipients. Coupons are spent like cash at local retail food stores. Thus, recipients can select from the full variety of domestically produced foods at stores authorized by FNS to accept coupons.

Director Martelle urged all low-income families in need of food assistance to visit the local food stamp certification office at the courthouse in Wayne or call 375-2715.

Business Notes

Urweiler-Malloy of Laurel has been named the Melroe Bobcat Loader dealer for that area. The Bobcat is a compact, front-end loader produced by the Melroe Division of Clark Equipment Co.,

Gwinner, N. D. J. D. Urweiler and Tom Malloy are partners in the new Bobcat dealership, which also carries the International Harvester and Farmhand equipment lines. Urweiler founded the firm 22 years ago and was joined by Malloy in partnership two years ago. Malloy will be in charge of Melroe sales and Howard Hanson will handle Melroe service.
