

Allen FFA Chapter Holds Banquet

John Malmberg received the Star Greenhand Award and Bill Sachau received the Star Chapter Farmer Award during the annual Future Farmers of America chapter banquet at Allen High School Saturday night.

Also given recognition during the evening were Lynn Mattes for winning the pest control contest recently and John Warner for winning the weed contest. Honorary chapter farmer awards were presented to several men during the night. Gaining that honor, decided upon by a vote of the Allen FFA students in recognition of their interest and help, were Richard Schaefer, Cecil Stallbaum, Norris Emry, Larry Koester and Larry Mc Afee.

New officers of the Allen FFA club were introduced and given pins. Those officers: John Warner, president; Gaylord Strivens, vice-president; Fred Moore, secretary; Scott Stalling, treasurer; Stanley Perry, news reporter; Jerry Geiger, sentinel, and Kent Sachau, parliamentarian.

Carroll Firemen Set Open House At New Station

Carroll's volunteer firemen will hold open house from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Apr. 19 in the new fire station recently completed on Main Street, according to Tom Roberts, secretary. Free coffee and doughnuts will be served.

The new structure measures 72 by 36 feet and will house five fire fighting units. It was built on the northwest corner of the city park at a cost of $15,500 and includes a meeting room for firemen.

About a year ago the Carroll Fire Department and Wayne County Fire Protection District One merged to jointly erect the building. Present board members are Gilmore Sabs, president; G. E. Jones, vice-president; T. P. Roberts, secretary and treasurer. Frank Vlast and Lynn Roberts are directors.

See Tom Roberts reports that much volunteer work has been done by the firemen in getting the ground and equipment in shape and in furnishing the meeting room with tables, chairs, stove, sink, refrigerator and painting.

125 People Expected For Drug Conference

A total of about 125 people are expected to turn out Friday for the first day of a two-day conference on drugs at Wayne High School.

The registrants include people from all over northeast Nebraska, numerous teachers in the Wayne-Carroll system and several people from Wayne, according to Mrs. Mary Ann Otrell, school nurse in charge of coordinating the program.

Primary purpose of the conference is to head off the drug problem before it becomes too large to handle in Wayne.

Speakers during the conference include Ted Dappen, director of the state division of health education, and Lt. Paul Jacobson of the Lincoln Vice Squad. Jacobson is replacing Lt. Joe Friend of the Omaha Vice Squad. The conference begins at 1:45 Friday with registration, continues into Friday evening after supper at West Elementary and ends Saturday at 11 a.m.

Up 'n' Coming

—Friday and Saturday, drug conference at Wayne High School.

—Saturday, physical education workshop at Wayne State's Rice Auditorium, 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

—Sunday, Wayne State spring commencement, 3 p.m. in Rice Auditorium.

her come in for a landing and slide face down for about 15 feet. It was that kind of a show Saturday night when every cast member played for real.

An exceptional performance by Dave Ellis and the Jet gang including Doug Stanley, Dan Proett, George John, Monte Niemann and Scott Kerl, was the outstanding single sequence of the show. This writer has never previously observed six high school performers work out a song and dance routine that would come near to equalling the professional touch these fellows gave presenting "Officer Krupke." It strictly teamwork involving good vocal harmony and a lot of body work. Voices were strong and the six seemed completely at ease in getting the audience to roar with laughter at their antics.

Every cast member apparently had their memory work perfected. At least the audience was never aware at any time that so much as a word was forgotten or lost. This is really something in high school drama.

Enough cannot be said regarding the quality of the choreography, without which the musical would be extremely flat. Paula Eoff was in charge of working out the dance routines, oftentimes complicated with the entire cast on stage.

Cornerstone Ceremony

Participating in 3:30 p.m. cornerstone ceremonies at the new $200,000 St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne Sunday afternoon were, from left to right, parish building committee members Jim Keating, Ted Armbruster, Felix Dorcy, John Einung, and Dan Sherry, chairman; the Rev. Paul Begley; and Msgr. Frank Hulsman of the St. Augustine

Mission in Winnebago. A spokesman noted the new structure, which will seat approximately 400, is scheduled for completion early this summer. Modern in architecture, the building features open beam work and will be completely carpeted.

Auto Show Planned

Wheels are starting to turn as stores in Wayne get ready for the next Chamber of Commerce promotion: the annual Auto Show.

Scheduled for all next week, the retail promotion includes two new features this year—the free use of a new car for the winner of the trip to Lake Okoboji and a novel car painting contest. Climaxing the promotion will be the drawing for the trip and the display of late model cars, station wagons and trucks in the 100 block on W. Third Street on Friday.

Shoppers and visitors to the city can register all next week for the free show trip for a family of six to a deluxe chateau at Lake Okoboji near Arnold's Park, Iowa. The winner of that trip—you don't have to be present to win—will be given $50 and the use of a new car from one of the participating car dealers.

Designed for the daring and creative is the car painting contest planned for the first time this year. Cars can be painted in any manner and with any design. Judges will award a trophy and prizes to those courageous enough to enter.

Denney to Address Spring Graduates

Congressman Robert V. Denney of Fairbury will be the speaker for Wayne State College's spring commencement Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Rice Auditorium.

The April 12 date is a change from the original graduation schedule, April 16, because college officials thought a Sunday commencement would be more convenient for persons wishing to attend.

Congressman Denney, in his second term as representative of Nebraska's First District, is a member of several House committees, member of the House Republican Task Force on Agriculture, and has served as vice-chairman of the Republican Coordinating Committee's Task Force on Crime and Delinquency.

The graduating list includes 233 candidates for degrees, 15 of them for master's degrees, 15 for bachelor's degrees.

39 Students Named To WHS Honor Roll

A list of 39 Winside Public School students on the third nine-weeks honor roll was announced last week by Ronald Kramer, principal. Seniors had the greater number of students, 16 in all, on the honor roll. Eighth grade and sophomore classes each had six members honored.

Also to be recognized: members of Alpha Lambda Delta, national honorary for freshman women, and one special award, to Vaughn Anderson of York, who was selected as a superior freshman in mathematics by Kappa Mu Epsilon, national honorary in mathematics.

Graduation will be a family affair for several pairs of candidates—for Mrs. Irene Hamilton of Wayne and son, Alexander, of Handolph; for Mrs. Norma Emmons and daughter, Pat, of Emerson; for Joyce and Jennie Peck, twin sisters from Okleridge; Tim Irish, formerly of Battle Creek, Mich., and his wife, the former Charlene Wendt of Ralston, and Stephen Timmons and his wife, the former Vickie Koppelman, both formerly of Bellevue, now living in Omaha.

94 WHS Pupils On Honor Roll Of Improvement

A list of 94 students named to the third nine-week Improvement Honor Roll at Wayne High School was released by Ken Carlson, guidance counselor, early this week.

Carlson noted that students listed have earned a higher letter grade in at least one course during the third nine-week quarter. He pointed out the students did not drop back a letter grade in other courses while showing improvement in the one course.

The counselor said the Improvement Honor Roll is computed three times during the school year. No minimum grade average is necessary to qualify.

Students on the roll are listed by class as follows:

Little Olympics Program Theme

Everyone's invited to this year's production of the physical education department at West Elementary, scheduled for eight o'clock next Friday evening, April 17, at Wayne State's Rice Auditorium.

Titled "Physical Education and the Olympics," the affair will feature a cast of approximately 155 youngsters in the fifth and sixth grades. On the program are some of the same demonstrations as last year plus several new ones. One of the new demonstrations is synchronized rope jumping, said Don Koenig, physical education instructor for the youths.

Koenig said the program is being held again this year in order to give parents and interested people a chance to see what the young students have learned in their physical education classes during the year.

Last year's "Physical Education at the Circus" featured a decorated auditorium and youngsters dressed in costumes. It attracted a large crowd. What is being planned this year is not certain, Koenig said, but he invited the public to attend and find out.

The youngsters at Carroll Elementary in grades kindergarten through fourth will have their physical education program, also under Koenig's direction, along with the Carroll Music Boosters program on Wednesday of next week.

Centennial Spirit Hits Wayne High

The Wayne County Centennial, planned for early August, got a boost earlier this week from the board of education of the Wayne-Carroll school system.

The school board voted to go along with a request by the student council to permit boys to grow beards for the celebration. The beards will have to be shaved off prior to commencement, a restriction the student council said the students would readily accept.

Area Boy Scouts Set Paper Drive

Boy Scouts in Wakefield, Piller, Laurel, Winside, Newcastle and Wayne will be picking up old newspapers in a drive slated April 18, according to Iwona Wiltsie, Scoutmaster of Troop 175.

As in previous drives, Wiltsie noted, the papers should be boxed or banded and set out on the front porch where they may be easily seen by the Scouts. The drive will start around 9 a.m. so residents are asked to have their papers on the porch prior to that time.

Wiltsie pointed out that rural Wayne people may drop their bundles of newspaper off at the Wiltsie Mortuary at most any time.

The Scoutmaster said the Boy Scouts in Wayne will also pick up old eyeglasses and unwanted jewelry during their paper drive. Wayne residents having such items they would like to discard are asked to put them either in a sack or small box and put them along with the papers on the porch. Wiltsie said it would help if the content of the sack or box was identified on the outside.

The eyeglasses and jewelry will be sent by the Scouts to a program originating in New Jersey called "New Eyes for the Needy."

Set Bid Opening for Highway 98 Paving

Concrete paving of the 12-mile stretch of Highway 98 in the west part of Wayne County will be the subject of bid letting on Thursday, May 7, in Lincoln, according to a legal notice appearing in this issue of the Wayne Herald.

Bids will be opened that morning for work on the road where it connects with Highway 81 east for 12 miles in Pierce and Wayne Counties. The legal notice calls for a six-inch concrete roadway.

Also in the legal section of this issue of the newspaper is a notice to contractors that bids will be opened that same day in Lincoln for widening and remodeling six bridges on Highway 16 between Wakefield and Pender in Wayne and Thurston Counties.

Area Boy Scouts Set Paper Drive

Members of the student council, in asking the board's permission to depart from the dress codes, pointed out that growing beards or moustaches shouldn't interfere with anybody's education and probably won't cause much of a disturbance after their first start appearing. The representatives noted that this would be a good way to show the businessmen and adults that the students are trying to "keep in step" with the community as the celebration draws nearer.

Additional reason for the student council wanting the board's okay: the council plans on selling shaving permits to those who don't grow beards, with the proceeds probably going to the American Field Service Fund, a fund necessary to help finance another AFS student at Wayne High next year.

The board learned from Superintendent Francis Iann that the school has received the second half of state funds, an amount totaling $61,172.23. The previous amount received from the state was $60,904.53. The last payment was received late last week.

Board members voted on a school policy relating to student allergies. The policy aims at relieving the board from the

Also seeking a post on the board were Allen Trube, Boyd Isom and John Meyer.

Detailed returns in the election were not available at press time Wednesday. Results will be printed when available.

Retiring at Wayne State

Two professors at Wayne State College are retiring this year, both having served on the faculty since 1956. Pictured are Mrs. Minnie Rice (left), assistant professor of English, and Mrs. Erma Rodgers, assistant professor of home economics. Mrs. Rice's husband, Dr. John D. Rice, was president of Wayne State from 1951 until his death in 1956.

Hearty Applause for 'West Side Story'

by Merlin Wright

Laughter, applause, tears and a standing ovation for the cast and production crew concluded Wayne High School's presentation of "West Side Story" Saturday night in the WHS lecture hall. Nearly 900 people saw the all-school production during the Friday and Saturday evening performances.

Everyone involved in the "Story" literally pulled out all the stops and projected over the footlights a former Broadway hit in a near flawless manner. "How can I ever get something like that on paper?" I asked myself on the way home following the show, accompanied by lingering melodies of "I Feel Pretty," "A Place for Us" and "Tonight."

Even words like "tremendous," "outstanding," "best ever" and "unsurpassable" are rather inadequate when telling the story of the "Story."

Every scene appeared to have had its share of tender, loving production care. The "rumble" or fight scenes were so realistic that when one of the stage knives (with a retractable blade) failed to function, Riff (Ted Armbruster), a member of the Jet gang, was actually nicked.

Representative Of Wayne County To Road Confab

Nebraska Department of Roads officials will meet with county highway superintendents from across the state on highway programs, standards and legislation at a conference in Kearney Friday. Wayne County will be represented by Duane Upton, consulting engineer, of Wayne.

About 100 county superintendents and other officials are expected to attend the conference sponsored by the Nebraska Association of County Officials. Department of Roads men plan to discuss future highway programs, analyze recently passed highway legislation and provide information on design, construction and maintenance standards and operation of the department for the county officials.

Those attending from the department are: Bruce Gillan, deputy, state engineer, planning; Don Swing, location and pre-design engineer; Jack Pittman, budget officer; Ken Gattula, roadway design engineer; A. H. Dederman, construction engineer; C. F. Nutter, maintenance engineer.

Senators Jerome Warner and J. W. Burlback, chairman and vice chairman of the legislative transportation committee, will speak at the luncheon.

'West Side Story' -

accompanied by their vocal duet "A Place For Us," will be long remembered.

There was no doubt in anyone's mind but that Beth Bergt was convinced of her lines in "I Feel Pretty," and she certainly was pretty. Showmanship was unusual in her solo as it was throughout the "Story."

Light scenes, re-enactment of fights, costumes, lighting, complicated song routines, strong voices like Verl Preston's, orchestration, colorful sets, conservative make-up, and hard-working directors were all extremely important factors that went into the recipe for making "West Side Story" the best high school musical this writer has ever seen.

Every participant was obviously a real trooper and as an instance of dedication to "the show must go on," Randy Gathje, who played trumpet along with Bruce Hing and Terry Hurlbert, had an unfortunate fall off a ladder while at work Saturday and injured a leg, but he secured a pair of crutches and took his place in the orchestra that night.

In the final scene where the two young lovers, Maria and Tony, run toward each other and Tony is shot, dying on stage, the scene was so dramatic that more than one person in the audience was in tears. The final curtain fell, and then the standing ovation from a very appreciative audience.

Though perhaps the boys didn't mind, it should be noted that two names were unintentionally left off the printed program. Monte Nlemann should have been listed in the cast and Steve Hill was in the orchestra pit in the percussion group. Both put forth a great effort.

It will be difficult to ever top this production, but being acquainted with that eager, youthful enthusiasm at WHS, when next year rolls around, they will sure try.

'Part Is Already Spent'

Some of it will go to her church, Mrs. Alvina Walters said after winning $500 last Thursday night in the Chamber of Commerce weekly drawing. The rest of the money will be spent somehow but she is not sure in what way. Mrs. Walters, who lives in her life on such a large prize, was in Arnie's at 1034 Main St. when her name was called. Arnie Rees, owner of the grocery, presented the check to her. This week's prize will be worth $100.

Allen Kindergarten Roundup Scheduled

Kindergarten roundup time is planned at Allen on Thursday and Friday, April 23-24, from 10 to 11 each morning. The school officials are inviting both the mother and child to stay for lunch at the school.

Parents are urged to contact the school if they have a child with a birthday which falls between Oct. 15 1963, and Oct. 15, 1965, or if they know of somebody who has a child born then.

Parents are asked by the school to bring the child's birth certificate to the roundup so it can be photographed and placed on the child's school record. Other information the parents should bring with them includes the dates of smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus shots.

Anybody wishing more information about the coming roundup should get in touch with school officials or with Mrs. Darlene Roberts, kindergarten teacher.

SMILE! Then everybody will wonder what you're up to.

Banquet Rescheduled

Wakefield High School alumni have changed the date for the scheduled alumni banquet on Memorial Day to June 27.

Northeast Extension Notes

by Mary A. Schluckebier

To Sift or Not to Sift
To sift or not to sift flour depends on how it is to be used in a particular recipe.

When a recipe involves a delicate balance of ingredients and specifies sifted flour, failure to sift can mean failure in the oven. In other recipes such as bread, where flour is the main ingredient, a variable is given in either the amount of flour or its quid used. This variable allows for variation between different types and weights of flours.

Most recipes used to be written for sifted flour. Often a note appeared with the alternate suggestion to spoon the flour into a cup, level it and remove two level tablespoons.

Today, it is realized that many homemakers do not bother to sift flour and they do not consider it necessary. Therefore, recipes are being written that indicate only "flour." Other recipes suggest that the flour can be stirred and lightly spooned into the cup. It is still recommended that the flour be sifted for accurate measurements where the ratio of flour to other ingredients is important, according to Sandy Dickson, University of Nebraska, Extension food and nutrition specialist.

Blue Devil Thinclads See Action Soon

Wayne High's track squad, now getting some work outside, will compete for the first time this year Tuesday at an invitational at South Sioux City. That meet will be followed on Friday with a triangular at the same site. Laurel completes the trio.

Coach Allen Hansen has fielded a large squad this season, including seven returning lettermen: Dan Sutherland in sprints, Rick Robins in high jump and hurdles, Jim Meyer in middle distance, Lonnie Holtorf in sprints and pole vault, Ed Bull and Don Hansen in middle distance, and Dale Tomrild in hurdles and long jump. Sutherland and Robins are seniors, Meyer a junior, the rest sophomores.

Hansen will also be calling upon several promising prospects to provide depth to his squad this season. He points to several young men as among those he expects good efforts from.

Habitat Is Subject Of Game Supervisor

Wayne Kiwanians heard Clayton Stalling, district supervisor of land management for the State Game Commission, spoke March 30 following a luncheon at the Woman's Club rooms. Stalling spoke about related problems of fishing and hunting in a 20-county area of Northeast Nebraska identified by the game commission as District III.

Stalling noted that several species of game animal or fowl in the state can be found in District III. "No other district in Nebraska can make this claim," he said.

Confining the major portion of his presentation to factors contributing to development of natural habitat, the supervisor emphasized that Wayne County is short of natural habitat for pheasant and has been described by some in the game commission as a biological desert inasmuch as fishing area is concerned.

Stalling told Kiwanians that pheasants build nests late in April or early May and the nest with its eggs should not be disturbed for 40 days. He said the pheasants must find habitat adequate to protect them from cold winds and weather, and such places are increasingly hard to find.

Suggesting steps that would contribute toward increasing wildlife habitat areas in District III, Stalling advised his hearers to encourage land operators to refrain from burning weeds, delay mowing road sides until after July 15, and eliminate grazing of road sides. He pointed out that one third of the pheasant population in the state is hatched on road sides.

Pat Gross also spoke to the club Monday regarding the fund drive throughout the area to purchase an artificial kidney machine. He said a used machine has been purchased and will soon be available for Pete Haberer and other area residents needing its use.

The Husker Conference junior high tournament is planned for May 11.

Girls' Sports Starts Next Year at Laurel

Girls will be playing a more important part in sports in the Northeast Nebraska Athletic Conference come next fall.

The conference will add both volleyball and track for the girls beginning with the 1970-71 school year. Laurel and several other northeast Nebraska high schools have had volleyball in the past, but this will be the first year for girls' track in the schools. Schools in the NENAC are Laurel, Crofton, Bloomfield, O'Neill, Plainview and Pierce.

The conference will hold its varsity track meet at O'Neill on April 28 because the new track in Plainview, original site for the event, will not be completed by then. The junior high track meet will be held at Plainview on May 5. The conference golf tournament is set for May 6 at Bloomfield.

Other important dates for member schools include an organizational meeting for volleyball for girls on April 22 and the faculty golf tournament on May 16.

Named All-Conference

Laurel cage stars Steve Erwin, a 6-6 junior, and George Schroeder, a 6-3 sophomore, were named to the first all-conference team by a vote of coaches in the Northeast Nebraska Athletic Conference recently.

Also named to the squad were Pierce's Brian Pim, Bloomfield's Larry Larson and Crofton's Pat Kollars. Named to the second team were Rod Erwin of Laurel, John Scott and Randy Stein of Bloomfield, and Doug Mutschall and Mike Jackson of O'Neill.

Laurel finished first in the conference with a 5-0 mark, followed by Pierce and Crofton at 3-2, Bloomfield at 2-3, and Plainview and O'Neill at 1-4.

Allen Track Squad Includes 3 Lettermen

Allen's Claipe Jordan, trying his hand for the first time at Allen with the track program, has three lettermen, all juniors, to help form the core of this year's squad at Allen High.

Letterman out for track include Keaton Emry in the sprints, Brian Linafelter in the sprints and long jump, and Bob Mitchell in the sprints and long jump.

Just over a dozen runners have been turning out for track at Allen.

Others out for the squad include Bill Hall in mile relay and sprint medley, Jerome Roberts in mile relay and mile run, Jerry Jordan, who coached the Allen basketball squad earlier this school year, points to the half mile relay as one of his team's strong points. Although it's difficult to say for sure, he points to the three lettermen and sophomore Scott Stalling as members of that crew.

Dodge Hands Wayne 4-1 Defeat Monday

A strong Dodge team took advantage of several mental lapses by the Wayne High baseball squad to hand Wayne a 4-1 loss in the season opener Monday afternoon at Wayne.

The Wayne team continues its tough schedule today when Wakefield, another potent foe, comes here for a 3 p.m. contest. Monday things get no better: Wayne travels to Bancroft to face a team which Wayne Coach Mike Mallette calls one of the "strongest batteries we will have to face this year."

The local nine, showing some of the effects of being forced to work inside much of the time since practice began, fell behind by 4-0 in the top of the sixth inning after holding Dodge hitless for the first straight frames. Dodge's runs came after pitcher Randy Helgren gave up two bases on balls and a single before being replaced by Mike Ginn. Ginn gave up another single before getting the first man out in the inning on a fly to second baseman Jim Kenny. Another Dodge hitter singled before Ginn ended the inning on a fly to himself and a strike out.

Wayne came back for one run in the bottom of the sixth inning on a balk on Dodge's pitcher with the bases loaded and only one out. Elkmeyer fanned Rod Cook and Dick Tietgen to end that Wayne threat.

Helgren, seeing his first action on the mound, walked up five strike outs and got himself out of one jam before finally giving up a hit, a single in the fifth with one out. Helgren had loaded the bases in the second inning after getting two out when he walked two straight before an error by Ginn at shortstop. He struck out the sixth man to face him, stifling that threat. He wasn't so lucky in the sixth inning, giving up three runs before changing places with Ginn at shortstop.

Denny Redel led Wayne with two hits in three at bats, a single in the first inning and another in the sixth, rapping out a double in the bottom of the fourth with

Izaak Walton League In Membership Drive

The local chapter of the Izaak Walton League is presently carrying on a membership drive, according to Norrie Weible, chapter president. He said Friday that it is time for the members to renew memberships and receive a new entrance key to the league's property northwest of Wayne.

The president explained that the chapter is hoping to have memberships and keys renewed by May 1 and if a member hasn't renewed as yet, he should do so soon.

Weible said the local group numbered 142 in membership last year.

Possible Realignment In Store for League

Unless there is a reversal of decision at Decatur, the Northeast Nebraska League will be seeking another team to complete its eight-team alignment for 1970.

Reports from Decatur are that they will not field a team; however, holdovers Homer, Ponca, Wakefield and Wayne, in Nebraska, and Whiting, Remsen and Lawton, in Iowa, are set for the coming campaign.

No date has been set for the league's organizational meeting, but any team interested in joining the league is asked to contact Lefty Olson at Wakefield.

Team managers already appointed include Bud Vassler, Homer; Bob Rockwell, Ponca; Jim Woods, Lawton, and Keith Pithan, Whiting.

girl, whose husband has two years to complete at Wayne State, will enter school as a sophomore. The couple has an infant child.

Superintendent Hahn reported to the group has attempted to economize on teachers' salaries next year by eliminating the duties of one typing teacher and half the duties of a strings teacher.

The economizing involves moving Arlene Cook to elementary music from high school music, using music instructor Bonita Day only half time next year and not replacing Dianne Magwire, typing teacher who has resigned.

The board also began negotiations with the custodial employees in the school system, something the board is required to do by a law passed by the last legislature.

Wayne Rasmussen, Allen High graduate now serving as state vice-chairman from the northeast Nebraska area. Mike Isom spoke on the chapter's accomplishments during the past year.

School cooks prepared the dinner for the evening and the members of the Future Homemakers of America chapter at Allen served.

Several of the Allen FFA members will be in Lincoln today (Thursday) and Friday taking part in the 53rd annual Nebraska vocational agriculture judging contest at the University of Nebraska-Fast Campus.

Taking part in the contest will be Scott Stalling, Gaylord Strivens and Dick Dowling in Agronomy; Jon Hastede and Bart Jorgensen in livestock management; Bill Sachau and Jerry Warner in farm management; Bill Sachau, Bart Jorgensen and Jon Hastede in livestock judging, and Lynn Mattes, Loren Reuter and Mike Isom in dairy cattle selection.

The last group named will also enter the dairy products contest. The Allen students are also entering a few other contests, according to Lynn Schluckebier, vocational agriculture instructor.

The contests are being held in conjunction with the annual meeting of the Nebraska Association of the Future Farmers of America. Winners of five contests—livestock, meats, dairy, poultry and poultry products—will represent the state in national competition in Kansas City, Mo., and the national FFA convention in October.

The State Farmer Degree, highest given by the state FFA organization, will be awarded to 100 young men at the first session of the convention. Competing for the honor from Allen will be Bill Sachau and Jerry Warner.

Six agriculturalist degrees, to honor those in off-farm programs, will also be awarded. Another highlight will be the naming of four area Star Farmers.

The annual banquet Friday will be sponsored by the Farmers Union of Nebraska, Central States Dairy Cooperative and Fales Cooperatives. State Farmers and advisors will be guests at a noon luncheon sponsored by the Lincoln Jaycees.

Weathermen are forecasting warm temperatures to continue through Saturday with only a slight chance of precipitation.

Wayne Firemen Kept Busy Tuesday

Few volunteer firemen in Wayne accomplished much work Tuesday afternoon. Instead, they spent several hours putting out grass and haystack fires a few miles from Wayne.

The first alarm was turned in a few minutes after noon when two stacks of hay caught fire on the Ed Doeschler farm two miles north and four and one-quarter miles east of Wayne. The fire department from Wakefield was called to that fire first, then called on the Wayne fire department for assistance. The Wakefield men had been fighting a fire at the city dump southeast of Wakefield.

The fire destroyed several tons of baled hay and burned a fairly large area of ground at Doeschler's before being brought under control. A crib full of corn and several buildings were saved by the firemen.

While fighting that fire, an alarm was sounded for a grass fire in the City of Napoleon, two miles north and a mile east of Wayne. That fire was brought under control in a short time by the Wayne firemen and caused little damage.

The local firemen were in town only a short time after the first two fires when another alarm was sounded, this one about 2:15 p.m. This one was another grass fire which threatened to burn into a grove of trees on land four

Soil Lectures Open To Area Farmers

Three lectures on soil by Dr. James V. Drew, agronomist at the University of Nebraska, have been rescheduled this Friday and Saturday at Wayne State College. A snow storm delayed his original appearance last month.

Farmers and ranchers are invited to attend any of the lectures, according to Dr. Robert Sutherland, chairman of the WSU biology department.

Dr. Drew's first talk, on "Soil Landscapes and Climatic Change," is scheduled at 10:10 a.m. Friday in the planetarium of Carhart Science Hall; his second lecture, on "Soil Characteristics and Patterns in the Arête Environment," at 1:30 p.m. Friday, also in the planetarium.

His third talk, of special interest to Sand Hills ranchers, will be on "Infrared Sensing of Soil and Range Conditions in the Sand Hills of Nebraska," at 1 p.m. Saturday in the Student Center Birch Room. This talk will be in conjunction with a meeting of the Northeast Nebraska Junior Academy of Science.

Dr. Drew's visit to Wayne is sponsored by the American Society of Agronomy.

Wayne Firemen Kept Busy Tuesday

Few volunteer firemen in Wayne accomplished much work Tuesday afternoon. Instead, they spent several hours putting out grass and haystack fires a few miles from Wayne.

The first alarm was turned in a few minutes after noon when two stacks of hay caught fire on the Ed Doeschler farm two miles north and four and one-quarter miles east of Wayne. The fire department from Wakefield was called to that fire first, then called on the Wayne fire department for assistance. The Wakefield men had been fighting a fire at the city dump southeast of Wakefield.

The fire destroyed several tons of baled hay and burned a fairly large area of ground at Doeschler's before being brought under control. A crib full of corn and several buildings were saved by the firemen.

While fighting that fire, an alarm was sounded for a grass fire in the City of Napoleon, two miles north and a mile east of Wayne. That fire was brought under control in a short time by the Wayne firemen and caused little damage.

The local firemen were in town only a short time after the first two fires when another alarm was sounded, this one about 2:15 p.m. This one was another grass fire which threatened to burn into a grove of trees on land four

Three lectures on soil by Dr. James V. Drew, agronomist at the University of Nebraska, have been rescheduled this Friday and Saturday at Wayne State College. A snow storm delayed his original appearance last month.

Farmers and ranchers are invited to attend any of the lectures, according to Dr. Robert Sutherland, chairman of the WSU biology department.

Dr. Drew's first talk, on "Soil Landscapes and Climatic Change," is scheduled at 10:10 a.m. Friday in the planetarium of Carhart Science Hall; his second lecture, on "Soil Characteristics and Patterns in the Arête Environment," at 1:30 p.m. Friday, also in the planetarium.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

You may not agree with an editorial — but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed, you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

On Spending Your Money

It was unfortunate that the city council had to suffer the embarrassment of having ordered a truck for the light department without first having voted to purchase the truck. Unfortunately, but probably worthwhile.

The city cannot spend public funds in such a case without a vote by the council, according to the city's legal advisor. This was not done in this case, and the truck was ordered after the bids were turned over to committee. The committee should have turned its recommendations back to the council for a vote on which bid to accept.

Although it did turn out to be embarrassing to some of the people involved, it was fortunate that one of the councilmen, Tony Netherland, took the unpopular course in questioning such actions. Also, that councilman questioned whether the city has been correct in accepting other than low bid in some bid lettings. If a bidder meets specifications, he noted, he should get the job if the figure is low. The council should have good reasons for accepting anything else, he said.

Worth noting is this councilman's length of time on the council. He will go off that group June 1. He could have avoided the problem and been more popular. We're glad he didn't. His constituents should feel the same way. — NLH.

Who Is Calling Who a Name?

Nebraska Legionnaires, while meeting in Fremont in February, resolved they are "Unalterably opposed to the appearance of imported or local revolutionaries, dissidents and felons in our state and especially under the sponsorship of those institutions that are supported by our taxes and gifts for the purpose of training our children for a better way of life rather than a life of subversion, assassination, corruption, destruction and unwashed bodies."

A graduate student from Denver, Colo., wrote an article in the Daily Nebraskan, student publication at the University of Nebraska, concerning the resolution, calling the American Legion a "farcical organization," "ignorant hypocrites" and "illiterate reactionaries."

The graduate student went on to openly denounce the Legionnaires claiming they were interfering with the rights of all university students.

It is obvious that the student writer doesn't believe in giving the American Legion the same rights of free speech that he seems to be so interested in. No doubt you have noticed this is true in most cases when there are student protestors.

What gives the protestors his right of free speech? Who went to the battle front and fought off America's enemies, who had they taken the country, would have allowed no one to speak freely? Who were the men drafted in WWI and WWII, Korea and Viet Nam? Legionnaires are men who thought it a lot more important to fight enemies who threatened our nation's freedoms than to use the enemies tactics in causing internal strife.

It is rather easy to separate the men from the boys. The Legionnaires used their freedom of speech to affirm a policy on tax-supported campuses which would tend to keep institutions of learning from becoming wombs of subversion. The graduate student has obviously discovered he has a right to speak freely, but is much like a boy with a new toy and doesn't just exactly know how to use it... so resorted to name calling. Thank God he isn't a typical student. — MMW.

Who Gets Robbed?

I found shoplifting fun, easy, and a big thrill — besides, the store will never miss it with all that merchandise it has. And if I ever get caught, (but I won't) my parents will take care of it for me.

Well, I did get caught, and my parents did take care of it. Dad spent our money paying fines and making restitution to the stores where I stole from.

Now I have a record. Big deal. What is a little thing like that going to matter?

Well, now I am out of school, and I was a good student and got good grades. Now I'm going to find a good job. That should be no problem — I have a degree.

The employment application at the first place I went asked if I'd ever been arrested for a crime. But that was a long time ago and I've changed since that happened.

I was wrong. That little act of shoplifting on my record means that I can't have:

1. Any job that requires bonding by an insurance company; Banking, bookkeeping, cashier, check-out girl, some places not even being a stockboy.
2. Civil service jobs — state, county, or city.
3. Armed services: Not too much chance for a commission or any position that requires a security check or clearance.
4. Real estate broker. Nope — nope — not that.
5. Lawyer — No, again.
6. Military academy — No, can't go there either.
7. Certified public accountant — No, can't go there either.

These are only seven areas, but the list is getting longer — and once you get a job, the advancements aren't into the real top positions. There always seems to be something about a record of something that happened a long time ago. That store wasn't robbed of something — I was. (From the Mankato (Minn.) Free Press)

It Takes a Thief

Maybe you liked the telecast with the above title, but seldom does anyone like a thief. Can you guess who dislikes a thief the most? There is no one who dislikes a thief more than another thief. Ironic, isn't it? Thieves will steal but become trite when someone steals from them.

It takes a thief to enter a student's locker at the Wayne Middle School and steal. It takes a thief to break padlocks on high school lockers and steal. It takes a thief to enter a dorm room or steal money from another's clothes when he or she is involved in Wayne State College physical education classes.

It takes a thief to enter a parked automobile and steal stereo tapes and the tape deck. It takes a thief to walk into any downtown business firm and shoplift.

What kind of people are these sticky-fingered hoodlums? Or are they hoodlums? Perhaps the parents do not have the slightest idea their offspring has been living like a leech. This writer knows of one circumstance where several youngsters were well trained but would shoplift at every chance without any seeming remorse or conscience.

Just how many there are involved in stealing in our schools isn't known. It could possibly be only one person in each institution which gives the entire student body a moral black eye.

Students in these days of better education are seeking ways of getting involved in social problems. How about banding together and keeping sharp eyes open for parasites who help themselves to others' possessions?

Parents should perhaps question youngsters if they just happen to "find" sums of money or clothes, caps, coats, overshoes, etc.

People who steal, young of old, need help in getting their mental wires untwisted.

What will it take to really make most of us mad and aware of the stealing problem? It will take a thief... taking something we own. — MMW.

Let's Turn Down the Turn On

There are few problems which can be solved without depriving someone of something or without a lot of money, but the problem of too-loud rock music damaging eardrums could be solved by turning down the turn-on button or volume control. Music quality would not be harmed and by the time today's teenager reaches the 40th birthday, he or she would still be able to hear.

Teenagers, when asked to turn down the sound, may believe they are being asked to do so because the older generation doesn't like the beat. Aging doesn't change a person's love for rhythm but music reaching the 120 decibel level of sound can age anyone's eardrums.

Experts note that a rocket blasting off for the moon and jet planes on take-off reach the 120 decibel level. Observing men working near such levels of sound, one may note that protective devices are worn to protect the eardrum. Personnel working in industrial areas, where sound reaches a dangerous 120 decibel level, are required to wear protective devices in or over the ear.

Eardrums, young or old, constantly exposed to overly-loud music, or any other sound, may easily sustain damaged cells in the vital cochlear area of the inner ear, according to controlled scientific experiments.

A spokesman at the Illinois Institute of Technology Research Institute notes "If you have to raise your voice to make yourself heard at a distance of three feet because of noise, you are beginning to get into the danger zone."

Rock music may be fun, fine and loud, but, as dad tries to quit smoking and mom attempts to quit eating, how about rock fans slimming down the eardrum diet with something like 100 decibels? Let's turn down the turn on. — MMW.

You could have one of cancer's 7 warning signals and not recognize it.

1. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
3. A sore that does not heal.
4. Change in bowel or bladder habits.
5. Hoarseness or cough.
6. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
7. Change in size or color of a wart or mole.

If one persists for two weeks, see your doctor. But better still, don't play guessing games with your life. See your doctor for a checkup once a year no matter how great you feel. Help yourself with a checkup. And others with a check.

Capital News — Legislative Lineup Changes; 4 Assessors Fail State Test

LINCOLN — The legislative lineup has changed again.

Put Jack Mullen in as a substitute for Rick Budd. Both are Nebraska City businessmen.

Budd, who didn't file for re-election from the second legislative district, submitted a letter of resignation as a state senator last week and Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann named Mullen to replace him.

Mullen is one of three candidates in the May 12 primary. The others in the race are Calvin S. Carsten of Avoca and Raymond E. DeRosia of Plattsmouth. The district includes Cass and Otoe Counties.

Budd is expected to be appointed soon as Nebraska director of the federal Small Business Administration.

In his letter to the governor, he said he was resigning because he is chairman of an interim study committee looking into the need for legislation on conflicts of interest in political subdivisions.

"Since I am not a candidate for re-election and realizing the importance the chairman of the study committee will have in accomplishing the recommendations of the committee at the next legislative session, I feel the best interests of my district and the state will be served by stepping down at this time," Budd wrote Tiemann.

Mullen headed the 1968 Little Hoover Commission study of management in state government. He is the third senator appointed by Tiemann since the end of the 1969 Legislature. Donald Trought, who succeeded Sen. Pat Moulton, and George A. House, who succeeded Sen. Edward R. Danner, also are running for election.

Moulton resigned because of ill health and Danner died last winter. They both represented Omaha districts.

Assessors Tested.

The State Revenue Department last month conducted the first of two examinations which will be given to persons who wish to serve as county assessors next year.

Persons who failed the test in March or who didn't take it will have an opportunity Sept. 24 to take a similar examination. They must pass the test to qualify for state certification and, according to a law passed by the 1969 Legislature, only persons with certification may serve as assessor or deputy after the first of next year.

Among the 188 persons who took the March examination were 85 incumbent assessors. All but four passed.

The incumbents who will have to take the test — and pass it — this fall if they wish to qualify for the office next year are R. J. Lewis of Antelope County, Rudolph Brandt of Boone County, Imogene Vinson of Hayes County and John Nelson of Keith County.

The revenue department said the others who failed the exam were, by county:

- William H. Miller, Antelope; Ruby L. Harris, Chase; Ruth Childress, Colfax; Joyce A. Watters, Fillmore; Ray Hessel, Hall; JoAnne L. Johansen, Polk; Frane E. Vohl, Richardson; Kenneth B. Shear, Rock; Fred Dvorak Jr., Saline; Mrs. Alvine Denker, Sarpy; Gladys Baldwin, Thayer; Linda Meech, Valley; and Bob Bobb, Webster.
- State officials said they didn't know which if any of those persons are now serving as deputy assessors or are candidates for assessor this year.
- Wilber Houtchens, chief of the property tax division of the revenue department, said the 100-question examination tested the general knowledge of property values, appraising techniques, computations, exemptions and equalization.

Houtchens said he was "generally pleased" that all but 17 of the 188 persons who took the test passed it. He said it was an indication that the quiz was fair.

Rebates Reduced

Nebraska cities which updated their sewage treatment facilities under the 70-30 matching ratio of local and federal funds aren't eligible for reimbursement if the ratio is changed.

That is a ruling received recently by state officials who had posed the question to the U. S. Department of Interior, which administers water pollution control funds.

If the state were to provide aid to cities which have to step up their sewage treatment procedures, the federal portion of the costs would rise from 30 per cent to 50 per cent — and the state would provide another 25 per cent.

That would mean that cities would have to put up only 25 per cent, instead of the 70 per cent they do now.

T. A. Filippi, chief of the environmental health division of the State Health Department, asked federal officials if it would be possible to reimburse those cities which had gone ahead under the old formula.

He said he was informed that federal money could be used only for new projects and couldn't be granted retroactively to municipalities.

There is pressure to have a special legislative session called to put the state into the matching formula this year so federal funds now available can be used. Since the federal money may be used only for 30 per cent of the costs, few cities have applied for grants.

Gov. Tiemann has indicated that if a special session is called for some other subject he would include the sewage treatment plant aid on the agenda for the senators. The air program would involve about $3 million per year in state funds.

Helping Unproductive Is Latest Goal of NE Mental Clinic

"How can we get this person into more productive life in the community when he is unemployed? Perhaps he doesn't know what job he wants, much less where to look or learn how to do it."

This was the problem facing the Northeast Mental Health Clinic, which travels to Valentine, Atinsworth, Dakota City and Bassett monthly. The clinics were established in these areas to provide people in Northeast Nebraska with convenient mental health services. With this objective in mind, a vocational rehabilitation counselor was added to the satellite team then consisting of psychologists, social workers and a psychiatric nurse.

Just as a person with a physical disability may need assistance to enter and maintain suitable employment, so may a person with a mental disability, according to those at the Clinic. Employment is considered valuable to all persons. Not only does it provide the money for necessities—and hopefully a few extras—but also makes a person feel he is a worthwhile part of society. However, work that is frustrating, ill-matched to the talents of the worker or is performed under adverse circumstances can be a drag and drudge. Work can be a necessary evil, they note, or the basis for man's existence.

Thus, the Northeast Mental Health Clinic believes it is important to help their clients either to enter the world of work, obtain a job that is better suited to their individual needs or return to their former employment. Rehabilitation services are designed to develop, improve or restore the working usefulness of handicapped individuals to the degree that they may become satisfactorily employed.

The rehabilitation counselor is employed by the State Division of Rehabilitation Services. He will talk with each individual to help him or her select the right vocational goal. Then the counselor will attempt to provide the necessary services to reach this goal. This may include medical or surgical treatment; prosthetic appliances such as artificial limbs, braces, hearing aids, and glasses; vocational evaluation and training; provision of working apparel and tools; and assistance with job placement. Most important, the counselor provides encouragement and support until each client feels confident in his new job, Clinic officials point out.

Young people make up more than 40 per cent of all new applicants at local employment service offices. The number of job-seekers between the ages of 16 and 22 years is expected to be about 15 million by 1975.

Park Tells Kiwanis Of School Program

Kiwanis Club members, meeting for a noon luncheon in the Woman's Club rooms Monday noon, heard Loren Park, principal of the Wayne Middle School, report on the school's program and concepts of learning.

Park said there were 335 pupils in grades five through eight in the school with a total of 32 teachers, some of whom are part-time instructors.

The principal described the school's program as being focused on the individual child teaching them to "Learn how to learn, think how to think and learn to decide."

Park answered questions following his address discussing grading in the school, educational television, and various methods students may use for learning.

Winside High School seniors wowed their 300 guests in the audience Friday night with gales of laughter in what must be one of the most-comical three-act plays available called "Down to Earth." Cast members presented the play in the Winside auditorium again Saturday night.

The play, written by Bettye Knapp, opens with three angels descending to earth to polish up their good deeds. One of the angels, Pilone, played to the hilt by Steph Carlson, only has one wing and works desperately to set the kind of record that will allow him two wings. Agnes (Carol Wagner) and Wilfred (Stan Nathan) are the other two angels lending their angelic glow (times, supposedly invisible to all earthlings).

A wealthy, elderly lady (Augusta Applegate played by Jo Ann Westfall) who is rich and lonely, has a large house in which the scenes are set. Her maid (Diana Clump portrayed by Marilyn Stevens) is poor, lonely, and has been jilted 11 times. The old, retired, bachelor sailor down the block (Herman Howell characterized by Phil Witt) was lonely.

To this cast add a rich hypochondriac (Robert Hanley aptly played by Fritz Welbe), June Bromsley (Beverly Gries) and Richard White (Doug Deek), who are lonely and crazy about each other; Baxter Bromsley (Gregg Troutman) a screwball inventor; Orpha Teel (Diane Bruggeman) and her daughter, Ruthie, (Dona Krueger) who are gold-digging relatives of Miss Applegate, and add Mollie Bromsley (Debbie Peter), a protective mother and wife.

The angels immediately set to work in trying to understand the ways of mankind. Angelic Pilone fell in love with a cute maid who, even after being jilted by 11 men, was thrilled by his attention and caused everyone to believe she was completely lonely due to her invisible bewitching, one angelic, rolling-god time. Vases mysteriously moved and were broken while other objects appeared to those living in the house, to float around in this air. Each of the family members thought they were personally losing their minds as food disappeared and a toaster with brown toast floated around. The cause for all of this was, of course, angelic curiosity as to how some of man's conveniences operated. Each situation was a new comedy and the audience got little rest from laughing.

A dual conversation on stage between earthlings who could see each other and between the angels, whom the earthlings could not hear, was handled with clever writing and excellent production.

Outstanding characterization performances were given by Steph Carlson as an impish one-winged angel, and by Phil Witt and Jo Ann Westfall as the ones brought to life the personalities of two elderly folk who are finally overcome by the romance of romance.

All of the lonely people in the play finally found someone to love through the "courtesy" of the mischievous angels who knew how to time a loving caress or kiss. It didn't take long for two lonely souls to get together when angelic madness broke loose.

Due to their sidesplitting escapades, the angels discovered they were earthbound during the climactic third act. One-winged Pilone, however, was able to win the heart of his beloved maiden when she was accidentally hit by an automobile which allowed her to become an angel also.

The fact that Pilone had discovered love for himself, after helping everyone else out in the romantic department, qualified all of the angels for a return fantasy on a laugh-filled note.

Directing the hit comedy were Mrs. Shirley Trampe and Mrs. Lois Bertsch. Kirk Schellenberg assisted as student director.

A bake sale was held immediately following the play by mothers of seniors.

MAVERICK. $1995...it's a little gas.

*Ford's suggested retail price for the base Maverick model. White sidewall tires are not included, they are $20 extra. Since dealer preparation charges (if any), transportation charges and state and local taxes vary, they are not included, nor is extra equipment that is specially required by state laws.

Our little Maverick is America's best selling small car. The reason is simple—solid value. Maverick is simple to drive. Turn on the engine and you turn loose the power of 105 horses. Yet Maverick rivals the economy imports in gas mileage. Simple to park. Maverick can U-turn in a tighter circle than the leading import. Simple to service. Maverick requires fewer oil changes, fewer chassis lubrications. You save time and money. Simple to repair. The Maverick Owner's Manual has 24 pages of instruction for routine maintenance jobs you can do yourself. Simple to own. Save right from the start—the Simple Machine is your Ford Dealer's lowest-priced car.

For a little more...it's a GRABBER!

The new Maverick Grabber has all the same features as our Simple Machine but we've added an extra sporty flare to it. Here's what Grabber gives you: 1) Racy body-side tape stripes; choice of five hot Grabber colors, 14-in. whitewall tires and wheel trim rings. High excitement, yes. High price, no. 2) 200 CID Six and 3-speed fully synchronized manual transmission. Lots of pep, but not hard to tune. Grabber adds to your fun, not your mechanical problems. 3) Dual racing mirrors. But no high "muscle car" insurance rates. 4) Three-spoke woodgrained steering wheel just like the racing cars. But no hard, stiff ride. Grabber's sprung for comfort, not for the track. 5) Black-painted hood and grille. Grabber puts on a great front, but maintenance costs are low. Service is fast and simple. With lots you can do yourself. 6) Rear deck-lid spoiler. Even an economy car can dream, can't it?

MAVERICK

THE NEW MAVERICK GRABBER IS AT YOUR FORD DEALER'S NOW.

Fun Fair Tickets

Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts in the Wayne area will be selling tickets to the approaching Scout Fun Fair slated for Wakefield early in May.

The Fair, an annual event for the Scouts in the Lewis and Clark District, will be held at the Wakefield Elementary School on Saturday, May 2. Theme this year is "Sixty Years of Scouting."

Tickets were distributed to the Scouts during Tuesday's Round Table at the West Elementary School in Wayne.

Scouts from the district's five counties - Wayne, Cuming, Thurston, Dixon and Cedar - will take part in this year's Fun Fair. Total number of boys from the 30 units in the area who might turn out for the coming event totals between 200 and 300.

The Fun Fair is being held in order to give people not closely associated with Scouting an opportunity to see what the boys have been doing over the year. It puts Scouting in the public eye, according to Marvin Sword of Wayne, district Scout executive. He noted that the Scouting program has been shaping the lives of thousands of boys for 60 years through activities and skills such as those which will be displayed at the Fun Fair.
