

Psychedelic Entry Might Win

The sky's the limit . . . or the imagination. That's the thing to remember if you want to enter the car painting contest scheduled later this week to go along with the annual Auto Show in Wayne. Everybody's invited to enter—teenagers and adults, men and women—and compete for the prizes and trophy. Only restriction: cars must be painted, not decorated with paper or other materials. There's no limit on what can be used to paint the cars with or on how to paint them. The younger set might go for psychedelic designs and colors, the older set might want to try something different. Regardless of the design used, there promises to be color galore come judging time Friday. Handing judging of the entries will be Mrs. Carlos Frey and Mrs. Don Reed, both of Wayne. The Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring the contest as part of this week's retail promotion, has sent letters inviting students at the area high schools and the college to enter the contest. The winners—in the contest—will be named at 4:30 Friday afternoon in front of the Chamber office at 108 W. Third St. Also to be announced then is the name of the winner of the drawing for the free trip to Lake Okoboji. The Chamber recommends one thing: use a washable paint in the contest.

Institute Focus: More Respect of Indian Culture

Teachers in St. Louis City, northeast Nebraska and Omaha who have American Indian pupils in their classrooms will be the focus of a summer institute at Wayne State College June 15-July 24. The six-week institute is designed to train teachers in being able to work better with the special problems of Indian youngsters and to understand the culture of Indians. A grant of $15,500—matched by $7,750 in facilities and services by the college—has been made to WSC under Title I, U.S. Higher Education Act of 1965, for the institute. The grant is dispersed by the Nebraska Economic Development Commission. The institute will be open to 30 participants, both elementary and secondary teachers. Francis Moul, WSC political science instructor, will be the director. Three main objectives listed by Moul: to instill in the participants greater knowledge of Indian culture, religion, community and family life, and heritage; to provide practical classroom skills in communicating with Indian students and parents; to bring about a change of attitude toward Indian children in regard to "empathetic understanding, genuineness, self-evaluation and respect." "In addition, it is hoped the institute will enrich the capabilities of the participants." See INSTITUTE, page 2.

Easter Seal Society Asking for Help in Latest Fund Drive

A plea for help has been issued by the Wayne County Easter Seal Society. The society is conducting a "Neighbors-to-Neighbors" fund drive in the Wayne area and is asking all residents for their cooperation in the successful completion of the drive. Any family that has an Easter Seal kit in their home is asked to pass it along to their neighbor as promptly as possible. When the kit has been to every family in the prescribed area, it should be returned to the block chairman. All block chairmen with completed kits in their possession are asked to turn them in to First National Bank of Wayne for tabulation. The money raised during the drive is used to aid the rehabilitation of crippled children and adults. Easter Seals provide therapy, medical equipment, recreation programs, scholarships for students in the fields of health and rehabilitation and an information and referral service to assist handicapped persons who need help and don't know where to turn.

'Future Bright' for Soybean Growers'

American soybean producers are selling record quantities of soybeans both at home and abroad this year, according to Gordon L. Nuernberger of Wayne, chairman of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (SAC) Committee. It is estimated that soybean utilization will increase from 945 million bushels used in 1969 to 1,136 million bushels for this year. This increase in market demand for soybeans represents the production from about 7 million acres. "In view of the excess production capacity we have in this country, this growth in soybean demand is welcome news to soybean producers and taxpayers," Chairman Nuernberger commented. During the period 1966 through 1968 and part of 1969, soybean supplies tended to increase as a result of increased competition from lower-priced imports of fish meal, sunflower oil and other competitive protein substitutes. However, in recent months demand for soybeans has increased substantially as a result of more competitive pricing, a drop in

Suffers Heart Attack

Ed Heckens, superintendent of the Allen school system, suffered a serious heart attack at school shortly before noon Wednesday. He was taken to the Wakefield hospital by car by his wife. The hospital reported Saturday morning that his condition was a little improved but that he was not being permitted visitors. Fifty-one years old, Heckens has been with the Allen system for three years. Prior to that job he was superintendent at Cook, Nebr. He is a native of Emerson.

Dean Eloffson Gets Shot at NBA Squad

Dean Eloffson, Wayne State College basketball star of the past four years, has a bid from the San Diego Rockets to try out on their rookie season June 14-21. The 6-5 senior forward, one of three elected most valuable players by the Wildcats this year, received notice from the National Basketball Association team that he is one of about 12 players chosen for the try-out. All the others played on major teams. Rocket officials said they expected about half the rookies would get a chance to play with the team. Eloffson led Wayne in rebounding the past three years as the Wildcats won three Nebraska NAIA championships. He also set a career record of starting more games, 95, than any player in Wayne history. Another Wayne eager, 6-9 senior Dave Schneider of Blair, also has an opportunity to continue playing—with the Athletics in Action basketball team, sponsored by Campus Crusade for Christ. International. He probably will make a South American tour with AIA this summer, then continue with the team next winter. Schneider, leading Wayne scorer the past two seasons, was chosen as the team's most improved player each of the past three years. He shared the citation with Paul Emanuel as a sophomore.

Allen High Senior Earns State Degree

Cindy Hirschert, a senior at Allen High School, was awarded the State Homecoming Degree during the recent Future Homemakers-of-America convention in Lincoln. It is the highest state award an FHA member can receive. In order to earn the degree she had to set and meet goals in the school, community and home. Evaluating her goals and achievements were three people, Cindy Hirschert including the state FHA advisor in Lincoln. Miss Hirschert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Hirschert of Dixon, received her award during the FHA banquet held during the annual convention. She was one of about 20 girls from across the state who received the award. She was also named the first See STATE DEGREE, page 2

Scouts Sell Tickets For District Fair

Tickets for the 1970 Scout Fun Fair, slated May 2 at the Wakefield Elementary School, went on sale Wednesday at one dollar for adults and 50 cents for school students. The tickets may be purchased from any Cub Scout or Boy Scout. Scouts from five counties in the Lewis and Clark District will participate in the Fun Fair which has the theme "Sixty Years of Scouting."

Dozen Students Earn A's at WH

An even dozen students earned straight A grades during the third quarter at Wayne High School, according to the latest honor roll released by the school. Earning those perfect grades (1.0) were freshmen Catherine Cook; sophomores Carolyn Locking, Elaine Lundstrom and Brad Roberts; juniors Carl Johnson, Connie Jones and Jane Owens, and seniors Susan Helthold, Linda Lesh, Darlene Miller, Lyle Nelson and Bruce Ring. In addition, another 111 students received high enough to earn placement on the honor roll. Those students: —1.2: Doris Ann Baker, Michael Ginn, Lorna Harder, Michelle Harms, Mark Johnson, Trilix Jones, Kurt Lesh, Lisa Lesh, Debra Saul, Byran Stoltenberg. —1.25: Todd Berrhoff, Sally Kenny, Scott Kern, Mary Ellen Morris, Diane Oles, Jean Pankrat. —1.3: Lou Ann Dunklau. —1.4: Steve Berrhoff, Roger See EARN A's, page 2

David Shiery

David Shiery Accepts Social Services Post

Wayne native David Shiery has accepted a position on the staff of social services for mentally retarded and emotionally disturbed children at Germantown Lutheran Home for Children and Aged in Philadelphia. A graduate of Wayne High School, he attended Wayne State College until he transferred to Dana College at Blair, where he completed work on his undergraduate degree in January. He majored in sociology. He is the son of Mrs. John H. Shiery and the late Rev. Shiery, minister at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Wayne from 1948 to 1952. The Lutheran Home is associated with the Southeastern Pennsylvania Synod of the Lutheran Church in America.

Scouts Request Old Eye-Glasses

Boy Scouts in Wakefield, Pitts, Laurel, Winside, Newcastle and Wayne will be picking up old newspapers Saturday, but the scouts in Wayne are also making another request of Wayne residents—to gather up old useless eye-glasses and jewelry and put them out on the porch with the old papers. Scoutmaster Rowan Wiltse explained last week that for many years the Wiltse Mortuary has collected old eye-glasses and jewelry which are sent to a non-profit organization called New Eyes for the Needy. Lenses are cataloged and kept ready for those in need at no charge. Wiltse pointed out that the old jewelry is melted down and sold by the organization as a means of meeting expenses. He said in past years the Wiltse Mortuary has sent over 1,200 pairs of glasses and an undetermined amount of jewelry as contributions from residents of this area.

Two Wayne Teachers To National Meeting

Two teachers in the Wayne-Carroll school system will attend a national meeting of teachers of exceptional children in Chicago later in April. Attending that meeting, which will be held April 21-25, will be Gertrude Vahlkamp, special education and remedial reading teacher, and Janet Woodward, academically talented teacher. Both teach in the Wayne Middle School. Financing the trip for the two teachers is the Educational Service Unit One.

125 Examine 'Whys' of Drug Abuse

A unique two-day drug conference, sponsored by the Wayne-Carroll school system and the Wayne Kiwanis Club in cooperation with the University of Nebraska-Extension Division, ended Saturday with a total of 125 people registered. Conference sessions got underway Friday afternoon with an address by Dr. Howard Herrick, clinical director of the Norfolk Regional Center, who claimed the number of drug users is definitely increasing. He explained that drug abuse on an individual basis may often start with marijuana, then move to barbiturates (termed as "downers"), then to "uppers" or amphetamines, and eventually to narcotics such as heroin. Herrick said such progression does not always take place, but can and many persons do follow such route in dropping into what he termed a "drug subculture". A similar point was noted by each of the conference speakers: drug pushers are reaping a financial fortune due to the tremendous mark-up and profit. Speaking on the conference program Friday night was Dr. James Davis, resident psychiatrist at the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute in Omaha, on the whys of the drug problem. Dr. Davis, capable of identifying with youth since he is only 26-years old, named and described various hallucinogenic drugs, including lysergic acid diethylamide (LSD). Other less known but powerful hallucinogens or psychedelic drugs named were peyote, mescaline and psilocybin. Davis described amphetamines as "uppers"; barbiturates as "downers" and told the effects of their use. He appeared particularly concerned that an over-dose of amphetamines can bring about amphetamine psychosis. It is drug abuse directly related to the amount of education an individual has? The youthful psychiatrist expressed some doubts about it, noting that well educated physicians have become addicted to morphine. Davis vividly described what may result from use of LSD, such as panic, paranoia, psychosis and possible flashbacks. Panic may develop when the user grows frightened because he cannot halt the drug's action and he fears he may be losing his mind, the psychiatrist explained. He said paranoia may develop when the user becomes increasingly suspicious that someone is trying to harm him. Davis described the results of psychosis developing in one on LSD as giving the user the idea he can do anything, even fly. The speaker gave several reasons why people may turn to drugs. He said reasons given by some users for taking drugs included curiosity, peer group

Wayne Teacher Honored

William A. Wilson, industrial arts teacher from Wayne, received an Outstanding Industrial Arts Teacher Award for Nebraska during the 32nd annual convention of the American Industrial Arts Association at Louisville, Ky., Friday.

William Wilson

Wilson was selected for this honor by the Nebraska Industrial Educational Association. He received both a plaque and a framed certificate during the special ceremony at Convention Center. Following the ceremony there was a reception honoring the recipients. The awards are presented annually by the AIAA in recognition of superior teaching and leadership in the State Industrial Arts Association. Wilson earned his bachelor's degree at Wayne State College and is currently working on his master's degree at Colorado State University. He is a member of the Wayne Education Association, Colorado State University Industrial Arts Club, Nebraska Industrial Education Association and the American Industrial Arts Association. The American Industrial Arts Association is a department of the National Education Association and currently has a membership of more than 12,000 teachers.

Concord Voters Select Two for Village Board

Dick Hanson received 53 votes, Clarence Pearson 50 in Tuesday's village election at Concord. They were the only two men to file for the two positions which will be vacated on the board this spring. Named to the Laurel-Concord school board in Tuesday's vote were Hanson with 241 votes and Keith Erickson with 205. Larry Rindson received 142 votes, Harold White 136 and Gunnar Swanson 29 in the village election at Laurel.

Winside to Buy New Police Unit

The village board of trustees at Winside has taken several steps this year to provide residents with increased police protection. Working in cooperation with the Regional Crime Commission, the village has a marshal on duty and will soon have a new police patrol unit equipped with radio. Vernon Hill, mayor, said Thursday that the village board decided at their meeting Monday night to order a 1970 model police cruiser at a cost of around $2,500. Hill said the new unit will probably be delivered in about six weeks. A new 100-watt two-way radio is also on order, he explained, and said the new communication equipment will provide contact with the county sheriff's office and other law enforcement officers, as well as being useful in securing an

3 Area Schools Slating Clinics for Vaccination

Immunization clinics for measles are scheduled Friday in three area schools according to Mary Ann Cottrell, school nurse in Wayne. Educational Service Unit I and the Wayne-Carroll School Health Services are sponsoring the clinics. Clinics are scheduled in Winside at 8:15 a.m.; Wayne Elementary at 9:30 a.m. and at 12:30 p.m. in the Wakefield Elementary School. Mrs. Cottrell noted late last week that the immunization will be limited to children age one through eleven. She said the Nebraska Department of Health has changed the age of students that are eligible for the vaccine from one to eleven instead of one to twelve as had been previously stated in survey sheets sent out to determine the number of children interested in the vaccine. Mrs. Cottrell cautioned parents and students saying that prompness for pre-schoolers and rural school children cannot be over emphasized since personnel conducting the clinics will be working on a limited time schedule. Being tardy will mean missing the vaccination, she said. No shots will be given without written permission by parent or guardian. Pre-school children age one to five should be brought to the clinic by the parent where registration forms will be available and the donation of 50 cents may be given. Rural school children are to bring their signed consent forms to the school of their choice, where their 50 cent donation may be given on the day of the clinic. The school nurse pointed out that it is very hard to tell if a person has had the 3-day measles, hence all children should be vaccinated. See CLINICS, page 2

Seniors at Allen Ready Production

The cast has been putting plenty of hours of work into the coming production of the senior class play at Allen High School, scheduled for Friday and Saturday. If the title of this year's production—"Picklepus"—is an indication, the production will be as funny as cast members say. Holding down parts are Mike Ellis (Tommy Wilson), Will Sachau (Ted Stokols), Curt Wheeler (Mr. Charles Wilson), Cindy Hirschert (Mrs. Elouise Wilson), Sharon Nobbe (Miss Gertrude See PRODUCTION, page 2)

Wakefield to Host Teachers Wednesday

Students at Allen, Wakefield and Emerson will get a day of vacation Wednesday while their teachers are attending an all-day workshop at Wakefield High School. The workshop will be on using audio-visual aids and materials in the classroom. Teachers attending will get instructions on how to operate various machines and will get a chance to prepare visual aids to take back to their classrooms. Sponsoring the workshop are the Wakefield school system and the Nebraska State Department of Education. It will draw about 20 teachers from Allen, 41 from Emerson-Hubbard and 35 from Wakefield. Specialists from the Department helping out will be Less Harvey,

State Aid Workshop Planned at School

Wayne High School will be the site late in April for a workshop designed to provide information on state aid to schools and state budget forms. The meeting is scheduled for the morning of April 29, 9:30 to noon, at the lecture hall. Scheduled to attend the meeting is M. L. Christensen, director of state aid to public schools for the State Department of Education. The meeting is open to anybody in northeast Nebraska working with school budgets.

Nebraska Farms Keep Growing in Size

By P. A. Henderson
Extension Economist
(Farm Management)
University of Nebraska

Nebraska farms and ranches increased substantially in size from 1960 to 1970, according to information obtained from the USDA's Statistical Reporting Service. On January 1, 1970, the average farm size was 27 per cent greater than on the same date in 1960. Other Great Plains states experienced similar changes.

The average increase in size of farms in the Great Plains states, excluding New Mexico, was 24 per cent. North Dakota's farms had the largest increase with a whopping 36 per cent. Oklahoma showed the least change with only a 14 per cent increase.

The amount of total land in farms changed very little during the 1960's. USDA estimates indicate that Nebraska farm lands shrank by about 100,000 acres, or less than 5 per cent, during the 10-year period while the nine Great Plains states other than New Mexico lost less than 100,000,000 acres, or about 2 per cent. Highway construction and the growth of urban areas were two of the factors accounting for the decrease which occurred.

As farms get larger, the number of farms necessarily decreases. The number of farms in Nebraska on January 1, 1970, was only 78 per cent as large as in 1960. This represents a loss of 20,000 farms. Likewise, other Plains states lost between 17 and 27 per cent of their farms. The 1964 census showed 48 per cent of the commercial farms in Nebraska with gross sales from crops and livestock of $10,000 or less. Operating expenses took two-thirds to three-fourths of every dollar received. Hence, net earnings on these farms were necessarily very low.

For those young enough to make a change, employment opportunities in non-farm jobs looked good by comparison. As these people left farms and others retired, land became available for others to use. USDA studies indicate that much of the land made available was absorbed by existing operations in the neighborhood.

Larger machinery, more widespread use of herbicides and greater use of automation in livestock handling have helped make it possible for farmers to take care of more land. This has led to keen competition for land. It took different forms. As small parcels of land became available, some farmers elected to try to buy, while others preferred to rent.

In both instances, farmers were striving to maintain or increase their incomes. Rising costs and relatively constant prices for crops put a premium on increased volume as long as they could manage to maintain a small margin of profit per unit produced. Buying or renting more land was one way to get that volume.

It appears that the trend toward larger and fewer farms is likely to continue for a number of years to come. Smaller farms will either be combined into larger operations by vigorous and enterprising young farmers or be abandoned by the acreages already operated by aggressive and successful farmers in the area.

Pamphlets Describe Wage, Hour Law In Several Areas

Pamphlets describing Federal Wage and Hour Law applications to agriculture, agricultural commodities, public elementary and secondary schools, higher education, and laundries and dry cleaners were issued recently by the U. S. Department of Labor, Wage and Hour Division.

Wage and Hour Administrator Robert D. Moran said the five publications are designed to help employers and employees understand how the Federal Wage and Hour Law affects their own activities.

The pamphlets discuss the Act's coverage of the activities involved. They highlight the law's minimum wage, overtime pay, equal pay, child labor and record-keeping requirements. Pertinent minimum wage or overtime pay exemptions are also discussed.

The two agricultural publications are different. One concerns the Act's application to farm work on large farms; the other deals primarily with the processing and handling of agricultural commodities.

Wayne School Head At National Meeting

Francis Haun, superintendent of the Wayne-Carroll school system, flew to San Francisco Friday to attend the annual meeting of the National School Board Association.

The meeting, which will last through Tuesday, is being held at the Civic Auditorium. Several area school administrators and school board members were planning on attending the meeting.

ambulance or fire department help.

The Regional Crime Commission will pay 60 per cent of the cost of the radio while Winside will pick up the 40 per cent balance, Hill noted.

Warren Jacobson started his duties as a police officer in Winside March 1 and has been using his own vehicle for a cruiser. Speaking of the new police equipment and protection program, Mayor Hill emphasized, "It's something we have needed for a long time."

Harris), LeAnn Von Minden (Mary Wilson), Deb Menkens (Marie George), Roger Schubert (Wilbert Wiggins), D'Vee Koester (Miss Alstead Billings and Theresa Gant) and Dale Strivens ("Muscles" O'Rourke). Directing this year's play is Mrs. Betty Dahlquist.

All the trouble—and laughs—in the play stems from the success of Aunt Gertrude in persuading the very proper Wilbert Wiggins into taking Mary to the club dance. Nosey Gertrude doesn't approve of Mary's choice in young men and therefore feels it her duty to look after her niece. Adding to the interest of the play is the local siren in the town, Theresa Gant.

The most hilarious moment in the play, according to the actors, is in the final scene when Tommy Wilson must impersonate a woman for "Muscles" O'Rourke. How he succeeds should raise a few chuckles from the audience.

pressures and wanting to escape from reality due to not having a job, home or family. Taking drugs a person may also be making a plea for help.

Concluding his presentation Friday evening with a question and answer period with the audience, Dr. Davis stated that two of the more important steps parents may take in helping their youngsters refrain from drug use is to strengthen religious ties and family life. He advised parents to use "firm, friendly discipline." "Use facts when you are talking to kids."

Several movies were shown during conference sessions emphasizing the increasing traffic in drug abuse, particularly in metropolitan areas where drugs are easily available.

Conference sessions Saturday morning dealt with law and the drug problem, plus discussion groups talking over recommendations related to combating drug abuse.

Mick Zangari, supervisor of informal education at the University of Nebraska Extension Division, said the two-day conference at Wayne was one of the first of its kind held since Governor Tieemann's conference on drug abuse in Lincoln pointed out that Nebraskans must get involved in the problems of drug abuse in order to combat it.

U. S. and abroad," he explained. With soybean prices more competitive with other high-protein products, overall market demand has increased faster than processing facilities could profitably be developed. However, with a somewhat improved operating margin, more crushing plants are being built or planned. "This will increase the demand for farmers' beans and eventually provide a greater volume of soybean oil and meal at more competitive prices," the chairman emphasized.

Recent action which resulted in a 50 per cent reduction in the soybean levy into Japan and continued efforts by USDA to discourage an import tax on soybean oil and meal moving into the European economic community has helped exports.

This action, combined with a continued desire by consumers to upgrade their diets, will assist in developing a market for additional supplies of beans.

In anticipation of this improved market demand, soybean growers have reported intentions to plant over 43 million acres in 1970, an increase of almost one million acres above 1969. "This increase should boost bean growers' incomes around $100 million next year," the chairman estimated.

AHS Calendar Filled

The school calendar at Allen includes a variety of activities for the rest of April.

Among those activities are the SRA high school placement test for eighth graders on the 15th, the senior class play on the 17th and 18th, a lyceum program featuring a magician on the 22nd and the kindergarten roundup on the 23rd and 24th. Also planned for the school is a meeting on the 21st to discuss the new conference which will replace the present Lewis and Clark Conference in the 1970-71 school year.

ciated in the age group of one through eleven. She said if there is uncertainty regarding whether or not the child has had 3-day measles, he should have the vaccine to be sure.

Mrs. Cottrell said that in all probability not many children have received the rubella vaccine as yet. Rubella (German measles or 3-day measles) and the red measles are two entirely different diseases and vaccines.

The immunization clinic Friday will use vaccine for 3-day measles only. Clinics held last fall were for red measles, she said.

Missionary Meetings Set for Concord

The Rev. Melvin Loge of Evangelical Free Church, Concord, has announced a series of meetings to be held at his church Wednesday, April 15 through Sunday, April 19, at 8 p.m. nightly. There will also be a guest speaker at the 11 a.m. service Sunday.

Scheduled speakers include Lorraine Lundeen, a missionary nurse and youth worker in the Congo since 1950, who will speak at the Wednesday evening service. Thursday evening the Rev. Kenneth Grissom, a missionary to Venezuela, will speak. Mr. Grissom, who is married and the father of four children, first went to Venezuela in 1966.

The Friday evening speaker will be the Rev. Richard Carlson, home from missionary work in Malaysia. Mr. Carlson's wife, Pam, and their children, Terrence, Tamara and Tracy were in Malaysia and Singapore with him. Richard Greenmeyer, a missionary candidate for Venezuela, will tell of the work he hopes to do when he speaks at the Sunday morning service, and the Rev. Lewis Winkler will report on missionary work in Japan Sunday evening. All the meetings will feature slides or movies. The public is invited to attend.

Circle Members Take Wayne Tour Tuesday

Six members of Central Social Circle toured in Wayne Tuesday morning, meeting at the Senior Citizens' Center where they were served coffee from 9:30 a.m. From there they went to the Wayne Herald Publishing Company, and on to the Cooperative Christian Ministry on the Wayne State College campus. They had lunch at the college cafeteria and toured Bowen Hall, Carhart Science Building and the Library. After leaving the campus they made their last stop at Radio Station KTCB.

In charge of arrangements were Mrs. Alvin Willers and Mrs. Gordon Helgren. May 5 the group will entertain City Sisters at the Woman's Club Rooms at 2 p.m.

Your Place in the Stars

by Tom McDermott

Astrological forecasting of the stock market is a field that, according to the January 17 issue of "Business Week," might pay off.

"Consider Muriel and Louis Hasbrouck, who publish an advisory newsletter," suggests Business Week, "called 'Space Time Forecasting.' In their Nov. 26, 1968, report, the Hasbroucks declared that 'the inflationary rump in the New York stock market . . . will come to an end over the weekend of Dec. 14.' The Dow Jones Industrials hit a closing high of 985.21 of Dec. 3, began dropping and have not seen that level since. Similarly, in the January, 1969, issue of 'Horoscope,' astrologer David Williams predicted that the stock market would decline in both the second and third quarters and would finally bottom out on Dec. 20. To date, he is on the button: the Dow bottomed at 769 on Dec. 17 and has not been back yet."

Ledr. Williams is a well-known expert in astrology circles. He's author of the very successful text "Astro-Economics." An article in the Wall Street Journal, June 18, 1965, points out that since the book had been published in 1959, it accurately forecasted the market break of early 1962, the strong business rise through 1964 and the sharp market break in mid-1965.

The "Business Week" article continues: "Williams relies on an advisory service to pick individual stocks. He has lost money on only three of 210 stocks he traded in the last 11 years, he claims. 'His timing is uncanny,' says his broker Alexander Morse of Merkin & Co. For 1970, Williams is predicting a rising quarter for Capricorn, which began Dec. 23; a sideways quarter for Aries (March 21); and a rise for Cancer (June 21) and Libra (Sept. 23)."

What about the Hasbrouck team? "Business Week" says: "The Hasbroucks claim their reputation is hurt because people constantly associate them with astrology. 'We left that in 1941. It is only a fraction of our work,' says Muriel Hasbrouck."

* Bully for you, Muriel Hasbrouck!

43 Florists at Wayne Meeting

Nebraska members of the Society of American Florists met at Les' Steak House Monday evening for a banquet and business meeting. There were 43 attending the 7:30 p.m. dinner and program which featured an array of floral displays related to ideas for Mother's Day.

Kent Hall, Wayne florist, said the board of directors meeting was held in the afternoon. He noted that Mel Schwanke of Fremont, the only florist in Nebraska to presently be a board member on the national level, was present for the evening session. Schwanke showed a film and spoke on marketing. Jim Uhlman of Columbus was master of ceremonies.

Florists attending, many bringing floral arrangements, came from North Platte, Fremont, Norfolk, Neligh, Columbus, David City, West Point, Creighton, Plainville, Wakefield, Omaha, Tekamah, Pender, Beatrice and Sioux City.

Hal Stewart of Tekamah concluded the evening program by exhibiting each floral arrangement brought to the meeting and explained its makeup.

Entry blanks, which must be completed and sent in by May 15, can be obtained from the American Dairy Association of Nebraska, 510 Fifth St., Fairbury, 68352.

Last year numerous girls from Laurel and several surrounding towns entered the contest.

Federal Program Offers Homes at Reduced Prices

Prospective home owners in northeast Nebraska are doing themselves a disservice by not checking into a government program which will enable them to buy a home at reduced interest rates.

That program is one of several the federal government has set up in order to ease the housing shortage while enabling the lower income people to obtain adequate and respectable housing. It was set up by the Housing and Urban Act of 1969, Section 235.

One of the reasons many people are not checking into the program, according to one of the construction companies in Wayne, which is working under the program, is because they do not believe it is possible to buy a home for as little as $110-a month with today's high interest rates.

But it is possible, the company spokesmen points out, because the government will subsidize the home buyer in order to bring the rate of interest on the loan down to as low as one per cent.

Before a person can buy a home under the program, he must meet certain requirements. One of those requirements is that his income does not exceed limits set up by the government. Those limits vary from county to county and state to state. The number of dependents a person has also enters into the picture.

For Wayne County a couple with four children could earn up to $7,800 and still qualify for the program.

Both construction companies which are building homes under the program note that they are having difficulty in getting the people they interview to believe the program is real and does work. The people they talk to about building homes find it hard to understand they can own a new home worth around $18,000 for as little as $110 a month including taxes and insurance.

The construction companies also note that they will have to build the number of houses allotted them by the government within a few weeks or lose out on the program.

The program is quite simple, they note, and merely amounts to the federal government subsidizing the home buyer so he can afford to buy a home in spite of today's high interest rates.

Charges Vary As 18 People Fined In County Court

Eighteen people appeared before Wayne County Court Judge Luverna Hilton during the past 10 days and paid a total of $21,400 in fines and costs.

Paying fines April 3 were Robert W. Harding of Wakefield who was fined $25 and costs of $5 for the charge of having his registration of vehicle in county other than residence. Randall C. Wagner of Hoskins was fined $5 and costs of $5 for making an illegal U turn.

Six persons appeared in court Monday:

—Clifford E. Larson, Lincoln, charged with uttering a forged instrument, made restitution and paid costs of $12.30.

—E. and Watke Jr., Columbus, speed -g, fined $13 and costs of $5.

—Lon A. Reams, St. Paul, Minn., speeding, fined $11 and costs of $5.

—Dennis L. Brummer, Kenard, fined $10 and costs of $5 for failure to display a valid drivers license.

—James Dietsch, Fordyce, illegal parking, fined $10 and costs of $5.

—Marvin J. Sulbeck, Hartington, charged with obtaining money by false pretense, fined $10 and costs of $7.50.

Tuesday, Ernest Ogler of Wakefield was fined $10 and costs of $5 for no safety inspection; and Robert Sorenson of Council Bluffs, paid a $15 fine and costs of $5 on a speeding charge.

Paying speeding fines and $5 court costs were David Nielsen of Papillion, $15; Ronald Ewert of Millard, $18; and Richard Wall of Sioux City, la., $10.

Fined on the charge of insufficient fund check were Bud Becker of Hartington, $10; and Gordon Licht of Wayne, $10. Both paid $7.50 each in court costs.

Paul Johnson of Norfolk paid a $25 fine and costs of $5 for trespassing.

The 300-500 Club was founded in 1950 to recognize the performance of outstanding Ford salesmen throughout the country.

Science Buffs Here Saturday

Science students from many high schools were in Wayne State College Saturday for the annual Northeast Nebraska Junior Academy of Science meeting.

Main points of interest were 54 papers read by students reporting results of experiments in high school biology, chemistry, physics and mathematics, and in junior high science.

Members of the Wayne State faculty selected the papers among many submitted. The papers chosen represent students from West Point Central Catholic, Norfolk, Wakefield, Humphrey St. Frances, South Sioux City and Wayne schools.

The best papers were honored at an award ceremony in the afternoon following a talk by Dr. James Drew, professor of agronomy at the University of Nebraska. His topic was on infrared sensing of plant life communities in the Sand Hills.

Academy President Ronald Leapley of Wausa presided over a business meeting and election of officers. Garland Pankratz, member of the WSC biology faculty and secretary of the academy, was in charge of arrangements.

45 WS Grads Earn Honors

The largest number of honor graduates in years—and probably in all of Wayne State's history—were among seniors receiving degrees in the Sunday, April 12, commencement.

Altogether, 45 earned academic honors, including five from Wayne. Four of the honorees merited the highest honor, summa cum laude, which requires a grade-point average of 3.8 (or higher) (4.0 is straight A).

The summa cum laude graduates:

Beverly Prosch of Bloomfield, 3.94; Karen Mills, Wayne, 3.91; Kathleen Voorhies, Wayne, 3.88; and Gayle Kloeppel, Sioux City, 3.8. Of these, three also participated in the honors program and gained additional distinction:

Misa Willis, with highest honors in German, Miss Voorhies with highest honors in Spanish, Miss Kloeppel with high honors in elementary education.

Eleven were magna cum laude, with grade average of 3.5 to 3.79: Nancy Johnson Sass, Norfolk, 3.53 with high honors in art; Thomas Barlow, Ewing, 3.53; Dennis Gray, Silver Creek, Neb., 3.53; Lawrence Hesse, Crofton, 3.5; Verdean Leitow, Bancroft, 3.48; Diane Lausen, Missouri Valley, Ia., 3.5; Jennie Lovelace, Sioux City, 3.48; Terry McLean, Osmond, 3.53; Wesley Niles, Coon Rapids, Ia., 3.54; Pamela Olson, McClair, 3.60, and James Pomykale, 3.63.

Seniors who were cum laude, with grades from 3.2 to 3.49: Meredith Manley, Wayne, 3.46 and with honors in English; Curtis Evans, Pender, 3.35 with honors in history; Michael L. Anderson, Oakland, 3.34; Donna Baker, Schaller, Ia., 3.36; Robert Bohac, Schuyler, 3.41; Mavis Diment, Anthon, Ia., 3.25; Erma (Pat) Emmons, Emerson, 3.34; Janet Fray, Emerson, 3.39; William Goodwin, Lawton, Ia., 3.21; Ellen Henke Basse, West Point, 3.41; Irene Hamilton, Wayne, 3.20.

Charles Harderson, Climbing Hill, Ia., 3.35; James Hornbeck, Logan, Ia., 3.35; Charlene Wendt

Irish, Raiston, formerly of Wayne, 3.32; Virgil King, Lynch, 3.33; Dennis Kment, Stanton, 3.44; John Lippert, Columbus, 3.37; Steven Meyer, Itasca, 3.33; Scott Nelson, Columbus, 3.30; Diane Nitz, West Point, 3.39; Joyce Peck, Coleridge, 3.42.

Medical Group Slates Meeting

The 102nd Annual Session of the 1,350 member Nebraska State Medical Association is scheduled Apr. 26-29 at the Hotel Cornhusker in Lincoln. Dr. Robert Bentback of Wayne, a member of the board of councilors, plans

Local Actors To Be Hosts

The meeting will present a comprehensive program of scientific papers, panel discussions and three sessions of the Association's House of Delegates will be held to discuss matters of medical interest and organizational matters of importance.

Doctor Clarence R. Bratt of Beatrice will assume the Association's presidential office Apr. 29. Current president is Dr. J. Whitney Kelley of Omaha.

One of the meeting's highlights will be the Annual Distinguished Luncheon at which (time) 50-year service pins will be presented to 10 Nebraska physicians. Dr. Raymond P. Carroll of Laurel is one of the ten to be honored.

The Association's Woman's Auxiliary will also host its annual meeting during the week and will install Mrs. John C. Filkins of Omaha as the new president for the coming year. Mrs. Robert H. McIntire of Hastings is the current president.

Program scheduling on Apr. 29 includes a symposium on drug abuse. Topics to be discussed are "Drug Problems on the Local Scene," "Drug Abuse Effects on the Human Body and Psyche," and "Drug Problems on the National Scene and Corrective Measures."

WHS Students Plan Trip to University

Several Wayne High students will be attending the University of Nebraska Fine Arts Festival at Lincoln this Friday and Saturday.

Making that trip will be Doug Stanley, Dan Proett, Dennis Elmer, Tom Karel, Jon Merziman and Karen Neelgaard, cast of "The Still Alarm" production during the district speech contest at Wayne State, and Doug Stanley, Jana Regg and Scott Kerl, readers during that contest. All the students except Scott Kerl are Theatians.

Doug Stanley and Dan Proett received superior ratings for their acting in the play. A total of only seven superior actor ratings were handed out by the judges.

Local Actors To Be Hosts

The Wayne High Theatians are teaming up with the University of Nebraska Extension Division for their next production. That production: a theatre workshop planned for Thursday afternoon and evening.

The high school students hope to use the workshop to help develop basic techniques in theatre, stimulate a desire for participation in dramatics and raise the level of the value of the theatre.

Partially funded by the Nebraska Arts Council, the workshop is open to any adults and high school students in the area. The workshop will be held in the high school lecture hall from 1 to 4 and 6 to 9 p.m. Thursday. Fee for attending is $2 per person.

Instructor during the day will be John Wilson, managing director of the Lincoln Playhouse.

The afternoon session centers on acting, the evening session on directing. Including in the afternoon session will be instructions in acting techniques, movement and emotion, and characterization. In the evening session will be information on motivation for interpretation, upstaging and directing the audience's attention.

Law Day Slated For Observance in Wayne County

Friday, May 1, has been proclaimed Law Day for the city and county of Wayne.

Alfred Koplin, mayor, and Luverna Hiltton, Wayne County Judge, in a joint proclamation, urged all citizens, organizations, schools, churches, courts and businesses to recognize May 1 as Law Day USA.

In their joint proclamation, the mayor and judge noted that Law Day USA "is an occasion for Americans to rededicate themselves to the ideals of equality and justice in their relations with each other." They also noted that the day is "a reminder that the values of a free society are not self-perpetuating; that the rights we cherish carry with them responsibilities. These include the duty to observe the law, to recognize the rights of others, to exercise the privileges of citizenship and to support the institutions of representative government."

The proclamation points out the fact that our nation has achieved its amazing growth and development through the process of law.

Chairman of the Wayne County Law Day USA observance in 1970 is Donald R. Reed, county attorney.

Most Plans Finished For Annual Banquet

Plans for the Northeast Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association annual banquet are reaching final stages.

Association President John Servino announced that Merlin Wright, Wayne Herald reporter and former Wakefield minister, has been invited to give the invocation. Arnie Reeg will welcome the feeders in behalf of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce. Flowers have been ordered as table decorations and will be given to the ladies later as favors. Several business firms will furnish other favors.

A record crowd is expected to enjoy a beef banquet and to hear Col. William Bowers describe some problems the Communists have encountered in pushing for agricultural production.

The banquet will be at Wayne State College Student Union Saturday evening, April 18, at 7:30 p.m. Merle Ring, Wayne feeder, will provide organ music, and Bob Murphy, Dakota City banker, will be master of ceremonies. An outstanding stockman in northeast Nebraska will be recognized for his contribution to agriculture by the presentation of a plaque.

William F. McQuistan of Pender and Willis Meyer of Wayne are heading up the banquet committee.

Hoskins Firemen Get Four Calls To Grass Fires

Hoskins volunteer firemen, like other fire departments in the area, were called out several times last week to fight grass fires whipped by strong winds.

The Hoskins units were first called to take a tank of water to Hadar Tuesday to assist in putting out a grass fire believed to have been started by a train. Later the department answered a call to put out a grass fire near the Manly Wilson home. The fire reportedly started from a nearby incinerator.

Another fire Tuesday afternoon occurred at the Merlin Grothe farm home when grass caught fire ignited by sparks from a tractor.

Thursday the department was called to the Roy Graves farm home to extinguish a grass fire started by an incinerator. The Graves had the fire under control by the time firemen arrived.

Have You Read 'EXPERIENCES' - 'MANY MANSIONS'

by Sandra Breittkreutz

Did you enjoy that book of impressive oil paintings we suggested awhile back? You didn't even make it to the library, you say? Well, here's another chance. This week we are recommending something a bit more exciting—a trip into the unknown, so to speak, via a couple of books dealing with the supernatural.

The first is "True Experiences in Telepathy," edited by Martin Ebon, and is a collection of experiences by various persons in mental telepathy. This book, available at the Wayne Public Library in paperback form, does not ask you to believe. It merely relates the facts of documented histories revealing telepathy as a common human experience. The book includes this quotation by Mark Twain, "Mental (telepathy) is not a just but a fact, and it is a thing not rare, but exceedingly common."

In the same vein is "The Edgar Cayce Story, 'Many Mansions,'" by Gina Cerminara, also available in paperback at the city library. This is the story of a man born in 1877 near Hopkinsville, Ky. of uneducated farming parents. His education consisted of attending country school through the ninth grade. At the age of 21, Cayce, who had no medical training, and no particular interest in the medical profession, was able under hypnosis to diagnose and prescribe a cure for a laryngitis condition he had become afflicted with. This was only the beginning. As time passed, he found he could undergo diagnosis—now self-induced—diagnose and prescribe cures for the ills of other persons, sometimes hundreds of miles away. His diagnosis and prescription were in technical terms though he still had had no professional schooling. In fact he made his living as a photographer, refusing payment for any of the cures, which aside from being astounding, were medically sound. Cayce came to be known as "The Miracle Man of Virginia Beach."

In the course of events, Cayce disclosed under hypnosis that he had lived before as a physician. Cayce also came to find that he could give what he referred to as "readings" for other people, and uncover their earlier lives.

Again, this book does not demand that you believe in reincarnation, clairvoyance, the supernatural. It only states the series of incidents of Cayce's life as they happened and have been recorded, includes the explanations of persons involved, and allows you to draw your own conclusion.

Even if you don't believe... or don't want to... it is a thrilling story, and at least as worthy of your time as a fictional "thriller."

Buying, Improvement Census Set for Area

Questions on consumer buying and home improvement expectations will be asked by representatives of the Bureau of the Census in the Wayne area during April, according to Guy A. Lutz, director of the Bureau's regional office in St. Paul.

The questions are asked four times yearly as part of a nationwide effort to collect information as a guide to federal agencies and other groups in developing programs based on consumer spending patterns. A sample of residents in this area will be asked if they expect to buy a house, car or major appliance during the next year and if they have made recent purchases of these items. Homeowners will be asked about home improvements and repairs during the last three months and any planned for the future.

The most recent survey, taken in January, indicated that consumer expectations to buy houses remained depressed and that expectations to buy major appliances were below the level of a year ago. At the same time, the survey uncovered signs of strength in anticipated purchases of new cars and home improvements.

All answers were kept confidential by law, and information obtained will be published only as statistical totals.

The Census-Bureau representative in this area is Ruth Koehler of Norfolk.

Carroll Residents May Register Today

Residents in the Carroll area will have the opportunity today (Monday) to register in Carroll to qualify to vote in the upcoming elections this year.

Norris Weible, Wayne County clerk, said he will be registering voters in Carroll between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and noon today at the Farmer's State Bank.

Hitting by Helgren, Ginn Helps Wayne Past Trojans

Randy Helgren and Rick Ginn poked out a double each to drive in four runs as Wayne High walked over Wakefield, 11-4, Thursday afternoon on the Wayne diamond.

The game started out completely different as Wakefield took advantage of an infield error to score a run in the top of the second inning to take a 1-0 edge. But then everything went wrong for Wakefield and everything went right for Wayne. Result: Wayne led by 8-1 after three innings of play.

Wayne succeeded in scoring those eight runs because of several errors by Wakefield and a couple timely hits. Included in those hits was a double by shortstop Helgren which drove in two runs to make the score 3-1 and start the rout. Rapping out singles in the long inning were Dennis Redel, Rick Ginn, Rod Cook and Mike Biltrott.

Wakefield added another run in the fourth inning after Rich Kline, pitcher for the Wakefield crew, rapped out a leadoff triple to start the threat. Wayne succeeded in halting the surge when second baseman Jim Kenny initiated a double play on a grounder to second with a man on first.

Wakefield added two more scores in the top of the fifth when pitcher Rod Cook gave up doubles to Kip Bressler and Rich Kline and a single to Denny Paul, all with two men out. Reliever Helgren ended the inning by getting Lyle Brown out on an infield fly.

Dennis Redel walked in the bottom of the sixth as Wayne came up with three more runs to put the game on ice, first win for Wayne in two contests this year. Wayne came off the field with seven hits, Wakefield with seven. Cook had four strike outs, Helgren three; Kline fanned five Wayne batters.

The local squad travels to Bancroft today (Monday) for a 3 p.m. contest against a reputedly strong team. Bancroft handed Allen a 5-0 defeat Friday afternoon.

Bowling Dinner Set

Bowlers in the men's league teams this season will hold their annual banquet Tuesday evening at the El Rancho south of Wayne. The night's activities get underway at 6:30. Cost is $2.50 each.

BASE LINE COLLISION: Wayne's Dennis Redel takes advantage of the mistake made by Wakefield's pitcher, Rich Kline, and first baseman, Kurt Gardner, in fielding his bunt during Thursday's game at Wayne.

Allen Hitters Connect; Team Loses

Allen's baseball squad rapped out six hits against a strong Bancroft team but failed to turn any of them into scores. Bancroft won the contest, played at Bancroft Friday afternoon, 5-0. Bancroft put three men across the plate the first time at bat after getting all three Allen batters out on strikes. The host team's runs came after pitcher Dennis Gelger put two men on base with walks and then gave up two singles and another walk. He fanned three batters to get out of the jam.

Wayne State Hurler Wallops Grand Slam

To Start 11-0 Rout

What more could a pitcher do to make his day? Duane Mendlik of Dodge hit a grand slam home run to start Wayne State's 11-0 win over Yankton College here Wednesday, the game ending in five innings on the 10-run rule. What better? Well, he could have thrown a no-hitter, but Coach Fred Pierce and team thought Mendlik's two-hitter was dandy. The win was his second this year, with one loss.

Leftfielder Ron Prokop of Fremont also hit a homer with one on, plus a triple.

Wayne made its season 7-3 in the second game with an 11-2 decision. Freshman Tom Sullivan of Des Moines, relieving in the second, blanked Yankton in the last five innings for his second win against one loss. Freshman Steve Heying of Granville, Iowa hit two doubles for the Wildcats.

Peru State was scheduled in Wayne Saturday for a 1 p.m. doubleheader.

Homer Runners Fall to Winside, 97-41

The track team at Winside opened the spring sports season with a 97-41 victory over Homer in a dual on the Winside track and field Thursday afternoon.

Winside just about swept the first place honors in the competition, taking 10 first out of the 15 events.

WINSIDE'S GARY SODEN shows his form during the dual at Winside with Homer. Soden's teammate, Dave Witt, won the event with a 5-4 effort.

The winners, followed by second and third place finishers: 120-Yard Hi: Dave Witt, Winside; Fritz Weible, Winside.

100-Yard Dash: Keith Beardshear, Homer, 10.7; Gary Soden, Winside; Phil Witt, Winside.

880-Yard Relay: Homer, 1:45.2. 880-Yard Dash: Soden, Winside, :58.4; Larry Cleveland, Winside; Dale Miller, Winside.

120-Yard LH: D. Witt, Winside, :15; Krause, Winside; Weible, Winside.

Eternally Optimistic Fishermen Ready For Another Season

All signs point to great spring fishing in Nebraska, just as they do every year to eager anglers.

Fishermen always remember the good days when the lunkers were striking fast and furious; they tend to forget quickly the days when things were slow.

While the water is still cold the fish's reflexes are slower than normal, so lures should be fished very slowly.

Allen Runners See First Action Tuesday

Allen's track team is still awaiting its opening challenge of the season.

The squad will get that challenge Tuesday when the tri-clads travel to South Sioux City for an invitational.

Spring Sports Menu At Winside Is Full

Winside High's spring sports fare, kicked off on a happy note with the varsity track team's win over Homer Thursday, gets into full swing this month.

The school hosts two straight dual track meets, with Wynot Tuesday and with Coleridge Friday, before traveling to Norfolk for an invitational meet on April 21.

While the boys are taking part in the Blue Devil Relays, the girls' track team will take on Stanton in a 3:30 dual.

Dixon Rec Program Is Being Considered

The board of trustees at Dixon has been approached by a Dixon lady asking about the possibility of setting up a recreation program for youngsters in the area.

Asking about the possibility during the board's meeting earlier this month was Mrs. Roy Lundgren, who teaches in a rural Wayne County school.

Thick, Plush Carpets Can Prove Shocking

Carpeting—thick and plush—is a modern status symbol until it shocks the user.

However, manufacturers predict that anti-shock carpeting will soon reach the consumer market, because it not only cuts down on static, but also soaks less easily.

Carpet static is controlled mainly by stainless steel fibers or copper wires coated with tin. Chemical treatments also are available, but many must be re-applied after shampooing.

County Bond Sales Keeping Fast Pace

Sales of U. S. Savings Bonds and Savings Notes in Wayne County during February amounted to $27,631, according to Henry E. Lay of Wayne, county volunteer chairman.

Dixon County sales in February, according to Robert E. Anderson, amounted to $32,080. Sales the first two months in that county totaled $49,276 or 22.6 per cent of the county sales goal for the year.

Statewide sales through February amounted to $8,542,145 for 20 per cent of Nebraska's quota for the year and were up by 3.3 per cent from 1969.

While anti-static carpeting is most widely used in the contract field, it probably will continue to have a growing appeal for use in home furnishings, Miss Pfister said.

Bobbed Catch—Safe on First
Wayne's Mike Bilfoff was safe at first after Wakefield's Kirk Gardner bobbed this infield throw in the third inning when the world seemed to cave in on the Trojans.

Fewer Hunters Hurt In Accidents in '69

Hunters in Nebraska compiled an improved safety record in 1969, with only 16 accidents reported compared to 35 the preceding year, according to records of the Game and Parks Commission.

Last year, three hunters died and 13 were wounded in gun accidents afield, compared to four fatalities and 31 injuries in 1968. Hunters were their own worst enemies, as nine accidentally shot themselves, while seven suffered wounds from the gun of another hunter. Shotgun figures in 12 cases, handguns in two and rifles in the remaining 2.

Nebraska has averaged about 23 accidents per year over the past 10 years, with just under five deaths and slightly more than 18 injuries annually. Of these, 104 wounds were self-inflicted and 144 hunters were shot by others.

Nationally, the rate of hunting accidents has declined over the years, according to the National Safety Council and the National Shooting Sports Foundation. The Shooting Sports Foundation gives much of the credit for this improved record to hunter safety programs conducted by the National Rifle Association, plus efforts of state fish and game departments and sportsmen's clubs throughout the country.

Local Golfers 2nd At Beemer Monday

Wayne High's young golf squad took second place in a four-team meet at Beemer last Monday afternoon. The squad came in with 167 points, six more than the winning team of host West Point High.

Taking third in the action was West Point Central Catholic with 181 points, followed by Scribner with 200.

Best round turned in by a Wayne golfer was that of sophomore Kyle Wills. Although his first time in competition this season, young Kyle carved out a 38 on the difficult Beemer course, two over par. Jeff Lindberg, a junior from West Point High, had a 37 for low score for the day.

Other scores by the Wayne golfers: junior Jack Suhr with a 42, sophomore Todd Bornhoff with a 43 and seniors Jim Sturm and Ted Armbruster, each with a 44. The best four scores were used in the meet, a change from the usual practice of using the best three of four scores.

Shooting on the other team Coach Harold Maciejowski took along were Craig Johnson, Jim Wacker, Mark Wilkie, Rick Field and Rex Murray.

Wayne plays host to three other teams Thursday afternoon. Entered in the quadrangular are Wakefield, Stanton and Neligh.

Remodeling Completed
 Winside State Bank has just completed a remodeling and expansion project which added about 1,000 square feet of working area on the main floor. David Warmund, vice president, notes that the bank was organized Jan. 4, 1936. The new extension of the building is to the west on the formerly occupied by the Winside Produce. E. T. Warmund is bank president.

State's Homemakers Eager to Learn
 Nebraska homemakers demonstrated their eagerness to study subjects "in-depth" through their participation in 1969 short courses and workshops offered through the University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service.

Chamber Committee Discusses Courses
 The possibility of sponsoring an adult class on such subjects as taxes, insurance and stocks was discussed by the education committee of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce during a noon meeting recently.

Both Discharges OK, Head of VA Explains
 The Veterans Administration has moved to clear up misconceptions about two types of military discharges.

VA Report Available
 The Veterans Administration says the statistical supplement, the second section of its two-part annual report, has arrived from the printers.

Your Life Insurance in six counties. She reported that individuals commented they learned more about their life insurance policy. Several recognized the necessity for bringing their life insurance up to date, and one family commented they had not checked the beneficiaries on a paid up life insurance policy.

Restyle, Repair, Remodel, a workshop designed to help people make use of garments that are out of style, fit improperly or are an undesirable color was presented to a group of Saunders County homemakers. One woman commented that she was fascinated with the possibilities of dyeing various garments and that the workshop had enabled her to make over a dress that would just be "hanging in the closet."

Several women recognized the monetary savings in remaking garments and adaptation that can be made on "hand-me-downs."

One of the comments frequently made about all the short courses and workshops, said Miss Arthaud, is that it gives individuals a great experience in sharing. The women like the fellowship of working together, resulting in more confidence and more accomplishment than if they worked by themselves.

"We plan to continue to offer short courses and workshops during 1970. Of course the areas of emphasis tend to change from year to year reflecting the needs and interests of the people of Nebraska," concluded Miss Arthaud.

Horseman's Clinic, School Slated at NU
 The fifth University of Nebraska Horseman's Clinic and Judging School will be held at Lincoln Wednesday through Friday, according to R. B. Warren, NU Extension 4-H horse specialist.

The purpose of the clinic is to help persons involved in past Nebraska county and district 4-H horse shows to review the elements of good judging and to learn new techniques.

"From this clinic and school we expect to publish an approved county fair 4-H horse judges list to be given to Nebraska county agents," Warren said.

Professor J. J. Kiser of Iowa State University will be the official judge for the clinic, judging school and the 15th annual Block and Bridle Quarter Horse Show.

Kiser is a former polo player and taught horse production and equitation. He was considered to be one of the great collegiate livestock judging coaches until his retirement and is one of the most widely known horse judges in America.

This clinic will involve horses of different ages, breeds and types. Active English, Hunter, Jumper and Western trainers have been engaged for demonstrations and discussions.

"While the clinic will involve Quarter Horses, we will also have Appaloosas, Paints or Pintos, Jumpers and English horses available for demonstrations," Warren added.
 Clinic registration will begin Wednesday at 4 p.m. in Marvel Baker Hall.
 Thursday and Friday's program will be held at the State Fair (Oleum in conjunction with the annual Block and Bridle Quarter Horse Show. The Thursday morning session will cover Judging, English and Western Pleasure, Stock Seat, Saddle and Hunter Seat Equitation and basic dressage. The Quarter Horse Hunter Judging and Cutting Judging contests will be held in the afternoon.
 On Friday, the Quarter Horse Hunter Judging and Performance Judging Contest will be held. In addition to the Pleasure, Reining and Roping Contests.
 The Judging Contest winners will be awarded certificates at the UNR-NDRA Rodeo Friday evening.
 The Veterans Administration says the statistical supplement, the second section of its two-part annual report, has arrived from the printers.
 The narrative section of the report summarizing the VA's activities during the past fiscal year on behalf of the nation's 27% million veterans was released last month. It contains 75 pages, and is available for 40 cents from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C. 20420.

The statistical supplement is 79 pages long, consists of tables and other detailed statistics, and is available for 75 cents from the same source.
 The last year's annual report in the old format was 375 pages long, including 144 pages devoted to 95 statistical tables.
 The VA said one reason the format was changed is that most readers are interested only in the narrative portion of its annual report.

NU Concert Orchestra To Perform at WHS
 The concert orchestra from the University of Nebraska will perform twice for students in the Wayne-Carroll school system on Tuesday afternoon. Both performances will be in the lecture hall at Wayne High.

School officials noted that the first performance will be at 2 p.m. for students at Wayne High; the second performance is set for 3 p.m. for Middle School students. A few seats may be available during the second performance for any adults who may wish to attend, they noted.

The orchestra, 80 pieces strong, is making a spring tour across the eastern section of Nebraska.

 Apply the pre-emergence chemical exactly as directed. Don't stretch a bag designed to cover 1,000 square feet to try to cover 1,500 square feet. Apply the product uniformly. A half application in two directions is better than a once-over application in one direction.
 After application, water thoroughly. Apply approximately one-half inch of water immediately. The water forces the chemical into the soil where it has to do its job.

April is Ideal To Start Control Of Lawn Weeds

April is an ideal time of the year to apply pre-emergence lawn weed control materials, University of Nebraska scientists say.

An application of a crabgrass preventer now will help keep a minimum in July and August pesky weeds such as crabgrass, foxtail, goosegrass and, to some extent, prostrate spurge, they point out.

Nebraskans have a choice of over 60 brand name products designed for pre-emergence lawn weed control. Most contain one of the six following active ingredients - Bandane, Dacthal, Tupsaran, Betasan, Benflin or Azak. There are approximately 25 products containing Dacthal (DOPA) on the market; Betasan, Bandane and Tupsaran are next in popularity. Tupsaran has the unique quality of controlling the germination of Kentucky bluegrass. This characteristic permits its use on newly planted bluegrass.

All of the available commercial products are designed to give good results. The homeowner's procedures on lawn preparation and application, the scientists say, are just as important to successful weed control as the product he chooses. There are three essential steps for success with pre-emergence lawn weed control chemicals:

- Rake and clean the area to be treated. If there is an excess of dead grass accumulation, remove it. Don't allow dead leaves

1040 U.S. 1040
Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q What's the deadline for sending in my return?
A) April 15 is the deadline for filing 1969 income tax returns for the 1969 calendar year.
Q Can I use the same check to pay my 1970 estimated installment and my final balance for 1969?
A) It is advisable to write separate checks or money orders since the payments cover two different tax years. Tax returns for different years are processed separately and it is possible for a single payment covering two taxes to be credited to just one tax year. This could lead to a refund on one return and a bill for additional tax on the other.

When you make your payment, write what it is for and your Social Security number on each check or money order so that it can be properly credited to your account.
Q I don't see any place on the new 1040 to deduct the $600 I get for each of my exemptions. Where do I take this deduction?
A) Allowances for your exemptions are taken on Line 4, Schedule T, which is in the Form 1040 tax forms package. If you use the Tax Tables to figure your tax, the allowance for exemptions is provided in the tables.
Q Do I have to pay tax on my GI insurance dividends?
A) No...these dividends are not taxable.

Q I never had to send in an estimated tax form before, but I got one in the mail this year. Do I have to file it?
A) Generally, you should file an estimated tax return if you do not expect the amount withheld from your wages to come within $40 of the income tax you expect to owe for 1970. Details are in the estimated tax form instructions. The estimated tax system is meant to help keep all taxpayers on a pay-as-you-go basis. If a taxpayer's income changes during the year, he can make an adjustment in his next installment payment to take care of it.
Q Are supplementary Medicare premiums deductible?

A) Premiums for health insurance under Medicare are deductible if you itemize expenses on Schedule A. Note that one-half of your cost for medical insurance up to $150 is deductible without regard to the 3 percent limitation on medical expenses. The remainder is subject to the 3 percent rule.
Q I can't pay all I owe on my 1969 income tax return. Can I pay in installments?
A) Full payment is required by the filing deadline.
Q I am still paying my daughter's college expenses even though she married last fall. Can I still claim her as a dependent?
A) If she does not file a joint return with her husband and the other dependency tests are met, you may claim an exemption for her. These tests are explained on Page B 2 in the 1040 tax package.
Q When do you have to send in Schedule T with your tax return?

A) Most taxpayers will use Schedule T only as a worksheet and need not attach it to their Form 1040. Schedule T should be attached if you claim a retirement income credit, investment credit or foreign tax credit. Anyone subject to self-employment tax or tax from recomputing prior-year investment credit must also send in Schedule T.
Q Can I deduct anything for paying someone to fill out my tax return?
A) Yes, this is deductible as a miscellaneous expense on Schedule A. Remember that fees paid to someone this year for preparing a 1969 return cannot be deducted until you file your 1970 return.
 To avoid errors in a return prepared by someone else, check it over for accuracy and make sure that the blue address label is on the form you file.

Henry Wiemers Services Are Held In Laurel Church

Funeral services for Henry Wiemers, California, were held Friday afternoon at the United Lutheran Church, Laurel. Mr. Wiemers died April 7, 1970 at Orcutt, Calif.
 Pastor Gary Westgard officiated at the rites. Mrs. William Norvell and Mrs. Gary Westgard sang, "How Great Thou Art" and "Children of the Heavenly Father," accompanied by Mrs. Verneal Gade. Pallbearers were Carl Thomson, Arnold Heitman, Bill Griffin, Fritz Bath, Clarence Benjamin, and Arthur Hinrichs. Burial was in the Laurel Cemetery.
 Henry Wiemers, son of John and Katherine Gerjets Wiemers, was born February 28, 1898 at Talmage, Nebr. As a child he moved with his family to the Laurel area and lived in the Laurel and Coleridge vicinity until 1935 when he moved to Orcutt, Calif. There he had been employed by the Union Oil Company until his retirement. He married Helen Moore June 26, 1939.
 He was preceded in death by his parents, his wife and a brother. Survivors include a brother, Fred Wiemers, and a sister, Helen Wiemers, both of Laurel, and several nieces and nephews.

Hammering, Welding Signal Growth

Construction was going hot and heavy last week at two sites in Wayne: the Igloo Drive-In (top photo) on the north edge of Wayne and the new Apco station at Sixth and Main Streets. The two new owners of the drive-in, Terry Parker and Dick Sydow, are building a dining area to the south of the present building. The service station work, halted last winter by cold weather, included putting on the steel roof and grading for paving. Both construction jobs should be completed in a few weeks.

Mrs. Hanson Dies

Mrs. L. Dean Hanson, 79, died Saturday morning at Wayne. Services are pending at the Wittke Funeral Home.

Snyder, Koch Gain Most Votes at Allen

Detailed returns in Tuesday's election at Allen show Bill Snyder and LeRoy Koch as the top vote getters in the contests for posts on the village board and the school board.
 Snyder received 105 votes, just seven more than Don Kluever, in the village board election. Gaining 81 votes was Gaylen Kjer, the third man named to a four-year seat on the board. Also gaining votes was Vic Carpenter with 65.
 Koch had 122 votes in the school board race, 22 more than Norris Emry, the other man named to four-year posts on the board. Gaining votes but falling in their bids for seats on the school board were Allen Trube with 86, John Meyer with 51, Jim Warner with 50 and Boyd Isom with 16. Write-in votes went to Voyle Geiger and Bill Snyder, two each, and to Dean Chase and Cliff Stalling, one each.
 Incumbents on the village board are Kjer and Snyder; incumbents on the school board are Warner and Stalling.

DOUBLE DUTY: If this photograph looks unusual — it is. It's an inadvertent double exposure which might as well have been intentional. The foreground subject is a display of Danish art works in the Wayne State Fine Arts Center. Viewing it is Kathy Hansen, a 1948 graduate of WSC who has Danish ancestry. The other face belongs to Danish pianist Megens Dalsgaard, musician-in-residence at the college. His photo was supposed to be on another frame, but the double exposure seems appropriate because of Dalsgaard's contributions to Scandinavian-American understanding the past month. The display of art was contributed by Dansk, Inc., an art firm with offices in Copenhagen and New York.

observations during a prolonged trip to Egypt. The colors, some brilliant, some subdued, blend into scenes which one critic said "express some of the primitive strength to be found in rustic art — an outline of figures and a linking together of the color planes."

Scandinavia Conference Now History

The "Spotlight: Scandinavia" conference was passed, but exhibits of Scandinavian art remain in the Wayne Fine Arts Center. Among them are examples of exquisite Danish art works — in glass, ceramics, porcelainware and sculpture — provided by two art houses, Dansk and George Jensen, both with offices in Copenhagen and New York. These exhibits are located in show cases on the second floor.

Another phase of the exhibit displays a collection of tapestries by the eminent Danish artist, August Keil. All one-of-a-kind originals, they depict the artist's

650 Language Students at Festival

Foreign language students—about 650 of them from 34 high schools in Nebraska and Iowa—came to Wayne State College Wednesday for the second annual Foreign Language Festival. Six schools took home first-place awards won in skit and song contests. The winners: In French—Omaha North High School for its skit; Fairbury High School for songs. In German—Lincoln Southeast for a skit; Bellevue in the song contest. In Spanish—West Point Central Catholic for its skit; Humphrey St. Francis Central for singing. Dr. Rafael Sosa, chairman of the Wayne State foreign language department, said the winners, and many others too, displayed much creativity. The performers spoke and sang in the language of their speciality—naturally—and some of them had translated a story or song from English, or written original scripts.

Wayne, Area Towns Are Represented at Electrical Code Meet

Wayne and several area towns were represented at the first session of a workshop conference on the new National Electrical Code at the Nebraska Public Power District auditorium in Columbus.

There were 41 enrolled in the first day of the session, including 19 from the Nettleton Technical Institute in Columbus. Others included contractors, city inspec-

Death Shatters Dream For Former Resident

A former resident of the Wayne area, Damon Kvols, very nearly saw one of his dreams completed in his adopted state of New Mexico.

Kvols, 48, was a tireless worker to replace a "Death Alley" strip of U. S. Highway 66 between Tucumcari, N. M., and the Texas-New Mexico border. The strip is 40 miles long and Kvols and others had campaigned for a four-lane superhighway.

Kvols was one of the major witnesses in a senate subcommittee hearing last November which resulted in an agreement which opened the way for the extension of the Interstate system along the strip, sometimes called "slaughter alley" and known across the nation as a death trap.

Last Monday morning Kvols died on that strip when his car and a semitrailer loaded with new automobiles rammed together. Police said the two vehicles hit about five miles west of the state line on a stretch of the deteriorated highway.

Described as a "tireless civic worker" by his business associates in Tucumcari, Kvols owned and operated the Western Auto Store in the New Mexico town. He served two years as president of the Tucumcari-Quay County Chamber of Commerce and was serving a term on the Tucumcari Industrial Board at the time of his death.

The mayor of the town where Kvols lived said he would propose that the city rename the park where the Chamber office is located to the Damon Kvols Memorial Park.

He is survived by his wife, Dorothy; two daughters, Mrs. Nancy McMurphy and Marlon Kvols, all of Tucumcari, and a son, Larry of Houston. Also surviving are his mother of Wayne; a sister, Mrs. Art Pollard of Wayne, and a brother, Donald of Allenspark, Colo.

Yard 'n Garden Tips

Q. When should roses be cut back?
A. Wait until the buds have definitely broken so you can easily see all of the diseased and dead wood that needs to be pruned.

Q. When should power raking be done and how often should it be done?
A. It should be done as soon as possible — before the blue grass greens up too much. How often it should be done depends on the accumulation of grass but generally it doesn't have to be done yearly. Whenever there is approximately one half inch or more accumulation of dead grass, you should power rake.

Q. Which method is preferable for growing tomatoes — growing from seeds or from transplants?
A. Growing with seeds results in plants bearing tomatoes approximately one week to ten days later than growing from transplants. However, in general, the plant will be healthier and stronger if it is grown from seed.

Q. When should grass seeding be done?
A. It should be done now as soon as possible. It is important to prepare the ground well by removing all the dead grass before seeding.

Q. What kind of flowers grow well in the shade?
A. If the planting area has a northern or eastern exposure, tuberous begonias will grow nicely, as will pansies if there is enough organic matter in the soil to help hold the moisture.

Q. What varieties of grass grow well in the shade?
A. The amount of sun or shade is not as important a factor as the competition for food and moisture created by shrubs and trees around the grass. Grass growing in such areas requires more fertilizer and water. However, bluegrass is one of the best grasses for use in shady areas.

Q. When should holly plants be set out?
A. Wait until the danger of frost is past (about the middle of May) and set them out along the north or east side of the house where they will be protected from the southwest winds.

Q. When is the proper time to spray sycamore trees for anthracnose disease?

A. The best spraying time is just as the leaves are ready to come out — if the temperature is about 50 degrees at this time, it is very likely that infection could take place. Mercury compounds such as PMA are best and should be applied in a ratio of about one pint to 100 gallons of water.

Q. What kind of strawberries are best for planting in a backyard patch — ever-bearing or June bearing?
A. The ever-bearing variety will probably give the best results, if you plan on spending the summer-at-home-and-careful to water them regularly.

Q. How do you care for a Christmas cactus and how do you get it to bloom?
A. Since it is not a true cactus, it requires more water than the average cactus. It also needs a lot of sunshine.

The most important thing to remember in tending a Christmas cactus is to give it a six to eight week rest, starting about the middle of August, "shorting" it on water until it reposes in a dark place — such as the basement. Then, on about Oct. 15, bring it out in normal room conditions and start watering it again. It should then bloom at Christmas time.

Fire Scorches Land Near Dixon Tuesday

A large area of land north of Dixon was burned off in a grass fire which apparently started when a power line broke and fell into pasture land Tuesday.

Firemen from Dixon, Laurel, Coleridge, Newcastle and Martinsburg fought the fire for several hours after it broke out Tuesday afternoon. The fire spread for about two miles north from its origin two miles east and two and one-half north of Bressler's Station on Highway 20. The fire jumped a county road at one place and continued north as the strong south winds made the firemen's job extremely difficult. The fire was brought under control about 5 p.m.

Wayne Co. Teachers Select New Officers

Mrs. Dorothy Park was named president and Mrs. Ha Noyes was named vice-president during a recent meeting of the Wayne County Rural Teachers Association at the county courthouse in Wayne. Picked for the secretary's post was Mrs. Jeannette Carlson.

Mrs. Virginia Koll was selected to serve as treasurer. All officers will serve for one year. Ending their terms of office are Morris Jacobsen, president; Darrell Grothe, vice-president; Mrs. Gloria Leseberg, treasurer, and Mrs. Betty Ream, secretary.

The group made final plans for the tour to Lincoln which the students and teachers took Friday. Points where the tour was to stop included the Capitol Building, the penitentiary and a rubber factory. Two buses were needed to transport the students and teachers on the trip. Discussion also centered on the music festival planned for Friday afternoon at the city auditorium. The public is invited to the 2 p.m. performance. There will be no charge.

"Campaign Against Rubbish and Trash" (CART) will be kicked off by "Mission CART Week," proclaimed by Governor Norbert Tiemann for April 26 through May 2.

No definite rules or programs have been laid down for Mission CART. Instead, the young people involved are to be guided by their own ingenuity and ambition in their own plan of attack on litter. A special mailing from the Game and Parks Commission is enroute to schools across the state, so further details should be available shortly from school administrators.

Mission CART forces can consist of entire schools, individual classes, clubs within the school or groups outside of school. Action programs and public education are the answers to the littering problem, and Mission CART forces are encouraged to tackle these projects in any way they see fit within their capabilities.

Telling the public of the evils of litter is one of the best ways to fight the problem. Studies show that motorists drop over 16,000 pieces of litter per mile each year on the nation's highway network. Last year the Nebraska Department of Roads spent more than $164,000 in removing debris from the roads, picking up everything from the usual cans, bottles and paper to the newest in throw-away technology, "plastic diapers."

However, for safety reasons, Mission CART workers are being urged to direct their efforts toward trash in parks, vacant lots, residential areas, lake shores and other areas where a litter problem exists.

Mission CART Week will focus attention on this acute problem, but the fight against litter is a year-round job. Hopefully, young people will continue the fight long after the official campaign is over.

Upon completion of Mission CART Week, group captains are requested to submit written reports on their activities to the Governor's Office, State Capitol, Lincoln, Nebr. 68509. Projects will be judged by the Keep Nebraska Beautiful Council, and winners will be awarded trophies. All participating groups will receive parchment citations.

Imagination and creativity of the project, its educational value and its overall effectiveness are the main criteria. Awards will be given for best projects submitted on the grade school, junior high school and senior high school levels.

Encourage Parents Attendance
Wakefield Cub Master Dr. Paul Byers announced that the April pack meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. April 15 in the Scout room instead of April 13 as previously scheduled. Parents are urged to attend this meeting to make plans for the Fun Fair.

Covenant Women Meet
About fifty Covenant Women met Wednesday afternoon at the Fellowship Hall. Program theme was, "Excursion to Ecuador." Mrs. Joe Erickson and Mrs. Myron Olson presented a skit and a guest, Mrs. Marilyn Holm sang, "Remember All the People" and "Because of Thy Great Bounty," accompanied by Mrs. Marvin Felt. Mrs. Allen Salmon gave a reading, "The Missionary." Mrs. Levi Helgren read letters from missionaries. President Mrs. Malcolm Jensen gave devotions.

The mother-daughter banquet will be May 9. Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. Lyle Johanson, Mrs. Floyd Gray and Mrs. Elviss Olson.

Hostesses were Mrs. Ebba Holm, Mrs. Norman Anderson and Mrs. Albert Anderson.

Bright Cards Identify Area Census Takers

Householders will not have any difficulty identifying enumerators for the 1970 Census of Population and Housing, District Manager Eugene Bargman pointed out today.

Census takers, most of whom are women, started making their rounds in the Wayne area on April 1 and are expected to complete their work in three to five weeks.

Each census taker will wear a red, white and blue identification card. This card bears the seal of the Department of Commerce, and the words "Census Enumerator, Official Credential" are printed across its face. It bears the census taker's signature and certifies that she is authorized to perform the duties of a census enumerator and has sworn to keep confidential all census information you provide.

Persons purporting to be census takers who do not have this identification card should be reported immediately to the local police or to the census district office located at Lincoln.

Census takers will be further identified by the portfolio containing their supplies. The portfolio is blue and bears the legend, "1970 Census." In the portfolio, the census taker carries her supplies of report forms, maps, pencils and other tools necessary for her work.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

You may not agree with an editorial — but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

Who's Got the Dents?

Though there will likely be collisions and auto accidents as long as there are vehicles on the streets, the number occurring can be decreased if drivers will practice using caution.

Police Chief Vern Fairchild reports there were 89 accidents on record from January 1 to April 9 one year ago while there were 57 accident reports during that same period this year. Weather conditions in early 1969 undoubtedly was a contributing factor, but regardless, there have been fewer wrecks in 1970. Is it possible to decrease the number of accidents continuously through the rest of this year? The answer is yes, if we all use better driving habits.

Total accidents in Wayne for the year 1968 numbered 147, but rose to 191 during 1969. Surely, winter weather was a major cause but accidents are still caused by human errors in judgment.

What can any of us, who drive an auto or ride a motorcycle, do to avoid having an accident? Generally, the best rule that all can abide by is to pay constant attention to one's driving. It is a full-time job.

Several accidents lately, here in Wayne, have happened when a motorist did not adequately check incoming traffic and entered an intersection in front of an oncoming vehicle. That metal sure makes a loud noise when the two hit.

Even as it takes two to make a fight, it often takes cooperation in setting up a potential collision. For instance, your neighbor isn't very careful about where he parks and consequently chooses to park directly across the street from your driveway. Tsk, Tsk. The door of his auto gives out quite a holler when your rear bumper bites into it, as you backed out of your drive. Aren't both at fault?

Then there is the fellow who suddenly stops in front of you and your front bumper leaves a considerable impression on his trunk lid. It usually takes two to tango and tangle.

Can we set a new accident record during 1970 by being careful. — MMW.

Qualified to Vote?

With primary elections slated May 12, a number of residents in Wayne County may not be legally qualified to mark the ballot. Norris Weible, county clerk, has explained that some voters need to register or re-register in his office by May 1 or be ineligible to cast a ballot.

He noted recently that if a person has lived in a precinct for 10 days, in the county for 40 days and in the state for six months, he is eligible to register and vote.

If the voter registered in 1967 or later and has not changed his address or name, then the person need not re-register.

Nebraska legislators passed a law last year to the effect that if a person has failed to vote in two consecutive general elections, then it is necessary to re-register.

Voters may register in the county clerk's office any time during regular courthouse business hours from 8:30 a.m.

to 5 p.m. except Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

Any resident in the county not sure whether he should re-register should contact the clerk in his office by May 1.

Some people may have moved from one residence to another within a town, and in so doing may have moved from one ward to another, making it necessary to re-register in order to be qualified to vote May 12. Anyone who has changed his or her name must re-register, according to Clerk Weible.

County residents still have approximately three weeks to register or re-register prior to the deadline.

A lot of blood has been shed on battlefields in past years to protect the right and freedom of using the ballot box. What a shame it would be to wait until May 12 and discover one isn't qualified to vote. Why not check today? — MMW.

Equality

Are all men created equal? Certainly everyone is not equal physically, mentally or spiritually. How then, are individuals equal?

Go out to a track meet and watch four teams of four men get ready for the starting gun. When the gun goes off each man has an equal opportunity of winning, but the kind of equality some folk apparently want would mean marching the four teams of four men over the finish line simultaneously. You say that would destroy competition and ruin the sport? Exactly.

Competition is what keeps the unbeatable capitalistic system in America going. Competition keeps progress rolling in product development and keeps prices down for the consumer.

Socialists and other liberals leaning to the left are working diligently to "equal out" all too many things. Socialists do not think it is right for a man, by using his genius, to become wealthy and rich via providing consumers with a desirable product. They have popularized the term "exploiting the masses" which is a Marxist term meaning to make profit from the labor of others. Reds use this double-talk while exploiting their own masses. Don't let Communist propaganda fool you. Instead, look into the womb of socialism in Russia. Is everyone in Russia equal? Tsk, Tsk. Is there freedom of the press, of speech and of worship in Russia? Are party bosses in Russia rich or poor? Do you think those in high government offices in Russia are richer than the peasants?

Those who ignorantly parrot the socialist line of propaganda might do like one high school teacher did when illustrating equality. Regardless of how smart the student was or how hard he worked, the instructor reportedly took some off the high grades and added them to the grades of those making D's and F's... and everyone got an equal mark that way. Students lost all incentive to work. It works the same way in the financial world.

Everyone should have equal opportunity to work... but from there, may the best man win. Though it may be imperfect, let's not knock the best system of government on earth, namely ours, which provides opportunity and freedom for anyone willing to work. — MMW.

19TH Federal Census Taken in 1970

This year will be marked by the completion of the 19th Decennial Federal Census as provided by the Constitution of the United States. Originally required for the apportionment of Congressional representatives on the basis of population, the Census has evolved to include a multitude of social and economic statistics as well.

The Act providing for the 1st Census of 1790 was passed at the Second Session of the First Congress and signed into law by President Washington on March 1, 1790. The President was charged with the supervision of the 1st Census. This initial enumeration was fraught with many problems, among which were poor roads and transportation facilities, non-existent or poorly defined legal subdivisions, and the reluctance of the citizenry to divulge personal information. Nevertheless, the 1st Census was completed in approximately nine months at a cost of $44,377. Six simple questions were asked, and the work was conducted by some 650 enumerators. Each succeeding census resulted in an expansion of the number and types of inquiry until the 7th Census of 1850 which is regarded as the first "modern" census. This census involved some 32 separate areas of inquiry.

Nebraska has been included in all federal censuses from 1860 to the present. In addition, territorial censuses were conducted in 1854, 1855, 1856 and 1857. Various state censuses were also taken in Nebraska, the most important being the 1885 Agricultural Census. The files of the State Archivist, Nebraska State Historical Society, include most schedules of the 1860-1880 federal censuses, and the 1885 state census, as well as other territorial and state censuses for selected counties. Unfortunately, the 1890 Federal Census records were destroyed by a fire in Washington, and only the special schedule for veterans survived.

Prior to the creation of a separate Bureau of the Census in 1902, census taking was a function of the Department of the Interior. The annual report of the Secretary of the Interior for 1881-82 provides some interesting data regarding the 1880 Federal census in Nebraska. In that census year, the state was divided into two supervisor's districts, employing some 53 enumerators. The bulk of these individuals received between two and three dollars per day for their services—with some variation. Based on a total population of 452,433, the average per capita cost of the 1880 Nebraska Census was about 63 cents. The total cost of the 1880 census for the state amounted to some $28,720, more than two-thirds as much as the entire cost of the 1st Census of 1790.

While sometimes unreliable, the early censuses are an important source of genealogical and historical data, and the decennial enumerations will continue to provide a significant yardstick by which to measure the social and economic structure of the nation.

by Martin Wright

Once in a while a story comes along which is not only true but one which renews faith in his fellow man. Such a story occurred in Wayne Monday when a businessman lost his billfold containing cash and checks totaling $421. Some of the money was personal and a major portion of it was company funds.

One can imagine how Melvin Russell felt after discovering that his billfold was not in its usual place in his pocket. Tim Irish, a Wayne State College student living at the Woehler Trailer Court, found the billfold at the U. S. Post Office and turned it in to Wayne police.

Knowing what a good feeling it is to have even an item of lesser value back in one's possession, it is difficult to imagine how good Russell felt in getting the billfold back... completely intact. The businessman immediately contacted the WSC student and wanted him to have a reward for finding and returning the billfold, but Irish didn't want to take anything for it.

How refreshing it is to hear of this young man's honesty. Equally refreshing is the fact that he acted honestly expecting no reward. Ah! May that kind of man fill our classrooms, business offices and official positions in both today and tomorrow's world.

J. W. feels Tim Irish deserves a real salute for setting an example in honesty that has become all too rare in these days of greed. May his kind of man live a long, long time.

How did you gals feel about Dr. Phon E. Hudkins, a Labor Department lawyer and economist in the Manpower Administration, blaming all of man's ills on the falser sex?

Hudkins recently released a 200-page report, mostly filled with writings by psychiatrists, lawyers, anthropologists, sociologists and other experts, in which he reportedly states, "I have tracked down reports, for instance, that schizophrenia, paranoia, suicide, alcoholism, cancer, arthritis, sterility, all result from female dominance of the family." J. W. notes, however, that bachelor Hudkins made the report available during the recent strike of postal carriers. This was a master move, otherwise you ladies would likely have swamped him with an avalanche of notes written on asbestos. Of course, if you would have done such, the Washingtonian might have figured it was but another act proving his point. Sure hard to win a case these days, isn't it?

Your family isn't likely hard up for having enough things to do on Sunday afternoons, but if you would like something out of the ordinary and at no cost, drive to the Wayne State College campus on a Sunday afternoon this month or next for a demonstration of the new Fred G. Dale Planetarium.

The planetarium is located on the first floor of the Ralph M. Carhart Science Hall. Shows during April are being presented by Carl Rump, Larry Cottrell will take charge in May. Each show starts promptly at 2:30 p.m. or 4 p.m. and lasts for one hour. Late arrivals are not admitted. It is requested parents not bring children under five years of age.

The demonstration includes taking a visual trip through space, observing constellations, galaxies, and seeing Earth from a distance. The ARPY projector at the new planetarium is one of two like it in the Midwest. The show is educational as well as entertaining. Instructor Rump, director of the planetarium, has coordinated "space" music, heard via 16 stereo speakers, to accompany the show.

We saw the demo last Sunday and plan to see it again. (Note: Those of you getting The Herald Saturday should remember there will be only one show this Sunday at 7:30 p.m. due to WSC graduation exercises. The two-show schedule resumes April 19.)

It will be time to grab the clock and twist the hands ahead one hour in just two weeks. Daylight Savings Time will begin early Sunday morning, April 26, and continue for six months through October. There are always some "Oh, good!" and some "Oh, no!" expressions on the subject each year. One would think the hour change would be noticed particularly by one's stomach, but evidently in these days when you can fly by jet from Omaha to Denver in slightly over 60 minutes, into another time zone, the tummy

News of Note around Northeast Nebraska

Jim Sherlock was named chief and Gayle Moody assistant chief in an election of fire department officers at Emerson last week. Elected to the other posts were Duane Strong as president, Orville Paulsen as vice-president, Gene Blaker as first captain and Clyde Alexander as second captain.

The firemen have set Friday as the tentative date for the annual banquet.

St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Pierce recently voted to close the elementary school after this school year, ending 65 years of educating parish youngsters. Reason given: a serious lack of teaching nuns.

Two years ago the church members postponed the closing of the school by eliminating the seventh and eighth grades.

Two nuns are now teaching in the Pierce church school. Helping them is a lay teacher.

Total enrollment in the school now is 66, about 15 of which will go to rural schools when the school is closed and the rest to the Pierce public school system. Public school officials have told the Pierce newspaper that the students can be taken into the system with little trouble. However, three additional teachers may have to be hired.

Coleridge people are apparently about evenly split on the question of whether the town needs a swimming pool — 108 people voted for it, 106 against it in Tuesday's election. The bond issue had to have 60 per cent voter approval to pass.

As met to the village board at Coleridge were Robert B. Vost and Dean Benson. Men elected to the school board were William Leasley and Marvin Domina.

The St. Frances School at Randolph will be the site of the third annual Cedar County math contest slated for Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. Schools planning to compete include Laurel, Coleridge, Hartington, Hartington Cedar Catholic, Wynok, Randolph and the host school.

Divisions in the contest include seventh grade math, eighth grade math, algebra I, algebra II, geometry and senior math.

The school gaining the highest number of points will earn a plaque. Individual awards will be given for the first three winners in each division.

Tilden's Jack Happel will manage the Antelope Country Club this golf season. He will live in a trailer which will be moved onto the grounds later. Grand opening for the golf course is planned for Wednesday.

Three northeast Nebraskans found out it pays to know the right people when they attended the state basketball tournament.

The people, two from Bloomfield and one from Hartington, got all the way to their seats to watch the Bloomfield game only to find they were in the wrong building and would have to go across town to watch the game they wanted to see. Puzzled at whether they could get their money back, they began talking to a man standing in an aisle. He said he thought they had a right for a refund and guided them to the ticket office where he said, "These people got into the wrong game. Their money should be refunded."

The response from the ticket seller: "Yes, Mr. Devaney."

Cuming, Thurston and Burt Counties to the southeast have embarked on a plan unique to Nebraska.

The plan is meant to provide mutual aid to the three counties in the event of a large disaster. Focal points in the plan are the hospitals at Pender, West Point and Oakland. Should a disaster occur, the medical staff of the entire area and all its resources would be available.

Trophies taken by Royal Nahrstedt during a hunting expedition to Alaska have been finished by the taxidermist and are now displayed in his Madison home. The trophies are a Dall sheep and a black bear, both taken in the Talkeetna Mountains last summer. The sheep, 10 years old, has horns with a 35-inch full curl and are 13 3/4 inches in circumference at the base.

The teachers at Emerson-Hubbard have accepted a board salary offer. The offer includes a base of $6,250 with increments over the base of four per cent for each year of experience and four per cent for each nine hours of work beyond the undergraduate degree. The school system also pays $10 per month per faculty member on an insurance plan.

Filling Late? Double Check First

Last minute income tax filers should double check their returns, since those filed just before the deadline are much more likely to contain errors, Richard Vinal, Internal Revenue Service district director for Nebraska, said last week.

Errors on returns delay processing and any refund that may be due.

Deadline for filing is Wednesday, April 15.

Missing information accounts for many of the errors, Vinal said. This type of error could be a return received without a required signature, Social Security number or W-2 statement.

Taxpayers who use the tax form they received in the mail can avoid Social Security number problems, Vinal said. These forms have pre-addressed labels that show the taxpayer's name, Social Security number and address just as they appear in IRS files.

The label can be lifted off the form it came on and placed on another should this be necessary.

Vinal advised taxpayers who miss someone help them with their return to be sure their pre-addressed label is on the form they file.

has become quite adjustable from one meal to another. On this end of the line, my snacking habits have caused the army of digestive juices to be ready to go out on the battle field at any hour of the twenty-four. But when you're 39 and going on indefinitely, maybe the additional hour of daylight in the evening will provide time for a healthy jog... even if it is back to the refrigerator.

Don't forget the annual auto show in Wayne this week. Late model cars, station wagons and trucks will be on display Friday in the 100 block on West Third Street. All one has to do is register in a participating store and maybe win a free six-day trip for a family of six to Lake Okoboji at Arnold's Park, Iowa. Whoever wins that trip will also be given $50 and the use of a new car. How can you beat that!

Lake Okoboji is a fun place to go. Have you been there recently? J. W. usually goes over to the lakes several times each summer, mostly to roller skate. They have a big rink and live organ music played by a live blonde. She is really terrific and has most everyone in the rink area tapping a toe.

The roller skate area is a fun place for all the family, so remember to register for the free trip. Who knows, you might win. Somebody will. Even if you don't win the trip, you'll come out the winner by taking advantage of the money-saving values that are specials in Wayne today through Friday.

Something new has been added to the auto show this year. A "paint your car contest" is being held. Just paint your car anyway you want and bring it to the show Friday. The winner will receive a cash prize and trophy.

Maybe you could "polka dot" the old lizzy and call it "Astronaut Measles"? If you should happen to be getting married Friday, perhaps you could pick up a little extra cash before leaving town on your honeymoon by bringing your decorated "Just Married" car to the competition. After all, aren't those magic words? Fly your flag from now, sir. It would sure help you remember your wedding day, Sir? Sir? You do want to remember don't you?

Another class of Wayne State College seniors has received those coveted degrees. Didn't they look nice Sunday? Seeing all those handsome lads and pretty lassies gives a person new faith in the future, huh? What do you suppose the old world

State Will Maintain Stanton County Road

An eight-mile stretch of Nebraska Highway 32 in Stanton County between highways 57 and 15 will be maintained by the Nebraska Department of Roads. The decision on state maintenance followed a resolution by the Stanton County commissioners to place 2,000 yards of gravel surfacing on the unsurfaced portions and portions that need additional gravel surfacing. The eight miles of Highway 32 were designated a part of the state highway system by legislation in 1955. However, it was not accepted by the Department for maintenance because it was unimproved and not adequate for highway traffic. The section is scheduled for grading and structuring to adequate standards in the 1970-1975 program.

Wind Whips Farm Fire

These are two scenes from Tuesday's fire at the Ed Doescher farm home northeast of Wayne. One shows the strong wind whipping the flames in one of the two stacks of baled hay that were destroyed. The other shows how the fire crawled along until it got into several tree stumps just before it jumped the country road and began burning in the ditch. Luckily, the fire did not destroy any of the buildings on the farm and firemen saved a crib full of corn. The fire was one of several that windy day in northeast Nebraska.

Space Seminar Set For Cape Kennedy Open to Sophomores

A unique seminar for boys interested in the study of space is being planned for NASA's Kennedy Space Center in Florida this summer. Sixty young men, one from each state and 10 foreign countries, will be allowed to participate in the seminar.

High school sophomores will be chosen for their outstanding school leadership, community service and science interests in a nationwide competition now underway. Applications can be obtained from local offices of the Boy Scouts of America. However, the competition is open to all youths finishing their sophomore year this spring. The young people entering the competition are required to write an essay of 400 words or less on "What Is Man's Future in Space?" Winners of the competition will be flown to Cape Kennedy for the intensive, week-long 14-hour daily seminars dealing with every phase of the space program.

Highlight of the seminar will include boarding the six and a half million pound crawler-transporter for an inspection while in motion, briefing on the Apollo 14 mobile launcher, ascension of the launch umbilical tower and entrance to the Apollo command and lunar module simulators.

The seminar is being sponsored by Pepsi-Cola Company and the Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation in cooperation with the Exploring Division of the Boy Scouts of America and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration at the John F. Kennedy Space Center.

The 1,000 Boy Scout camps in the Nation comprise 447,217 acres and are valued at $181,503,000.

New School

Crewmen continue working on the new $500,000 Winside Elementary School which is slated for completion this summer. Dana-Larson-Roubal Associates designed the building for District 95R. A bond issue to build the new structure was passed by voters in December 1968. This is the way the school looks from atop a hill to the west, looking east.

Police Check Thefts, Collisions and Parties

Auto accidents, noisy parties, thefts, and property damage make up the story out of the Wayne police blotter April 3-7. Three cars were involved in an accident at Seventh and Main Streets Friday around 12:20 p.m. A 1963 Chevrolet driven by Elva Eby of Belden was northbound on Main Street. Mitchell Nissen of Wayne was also northbound in a 1962 Buick. Dennis Graham of Quimby, Iowa, was driving the third vehicle, a 1967 Pontiac. Officers answered a call Saturday to the 500 block on East Seventh Street and told parties to quiet down after a complaint had been filed due to the noise. Around 2:42 a.m. Saturday morning, police broke up a noisy party near Logan and Fairground Ave. Larry Markk informed police that a Magnovox FM stereo radio component had been stolen from his locked auto after 3 a.m. Saturday. It was valued, according to police, at $75. Dennis L. Brummer of Kennard was driving a 1967 Chevrolet south on Lincoln Street about three o'clock Saturday afternoon, police said, when in collision with a 1965 Chevrolet pickup driven by Leslie Doescher eastbound on West Second Street. The two vehicles met at the intersection. Later Saturday afternoon at 4:05 p.m. officers investigated when a parked 1965 Rambler belonging to Tom Wagner in the 200 block on Blaine Street was struck in the left door by a 1970 Ford. Officers said Gerald Thomas of Marathon, Iowa, was driving the Ford and was backing out of a driveway at the time. Shortly after noon Sunday police noted that a clothesline post and a no-parking sign had been knocked over in the 300 block on East Eighth Street. Tim Irish of Wayne found a billfold at the U. S. Post Office Monday which contained approximately $400. He turned it over to the police, who in turn returned it to its owner, Melvin Russell of Wayne.

Joan Greenleaf of Wayne told officers Monday afternoon that someone had taken 10 stereo tapes from her car Saturday night which was parked in the 700 block on Main Street. Late Monday afternoon at 4:45 p.m. police investigated a collision at Seventh and Pearl Streets. According to officers a 1962 Ford driven by Sophie Rodell of Wayne stopped for a stop sign while northbound on Pearl. She reportedly did not see a 1964 Chevrolet approaching from the east being driven by Kevin Dorcy. Police said the Rodell auto pulled into the intersection and collided with the Dorcy vehicle. A report was turned in at 12:45 a.m. Tuesday by a resident in the 600 block on Walnut saying someone threw a pair of pliers through a rear window. Larry Ferguson told police Tuesday afternoon that a rear door of his mobile home in the Woehler Trailer Court had been broken in and a gun and a set of golf clubs were missing.

A 1962 Oldsmobile driven by Bryan Reinhardt was stopped to turn left into an alley on East Second Street at 4:20 p.m. Tuesday, police said, when struck in the rear by a 1967 Buick driven by Richard Tietgen of Wayne.

He has been stationed at Killen, Texas, since October and will be going to Viet Nam following completion of his furlough.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hall of Carroll went to Omaha April 3 to meet their son, Robert, who has been discharged from the Navy. Hall has been in the Navy for two years and stationed at San Diego, Calif.

Navy Seaman Leslie L. Lawson of Laurel has returned to San Diego aboard the amphibious assault ship USS Vancouver after an eight-month deployment in the Western Pacific.

Scout Pack 175 at Herald

Writing Contest Open to Students

Junior and senior high school students in the Wayne area will again have a chance to display their writing talents while singing the praises of their state in the sixth annual Mari Sandov Essay Contest, sponsored by NEBRASKA Land Magazine. The statewide contest is conducted each year in conjunction with NEBRASKA Land Days to foster student interest in Nebraska's history, scenic and recreational opportunities.

Topic this year: "Nebraska - Where History Lives On." Students can give free reign to their imaginations in developing this theme, since Nebraska has a variety of scenic and historic sites and a rich heritage from the era of the pioneers and the Red Man. Entries should range from 500 to 1,000 words, and will be judged on subject matter, creativity, accuracy, writing ability and neatness. Since the contest is open to students in grades 7 through 12, age will be taken into consideration by the judges. Complete rules are available from the school or by writing to NEBRASKA Land Magazine, State Capitol, Lincoln, Nebr. 68509. Deadline for entries is May 11.

Prizes for the first place winner include a week's free vacation at a Nebraska state park for the student and his family, with the prize awarded during NEBRASKA Land Days at North Platte in June. The next 10 runners-up will receive a free two-year subscription to NEBRASKA Land Magazine, and all entrants will be entitled to purchase one-year subscriptions for $2 instead of the usual $3 price.

Wayne State Graduate Has Article Printed

In Indian Publication

Dr. Ardyce S. Lightner, a graduate of Wayne State College and former teacher at Lyons, has an article in the November, 1969 issue of "Shortland," a publication of the Pitman Shortland School, New Delhi, India. The article is titled "Education for Business Occupations in the United States."

Dr. Lightner earned her BA degree in business education at Wayne State. She holds MA and Ed.D degrees in business education from Colorado State College at Greeley. She is currently an associate professor of business and chairman of the business department at Radford College in Radford, Va.

A member of numerous education honoraries and associations, she has written many articles on business education. Before going to Radford College in 1969, she was associate professor of business at Morehead State University in Morehead, Ky. She was a graduate assistant at Colorado State College and taught on the junior high school level and at the College of Great Falls, Great Falls, Mont.

Excellence in English Proves Rewarding

Phyllis Mausbach of Humphrey received the sophomore scholarship for excellence in English at Wayne State College this term. A 1968 graduate of Humphrey High School, she is majoring in English, with drama as a supporting subject.

She is editor of the 1970 Spizz, college yearbook, vice president of Newman Club, a member of Sigma Tau Delta, national English honorary; Alpha Lambda Delta, national sorority for freshman women, and Cardinal Key, national honor service society for women students. She is also a counselor of Nelhardt Hall. She plans to teach at the secondary level.

'The Early Bird . . .'

Alan Johnson of Wakefield got a jump on things when he sold a ticket to the coming Scout Fun Fair to Dana Lefstad of Wayne at last week's Round Table in Wayne. The Fun Fair is set for Wakefield Elementary School on May 2 - another important Scout dates are visible on the large poster. Tickets are selling for $1 each and Scouts can earn a variety of prizes for a successful selling campaign. Johnson and Dennis Byers, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Johnson and Dr. and Mrs. Paul Byers, were the ones to win trips to Omaha in the ticket selling contest last year. Lefstad is the district chairman for the Lewis and Clark District.

58 Hopefuls Register at Roundups

A total of 58 youngsters signed up in the Wayne-Carroll school system during the kindergarten roundups held recently. Eleven of the youngsters signed up at Carroll, the other 47 at Wayne.

Elementary Principal Richard Metteer said Tuesday that any parents who were unable to bring their children to either of the schools during the roundup can still register them for school next year. The child's birth certificate should be brought with them, Metteer noted.

Following are the youngsters who registered at Carroll, with parents' names in parentheses: Shelly Granfield (Dwayne), Kris Loberg (Harold), Troy Milligan (Jesse), Darin Billheimer (Ronnie), Patty Hank (Robert), Julie Fleming (Robert), Timothy Heier (Darrel), Tracy Hoogner (Lanny), Rocky Johnson (Donald), Jeffrey Jorgensen (Rod), Randy Koehlmoss (Larry), Mark Kubik (Don), Brad Lippert (Clarence), Robert Liska (J. J.), Patrick Longe (Gary), Rodney Longe (Delbert), Pamela Maier (C. R.), Loretta Marshall (Merton), Brad Meier (Larry), Lisa Menel (Richard), Joni Mendy (Lee), Jill Moseley (Keith), Tamie Murray (Harold), Gregory Parr (John), Donald Pate Jr. (Donald), Roger Pilger (Edward), Deborah Prange (Tom), Louis Roemhilt (Elmer), Richard Rolano (Kenneth), Karen Sandahl (Neil), Beth Schafer (Gerald), Bryan Schmidt (Burt), Michelle Sherlock (Clifford), Joni Sitzman (Kenneth), Melissa Stoltenberg (Del), Jennifer Thelen (William), Todd Schwartz (Deliah), Jeanne Tietgen (Wayne), Pamela Ulrich (Wayne) and Kristi Wills (Stan).

Vision Is Topic Of Film on LSD

The Nebraska Optometric Association has announced it is making available to the public "a highly informative film" on LSD and its effects.

Dr. L. P. Wallace of Broken Bow, president of the Optometrists, said the film relates to problems that can develop with vision as it may be affected by the drug, LSD.

"It further deals with the damage LSD can have on the chromosomes of the human body and shows damage caused by LSD to fetuses of pregnant animals," Dr. Wallace explained.

The Nebraska Optometric Association will make the film available free of charge to civic groups, PTA's, schools and colleges "and any other organizations or institutions that may be concerned by the drug problem in this country," Dr. Wallace said.

He said any group wanting the film should contact their optometrist if he is a member of the Nebraska Optometric Association or write the Nebraska Optometric Association, Assn. Bldg., 9th & Minnesota, Hastings, Nebraska 68901.
