'Whew, Plans Nearly Finished'

Plans are drawing to a close for the biggest Boy Scout event of the year: the Scout Fun Fair scheduled for Saturday at Wakefield.

The event will draw several hundred young boys; both Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts, from Wayne, Cedar, Dixon, Thurston and Cumming Counties. There will be a total of 17 Cub Scout booths and 15 Boy Scout booths set up for the event. In addition, the St. Augustine Mission Indian dancers, who will perform twice during the day, will have a booth of Indian lore set up during the day.

Unless rain dictates different, the Scouts will have booths set up outside of the Wakefield Elementary School. If bad weather is in the forecast for the day, the booths and presentations will be moved inside the school.

Activity gets officially underway at the Fun Fair at two o'clock Saturday afternoon with the flag See 'WHEW', page 8

Local Observance of 'Stewardship Week'

Soil Stewardship Week, a nationwide observance which places emphasis on man's obligation as stewards of the soil, water and other related resources, will be celebrated locally May 3-10, according to Werner Mann, chairman of the Wayne County Soil and Water Conservation District.

"Resources and Renewal," the theme of this year's observance, underscores the responsibility which each citizen has in dealing with current issues involving stewardship of natural resources.

The local Soil and Water Conservation District and some 3,000 companion districts throughout the nation, along with their state and national associations, are sponsoring the event for the 16th consecutive year.

Upon request, the Soil and Water Conservation District will distribute to churches of all faiths the bulletins, inserts and booklets created particularly for this year's observance, Mann said.

Mr. Voter Gets Answers

Wayne residents interested in finding out how the candidates for city council and school board feel about certain subjects are offered the first in a series in this issue of The Wayne Herald.

Answers to several questions asked the candidates for council from the Second and Third Wards appear on pages two and three of the second section of the newspaper. Among those questions was one dealing with industry in Wayne.

In coming issues of The Herald, the views of the council candidates from the First Ward, the candidates for mayor and the candidates for school board will be printed. Those statements should help the voter choose who to vote for in the May 12 primary.

Celestial Show At Planetarium Free to Public

Would you like to get a better look at the universe in which you live? If so, you'll have the opportunity to do just that during the new series of planetarium shows scheduled at Wayne State College in the new science building during May.

Free one-hour programs were held two times each Sunday at the planetarium during April by Carl Rump, WSC instructor and planetarium director.

A new series of shows are now slated at the planetarium during the month of May with Larry Cottrell, WSC instructor, in charge. Cottrell said the planetarium shows in May will be similar to those in April but will vary somewhat.

The shows, open to the public at no charge, are set for 2:30 p.m. each Sunday and at 7:30 p.m. each Wednesday. The program lasts approximately 60 minutes. Those planning to attend should arrive early in that no one will be admitted after the show has started due to the need for keeping the planetarium in darkness.

It is also requested that parents not bring youngsters five years old or younger.

Instructor Cottrell said that clubs, church or school groups may contact him at 375-2200, extension 75, to make arrangements for special planetarium shows. There are no charges for such programs.

Cottrell said there will not be a Sunday show on Memorial Day weekend, May 31.

Top WS Grad Returns Friday To Lead Concert

A talented high school orchestra is coming from Illinois to Nebraska for a series of concerts directed by a Wayne State College graduate and former resident of Elgin and Newman Grove—Thelma Wilcox.

Her 64-member orchestra from Niles North High School of Skokie is scheduled to play at 11:15 a.m. Friday, May 1, in Wayne State's Ramsey Theatre, the concert is open to the public at no admission charge.

That afternoon at 2:30 the orchestra will play in the Madison city auditorium. Then two performances are billed in Newman Grove's new gymnasium Saturday at 10 a.m. and 8 p.m.

Dr. Benjamin Bernstein, Wayne State orchestra conductor and professor of music, recalls Miss Wilcox as one of the finest students and violinists ever to attend Wayne State. He has been on the faculty since 1950, and she graduated from WSC in 1957. Her father, R. D. Wilcox, now principal at Newman Grove, also graduated at that time.

'Now, If I Was Auctioneering'

These four gents had the right idea during the white elephant sale put on by the Wayne Lions Club Sunday — find a chair, some shade and take it easy. The sale raised $125 for the Club's donation to the sight clinic in Omaha. Sale chairman — of a different kind than the ones pictured — was Al Voorhies. Helping him on the committee were Charles Dennis, Clote Sharrer, Wes Pflueger, Willis Johnson and Bill Kemp. Lee Foote, Harold Maciejewski and Bob McLean helped pick up the donated items, and H. W. "Pete" Pflueger donated his auctioneering services.

Parking Restrictions Bring Objections

Objections to the new parking restrictions going into effect in several parts of Wayne forced the city council to tap the planning commission in an attempt to work out a fair solution to the problem.

The objections, raised at Tuesday night's council session, were to the restrictions which permit no parking on one side of the street and no parking on the other side from midnight to 5 a.m. Obeyed by the council in January, the restrictions are going into force now as the signs are installed.

Major reasons given for not wanting the signs were that they make it difficult for anybody to have overnight guests and are unreasonable for people living in houses with small lawns which they cannot use for driveways.

Several people noted that off-street parking should be required for those places where several renters are living in one house, but that a single family which rents or owns a home should be allowed to park on the street because he is helping pay for that street.

Council members pointed out that the restrictions have worked in other parts of the city. Although the people living in those areas first objected to the restrictions, the council noted, most are happy with the restricted parking and would not want to change back to what they had before.

Replying to a statement that the new restrictions are unfair because they force people to provide off-street parking, councilman Al Wittig said that it is just as fair as the city's forcing new home owners to provide parking of the streets.

Wittig, who urged that the restrictions be tried for awhile before they be thrown out, noted that the council had considered several other methods to control parking so congestion would be less and so the city workers could clean and police the streets. This was the method thought best. He said.

The city planners will take on the problem, try to find a solution See OBJECTIONS, page 8

Free Shopping Spree Offered

A free five-minute shopping spree in any grocery store in Wayne — the housewife's dream — is being offered as the grand prize to climax this year's Chamber of Commerce spring retail promotion.

The promotion, titled Ding-Dong-Dollar-Days, begins today (Thursday) and ends Saturday. The numerous stores participating in the promotion will have specials on their shelves and sales going on during the three-day affair.

Then, at 5 p.m. Saturday evening, there will be the drawing for the name of the person who will get the opportunity to take home free all the grocery items he can pick up in five minutes. He will get that opportunity at 6 p.m. in the store of his choice.

There is no fee for registering for the drawing. Just sign the slips available at any of the participating merchants.

Few rules have been set down regarding the free shopping spree. However, only one person will be allowed to cart arm fulls of food from the grocery shelves to the checkout counters. Also, the winner of the prize can transfer it only within his family.

Readers of the Wayne Herald will see a feature in this week's issue of the Herald that remains rather unique in newspaper advertising: the use of a process or full-color photograph.

The picture used this week is of the interior of King's Carpets, which last week moved to a recently remodeled building at 104 Main Street.

To acquaint citizens of the Wayne community with his newly remodeled store, Larry King, owner of King's Carpets, is holding an open house this Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Further details of the open house are in another section of the Herald.

School District Reorganization Hearing Tonight

A public hearing has been set by the Wayne County School Reorganization Committee for 8:15 p.m. tonight (Thursday) in the Wayne County courtroom to consider school district petitions regarding mergers and the dissolving of other districts.

Glady Porter, county superintendent of schools, said the committee will consider the following at the public hearing: District 65 being dissolved and going to District 17 Wayne, District 95R Winside, and District 51 rural; and District 7 being dissolved and merged with Districts 1 and 25.

The superintendent said other petitions to be acted on by the board are: District 56 to be dissolved and merged with District 51; and District 66 to be dissolved and merged with District 15.

Representatives from reorganization boards in Stanton, Cumming and Wayne counties will meet jointly Thursday night, Supr. Porter said, to act on a petition which would dissolve District 7 in Stanton County and District 30 in Cumming County, and annex them to District 95R at Winside.

Crash Near Norfolk Injures Carroll Man

A one-car mishap four miles northeast of Norfolk on Highway 35 injured a rural Carroll man around 7:30 p.m. Saturday, according to Sgt. Gerald Esley of the State Safety Patrol, Norfolk, who investigated.

Jerry L. Goldman, 23, was eastbound, according to Esley, in a 1967 Ford which went off the right side of the highway, recrossed the road and rolled over in the north ditch.

Goldman, a warehouse worker in Norfolk, reportedly sustained back injuries in the crash and was taken to the Lutheran Community Hospital in Norfolk by the Hoskins rescue squad.

Top and sides of the vehicle were extensively damaged. The driver was alone in the car at the time.

Governor Is Guest

Governor Norbert Tiemann stopped in Wayne Wednesday morning on a campaign tour through northeast Nebraska to seek re-election as Governor. Bob Carhart, county chairman for Tiemann's campaign, welcomed the Governor upon his arrival at Les' Steak House around 9:30 a.m. where about 75 area residents had gathered for an informal coffee hour with the incumbent Republican candidate. Gov. Tiemann spoke to the group about roads, industry, taxes and jobs. In his address he noted that Highway 15 is "one of the worst" and commented, "I can't remember when it was any good." He said resurfacing of the road is included in the state's six year road plan.

Shape-Up Time

Bathing suit weather is coming up. Don't let a few extra pounds keep you from looking your best this summer; there's no better time than spring to trim your figure.

Low calorie meals can be appetizing, slimming and well-balanced. The secret?—Cut down on calories without cutting out the protective foods you need.

The number of meals you should eat every day if you're on a diet also has many people confused. Some people believe it's best to eat three square meals a day; others suggest dividing the food into smaller portions and eating six meals.

Nutritionists with the U. S. Department of Agriculture investigated the three versus six meals question. They found that the number of meals you eat makes no difference in your weight gain or loss. The total number of calories is the important factor.

If you're tired of vegetables simply boiled in water, cook them in bouillon or skim milk and season with celery, onion or herbs.

It does take self-discipline to stay on a diet—even if meals are appetizing. But, keep thinking of that "new you" in your bathing suit this summer. Turn that dream into a reality.

Library Receives Memorial Books

Two new memorial books, available now at the Wayne Public Library are "Crewel Embroidery" by Erica Wilson, given in memory of the late Mrs. Minnie McNeatt, and "Everyday Life in Bible Times," prepared by the National Geographic Society, given in memory of the late Mrs. Anna Moller. The embroidery book gives clear instructions, and both books include many lovely color illustrations.

Librarian Rodella Wacker reminds borrowers that the library is still making available through the Wayne Senior Citizens Center, a nice variety of books which may be checked out at the center. Assistant librarian Mrs. Wes Pfueger takes the books to the center on the fourth Thursday afternoon of each month, and stays to give a brief introduction of them. The new "large print" books, designed for easy reading, have been enthusiastically accepted.

Have You Read... THE CONFIDENT YEARS

by Sandra Breitkreutz

"The Confident Years" by the editors of an American Heritage magazine of history is a fine new non-fiction book now available at the Wayne Public Library. Of special interest to history buffs, the volume may easily find its place on the shelves of many other readers too because of its ability to make the reader actually interested in the many facts camouflaged in the pages of anecdotes and beautiful illustrations—lithographs, reproductions of oils, sketches, photographs and cartoons. There are 400 pages of history here, and an illustration on nearly every page—many in brilliant color.

Particularly interesting was a photograph of an Indian, described in 1912 as "a beaten captive who knew he could not adjust to the environment we press upon him, and who had accepted his dull fate with the grim stoicism of his race, and had ceased trying to combat or avert it."

Concerning the Misses S. Grant administration we find Grant's wife, Julia, upon becoming first lady, was overawed and would much have preferred to keep her own home to moving into the White House. She relied heavily at first upon Mrs. Hamilton Fish, wife of the secretary of state, and in one instance when Fish was considering resignation, Grant protested that his wife could not do without Mrs. Fish. In time, however, Julia developed assurance, even to the point of becoming arrogant, and was transformed to elegance in black velvet and diamonds. On the other hand, President Grant remained unaffected by his position. Awkward and reticent at receptions, he kept to his small circle of friends and seemed to have no personal interests beyond cigars and horses. Interesting too are the incidents related concerning the Grant children, but you read about them.

Later in this volume you will find a photograph of a Nebraska farm family in front of their soddy. Family members are for mail, grouped on straight backed kitchen chairs, set upon the weedy yard, and are surrounded by the things they love—the family dog, the child's rocking horse and his straw hat, a bird in a cage hanging from the roof. Grass is growing from the roof of the soddy, and a windmill stands guard in the background. This picture tells a quiet story.

In "The Melting Pot," a section devoted to the emigration of thousands to our shores, "The Confident Years" tells a hopeful story, and a sad one, a story to make one proud of his ancestry, and a story to make one ashamed of that same ancestry. We read of the illness, fears, hopes, dreams and disappointments of those men, women and children who came to our land with such hope not so many years ago and caught their first glimpse of Ellis Island and a new way of life.

A Chicago and Northwestern Railway hotel car, shown in an 1872 advertisement, is equipped with folding overhead berths, portable tables and a kitchen. The menu of this line advertised buffalo, antelope, elk and grouse.

Divided into 12 portfolios, "The Confident Years" covers the period of our nation's growth from the Civil War through the early 1900's, a period of exuberant growth in population, industry and world prestige, say the editors. As the twentieth century opened, American political authorities were convinced that the nation was on an ascending spiral of progress that could only end in something approaching perfection. And those who did see injustice between the bright world of privilege and the gray fact of poverty were still certain that soon no one would go cold, hungry or ill clothed. Those were indeed "The Confident Years."

County Bond Sales

Setting Brisk Pace

March sales of U. S. Savings Bonds and Savings Notes in Wayne County amounted to $16,967, according to Henry F. Lev of Wayne, county chairman.

Three-month sales total $59,627 for 33.9 per cent of the county quota for the year.

Cedar County has recorded sales so far this year of $70,450 for 15.8 per cent of its yearly quota. March sales in that county totaled $13,492. In Dixon County, the total sales this year are $63,807 for 23.3 per cent of the quota. March sales there amounted to $14,531.

At the same time, M. F. Oberg, state chairman, reported first quarter sales in Nebraska were up by more than $2 million over the same period of 1969. Sales through March amounted to $12,184,122 for a gain of 2.2 per cent from a year ago.

Oberg attributed the increase in sales to the higher interest rate of five per cent paid on Savings Bonds, announced December by the Treasury Department. Series F Bonds, popular with payroll savers, now need to be held only five years and 10 months when they mature, to receive the new higher rate.

More than 8,000 apprentices from minority groups represented a record 11 per cent of the 73,000 new apprentices admitted to registered programs throughout the nation in 1969. The percentage of minorities now in all ongoing registered programs was nearly eight per cent compared to the 4.4 per cent during 1966.

MR. AND MRS. HOME OWNER:

SUBJECT: Know who you are dealing with when you plan home improvements

With the coming of warm weather home owners begin to think of repairs and new paint jobs. And this is the time when sharp operators in the home repair and building supplies business bait their hooks for suckers.

The Federal Trade Commission accordingly, has warned home owners to be on the lookout for home repair sharpers and related swindlers who have a habit of bobbing up in various communities when the leaves begin to turn green. The federal agency lists several of the more common pitches used by swindlers, including the bait-and-switch, the "home improvement academy," fictitious "regular" prices, misleading guarantees, bogus home improvement contests, the referral racket and misrepresentation of interest rates.

Most home owners are wary by now of the old fly-by-night home repair gang that comes around and promises to do a good "dirt cheap" paint or re-roofing job only to slap on vastly inferior materials, collect its money and disappear before the victim realizes how badly he has been swindled. So we may not see much more of this kind of racket. But some home owners may still be misled by the "bait-and-switch" approach, which involves advertising a project at a very attractive price and then persuading the home owner that they should buy a much more expensive product. Or they may be taken in by the bogus contest, sales commission, false guarantee, or related rackets.

Once bitten, the victimized home owner, of course, can tell his troubles to the FTC or the local Better Business Bureau. But this is something akin to locking the barn door after the horse has been stolen. The commission and the bureau can't help him get his money back, they can only warn him in advance to watch out for the home repair swindler.

Of course, not everyone who approaches home owners with regard to home improvement repairs is a swindler. Many reputable contractors and supply firms work in this field. The safest thing for the home owner to do when he wants to make improvements and repairs is to deal with the local dealer or contractor in whom he has confidence. The community businessman has a reputation to maintain and the prosperity of his business enterprise depends on how well he maintains it. But the "here-today-gone-tomorrow" operator doesn't have to worry about repeat orders.

FOR QUALITY HOME IMPROVEMENTS DEAL WITH A LOCAL FIRM YOU KNOW YOU CAN TRUST--CARHART LUMBER CO. CAN RECOMMEND A LOCAL CONTRACTOR OR SUPPLY A RELIABLE REPAIR MAN FOR THE JOB.

Pierce, Battle Creek Sweep Blue Devil Relays Monday

It may sound a little trite, but Pender's Jim Novak literally burned up the Wayne State track Monday.

The senior speedster who has been gaining more attention each year from track fans ran the 100-yard dash in a fabulous .09.6 during the Blue Devil Relays, establishing him as the fastest propper over 100 yards so far this season. The time, understandably, easily produced a new mark for future sprinters to shoot at in the relay meet. It broke the .10.2 mark set by Emerson's Pat Hassler in 1967.

Pender, unable to successfully defend its 1969 crown, won one other event during the action—the 480-yard shuttle hurdle relay—but ended up in fourth place in the strong Class B end of the meet.

Pierce virtually ran away with the Class B laurels. The Pierce track team took home four first places during the day—one individual event and three relay events—and set two new relay records. Those efforts, plus respectable showings throughout the day, gave Pierce 50½ points.

In runner-up slot was Wisner-Pilger with 42 points. The Wisner-Pilger track men won only one event—a record showing in the 440-yard relay—but the consistently high showings they produced during the full day of competition earned them considerable points. In third place was Blair with 40½ points. Pender had 38 for fourth place.

Top team in the Class C end of the event with 32 points was Battle Creek, winner of one individual event and three relays. Lyons came in second with 50 points. Clarkson, third, with 42½.

Wayne, host for the event these past eight years, brought up the rear in the Class B competition with 4½ points. Laurel had 3½ for fifth.

Coleridge, fielding a strong track team this season, came in with 22 points for a tie with Humphrey St. Francis for sixth place in the Class C end of the meet. Winside tallied 11 points for ninth position. Wakefield 10 for 10th place, Newcastle 11 for 11th place, Ponca eight for 12th place and Allen five for 16th place.

A total of eight new records were established—five in Class B and three in Class C—during the competition. Also, one relay record was tied in Class C.

Several other "records" were set during the day as athletes competed in several field events for the first time. The field end of the meet was expanded from the 100-yard dash and the shot put events.

571 Series Takes 1st

It was Rick Barner and Dan Rose who teamed up to sweep last Saturday's junior bowling action. The two rolled a 571 series to win the competition.

Wild turkeys are excellent fliers, but generally prefer to escape pursuit by running.

Blue Devils Score Come-from-Behind Win Over Ponca on Road Trip Monday

Wayne High posted its third baseball win of the season Monday afternoon by downing Ponca 8-4 on the Indians' home field. The Blue Devils connected for fifteen hits and finally salvaged a win after the lead had exchanged hands three times.

Ponca jumped off to an early 1-0 lead in the first inning when Asmusen tripled and then scored on a double by Knerl. After a scoreless second inning, WIS assumed the lead in the top of the third when Dennis Redel doubled and then scored on a triple by Randy Helgren. Helgren completed the circuit via a single by Rick Ginn and the Blue Devils led 2-1.

But the Indians came right back in the bottom of the third and scored two runs on a single by Asmusen and a round tripper by Knerl. Wayne came up with one run in its half of the fourth when Mike Bilott hit a sacrifice fly to centerfield with Terry Hurlbert on third.

With the score knotted a 3-3 after four innings of play, Coach retaliate in the bottom of the seventh when Bottorf scored on a balk after walking and then moving to third on a single and an error. Wayne's pitcher, Rod Cook, stymied the Indians' hopes by chalking up two strike outs to end the game.

Leading batsmen for the Blue Devils were Dennis Redel, Randy Helgren and Terry Hurlbert with three-hits each. They were followed by Mike Bilott and Rick Ginn with two singles apiece. Helgren and Ginn each had two RBIs.

Rod Cook fanned eight batters, allowed seven hits and walked three. Wayne will host Bancroft today (Thursday), travel to Dodge Monday, play at Dodge Monday and end the season May 7 at home against Allen.

21-Hit Barrage Lifts WS Team Mark

Wayne State might well be the No. 1 hitting team in the nation, or close to it.

The Wildcats' 21-hit barrage against Northwestern College Tuesday lifted their team percentage to .397. That compares with the .338 that ranked Augustana of Illinois first on the most recent NAIA national chart. Augustana could also have gone up — or slipped in the meantime.

Wayne will take a 15-5 record to Kearney State for a double-header Saturday. The last home appearance of the scheduled season will match Wayne against Westmar Tuesday at 1 p.m. on the college diamond. After that week Sullivan beat Chadron State twice. He relieved in the opener, won by Wayne 9-5. Then he went the route in winning the 13-3 nightcap. That raised him to a 4-1 season, best among Wildcat hurlers.

No less than eight Wayne regulars are batting at .300 or higher. Freshman Jim Leach, who recently earned a starting job, leads at .493 on 15 for 31. Mike Snodgrass, also a new regular, is .471 on 8 for 17.

Going tops the all-season starters are .432, Goodwin is .415; Haying .360; Ron Prokop .324; George Jones .308; Gordie Jorgensen .300. Close behind is Mendlik at .296.

Future Babe Ruths Invited to Compete in Baseball Contest

The Wayne Jaycees, currently working on getting youngsters to build soapbox racers for the coming contest at Norfolk, have taken on another project directed at area youth.

The project is the Pitch, Hit and Throw competition being held for the first time this year. Sponsored by Phillip's 66, the competition is very similar to Ford's well known Punt, Pass and Kick competition.

Bill Woehler, chairman for the event, says that any youngsters in the Wayne area who would like a chance to advance to higher levels of competition are welcome to enter the local contest planned for the weekend of May 23-24. First-place winners on four age levels — nine through 12 — will advance to the district competition planned for Omaha early in June to take part in competition during an Omaha Royals baseball game. Omaha winners move on to the divisional level, scheduled for Kansas City during the Kansas City-Minneapolis game in the middle of June. Final level of action for the youngsters is at the all-star game in July.

Youngsters are judged on their ability to pitch from a mound for accuracy, hit for distance and throw for distance and accuracy. Woehler pointed out that a clinic to help the boys sharpen their skills is being planned for about two weeks before the local contest.

Entry forms, which need the signature of a parent, must be returned to the local Jaycee organization by May 16. Those entry forms can be picked up at Phillip's 66 stations, from the schools in Wayne or at the local Boys Club above the fire hall.

'70 Pheasant Count Nearing Completion

Rural mail carriers throughout Nebraska are finishing up the annual spring count of pheasants which they spot along their routes. The data they gather will help the Game and Parks Commission determine the state's ringneck breeding population.

Game technicians will put the data alongside similar surveys made in the past to get an idea of how the breeding population stands in comparison to other years.

The rural mailmen have cooperated in such counts since 1945, giving technicians information valuable in pheasant management. One advantage that this survey has is that it covers all areas of the state during a four-day report period. Some 700 of the approximately 800 carriers asked to fill out survey cards do so each year, giving a much wider sample than would be possible using the limited number of game technicians and conservation officers that are available.

In addition to the spring count, rural mailmen participate in two other surveys annually. One is the post-season sex ratio count conducted in mid-winter, which gives an indication of the year's pheasant harvest. The other is conducted in early fall and gives an idea of the summer's production of new birds. The early fall count by the carriers is one of the more accurate indicators of the ringneck population that will be available for the fall hunt.

Six is the daily bag and possession limit for northern pike in Nebraska.

Catches Earn Awards

The tailwaters at Gavins Point Dam yielded two sauger large enough to earn the fishermen who caught them the Game and Parks Commission's Master Angler Awards.

The sauger, caught by Duane Booth of Creighton and Marvin Goetion of Crofton, weighed in at four pounds, five ounces and three pounds, eight ounces.

Deadline for Insuring Farm Crops Nearing

Nebraska farmers have until May 10 to sign up for Federal Crop Insurance, said Ed Finigan, Nebraska State Crop Insurance Director. In reminding farmers of the deadline for spring crop applications, Finigan said, "It seems that farmers are getting more interested in crop insurance as their production costs mount. Costs will probably be up again in 1970 and the most economical way to provide protection against all the hazards that can ruin crops is through the use of insurance. While farmers have a little subsoil moisture this spring, it certainly won't guarantee that a hot dry summer won't ruin our spring crops."

Interested farmers should contact Federal Crop Insurance, 303 Post Office Building, Lincoln, for further information or for sign-up.

and report back to the city council.

Council also took a small step in an attempt to force people to put in sidewalks throughout the city. The council, bothered by this problem for some time, will study the streets which have the most pedestrian traffic and try to decide some sort of priority for installing the walks.

Although the city now requires sidewalks be installed in any new subdivision, there are several people not affected by that ordinance who refuse to put them in.

The city's legal advisor told the council that it has the authority to make people put in sidewalks throughout the city. The city would have to decide it was time to point its finger at certain people and tell them to put in sidewalks, he said. If they refused, he noted, the city could put the sidewalk in and bill the property owner.

The city limits will be changed in the near future if the council continues action taken Tuesday night.

Members voted to have the city attorney draw up an ordinance of annexation for property in the southeast portion of town which is inside the city limits but not part of the city. Business firms now on that land are the Feeders Elevator, Eising Concrete and Golden Eggs.

The ordinance will be advertised in The Wayne Herald and a public hearing will be held before the council votes on whether to annex the land.

Church to Host 58-Voice Choir

A 58-voice choir consisting of men and women students from the North Park College in Chicago, are scheduled to present an 8 p.m. concert May 6 in the sanctuary of the Wakefield Evangelical Covenant Church, according to the Rev. Fred Jansson.

The performance is one of 10 concerts scheduled by the choir on its 1970 spring tour through Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska and Missouri.

College director is David L. Thorburn, assistant professor of music at North Park College. Choir selections will include "The Spirit Also Helpeth Us" by Bach; a group of Swedish folk-lyrics translated by Dr. K. A. Olsson, president of the college; Arnold Schoenberg's "Friede auf Erden" ("Peace on Earth"); and the "Easter Cantata" by Daniel Pinkham, featuring the brass choirs and various percussion instruments.

North Park College is located on the northwest side of Chicago and is a co-educational liberal arts college maintained by the Evangelical Covenant Church of America. Enrollment is approximately 1,300 students.

There is no admission charge for the concert, however there will be a Tree-will offering.

Tahiti Is Theme Of WHS Banquet

The elementary school gymnasium at Wakefield took on the colored splendor of the South Pacific Saturday evening for the junior-senior banquet theme of "Tahitian Holiday." Decorations included a volcano with a flowing stream of water emptying into a pool at its base, palm trees, a beach accented by a bamboo hut and other Tahitian themes.

Alan Paul, president of the junior class, was master of ceremonies. After he welcomed guests, Marlene Mills, president of the senior class, gave the response.

The Rev. Robert Johnson, guest speaker on the banquet program, compared Tahitian life with school life through the use of masks. He explained how students may put on different emotional masks to hide their real feelings.

Sophomore waiters and waitresses entertained singing "Balli Balli." They were Susan Leonard, Lynelle Dolph, Ruth Gustafson, Janet Helges, Carol Mills, Barbara Munter, Kathy McClain, Dave Bernas, Jerry Nicholson, Kevin Peters, Dale Hanson, Richard Magnuson, Steve Kraemer and Devon Fischer.

Mothers of the junior class prepared the banquet dinner. Mrs. Bob Paul served as chairman.

"The Commodores" provided music for a dance later in the evening. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Merwyn Kline.

Wayne High's Study Center - One of A Kind

By Merlin Wright
"It works, that is the thing about it," Bev Merriman said with a twinkle in her eye, as she graciously explained the origin and operation of Wayne High School's model library and media center.

The Northeast Nebraska Library and Media Center at Wayne High make up a study center that is "one of a kind" in the state according to Librarian Merriman who has been in charge of the center's development since it went into operation in 1967.

As one enters the spacious library area, which has 5,630 square feet of space, the excellent lighting, carpeted floor and comfortable furniture give one an environment of front-room comfort. The facility containing approximately 8,000 books is located on the lower floor in the east wing of the new high school building first occupied in 1967. Under the direction of Librarian Merriman's abilities, the model library and media center have been coordinated into a resource facility bound to be a treasure chest of information for all Wayne High School students—the average, the slow, the gifted—and the only center like it in a Nebraska high school.

The center was made possible, according to the director, by the joint efforts of District 17 School Board and a special NSFA Title II Grant of $32,830.

Besides providing information for all WEIS students, the library and center serve as an in-service training center for interested teachers and librarians over a 22 county area, and for approximately 400 Wayne State College seniors.

Tucked away neatly into well-arranged library shelves are the thousands of books covering every subject imaginable, including sections for history, biography, geography, fiction, social sciences, arts, poetry and magazines.

Director Bev Merriman and Ron Seymour look over some of the hundreds of film strips, tapes and records available for student or faculty use in the Wayne High School Media Center.

The library and media center are beehives of activity at almost any hour of the school day. While some students are looking for just the right book for a term paper, others are doing independent studies or reviewing a filmstrip directly related to classroom discussions.

An hostess tells us there are 175.8mm filmloops in the media center. Each filmloop is approximately five minutes in length. A student inserts the filmloop cartridge into a small projector and may view a film privately in one of 10 study carrels.

Film subjects vary from sports to home economics and from historical events to moon trips. Also available in the media center are 100 tape recordings; 525 records; 215 transparencies for overhead projectors; 740 filmstrips and 650 slides; Pamphlets, pictures and vocational materials are kept in files easily accessible by students or faculty members.

"We subscribe to a service of the New York Times," Bev Merriman explained while reaching toward another section of audiovisual aids, "which provides us with a record and filmstrip each month." We looked over some of the titles such as "War in Crime," "Target - The Moon," "Southeast Asia," and secretly wished there was time to sit down and view them all to catch up on world affairs.

"Some of the students probably have no idea as to the actual conditions of living in a ghetto," the librarian noted, "but with this filmstrip and record on the subject) they can see for themselves."

Answering my inquiry about drill tapes, the director explained that a student having particular difficulty with some section of math may take the tape to a listening post and an instructor on the tape reviews certain problems which may provide the student with the needed information.

"Do you speak German?" asked my hostess. Mustering about 90 per cent of my German vocabulary, the reply was "nein." She then took from a shelf a series of filmstrips and records available to students interested in learning the German language.

"By playing the records and viewing the filmstrips," she explained, "a student is able to take several tours of Germany in the process of learning the language."

Students also have available for their use a wide selection of colored slides used in a carousel-type projector.

Both the library and media center serve as models for Northeast Nebraska school personnel who are interested and wish to upgrade their own libraries.

Furnished with the most modern quality equipment available, the center provides two conference rooms used by students for group work; a library classroom for large groups or class instruction; an instructional materials center for audiovisual equipment and materials; a darkroom for teachers or students desiring instruction in photography; a professional library for the teaching staff, and a workroom and office for the librarian.

Director Merriman pointed out that "While the college is not involved financially in this project, we cooperate wholeheartedly with any effective program which they may desire to initiate. We feel the same about school districts surrounding us and make the center available to them for study and planning."

Mrs. Merriman is assisted in the study center by two Wayne High students each hour and also work-study students from Wayne State College.

It won't be long now until the talented director will be packing her suitcase and heading for California as she has just received acceptance into a six-week summer media institute being held in Long Beach, Calif. The course is worth eight hours of graduate credit, she said with the same enthusiasm that has prompted her to constantly attempt to upgrade the study center program.

Upon leaving the Wayne High facility, which is unlike any other in the state, not only was there a feeling of pride, but this writer kicked himself for having been born too soon and missing out on so many of the "goodies" in the way of equipment used in modern methods of education.

Pesky Pest Moving North Into Nebraska

Armyworm moths are showing up in a blacklight trap at Lincoln, according to University of Nebraska entomologists. So far the catches have been small, indicating a light northward migration of moths from southern states, the insect specialists state.

The insect pest supposedly does not winter in Nebraska. "It conditions are favorable for northward migration and subsequent egg-laying and larval survival, we could possibly have armyworm problems as in 1969," according to Extension entomologist David Keith.

Armyworms are favored by cool, wet springs, such as the current season up to now in Nebraska. These conditions produce heavy growth of bromes or bluestems which are attractive to moths. Wheat also is attractive to the moths, particularly if growth is heavy and wind has caused it to lodge.

No armyworm larvae have been found in the area to date but farmers should be checking grassy areas bordering farmland over the next four to six weeks. Once armyworms have stripped the original host plants, they will move to adjacent corn and milo fields, Keith warned.

"Normally, armyworms are a problem only about one year out of seven or eight, so we do not expect any trouble unless environmental conditions play into their hand. Insect parasites and diseases can generally be expected to hold them in check," Keith said.

The insects caused considerable damage in Northeast Nebraska last summer, devouring strips of farm crops in the area and damaging numerous lawns in Wayne.

home. Coffee guests last Thursday afternoon were the Rev. Lawrence Sandell and Charles K. Johnson, Assaria, Kan., the Rev. Lester K. Larson, Waterville, Kan., and the Rev. Earl H. Wall, Hays, Kan. The group was enroute home following an evangelism conference at Sioux Falls, S. D.

Dinner guests Sunday in the Albert Sundell home were Mr. and Mrs. Don Clemans, Plainview, and Alvin Sundells.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Bard, Julie and Kerl, Council Bluffs, were Friday night and Saturday guests of his mother, Mrs. Mabel Bard, and with other relatives. He has accepted a position at Dallas, Texas and will begin in May. His family will join him after school closes.

Alden Johnsons and Mrs. Lowell Johnson, Stanton, attended a pre-nuptial shower Sunday afternoon in the Church of the Brethren, Holmesville, for Elaine Seltz, who will marry Glen Johnson. Later they were guests in the Barry Heffner home, Beatrice.

A picnic dinner was held at Ponca Park Sunday for Ed Gaston's birthday.

Man neighbors gathered in the Roger Hansen home Sunday evening to welcome them. Lunch was served.

Friends and relatives helped Henry Tarnow observe his birthday Saturday evening.

A comparison of the median wage or salary incomes of women and men who work full time year round reveals that the women's income is considerably less than that of men and that the gap has widened in recent years. In 1955, women's median income of $2,719 was 64 per cent of the $4,252 received by men. In 1969, women's median income of $4,457 was only 58 per cent of the $7,664 received by men.

School to Host Eighth Graders At Orientation

The guidance department of Wayne High School will hold its fourth annual eighth grade orientation program May 7 at 8:15 p.m. in the high school lecture hall, according to Ken Carlson, guidance counselor. The program is for all students entering the ninth grade at WHS next Fall and their parents.

Carlson said the purpose of the program is to acquaint upcoming freshmen and parents with the instructional program of the school. Discussion will center around registration procedures, course offerings, and general school policy. A faculty member from each of the course departments will be present to explain special areas of instruction.

Students will receive a course registration form at the program which will be filled out by the student and returned to the school in which he is presently enrolled. These schools, according to Carlson, will be the reason the registration forms to be returned at Wayne High. Students will also receive a handbook which describes the high school curriculum and graduation requirements.

The guidance counselor said he is looking forward to meeting future freshmen and parents at the May 7 meeting. Those not able to attend the meeting are asked to contact the counselor at the high school for other arrangements.

A "REMEMBER WHEN" 50TH

Anniversary SALE

It's hard to realize that just 50 years ago W. C. Coryell came to Wayne and started his first repair shop. Seven years later he obtained his first Chevrolet contract. After a series of moves and a very disastrous fire he built a new building at its present location. In 1933 Oldsmobile joined the family.

It was sometime in the early 1930's that W. C. Coryell met and talked to famous William (Bill) Knudson, one time great president of General Motors. He told Mr. Coryell "YOU ONLY GROW AS BIG AS THE SERVICE YOU RENDER." This has always been the working motto at Coryell's and this is the key to understanding why someone has purchased a new or used car from us every day throughout these many years.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

You may not agree with an editorial — but if you read the editorial and give serious thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

The City Administrator — Criticisms and Comments

There has been some criticism of the Wayne city council for the recent decision to create the post of city administrator. The council passed the ordinance creating that position, and named City Clerk Dan Sherry to the position, at its April 14 meeting. The ordinance went into effect with its legal publication in The Wayne Herald April 20.

At the present time, the administrator is to work with the department heads as a purchasing agent, something the clerk does at the present time. And, the administrator is to make recommendations to the council, something the clerk does at the present time.

The clerk is given one new duty — to act as liaison officer for the council and all boards and committees.

In short, the city clerk is now performing almost every responsibility and job spelled out in detail in the ordinance. Second, the creation of the city administrator title will not cost more money. At the time the council named the clerk to the position, it stipulated that the clerk's salary remain the same.

Third, it seems rather unreasonable to suddenly lose confidence in the city council's ability to make sound decisions merely because some of them will be ending their terms soon. Also, many of the people who will come onto the council in a few short weeks will be new to the workings of city government and will need several months before they will feel at ease in making decisions. The present council members are experienced in their job and should retain the right to make decisions right up to the meeting before they are replaced by somebody else.

It appears that the criticisms being voiced are being voiced because, as is often the case, the critics lack all the information. — NLR.

Parking Restrictions: Blessing or Bane?

Also receiving comment and criticism — see the "Letters to the Editor" column — are the new parking regulations now going into effect in parts of the city. Those regulations permit parking on only one side of the street and no parking on either side from midnight to 5 a.m.

One of the main criticisms being heard is that the regulations — which were okayed by the council early in January, but which could not go into effect until the city installed the signs — force friends and guests who must park in the street to leave by midnight or be ticketed. Likewise, they make it very hard for residents to have overnight guests unless they have considerable off-street parking.

We strongly support any means which make our streets safer and easier to travel. This was mentioned by the council when it voted to okay the new regulations. However, we are not sure what our stand should be on prohibiting parking on the streets from midnight to 5 a.m. The reasons given by the city are that it makes the jobs of the street sweeping and snow removal crews much easier, for they do the biggest share of their work at night. It's time consuming, bothersome and wasteful to have to go over some streets several times in order to clean or remove snow because of parked autos. But, whether this is less of a problem than the regulations cause the residents along the streets is something we are unable to answer.

What is needed is a good indication of how the public feels about the regulations, for they should have a large voice in deciding whether to keep the regulations. One way the public could express itself is through The Herald's "Letters" column. Another is by attending a council meeting. — NLR.

Someone Using Your Money?

Whenever you pay for goods or services before such are delivered, it means the money is loaned interest-free to the seller.

Suppose you move into Wayne, or another city, and the landlord asks for a rental-security payment, usually equal to about one month's rent. If the renter is paying $100 a month for the apartment or house, he will likely be asked to pay $100 in advance as a rental-security. The $100 is refunded when the renter moves, providing bills and rent are paid and there is no damage to the property. It means the landlord has $100 that may be deposited on interest at the bank. We're not talking about great sums of money, but, nevertheless, interest-free money. People owning many rental properties can collect sizable sums in rental-security fees and by depositing them on interest can earn for themselves more dollars. Their earnings are made from money paid in advance.

Uncle Sam and the state take their "withholding taxes" out of your pay check. Excess withholding is money which, had you had it in your possession, could have been earning interest.

County Government Is Big Business

Election time is drawing near and about 21 Wayne County residents are hoping to win county offices for which they are campaigning. Six of these are running for two offices of commissioners that are up for grabs.

We hope voters will find out exactly who the candidates are for each office in county government, and after seriously considering each candidate's qualifications, vote.

County government is no small affair and commissioners have a particularly large responsibility of overseeing the handling of large sums of money.

In national government there is a president which heads up an administration and is responsible; on the state level we have a governor that heads up state government; a city has a mayor; but on the county level there is no single individual to head up the government. Wayne County, like many other counties in Nebraska, has a board of three men called commissioners overseeing various county departments. They are responsible for the spending of thousands of dollars and although they cannot make law, they can set taxes.

According to the annual audit records of Wayne County's finances for the period starting Dec. 1, 1957 to Nov. 19, 1968 (latest available), a total of over $16,719,491 in taxes was collected. That is slightly less than $17 million dollars. Spending such sums requires a lot of responsibility. Also during that period of time and approximately $5 million was collected from miscellaneous sources, but those figures together and it means officials were in charge of handling more than $21 million dollars in about 10 years.

Wayne County has funds invested and funds deposited in banks throughout the county. The total amount deposited in the banks averages around $675,000. The commissioners are directly responsible for these funds.

Commissioners have the responsibility of proposing a budget for each fiscal year involving many thousands of the taxpayers' dollars.

Get to know your candidates and what they think — then vote. — MMW.

May Is American Bike Month!

BICYCLISTS USE YOUR HAND SIGNALS

BICYCLE DRIVER SAFETY is the goal of American Bike Month this year. With more cars on the road than ever before, and with more than 63 million Americans riding bikes each year, a safe bike and a safe bike driver are more important than ever. According to the National Safety Council, most serious accidents occur to cyclists at intersections. Bike drivers should use recognized hand signals to signal turning or stopping, and use particular caution at intersections. To keep bikes safe, most bicycle retailers will be offering free bike inspections during American Bike Month in May.

State Investigating Hiring A Full-Time 'Private Eye'

LINCOLN — Nebraska officials are investigating the possibility of getting federal funds to finance the operation of an ombudsman's office on the state level.

An ombudsman is a sort of public investigator who looks into citizen complaints about government actions. For instance, if a citizen felt he was getting the short end of a transaction with a state official, he could go to the ombudsman and have the matter checked out.

The 1969 legislature created the post of ombudsman and set up the machinery for the operation of his office. But the lawmakers didn't provide any funds for the job, in effect making the new law inoperative.

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann was in Washington recently and he picked up a rumor that the U. S. Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) was interested in financing a pilot project for a state ombudsman program.

Tiemann assigned his executive counsel, Richard Hoch, to check the rumor out. Hoch got in touch with OEO officials in Washington and they expressed an interest. They asked for a copy of the 1969 Nebraska law and then arranged to send a representative to talk with local officials.

Among those who were to be on hand for the conference were Sens. Loren Schmit of David City and Willard Waldo of DeWitt, the sponsors of the bill in the last legislature.

According to their bill, the ombudsman, or public counsel, would be appointed by the legislature. He would need a two-thirds vote of approval. The salary would be set by the executive board of the Legislative Council.

The law says he would be "a person well equipped to analyze problems of law, administrative and public policy." He would be prohibited from being "actively involved in partisan affairs" during his six-year term. — MMW.

Environmental Institute Proposed

On Earth Day last week, Gov. Tiemann unveiled a long list of proposals for attacking environmental problems in the state.

The governor sat along with other officials on a panel arranged as part of the Earth Day activities on the University of Nebraska's Lincoln campus. Their discussions were televised across the state on the educational television network.

Also on the panel were Lincoln Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf, Douglas County Commissioner George Buglewicz and State Sen. Maurice Kremer of Aurora.

But the big news was made by Tiemann, who outlined a wide-ranging assault on pollution.

The governor proposed establishment of an Institute for human environment which would draft a "two master plans for the benefit of the citizens of Nebraska" by determining what would be "the ideal environment for the state in the future."

The Institute would be established through the University of Nebraska, the state colleges and other institutions, he said. The project would be financed, as much as possible, through federal grants, the governor said.

Tiemann also announced plans to appoint seven to nine persons to an environmental study committee which would assess the state policies and programs and then prepare recommendations to submit to the 1971 legislature.

Among these recommendations, Tiemann said, probably would be the establishment of a department or division of environmental affairs "to develop a continued plan for environmental quality and to be a coordinating council of state agencies heads who have environmental responsibilities."

The governor suggested that the State Department of Economic Development arrange a series of special workshops for industrialists, educators and government officials. Early topics for workshop consideration, he said, would be productive use of heat discharge from the nuclear power plants being built at Brownville and Fort Calhoun and the useful utilization of animal wastes from feedlots.

Tiemann said the State Education Department should prepare a formal environmental curriculum for Nebraska schools — from kindergarten on up. The Extension division of the University, he said, should prepare a correspondence course on environmental conservation.

He said high school and college students could cooperate with state officials in making an inventory of the state's air pollution and polluters to provide data for agencies which will be handling these problems.

The 1971 legislature, according to Tiemann, should adopt a state aid program to help cities meet sewage treatment standards by assisting with the financing. State financial help for other anti-pollution endeavors on the local level also should be considered, he said.

The governor said a proposal made by retired State Game Commission Director M. O. Steen also should be given serious consideration. Steen has suggested a "Land for Man" program in which taxes would be waived for certain acreage which was dedicated to conservation management. The state, Tiemann said, should make up the property tax loss to the local governments.

A schedule of interest-free loans based on population also should be considered, the governor said. He said these loans could be made by the state to local governments for preliminary planning of pollution abatement facilities.

Tiemann also said the time may come when the state might have to prohibit the use of motor vehicles which lack operational air pollution control systems.

The Little Pulpit

"When I consider thy heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon and the stars, which thou hast ordained; What is man, that thou art mindful of him? and the son of man, that thou visitest him? For thou hast made him a little lower than the angels, and hast crowned him with glory and honour." Ps. 8:3-5 KJV.

Dear Editor:

Wayne Does Wayne have a curfew? Yes, and not only for adolescents, but for everyone. That is the conclusion I have drawn from the new and shiny signs which prohibit parking from midnight to 5 a.m. Since Wayne has hardly any traffic compared to bigger cities, and since the street-cleaning crews in Wayne usually work during the daytime — and not every day, either — I see no reason why street-parking should not be permitted after midnight, especially as there are no municipal lots in the various sections of town where people could park their cars at night.

Were the people of Wayne asked about the necessity of this ordinance? What did the members of the City Council have in mind when they voted for this?

Edith S. Zahmsler

Dear Editor:

Your thoughts on county planning and zoning, in the editorial "Just a Thought" (April 23), are commendable and very much justified. The idea of extending planning and zoning recommendations, and laws, beyond city limits is a logical conclusion that has been put forth by professional planners for many years. And, the nationwide trend is to do just that.

It seems irrational to go through the trouble, controversy and hard work of creating and maintaining (often a much harder task) adequate zoning protection in cities when the land just outside the city limits can often be used for any purpose whatsoever. This often means that new developments on the outskirts of towns — observing rigid zoning laws — are often faced with undesirable development just across a political boundary, the city limit. County planning and zoning would help ease these difficult situations.

Further extending county planning to closer cooperation among counties is also very logical, and again is a trend that is gaining support nationwide, although to a limited degree. Ultimately, of course, this could result in stage-by-stage movement toward county consolidation, to eliminate inefficiencies in redundant county services and expand counties to more natural boundaries of population.

A 1959 study of Iowa county governments gives some interesting thoughts along this line:

"The fact that area has no real relationship to per capita cost of county offices in Iowa is of major significance in evaluating the advantages of consolidation. Population, on the other hand, seems to be the key factor in determining per capita costs of county government. County consolidation would, of course, mean that the population served by a county government would be increased, thus resulting in lower costs. Essentially the same arguments used in favor of school district consolidation apply to county consolidation.

"Study of per capita costs of Iowa county offices would suggest that the highest percentage of savings would result in creating a county including a population of approximately 100,000 to 110,000."

The point is that county boundaries do not reflect the modern age of great mobility, and that area — miles traveled to county seats — is a much less importance today than population — the optimum number of people that can be served.

Other studies indicate that the minimum effective county population is about 20,000 persons, and that the optimum (as pointed out above) is around 100,000 persons.

Wayne County officials and citizens would do well to heed your conclusion that better services could be fostered by greater county cooperation, moving to county consolidation. — Francis Moul

'Needy Children Can Get Food, Money' - USDA

Groups or organizations in the Wayne area providing non-profit recreational or day care programs for children from needy homes or with these youngsters participating in their programs this summer can receive food and money from the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service.

Money is available for equipment for those who need it. Interested groups are urged to contact their FNS field officer. The office for Wayne, Cedar, Dixon, Thurston, Cuming, Stanton and Pierce Counties is located in the Granada Building at 509 Norfolk

Ave. in Norfolk. That telephone number is 402-371-8228.

By participating in the program, organizations can provide any combination of breakfast, mid-morning snack, lunch, mid-afternoon snack or dinner for the children, says Dennis M. Doyle, Midwest Regional FNS director.

"We provide reimbursement of 15 cents," he noted, "for each breakfast served, 10 cents for each snack whenever served, 30 cents for each lunch and 30 cents for each dinner provided. Thus, if a group prepared all five meals they would receive 95 cents per day. USDA also supplies various surplus foods which the Department purchases for all its child feeding operations."

The average investment per U. S. farm doubled between 1950 and 1958 and more than doubled between 1958 and 1968.

Ward Tells Club of Northeast Station

Cal Ward, superintendent of the Northeast Nebraska Experimental Station at Concord, addressed the Kiwanis Club following a noon luncheon Monday at the Woman's Club rooms.

Ward explained some of the programs carried out at the station in the research and extension services. He used a series of slides noting how the station operated on local, state and federal monies; management and production divisions; aerial photographs of the station and miscellaneous pictures of various station buildings.

First in a Series— City Council Candidates Quizzed on Industry, Taxes

Third Ward Candidate

Q.—"Why doesn't Wayne have more industry?" That question is often asked. What is your response to it? Should Wayne have more industry and, if so, what should the city council do in order to reach that goal?

Q.—In what specific areas should the city council spend extra time and energy on in the next few years?

Q.—There continues to be a fairly large clamor by taxpayers for tax relief. Do you have any ideas on some way the citizens in Wayne could be offered some tax relief?

Q.—There has been some criticism of the engineering setup in the city of Wayne. What are your feelings on this subject and do you have any ideas on how the setup could be changed and, if necessary, bettered?

Ivan Beeks

A.—At the present time, I don't know why Wayne has no industry. I definitely think Wayne should have industry and if elected I intend to look into and give all the support needed to the city council to attract industry.

A.—Park and recreation areas, and downtown city parking lots.

A.—An investigation by the city council into where tax money is spent—areas, departments, schools, etc., and the amounts would determine any tax relief.

A.—This is also an area that I have heard criticism about and I believe it will be my job to see that it is looked into. The public's questions will be answered and dealt with accordingly.

Pat Gross

A.—The question as to whether or not Wayne should have more industry is, to say the least, one which cannot be answered in a simple statement.

From industries' standpoint, there are a good many things which must be considered, some of which are available housing, labor force, commercial access, schools, churches and, of course, the general economic climate of the community.

I don't feel I am in a position to say that Wayne should or should not have an industry, let alone which type; however, if the majority of the people of Wayne think it would be beneficial, then it would be the city council's responsibility to see to it that, among other things, proper zoning, adequate electrical power and flexibility for city growth are attractive to prospective industries.

A.—I think further and constant consideration should be given in the area of parking throughout the city, as well as sidewalks, possible improvement of the present sewage disposal system, facilities for the city administration staff and programs for the natural growth and development of the city.

A.—I have always looked upon taxes as a necessary evil, but without them, our society would be in more chaos than it already is. With the city's mill levy at 19.55, I see little room for relief at this time. If the present inflationary trend reverses, however, I am confident we would be able to expect the tax structure to stay in line with the general economic condition.

For the time being, prudent budgetary planning on the part of the new council, keeping in mind that all taxpayers are over-burdened, would be the best policy.

A.—Like most citizens of Wayne, I have heard a lot of "secondhand" talk about the "engineering setup" in Wayne. However, I must admit that I do not have enough firsthand knowledge of the situation to give a frank opinion.

If elected, however, I will urge a re-evaluation of the present engineering program.

Second Ward Candidate

Q.—"Why doesn't Wayne have more industry?" That question is often asked. What is your response to it? Should Wayne have more industry and, if so, what should the city council do in order to reach that goal?

Q.—In what specific areas should the city council spend extra time and energy on in the next few years?

Q.—There continues to be a fairly large clamor by taxpayers for tax relief. Do you have any ideas on some way the citizens in Wayne could be offered some tax relief?

Q.—There has been some criticism of the engineering setup in the city of Wayne. What are your feelings on this subject and do you have any ideas on how the setup could be changed and, if necessary, bettered?

A.—Yes, Wayne needs industry. Industry will make the city grow and provide jobs for those needing work, but we need to be careful as to the type of industry to avoid problems which can be created. The city council should work with the local industrial group in obtaining industry.

A.—The city council should be looking for a city manager to hire. He should have engineering background, and would advise and assist in drawing up the plans of future projects of the city of Wayne.

Virgil Kardell

A.—On checking the tax mill levy for the city, I found that out of every $93 paid in tax money, the city's share is approximately $20. The schools receive $62 and the county $11. According to that, the city's share of the taxes is not out of line. I do believe in keeping the taxes under control.

A.—There is much criticism on the city engineering and the expense involved.

I believe a better system could be worked out, as I mentioned in answer to the earlier question about what areas the council should be spending extra time on.

A.—I believe it has been a lack of communication between the businessmen and the people wanting to come to Wayne. In the past 13 years I have heard of industry looking to settle in Wayne, but surrounding towns seem to outmaneuver us. Maybe it is because we do not offer them enough to get them to come. I feel the Wayne Chamber of Commerce should set a goal of getting one industry a year for say five to 10 years, and use the right people who can convince or influence industry that Wayne is the town to bring their plant into.

Wayne should have industry if we are going to exist. But as far as the city council members are concerned, I feel their hands are tied, with the exception of furnishing utilities for industry.

A.—I feel the city council should spend extra time and energy in the next few years in trying to obtain an experienced or professionally trained city manager.

Also, I feel that the councilmen should have an agenda three or four days ahead of council meeting in order so they can study business that will come before them. This would avoid hasty decisions which they could later see were wrong.

A.—Tax relief is sought on local, state and national levels. As far as city taxes are concerned, the only relief we can get is to cut spending. We should look into our city employment picture and see whether we have more employees than what we need to run our street department, police department, light plant, city clerk's office, etc. This, I believe, the council should do.

A.—This has been a problem that I have discussed with some councilmen about. There is no doubt in my mind but that we do need a change, and I feel we could do our city a lot better job if we could hire an engineer to do nothing but work for the city of Wayne on a straight salary basis and not give a percentage on every project that comes up. The present system costs Wayne a bundle of dollars a year, plus a lot of mistakes that could be eliminated.

A.—As in most communities the size of Wayne, funds for promoting and supporting a desirable atmosphere for attracting industry are limited. This would include such items as a fully developed industrial tract and financial subsidies.

Also, the number of small communities competing for industry is extremely high. Those with favorable geographic location, major highways, rail lines, air line facilities or trucking firms necessarily receive prime consideration.

Regardless of the problems facing Wayne in attracting new industry, the city council should always be willing to cooperate and work with the industrial groups, Chamber of Commerce and the people of Wayne in securing new business. I feel it is necessary to strive to develop our industrial potential to its fullest.

Keith Mosley

A.—One of the prime concerns of the city council should be control of expenses through long-range planning. Other areas for consideration are industrial development, the health and well being of the people in regard to recreational facilities, water supply and sewage disposal. Help create a favorable atmosphere in regard to keeping and attracting young people to the community.

A.—With the present economy trend and rate of inflation it is unrealistic to expect a drastic cut in taxes. I do feel that spending can be controlled by careful planning. However, I feel that it is the responsibility of every individual to take an active interest and become involved in governmental problems.

A.—Our city councilmen are laymen and must rely on professional assistance in many areas, one of which is engineering. If there is any dissatisfaction in the services rendered it is the obligation of the mayor, city council or citizens of Wayne to request a study of the situation and suggest any changes necessary. If I were a member of the City Council I would be in a position to better answer this question.

A.—Yes, Wayne should have more industry. I feel the city council, the Chamber of Commerce and planning commission should work together to bring some industry into Wayne, preferably one that would not have a large amount of waste material involved with its operation, which would overload our sewer and land fill.

A.—We should improve our streets and alleys, water mains, storm and sewer drains and the existing city parks.

A.—We can avoid projects that would be costly, not only to build, but also to maintain, which would raise the levy.

A.—Study the problem first. Make whatever changes necessary to improve the situation at less cost.

2 Elections Necessary For 2nd Ward Voters

Residents in the Second Ward will actually be voting in two elections when they name their city councilmen for another term.

Because of Jack Kingston's resignation it will fall in the middle of his term. They will have to pick somebody to serve for two years. They will also have to name a councilman to serve the regular four-year term.

Running for the two-year term — to replace Anton Netherland, who was appointed 16 fill out Kingston's term — are Gene Fletcher and Darrel Fuchter. Opposing each other for the one four-year term are Pat Gross and Ivan Beeks.

Anti-Litter Week Now in Progress

Now concern over the quality of the environment exhibited last week on "Earth Day" will continue in Nebraska with "Mission CART Week April 26 through May 2, the kickoff of a statewide Campaign Against Rubbish and Trash.

Under Mission CART, sponsored by the Game and Parks Commission, Nebraska's young people are encouraged to fight litter with projects conducted by school classes or youth clubs. Rules and guidelines for Mission CART are few. Instead, the youth taking part are urged to use their own imaginations and initiative to formulate projects.

Tactics suggested for Mission CART projects include public education and clean-up drives. Mission CART was set aside in a proclamation by Governor Norbert Tiemann, but the official week-long observance is meant to be just the start of a year-round fight against the litter problem.

Plan Pasture Program Now

by Walt Tolman
Area Beef Specialist
Northeast Station

Pasture is a natural and almost ideal feed for beef cows and their calves, but it can be used well by thin young stock too. Fleishy cattle usually should be finished in dry lot, but thinner cattle will often make cheap growth and gains on pasture.

Now is the time to plan the pasture program and prepare cattle for pasture. Although alfalfa has a long productive season and is very nutritious, it may cause bloat. Bringing cattle to a full feed of grain before an alfalfa pasture season and full feeding or self-feeding will reduce this bloat hazard. Use of prothelene, a bloat preventative material, daily in grain or salt may be successful too.

Brome pasture has produced good gains during the season when it is growing well without any grain or with just one or two pounds grain a day, Northeast Station tests reveal. Thin cattle will usually make the fastest gains on pasture, but overall economy may require feeding enough grain to produce about one and half pounds daily gain with young stock being prepared for pasture grazing.

Feeding grain and a protein supplement with the pasture when the grass is no longer growing well, usually from early July, is good practice. Or the cattle can be removed from dry pasture for a dry lot finish and any fall growth of pasture be used with new cattle.

Successful cattle feeding experiments with whole shelled corn suggest this form of grain for pasture feeding, especially self-feeding. The whole grain feeds down well in self-feeders, will not blow out of bunks and stays fresh better than ground or rolled corn if it gets a little damp.

hippie ecologists, nor mauling fuzzy-faced teenager, nor the draft dodger, but on this diminishing voter, the cattlemen. Cattlemen need leadership, need a dictator. Not the unqualified front that represents most all institutionalized farm associations and organizations.

Cattlemen need a power man—a dynamic, congress-eating, cold-blooded, poker-playing, hard-nosed leader. I wish Currier Holman would dissolve himself of the meat industry. He has little challenge left. Currier could be that leader.

Cattlemen face closing plants, closing stockyards, imports, soybean derivatives, hard credit, misunderstanding customers, unfriendly legislature, over-educated and impractical government advisors. Their current defense: these chamber-like Lord Faulteroy secretaries directed by 20 to 50 disassociated board members. Utter chaos.

Over 70 barking executive secretaries occasionally lobby Washington. Their major accomplishment is a handshaking posed picture in a senator's office. Opposing, representing Australia, is Clark Clifford... and money... and influence.

Cattle Gals, you need a Currier Holman. And mountain climbers seek new conquests, too.

Delay Grazing Bromegrass Says NE Station Specialist

Grass root reserves below the ground determine how much top growth can be harvested from a bromegrass pasture, advises Russell Moomaw, Extension agronomist at the Northeast Station east of Concord.

Bromegrass growth has been delayed this year because of cool weather, but now that there is a good moisture situation, fertilized bromegrass pastures should make a rapid growth.

Grass roots grow first, then the tops, notes Moomaw. Because of this, it may be well to delay pasturing bromegrass this year until about May 10. This is especially important if the bromegrass had been pastured last fall, for fall-grazed pastures do not build up root reserves. The lack of root reserves will delay spring growth, requiring that spring pasturing be delayed, the agronomist explains.

Proper bromegrass pasture management requires that a continuous grazing pasture be stocked so that no more than 40 to 60 per cent of each year's growth is used. Therefore, Moomaw recommends that a "take half, leave half" grazing program be followed. Continuous grazing of pasture will result in an unprofitable, self-defeating program. If a rotation pasture program is followed, each lot should be stocked and grazed to remove most of the bromegrass.

Good pasture management practices will result in a minimum of weed growth, but weeds are present, it should pay to use chemical weed control, concludes Moomaw.

zers will perform equally if they are incorporated into the soil. Liquid nitrogen might be less effective than dry ammonium nitrate when applied to the surface without incorporation, especially to soils containing large amounts of surface residue.

The greatest advantage of liquid nitrogen is that it can be pumped and distributed very accurately. Liquid nitrogen provides for better distribution than can be achieved with dry forms. However, nitrogen losses could be somewhat higher under some conditions with the liquid.

Take Spring Soil Tests

It took three men and $24 billion to get a soil sample of the moon. On the farm, it takes only one man and $2 to get a soil sample which can be tested for fertilizer recommendations, according to a University of Nebraska Extension agronomist.

Both are important and both are necessary, says Del Knudsen. "Fertilizer needs are different. No two soils are alike. The soil on your farm is certainly different than the soil on the moon. It'll take a lot more than N-P-K to grow a crop up there," the agronomist in charge of the NE soil testing laboratory commented.

"Careful soil testing is the only way to know exactly what your crop needs. Every crop needs different soil nutrients. You have to

Good Morning Feeders & Hi Mom

By Eddie Collins

The Iowa Beef Processors and the Amalgamated Packinghouse Union finally settled their eight month strike. No one won. All lost.

Strikebound, the union workers were weekly awarded $50 for picketing and various assembly duties, plus cans of various foods. Add that Thanksgiving Turkey. — All were subsidized by Amalgamated brothers and sisters. Lost was that big weekly pay check.

IBP lost plenty. A secondary union boycott that spread nationwide discouraged the sale of your outstanding beef. Also lost were hundreds, possibly even thousands, of capable, experienced and skilled laborers: Deported is Blackman Brothers, a corporation which worked at Dakota City on fabricating and breaking sides. It returned to California, evidently preferring fog inhalation to dynamite explosions. Authoritative r u m o s claim IBP must now sell tons upon tons of boxed primal cuts — on today's reduced market. A long-time building inventory with a high interest loan.

The biggest loser was still the cattle feeder, especially those once dependent on competition from either the Fort Dodge, LeMars or Mason City plants. That specific area dropped from the normal highest cattle average west of the Mississippi to a drabby, dull, bottom-scraping position.

All that is now history. Let us now comment and review.

The strike was long, noisy and explosive, but only partially effective. Remarkable was the ability of IBP management to radiate confidence in the value of the common stock. During the interim, half the packers' stock in the nation collapsed, but not IBP's.

Remember the original disagreement? Wages were secondary. Amalgamated wanted to prevent the future use of unskilled labor in a portion-control plant announced to be built near Salix, Iowa. This chain line, mostly of female neophyte trimmers, was to be paid less than half the wages of replaced skilled eastern meatcutters. This plant was rumored to rival the Pentagon for size. Prospectus claims forecast the future elimination of all chain store butchers. That was the original fight and reason for eastern union cooperation.

What is the status of that individual portion-control plant now? Was part of the final compromise to delay that project? The wage increase settlement was minimal. Any union leader claiming that a victory is like a cattle beating he at least found the ball after overchubbing the leader on the last hole of the National Open. But won was the noticeable withdrawal of immediate p-c plans — maybe forever.

Mom, IBP is the most promising packer yet organized. It has talented sub-executives, technology, physical plants, ambition and foresight. Most important is still Currier Holman. A true genius and too tough for any union.

American cattlemen need IBP — Currier, too — for leadership.

In 1970 expect eastern legislatures to mesmerize their voters by attacks on import beef quotas. Using George Wallace — like bellowing and hollering, congressmen will make Washington sound like Mt. Echo reverberating the popular chants of high meat. Not costly beer, nor cigarettes, nor soap, nor corn flakes, but meat. Not high taxes, nor parking lots, nor gasoline, nor appliances, nor tips, nor wages, nor services, but meat. Attacks will not be on revolutionists, and, heaven forbid, not on the

Ak-Sar-Ben Gifts Near $500,000

Contributions totaling $424,547 during 1969 were noted in the annual financial report issued by Ak-Sar-Ben to its 1970 membership of more than 53,000.

Frank P. Forgarty, president of Ak-Sar-Ben, said all of Ak-Sar-Ben's contributions were directed toward its ACE program of agricultural, charitable and educational activities. The largest donations were for college scholarships ($31,496) and county fair activities ($105,762).

The report shows that more than $1,900,000 was paid to horsemen in the form of purses. The state received more than $1,500,000 in taxes on pari-mutuels. The Ak-Sar-Ben payroll was more than $1,300,000 for 800 full-time and part-time employees.

Tom Brock, general manager of Ak-Sar-Ben, in a message to members, thanked them for their support of Ak-Sar-Ben's activities and added:

"We... hope that you will continue to join hands with us in helping to make Nebraska and western Iowa better places to live. We hope you... share the same sense of pride that we have in this organization."

Daily Gain Margin Important
"After running many thousands of cattle through our sophisticated feedlot business analysis, for Iowa cattle feeders," says Dr. Robert C. deBacca of Iowa State University, "we concluded that only two major factors are important to feeders of this state for making profit from their cattle. These are: daily gain and margin."

The Iowa man goes on to explain that in 5,000 calves with inweights under 500 pounds, the top gaining 25 per cent of these beat the slow gaining 25 per cent by 8 pound per day in gain, required three pounds less feed per pound of gain, 80 days less time in the lot, seven cents less per pound of gain and made 19 cents more profit per head per day.

Liquid or Dry Fertilizer?
What are the advantages of liquid over granular fertilizers? Because there are several kinds of liquid and dry fertilizers, generalizations are difficult. However, from a nutrient standpoint, the plant does not usually care whether the fertilizer is liquid or dry, provided equal rates of nutrient are applied. Liquid or dry nitrogen ferti-

TEX-FLOW

DURABILITY IN GATED ALUMINUM PIPE

It's fairly easy to find a piece of ordinary pipe, but it's a different story with Tex-Flow tubing.

Tex-Flow pipe is made of H-38 aluminum alloy, the hardest available today with an .051 wall thickness. This, plus a triple reinforced male end, produces a longer service life.

Tex-Flow pipe also conforms best to row spacings and the lay of the land because of the flexible coupler.

Available in 6, 8, 9 and 10 diameters with standard gate spacings of 20, 30, 36 and 40.

Last year BUX killed more corn rootworms than any other corn rootworm insecticide.

What makes Bux so special? A lot of things, including effective season-long control. Just a single application of Bux at planting time keeps corn standing tall right up to harvest. Besides that Bux offers several "extras." Extras no other rootworm insecticide can give you.

- It resists leaching in rainy weather.
- It's lower in toxicity. You don't need special clothing or equipment. Just follow what it says on the label.
- Corn treated with Bux can be fed to livestock.
- It won't bridge over in applicator hoppers or clog equipment.
- It doesn't have an objectionable odor like other insecticides.

So treat your corn to Bux. Before rootworms treat themselves to your corn.

Wool Producers Receive $4,000 Incentive Pay Wayne County wool producers earned $4,055.41 under the 1969 wool incentive program, Harry Heinemann, chairman of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said. This compares with $4,265.19 earned under the 1968 incentive program. On a national basis, government incentive payments on 1969 wool and mohair production will total about $9.6 million less than for the 1968 marketing year. The lower payments for 1969 result from reduced marketings of these two commodities, and from substantially higher market returns for mohair. The National Wool Act of 1954, which also covers mohair, provides incentive payments to growers to encourage them to produce more wool and to improve the quality and marketing of it, Heinemann said. The 1969 payment rate for wool is based on the difference between the incentive price of 69 cents, which is set by law, and the 1969 national average market price for wool of 41.8 cents received by growers. Each grower's wool payment is figured by multiplying his dollar return from the sale of his wool, less marketing charges, by the 1969 payment rate of 65.1 per cent, which is the difference needed to raise growers' returns to the 69 per cent incentive price. Heinemann said this means that for each $100 the grower earned from the sale of his wool in 1969, he also earned an additional $65.10 incentive payment. Heinemann also noted the payment rate on unshorn lambs sold or slaughtered during the 1969 marketing year was $1.09 per hundredweight. This compares with a 1968 rate of $1.06. The payment on live lambs that had been shorn at the time of sale is based on the payment rate for shorn wool, the average weight of wool per hundredweight of lambs and the value of lamb's wool relative to the value of shorn wool. Book Box

It's a family affair when Jay, Jill and Joan Haberer, children of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Haberer, return books to the Wayne Public Library via the new "Anytime Book Drop" box. Rodella Wacker, librarian, said the new book drop system was installed earlier this month and is working out well. Readers may return books at anytime by putting them in the box in front of the library. The librarian said it is preferred that phonograph records not be dropped into the box.

Take a quiet break... in one of America's great luxury cars

The 1970 Ford is re-engineered to be quieter than the Ford that was quieter than a Rolls-Royce. And this is quiet that's designed in... quiet that comes from a computer-tuned frame, a stronger body, a smoother engine. Quiet so comforting, so relaxing that the only way to understand it is to experience it in a test drive. Inside, the new space-designed Front Room offers more hip, head, leg and shoulder room than cars at twice Ford's price. The remarkable air-pressure relief ventilation system adds new levels of comfort and quiet. There's a new locking steering column, a new 5-position ignition switch, and a myriad of other Better Ideas. There is also the broadest range of luxury options ever offered in Ford's history. All designed to enhance an already great luxury car.

3 Wayne County Tots Receive Society Help

The Nebraska Children's Home Society in Omaha provided care for three children in Wayne County last year, according to George Macklin, financial representative from Wayne.

The Society held its annual meeting at Omaha last week. Named president for another term was Dr. Merrill Egerly.

Dudley Aller, chairman of the case committee, in his report pointed out that last year 222 children were placed for adoption, 879 children and unadopted mothers were cared for and 1,418 special services cases such as counseling were handled.

Randall C. Birt, executive director, traced the development of the Society and its role as leader of child welfare in Nebraska for the past decade and said, "The importance of the private agency was never greater. It continues to be one of the great bulwarks of democracy which offers the individual who is concerned about the welfare of homeless, neglected and abused little children, to express that concern in a personal way. Make no mistake about it, there is just as much neglect and abuse of helpless little children as we have ever known in spite of the multitude of government programs. The fact that in 10 years the number of children coming to us increased 209 per cent and the number of girls in trouble jumped 239 per cent testified not only to the increasing need, but that people, big and little, know where to turn for help."

Celia A. Gettman Services Are Held in Wayne Church

Funeral services for Celia A. Gettman, Wayne, were held Tuesday afternoon at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Wayne. Mrs. Gettman died Sunday, April 25.

The Rev. Doniver Peterson officiated at the rites. Richard Pinkham sang, accompanied by Mrs. Norman Meyer. Honorary pallbearers were Anton Granquist, Charles Miller, Elery Pearson, William Swanson, Warren Merritt, Basil Osburn, George Walker and Henry Bettschisch. Pallbearers were Dale Thompson, Clair Swanson, Stanley Baier, Jim Thomas, Warren Sabs and Howard Gaunt. Burial was in Greenwood Cemetery, Wayne.

Mrs. Celia Aivena Gettman, daughter of William and Matilda Bach, was born Nov. 11, 1886 at West Side, Iowa.

She was baptized in 1888 and attended elementary school in West Side, Iowa. She moved with her family to Carroll where she attended high school. She received her college education at Wayne State and taught in the rural schools.

On March 24, 1909 she was married to John Gettman at Carroll. They lived on a farm near Carroll until 1948 when they moved to Kennett, S. D., where they purchased a ranch. In 1960 they moved to Wayne where she resided until her death.

She was confirmed in April of 1909 and was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church and a 50-year member of the Ladies Aid.

She was preceded in death by her parents, two brothers and three sisters. Survivors include her widower, one son, Blaine Wayne; one sister, Mrs. Merle Roe, Atwater, Calif.; one grandson, Barry, Oswein, Iowa; one granddaughter, LeMae of Wayne and several nieces and nephews.

Local, Area People Make 'Honor Roll'

Several people from Wayne and surrounding towns are listed on the city clerk's seminar honor roll in the latest issue of "Nebraska Municipal Review," official publication of The League of Nebraska Municipalities.

The people had to attend the seminar held in Wayne several weeks ago in order to be included on the honor roll. The seminar, one of 10 held across the state, included information on such subjects as the new road study program, the new municipal budgets required under legislation recently passed and the new minimum housing code requirements.

Among the 35 honor roll people who attended the Wayne seminar are Dan Sherry, city clerk, and Duane Upton, with the city's engineering firm. Also attending here were Marvin Nelson of Dixon, Donna Barner of Winslow, William Snyder of Allen, J. F. Atwood of Randolph, E. W. Jensen of Emerson, F. R. Waring and Earl Scherer of Stanton, Norman Anderson of Concord, Carroll Van Valin of Wakefield, Earl Barks of Belden and Patricia L. Dye of Pender.
