

District Hospital Idea Discussed by Planners

Members of the Wayne Hospital Foundation met with Ellery H. Davis on Friday night at the Chamber of Commerce building to continue making preliminary plans for the proposed formation of a hospital district in the immediate area. Davis is a member of Davis-Fenton-Stange-Darling Architects of Lincoln, a firm selected by the foundation to aid the preliminary planning.

Davis presented a feasibility report using statistical information gathered in a previous March visit to Wayne. He told the group, "The new hospital district, as proposed by your committee, including parts of Wayne, Dixon and Cedar counties, has been accepted by agreement of all concerned, as a reasonable service area for a new hospital plant."

The architect also said, "While an up-to-date and attractive new building, centrally located in this district, will undoubtedly create greatly increased patronage, competition from existing institutions in neighboring communities on all sides will tend to confine usage within these boundaries."

Population expectations through 1985 were discussed for To Attend Conference

Dan Sherry, Wayne city clerk, and Norbert Brugger, light plant superintendent, will be among the representatives of towns and cities across the state who will attend a municipal accounting and finance conference at Kearney.

The meeting, being sponsored by the accounting and finance section of the Nebraska League of Municipalities in cooperation with the University of Nebraska Extension Division, will be held next Monday and Tuesday, May 18-19.

Among the subjects to be taken up are bookkeeping, uniform budgeting, utility rates, data processing and new interpretations of sales and use taxes.

Four Wayne State Teachers Hired

Appointments to the Wayne State College faculty and acceptance of a National Institute of Health grant were among actions taken by the Board of Trustees at their meeting Friday in Kearney.

The board also approved a new student activity fee of $5 per term, its purpose to expand a variety of activities and special programs. Student governing bodies proposed the fee, and a campus vote gave 84 per cent approval. The fee will take effect in the fall term and proceeds will be administered by a joint student-faculty committee.

The faculty appointments: —Darryl Lehman as instructor in health and physical education and assistant basketball coach. A graduate of Anderson College, Ind., he earned a master's degree from Wayne State after a year as a graduate assistant in 1967-68. Since then, he has coached high school at Grant Park, Ill. As assistant coach he succeeds Ron Jones, whose appointment as head basketball coach was approved by the board.

—Robert Foote, assistant professor of geography. He earned AB and MA degrees from the University of Illinois and has completed a year of doctoral study at Michigan State University.

—John S. Bray, assistant professor of history. He received See TEACHERS, page 8

This is a scene from a televised convocation featuring TV newsmen David Brinkley, who spoke Friday to students on six Nebraska campuses, including Wayne State. Pictured (seated from left) in the WSC television studio are Dr. Robert G. Johnson, Ed Fox of Hagerman, a student who questioned Brinkley, and William Hagerman, WSC coordinator of instructional television. While Brinkley spoke from the University of Nebraska at Omaha, audiences at five other campuses watched on monitors (right). After his 48-minute speech — which Brinkley, with his typical wit, termed "a fairly dull speech" — I cleared it with Vice-President Agnew, so it has to be dull? — he asked for tough questions. In the remaining 40 minutes there was time for two rounds of questions from each of the six campuses. The televised convocation was described as the first of its kind in Nebraska, and probably first in the nation.

First of Its Kind

'Miss Buddy Poppy'

Shelly Carlson, 9, daughter of Mrs. Donna Carlson of Wayne, has been selected by the District III WFW Auxiliary as "Miss Buddy Poppy." She is in the third grade at the West Elementary School. The young lady is scheduled to enter district competition at Norfolk Sunday for the privilege of going to state competition at Lincoln in June.

Tolman Says Corn's Moisture Level Is Minor Factor in Fattening Steers

High moisture corn and dry corn were nearly equal as cattle fed in experiments just completed at Northeast Station at Concord.

Rates of gain for fattening steers were little affected by the moisture level of the corn fed and similar amounts of dry matter were required per pound gain. Carcass grades of cattle fed high moisture corn were fully equal to those fed dry corn, reports Walt Tolman, station cattle researcher.

According to Tolman, shelled corn stored whole at 25 per cent moisture in a sealed structure and rolled at feeding time had a slight advantage in rate and economy of gain over either shelled corn dried to 15 per cent moisture at harvest time and rolled before feeding or corn ground at harvest and stored at either 25 or 28 per cent moisture.

The high moisture corn stored ground may have been at a disadvantage, he said, because while it was stored in sealed structures until the experiment started with See TOLMAN, page 8

Group Discusses Area Non-Toll Calling

A meeting to discuss the possibility of getting extended area toll-free service, or non-toll calling in the immediate area, was held Thursday afternoon in Carroll at the Farmer's State Bank with 15 telephone and area businessmen attending.

As a result, further study will be made as to procedures and costs of implementing the service. Four area representatives of the Eastern Nebraska Telephone Company, which headquarters at Blair and provides service to Carroll, met with businessmen from Carroll, Winside and Wayne, to discuss potential advantages and costs of extended area service (EAS). Personnel from the telephone company were Roy Sleschewsky, Eastern's chief accountant from Blair; Fred Brunk, plant superintendent at Blair; Earle McCuskey, district manager at Wausa; and Lenny Clarkson of Ponca, manager of the telephone system in Carroll.

Interested area businessmen attending were Richard Miller, president of the Winside Community Club; Dr. Donald Vrbka of Winside; Dr. Ken Lisksa of Wayne; Fred Gildersleeve of the Wayne Grain and Feed Co.; Cal Comstock of Wayne County Public Power District; Attorney Ken Olds; the Rev. Robert Swanson of Carroll; John Bethwisch, Carroll post master; Lynn Roberts, Bob Johnson and Phil Olson of Carroll. Olson, president of the Farmer's State Bank, acted as meeting chairman.

While discussing the need for EAS, the businessmen noted numerous advantages of such a service. Dr. Ken Lisksa pointed out that fire and police protection systems need up-to-date communications and "our transportation system has antiquated our present telephone system since schools and businesses now overlap." The Rev. Swanson explained that church affairs also overlap communities.

Cal Comstock of the Wayne County Public Power Co. stressed that EAS "would benefit every farmer in Wayne County." He went ahead to explain that presently all power outage calls are placed collect with the company.

Richard Miller and Dr. Vrbka of Winside agreed that residents in and around Winside would likely be willing to pay a small monthly fee for the privilege of being able to make calls, not See NON-TOLL CALLING, pg. 8

Voters to Make Decisions Tuesday

Legal voters throughout Wayne County will, like thousands of others, go to the polls between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. Tuesday to mark ballots for favorite candidates. As in every election, history will be made on the local, county and state levels by a people who govern themselves.

Election Is Set For County CAP Representatives

An election to choose two representatives for a re-activated Wayne County Community Action Board will be held at the Senior Citizen's Center on Monday and Tuesday, May 18 and 19.

The board was re-activated last Wednesday at a meeting between interested Wayne residents and officials of the Golden Rod Hills Community Action Program, at Walthill. The Wayne County CAP board will represent the county on the five-county board and will have two votes in determining general policies for the five-county program.

Interest in Center For Youth Discussed

A number of local adults and high school youths met Thursday evening at Wiltse's Mortuary to discuss the possibility of setting up a youth center for those of high school age.

Meeting with Linda Penn, Linda Lesh, Winona Peterson and several other WHS girls were Alfred Kopl, Dick Manley, Donald Reed, Rowan Whitse, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hummel, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Sward, and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Judd.

It was decided those attending would act as a temporary committee, with Winona Peterson as chairman, to investigate the amount of interest in the project and the availability of a possible location for such a center.

Charmian Peterson said the center would be designed basically for youths in the 14-19 age group.

Another meeting was set for 8 p.m. Thursday at Wiltse's.

College Receives $11,000 Grant

An expanded curriculum in medical technology at Wayne State College will result from a grant of $11,875 just received from the National Institute of Health.

The grant will be used mainly to buy specialized equipment for biochemistry laboratories in Wayne's new Carhart Science Hall.

A new course, Topics in Medical Technology, dealing with laboratory techniques, will be in the course offering next fall, taught by Wesley Fritz, assistant professor of chemistry. Fritz earned a master's degree, specializing in biochemistry, at the University of Delaware, and has taken advanced studies in medical technology at the Kansas University Medical Center.

Youths Occupy NE Station

Nearly 30 young adults from several counties across northeast Nebraska occupied the University of Nebraska Northeast Station near Concord over the weekend for a sleep-in.

The sleep-in, unlike several which have been held in the past, was for education and not against anything. The purpose of the affair was to hold 4-H members over to take part in both days of the dairy workshop program at the Station, according to Don Kubik, dairy specialist at the Station.

Twenty-eight 4-H dairy club members registered and attended the two-day workshop along with two leaders and Roy Scholer, Dixon County Extension agent. The youths came from Antelope, Knox, Madison, Stanton, Dixon, Wayne, Cedar and Dakota Counties.

On the program were Bill Ehlers of Beamer, purebred dairy cattle breeder; Bill Otterpohl of Hartington, equipment dealer; Bill Stinger, A. I. technician; Fred Madson of Laurel, milk marketing cooperative manager, and Don Kubik.

The young people began arriving at the Station early Friday evening, bunked down at the Station after getting some information on judging practices and began the workshop Saturday morning at 8:30.

(There were 4,219 registered voters in Wayne County on the first of May.)

Republicans registered in the county outnumber registered Democrats at a rate of more than two-to-one. Norris Weible, county clerk, reported Friday a total of 1,244 Democrats, 2,825 Republicans, three Americans and 147 independents registered.

There is nearly a two-to-one ratio in the city of Wayne with 616 Democrats registered and 1,218 Republicans.

County registration records from September 1969 to May 1970 show an increase from 2,770 to 2,825 in the number of Republicans registered, an increase of 55. During that same period the total of registered Democrats

5 Rural Pupils Get Top Ranking At End of Term

Mrs. Gladys Porter, county superintendent of schools, announced Friday the names of five students given top ranking among 55 eighth graders in Wayne County.

The five honored eighth graders in the rural schools for 1970 are Gordon Strate, District 57; Roger Stender, District 10; Peggy Puckett, District 25; Beth Pedersen, District 34 and Brenda Gaudin, District 66.

Supt. Porter said that of the 55 pupils, in September, 21 will enter Wayne High School, 10 will go to Winside High School, five to Wakefield, eight to Norfolk, six to Randolph, two to Pender, one to Laurel, one to Wisler and one to New Ulm, Minnesota.

Students other than the top five completing their eighth grade work are as follows, including district: Roger Gustafson, Merle Kaufman, Marcia Leonard and Janes Thomson, District 1; Connie Gemette, District 5; Judy Bargholz, Ricky Kay, and Roger Meyer of District 8; Bob Anderson, Steve Brummels, Brent Jockens, Jana Lange, Carla Reber, Sharon Strate, Carol Veeder and Alice Wells of District 9; Kenneth Baier, District 10; Rex Hansen and Leon Svoboda of District 25.

Others are Kim Baker of Dis- See RURAL PUPILS, page 8

Auxiliary Sets Poppy Day Sale

Members of the local American Legion Auxiliary will hold their annual Poppy Day sale in Wayne May 13 and 14. Poppy Day headquarters will be at the Vet's Club with Mrs. Hattie McNutt, Mrs. Norbert Brugger and Mrs. Alvina Bush as committee members.

Poppy Day is sponsored each year throughout the nation by the American Legion Auxiliary to remind Americans of the sacrifices made by the men in the armed forces.

Contributions are devoted entirely to rehabilitation and child welfare work for disabled veterans.

Girls interested in helping sell the poppies should contact Mrs. McNutt.

Roundtables Now Potluck Picnics

Roundtable meetings for leaders of the Lewils and Clark Scout District will be something different during summer months.

Instead of the usual monthly meetings in Wayne, the roundtables will be family potluck supper picnics in three different towns, according to Dana Lefstad, district chairman. They are scheduled on the regular nights, first Tuesday of each month in June, July, August.

The next roundtable will be at the Laurel Lions Park June 2; the following month, July 7, at the Wakefield Park; then August 4 at the Pender Park, all of the picnics at 7 p.m.

Leaders and committeemen of scout troops and packs are invited to attend, with their families, each bringing their own food to share and eating equipment. The district will provide the beverages.

Next major event of Lewils and Clark District is the spring camporee June 5-7 at Dead Timber State Recreation Area, eight miles east of West Point. The camporee for scout troops will feature competition, by patrol, in camping techniques and scouting skills.

An advancement swimming class is scheduled tonight (Monday) from 6:30 to 8 in the Wayne State pool. Scouts will be able to pass first class tests and swimming and lifesaving merit badges.

Sure to Add Color

Fourteen sets of dirty hands, a little work and a few pails of water may reap results this summer at the Girl Scout cabin in east Wayne. The young Brownies from Troop 192 planted flowers, purchased with their own money, beside the cabin Thursday as one of their community projects. Taking part in the planting activities were Gwenn Holier, Kelly Palma, Shelly Roberts, Lisa Magnuson, Jane Edmunds, Lori Prenger, Lori Francis, Janelle Teeter, Nancy Thiel, Signe Anderson, Jill Ahlvers, Stacy Jacobmeier, Tona Hansen and Brenda Hansen. Mrs. Ver Jacobmeier and Mrs. Jim Teeter are leaders of the girls; Jan Sherry is a helper.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

You may not agree with an editorial — but if you read the editorial and your thought to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

Political Smoke Screen Starts Lifting

Opponents of Governor Norbert Tiemann have been blowing the political smoke screen of high taxes and exorbitant state spending for so long that even the most uninformed voter should have seen through it by now.

For the last time — the LEGISLATURE and NOT THE GOVERNOR sets the majority of the spending and fiscal policies of Nebraska. True, the Governor DOES prepare a budget, which he submits to the Legislature. During the last session the legislature ADDED 35 million dollars to Tiemann's suggested budget!

Tiemann responsible for high taxes and spending? Hardly.

And who is yelling the loudest with these false accusations? Tiemann's primary opponent, state senator Clifton Batchelder who should know better than anybody else what the mechanism of Nebraska government is.

Batchelder has been a member of the powerful budget committee for six years. In this capacity he had more opportunity to exert leadership than he would as governor relative to fiscal matters. And yet he was so ineffective that his colleagues saw fit to INCREASE the Governor's recommendations by $35 million.

Facts are that 66.6 per cent of the taxes Nebraskans' paid last year were for support of the federal government. After $217 million was collected in Nebraska state taxes, 67,200,000 was returned to cities, counties and schools. Only 9.7 per cent of the total taxes paid by Nebraskans was used for the operation of state government. This places Nebraska 47th nationally in per capita state taxes. The Nebraska cost was $149.99 per person, and the national average $208.73. Only South Dakota and New Hampshire operate more economically.

Yes, Nebraska now levies income and sales taxes. Tiemann campaigned for his first term on the platform that we had to have a broadened tax base in Nebraska... the voters had abolished the property tax for state support. Only property tax you now pay is for the operation of local city and county government, and local schools. The state levies taxes.

We hope that Republican voters will remember these things at the primary polls Tuesday. Norbert Tiemann has exerted the kind of leadership that Nebraska needs to keep moving. He has done much in four years to help Nebraska become recognized as a modern and progressive state when too often she had been known as a "place to be from and a place to die." He can do more. — NLH.

Let's Vote

You should be your own captain in the voting booth. It is one of the last strongholds in which you are absolutely free to, as the younger set says, "do your own thing". The voting booth is yours to command for a few minutes during which time you may choose freely from among candidates the one which you want to hold a certain office.

Standing outside the election booth, as invisible guardians of the treasured privilege of voting, are many interesting warriors fresh from the frontier of history.

We cannot see them, except the long shadows they cast, but they stand tall in our memories. Pilgrims settling this new country, adventurers, statesmen, people on wagons going west, soldiers manning a western fort, executives and employees, the steel worker, farmer, and spiritual leaders, all joining hands to make this a nation governed by those chosen to govern via a ballot box.

It is a great privilege to mark a mighty "X" on a ballot. This is the true "power of the people".

Brave men have marched from furrow to the front in a number of wars to protect this nation from external enemies. Many a cross in scattered cemeteries tell us daily of what it has cost to be able to have the freedom to vote for those who rule us.

As we go to vote this week, why not pause and be grateful for the privilege? Is it a privilege we are beginning to take for granted?

How tragic it would be, after hundreds of thousands of men have given their lives in the service of their country, to focus our thoughts on only the external enemies of this great country. What are we when we throw away the freedom to vote?

Daniel Webster said it in 1832: "As men may be protected against murder, but cannot be guarded against suicide, so government may be shielded from the results of external foes, but nothing can save it when it chooses to lay violent hands on itself."

Failing to vote is a serious carelessness towards one's country and self. — MMW.

Would You Volunteer?

Would you volunteer to do a little "moonlighting"? As you probably know, moonlighting is working at another job when you get together with your regular job. How would you like to have two jobs at one time?

Would you volunteer to do the second job at a salary of zero dollars just because you wanted to do something constructive for your fellow man?

There are a few things about this second job, which pays no salary as far as dollars are concerned, that you might not necessarily like. This second job might call you to duty at most any hour of the night, or day, and you would have to be around to answer the call. Is your boss the kind of man that would understand your taking time off from his job so you could see about your second job?

This work isn't advertised as being easy. In fact, many a man has died because of hazards involved. Still interested? The job is known to be so dangerous that insurance companies up their rate schedule for those in such work.

Can you imagine a man willing to take time off from his job, or possibly be awakened at 3 a.m. to do this work which pays no wages, and because he is willing to do it he must pay higher life insurance rates and one more thing. Such men who volunteer for this work are automatically left out of worker's compensation by state law while they are on this job. Neither can they hope to collect by suing for damages if hurt while doing this work. What kind of man would want to get involved in such a sideline as that!

We are talking, of course, about volunteer firemen who receive no wages, are on call all hours of day or night, pay higher life insurance premiums, and may easily be injured or killed in fighting a big fire.

How would you sleep tonight if you knew you were personally responsible for the well being of around 8,000 people, should any one of their dwellings catch fire? And what about the college? Could you sleep knowing that you might have to help several hundred students evacuate a dormitory in case of fire?

Most of us have never been nor will ever be volunteer firemen. Anyone who has had a fire can tell you those men are another breed of man, and worth their weight in gold.

An editorial salute to you guys who make it easier for the rest of us to sleep knowing you are available. Being a fireman doesn't command much salary but certainly a lot of respect. — MMW.

Tough Days

She ran the comb through her hair and adjusted an ear ring while standing before the mirror. You had observed her do it countless times, but this time felt different. She is getting ready to walk out from the door, head for the commencement exercise and into a new life, leaving you, her parents, behind. She's beautiful.

That good-looking son of yours, who has more than once caused you to wonder if he would ever amount to anything, says, "Mom, would you polish my shoes for me?" as he hastens toward getting ready for the moment when he feels that his school diploma slipped into his hands. Even though you have done nothing but encourage, push, prod and point the way for the past 12 years, it still hurts a little down inside you to realize all of a sudden, this is it. Just as sure as he was your little boy yesterday, his maturity shocks you today. He stands there in the doorway with shoulders squared away, ready to go. In the months to come you'll see him stand there with that gleam in his eye, at least a thousand times... in your memory.

Remember when you used to get so tired of changing diapers and putting away toys? More than once you likely believed that "Maybe when the kids get old enough to be in school, I'll get some rest." You remember too, don't you, that after they got into school you found yourself thinking, "I wish the car for yourself they can drive the car for themselves, I won't have to live like a taxi driver."

Surely, at one time or another, you cringed from all the high school activities because, though you liked to see your kids involved and active, "Why," you asked yourself, "do I always wind up getting to do such a big portion of the extra-curricular activities?"

That beautiful girl and handsome son are getting ready to graduate from high school and it means a few tough days ahead. Just as sure as you brought them into the world they are getting ready to create a world of their own. You'll likely shed a few tears on graduation day wondering what they are going to find over the horizon of tomorrow.

Don't fret for too long, because you're going to love those grandchildren they'll be bringing around for you to sit with in all too short a time. Think you can remember how to get that baby diapered?

And the world will have turned another generation which included some tough days... but you wouldn't trade them for anything. — MMW.

"Happy 21st Birthday, Johnny"

At least, we hope it's happy, Johnny's sprung out on "speed," and most people take him for about 15. He's shouting "meat" now, but he's stuck on pills, "crazies," "benzies." He has to use a little more each day to maintain the "high" and avoid "crashing." It's as though he were a car that's raced its motor continuously for a year. No wonder he looks like he's ready for a 50,000 mile overhaul.

You don't feel you have to pay any attention to your "speed" because you feel so "up" all the time... So while you're "up" on speed, your body runs down. Johnny raps all the time about how, since he's started "speeding," he's really living. At this rate, he may have lived his whole life before he reaches 21.

Dear Editor: Off-street parking is fine when designed into a new area, but to suddenly come into an area of older homes, many with small lots and inaccessible garages in ruttled alleys, is too much!

We have a planning commission that insists it is definitely involved in parking and traffic, but they know nothing of this near-city-wide "No parking from midnight to 5 A.M." The city council says they will refer the problem to the planning commission. It seems to me that this should have already been submitted, if not formed there. Even after the council said it will be submitted, the planning commission tells us they have not been consulted.

Fine, take one side of the street — my side if necessary — and restrict it to no parking; but in these unplanned neighborhoods, at least, let those of them who need it have one side to park. Our boulevard will be a disgrace to the city if they don't. Gary V. Lund

Wayne In regard to the new parking regulations, we are beginning to wonder if some of the new regulations are passed for the good of the greatest number of residents or merely for the convenience of a few city servants. Such seems to be the case with the mass planting of no-parking signs.

We would like to point out that we, as residents, have to live with these restrictions 365 days a year while the city maintenance men are obligated to each particular area only a few hours a month. As a result of these last two weeks of nice empty streets, so convenient to street cleaners and patrol cars, we have noticed a definite increase in speed and late night dragging down our streets. We happen to live on a very quiet street with no student apartments in the homes and no more than one or two cars to each house. Some have driveways, some do not. We live on a corner and all four sides of the two streets around us are closed to parking. This should add considerably to the beautification of the city, especially after the next heavy rain when anyone required to park on his lawn will then drag part of that lawn into the streets for the street sweeper's irregular visit.

It is unfair for the city to arbitrarily demand that homeowners put in off-street parking. Many cannot afford to put various reasons. The city council reminded us that it is a city ordinance for new residential constructions to be required to put in off-street parking. Very good, but that cost is figured into the original cost of construction and much easier to swallow than an outright expenditure of cash to have curbs cut, concrete poured and possibly a tree or two removed.

This matter was brought before the city council at their regular meeting on April 27. At that time Mayor Koplin stated that he did not like the restrictions from the beginning and thought they would impose hardships on many people. The council assured us they would present the problem to the city planning committee for further study and re-evaluation. On May 4 we went to the regular meeting of the planning committee to discuss the problem further with them. They had not been informed of the matter by any member of the council. However, the planning committee did inform us they were going to be very slow and deliberate in making any recommendations to the city council regarding any changes which might be made in the regulations. They explained the reasoning for this is that two wrongs do not make a right.

We are simply asking that the council remove the first wrong while they slowly and deliberately decide what is right, and to keep in mind that what is right for one section of town is not necessarily right for another.

Several council members and your editorial advocate that we try it for awhile and see if we don't learn to like it. People

The Little Pulpit

"Know ye that the Lord he is God: It is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture. Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise: be thankful unto him, and bless his name." Ps. 118:1-13V.

Occasionally a person will meet someone who is not only gifted with a keen conversational ability, but who also has the experience to back what he is saying.

J. W. was attending a Journalism seminar about two weeks ago at the University of Nebraska in Lincoln. As our group held a joint session with a college-age veteran's organization holding a national convention, I engaged two veterans of the Viet Nam war in conversation following the meeting.

The two young men had spent considerable time in combat. They were husky farm youths from North Dakota and, after serving their tour with Uncle Sam, they are now attending college. Their views of the U. S. involvement in Viet Nam are some different from that of dissident collegians who may never have been to that front line. Is there anything like the voice of experience? — XXXXX

For instance, if you were going to ask about problems, one might encounter in married life, would you ask a married man or would you ask a bachelor? Likewise, if you want to find out about Viet Nam, ask those who have been there.

These vets said many Americans do not understand what kind of a war is going on. They pointed out how upset some people become because women and children are killed in Viet Nam. Then they explained that in one first-hand experience they knew of a 12-year-old boy who walked into a group of American soldiers in Viet Nam and pulled the pin on a hand grenade which killed himself and eight Americans. The Viet Cong make soldiers out of anyone, including their women and children, consequently many of them are bound to be killed in the war.

There is no way of telling which of the people you are working with in the day are Viet Cong, the men said. The person you work with in the day may very well attempt to kill you at night, according to the vets. — XXXXX

The gist of our conversation could pretty much be summed up with similar ideas written by Bob Roberts of the Intermountain Radio Network in Colorado.

Moms-Daughters Join in Banquet

Ninety mothers and daughters attended a Presbyterian banquet May 6 at the Birch Room at WSC. Mrs. Roy Christensen and Mrs. Jim Hein were co-chairmen on banquet arrangements.

Floral table decorations were provided by Mrs. Gerald Jackson, chairman, Mrs. Don Kerl, Mrs. Adon Jeffrey and Mrs. Jack March.

The program, under the direction of Mrs. Francis Haun, consisted of a tableau, "This Is My Daughter." Mrs. Orvid Owens provided musical accompaniment with Mrs. Haun as narrator.

The scenes portrayed a daughter's growth from babyhood to womanhood. Cast members included Susie Proett, Mrs. Dean Metz and Monica Beth Schafer, Jan Haun, Jane Owens, Mrs. Larry Gamble, Barbara Reed, Mrs. Jessie Hamer, Mrs. Kenneth Hamer and Colleen. Assisting with staging were Jeanie Kerl, Ann Owens and Joyce Haun. At the close of the tableau, flowers were presented from the "bridal bouquet" by the bride, Linda Gamble and the flower girl, Barbara Reed.

Recognition was given to Mrs. Grace Lamb, Mrs. John Barr Jr., Mrs. K. R. Liska, Mrs. Elhardt Pospisil, Mrs. Ray Haun, Creighton, Mrs. Milton Owens; three generations families present, the families of Mrs. John Owens, Mrs. Pearl Griffith, Mrs. Jessie Hamer and Mrs. Francis Haun, and to Mrs. Albert Frost and Mrs. Morris Proett. Mrs. Orvid Owens was cited as the mother who annually becomes involved with some part of the banquet program, and was presented a corsage by Mrs. Haun. Lois Hall provided accessories for the bridal scene.

The program closed with a humorous reading by Mrs. John Bressler and a presentation by Mrs. Jessie Morgan.

Brenda Dorau Marries Dennis Stark In Double Ring Ceremony at Rosalie

Brenda Dorau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Dorau, Rosalie, and Dennis Stark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Armin Stark, Laurel, were married May 2 at 7 p.m. in double ring rites at Immanuel Lutheran Church, Rosalie.

Pastor Carl Nuebel, Lyons, officiated. Calvin Dorau sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Love Divine." Mary Peterson was organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length empire styled dress of peach de soie with chiffon overlay. The gown featured a demure stand-up collar trimmed with lace and seed pearls. Pearls were used to trim the jacket of French lace. Her fingertip veil of nylon tulle, with attached train, was held by a bow of peach de soie. She carried a cascade arrangement of yellow and white sweet-heart roses with cascading ivy and stephanotis.

Deborah Megrie, Blair, was maid of honor. Faith Stark, Laurel, was bridesmaid. They wore floor length gowns of lime green flocced voile in empire styling with long puffed sleeves. They wore headpieces of fresh daisies and each carried colonial nosegays of white daisies. Kent Steinhilber, Rosalie, was ringbearer and Joanne Joerz, Omaha, was flowergirl.

Randy Hillmer, Austh, Minn., was best man. Larry Stark, Sioux City, was groomsmen. Ushers were Charles Dorau, Rosalie, and Kenneth Stark, Laurel. The bridegroom and his attendant wore tuxedos.

The bride's mother wore a light blue brocade dress with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a navy coat and dress ensemble with matching accessories. Each had a corsage of white feathered carnations and stephanotis.

A reception was held in the town hall at Rosalie following the wedding. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Hillmer.

Mrs. Loren Clem. Lori Kuhn registered the 175 guests. Mrs. Larry Stark, Lana Hennig and Mary Kinning arranged gifts. Mrs. Bill Joerz and Mrs. Clayton Bottorff cut and served the cake.

Mrs. Melvin Kuhn and Mrs. Verna Domsch poured. Mrs. Tom Helms and Mrs. Gilmar Stark served ice cream. Assisting with serving were Mrs. Gerald Hennig, Mrs. Arnold Stelmeyer, Mrs. Leroy Novak, Mrs. Rex Preston, Mrs. Delmar Kinning, Mrs. Melvin Peterson, Mrs. Lawrence Peterson, Mrs. Odin Anderson and Mrs. Leonard Klerseh.

For her going away ensemble the bride chose red, white and blue striped jersey with matching accessories.

The bridegroom is a senior at Wayne State. The couple will reside in Norfolk.

fections, stand up for it and maybe even shed a tear as the flag goes by, let that man say anything about patriotism and he is immediately classified as a nitwit by those who have planned to destroy the nation.

One of the things the author of the article "I've Had It" didn't mention, there are many of us who have "had it" with newscasters who editorialize every day on the network. Such newscasters wouldn't recognize a straight piece of news if they saw it. Who are these people who love to tinker and toy with the news in such a way as to suit their own whims? The Off-button on the tube is a brilliant invention.

We should forever remain concerned about those who are willing to dynamite, bomb, riot, throw rocks and debris, all in the name of "peace." Surely, you have noted that whenever there are demonstrations in the street or on campuses, the demo is against anything representing discipline, law or order. Obviously, rioters are against the President, against police, against the National Guard, against anybody that happens to get in the way of their attempted overthrow of "the system."

Television and newspapers make it appear that every college student in America is involved in revolution. Not so. Only a very small minority have been

Our American death toll in Viet Nam is from 100 to 200 men a week and it is a terrible price to pay. If it is the loss of men in Viet Nam that causes those on campus to riot, we'd like to suggest the students turn their attention also to the 100 plus Americans that die daily on the nation's highways. Demonstrate against the slaughter on the highways and accomplish something there too. It is obvious that rioting students seem to be more interested in the number of communist forces being killed rather than Americans. All of the killing in the world should be stopped ideally, but would there be peace? How can there be peace as long as the womb of dissidence continues spewing forth "isms" designed to destroy the very Price of Peace?

Militants have carried their uprisings into the universities and campuses. J. W. hopes he is in error but it appears that the program to destroy basic society will also be soon carried into the high schools. It would be done by militants under the guise of "informing" the students as to what is going on.

Your Place in the Stars

by Tom McDermott

"What's all this about — the Age of Aquarius?" said The Aquarian Agent, the East Village astrology newspaper, in its March issue. The entire magazine for March was devoted to a very controversial topic: the Age of Aquarius.

The editors of Agent are, undoubtedly, of the opinion that we are presently not experiencing the Age of Aquarius. Its lead article by noted astrologer Garth Allen was quite acid.

"This is definitely NOT the dawning of the Age of Aquarius," says Allen, "no matter what the song proclaims or opportunistic astrologers may say. Scientifically and historically speaking, the Age of Aquarius will commence in the year 2376 A. D., over four centuries from now — and you may confidently dismiss as tommyrot anything you have read or heard to the contrary."

Allen keeps biting, this time alluding to Carroll Righter, Righter, whose astrology column appears in hundreds of newspapers, promulgates the theory that the Age of Aquarius started in 1904. Garth Allen says of Righter:

"A highly publicized astrologer, who happens to have been born under Aquarius in the usually understood sense, claims that the Aquarian Age commenced in 1904, oddly coincidental with his own emergence on the world scene. Through such a claim this pious but well-heeled fellow reveals less knowledge of the parameters of the celestial sphere than a Boy Scout has to know to earn his astronomy merit badge."

Astrologer Allen informs us that we are now in the Age of Pisces, which sounds far less glamorous! More esteemed than Allen is Dane Rudhyar, an aged Frenchman living in California. Very highly regarded in astrological circles, Rudhyar is, besides an outstanding New Age astrologer, a poet, philosopher and composer. Rudhyar postulates that the Aquarian Age will not begin until 2062 A. D.

There are few erudite astrologers who claim that this is the Age of Aquarius. However, Marla Moore and husband Mark Douglas, in their forthcoming book titled Astrology, the Divine Science, say: "Although some astrologers question whether the Aquarian Age has really begun, the political, social, and scientific revolutions of the past two-centuries make it clear that 'something is happening.'" They propose that it started in 1900 and will last until 4050 A. D.

In the final count, whether it is or isn't the Age of Aquarius depends solely upon how YOU view our solar system. And, in any case, it doesn't constitute any real importance!

Nebraska's proven choice for wise leadership.

Governor Norbert Tiemann's responsive leadership has restored Nebraska's confidence in the operation and service of state government. He has brought action where idleness once stood. He has solved many problems by administering sensible businesslike procedures. And he has brought integrity to an office where an open-door policy is maintained on state government problems concerning Nebraskans.

Under Governor Tiemann's leadership, Nebraska today has

- a new modern-day sales and income tax base, providing for the first time — state aid to cities, counties and schools; returning $45-million annually to local governments.
- more and better highways; construction contracts for more than 1,300 miles have been awarded.
- an established program for agricultural research; which has sparked new interests for Nebraska's farm products in new markets.
- new and better mental health programs, providing improved care for stricken citizens.
- one of the lowest state tax revenues per capita, 47th in the nation.

Wayne High '9' Bombs Allen, 13-0

Four walks, four singles and a double by Terry Hurlbert in the first inning gave Wayne a 7-0 lead over Allen Thursday afternoon. The visiting Allen team never recovered from the onslaught, dropping a 13-0 game to the hosts in a shortened five-inning game.

Allen's head coach, Don Kruse, will have his work cut out for him if he is to get his team over the next hurdle—a noon contest against Wayne today (Monday) in the first round of the district tournament at Wayne. Winner of that game will play the winner of today's 2 p.m. contest between Bancroft and Walkhill. That game is set for 3 p.m. Friday.

Also seeing district action today: Dodge vs. Ponca in the opener at 10 a.m. and Snyder vs. Wakefield at 4 p.m. Thursday's fine pitching and explosive hitting on the part of the Wayne club proved too much for the Eagles. Only two Allen batters managed to crack out hits against Wayne's Mike Ginn; Dennis Geiger, a single with one frame was the homer with one out by Rick Ginn. It followed a single by Redel, preceded a single by Les Echtenkamp. Three Wayne batters drew walks in the inning.

Dennis Redel's two hits in three at bats upped his season hitting mark to .571, second highest on the team. Randy Helgren, three for three Thursday, ended the regular season with a .700 hitting mark.

Breaks Jump Mark

Mike Fleer, son of Frank Fleer of Winside, continues his record setting track efforts at the school he attends in Oregon.

The young senior who formerly attended school in Winside bettered his previous state record by clearing the bar at 6-7 1/2 in a meet early this month. That jump bettered the 6-7 mark Fleer had set previously.

Wayne added seven more runs in the bottom of the third frame when Allen's Gary Troth gave up four hits. Highlight of the

Devils' Training Rules Spelled Out

Athletes at Wayne High will have a much better idea next year what they can and cannot do during training periods, thanks to a group of rules drawn up by the coaching staff at the school.

Those rules will go in effect June 1 and will cover all athletes in the school system next year.

It will be the first time in several years that the athletes have a common set of written rules to use during training periods.

The rules, which cover drinking, smoking, late hours, general appearance and team representation, were agreed upon by all the coaches in the system. They are mostly a revision of those used by the coaches last year.

Harold Maciejewski, athletic director of the school, noted that violation of the rules can be reported by any member on the coaching staff.

If an athlete is caught drinking, intoxicated or with alcoholic beverages in his possession, he will be suspended for the first half of the games and meets in all sports during the school year.

Those caught smoking will receive a verbal warning and will not be allowed to take part in a game or meet. The second violation will mean automatic suspension for the school year in all sports and loss of letters or privileges such as attending the athletic banquet or belonging to W Club.

Curfew for athletes next year will be 10:30 p.m. during the week and a "reasonable time" on weekends. The night before a contest the athlete will be required to be home by 10 p.m.

Loss of rights to compete in a game or contest is the penalty for missing curfew.

The rule on general appearance: "An athlete's appearance must be accepted by members of the coaching staff. If it is not, he will not participate until his appearance is acceptable. Long hair and sideburns have no place in sports and will not be tolerated."

1970 Antelope, Deer Seasons, Applications Game Dads' Subjects

Applications for 1970 antelope and deer hunting licenses will be accepted from Nebraska residents with the announcement of the seasons on May 22, according to the Game and Parks Commission.

A public hearing dealing with deer and antelope seasons will be held at 9 a.m. in the East Senate Lounge, Room 2222, at the State Capitol in Lincoln. The Commissioners will listen to recommendations by game biologists and comments from private citizens before convening the regular May meeting to set the seasons.

Among regulations to be decided are the management of the open, the number of permits in each unit, shooting hours and, in the case of deer, the number of either-sex permits to be authorized.

All applications for deer and antelope permits received May 22 through June 19 will be eligible for drawings that will be held if there are more requests than permits in specific management units. The drawings are scheduled for 9 p.m., June 30 at the State Capitol.

Only residents may apply during the initial application period of May 22 through July 19, but beginning July 1, the permits remaining after the drawing will be issued to residents and non-residents alike on a first-come, first-served basis.

"Buddy" applications will again be accepted. As in past years, only two hunters can submit applications together for buddy permits. Each must fill out an application form, but only one check or money order covering fees for both licenses should be included. If two applications arrive together but are covered by separate remittances, they will be considered as separate applications in the drawing.

Limited permits for farmers and ranchers to operate on the land they operate will again be covered. In order to qualify, the farmer or rancher must first have submitted an application for a regular permit during the initial application period, then failed in the drawing.

4 WS Cagers Get 4th Letters

Four Wayne State athletes earned fourth letters in basketball, among 23 getting winter sport letters. Athletic Director LeRoy Simpson said Thursday.

The fourth letters went to Dean Eloffson of Wayne, Paul Emmel, North Bend, Rich McGill, West Point, and Dave Schneider, Blair.

Seniors—Bill Goodwin, Lawton, Ia., and Mick Anderson, Oakland, received their letters in basketball. The other cager monogram winners: Marc Sommerfeld, Otebo, Ia., and Steve Hoffman, Pawnee City, Neb., second letters; Dennis Siefkes, Somers, Ia., first award; Rich Fleischer, Columbus, student manager.

In wrestling, John Yoder, Woodstock, Ia., gained a third letter; John Kietnick, Park Forest, Ill., his second. Six others earned first awards: Vince Emery, Omaha; Lee Hall, Fremont; Tom Mann, Omaha; Ken Monroe, Arlington Heights, Ill.; Harvey Rosenbaum, Albia, and Daryl Stanfield, Columbus, Ind.

In swimming, Rich Draper, Elgin, and Bob Meredith, Chicago, received third letters. Bob Seymour, Grand Island, and Rick Moses, Bellevue, got second letters; Paul Martin, Lincoln, first letter; Terry Welte, Wayne, student manager letter.

Five others who were recommended for letters on athletic performance did not qualify academically. They can qualify later by raising grade averages.

OUT OF THE BLOCKS: These are the finalists in the 220-yard dash during the Husker Conference track meet. Pender's Jim Novak (far right) won the event in :23.6.

Pierce Wins, Novak Shines In Husker Conference Meet

Pierce, displaying considerable overall strength, won the Husker Conference track meet at Wayne State Thursday with a total of 71 1/2 points, easily beating out Lyons for the title. Lyons ended the action with 55 points, followed by Madison with 51, Pender with 50 and Bloomfield with 47 1/2.

Pender's Jim Novak, continuing to provide thrills for avid track fans, ran his second 100.6 century this year. Late in April Novak turned in his first .09.6 mark at the Blue Devils Relays, making him the fastest century runner in the state so far this season. A few others in past years have run the 100 in .09.6 and a select few have clipped a tenth of a second off that in track history in Nebraska.

Novak, not surprisingly, also won the 220-yard dash in a run against a strong wind. He ran that event in :23.6. His 100-yard run was wind-aided.

Other area athletes who turned in top performances during the day's action were Rich Kline of 88, and Kyle Willis, a freshman last year with an 81.

Suhr had an 84, Bornhoft an 86.

Tying for third place in the individual competition were Willis of Wayne and Rich Vranicar of Stanton, both with 81. Willis won that play-off on the fourth hole.

Five golfers—Rick Smith of Laurel, Mike Naprstek of Plainview, Bill Wellner of Plainview, Mark Murphy of Neligh and Bill Elmquist of Oakland—were tied at 82 for fifth place in the tournament. Naprstek won the play-off on the first hole and Wellner took sixth spot on the second hole.

Each member of the winning team received medals; the first six placers in the individual competition also received medals.

Wayne High Continues Golf Prowess

For the fourth year running—exactly as long as the event has been held—the Wayne High golf team walked off the course with the top trophy in the Husker Conference Tournament and with medalist honors.

Wayne High's squad of Jim Sturm, Kyle Willis, Jack Suhr and Todd Bornhoft turned in a 244 total score after playing both nine holes at the Wayne Country Club Friday. The score easily beat out West Point, in second place with a 252 total. Neligh took third with 254.

Local golfer Jim Sturm's 79 tied Steve Selent in West Point for medalist honors after regulation play, but Sturm kept the chain unbroken by winning the play-off on the first hole. Past medalists since the event started were Steve Cromwell, a sophomore in 1967 with a 43 on the nine holes played that day; Chuck Fisher, a junior in 1968 with a

Baseball Tour Set June 2-5

Experience for young baseball players is the goal of the promoters of the coming tour through northcentral Nebraska this spring.

The baseball tour, first ever for Wayne youngsters, will be for members of the Midget and Legion teams. It will include games for both squads at St. Paul, Broken Bow, Aurora and Norfolk. If all goes well this year, the event may become an annual one.

Those games should provide just the thing to reach that goal: St. Paul was the runner-up in the state Midget tournament last year, Broken Bow lost to Aurora in district Legion play last year and Aurora won the Legion tourney in 1969. Norfolk, final stop on the tour, fields a Class A team and should give both Wayne teams plenty of competition.

The tour will begin Tuesday, June 2, with a game against St. Paul. The rest of the schedule: Broken Bow on June 3, Aurora (tentative, depending on completion of its diamond) on June 4 and Norfolk on June 5.

The Wayne youths will leave here early in the morning June 2 and will return late in the evening after the games at Norfolk.

Those who want to make the trip must obtain written permission from their parents. Those slips must be turned into Hank Overin as soon as possible.

Overin, who will be one of the adults accompanying the boys, said the players will be sleeping outside at camping sites each night they are on the road. They will ride in the city's bus which is used for the recreation programs. Overin said two private automobiles with adult drivers may also be taken in order to transport the approximate 30 boys on the tour.

To raise money to help pay the expenses during the trip the boys will hold a house-to-house candy sale in Wayne Saturday, May 23, through Wednesday, May 27. The boxes of candy—taffy, peanut brittle and hard candy—will be sold for $1 each. Three hundred boxes have been ordered, enough to finance the 600-mile trip if all are sold.

The youngsters will be back in Wayne—with experience gained from playing some of the top teams in the state—just a few days before the Ralph Bishop League opens the 1970 season. League play starts Sunday, June 7.

Win at Concordia Ups WS Mark to 19-7

Wayne State hitters continue to rap out hits at a pace—currently .330—that has the team ranking fifth in national NAIA percentages.

Twelve hits, plus tight pitching, gained the Wildcats their nineteenth win of the season Thursday over Concordia at Seward, 7-1. That is the most victories ever in a Wayne season, passing last year's record 16. The second game was another story, however, as Concordia bats came to life for a 3-8 Bulldog win. It was Wayne's seventh loss.

Plowing Bee Held

Men and women combined forces Friday afternoon to hold a plowing bee for Merle D. Roebler, who farms three miles north of Wayne.

Plowing during the day were Wallace Victor, Rollie Victor, Harlan Ruwe, Larry Echtenkamp, Gilbert Krallman, Dean Sorenson, Elmer Schreiber, Edmond Helthold, Howard Gaunt, Wilber Nolte, Rueben Meyer, Don Phipps, Oscar Gemelke, Gary Nelson, Dennis Meyer, Tom Victor and Floyd Luedtke.

Women who helped in serving food were Mrs. Gilbert Krallman, Mrs. Floyd Luedtke, Mrs. Rollie Victor, Mrs. Harlan Ruwe and Mrs. Wallace Victor.

In the losing effort while Concordia hit 13 times.

Coach Fred Pierce credited rookie pitcher Ted Sullivan of Des Moines with a "fantastic job" in the opener, a three-hitter which gave Sullivan a 5-1 record. He also has two saves to his credit and has hurled several other relief efforts that did not count as saves. He has played in 10 games.

Duane Mendlik of Dodge hit a solo homer in the opener, and Gordie Jorgensen blasted a three-run home run in the nightcap, accounting for half of Wayne's second-inning six runs.

Concordia got to Mendlik, Wayne's second-game starter on the mound, with a fourth-inning spree. Bill Goodwin relieved and was charged with the loss as Concordia scored five times in that inning and four more in the fifth. Wayne added two runs in the seventh, falling short of tying by one.

First baseman Marty Goring of Tekamah hit four for eight in the pair, lifting his percentage to .432. That is tops among four regulars batting over .400 and nine at .300 and up.

One out of seven of the teenagers who wanted to work in the summer of 1968 failed to find a job. Many of those who remained unemployed were unable to continue school and became drop-outs.

Refresher Course for Nurses to Be Aired

A special televised refresher course for nurses will be presented on KCAD-TV, Channel 9, in cooperation with Western Iowa Tech and area hospitals. It was announced by Dr. Robert Cox, director of adult education of WIT.

The course, which begins today (Monday) at 9:30 a.m., consists of 25 half-hour lessons produced by the Department of Nursing, Russell Sage College, Troy, N. Y., and WIMT, Schenectady, N. Y., and presented on video tape by the State University of New York. Special "listening posts" and discussion groups will be organized locally to supplement the TV presentation. Dr. Cox said.

Entitled, "Return to Nursing," the television refresher course is designed to upgrade employed nurses and to help inactive graduate nurses resume their profession.

Opportunities will be scheduled to follow-up the TV presentations with weekly discussion sessions in Sioux City. Nurses will serve as discussion leaders to help with specific questions and to review program highlights. Two-hour discussion sessions will meet once each week during the five-week series.

Roads Department Plans Public Meet

The Nebraska Board of Public Roads Classifications and Standards and the State Highway Commission will hold one of a series of statewide public meetings for county and municipal representatives at 1:30 p.m. in the Norfolk National Guard Armory, May 20.

Wayne County employees who will attend the meeting include commissioners John Surber, George Stolz and Roy Davis and Clerk Norris Weible.

A kick-off meeting was held at the Nebraska Department of Roads Auditorium in Lincoln, May 8. Other meetings will take place at Scottsbluff May 12; McCook May 13; North Platte May 14; Alnsworth May 18; Grand Island May 19, and Millard for those in the Omaha area May 21.

Classification criteria; design, construction and maintenance standards; the one and six year highway-street improvement plans, and a standardized system of annual reporting will be topics of discussion at the meetings. Department personnel will also take part in the sessions.

The meetings were organized to meet the requirements of LB 1492 passed by the 1969 Legislature.

Area Corn, Soybean Growers Needed for Production Contests

Corn and soybean production contests are being initiated this season in Nebraska for the first time, according to Duane Foote, secretary of the Nebraska Grain Improvement Association.

The state contests are being sponsored by the Association in cooperation with the Nebraska Crop Improvement Association, the Lincoln Grain Exchange and the Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service, Foote said. The Nebraska Soybean Association is an additional sponsor of the soybean production contest.

Objectives of the contests are educational in nature, Foote said. He listed these specific goals: —To demonstrate the amount of corn and soybeans that can be produced per acre in Nebraska under efficient management.

—To stimulate the early adoption of new and improved production practices.

—To disseminate information regarding practices necessary to produce consistent high-corn and soybean yields.

—To recognize superior achievement in corn and soybean production in Nebraska.

Farmers will compete in irrigated and non-irrigated divisions. Growers producing highest yields in each division in both the corn and soybean contests will win cash awards. Ribbons also will be awarded to the 10 highest placings in each division of the contests.

Special awards will go to all soybean contestants producing 50 or more bushels per acre. Similar awards will be presented to irrigated corn growers producing 175 or more bushels per acre, and to corn producers on non-irrigated land producing 125 or more bushels per acre.

Each entrant must designate an area of at least five acres from a field which is at least 10 acres in size in either the corn or soybean contest. If the contestant chooses, the entire field may be used for the contest, Foote explained.

State organizations sponsoring the contests are urging counties to conduct their own contests in conjunction with state competition, Foote stated. Local committees will be responsible for measuring crop contest entry areas, and for supervision of harvesting and weighing of the grain. The Lincoln Grain Exchange will determine the moisture content of the corn and soybean samples harvested by the contestants.

From information obtained from the counties, the Extension Service will calculate yields and, along with other sponsors of the state contest, determine the state winners.

Rules for each of the contests and the necessary forms for entering the contests will be available at county Extension offices. Growers wishing to participate must enter the contests by July 1, with their county agent. An entry fee of $2.00 will be required of each contestant.

Social Security Head Says Office Closer With New System

Your social security office is as close as your telephone. Thus Robert Peley, social security district manager in Norfolk, described the latest technique developed by his office to provide more convenient service to residents of the Wayne area.

"We are now equipped to handle most social security 'business' by telephone," he explained. "We can help fill out your application for benefits in many instances over the phone and then mail the form to you for signature; we can accept change of address information from beneficiaries, and, of course, we can answer specific questions about the so-

Minimum Tillage Interest Growing Fast

The number of farm operators who are using minimum tillage methods of corn planting has increased considerably in the last two years, according to Wayne Fisher, area agricultural extension engineer at the University of Nebraska Northeast Station. Many other operators have shown an interest in adopting a method of reducing their tillage requirements.

Fisher states that the objective of corn planting is to firmly place the proper number of seeds in an organized manner to the proper depth in warm moist soil. Any other effort beyond this will only add to operational costs.

Fisher notes that farm operators and industry as well as universities have learned much about these new planting concepts from past experience. Herbicides have improved the chances of doing a good job of controlling weeds in this type of tillage.

It is generally recognized that it takes a higher level of management and some experience before an operator will become satisfied with a minimum tillage system of planting corn. Fisher points out that operators who have adopted this system are highly pleased with it, reporting lower operating costs, better utilization of time, higher plant emergence, good weed control, erosion protection, moisture conservation and better than average yields.

Alfalfa Information Available in Circular

Nebraska alfalfa growers now have ready access to information compiled for 59 varieties of alfalfa previously studied or on test now in the state, with strengths and weaknesses as to disease and insect resistance noted.

Extension Circular 70-187, "Alfalfa Varieties in Nebraska," also presents the relative performance of the alfalfa varieties in comparison to Ranger, a variety developed by the Nebraska Agricultural Experiment Station and the United States Department of Agriculture.

Performance data include relative forage yield, winter hardiness, soil reaction, fall growth habit and recovery after cutting.

The circular is not meant as a complete guide for growing alfalfa, and farmers should seek additional information on seed availability, seed cost and reputable dealerships.

Farmers interested in further details about alfalfa varieties can obtain a copy of the circular at the county Extension office.

social security program, including Medicare. Experience has proven telephone service is less costly to the government and provides better service.

Peley suggested that people who have business with the social security office take advantage of this telephone service. "Call first," he urges. "It may save you a trip to the office." The number at Norfolk is 351-1595.

The Wayne (Nebr.) Herald, Monday, May 11, 1970

making black smoke, turning the residue under and the moisture up, may give the operator a sense of satisfaction at the time but it will not make corn in the bin or money in the bank. Seed in a nicely prepared but dry seed bed will have difficulty germinating, he says.

The rainfall pattern of eastern Nebraska is always a threat to open soil in the spring of the year. With heavy rains, soil losses can be high, the surface of the field damaged by rilling and replanting of corn may be necessary.

Farm operators who are interested in trying a minimum tillage method within the next few years should make some observations of operators who have been using the method for several years. Fisher recommends that those interested, look over fields at planting time, at emergence, early cultivation and at harvest. The Northeast Station east of Concord has been using the till-plant system of minimum tillage with good success for the past five years. Fisher invites interested operators to tour the Station, observe the operation and visit with the operation manager, Vern Fegley, concerning the corn raising operations on the Station.

Special Training Being Offered to Area Farm Youth

Youths 14 to 16 years of age are restricted from doing many farm jobs on farms other than their parents' because of restrictions made by the Department of Labor. Included in these restrictions is operation of a tractor of over 20 pto horsepower.

However, with special training these youth can receive exemption certificates which will exclude them from these restrictions.

As part of the 4-11 Youth Program, the county Extension agents in northeast Nebraska will present a training program on June 8, 11 and 12 which will include that special training. The course will be given at the National Guard Armory in Norfolk from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Those interested in receiving this training or needing more information should contact their local county Extension agent.

There is a $4.00 registration fee, payable in advance.

Health-Tips

Here is a health tip from the Nebraska Medical Association:

For minor burns from a stove or matches, quick dousing in cold water seems to promote faster pain relief and faster healing. However, the serious burn always requires immediate treatment by a physician. For small burns the cold water treatment, started immediately, apparently works better than ointments or other remedies. Even a small burn from a match or light bulb can be very painful. The cold water helps to relieve the pain quickly and allows the healing process to start working.

REA— 35 Years of PROGRESS

Saturday, May 11, 1935 — just another spring day to millions of Americans. The send-a-dime chain letter craze is at its height. Rear Admiral Byrd returns from another trip to Antarctica, and the Cleveland Indians and New York Giants lead the major baseball leagues.

And on May 11, 1935, President Franklin D. Roosevelt issues Executive Order 7037 creating the Rural Electrification Administration. His action promises emancipation from drudgery and darkness for millions of rural Americans.

The President instructs the new agency "to initiate, formulate, administer, and supervise a program of approved projects with respect to the generation, transmission, and distribution of electric energy in rural areas."

One year later, legislation is enacted establishing REA as a permanent agency of the Government and rural electrification on an area coverage basis is under way. In 1949, Congress amends the Rural Electrification Act providing for a similar program for the extension and improvement of rural telephone service — and rural telephone service on an area coverage basis is under way.

On its 35th anniversary the idea that brought quality electric and telephone service to the U.S. countryside now reports this good score:

ELECTRIC PROGRAM —

- More than 400 uses of electricity at work in rural areas.
- 4.2 million consumers in 2,700 of the Nation's 3,000 counties.
- $1.1 billion loaned to meet consumers' needs.
- $3.1 billion returned to the U.S. Treasury in principal and interest payments.
- Losses to Government in foreclosures, $44,500.
- Use of electricity doubling every five years for industrial purposes — every seven years for residential use. (This compares with a doubling every 10 years for the total electric industry.)
- Systems engage in rural development to bring about a better rural-urban balance in population and economic opportunity.
- Systems search for a source of supplemental financing as applications for loan funds exceed funds available from Congress. Cooperatives form own financial institution, the National Rural Utilities Cooperative Finance Corporation (N.R.U.C.F.C.).

The Wayne County Public Power District is part of the Rural Electrification Administration past — and proud to take its place in REA's future. It was organized in 1938 and received its first REA loan in 1939. Initial lines were energized on Nov. 17, 1939. The system has invested $2,410,882.00 in REA loan funds and operates 1112 miles of lines in 2 counties, serving 2450 consumers.

The number of dollars cannot convey the achievement of the Wayne County Public Power District. It is a major part of the local community, lending its facilities and leadership to local community endeavors. It is repaying its loan to the Government, on time — and ahead of time — with interest . . . Besides this for every dollar the District has invested in its facilities the consumer has invested at least four and many times more, and most of this was invested on the local mainstays.

Local Pep Club Elects Officers

Wayne High School Pep Club last week elected officers for the next school year. The new president for the organization will be Kathryn Hepburn, assisted by Joan Meyer as vice-president. The secretary will be Debbie Keri, with Betty Fisher serving as the new treasurer. Representing the Pep Club on the student council will be Chris Peterson.

Two members from each class were also chosen to serve on the Pep Club council. The senior representatives will be Nancy Meyer and Mary Ellis. Joanie Garvin and Cinda Owens are the junior representatives, Barbara Schwartz and Theresa Helthold, the sophomore representatives. The new officers and council members will be installed at the first meeting next August.

It takes about five million workers to assemble, process and distribute the nation's farm-food products.

Elect SIGNE KIM LAURIDSEN
University of Nebraska Regent
The University must not become a platform for radicals. There must be greater control over University spending. Why? a. The University will spend over $80 million dollars in the next two years. b. In 60-65 the average faculty member brought less than 10 credit hrs./wk. c. The average professor received over $16,000 yearly salary. The University should not be concentrated totally in Lincoln.

Neighbors Help Wakefield Man In Plowing Bee

Thirty-four friends and neighbors showed up at the Pat Bengston farm Thursday afternoon near Wakefield for a plowing bee. Bengston was reportedly stricken with a heart attack in March and is recuperating at the home after being discharged from the hospital.

Taking part in the plowing were Jack Park, Harold Holm, Myron Olson, Clarence Zaher, Jim Anderson, Elwin Fredrickson, Fred Lundin, Walden Kraemer, Kenneth Schroeder, Merlyn Holm, Ronnie Weststrand, Paul Everingham, Elmer Carlson, Laurence Nelson, Gene Lundin, Weldon Mortenson, Burnell Grose, Francis Muller, Joe Ericson, Marvin Borg, William Borg, Jim Stout, Thaine Woodward, Alvern Anderson, Bud Erlandson, Bud Simpson, Jim Woodward, Gordon Bard, Elvis Olson, Larry Baher, Gaylen Fischer, Melvin Lundin, Albert Walden Kraemer, Elmer Carlson, Mrs. Walden Kraemer and Mrs. Olaf Nelson.

Social Security Q & A

Q. When does a person receiving social security benefits have to file an annual report of earnings with the Social Security Administration?

A. An annual report of earnings must be filed by April 15, after the end of any year in which the beneficiary: (1) received benefits for one or more months, and (2) was under age 72 for one or more months, and (3) earned more than $1,830.00.

200 at Orientation

About 200 people attended the annual eighth grade orientation program at Wayne High Thursday night.

Among the teachers who gave short talks to the group were Mrs. Mary Ann Cottrell on the services of the school nurse, Mrs. Bev Merriman on the learning center, Ron Dalton on music, Mike Mallette on drivers education and industrial arts, Darrel Hofer on business, Mrs. Jacqueline Peters on home economics, Rick Fabricus on German, Clarence Lippert on social studies, Bob Porter on science and mathematics, Lena Macleier on English and Harold Maclejewski on physical education and athletic program.

Each family attending the meeting received handouts containing registration forms which should be filled out and return to the school within a week, medical forms to fill out and return to the school and a booklet explaining the functions of the school guidance counselor.

Receives Scholarship

Janet Wacker, a senior at Wayne High School, is the winner of an annual scholarship provided by the Wayne County Public Power District for study at Wayne State College. She is pictured with Ed Colstock, WCCPD manager. The two-term scholarship goes to a son or daughter of a power district subscriber. Miss Wacker's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wacker, Route 1, Wayne. She plans to major in home economics or go into extension work. At Wayne High she is a member of the Pep Club, FHA and yearbook staff.

out any signs of spoilage there was lost as this corn was fed, permitting some heating and molding to develop during the test period.

The rate of feeding was only about one inch from the surface of the silo each day. Feeding two to three inches of high moisture corn daily is considered enough to keep it "fresh", Tolman explains.

High-moisture storage of corn permits the advantages of early harvest during favorable weather and before heavy field losses occur without the cost of drying, many farmers report. These advantages could be offset by greater storage losses, Tolman notes. At the close of a second experiment now in progress figures on dry matter loss with the various storage methods tested will be available.

just into Wayne or Carroll, but throughout the entire county. Winside is served by Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. Mike Smith, manager of the Bell in Wayne, is planning to meet with the Winside Community Club May 25 to discuss the feasibility of extended-area service.

Accountant Sleckmeyer told the group there were approximately 12,000 telephone calls in 1969 between Carroll and Wayne. He said, "Our company is willing to establish EAS if we can get additional rates from customers in order to show a profit on the additional investment." Sleckmeyer said he thought EAS could be implemented between Wayne and Carroll for about $1.85 per customer per month over the customer's regular bill. He said the figure was based on the 276 customers served on the Carroll exchange and the costs of the equipment. It would be necessary to add to provide EAS.

Attorney Ken Olds summed up the group's reaction to the $1.85 figure saying, "I find it hard to believe $1.85, or a 40 per cent increase, is reasonable."

Chairman Phil Olson suggested that representatives from each interested Wayne County community meet with representatives from Eastern Nebraska Telephone and Northwestern Bell Telephone companies to see what can be worked out. Olson pointed out that Eastern's $1.85 figure was

The Golden Rod Hills CAP has an annual budget of nearly $1 million for various anti-poverty programs in five counties, including Wayne County.

Wednesday, four new members to the Wayne County CAP were chosen. Monte McLaws, Mrs. Bodine Russell, Don Reed and Francis Moul. Two past members returned to the board were Mrs. Delia Schwartz and the Rev. Robert L. Swanson of Carroll, chairman.

The election at the Senior Citizen's Center will choose the final two members of the board, from four candidates. The candidates will be identified by this Friday. Eldon Bull, center director, will handle the election procedures. The first meeting of the reactivated board will be at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 20, in the community center above the Wayne Fire Hall.

Reorganization Hearings May 18

Public hearings have been set at 10 a.m. and 10:15 a.m. May 18 in the Wayne County superintendent's office at the courthouse for the purpose of determining the validity and sufficiency of signatures on petitions which would merge various school districts.

The 10 a.m. hearing concerns the merger of District 65 with Districts 51, District 17 and District 95R.

If signatures are validated then the merger will occur and the petition is filed in the superintendent's office.

The Wayne County School Reorganization held a hearing April 30 on these mergers. Supt. Porter said there were no protests.

Social Security Q & A

Q. I am still working fulltime, but my doctor told me I may soon become unable to work and completely disabled. If this happens, when should I file a claim for disability benefits?

A. It is important to file a claim soon after you become disabled. Back payments are limited to the 12 month period before the date of application. If filing an application is delayed you may lose some back pay. Early filing also allows more timely processing of your claim.

Social Security Q & A

Q: My husband died several years ago and I have been receiving benefits for myself and our three minor children. If I remarry, what happens to the benefits payable to me and the children?

A: Your benefit will end with the month you remarry. The benefits for the children will continue to be payable.

FACTS ABOUT AAtrex

Unlike any other herbicide, you can spray AAtrex brand of atrazine pre-plant or pre-emergence. With liquid fertilizer to weed 'n feed your corn in one trip over the field. Or post-emerge up to when weeds are 1 1/2-inches high.

Once moisture or a shallow cultivation has moved it into the weed root zone, you're set for control of weeds and grasses, even foxtail and fall grasses, right up to harvest.

And, if you're in eastern Nebraska and want to rotate corn with soybeans, check the label and plan a management program with AAtrex that allows you to do just that.

Perhaps you'll spray AAtrex®. Maybe you won't. Whatever you do, this is what you should know before you decide.

In Nebraska, most fields are infested with foxtail and other annual grasses. Broadleaf weeds, too. AAtrex is the one herbicide that's proved to control most annual grasses and weeds. Right up to harvest.

In fact, the proper rate of AAtrex supplemented by cultivation will even take care of fall panicum, crabgrass and barnyardgrass.

Besides, check around and you'll find that today AAtrex is your most economical corn herbicide.

All these reasons. They're why you should spray AAtrex this spring. And why you'll be glad you did.

Fletcher-Sherry can Custom Spread AAtrex for you. Call 375-1262 or 375-2687 for your spraying.

ABH/S Earl D. Rasmussen, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Rasmussen of Dixon, returned home Thursday after serving of the coast of Viet Nam for the past year.

He recently received the following citation:

"Plane Captain of the Month for consistent good work in personal initiative in performance of your duties despite long working hours in inclement weather. You have been a valuable asset to VF-24 and to the efforts of the Seventh Fleet in Southeast Asia. R. J. Caviche, commanding officer."

Rasmussen will be returning to California at the end of his 30-day furlough.

U. S. Air Force Sergeant Richard R. Murkle, son of Mrs. Marie Gillham, Pilger, has arrived for duty at Forbes AFB, Kan. Sergeant Murkle, a supply inventory specialist, is assigned to the 38th Tactical Airlift Squadron, a unit of the Tactical Air Command which provides combat units for air support of U. S. ground forces. He previously served at Kwang Ju AB, Republic of Korea.

The sergeant is a 1965 graduate of Pilger High School. His wife, Dixie, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Andregg, Eagle, Idaho.

The sergeant's father, Roy Murkle, lives at North Hollywood, Calif.

Airman Apprentice Jerome Mittelstaedt, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Mittelstaedt of Hoskins, formation on filling out the local plan books which have to be sent into the State Department of Education by July 1.

Personnel from Wisner-Pilger, Emerson-Hubbard, Laurel, Crafton and Norfolk attended the meeting.

W.V.F.D. Officers

Elected to offices in the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department meeting early last week were, from left to right, Cletus Shure, vice-president; Bill Kugler, first assistant chief; Paul Rogge, president; Marvin Mardorst, treasurer; Larry Maase, second assistant chief; Norb Brugger, secretary; and Cliff Pinkelman, chief. Fireman Brugger has been in the department 39 years and has been secretary 38 of those years. He has never missed a meeting. The firemen voted unanimously for his being secretary another term. Ivan Creighton, chief; Harvey Brasch, second assistant chief; and John Hochstein, vice-president, were outgoing officers.

Former Resident Of Hoskins Dies May 1 at Norfolk

Former Resident Of Hoskins Dies May 1 at Norfolk

Funeral services for Gustav Gall, 71, Norfolk, were held Monday at the Christ Lutheran Church. Mr. Gall was found dead beside his car northeast of Norfolk on May 1, 1970.

The Rev. Leland Settgast officiated at the rites. Tom Hill sang, accompanied by John Moritz. Pallbearers were Clarence Boje, Ruben Ellenberger, Henry Ellenberger, Alfred Nathan, John Nordene and Ed Kropp. Burial was in Pleasant Valley Cemetery, south of Norfolk.

Gustav Gall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Gall, was born August 23, 1898 at Madison. Mr. Gall farmed near Hoskins before moving into Hoskins, where at one time he was employed at the Pfeil Garage. He later moved to Norfolk.

He was preceded in death by his parents, his first wife, Emma, and one brother. Survivors include his widow, the former Ida Wittebel; four daughters, Mrs. Lorin Volk, Omaha, Mrs. Kenneth Marr, Schuyler, Mrs. Lawrence Borgeh, Grand Island, and Mrs. Jerome Wockmann, Norfolk; 13 grandchildren, one great grandchild and two sisters, Mrs. Theodore Christensen, Burwell, and Mrs. Otto Stuckwisch, Norfolk.

Social Security Q & A

Q. I have hired a maid to work in my private home. She said I am required to report her wages and pay social security tax. Is this true?

A. All employees in a private home are covered by social security if they are paid cash wages of $50 or more in a calendar quarter. As an employer, you are required to report the wages to the Internal Revenue Service once each calendar quarter, and to give each employee a yearly statement of the total wages paid and the amount of social security tax deducted from the wages.

Foster Home Setup For Adults Approved By State Department

Norfolk Regional Center has been approved by the Nebraska State Welfare Department as a participating agency in the selection and certification of adult foster homes. Purpose of this newly developed program is to provide homes for persons who are unable to live independently and could benefit from a family situation.

There are men and women range in age from 18 to 88 who are being considered by the Center, including people from 16 different Northeast Nebraska counties.

Under the adult foster home program the guest would become an active member of the family and be included in family activities, such as shopping, recreation and church attendance. The program permits the foster home family to have from one to three guests.

Under the regulations set up by the state Department of Public Welfare, the Norfolk Center has the responsibility of conducting home studies regarding fire safety, sanitation and personal characteristics of those involved. It also has the responsibility of helping potential guests select a home which will be suitable to their needs.

Under the direction of the state, the program is now being expanded statewide. County welfare divisions and other social service agencies are developing the program in their own localities. The social service department of the Norfolk Center may be contacted at Box 1209, Norfolk, for further information.

SMILE! Then everybody will wonder what you're up to.
