

Wayne Tops 5,000 People

The city of Wayne has gained over 1,000 people since 1960, a report from the Census Bureau regional office at St. Paul reveals.

The report, telephoned to the Wayne Chamber of Commerce late last week, indicates that the city has grown from its 4,217 population in 1960 to its present population of 5,459—an increase of 1,242 residents between the two official countings.

Figures given on Wayne County reveal that the county population has also increased—from the 9,959 in 1960 to the 10,481 today. That's an increase of 522 people during a time of unabated shifting of people from rural to urban areas.

The figures are tentative and are subject to change, according to the St. Paul office.

SAFE OPENED. Lyle Cunningham, owner of Cunningham Hardware at Carroll, exhibits the back portion of a safe, door which was ripped off during a burglary sometime Wednesday night or Thursday morning. Thieves knocked off the safe's dial, used some type of heavy hammer to open the door and then ripped the back of the door off in entering the safe containing around $450.

Carroll Firms Looted; Losses May Hit $2,000

Thieves entered the village of Carroll either late Wednesday night or early Thursday morning and burglarized five business firms after forcing their way in through the front door at each place. The combined loss of cash and merchandise from the five firms has been estimated near $2,000.

No charges have been filed as yet by the Wayne County Sheriff's office which investigated, assisted by a criminal investigator from the State Safety Patrol in Norfolk.

Burglars pried open the front doors of the Cunningham Hardware, McLean Oil Co., Grandfield Elevator, Hansen Grocery and the V. L. Bar. Front entrances to the firms are well lighted, however Carroll has no night watchman.

The Sheriff's office said Friday that the burglars peeled a safe at the Cunningham Hardware and took about $450 from it. The firm also lost a Sorona saddle and a bride. Upon arriving at work Thursday morning, Lyle Cunningham noted the safe had been opened, checks were strewn over the floor and a circular chest of drawers containing a variety of nails had been dumped off a table. Nails were intermixed and scattered in the area of the safe. Cunningham said it was the eleventh time his business had been burglarized in 18 years.

After bending the metal front door at the McLean Oil Co., burglars took about 18 tires, a battery charger, a pneumatic impact wrench and two six-volt batteries, according to Howard McLean, owner.

Sixty-five cartons of cigarettes and $8 in cash were stolen from the Hansen Grocery, the Sheriff's office reported. Daryl Grandfield, owner of the Grandfield Elevator reported thieves took about $10 and a camera from his firm.

County Short on Funds For Free High Tuition

By Merlin Wright

As plaintiffs meet with District Judge Merritt C. Warren today (Monday) at 10 a.m. in the Wayne County Courtroom for a hearing on a motion for a new trial regarding non-resident tuition rates, the area schools are facing what at best will be a temporary economic squeeze. Wayne County does not have sufficient funds to pay claims for non-resident high school tuition.

Treasurer Balde reports there is less than $60,000 available to pay 85 per cent of the following claims: Laurel, $7,650; Wakefield, $9,660.70; Wayne, $47,581.41; Norfolk, $8,400; Winfield, $14,000; Pender, $7,000; Randolph, $8,550; Winsor-Pilger, $4,500 and Pierce, $4,279.77.

The county has about $58,000 to pay off claims amounting to more than $72,000. Tuition funds are ordinarily paid to the schools by July 1.

Mrs. Gladys Porter, superintendent of rural schools, said Tuesday there were 255 students in Wayne County qualifying for the non-resident tuition last semester. Schools accept the students for the term and then fill out a claim sheet at the end of the semester listing the number of days the pupil had at the school and the amount of money needed per student. City Well Represented At Mayor's Conference

Wayne was probably the best represented of all Nebraska communities during a mayor's conference at Grand Island recently.

Attending the meeting were Wayne's new mayor, Ken Hall, and the four new councilmen: Harvey Brasch, Pat Gross, Darrel Fuelberth and Keith Mosley. Also attending was councilman R. H. Banister. Only councilman not attending was E. G. Smith.

4-H Contest Set Tonight

The annual northeast area livestock judging contest is to be held at the Northeast Station beginning at 6:30 tonight (Monday).

All 4-H livestock club members are eligible to compete. Judging classes will include cattle, sheep and hogs. Oral placing reasons will be given on one class of beef.

The four highest scoring individuals from each county will be eligible for state fair competition.

The Northeast Station is located one mile east of Concord.

Local Senior Citizens Center Praised

The Nebraska Advisory Committee on Aging has announced final approval of a second year continuation grant of $3,367 to the city of Wayne.

The funds will be used to continue a program of social service and recreational activities for senior citizens in the Wayne area.

In announcing the award, Everett Phillips, chairman of the Advisory Committee on Aging, commended Wayne for its leadership in initiating and continuing the senior citizens program. Phillips noted that the project has made real progress in the past year and pledged his organization's continued cooperation and assistance.

The Wayne project is one of 25 such undertakings which have received financial assistance from the Committee on Aging. Programs currently in operation include all types of activities from home nursing care to a statewide effort to initiate needed social services in local public housing authorities.

Noting that Nebraska ranks third in the nation in proportional number of senior citizens, Committee Executive Director Jensen stated, "We can only hope that more and more communities will be following the example of Wayne in providing other persons a community focal point for initiating services and opportunities to be of service."

The state official noted that Wayne's identification as a leader in programs for the elderly will take on added dimension as Nebraska plans for the 1971 White House Conference on Aging.

Pointing out that Governor Tiegan has called for a Governor's Conference on Aging to be convened in May of next year, Jensen noted that the Committee on Aging will be examining the status of Nebraska's elderly population to determine what additional programs and services are needed.

"Particularly useful to us in this process," Jensen says, "will be a review of the accomplishments of the model projects which have been initiated under the Committee's grant program."

Also as a part of Conference activities, the Committee on Aging has been directed by the governor to convene a series of public hearings to give community officials and other persons themselves an opportunity to speak to the needs of Nebraska and the nation's senior citizens.

Murder Case Goes to Court

A preliminary hearing will be held Tuesday morning at Ponca to determine whether Richard Hamilton of Allen, charged with first-degree murder in the death of John Smith of Allen, should be bound over to district court.

The hearing will be before Dixon County Judge Walter Malcom and will offer the prosecutors in the case a chance to present their evidence—if that evidence warrants, the judge can bind the case over to district court. Presenting evidence will be Merle Kingsbury of Ponca, Dixon County attorney, and Rodney Smith and Wayne Boyd, both of South Sioux City, appointed to aid Kingsbury in the case.

The preliminary hearing will begin at 10 a.m. in the Dixon County courthouse and is open to the public.

Hamilton has been charged with murder in the shooting death of young Smith. Hamilton is 18 years old; Smith was 16 when he was shot to death with a .22 caliber bullet the first day of May.

The number of summons handed out was not given by the county attorney. However, he said they were "numerous."

Kidney Fund Near $6,000

Eleven new donors have increased the fund for the purchase and running of the artificial kidney machine for Wayne to $5,771.21. That's an increase of nearly $100 over the $5,780 figure which had been collected by the first of this month.

The 11 new donors increase the total number of people, business places and organizations which have contributed to the fund to 422.

Latest donors include A. F. Gulliver, Wayne Education Association, Adolph Clausen, Mildred Thompson, Beulah Thompson, John Rebenendorf, Nancy Powers, Ralph Barclay and three who wished to remain anonymous.

The fund has already produced enough money to purchase an artificial kidney machine for the city. It is now being used by Pete Haberer, the person for whom the fund was originally started. See KIDNEY FUND, page 5

Town Short of Water Due to Faulty Pump

Winslow residents faced a water shortage problem last week as the village board of trustees requested them to conserve the usage of water since a faulty pump could not keep up with the demand.

The trustees asked that residents not water lawns, gardens, flowers, or use water for any other unnecessary use.

A village spokesman said Thursday that it was not known when the pump would be repaired and functioning.

Wayne-Carroll School Climbs to Top of Ladder

The Wayne-Carroll school system moved into the "upper crust" among Nebraska schools last week when it received AA classification.

The classification means that the school system is among the best of the 331 systems in the state. Only 26 other systems across Nebraska have been given the prestigious double A rating.

Approval of the Wayne-Carroll system for the advance in rating was made Friday by the State Board of Education. The group's decision was based on the recommendation for advancement by the accreditation committee of Education. On that committee are Gordon Nuernberger and Lyle Seymour of Wayne.

Said Lynn Roberts of Carroll, president of the Wayne-Carroll school board: "They approved what we have been striving to reach for a long time."

"Roberts noted that the advancement in accreditation is proof to the people living in the district that their tax money is not being spent foolishly. The decision to raise the school system, he said, shows that the system is moving in the right direction in its attempts to provide quality education. This is an honor that must go to the whole school system, he noted; and not to any one facet such as the school board.

Three other schools were approved for the AA rating during Friday's meeting: Broken Bow, Chadron and Archbishop Ryan Memorial of Omaha. The Omaha school is the first nonpublic school in Nebraska to receive the ranking.

Wayne, with an enrollment of just over 1,100—is one of the smallest school systems in the state to receive the double A classification. Among those which have the rank are Alliance, Fremont, Kearney, Lincoln, Halston, Scottsbluff, Omaha Westside and York.

"The Wayne-Carroll school system certainly must rank well above most accredited systems in Nebraska and therefore it is our recommendation that this school system be reclassified to AA," said the committee in its recommendation to the State Board of Education.

Noting that the system is operating on a very commendable level in all areas of work, the committee pointed to seven "unusually fine qualities" in the system. Those qualities: —Administrative and super-

Allen Vets a 'Ringing' Success

American Legion members in and around Allen are probably feeling a bit of pride over their latest achievement.

That achievement: the Legion Post has been named the recipient of the William "Bill" Galbraith Membership Bell for the second time in the past few years. The bell goes to the Legion Post in eastern Nebraska which has the highest membership in relation to its quota.

The Floyd Gleason Post 131 at Allen has a total membership of 75—considerably over the quota of 44 assigned it. That high membership earned the Post the right to the traveling bell for a full year, an honor the Post earned just a few years ago.

Commander Jule Swanson said the Post is proud of winning the See ALLEN VETS, page 5

4-H'ers Packing Bags for Trip to D.C.

Twenty-eight 4-H'ers from Wayne, Cedar and Dixon Counties will be among the 45 club members from Northeast Nebraska who will leave this Friday to attend a Citizenship Short Course at the National 4-H Center in Washington, D. C.

Over 400 Nebraska 4-H members will be attending the annual affair throughout the summer, according to Wes Antes, State 4-H leader at the University of Nebraska.

The Northeast Nebraska contingent, which also includes club members from Dakota and Thurston Counties, will leave Friday evening at seven o'clock by chartered bus from the University of Nebraska Northeast Station near Concord. Accompanying the group will be Roy Stohler, Dixon County agricultural agent, and his wife.

The group will spend one week in Washington, D. C., and then will embark on a week's sight-seeing tour which will take them to the Gettysburg battlefield in Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, New York City, Niagara Falls and Chicago. The group will attend a baseball game at Comiskey Park during the stop in Chicago.

Delegates to the short course are selected within the county and go as a county citizenship team. Each team has a respondent. See 4-H'ERS, page 5

Do They Have Our Support

Among the many organizations we may avidly support, do the law officers in Wayne and Wayne County get their share of our assistance?

Crime can be controlled by alert citizens working with a well-supported police department. This has been proven over and over. Do we ever in any way let city, county, and state law enforcement officers know we are behind them in apprehending lawbreakers? Or is the only time they ever hear from us is when we are either in trouble or have a complaint?

Half of Wayne County's population lives in the city of Wayne and there is an increasing demand upon our staff of six policemen. Have you ever been inside the local police station, at least recently? Not many of you were in there at one time as there is so little room.

How can residents continue putting a greater demand for services upon the city police department and yet continue to fail to provide adequate operational quarters? Whether one is planning a home by the square foot, a hen house, a pig pen, a classroom, a playground or park, adequate space for getting a job done is all important.

If you were the head of an industry considering the possibility of locating in Wayne, and you noted that a town of about 5,000 which hosts 3,000 college students for the major portion of a year has confined police operations inside of an extremely small cubicle and expects the city clerk to carry on a several million-dollar business inside of a jammed side-office at the city auditorium, what would be your impression? Are these the signs of an energetic, progressive community?

Wayne has a good police force and as we become a first class city, and as the crime rate continues, the police department needs to be located in quarters that will provide the utmost in efficiency. The same with the city clerk's operations.

Can we rally to do something about the situation? —MMW.

Need of Night Watchmen

Thieves broke into five business firms in Carroll some time late Wednesday night or early Thursday morning and made a sizeable haul.

Need for having a night watchman on duty is once again being talked about in Carroll as it has been previously following a burglary. Advocates of having a man on duty point out the many times thieves have entered the village and helped themselves. Those opposing a watchman note there are still crimes committed in communities having policemen.

We feel to reason that since towns having marshalls still have crimes committed in them, therefore there isn't any need of having a marshall, is the saying why put up any traffic control signs because even in those towns having stop signs there are still collisions. Stop signs prevent a lot of accidents although they do not eliminate all of them. Night watchmen and police prevent many crimes although their work does not eliminate all of them.

If thieves break through doors into business firms, then why even lock them up in the first place? It is obvious that locks have a definite role in prohibiting even more crime, and so does a night watchman or police.

Thieves will undoubtedly continue helping themselves as long as they can do so without much fear of being interrupted. We feel everyone living in Wayne County has a responsibility to everyone else in the county in cooperating to halt crime. We have a good sheriff's office and crew, but it is impossible for them to be everywhere at once.

It is our hope that the advocates of getting a night marshall, whether it be in Carroll, Sholes, Alton, or Hoskins, will accomplish that goal.

Most communities have fire departments, although it doesn't stop all the fires. Would it not be as logical to have a marshall or watchman, even though it might not stop 100 per cent of the break-ins? —MMW.

Humor is good for the soul. It makes little differences whether one lives in Allen, Wayne or Hoskins, a hearty laugh can help chase the blues away. Most everyone's job nowadays has enough rough spots in it that an occasional chuckle helps lighten the load. We like to laugh with people and not at them.

The following item brightened the day. It came in as news with a note attached. You folks at Allen will likely get a special chuckle out of it. "The Allen Commercial Club will not have the old-fashioned 4th of July celebration this year in Allen. The decision was made because of the laying of the sewer lines in town. The streets and roads are closed on some stretches in parts of town and with deep ditches it was feared an accident could occur with so many attending." A note to the editor states: "They may celebrate when the sewer is finished and the mess is over. It has been suggested that they blow the fire whistle and everyone flush their stools at the same time" That may not be too wise as something like that could wipe Allen off the map!

With a pile of smiles to hand out each day along one's way, this old world can't help but be a little happier place to live in. A friend living at the edge of Hoskins had J.W. laughing as he related one of the procedures he and his wife used in re-arranging several little baby pigs with new mothers. One mamma hog didn't like the pig added to her litter. She obviously knew it was not one of hers and gave it a considerable amount of pushing around. So my friend got a can of Right Guard, sprayed mama sow and her pigs, including the stray, and there was no more problem of rejection. Mama accepted everyone of the pigs at the lunch table with nary a snort and they are living happily ever after. It just goes to prove that when parents can tell which kids are theirs by the way they smell, it's time to do something. Maybe the family that sprays together stays together!

Not everything in life is funny. There really aren't very many funny things in the movies anymore. So much of what is advertised as being a "laugh riot" is merely pornography with a script wrapped around it written by a perverted mentality.

A letter to the editor in the Thursday issue of The Herald, written by a Wayne minister, concerning the showing of "Zabril Skie Point" at a local theater was certainly timely and appreciated by many.

Let's understand first of all that everything you see leaves a definite impression. Movies have, for the most part, stopped being entertainment and have become pulpits from which left-wing writers preach revolution. Don't comment on that last statement if you haven't seen at least five of the latest films. What was the point made in "Zabril Skie Point"? Is it artistic? Hardly. What did the picture say? For one thing, the leading starlet has such a foul mouth that in three consecutive sentences she cursed dirty, combined the word mother with a four letter word referring to a sexual relationship, and the third sentence spoke of hell. This is entertainment?

The movie attempted to convince the viewer that policemen in uniform are a bunch of idiotic, trigger-happy nitwits who specialize in brutality; that there is no real meaning in life but doing exactly what you please; and dealt constantly with the "have's" and "have nots" or rich and poor and the class struggle between them. The male star was a liar, thief and had no obvious conscience.

The young couple removed their clothing and for about 20 minutes engaged in a nude wrestling match in the sand only to be joined by dozens of others acting similarly. The boy is killed senselessly by police and the girl dreams of destroying her capitalist surroundings. Film ends with a resort building being blown to kingdom come with the scene being repeated numerous times from various camera angles. Message? Life is meaningless, and the movie visually suggests destroying the Establishment.

You cannot possibly know what Hollywood is preaching these days unless you see it first hand. I'm suggesting you start taking the time to go see what is being made available to young people. There is something extremely wrong with a society that will spend its time making sure there aren't any old junk cars sitting around to pollute environmental beauty, but will permit offending to be brainwashed by the Marxist-Leninist doctrines being promoted on the screen.

J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, recently testified before the House Subcommittee on Appropriations concerning activities of the New Left Movement, Young Socialist Alliance, Communist Party-USA, and the Black Panther Party. Hoover stated, "Prominent individuals have made some substantial contributions to the BPP. A leading movie actor has contributed at least $1,000 and a well-known movie actress has reportedly given as much as $2,000 to the BPP. Negro entertainer Dick Gregory, in a public speech on December 10, 1969, stated that he sent $1,500 to the BPP."

Hoover then continues to name other prominent people who are supporting the Black Panther Party which admits they use the Marxist-Leninist doctrines as their guide to action.

After Hoover notes the BPP openly advocates Nixon's assassination and overthrow of the U.S. government, he testified, "A free society is in trouble when blatant propaganda so overshadows the truth that the rule of law is jeopardized. Currently, law enforcement agencies throughout the country are wrongly accused of harassment by many well-intentioned but uninformed voices echoing outright lies generated by the lawless BPP. This attack on police is not new. Since its inception, the BPP has reserved its most vicious invectives for law enforcement officials. The Panther's ferocious attacks on law enforcement officers are understandable since it is the police that stand between them and their attempts to rule by terror. It is difficult, however, to understand how any responsible, law-abiding persons can condone, much less lend support to, such terroristic tactics."

FBI Director Hoover testifies as to the goals of these leftwing organizations and their full intention of destroying the capitalistic system as we know it. We Americans are rather naive and because we think in terms of a war using weapons, too many of us cannot understand that the hometown here in America is actually the battlefield. You don't believe it? Get a notebook and keep a record from June 1 to August 31 and see just what a concentrated effort these revisionists are making to destroy the society they dislike. Or did you know they are busy bombing public institutions?

Well, that is enough of that, but if you want to really benefit your community, lend a hand to the people running theaters and help them demand a movie industry that is entertainment. J.W. counts those folks running our Wayne theaters as friends and wouldn't want to be misunderstood. Our grip has nothing to do with our local theater-business people. They make a big contribution to our town and when finer movies are made they will be glad to show them while hoping to be supported by you and your family.

In contracting for films they may have to take a poor movie in order to get some other good show. We American people are our own government and as long as we'll pay from $1.25 to $2.75 to see anti-American doctrines preached through colored films, why should Hollywood change its production schedules? I.W. suggest that we assist our local theater people in insisting that the movie industry clean up its own house. No one forces Hollywood studios to purchase morally destructive scripts from perverted writers. Of course, if that is what Americans want, and are willing to buy time and time again, then they will continue. Make sure you get the facts first hand by seeing some of the trash labeled entertainment. It may mean you will be supporting the four or five films you see, but it will be worth it to get the facts first hand.

'Sire of Year' Award Is Announced

The Nebraska Beef Cattle Improvement Association has established a "Sire of the Year" award to be presented to the breeder who does the best job in accurately evaluating the breeding value of a herd bull, it was announced this week.

The award, a fully engraved plaque, will be presented at the NBICA's annual meeting this fall, according to Del Dearborn, University of Nebraska Extension livestock specialist, who works closely with the association.

Purpose of the award is to stimulate interest in using individual performance data, performance information collected on ancestors and relatives and progeny information to identify superior herd sires," Dearborn explained.

In order for a bull to be considered, he must be living, registered by the appropriate breed association, and at least one-fourth interest (with part possession) must be owned by a Nebraska cattleman.

An information form nominating a given bull must be completed insofar as possible and returned to Ken Messersmith, Alliance, NBICA secretary, by Sept. 1.

It should be recognized that the bull which ultimately will be honored may not be the best bull owned by a Nebraska cattleman, but hopefully his breeding value may be estimated most accurately by the information which the breeder or breeders have collected.

Dearborn said when a cattleman purchases a bull he buys a package of unknown genetic material. Evaluation of the bull for eye appeal does very little to reveal the true breeding value of the bull, the NU livestock specialist pointed out. But collection of individual performance data, performance information on ancestors and relatives and progeny test information—such as are required in the contest nomination form—help to reveal the unknown. Dearborn concluded.

Social Security Q & A

Q - My wife and I have been working for a large company over 20 years, and have both earned good wages. When we retire at age 65, will she get only one-half as much in monthly benefits as I get?

A - Probably not. Her monthly benefit will be based on her own earnings. If her monthly benefit is more than one-half of yours, there will be no relation to your benefit. However, if her age-65 monthly benefit is less than one-half of yours, she will get an additional amount from your credit.

Over 7,000 Veterans Using New GI Bill

Chris Bargholz, Wayne County veterans service officer, has announced that a recent Veterans Administration announcement indicates that 7,250 Nebraska veterans are currently receiving educational assistance under the post-Korean GI Bill. This compares with 5,300 a year ago.

The VA anticipates many more veterans will want to take advantage of this benefit during the summer and fall because of the increase in the educational assistance allowance provided by recently enacted legislation. Bargholz said that veterans who intend to go to school and who have not previously filed an application for this benefit should so soon as possible in order to ensure the prompt receipt of benefit checks after enrollment. Remember, he said, unless there is a change in program and/or school, the original certificate of eligibility will see the veteran through his course of education. For example, a teacher who wishes to re-enroll at a school which he attended last summer need not file another application. All he has to do is remind the registrar of his GI bill eligibility and ask him to enroll him for VA form 21E-1999, enrollment certification, to the Veterans Administration.

If there is a change in program and/or school from that shown on the original certificate of eligibility, Bargholz points out, the veteran should properly complete and forward VA form 21E-1995, request for change of program or school.

Kidney Fund

Bargholz stated that he is preparing to help all residents of Wayne County in the proper completion of the application and the assembling of other required evidence. The service office is located at 108 Main St. in Wayne.

Funds

to certify a requested tax levy in excess of the monetary needs of the individual school, and that the tax levy was then assessed against the property owners of the non-high school districts of the individual counties.

As a result of the court suit, all free high school tuition funds were tied up until the suit was dropped or until action was taken by the district court.

At a January hearing before District Judge Merritt C. Warren on the money tied up by the law suit was released so schools could continue educating the high school students attending schools from outside the taxing district.

Judge Warren ruled in April that LB910 was constitutional. The court found the 10.38 mill levy in School District 17 for non-resident high school tuition to be lawful. In concluding the hearing, Warren ordered that, in the event the case would be appealed to the State Supreme Court, provisions concerning distribution of 65 per cent of the tax funds and retention of 35 per cent should remain in effect until final disposition of the case by the Supreme Court.

Wayne County Treasurer Leona Balde cannot release any of the 35 per cent of the tuition funds. She said Tuesday she keeps 65 per cent of the money in one fund and the 35 per cent in a special separate fund.

The problem, there is not enough money in the 65 per cent fund to even pay schools 65 per cent of the tuition funds they are claiming for the last semester. Supt. Porter said Friday that the schools will likely not get more than 60 per cent of those claims.

Supt. Porter noted that the money shortage is due for several reasons. One of tax levies were set to take care of 240 non-resident tuition students and there were actually 255 such pupils. Another reason, she said, was 35 per cent of the money can't be touched and there hasn't been enough tax money come into the treasury to cover costs.

Allen Vets - bell because 50 posts in the eastern part of the state were in competition for it. Those Posts include ones in Omaha, headed, The 75 members in the Post brings it very close to its peak membership of 84 right after World War II. Those late 1940's were when most veterans organizations reached their high marks. Since then many of them have dropped in the number of veterans on the membership rolls.

Swanson gave Dean Swanson, chairman of the membership drive for the Allen Post, credit for drumming up many of the new members, especially those who have served in Viet Nam.

Graduates at NU Marilyn K. Dirks, daughter of Mrs. Earl Dirks of Concord, was among the more than 2,000 students to graduate from the University of Nebraska early in June. After a summer trip to Europe, she will begin work in Washington, D. C.

Girl

The Swedish language are also required of all graduate students participating in the program. Applications to the school are carefully screened and acceptance to the school assures the student of one year of study tuition free.

Miss Anderson graduated second in her high school class in 1966 at Wakefield and was active in many organizations while in high school.

She has been attending Midland Lutheran College in Fremont for the past four years and received the scholastic distinction of summa cum laude at Midland's graduation ceremonies two weeks ago. She graduated third in a class of 200 students and received the B.S. of Ed. degree with majors in English, history and education.

While attending Midland, Kathleen was involved in a variety of campus organizations and activities. She served as president of a local Greek sorority, was member of Cardinal Key National Honor Sorority, worked with the campus literary magazine and served as an officer in the Student Education Association and the Midland International Relations Club. In addition to this she was the recipient of a number of academic scholarships and held honor student standing for all four years while at Midland.

She has had a number of job experiences, including work with a legal newspaper in Denver, for which she handled court and city government legal news. Miss Anderson hopes to continue in the field of journalism after completing advanced studies and language courses in Europe. Plans are now pending for work with foreign correspondents in Stockholm on a part-time basis during her attendance at the graduate school.

Tractor Wires Burn

Wayne firemen were called to the Vic Ilaase farm two and one-half miles north of Wayne Wednesday afternoon when wiring on a tractor caught fire. Using a hand extinguisher, Ilaase had the fire out by the time fire equipment arrived.

Director Martelle noted that the Elks' Lodge will furnish a noon lunch for all children and their families whose registered for the clinic.

Other towns. Those projects will be considered for the program schedule which will be made up sometime next year for the fiscal year of 1973.

Action was taken on the Wayne project during the May 19th meeting of the State Control Group for the Land and Water Conservation Fund Program. The letter from Barbee was received by the city early last week.

At the time the Wayne project was acted upon, numerous other project requests from across the state were considered. Some of those projects were deferred to 1971 because of inadequate funds, some were set for the 1971-72 fiscal year, some were considered eligible—such as Wayne's—but had to be deferred because of lack of funds and some were disapproved.

Said Barbee: "Based on the number of projects submitted for consideration, it is obvious that political subdivisions are making a substantial effort to meet the outdoor recreation needs of their citizens and to make their communities and regions a better place in which to live. We regret that so many worthy projects had to be deferred for future consideration."

Wayne's project included cooperation among the city, school district and the county agricultural society. Land was to be donated by the latter two groups.

Convention Held By Republicans In Dixon County

Twenty-three of 37 elected delegates gathered in the county courthouse at Ponca June 4 to hold the Dixon County Republican Convention. Clifford Gotch, chairman, called the convention to order at 9:30 a.m.

An election of officers resulted in the following people being named to office: Clifford Gotch of Allen, chairman; K. R. Mitchell of Allen, secretary; Irma Foulks of Ponca, vice chairman; Merle Kingsbury of Ponca, vice chairman; Ezra Christensen of Allen, treasurer; Harold Von Minden of Ponca, chairman of finance and promotion committee; Mrs. Merle Von Minden of Allen, chairman of the voluntary manpower committee.

The officials are permanent officers on the Dixon County Republican Central Committee. Arnold Brudman was elected and seated as a delegate from Wakefield. Delegates voted to establish a new office of women's activity to be chaired by Esther Turney of Wakefield. It was also moved to create a new office called Development of Young Republican Activities. Don Thomas was named chairman.

A committee of Clifford Gotch, Esther Turney, Jack Conrad and K. R. Mitchell was established for two years to fill vacancies in the organization of county and precinct committees.

Delegates elected to the state convention were Gotch, Von Minden and Turney. Alternates were Mackling, Sam Curry, Merle Kingsbury and Don Thomas.

Clinic Set Saturday For Crippled Youths

Services for Crippled Children will be conducting one of their area clinics in northeast Nebraska in cooperation with the Elks' Association in Norfolk on Saturday.

Wayne County Welfare Director Ethel Martelle said Friday the clinic will be held in the Elks' Lodge building and registration will begin at 7:30 a.m., closing at 10:30 a.m., June 20. She said the clinic is conducted primarily to examine new and active patients who have orthopedic problems or heart ailments. A child with any crippling ailment or condition which may lead to crippling may be seen upon referral by the family physician.

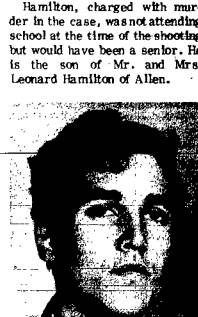

Treatment programs are provided by Services for Crippled Children for only the following physical conditions: orthopedic handicaps; cerebral palsy; oral plastic problems; eye conditions amenable to surgery; heart disease, and cystic fibrosis. Clinic doctors will be as follows: Dwight Burney, Jr. and Bernard Kratochvil, orthopedists; George E. Robertson, pediatrician, and three pediatric cardiologists, Paul K. Mooring, Francis Fitzmaurice, and V. S. Rao.

Allen Celebration

'Down the Drain'
For the first time in quite a while, the Allen Commercial Club will not hold its old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration.

Reason: the torn-up condition of the streets now that the sanitary sewer system is being installed. Several streets and roads in the community are closed off because of the work going on and deep ditches are so numerous that the group feared an accident might happen during the celebration.

In order to make a teaspoonful of honey, a bee must visit about 2,000 flowers.
