

Local Families Plan to Host 38 AFS Bus Tour Pupils

Local chapter members of the American Field Service are getting ready to welcome 38 AFS students scheduled to arrive in Wayne around 9:30 p.m. June 29. It will be the chapter's first time to host such a tour.

The 38 guests are students from all over the world who have been in the United States studying during the last school term. They are presently touring the states prior to returning to their native countries.

Upon arriving in Wayne, the pupils will be welcomed by their host families—local families who have volunteered to be hosts to one or two students for four days.

Families who will have AFS guests are the Richard Carman, Jack Rubicks, Gene Fletchers, Wilbur Gleses, Fred Gildersleeves, Charles Hebrans, Kent Halls, Cyril Hansens, Don Karls, Richard Lesha, Dick Manley, Charles McDermotts, Herbert Niemanns, Kenneth Olds, Orvid Owens, Walter Petersons, Ray Reags, Merle Riggs, Orville Sherry, Jim Sturge, Bob Sutherlands, and Herman Wackers.

Mrs. Herb Niemann and Mrs. Orvid Owens are in charge of making arrangements for bus stop families. The student chaperones will stay in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Brandstetter.

On Tuesday the students are scheduled to have an orientation at Ramsey Theatre on the Wayne State College campus during the morning and a luncheon at the cafeteria at noon. Luncheon costs are being contributed by the State National Bank and First National Bank.

A tour of the college campus and a show at the planetarium will fill the afternoon Tuesday.

AFS pupils are being invited by the city of Wayne to swim in the city pool free of charge that evening. Students will have dinner with host families.

The entire group of students will tour Gavins Point Dam Wednesday and then gather at the O.K. Brandstetter home in Wayne at 8 that evening for entertainment to be presented by the students themselves.

Tours slated Thursday are of a dairy parlor at the Ward Gilliland farm, a beef feeding operation on the Herb and Gene

July 4th Celebration Kaput

The Wayne Jaycees will not put on the large Fourth of July celebration planned for the Wayne fair grounds. The celebration would have been two-barreled—celebrating the national holiday and kicking off the Wayne County centennial activities.

Major reason for dropping the project, said a spokesman for the group, was failure to get the county commissioners to match funds set aside by the city of Wayne. The spokesman said the commissioners felt the project was more of a city event than a county event and they therefore felt they should not spend county funds on it.

The commissioners reportedly noted that they would be willing to contribute to some sort of celebration—or project—that was more countywide in nature.

Total amount asked by the Jaycees was just over $140. Matched with the city funds the money would have provided enough fireworks for a celebration about an hour long.

Lack of enough time between now and the holiday prevents the Jaycees from taking on a money-raising project to finance the fireworks display.

The Jaycees are currently selling badges to the people growing centennial beards and to those not growing beards in order to raise money for the small park on the south edge of town.

Dear Sir: Please

Save Exhibit Space!

Although the Wayne County Fair is over six weeks away, Al Bahr, secretary of the Wayne County Agricultural Society, is already receiving requests from various businesses and concerns for exhibit space on the fair grounds.

Bahr said that anybody who wants to reserve space there is slated for Aug. 6-8, had better do so by contacting him as soon as possible. Last year he ended up with many more requests than he had room for, he noted, and he had to turn several people down.

Bright point for exhibitors this year is the new all-steel building which is being built at the fair grounds. Scheduled to house best exhibits during the coming fair, the building is 80 by 100 feet. It is being built south of the agricultural buildings where the old barbecue pit was once located. It will take about two weeks to assemble once it arrives in Wayne in the next few days.

Story Hour Planned

Plans have been made in Winfield for a story hour to be held each Wednesday afternoon of July from two to three o'clock at the public library. Children from kindergarten through fourth grade are welcome.

Mrs. Harry Suehl Sr., librarian, has announced the theme will be centered around aero space.

Wayne State Teacher

At Summer Institute

Thirty-one college physics teachers, including one from Wayne State College, are participating in a summer institute for College Teachers of Physics at the University of Kansas, June 15-August 8. The National Science Foundation is funding the institute.

The institute is designed to provide teachers of physics in small colleges and junior colleges with first-hand knowledge of both classroom and laboratory materials that have recently become available. It is directed particularly to those whose college training was not primarily in physics.

Dr. Gordon G. Wiseman, professor of physics, is director of the institute. The selected teachers receive stipends for their participation while earning six hours of college credit.

Those participating include Larry K. Cottrell, assistant professor in the WSC physics department.

2 Hurt in Wreck

Two area residents were injured in a car-truck collision around 12:30 a.m. Thursday 10 miles north of Fremont on Highway 275. Trooper J. Wyant of Fremont was the investigating patrolman.

Manley Wilson, 61, of Hoskins was southbound while driving a mail truck from Norfolk to Omaha. Kurt Novak, 20, of Pender, was reportedly northbound in a late model Plymouth sports coupe.

Following the side-swipe collision, Novak, was thrown out of his vehicle and received a broken

Noxious Weed Board

Seeks Building Bids

Wayne County Noxious Weed District board members have announced they will be taking sealed bids at the county clerk's office until July 21 for constructing a storage and office building.

The proposed metal building would measure 40 by 40 feet and would provide space for storing chemicals and equipment. Alternate bids are also being sought for the building less the office space.

Weed-board members have had an office upstairs over the Olds and Reed law firm for several years. Chemicals and equipment have had to be stored on private property as have vehicles.

A board spokesman said several location sites have been looked over. A site south of the railroad tracks on Pearl Street and another east of town have both been considered. An adequate area is needed for both the building and parking space.

Weed-board members hope to have the project completed by Nov. 1.

Tractor Wires Burn

Hoskins volunteer firemen were called a mile west of town to the Gilbert Krause farm Thursday shortly before 4 p.m. when wires on a parked tractor burned.

Krause was reportedly not home and a fuel deliveryman arriving on the place noticed the blaze and tried to extinguish it.

103 NEN Boys Complete Training

One hundred three boys from 12 northeast Nebraska counties successfully completed the hazardous Occupation Training which was held at Norfolk on June 8, 11 and 12. The training was held at the National Guard Armory.

The boys, ages 14 through 16, were certified under the Federal Labor Act which will now permit them to work on a farm doing many farm jobs, including operating a tractor of over 20 PTO horsepower.

The training was part of the 4-H special activity program and was sponsored by the Extension Service.

Roy Stohler, Dixon County agent and area youth specialist, was in charge of the training. Making arrangements for tractors and facilities was Marilyn Low, Madison County agent.

Wayne County youths completing the course included Brad Keith Harder, Dave Kudrna, Mark Lowe and Doug Spahr, all of Wayne; David Kleensang, Hoskins; Terry Reeg, Winside, and Randy Nissen, Wisner.

Those from Dixon County ending the course were Ricky Holdorf, Russell Anderson and Brad Duane Harder, all of Concord.

Instructors were Wayne Fishor, Northeast Station area agricultural engineer; Harold Ingalls, Wayne County agent; Joe Bestandig, Stanton County agent; Bob Ehlers, Antelope County agent; Henry Kumpost, Pierce County agent; John Burbank, Holt County agent; Oscar Thomas, Knox County agent; Ed Bruhaug, Battle Creek Vocational Agricultural instructor; Bob Lukup, Norfolk Agricultural instructor; and Gary Stauffer, youth study worker.

NE Station Tour Altered

Conflict with the coming Moonlight Madness retail promotion in Wayne has resulted in a change in date for the planned businessmen's tour of the University of Nebraska Northeast Station near Concord.

The tour, originally planned for Tuesday, June 30, has now been scheduled for Tuesday, July 7. The Chamber of Commerce agricultural committee, which is handling details for the tour, will meet this week to set a definite time for the tour that evening.

Transportation will be provided for anybody who wants to make the trip to the research facilities located one mile east of Concord. The facilities at the NE station include swine research houses, terraces, experimental crop plantings and cattle testing stations.

On the committee for the tour are Willis Meyer, Ken Liska, Marvin Dunklau and Gerald Schafer.

Jaycees Become County Group

The Wayne Jaycees have changed the name and setup of their organization to the Wayne County Jaycees.

Reason: to attract more young men from a wider area to make the service organization more useful.

The group decided to alter the basic structure at last Tuesday night's meeting.

Issued by the group is an invitation to all young men between 21 and 35 years of age to join them. One of the members said that the change is a good chance for other young men in Hoskins, Winside, Carroll and Sholes to join the Jaycees and become active in projects which will prove beneficial to the whole county.

Concord Streets Get New Layer of Oil

The streets in Concord will be taking on a new look this week as another layer of oil is put on them.

The village board of Concord decided earlier this month to have the streets oiled again, a job necessary every several years.

Johnson Construction of Randolph was contacted and workers for that company began moving gravel into the village late last week.

Village officials expect the job to take about one week to complete because of the number of streets which will receive a new surface.

Big Hammer

Crewmen standing in front of this giant crane 12 miles west of Wayne on Highway 15 are dwarfed by its 45-foot superstructure. Dangling on a cable attached to the crane is a giant hammer used to drive bridge pilings into the ground. Crewmen from the Beatrice Construction Company were completing the driving of 50 pilings Tuesday for the one bridge. Highway 15 is presently being rebuilt from the Aitona corner nine miles south of Wayne to its junction with Highway 275.

Top 4-H Livestock Judges Named

One hundred twenty 4-H members from Dixon, Wayne, Cedar and Dakota Counties attended the Livestock Judging Contest held at the Northeast Station last Monday night.

Only youth from Wayne County taking part in the activities was Ed Bull of rural Wayne. He compiled a total of 219 points out of a possible 250.

All from Dixon County received county fair ribbons at the contest. Those receiving purple ribbons were Bill Sachau, Allen; Joan Erwin and Lori Erwin, Concord; June Pearson, Lee Echtenkamp and Bruce Johnson, Wakefield; Lyle George, Lori Hartman and Bryan Hirschert, Dixon; and Denise Magnuson, Laurel.

Receiving blue ribbons: Bryn Bloom, Sandra George, Cheryl Hansen, Tim Garvin, Richard Apts and Clayton Hartman, all of Dixon; Jim Benschoter, Newcastle; Gary Roebber, Byron Roebber, Jerry Munter, Cheryl Kahl and Randy Kahl, all of Wakefield; Karl Erwin and Danny Nelson, Concord; Kurt Gosverson and Randy Stark, Ponca; Regg Swanson, Wayne, and Dale Magnuson, Laurel.

Kid's Rodeo To Highlight County Fair

Greased pigs and bucking calves could very well prove to be one of the top attractions during the 1970 Wayne County Fair.

Those animals—and the young people trying to master them—will be the center of attention during the youth rodeo planned for the opening day of the fair. There will be competition for various prizes among several age classes in the rodeo to see who can wrestle down pigs weighing 50 to 60 pounds and to see who can ride calves weighing between 400 and 500 pounds.

The youth rodeo is one of several new ideas being planned by a group made up of representatives from every community in the county. The committee hopes to make the 1970 fair a truly county celebration.

One way it is working toward that goal is by having different committees responsible for all the activities on one day of the See KIDS' RODEO, Page 4

12 Fined in Court

Each of the 12 paid $5 court costs and the following fines:

Carroll Is Ready For Celebration

Carroll Community Club members are making final plans for the annual two-day Carroll summer celebration slated Friday and Saturday.

A firemen's water fight is set for 6 p.m. Friday on Main Street and a talent show at nine o'clock.

Saturday morning there will be a kiddie parade beginning at 10 a.m. and a main parade at 11 a.m. with Wayne and Laurel bands participating.

Dave Lahr, club secretary, said there will be a tractor pull at 1 p.m. Saturday with tractors competing in five weight classes. An entry fee of $10 will be collected for each tractor at the time of weighing in or before. Entry fees will be returned as prize money, Lahr noted.

Drivers competing in the tractor pull must be 16 or older, and if under 21 years old, must have written permission of parent or guardian. Lahr said the tractors will weigh in at Whitney's Elevator from 9:30 a.m. to 12 p.m.

A kid's footrace at 2:30 p.m., horseshoe pitching contest at 4 p.m., a greased pig contest at 6:30 p.m. and a 7:30 softball game will fill out the afternoon program.

There will be carnival rides on the streets both days.

Two Area People Cited as 'Good Neighbors'

Mrs. Josephine Hill of Allen and "Lefty" Olson of Wakefield were named Ak-Sar-Ben Good Neighbors Friday, recognizing their unselfish and neighborly deeds.

The Two Good Neighbors were among 73 winners named to receive the annual award. Nominated by their friends and neighbors through the Ak-Sar-Ben Ambassadors, they will each receive an Ak-Sar-Ben Good Neighbor citation and pin.

Mrs. Hill was recognized after she donated a tract of land to the community and school for a new athletic field. "Lefty" Olson was picked for his work in reporting on athletic events in the school, community and area.

Also named to receive the award were Albin Svoboda of Emerson, who has been a leader in all of the community's betterment programs; Ferdinand J. Peltz of Hartington, who has developed programs and activities for youth in his community; and Mrs. Maurice Parridge of Stanton, who gives of her time to make certain that her neighbors have transportation to meetings and other community activities.

Wayne area people named to receive the award last year included Richard Miller of Winside and Vernon Wheeler of Allen.

Mrs. Hill donated land for the athletic field which originally belonged to her father. The land was turned into one of the area's finest athletic fields last summer and dedicated during the Allen High football season. The field has facilities for both football and baseball.

A lifetime resident of the Allen area, Mrs. Hill hopes the new athletic field will be named the Isom-Hill Athletic Field. Isom was her maiden name.

Mrs. Hill, whose husband died in 1932 and left her with five small children, worked in the Allen post office, for over 20 years. She said she is interested in athletics because her husband and her four sons following sports enthusiastically.

"Lefty" Olson, well-known among sports fans across northeast Nebraska, has given up one of his jobs of reporting that he held for a dozen years—secretary of the Northeast Nebraska League. Reason: it disbanded a few weeks ago. Keeping him busy at the present time are duties of reporting on summer athletics in Wakefield and keeping the daily newspapers supplied with betting statistics in the Dodge County League.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers. It is the duty of an editorial writer to search all available material for the best ideas to write. From this basis the writer should be able to give a clear picture of important topics.

You may not agree with an editorial—but if you read the editorial and give your thoughts to the subject discussed you have gained. You, as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

Fine Idea Bites the Dust

Well, the big Fourth of July celebration planned by the Wayne Jaycees will apparently have to be scuttled for lack of funds.

The group attempted—but failed—to get the county commissioners to match the approximate $140 promised by the city council in Wayne for the fireworks affair. The group reasoned that the celebration, although planned to be held at the Wayne ball park, would serve as a fine way to kick off the Wayne County centennial celebration. The commissioners apparently reasoned that the celebration would be a good thing for Wayne but would just get them in trouble with people living outside the city.

We're sorry to see the commissioners turn down the request for money. We do think the celebration would have been something which would have benefited the whole county, for, as the Jaycees have pointed out, there is no July 4th celebration of any size in all of northeast Nebraska. If it were to turn into an annual thing, it would certainly benefit everybody in Wayne County and several surrounding counties.

But, then, maybe the commissioners had better hang onto that $140. They might need it to buy some snow removal equipment come this fall. Removing snow adequately seems to cause them a bit of trouble each year. —N.L.H.

Play and Pay

Would you slow your auto down to pick up more than $35,000? It is a sizeable sum. What would you do with it? Would you consider $35,000 a good month's pay? If you lost $35,000 in a month's time, would you soon forget it? We Nebraska like our speedy vehicles and, while feeling that the laws are made for others, we kick the old lizzy down the highway above the speed limit and hope we don't run into a radar or VASCAR State Safety Patrol unit.

Would you believe a total of 2,895 people on Nebraska's roads were picked up for speeding during the month of April? These people paid $35,132 for tickets. Is too big a hurry. That is a lot of money and a high price to pay for what some consider a game.

Speeding is no game. Every week The Herald carries a column of news from the courthouse which includes those arrested for traffic violations, one of which is speeding. On more than one occasion the person paying a fine for a traffic violation in Wayne County has asked that the results of the court hearing not be printed.

This is a bit odd because the individual wasn't afraid to drive a vehicle in public, either while intoxicated, going too fast, or in some other manner which violated the law. But, having been caught, then he or she is ashamed for the charge and fine to appear in black and white.

There are nearly 3,000 arrested in Nebraska each month on charges of speeding. It collectively costs thousands of dollars which might well be spent in other ways. Some decide to play the speed game. They play, then pay.

Isn't it just a bit crazy to pay taxes to hire patrolmen to catch us, and then purposely break the speed laws and hope they don't?

Dad, how do you explain that to your teenage son? —M.W.

Quotable Notables

There is no such thing as white lies; a lie is as black as a coalbit, and twice as foul. —Henry Ward Beecher.

I would rather sleep in the southern corner of a little country churchyard, than in the tombs of the Capulets. —Burke.

Names are names, right? Probably all of us have at one time or another started to introduce an acquaintance only to suddenly have the brain go completely blank. Embarrassing isn't it? There are times when it would be very convenient to do something to get attention off the introduction, so something like maybe dropping dead. How could being dead feel any worse than not being able to remember your best friend's handle!

Some brave souls, when caught with a blank memory, will attempt to squeeze out of the situation with a question like, "Let's see, how do you spell your last name?" Such people are always plagued with gremlins who see to it they are talking to either a Smith, Brown or Jones. Anybody who can't spell one of those handles really has problems. Faces continue to get even more red.

Can you possibly appreciate the problems confronting a foreigner as he runs into the Cooks, Kochs and Bakers; Heaths and Hills; the Watts and Powers; the Browns and Blacks; the Wests and Norths; the Youngs and Olds; the Cannings and Freses; the Barrs and Glasses; the Bulls, Lambs and Barnes; the Beck and Kolls; the Swans, Hawkes and Byrds; the Flelds and Korn; the Frost and DeFreeses; the Kummis and Wendts; the Gamble and Chances along with the Goodwins; the Kings and Princes; the Walkers and Marches; the Turners and Sraights; the Oxtons and Overins; the Nichols and Pennys; the Sauls, Peters, James, Johns, Thomas, Solomon and Adams; Merchants and Balers; Fox and Glesse, the Chinn and Footes; the Spahr and Victors; the Wax and Kleens; plus a lot of Witt and a myriad other wonderful people with proud family names?

T. P. Roberts and J. W. got to visiting in a grocery store last week about names, addresses and zip codes. Roberts recalled a salesman who upon returning to Denver mailed T. P. a card. The only address on the front of it was the sketch of a tepee with the zip code 68787. Through the efficiency of postal employees the card reached Roberts in Wayne two days later. Imagine the fun Roberts might have had as a big western cattle rancher in need of a branding iron. A tepee design would have been perfect.

Most of us are very proud of our names, or at least interested in having them spelled correctly on important documents and in news stories. When someone we especially respect recalls our name correctly, particularly after a lengthy period of not meeting, it gives one a good feeling. Notables in personnel management and public relations positions have stressed the importance of remembering people's names. Being able to recall a customer's name is a great asset to any salesman.

Most of us are better at remembering

Tips from a Pro

NIGHT DRIVING

YOUR ABILITY TO SEE AND RECOGNIZE OBJECTS DECREASES BY 20 FEET WITH EACH 10 MILE PER HOUR INCREASE IN SPEED

ANOTHER GOOD REASON TO SLOW DOWN AT NIGHT!

It is sort of fun to have a last name which lends itself to puns. Does your surname give you any problems? J. W. knew of a minister in Iowa several years ago whose last name was "Figs." He and his congregations had a lot of fun pronouncing his children with names such as Ira and Ima.

We have had good fun with the name of Wright receiving suggestions for given names such as Always, Never, About, Turn and Expecture. What would life be worth if we couldn't jest a bit?

You have surely noticed a number of people around, however, that never take the time to laugh about anything. They are practiced purruses, and evidently take pills to help cleanse their furrowed brows. That type of person is only happy when they are miserable. I know of one man who is so contrary, if he was to drop they'd have to look upstream for him.

June is a popular month for weddings, consequently there are many happy people, particularly the maidens who are getting to change their names. Usually some time in the life of a girl, when she is in the age range from 17 to 20, she would like to say "I do" and go home with another name. It can be a time when the only cloud in life is the one you're walking on, at least that is what they tell me. J. W. is a bit sympathetic toward a comment overheard in the church entrance as two young men watched a bride and groom leaving. The one said to the other, "I'm sure, but for some last thing on a month like last July, go!"

Seriously, we hope all you who are exchanging vows this month will have buses of happiness and learn that it never pays to run your life on a rags budget. You gals may not be exactly crazy about your new last name, but you had plenty of warning ever since he gave you that lappy-go-steady look.

What can be fun also is to listen to a few jealous voices following a wedding. Like one gal, who was wearing a sweater which didn't do anything for her except make her itch, said at the reception, "Darling, your music was simply dee-vine. It sounded like a sneak attack on Debussy by MacNamara's band." We all know her type. Such people's conversations are just one long groan out up into words.

Then there are the folks who get the satisfaction of feeling important by being name droppers. When a conversation gets down to brass knuckles it is time to slip in an important name. Like if you are stopped by a highway patrolman, you may pop a question like, "Sir, do you know who I am?" He, of course, doesn't, but soon will! "My uncle is the head of your department and I'm going to see that he hears about this!" comments the driver. Professional name droppers can do it without one being hardly aware the speaker is striving for a feeling of being important, but the amateur is so obvious when he or she drops a name, you want to holler "Look out below!" Nothing is wrong with such an individual that a good yappendectomy wouldn't fix.

Dear Mr. Halley, I thank you for taking your time to teach us the bike lessons. I thank you also for the pop and doughnut. I have to end my letter now, by, From Anne Liska.

Editor's Note: This was one of the letters written to Pat Halley, assistant chief of police, following completion of the 1970 bike school last week. The note contained a stick of chewing gum.

News of Note around Northeast Nebraska

About $1,000 has been spent by Bancroft to topple and remove an old landmark in the community—the water tower. The $995 contract to raze the tower was let to Myron Tonjes.

The population of West Point is 3,181, according to preliminary census reports. The total represents an increase of 240 from 1960, but it's considerably under the 4,187 estimated for the community by the University of Nebraska Bureau of Business Research.

All four towns in Cuming County posted gains from the 1960 count—Bancroft from 495 to 554, Revere from 667 to 690, West Point from 2,841 to 3,181 and Wisner from 1,192 to 1,293.

The Plainview-Kiowa Band is disbanding. Reason: lack of interest and need of musicians on certain instruments.

Known for its polka and waltz music, the band has represented Plainview on goodwill ventures for several years. It was made up of residents of the community who donated their time for practice and playing. Heading the group the past year were Forrest Couchman as chairman and Mrs. Louis Peterson as secretary-treasurer.

Borrowed from the South Sioux City Star's "Over the Editor's Desk" column: "Raymond Sundt of Dakota City was gathering worms for fishing with the aid of his 2½-year-old granddaughter, Roxie. Later that day he noticed that his worms were gone. Roxie admitted she had dug small holes and put the worms in them. Her explanation: 'They wanted to go home.'"

Pat Gubbels of Randolph, a private in the Army, had a close brush with death recently in Viet Nam when he was wounded by a Viet Cong sniper.

Standing with several buddies after taking a shower, Gubbels was hit in the left shoulder by what he thought was a fist. The bullet pierced his lung and lodged behind his rib cage. Doctors operated on him after an X-ray revealed that he had been shot and not knifed as they first thought. The bullet was left where it lodged, a souvenir of the war.

A staff of 20 has been approved for the Bloomfield volunteer ambulance corps. The group will be manning the new ambulance when it arrives in a few more days. A training school is the next step planned for those who have volunteered.

Here's how the Cedar County News ended the story which corrected a previous error printed in a story concerning the city budget at Hartington:

"What came out (budget total) evidently combined the city budget with the federal deficit, it being so voluminous... so—our apologies to both the under-rated city officials and the downtrodden taxpayers of the City of Hartington."

Marlin Waechter, editor of the Stanton Register, told the story in his "Pot Shots" column about the boy who made spending money by mowing lawns. When he was late in getting started one Saturday morning, his father reprimanded him. He replied that he was in no hurry—"I get most of my work from husbands who are already half through, anyway."

The gasoline war in Pierce got hotter and hotter as last week progressed. By Wednesday the price of regular had dropped to 39.9 cents and the price of premium to 34.9 cents. The dip was two cents lower than the previous week.

"Why limit yourself to five senses?" asks a typical Rostercruan ad. What for? who are Rostercruans has been a puzzle to many a person unfamiliar with basic theosophy. Rostercruanism, in its earlier years, promulgated the belief in astrology and some fine astrologers have been Rostercruans.

According to most sources, the Rostercruan philosophy began in the 13th century when Christian Rosenkreutz (a mythical figure) was born in Flensburg, Denmark. Some authorities (even modern day Rostercruan aspirants) believe that Rosenkreutz is possibly myth. However, America's largest Rostercruan organization, The Ancient and Mystical Order of Rosae Crucis, more commonly The Rostercruans (AMORC), claims descent from a different founding. They hold that Rostercruanism was founded in the 13th century BC in Egypt. Thus, AMORC's philosophy centers around pharaohs, pyramids, etc.

The Rostercruans - named after the presumed founder - has always been a secret society. During the Middle Ages they acted as alchemists and astrologers. Their religion was strongly theosophical although theosophy as we know it today didn't exist then) and mystical. Somewhat of a cosmic religion, it can be called sugar-coated Christianity. All Rostercruans believe in reincarnation.

It is difficult to put my finger on any one description of Rostercruanism for two reasons: the Rostercruanism belief is amazingly complex, and different Rostercruanism organizations hold greatly varying beliefs.

Let's look at the Rostercruan movement in America. The largest group is the AMORC by far. With headquarters in San Jose, Calif., they have a membership in the tens of thousands, ranging right along side with Lions, Elks, Moose and other fraternal orders. Although AMORC claims it is not a religious organization, it clearly is. Their official book catalogue offers for sale crosses and other religious items. All members, if true Rostercruans, accept the doctrine of reincarnation. Indeed, AMORC is a religious organization, although not a denomination in the regular meaning of the word.

The official executive is The Imperator, the first being a fellow named Lewis. His pedigree was Ph.D., and he made sure you didn't forget. Investigations by non-Rostercruans have shown that Lewis didn't have a legitimate doctorate of any sort from any university, nor was a darn honorary one. The successor to The Imperator is always his son. So far, it's worked with Lewis' son now heading AMORC. I've often wondered what might happen should a son have no desire to be Imperator. This would be terrible, for the group MUST be headed by hereditary Imperators.

The second Rostercruan group in America is the Rostercruan Fellowship with headquarters at Oceanside, Calif. Unlike the San Jose Rostercruans, this group is a strong supporter of astrology. It was founded in 1913 by a Danish immigrant named Max Heindel who was earlier interested in theosophy and received his "guidance" from a mystic in Germany. Opponents of Heindel have always maintained that his spiritual teacher wasn't a Rostercruan at all but rather Dr. Rudolph Steiner. Since Heindel died in 1919, he has been unable to answer the charges.

To most people, the Rostercruan Fellowship is "far out." They believe in the vegetarian diet, reincarnation and astrology. All courses are offered free of charge, but members are asked to contribute. AMORC charges extremely high membership rates, especially when you have to purchase all lessons. I took a number of Rostercruan Fellowship courses and was never outright hoodled for contributions in any way.

Members of the Rostercruan Fellowship are not called Rostercruans, a title reserved specifically to 12 humans who are thoroughly in accord with the teachings. No one in the Fellowship knows anything about the Rostercruans. The only ones who know anything about them are the Rostercruans themselves. According to literature I have, a few Rostercruans out of the 12 never leave the temple at Oceanside for the rest of their lives. Whether this means that humans physically live in the building, or just spiritually, is not known.

In any case, Rostercruanism offers a selection of fantastic beliefs which, as I have said, parallel closely with Blavatsky theosophy.

Miss Troutman and her fiancé are both 1969 graduates of Winside High School. Miss Troutman attended Kearney State College. Wacker attended Wayne State College. No wedding date has been set.

The local AFS Club is planning an evening of social entertainment Thursday night. Host families will say goodbye to their guests Friday morning when the bus tour leaves around nine o'clock.

Students visiting Wayne will represent Greece, United Kingdom, Thailand, Australia, Spain, France, Brazil, Denmark, Chile, Iceland, Germany, Portugal, Netherlands, Ecuador, Austria, Japan, Sweden, Italy, Belgium, Norway, Morocco, Finland, and Uruguay.

Such bus tours for AFS students in the U.S. are a dividend at the end of the school year to broaden the student's picture of the nation. The students will tell their families and native countrymen at home their impressions of America.

Families hosting students are provided a set of guidelines by AFS International. Visiting pupils are not permitted to drive any type of vehicle, may not fly in a private plane, and are not to be served alcoholic beverages.

AFS International notes, "We also urge you to take some time to talk with your student to get to know him and to let him get to know you. One of the purposes of the bus trip is this very process of meeting different families in different communities."

Officers said he struck a parked 1962 Ford pickup belonging to Harry Lesberg of Wayne.

The second collision occurred Friday afternoon when a 1966 Chevrolet pickup driven by Neil Brogren of Hoskins was backing from a drive at 811 West Third Street and struck a parked 1966 Chevrolet panel owned by Clifford Johnson. Full Schedule Planned For 105 Visiting Danes Wayne State College will welcome 105 students and teachers from Denmark Wednesday and later that day will dispatch 75 students to Denmark for the Nebraska-Scandinavian Summer Institute.

The Danes, during a two-week stay in Wayne, can look forward to a varied sampling of Americana—lectures by Wayne State professors, a couple of dances (rock music, of course), a rodeo and picnic at Ponca, a tour of Strategic Air Command headquarters and the Omaha stockyards, a visit to the Winnebago Indian pow wow grounds and Indian dancing, the Wayne Horse Show and a tour of farms in the Wayne area. The visitors also will be guests of Wayne members for services and dinner July 28.

Dr. Robert G. Johnson, chairman of the WSC communication arts department, is in charge of arrangements, and he will know some of the Danes—those who are students at the Herning Folk High School where he was an exchange professor from January through April.

Dr. Johnson said he hopes residents of Danish ancestry living in the Wayne area will have opportunity to meet the 29 students, their teachers and four headmasters.

Also eager to welcome the Danes are Mr. and Mrs. Hans Pedersen, who are doing graduate study at Wayne this term. He teaches at Herning Folk School, and Mrs. Pedersen is an elementary school teacher.

The Danish group is scheduled to arrive at Omaha Airport at 1 a.m. Wednesday, and the Nebraska students heading for Denmark will fly from Omaha at 3 a.m. Thursday.

Wayne to Host High School All-Stars Again

Wayne and Kearney again will host the training camps for the two all-star squads for the Nebraska Coaches Association's All-Star Basketball Game.

Approval of the two slights by the Association's basketball committee returns the camps to the same locations as last year when the All-Star Game was initiated.

Camps will open at both slights in the later afternoon of Thursday, Aug. 13, eight days prior to the game at Lincoln's Pershing Municipal Auditorium.

Wayne Cheerleaders Do Well at Lincoln

Five Wayne High School cheerleaders competed with other cheerleading teams from throughout the state June 8-12 in Lincoln and returned home with three ribbons and a spirit stick.

Holly Roggenbach, Tammy Fredrickson, Nancy Jones, Liz Ann Otto and Marsha Johnson, who make up the Wayne High School varsity cheerleading team for basketball and football, competed five times with groups consisting of five girls in each during the contest at Nebraska Wesleyan University.

The Wayne High girls won ribbons for excellence, outstanding, and one honorable mention. They also won a spirit stick for having the most spirit in their class of competition.

The contests were carried out on a basis of school size.

Basketball committee chairman Wally McNaught of Lincoln said, "The fellows are being asked to report to the training camps on August 13th with their parents at which time the Association has a buffet planned. This will give the all-star coaches an opportunity to get acquainted with the boys as well as expose the parents to some of the expectations of the boys while they are in the camps."

The North squad will work out in Rice Auditorium at Wayne State College and the South's training slights is the Kearney State College campus. Both squads will live on the campuses during the eight-day training period.

In addition to approving the training camp locations, the basketball committee named two of its members to act as advance representatives of the Association at each camp.

Coach Dennis Edwards of Norfolk High School will coordinate work with Wayne State College and Merle Bauer, athletic director for the North Platte Public Schools, will work with the representatives of the Association at each camp.

Nebraska-Southern Cal Grid Tour Is Planned

WOW Radio and TV in Omaha will sponsor a tour to Los Angeles, Sept. 18-20, for the Nebraska-Southern California game and Los Angeles Rams-St. Louis Cardinals professional game.

The per person package price of $249.00 will give fans the round trip to Los Angeles, two nights at one of the West Coast hotels, tickets to both games and all motorcoach transfers.

Complete details will be sent to those who write or call WOW. Reservations must be received on or before Aug. 17.

South camp.

Both head coaches, Elkhorn's Gene Kruger for the North and Aurora's Bill Kropp for the South, have indicated that they plan to have three workouts a day when possible. Assisting them will be Bob Morris of Alliance for the North and Bill Ramsay of Cozad for the South.

In recognizing the efforts of the two schools and communities in hosting the camps last year, McNaught said, "We feel real fortunate that Kearney State and Wayne State have both indicated a willingness to give us their campuses for these training sessions."

"Both communities were very cordial last year and went out of their way to make our all-star camps feel at home as much as possible."

Young Mike Ginn couldn't have had a much better day than against Wisner Midgets Wednesday. In fact, his efforts split half would amount to two fine showings almost on any other day.

He allowed only one hit—during Wayne's 11-0 win—a double to the second man to face him—while striking out 13 and walking only one. He handled all the outplays in the last three frames after whiffing two each in the first two. Only four Wisner runners made it to first: two in the opening inning on a double and an error, one in the third on an error and one in the fifth on a walk.

At the plate, Ginn slapped out two triples and two singles in four at bats to drive in three of Wayne's 11 scores. He also scored once.

Ginn's batting display was nearly duplicated by Rod Cook, another of Wayne's fine pitchers who handled shortstop duties against Wisner. Cook poked out

Donors Edge Club Total Near $300

Donations to help support the Wayne town team baseball club are slowly edging toward the $300 mark.

The total amount sent to the Wayne Baseball Association by late last week was $279, over $100 more than had been contributed by June 8, reports Ted Bane, the group's treasurer.

The money will go toward helping the town team purchase equipment and uniforms.

Letters sent out to all the businesses in Carroll, Winside and Wayne kicked off the fund campaign a few weeks ago. At last report, the approximate 20 donors live and do business in Wayne. The association sent the letters to people in the other two towns because the Wayne team can draw talent from an area within 15 miles.

The Wayne team dropped out of the now-defunct Northeast Nebraska League and hitched with the expanded Tri-Counties League, the same move as made by Wakefield and Ponca.

As of last week Wayne and Wausa were tied for first place in Tri-County play with records of three wins and no defeats.

single by Don Hansen, Steve Bering and Randy Nelson, a walk, one error and some fine base stealing by Mike Creighton and Doug Sturm gave the local squad six runs after the first two Wayne hitters grounded out.

Another Wayne run crossed home in the third when Cook and Ginn put together back-to-back triples and two scored in the fifth when Steve Kerstine singled home Creighton and Sturm, who had walked.

Wisner's Babe Lanned four Wayne batters, walked five and gave up 11 hits.

Wisner Legion made up for the younger squad's humiliation, holding Wayne scoreless after the initial fram to chalk up a 10-1 win.

Although Wayne's pitching trio of Don Mau, Randy Helgren and Rick Ginn combined to fan 13 hitters, they walked eight and allowed seven hits during the contest. Wisner scored three times in the second, twice in the third, in the fifth.

The lone Wayne score came after catcher Butch Meyer singled and scored on Rick Ginn's single. Accounting for the other three singles by Wayne were Randy Helgren, Ginn and Vaughn Korth.

Wisner's Holland rapped out a double and two singles in five at bats and Wiedmann managed two singles in four at bats.

Randolph Sizzles Past Wayne, 7-3

Randolph town team used one of the finest displays of pitching this season in the Tri-County League to hand Wayne its first loss of the year, a 7-3 decision at Randolph Thursday night.

Randolph's young hurler, Fred Brandl struck out 17 Wayne batters—including all three men to face him in the second, sixth, seventh and eighth innings—and walked only four as he went about posting his win. Wayne managed only five hits, all of the singles.

Meanwhile, Wayne's Randy Jacobson went about setting Randolph batters down without too much trouble. He struck out 13, but he ran into control problems several times and ended the game by giving up 10 free passes to first, the deciding factor in what otherwise would have been a low-scoring contest.

Ahead 1-0 after the first frame when Lynn Tomback came home on Denny Bowers' single, Wayne allowed three runs on three straight walks and a single with two men out.

Wayne gained one of those runs back in the sixth, but gave Randolph a 4-2 edge in the seventh.

Wayne's other singles against the Randolph hurer were Doug Radtke, Lynn Tomback and Gordie Jorgensen.

Wayne was scheduled to play Wakefield in an away game Sunday. Next action for the locals will be at Coleridge Thursday night. Also competing that evening: Randolph at Verdigris, Wakefield at Ponca, Wausa at Laurel and Ordclard at Bloomfield.

Ginn Sparks Local Midgets Past Wisner, 11-0

Young Mike Ginn couldn't have had a much better day than against Wisner Midgets Wednesday. In fact, his efforts split half would amount to two fine showings almost on any other day.

He allowed only one hit—during Wayne's 11-0 win—a double to the second man to face him—while striking out 13 and walking only one. He handled all the outplays in the last three frames after whiffing two each in the first two. Only four Wisner runners made it to first: two in the opening inning on a double and an error, one in the third on an error and one in the fifth on a walk.

At the plate, Ginn slapped out two triples and two singles in four at bats to drive in three of Wayne's 11 scores. He also scored once.

Ginn's batting display was nearly duplicated by Rod Cook, another of Wayne's fine pitchers who handled shortstop duties against Wisner. Cook poked out two triples in two times at the plate, drove in two runs and scored twice.

Also coming out of the action with more than one hit was third baseman Randy Nelson with two singles.

Wayne's big inning came in the second after tallying two runs in the opening stanza. Four hits, triples by Cook and Ginn, single by Don Hansen, Steve Bering and Randy Nelson, a walk, one error and some fine base stealing by Mike Creighton and Doug Sturm gave the local squad six runs after the first two Wayne hitters grounded out.

Another Wayne run crossed home in the third when Cook and Ginn put together back-to-back triples and two scored in the fifth when Steve Kerstine singled home Creighton and Sturm, who had walked.

Wisner's Babe Lanned four Wayne batters, walked five and gave up 11 hits.

Award Winners

These two avid fishermen from Wayne—Darold Kraemer above and Jerold Daniels below—are the first people to win recognition as Game Commission Master Anglers this year. Kraemer caught his award winning largemouth bass in a Dixon County farm pond. The biggest bass he has ever landed, it weighed five pounds, eight ounces. Daniels caught his two winners—a four pound, one ounce sauger and a two pound, one ounce apple—during the month of May—a fairly unusual accomplishment. The creepsie he caught in a Cumming County sauger, the sauger in the Missouri River near Maskell. The fishermen receive a citation from the Commission for their successful efforts.

The award winning children's TV program series "Sesame Street" from the National Educational Television Network will be carried on KCAI-TV, Channel 9 starting today (Monday) at 8 a.m. Bill Turner, executive vice-president and general manager of KCAI-TV, says the station approached the Iowa Educational Broadcasting Network for permission to carry the program after a number of requests were received from viewers saying they could not get a strong signal from the educational TV channels now carrying the program.

and 4:30 p.m. They will continue to do so. The addition of "Sesame Street" to the Channel 9 schedule will make the outstanding children's program series available to many children in northeast Nebraska not now in range of an educational TV station signal.
