

Mail Route Gravel Costs Near $100,000

By Marlin Wright

Money is of prime importance in operating county government even as it is in the operation of any business. Wayne County commissioners face some of the same budget problems in county business as do men running private firms.

County roads, due to their use by area residents and taxpayers, demand constant attention from the commissioners. Keeping sufficient gravel on the mail routes is a particular job in itself consuming sizeable amounts of money now nearing the $100,000 mark.

Gas tax receipts from the state were returned to the county in previous years through December, 1969. These monies were then divided into funds for the county's roads, bridges and road districts, then further divided into different communities.

Due to changes made by the 1969 Nebraska Legislature, the state beginning last January, now sends Wayne County a highway allocation check each month.

Wayne County received a total of $71,737.51 from the state in the 1968-69 fiscal year for mail route gravel. This amount was then spent for mail routes throughout the county with the cost per cubic yard varying from $1.50 to $2.50, depending upon who hauled the gravel and how far.

Gravel hauled by county trucks costs about $1.50 per cubic yard while gravel delivered from one of five gravel firms doing business with the county may cost $2.50 per cubic yard depending upon the distance hauled.

Commissioners Steve Surber and Davy met with representatives of the gravel firms each year to determine price. The administrators then order the gravel from the firm nearest the area where it will be used.

During the first six months of 1970 the state sent monies amounting to $122,090.45 in county highway allocation checks. Norris Wible, county clerk, said See ROAD GRAVEL, page 6

WSC Lass Named Hampshire Queen At Sunday Meet

Mary Pat Finn, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Finn of Carroll, was crowned as the 1970-71 Nebraska Hampshire Queen during ceremonies Sunday at the State Hampshire Field Day and picnic in Seward.

The new queen, a Wayne State College student, said Tuesday she would be traveling to Louisville, Kentucky to participate in the national competition for the title of queen during the National Hampshire Conference slated July 20-22.

Mary Pat is a 1970 graduate of Laurel High School and is studying speech this summer at Wayne State College in preparation for a career in journalism and broadcasting. She is the oldest of five daughters in the Finn family and also has three brothers.

There were three girls competing for the queen title at Seward. Each contestant was judged on personality, beauty, poise, and the ability to speak for five minutes plus answer questions.

Area Paper Drive Sets New Record

Area Boy Scouts in Laurel, Carroll, Wakefield, Wiltse and Wayne gathered a record 85,000 pounds of old newspapers Saturday. Rowan Wiltsie, scoutmaster of Troop 175 in Wayne, said it would be the last such paper-drive for some time as the contract with the Midwest Paper Salvage Company in Omaha has been terminated.

Wiltsie emphasized that the Scouts will not be picking up old newspapers in Wayne and surrounding towns until further notice so people need not save them, he said, at least for the Boy Scouts.

The scoutmaster apologized for loose paper in the southeast part of Wayne explaining that high winds may have blown a few papers around while they were being held for a railroad boxcar. The boxcar was due in Wayne Thursday but didn't arrive until about 3:30 p.m. Saturday, Wiltsie said.

The paper drives have been successful for both the Scouts, as a fund raising project, and for residents who were able to dispose of unwanted paper.

2 Vehicles Collide In Carroll Mishap

No injuries were reported in a car-pickup collision at an intersection in Carroll around 3:45 p.m. Saturday.

The Wayne County sheriff's office, which investigated the mishap, said Ronnie Billheimer of Carroll was northbound in a 1965 Ford pickup owned by Cunningham Feed and Supply Company. Dennis Beckman of Wayne was eastbound in a 1961 Chevrolet and the two vehicles collided at a residential intersection.

Both vehicles received extensive damage.

Mrs. Middleton is employed at the Wayne Book Store and Bill Lueders Jr. at Bill's Market Basket.

3 Dixon Co. Farms To Be Chosen For Conservation Program

The Dixon County Soil and Water Conservation District is entering the 24th annual Conservation for Better Farming Program sponsored by the Sloux City Journal and Chamber of Commerce.

Several farms in Dixon County have been entered and judges will visit these farms early in July to select three winning farms to represent Dixon County. The winning families will be invited to an honor awards banquet to be held in Sloux City early in November.

The program is the result of the combined services of several agricultural agencies in an effort to conserve soil, water, wildlife and clean air in order to create a healthy environment and balanced ecology. Ross Armstrong, chairman of the Dixon County SWCD, states that the judging will be announced at a later date.

'Separates' to Be 'In' Next Fall

Fadies get ready to purchase plenty of "separates" if you want to keep up with latest styles this fall.

That's the suggestion from shirt and blouse manufacturers who are predicting a sales boom in separates.

Also, blouse styles will be more imaginative and interesting this fall. Fabrics will range from calico to satin.

Read about these and other things expected in women's fashions later this year in Mary Schlukebeier's column on the society page of this issue of The Wayne Herald.

Church Bells Tops in Judging Will Chime On Saturday

The Wayne Ministerial Association is seeing to it that the church bells in Wayne will ring Saturday morning as part of Wayne's participation in the nationwide "Honor America Day."

The Wayne Chamber of Commerce is urging all drivers in the city to sound the horns on their cars at the same time, between 11 and 11:02 a.m. Saturday, to tie in with the public display of patriotism planned by people across the nation. The Chamber will have the American flags displayed throughout the day. See CHURCH BELLS, page 6

July 4th Horse Show Set

Members of the Wayne Saddle Club are hoping for a bit more luck in holding this year's Fourth of July horse show. Last year the club got rained out two times—or was it three?

Additional reason for the club to hope for a perfect day is the new arena which was recently completed at the Wayne County fairgrounds. The arena is located just to the north of the grandstand at the fairgrounds. It was built with labor supplied by the club members and material supplied by the county agricultural society.

The horse show begins at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Contestants and spectators are to use the west gate to the fairgrounds. Admission is 50 cents; children under 12 will be admitted without charge.

Competition in the morning will be for performance and halter classes. The afternoon's See HORSE SHOW, page 6

No Paper Scheduled Over Fourth Weekend

Subscribers to The Wayne Herald will not receive a Monday issue of the newspaper because of the fourth of July weekend. The Herald offices will be closed all day Saturday, giving employees benefit of a full holiday weekend.

Several other businesses are planning on closing Saturday, as are the post offices and county offices.

Sidewalks, Bids, Sunday Closing Law Council Subjects

Wayne's city council Tuesday night took another step toward getting sidewalks installed along North Sherman Street, opened several groups of bids and decided to study the possibility of changing the Sunday closing law for taverns.

After hearing objections from the property owners on the east side of Sherman about putting sidewalks in on just that side of the street, the council voted to order sidewalks in on both sides of the street from Seventh north to the last houses now built along the street.

Objections voiced by a spokesman for some of those living on the east side of Sherman included ones raised by those on the other side who had objected to the council several weeks ago and persuaded them to order the walks in on just the opposite side. The spokesman noted that retaining walls would have to be built and shrubbery and trees would probably be damaged on the east as well as the west side.

Council stipulated that the property owners have enough time to object to the placing of the sidewalks on their property if it will cause them hardships.

Opened during the evening were bids turned in by several local bulk gas dealers for supplying the city trucks and equipment with gas. Accepted bid was the 12.8 cents per gallon bid turned in by Merchant Oil. The bid does not include the state tax of 8.5 cents a gallon. Next lowest bidder was M & H Apco with a 13.75 bid. Also bidders: Standard Oil, Corvett Derby, Farmer's Co-Op and M & S Oil.

The bid turned in by Standard Oil of Wayne of 11.55 cents per gallon for diesel fuel for the city light plant was accepted by the council. Only other bid turned in was by Merchant Oil of Wayne of 12.04 cents.

Sent to committee were the bids, opened on street-improvement districts 62, 63 and 64. The districts are in the recently annexed Knolls area on the west edge of the city.

Bids turned in were by Midwest Bridge of Norfolk ($93,631), Einung Concrete of Wayne ($104,600), Gill Construction of Jackson ($112,313) and Gerhold

People Wanted for July 4th Display

Come one, come all. That's the word being put out by the Wayne County Jaycees for the Fourth of July fireworks display being planned for the Wayne ball park Saturday.

The display will begin about 9:30 in the evening and will last about one hour. There is no admission charge and all county and area residents are invited to attend.

Added attraction during the evening will be the two short baseball games scheduled before the display. Featuring young eight and nine-year-olds in Wayne's summer baseball program, the games will be held at 7:30 and 8:30 p.m.

The fireworks affair is being sponsored by the Jaycee organization with funds from the city of Wayne and over 20 Wayne businessmen. The group planned the celebration as a way of marking the national holiday and kicking off the Wayne County centennial.

Latest contributors to the fund to buy the fireworks are Melodee Cleaners, Dick Sorenson and Wayne Cold Storage.

Mom Nature Fixed A Hot Dish Sunday

Dame Nature has been throwing a little bit of everything into the weather pot for Wayne and northeast Nebraska during the past week. Hot winds blowing in gusts up to 30 m.p.h. helped bake the already dry ground which had not had rain for about two weeks.

Thermometer readings in Wayne hit the 102 degree mark Sunday which was four degrees higher than the highest reading of 98 degrees last summer on July 14.

A thunderstorm brought showers over the area Tuesday night and Wednesday morning bringing slightly less than a half-inch of rain. Considerable electrical See HOT DISH, page 6

Area School Districts Publish Legal Notices

Taxpayers throughout the Wayne area should find this issue of The Wayne Herald of special value, for it contains the legal notices of preliminary budget estimates for seven school districts.

The notices give the estimated expenses for coming year and the amount which must be raised to meet those expenses. The notices also give the date and place for the coming public hearing on the budgets.

Council Schedules Date for Hearing On '70-71 Budget

A public hearing on a proposed budget of $1,653,000 for the city of Wayne will be held Tuesday evening, July 28, at 8 p.m. in the city auditorium.

The proposed budget for 1970-71, which would call for a levy of 23 mills, was approved by council Tuesday evening. Final approval can be taken only after the public hearing.

If the budget estimate is used as now set up, it would mean that the city budget will drop over $500,000 from last year's budget of $2,174,000. However, the mill levy will jump from last year's 19.95 to the estimated 23.

Major reason for the drop in the estimated budget is the drop from $1,000,000 to $500,000 in the electric fund, one of several funds which is not supported by taxes.

Only minor changes are proposed. See PUBLIC HEARING, page 6

Top Contestants Named At Carroll Celebration

Winners in the various parades and contests held during the annual Carroll celebration Friday and Saturday have been announced by the Carroll Community Club, the sponsoring organization.

There were 28 entries in the middle parade at 10 a.m. Saturday which had first, second and third place winners in each of three divisions——Pets: Jodi Isom, first, with a Carroll Zoo; Kristi and Karlene Benshoof, second as Ma and Pa Kettle on the farm, and Greg Owens, with his goat Hank, as third place winner.

—Costumes: First place went to Barry Dahlkoetter who was dressed as Bo-Bo the Clown; Megan Owens, second place, as a Moon Man, and Holly Rees got third dressed as a Butterin Bottle.

—Vehicles: Stacy Glass, first, as Homer Goose; Marilyn Dowling, second, with her decorated bicycle; Sandra and Sharon McLain and Terri Burbanck, third place as summer flowers.

The main parade at eleven o'clock featured 70 entries from Carroll and surrounding towns. Winning first place and $15 was the Belden Commercial Club float. The float entered by the Handolph Community Club took third place honors and a check for $5. Entries came from Laurel, Randolph, Hoskins, Wayne, Belden, Piker, and Carroll.

Winning $10 in the parade for having the most horses—22 in all—were the Wayne County 4-H Hombres. Members of the Hoskins Saddle Club were winners of a $15 check as a result of being named by judges as the best appearing saddle club. Other See TOP CONTESTANTS, pg. 6

Sunday Art Show Features Artists From Wakefield

Despite the 100-degree heat, about 40 people turned out for the first Sunday showing of works by artists in Dixon County. Among those who viewed the works were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Emery and artist Ruth Miner, right. The artists who worked on display were Beth Yost, Mary Baker, JoAnn Miller, Ruth Miner, Warner Erlanson, Nellie Johnson, Donna Rouse and Lynette Miller, all of Wakefield. Emerson artists will be featured next Sunday afternoon in the continuing art show. The works are displayed at the county museum at Allen.

Fall Fashions
Get set for a return to the "separate" story for fall. Why? The midi skirt.
Skirt and blouse manufacturers are predicting a sales boom in separates. Their reasoning: women who are attracted to the new lengths are more likely to invest first in skirts instead of expensive dresses. And women who hesitate to accept the longer length—or reject it altogether—will stock their wardrobes with more pants.
Either way, women will need skirts or blouses. So manufacturers are expecting their biggest season in years, notes Janet Reed, University of Delaware.

Blouse styles will be more imaginative and interesting, too. Although the tailored shirt will be important, newer trends are toward soft styles which need soft fabrics. Long, full sleeves, sleeves puffed at the shoulder, ruffles, ties, softly rolled collars and lace jabots are details you'll see.
Many of the blouses are longer and are squared at the hem for wearing over pants. Blouses with the belt are proportioned for longer lengths.
Fabrics? Anything you want, from calico to satin. But if you're going in for puffed sleeves, ruffles, gathers or ties, choose a soft fabric. Voile, crepe, chiffon, challis are ideal for many of the styles. Prints have an old-fashioned, quaint look, but the men's wear stripe is also

'Cat and Canary' Will Open Third Summer Season

A company of Wayne State College players made the move last week to Shore Acres Theatre at Sioux City to begin work on the third consecutive season of summer stock, a joint venture by the Sioux City Community Theatre and Wayne State College Theatre Department.

According to Dr. Helen J. Russell, director, this season's six plays have been selected on a basis of audience appeal, variety of fare and special talents of the acting company.

Scheduled for the opening production Thursday evening is "The Cat and the Canary," a classic mystery thriller which oldsters may remember from the Frankenstein era—and which youngsters may have seen on the late-late show.

July 9 through 12 will see "Come Blow Your Horn" on the boards, a comedy by Neil Simon who wrote "The Odd Couple," so well-received last summer. "Toys in the Attic," to be presented July 16 through 19, is a dramatic drama by Lillian Hellman, and "The Killing of Sister George" will open July 23 and run through July 26.

To coincide with the annual Sioux City Rivercade, Wayne State Players will present "Deadwood Dick" an old West melodrama of the Gay 90's, July 30 through August 2. Winding up the season will be the captivating comedy, "My Three Angels," to run August 6-9.

The company includes several graduates returning for second and third seasons, as well as a number of undergraduate thespians who are new to Shore Acres. Theatre patrons will remember graduate students Bob and Gloria Hillgas, Neola, Iowa; Linda Knoevel, Omaha; Rita Milnes, Hartington, and Ken Grafis, Laurel. Also a graduate, but a newcomer this year is Ann Schroeder of Elkhorn.

Other newcomers include Fred Wrigton, Schuyler; Dwight Meyer, Ink, Scribner; Barbara Pruden, Ewing; Fred Fiddell, Paultina, Iowa; Sharen Gibbons, Newell, Iowa, and Kevin Hall, Whiting, Iowa. Later in the season Paula Eoff, Central City, a veteran of last summer, and Phyllis Mausback, Humphrey, will join the company. Although he is not enrolled in the program for college credit, Jim Zerschling, Sioux City, will also be a third-year participant.

Producers will run Thursday through Sunday of each week. The theatre is air-conditioned and the "come-as-you-are" invitation is extended again this year. Discounted ticket books, group rates and special Sunday night student rates of two admissions for the price of one will also be available. The box office is open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. for reservations and information. Phone 712-233-2788.

Independence Day

As we join together to celebrate this Fourth of July, let us remember that, above all, this is a day to show our gratitude to our forefathers for their great fortitude and vision in establishing this great nation upon the foundations of freedom, and their steadfastness in upholding that freedom.

Let us affirm our faith in the principles for which they stood and pledge anew, dedicating ourselves unswervingly to the ideal that liberty may ever endure.

Wayne Legion Upsets Tilden, 4-2

By Norvin Hansen

A lead-off single in the bottom of the first by Wayne Legion outfielder Dennis Redel set the stage for a four-run output in Wayne's 4-2 handling of Tilden Monday night.

In the stands getting a glimpse of the major American sport were many of the Danish students and teachers who are spending two weeks at Wayne State.

Connecting for singles following Redel's example in the opening frame were outfielder Rick Ginn and catcher Butch Meyer. Those were the only hits Wayne was able to scratch out against Tilden's Batenhorst.

Wayne had allowed one Tilden runner to cross home in the top of the first when pitcher Don Mau gave up one of five hits. Mau was the first man to face him.

allowed two scattered singles in the next five innings before being tagged for two singles and one run in the bottom of the seventh. Wayne's defense succeeded on stifling the Tilden threat after giving up the one score on the second single.

In going the full seven innings, Mau struck out four and never walked or hit a Tilden batter. His counterpart fanned seven Wayne men and walked two. Wayne succeeded in getting a man to first only once after the opening stanza—in the third inning when the Tilden pitcher walked his second batter with two out.

Wayne moves back into Ralph Bishop League action next Wednesday, July 8, when Winside plays here. Also competing that day will be Laurel at Wisner. Wakefield and Pender drew byes for that day. No games are scheduled for Sunday because of the Fourth of July weekend.

Allen Takes 2 From Jackson

Allen's Pee Wees avenged an earlier defeat at the hands of Jackson by defeating that same Jackson team, 6-1, Sunday afternoon. In the Midget contest at Jackson Allen topped the host's, 11-1, in an abbreviated five-inning game.

Allen's Jeff Creamer and Brad Chase teamed up to allow Jackson just two hits and one run in the opener while Allen, led by Steve Osbahr's two safeties, collected six runs on five hits and eight free trips to first.

Led by John Warner and Pete Snyder — both with three hits in as many trips to the plate — the Allen Midgets scored six runs in the second, two in the fourth and six in the fifth to allow Gary Trank to coast to his fifth win in as many starts.

Four bases on balls, one hit batter and three hits put six runs across for the visitors in the second. In the six-run fifth, Allen came up with one walk and three hits to go along with Jackson's two errors. Allen ended the game with 19 hits, two errors.

Troth gave up three hits. Sunday afternoon Allen will host Martinsburg. Jackson will be at Ponca and Hubbard travels to Martinsburg.

Dixon's Taylor Shines at Norfolk

Bob Taylor of Dixon made up for the little that has been heard from him on the Norfolk oval this season by winning both the A Feature and the first heat in Sunday's round of action.

Also pulling down a first in the racing was Hoskins' Gene Brudigan in the B Feature. Brudigan came in second in the Australian pursuit race, and Harold Brudigan, also of Hoskins, came in second in the B Feature.

Gerald Bruggeman, another oval addict from Hoskins, showed South Dakota fans what racing is like by pulling down three first places on the Dawson Creek oval at Scotland in Sunday night racing. He took the first heat, the trophy dash and the A Feature. Bruggeman made nearly that impressive a showing in Saturday night's action at Columbus. He won the second heat and the trophy dash and was leading in the A Feature before spinning out in the last lap and ending up sixth. Taking second in the first heat that evening was Gene Brudigan.

Last Friday night at Albion's oval, Taylor pulled down firsts in the second heat and the A Feature; Bruggeman topped that showing with top finishes in the first heat, the B Feature, and the trophy dash. Also racing to showings was Gene Brudigan with a second in the second heat and a third in the B Feature.

On Wednesday night of last week, Brudigan won the second heat and trophy dash and finished fourth in the A Feature. Bruggeman came in first in the first heat and first in the A Feature. Dennis Crippen of Wakefield took eighth in the A Feature.

Wanted for Display: Hunt-Fish Permits Issued, Sold in '01

Nebraska's hunting-fishing permits made their debut in 1911 and sold for $1. That's a long time ago, and most people have never seen some of the antique permits.

Consequently, the Game and Parks Commission would like to round up the most complete individual collection of permits to display among other exhibits at Fort NEBRASKA during State Fair Sept. 3-9.

In addition, the Commission hopes to obtain complete sets of Upland Game Bird Stamps and federal "duck" stamps to round out the display. The upland stamps should be a little easier to locate, since they were initiated only in 1953. Duck stamps first went on sale in 1934.

Anyone with such collections who would be willing to lend them to the Commission for the State Fair exhibit or anyone who knows of collections of old-time permits should notify the Information and Tourism Division, Game and Parks Commission, State Capitol, Lincoln, Nebr. 68509.

Drivers Urged to Make July 4th Safe

With the 4th of July rapidly approaching, the Nebraska Department of Roads is asking all drivers to cooperate in making it a safe holiday.

As part of a two-fold defensive driving program for the 60-hour holiday period beginning at 6 p.m. July 3, Governor Norbert T. Ruml urges all motorists on rural roads to drive with their headlights on. This self-protective measure will enable drivers to see approaching vehicles and judge distances better. Motorcyclists are urged to drive with their lights on year-round.

Also, during the first eight days of July, a crackdown on enforcement will be in effect, with road checks set up across the state. Motorists will be stopped and asked to show their driver licenses. This will give patrolmen an opportunity to check the driver's condition and should boost general good driving practices, since motorists can expect to be under close surveillance.

Reliable sources predict a record traffic volume for this 4th of July weekend, with a greater potential for accidents. Tom Ryan, Accident Records Supervisor at the Department of Roads, offers the following tips for a safe holiday:

- Plan your trip in advance - allow for an early start and plenty of time to make the return
- trip in daylight hours, thus avoiding other tired and impatient drivers.
- Safety check your car, and yourself, before leaving.
- Obey all traffic regulations - don't cheat on traffic signals to make up for lost time.
- Drive defensively - stay alert by stopping at least every 100 miles and don't drink.
- Ryan also urges all motorists to be especially alert at railroad crossings.
- Every holiday records a railroad crossing fatality with most collisions occurring on county roads. Other high-hazard locations requiring caution are the many blind county intersections caused by crops, trees and shrubbery. Also, there will be more motorcycles, boat trailers and campers than ever before which will create many additional hazards," he said.
- According to Ryan, fatal accidents occurring in Nebraska over the 1969 holiday were avoidable. Seven fatal accidents resulting in eight deaths in the 80-hour period were blamed on careless driving. (An average of one an hour). Five of the eight killed were under 20 years of age. Two of the accidents were on county roads, two on state highways and three within cities. None of the victims were wearing seat belts and none of the fatal accidents occurred on the Interstate system.

The importance of wearing seat belts is emphasized by these 1969 statistics. In one right-angle collision one driver was killed - he was not wearing a seat belt - while the other driver escaped without injuries - he was wearing his seat belt. Another accident involving a head-on collision produced the same results.

A total of 383 accidents were reported in Nebraska during last year's holiday period for an average of five accidents an hour. They resulted in 223 injured - or three persons injured each hour.

This new riding arena at the Wayne county fairgrounds will be the site of Saturday's Wayne Saddle Club horse show.

Horse Show -

action will include polo bending, junior hat racing, men's senior western pleasure, ladies egg race and trail horse class. Judge for the day will be Nate Clayburg of Neligh.

Anyone wishing more information about the show should call either Marilyn Koch at 375-3198 or Jack Beeson at 375-3404.

Rain date - although the club hopes it doesn't have to be used - is Sunday.

activity accompanied the rain. A spokesman at the city light plant noted that a new peak on the record of 5,000 kilowatts with line was recorded around 4:30 p.m. Monday when temperatures rose near the 100 mark again. The previous peak record at the light plant last July was around 5,400 kilowatts. The plant also recorded a new 24-hour high of 105,000 kilowatts on the line Monday.

Temperature readings for the past week were as follows:

Date	411	LO
June 24	94	62
June 25	82	60
June 26	96	60
June 27	90	50
June 28	94	50
June 29	102	76
June 30	96	78

Forecast for the area are continued high temperatures with the possibility of showers toward the end of the week.

Road Gravel -

the commissioners will use 46.39 per cent of this amount, or $49,421.78, for rural mail route gravel. The $49,421.78 was divided three ways for the three districts in the county. John Surber is commissioner of District I which has 274 miles of roads; George Stolz of Carroll is commissioner of District II with 265 miles of roads; and Roy Davis of Winside is commissioner of District III which also has 265 miles of roads. Not all of these roads are mail routes.

Costs for rural mail route gravel by district in the county during the fiscal year July 1, 1969 through June, 1970 were as follows: District I, $29,237.80; District II, $33,126.11; and District III, $32,805.30. Those figures add up to $95,169.21 spent for mail route gravel in 12 months.

Since the county received $122,090.45 in highway allocation funds during the first six months of 1970, of which $49,421.78 was earmarked for rural mail route gravel, it is possible that a similar approximate amount could be received during the next six months, if so, it means the county, under the new financial arrangement with the state since the beginning of the year, could conceivably be recipient of considerably more funds than was received previously for mail route gravel. Rather than the $71,737.51 figure received from the state during the previous fiscal year, the county, under the new program, might possibly receive an additional $20,000 over that figure.

Speaking of a possible increase, County Clerk Wetzel said it was too early in the program to be able to determine whether or not the county would be recipient of a considerable increase, but that the state had assured the county it would receive at least as much as it had under the old arrangement.

posed in the budgeting of money which must be raised by tax money.

Along a similar line, the council gave the city clerk and city attorney authority to go ahead with steps necessary for the city to issue between $200,000 and $250,000 in various purpose bonds.

The bonds would be issued to supply the city with money to pay for such things as street and sewer projects. Those projects must be paid for by the owners who use them pay for them over several years. The bond issue is not one which would require a public vote.

Of Auto Pollution

Some of the things being done by General Motors to halt air pollution by autos was the subject of Wendell Turner, assistant zone manager for GM of Omaha, as he spoke to Kiwanis Club members Monday noon following a noon luncheon at the Woman's Club room.

Turner presented a film on research being carried out by GM in the attempt to find solutions to auto pollution. GM has been conducting such research for the past 20 years, according to the film, and several modifications have been made to auto engines as a consequence.

The speaker noted that every standard GM engine in the 1971 model vehicles will use regular gas rather than ethyl. Kent Hall, Kiwanis president, announced the annual club picnic will be held July 20 at 6:30 p.m. in Bressler Park.

★ "And the Star Spangled Banner, oh, long may it wave." On the Fourth of July, it's heartening to see our flag flying proudly before home after home. Show your colors... on Independence Day, display the Red, White and Blue symbol of our nation's heritage.

★ Most of all, that heritage is freedom. Through the days and the years since July 4, 1776, there have been times of struggle and sorrow, of danger and difficulty, but through even the darkest hours the bright light of freedom... symbolized by our flag... has sustained us and led us onward to rich and abundant blessings.

★ This Fourth of July, say a prayer of thanks for priceless freedom... honor the flag and all it stands for... show your colors.

A Dangerous Practice

Again this year, young people in Wayne are being allowed to have fun in a way which is dangerous to themselves and others around them. The youths are being permitted to throw lighted firecrackers very close to the stands where they are seated.

It takes only a little imagination to picture what could happen if one of those firecrackers were tossed into the stand itself. A firecracker going off in one of those stands could easily set off a vicious chain reaction which could result in terrible injuries to anybody close to the stand.

We're not sure how often this is happening in Wayne, but once or twice during the whole time the stands are up would be too often and we're sure it's been more than that already. Who's to blame? Without a doubt, the parents of the reckless youngsters are the ones who must bear the blame for not teaching their children simple respect for others and basic safety principles. We would hate to be in the shoes of the parent of a child who brought some accident about through sheer disrespect of safety rules.

The police department reports that the policeman who spots someone throwing firecrackers near a stand usually talks to the child and to the person in the stand. The police report that there have been a few cases of these talks so far this year. We think it's time for something other than talking. Tomorrow it may be too late for even that. — N.H.H.

Youths Speak Up

A group of young people, about 95 in number, are enrolled in driver's training at the Wayne High School. As they have been out driving around town they have also been observing areas in the community lacking sidewalks.

These students are especially interested in sidewalks because they are often on foot throughout the year going to and from school.

As a result of observations made by the class, they have presented some definite opinions. They believe sidewalks are needed most on both sides of Sherman Street north of Seventh Street; on the north end of Lincoln Street going toward the swimming pool in the 1000 and 1100 blocks; on the south side of Seventh Street west from Main to Douglas; and in all of the newer sections of town.

The class notes there are two common complaints made when the idea of putting in sidewalks is mentioned. Those are, "I don't want to pay for having a sidewalk put in" and "A sidewalk would ruin our lawn."

The students said they didn't believe one little concrete strip would greatly detract from the appearance of the lawns and they believed human lives and the safety of children are worth far more than the cost of an installed sidewalk.

Every businessman knows the importance of on-the-scene consumer reports. After all, the people who use a product the most will have an opinion about it and may have suggestions if used, that would make the product even better.

Many local residents seldom use sidewalks as they travel by car. These people, naturally, are not overly concerned with the need of more sidewalks. Youths who walk to and from school, the swimming pool, or anywhere else, are the ones using the sidewalks, or would use them if the walks were provided.

The driver's training class has given the city a consumers report. Anyone listening? — MWV.

Okay, Let's Really Celebrate

All of Wayne County should start getting "centennial fever" within the next few days. And when we say all of Wayne County we mean just that.

A prime example of one of the ways being offered for the whole county to get into the swing of things to celebrate the county's 100th birthday is the effort being made by the committee in charge of the county fair.

The committee has come up with the idea of having a group of towns in the county in charge of one day's activities at the fair. Those towns could decide what activities to have and would have the opportunity to make that particular day one of the most eventful ones of the fair and the centennial. The county fair, the committee reasons, would then take a big step toward becoming once again a county celebration rather than a Wayne celebration. We heartily agree. Now, let's see some interest and action by the townspeople in and around Hecks, Winslow, Altona, Sholes, Carroll and Wayne.

Another good example of the work being done is the effort by the Mrs. Jaycees in Wayne to hold a county beauty pageant a few days before the celebration. The contest is open to any girls in the county. Only thing wrong with this idea, surprisingly, is that not many girls have entered.

And a third example is the Fourth of July fireworks display being planned for the Wayne ball park this Saturday. Sponsored by the city and several business organizations, the celebration will be the first one in Wayne of any size in several years. The Wayne Jaycees, organizers of the event, are holding it for two reasons: to celebrate the national holiday and to kick off the Wayne County centennial.

These are some of the things being planned to mark this 100th birthday of the county. Others are in the works and several more could probably be organized.

What is needed now are some enthusiastic people to help get the centennial celebration in full gear. The recent celebrations in Carroll and Winslow are proof that there are plenty of people in the county capable of planning and carrying through successful celebrations. Now, if they would just step forward. — N.H.H.

Out of Old

The Glorious Fourth! Until the advent of the auto and the intrusion of the radio and television into the lives of most Americans, Independence Day was an occasion for "home grown" community-wide entertainment. Newspaper files at the Nebraska State Historical Society recall the enthusiastic though unfrenzied observance of the Fourth. As early as 1857 in the Missouri River towns of eastern Nebraska the day was "celebrated with great spirit by our citizens. The day was ushered in with the firing of guns, anvils, and any means by which powder could be exploded. The Declaration of Independence was read, special orations were delivered, and in the evening a splendid ball was held." In the village of Palmyra the Fourth was celebrated on Saturday, July 3, 1875, with a typical observance: "For some days," a Journalist reported, "preparations were made for the coming event. Old and young were on tiptoe in ecstasies of anticipation." On the evening before the Fourth, a grand ball was scheduled for the Masonic Hall. High winds, threatening clouds again, which kept up most of the night, failed to dampen the spirits of the revelers, even when Dray's Cornet Band of Nebraska City failed to put in an appearance until 11 p.m. "The impatient lovers of the light fantastic," then began a revel which lasted most of the night. Tiring of dancing the crowd moved out into the streets "well pleased with the night's dissipation." Explosion of "firecrackers and the boom of an old rusty musket" punctuated the early morning hours. The dancers and the band-turned-serenaders paraded to Elder Taggart's paragon, "where they aroused the occupant who came forth looking as though the arms of Morpheus had pressed him hard." Then they proceeded to "a spot between the Methodist Episcopal Church and the blacksmith shop, going through the same ceremony as before." The rain had put the picnic grounds of J. E. McKee in bad shape and the "patriotic people were busy till noon getting things fixed up comfortably." At 11:30 J. W. Ellis of Lincoln, the day's orator, appeared, and was "escorted to the shady dell by the band." After dinner President S. S. Seely called the assembly

Police in Nebraska Receive Hearty Vote of Confidence

LINCOLN—Nebraska's policemen have been given a hearty vote of confidence by the citizens.

(Citizen reaction to law enforcement officers was surveyed last fall by the Police Officers Association of Nebraska in cooperation with the psychology department of the University of Nebraska.) The poll was taken at the POAN booth at the state fair, but the analysis of the results wasn't announced until this summer.

The returns from the 3,464 questionnaires were overwhelmingly in support of the police. The only segment of those polled who indicated any reservations were persons in their upper teens, the 16-to-19 age group.

The youngsters generally agreed that to order for vocal music, the Declaration was read by Elsie Det on (the first time a lady had been accorded the honor), and a "short and impressive" talk by Mr. Ellis was "well received and taken home by many to digest."

At 3 p.m. the throng marched to the baseball grounds where the visiting club failed to appear. Undaunted, the celebrants "arranged a social which occupied the rest of the day." The reporter observed that after resting Sunday, July 3, many merry-makers expected to go by train to Lincoln to celebrate the "Fifth."

Not all 1900 countians were as good natured as the Palmyrans in 1875. In Nebraska City M. M. Hamlin was served with a warrant charging him with firing "firecrackers, serpents, rockets, and explosive and combustible articles." The case was unusual in that "several hundred men, women, and small boys... were equally guilty of violating the ordinance on the glorious day of our national independence." Indignation was expressed by many that a full dress trial involving two prosecution and two defense lawyers should be necessary. F. Howard, the complainant, testified Hamlin "came down the sidewalk singing and shouting and shooting off fireworks." Howard said he was "astonished to see an insurance man doing this," and when he objected Hamlin "got angry and went off and purchased a large quantity of firecrackers and set them off." A six-man jury found the defendant "not guilty and we further find that the prosecution was malicious and without probable cause." From the courtroom spectators came "loud and continuous applause for Hamlin."

golicemen are usually fair, friendly, stable, good citizens, hard workers and interested — but they weren't! as conceived as the others who had filled in the survey sheets.

Dr. Carmen Grant, Coordinator of the University of Nebraska Mental Health Program, was a member of the committee which analyzed the survey returns.

She said it is normal for persons that age to indicate a resentment toward authority. In addition, she said, that is the age when a person usually begins his driving career and this often brings him into contact with law enforcement officers, sometimes unpleasantly.

Mrs. Grant and Ben Goble, community relations officer for the Lincoln Police Department and a committee member, said the Nebraska stand in favor of law and order perhaps has become even more firm since the survey was taken last September.

The reason, they said, was the number of incidents around the nation — including in Nebraska — of disruptive activities — on campuses and in the streets. Mrs. Grant said the survey sample had "some deficiencies and couldn't be considered truly scientific, but she said it does provide "a representative view of the opinions of the largely middle-class, white mid-western population."

"To be scientific," she said, more minority races and low-income persons would have to be represented. One of the questions on the survey asked who is responsible for the "growing disrespect for law and order." Both Mrs. Grant and Goble said they were surprised that 47 per cent of the persons surveyed said the public should shoulder most of the blame.

Another 31 per cent put the blame on the courts and 12 per cent said lawmakers were at fault. Only five per cent blamed law enforcement officers.

Another question asked whether it was a good or bad idea to use chemical mace on "a violent lawbreaker." The persons surveyed could make seven choices between good and bad and 51 per cent marked their "ballots" at the extreme good end. Eight per cent put their marks at the extreme bad end.

The question didn't offer any alternatives to the use of mace, and Mrs. Grant said it wasn't clear from the responses whether the citizens were saying they preferred mace over guns or clubs.

Way Back When

30 Years Ago

July 4, 1940: Second month's operation of the federal food stamp plan is starting in Wayne County. For the first three weeks in July fresh cabbage and fresh snap beans are added to the list of surplus commodities, and fresh peas and sprouts are kept on the list. The only item taken off is fresh oranges. In a group having a steak fry in the Gildersleeve home Thursday night were Leona Balde, Dorothy Steele, Izora Laughlin, Susan Ewing, Susie Souder, Madelaine Kauffman, Wilma Gildersleeve, Mae Young, Ruth Ruback, Verna Anderson, Lillian Schroeder and Bernice August. Wayne Municipal Airport will be dedicated in July.

25 Years Ago

July 5, 1945: Members of Our Redeemer's Lutheran Church voted unanimously Sunday to incorporate. Action was taken at a semi-annual congregational meeting to prepare for building a new church edifice at 15th and Lincoln. Miss Margaret Schemel will head the language department at Lincoln Memorial University in Harrogate, Tenn., this fall.

20 Years Ago

July 6, 1950: Repairs to the 51-year-old Wayne County courthouse and the Wayne County jail will be completed some time next week. The commissioners ordered the state roof of the courthouse repaired, bricks in the old building tuck pointed and asphalt replaced in the tower. Repairs will also be made on the jail including water-pooling the outside of the building. Winners of the women's golf tournament in a three-ball six-some play-off were Mrs. W. G. Schulz and Mrs. P. G. Faelberth in the championship flight and Mrs. Rod Love and Mrs. Fred Dale in the consolation flight. In spite of "war headlines" there are at present no plans to activate the National Guard, according to word received from the National Guard Bureau at Washington by the Wayne Guard unit.

15 Years Ago

July 7, 1955: First fish, about 400 bass arrived last Wednesday for stocking in Izank Walton Lake northwest of Wayne. A federal hatchery truck from Guttenberg, Iowa delivered the fingerlings. The fish were transported to the lake site in large cans. No fish died in the transfer, the officials said. Two Chicago and Northwestern railroad employees were honored with Awards of Merit for safety in performance of their jobs. They are Alfred Marske, section foreman at Wayne, and Herman Swan, section foreman at Winfield. Ten Boy Scouts from Wayne troops are attending Scout camp at Camp Cedar this week. Attending from Troop 175 are Fred Hickers, Budd Bornhoff, Michael Karel, Monte Schram and Bill Macklin. Troop 175 Scouts at the camp are John Kessler, John Bernthal, Ray-Delle Frxleben, Larry Brandstetter and Stephen Tempero.

10 Years Ago

July 7, 1960: Wayne's new elementary school is rapidly nearing completion. Supt. F. W. Willert announced this week. Workmen of the Harold Christian and Sons Construction Company are rushing interior finishing on the $400,000 building so it can be used for the 1960-61 school term. F. A. "Fritz" Milder will complete nearly 34 years of service to rural patrons of the Wayne post office Friday when he carries his route for the final time. Milder and his wife will leave Saturday for San City, Ariz., where they recently purchased a home. The "Businessmen's Band," regularly heard at local baseball games, will be featured in the weekly concert by the Wayne City band at Dressler Park Friday. Members of the featured group, directed by Pat Atkins, are Kent Hall, Bob Carhart, Henry Ley, Orval Brandstetter, Anson Mau, Dr. George Goblirsch, Fred Vorce, Ralph Austin and Larry Johnson.

Howard Attempt Falls

In another "law and order" subject, the state senators at their special session considered a resolution which would have established a $5,000 reward for information leading to a conviction for persons responsible for a fire at the University of Nebraska's Military and Naval Science Building.

Sen. Fred W. Carstens of Beatrice, the sponsor, withdrew the proposal, however, after Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer issued an opinion that there are no funds available for such use.

Carstens had suggested the Governor's Emergency Fund, but Meyer said that could be tapped only when "an emergency is actually existing." The fire caused damage estimated at $15,000 to the ROTC classroom building.

Area Farmers Warned to Watch for Corn Borer

Wayne area corn fields should be examined carefully between now and the first week in July for signs of injury by first-brood European corn borer, according to a University of Nebraska Extension entomologist.

Although this brood has not seriously damaged corn in the state for several years, the relatively high number of overwintered borers has resulted in large flights of corn borer moths, Dave Keith points out. "Surveys conducted last fall indicated large numbers of borers concentrated particularly in the northeast, east and central areas," he said. Light traps operated at Lincoln and Concord have captured as many as 617 moths in a single night (Concord, June 8).

The catches at Concord have been considerably higher than those at Lincoln, but enough moths are present at all locations in the eastern third of Nebraska to produce a large first generation, Keith started. Moth flights peaked June 7-8 at Concord and about June 6 at Lincoln.

"The first generation of corn borers is concentrated in early planted corn. This is because the chemical resistance factor, DMB04, is at its highest level in young corn. This chemical kills many of the small corn borer larvae. Older corn will have less of this substance, making it easier for young corn borer larvae to survive," he explained.

First generation activity is easily detected by examining the leaves of the plants, particularly those in the whorl area, Keith advised. Damage will be indicated by shot holes in the leaves and by scattered accumulations of excrement clinging to the leaves.

Control decisions should be based on the value of the crop and its intended purpose. The NL insect specialist continued. Generally it is profitable to treat for corn borers when 50 percent or more of the plants show signs of first brood injury. On sweet, pop or ornamental corn, which may have a higher per acre cash value than field corn, treatment may be necessary when 25 percent or more of the plants are infested. The selection of treatment will also depend on the availability and cost of the chemical to be used, he said.

In Nebraska, only granules are recommended for corn borer control. When properly applied,

Backyard chef
"A backyard barbecue, as all suburbanites know, is a device put into this world to destroy good meat and to ruin the good humor of the cook."

That quotation was taken from a news release of the American Society for Testing and Materials, says Rollie Schneider, University of Nebraska Extension safety specialist. The release emphasizes the availability of ASTM's "Method of Test for Lightability of Barbecue Briquets."

With this test method it is said that the manufacturer can now rate the burning speed of his briquets from very fast to very slow. Using this information, perhaps the backyard chef will be able to eliminate some of the drawbacks of outdoor scorching, blackening and incineration by choosing the right type of briquet.

But whether they test their briquets or not, more than 350 million cookouts, mostly on portable grills, will occur this year.

Outdoor grills range from a simple picnic grill selling for as low as $1.20 to more elaborate units selling for as high as $200 or more. The usual price is about $18.

For those who don't like the bother of setting and cleaning up a grill, a disposable model is available. It consists of a lightweight three-inch-deep aluminum pan about 10 1/2 inches in size and it contains a small sack of charcoal briquets. Disposable grills sell for about a dollar.

The backyard chef can prolong the life of his grill, said Schneider, line the firebox with heavy duty aluminum foil, shiny side up, and then cover the foil with a layer of vermiculite or gravel. Vermiculite is preferred because by absorbing the fat drippings it helps to reduce flare-ups.

A better fire and more uniform cooking will result if the briquets are tapped frequently with a long-handled poker or rod to remove the white ash which forms on them.

If a liquid fire starter is used, be sure to choose one that does not give the food an unpleasant flavor or odor. Never add liquid starter to a fire that has died down and needs reviving - a dangerous flare-up may occur. Deaths of backyard chefs have occurred from the misuse of this combustible liquid. Never use kerosene, gasoline, paint thinner or alcohol for lighting a briquet fire.

Allow about 45 minutes for a good bed of coals to start before starting to broil or roast.

There is evidence that carbonaceous smoke caused by the burning of meat fats and the sooty and burned particles often seen on the meat itself are cancer-causing agents.

The backyard chef should make sure he stays in the backyard. If rainy weather ruins a cook-out, never move the charcoal grill or hibachi stove into the garage, basement, tent, back porch or other enclosed area, said Schneider.

Burning charcoal produces deadly carbon monoxide which is odorless, colorless, and tasteless. The exposed person may become drowsy and unconscious. Permanent brain damage or death can result from exposure to high concentrations of carbon monoxide.

Farmers Getting Payments Earlier Than Ever Before

Farmers who have contributed to stabilizing markets for food and fiber and to the conservation of soil and water resources by taking part in the 1970 wheat and feed grain programs are receiving their program payments earlier this year than ever before, according to Harry Holmman, chairman of the Wayne County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committee.

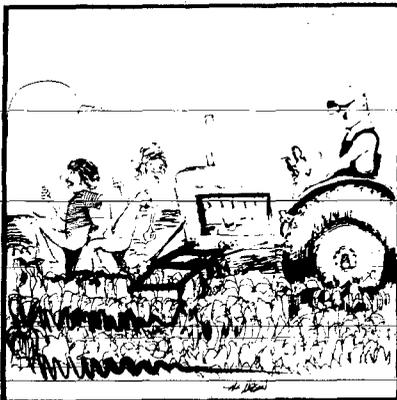

The first batch of payments will be made beginning July 1. Additional payments will continue to be made as rapidly as farmers certify compliance with program requirements and as fast as individual farm records can be processed and checks returned to ASCS county officers for distribution to farmers.

"Because of the excellent cooperation between farmers and their local ASCS office, fifty percent of the participating producers in Wayne County will receive their payments on or about July 1," Holmman said.

Most payments should be completed by mid-August, if farmers who signed up will complete the necessary certification indicating that they have complied with all of the program provisions.

Farm program payments help maintain a balance between supply and demand, the chairman explained.

Long Weekend ahead

"Hey fellas—you can have the marijuana... if ya help me hay!"

Good Morning Feeders & Hi Mom

This past week I listened to a very dangerous young man. Dangerous, almost deadly, to the U.S. cattlemen.

Jack Linkletter was his name. True talent was the surprising aspect of this television star son of the cattlemen, giant super TV star, Art.

Why is Jack Linkletter dangerous? Mom, it is because he does have talent and a good working knowledge of the theoretical side of the cattle business. Plus, the most dangerous part, Mr. Linkletter is a hired, paid liaison man—a lobbyist—for the Australian cattlemen.

You know, Australia, the importer that exceeded its beef import quota by nearly 40 million pounds last year and this year are boatloads ahead of '69; plus, plus—mind you, an added gimmick: a double-sleeper end pass play of shilling into Canada at a bargain basement price—10-12¢ below price to the U.S., and this, in turn, is transported to the U.S. Tricky, eh? Canada has never accepted nor signed a beef quota agreement. Millions of pounds—uncontrollable.

Mom, all other beef lobbyists, both American and foreign whom I have watched, lacked talent or cattle knowledge. Linkletter is different. Jack has knowledge. He talks cattle expertly. He has hired additional qualified talent. He has sponsored and aligned a much publicized bull-testing Expo using theories that would eliminate many qualified breeders because Expo pushes and promotes the ideas of artificial insemination—one bull to replace thousands.

Linkletter has ideas that are completely contrary to the good of the quality cattle of America. Especially to the corn-fed quality cattle.

His theories were developed by—and why not—investors and associates in foreign livestock operations. Red meat is their byword. Red meat barely fattens. Genes and chromosomes inherit characteristics for lean, bland, tasteless beef.

His theory: let the U.S. accept additional import—meat quotas before the soybean imitations strike. Wow! Ridiculous. Better phase-out the entire imports. Why even lose that dollar flow?

The federal government—the USDA—likes imports because that helps control prices. Used like a thermostat: market hot, in comes the chilling imports; market cold, like 1969, activate the wallops, import theory.

Problem is, the importers have made fools of Americans by annually exceeding the quotas by 10 percent and are now doubling the original tonnage figures set by nearly 500 million pounds.

Beef, your beef, needs status symbols. Needs promotion. In the U.S., over 112 million head exceed $20 billion in value, and the U.S. producer spends—only sometimes and even then usually not—three cents a head, almost all of which goes for administration, ridiculous—and a pity.

A beef is a beef is a beef, they say. Well, so is beef a beef, is a beef—until you savor corn-fed, home-raised, personally-attended-and-cared-for, bred for the purpose of taste and delectability beef. Take a steak, or a roast—generous fleeced with marbling, naturally covered—beef with weight. Not those puppy dog, but St. Bernard-sized calves. Beef. Matured beef with a beef taste, cut and prepared, cooked thick—but sliced thin. Nothing better.

In a few years, three, four or five—but maybe only one—TV ads will show a soybean-eating family man with a sprouted crown on his head like the margarine ad pushing the most popular brand in the Butter Land... or which Soybean Burger trade name will be most popular in Colorado, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, Illinois, South Dakota and Kansas in 1973?

We need this SUPERIOR beef image. Not merely beef. Not import beef, but QUALITY beef. Steak house quality. And time is getting short.

I wish Art Linkletter, the father, was a Scott County, Iowa, farrier cattle feeder instead of an Australian cattle, sheep and land investor. Maybe then, Jack would help us—the U.S.

Great talent. He mesmerizes, overpowers us poor country boys.

Forecast: high choice and prime cattle to rise $1-42 by late August.

Feeder cattle and calves exceeded 1969 fall prices. Hogs to drop $2-25 a hundred.

Cash corn by July 7th—up a full 10 cents from June 11th. We have been daily pushing this idea of radio since June 15th—power of suggestion!

planted. He pointed out that both farmers and consumers benefit from its balance.

"Agricultural productivity almost doubled in the past 20 years, but farmers' markets take only about a third of this increase," said Heinemann.

This means we need new markets. Farm programs help us hold down farm production and maintain farm income until new markets are developed and old ones expanded.

"Large surpluses must be avoided. They are costly in tax dollars and are wasteful of food and fiber."

"Farm programs help farmers make adjustments in their individual farming operations that in the long run will result in more farm income from the market place and less from the public treasury."

"Since farmers are $50-billion-a-year purchasers of goods and services produced in our cities and rural towns, the workers and business firms in cities and towns benefit from farm programs, too."

Farm programs also make important contributions to conservation of natural resources and help fight pollution, Heinemann said. Acres that are diverted out of crop production under farm programs are put to conserving uses such as the growing of grass and trees. Such practices conserve soil and provide habitat for wildlife and small game, help prevent pollution of our streams from sediment and agricultural chemicals or waste products, and reduce air pollution caused by blowing dust the chairman explained.

"When a farmer takes land out of production and puts it to a soil-and-water-conserving use, he gives up the value of the production he normally would have received as income. At the same time, the farmer pays taxes on land removed from production even though that land produces no crop. Program payments are designed to compensate him for these voluntary contributions toward a more stable farm economy and a better environment," Heinemann said.

In recent years, the U.S. Department of Agriculture had advanced partial payments to farmers during the spring slump period for the feed grain program only. The balance of the food grain payment and wheat payment were generally made starting in late July and continuing through August and September, or later, the Chairman explained.

"Because of budget restraints, partial payments could not be made this year. However, the Department made a commitment to farmers that full payments would be made as early as possible. That commitment is now being fulfilled."

Yard 'n Garden Tips

Q—Can the young shoots of red raspberries be pruned and can they be sprayed with lime sulphur now?

A—There is no advantage to pruning your sprouts on red raspberries—just leave them alone. You should spray with Zineb or Maneb at this time.

Q—How can you control rabbit in a garden area?

A—A hoe is the best thing to use in a garden area. Any herbicide used would also get other plants in the area.
