Thanks for the Tour

The Wayne Chamber of Commerce deserves a thank you for putting on a successful tour of the University of Nebraska Northeast Station last week.

The tour was held mainly for businessmen in Wayne, offering them a chance to see just what is being done on the research farm near Concord. Many of those businessmen, even though they live only a few miles from the facility, had not visited the farm. Most of them seemed impressed and interested in what is being done there.

One of the men on the committee in charge of the event — himself a farmer — made a good remark when he told the group that there should be more efforts made to get the businessmen and farmers better acquainted. Both are necessary for this area of the state to be successful, he said.

Members of the committee doing much of the work for the tour were Willis Meyer, Ken Liska, Harold Bgalls, Marvin Dunklau and Gerald Scherer.

But they are not the only ones who should be complimented. The people at the research center who spent a few hours during the evening tour should also receive a thank you for conducting an interesting tour of their facilities.

We hope there are more efforts to get the businessmen and farmers better acquainted. — NLLH.

A Problem of Wheels

Man has long enjoyed the fun of traveling on wheels, but that fun has been accompanied with a variety of rules and regulations. Such rules are necessary while facing the alternative of chaos. Wayne residents are beginning to discover the fun of wheels on mini-motor bikes but may not be aware of regulations regarding their operation.

Vern Fairchild, police chief, noted recently that some mini-motor bike owners may not be aware that to operate a mini-motor bike on public streets the operator must be licensed as well as the bike. The bike must have license plates secured at the county treasurer's office and the operator must have a valid driver's license.

In order for a youth to have a driver's license he must be 16 years old, so it is illegal for those under 16 to operate such a bike and those 16 and over must have a license to do so.

Chief Fairchild explained that a mini-motor bike is classified as a motor vehicle (powered) and therefore falls into the category of rules that requires licensing. He also emphasized that parents allowing unlicensed children to operate mini-motor bikes may be arrested according to law.

Experience, much of it tragic, has taught humans that laws are necessary in order to protect the lives of everyone concerned who drive and ride on wheels. With traffic congestion being what it is today, only those old enough and responsible enough can be permitted to operate vehicles on public streets.

Both those who have already purchased mini-motor bikes and those who are considering such a purchase will likely want to know and abide by the regulations in order to protect the lives of loved ones.

The laws are not made as a deterrent to fun, but as a deterrent to death. — MMW.

A Good Question

A Norfolk attorney recently phrased a question which should cause us to continue doing serious thinking about present day problems related to youths breaking the laws. He asked, "Is it more police, more guns, and more jails that we need with which to answer youth's problems?"

The lawyer wasn't pointing his finger in accusation; but, rather, was involved in working out a type of rehabilitation program directed toward helping young people needing guidance.

Members of the region 11 and 25 Joint Planning Commission for Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice, a regional crime commission, made up of eight counties including Wayne County, are currently studying the possibility of working out a volunteer probation program. It involves using adult volunteers as assistants to professional probation officers.

In such a system the adult volunteer is matched with a youth on probation and spends time with him in getting to know, understand and advise him.

Should a Wayne youth get into trouble requiring an appearance before the county or district judge, and the volunteer probation system was in operation here, the judge could request a pre-sentence investigation into the youth's background. If it is decided the boy or girl can be helped but such help isn't available elsewhere, then he or she may be turned over to the V.P. program.

The young person would then be matched with a volunteer adult, working under the guidance of Mike Eymon, area probation officer, and an attempt would be made to rehabilitate the youth through a counseling-companionship type of guidance arrangement.

Crime commissioners are currently studying reports from other communities such as Lincoln which are using the system with reported success. Study is being made with the idea of possibly implementing a similar program in our area.

The concept of attempted rehabilitation through personal guidance sounds like a good one. — MMW.

While we're in this line of thought, please keep the news items about your man in service coming this way. There seems to be so little that we can actually do for that great army of guys serving Uncle Sam. We'd like to know whenever he gets a promotion, honor, award, change of address, new assignment or is home on leave. Maybe we can give him a little boost by letting others know where he is and what he is doing. Make sure his rating, name, address and other information are clearly written or printed and mail the item to The Herald. We'll see that it gets printed in the Service Station in a following Monday issue. OK? Don't forget to include a good picture too, providing you have one.

Mentioning pictures, J. W. couldn't resist taking a snapshot of an interesting sign stationed on a lawn last fall on West Seventh Street. We enjoyed the sign and thought you might too.

Tax experts calculate that all the money earned by the average American taxpayer during the first four months and eight days of 1970 went to pay his federal, state and local taxes. So what you make from now on is all yours... until your wife gets it. Figured another way, a man works two hours and 49 minutes out of an eight-hour day to pay his tax bills. The rest of the day he works for the rest of his creditors.

Reason for such was probably a lack of barbers. Hair is still the "in" thing as we go about preparing to celebrate the county's 100th birthday. Some of the males around town and the county are getting real bushy, not because they are hippie-happy, but because they take pride in being part of a fine county which has matured gracefully out here in the west. Some of you guys look rather distinguished with your growth while others are looking considerably older.

No one can surely care about looking old because, that is, after all, what the whole centennial celebration is about — 100 years of progress. Beauty goes with age... especially if he has money. Wayne County has age, money and beauty. It would be pretty hard to beat that combination, wouldn't it?

While we're talking about the centennial celebration, members of the county centennial committee are asking once more for the names of any family or families in the county still possessing land which has been in the family for no less than 100 years. There may be some that are very close to 100 years, and that is interesting, but the committee wants only the names of those who have had land the full 100 years. Those qualifying may send the information to The Herald and we'll see that it gets into the right hands.

Folks over in Winslow are hard at work planning for the 1970 version of the Old Settler's picnic slated for July 23, less than two weeks away. The kiddie parade theme is "Children of Other Lands" and theme of the main parade is "Fabulous Fifty States." Why not circle the date on your calendar now and plan to meet your friends and neighbors while competing in the parades, water fights, horse-shoe contests, ball games, tractor pulls, or maybe simply standing on the sidelines. As usual, there are all varieties of entertainment being lined up for the county-wide celebration. This is the year

Editor's Note: The following was sent to the newspaper by Robert Johnson, director of the Danish exchange program at Wayne State College.

Wayne State Dear Editor: I greatly appreciate the many acts of kindness extended to the Danish students during their two-week stay in Wayne. The arrangements made for them and efforts on their behalf by the community and the wonderful hospitality was overwhelming to them. Thank you!

The following lyrics were written by the Danes and sung to the tune of "Sound of Music":

Our stay here at Wayne has come to an end, we know, A few hours more, and then it is time to go. But deep in the hearts within us Are voices that urge us to stay. Now we hope you will carefully listen To one more song, to some important things

That the Danes want to say: We all fell in love with your way of living, Your steaks and your beer, and your dorms and pool. We hope you will find some way of forgiving That sometimes we just couldn't play it cool. The things we have seen and the people we met

In this state where they say that the West begins; The sunshine, the heat and thunder alike — It was good for the cold-blooded Danes.

The budget calls for spending $693,807 during the 1970-71 school year — an increase of $149,263 over last year. A mill levy of 51.3 is expected to be needed to raise the money for operation of the school systems next year. Levy for the current year is 38.3.

Superintendent William Hurley says the budget was pared $58,219 by the board, but he said he fears the present budget will fall short by $60,000.

The following bit of humor comes from "Fox Shots," weekly column by Editor Marlin Waecliter of the Stanton Register:

"A rancher, accompanied by his wife, made a date to see his doctor because the Mister wasn't feeling too good."

"On their next visit, the Doc was called out of his office temporarily and while he was gone the Missus glanced at her hubby's medical report on the desk. She saw a set of initials by his name which made her see red."

"When the doctor returned, she demanded an explanation. He smiled and explained that in this case, the initials stood for Short of Breath."

When Wayne County is 100 years old, so let's make it a year when all attendance records are broken at the Old Settler's picnic and at the county fair in August. All it takes is everyone being there having a good time.

We have an annual driving problem in this part of the county which we should begin thinking about again. The rural intersections become even more dangerous due to tall corn obstructing one's view. It is a good policy to always be cautious at any intersection, but the need for being careful is doubled when one cannot see oncoming traffic. Maybe rain will come one of these days and make that corn even more beautiful. The countryside is especially pretty now, but we do need some of that heavenly wet stuff.

The friends we have made, To all of you we want to say: You folks here at Wayne, we are sad to leave you. We hope we shall meet you again some day. We thank you sincerely for all your kindnesses. — Wayne State College, Good-bye!

Many items appearing in church bulletins are well worth clipping and keeping. The Rev. Frank Pedersen, pastor of First Baptist Church in Wayne, included an item in a recent bulletin which was written by Sp4 Thomas F. Williams, 9th Admin. (ASD) 9th Division, Viet Nam. It is as follows:

"My God, how can it be?"

—That one boy lies rotting from malnutrition and torture in a jungle prison camp in North Viet Nam and another boy spikes and thramples on the flag of his country on the steps of a university of learning?

—That one boy lies stiffless in a U. S. naval hospital from Communist-inflicted face wounds... and another boy uses a Communist flag to drape himself in defiance of the laws of his country?

—That one Negro holds the face of his dead white comrade in his arms and cries pitifully in a dirty mad hole in Viet Nam... and another Negro screams with rage against his white brother on the streets of senseless American cities?

—That one boy lies in a coffin beneath the ground because he believed in duty to his country... and another boy lies on a dingy cot giving blood to the enemy of his country?

—That one man of God shields a wounded boy from an enemy bayonet with his body and dies... and another man of God uses his cloth as a shield to preach hate, dissension and lawlessness?

How can it be? How can it be?"

Model of Wagon Train

Frank Marten of Hoskins displays the replica he made last spring of the wagon train which brought his ancestors to Nebraska in 1870. He constructed the model as a tribute on the 100th anniversary of the trip made by three families from Wisconsin to Nebraska. The families, the Friedrich Blaess's, the Carl Maas's and the August Roker's, settled in Stanton and Wayne counties. Descendants of the families met at the fair grounds at Stanton Saturday to celebrate. Committees in charge of arrangements were H. C. Falk and Erwin Ulrich of Hoskins and L. C. Scheurich of Norfolk. Marten used actual family pictures to make the figures in the wagons of Mr. and Mrs. Friedrich Blaess. The replica is complete down to miniature water buckets and guns attached to the wagons.

Local Midgets, Legion Rap Winside

By Marvin Hansen

Wayne's Midgets and Legion sent Winside home with two losses in playing ball Wednesday night.

Mike Ginn guided the Midgets to their 5-0 win by pitching the season's second no-hitter. Don Mau needed help late in the game from Wayne Magdanz to preserve his 5-2 win in the Legion contest.

Ginn walked two straight men with one down in the top of the second frame before settling down and retiring the next 14 men to face him. He chalked up 11 strikeouts and walked only two while receiving errorless support from the rest of the club.

A double in the second and a single in the fifth for Ginn earned him top honors in the hitting department. He also scored second of Wayne's five runs. Roger Saul doubled off Winside's LaRue Langenberg in the fourth and Doug Sturm tripled in the fifth for the only other hits in the game to go for extra bases. Getting Wayne's other hit was Don Hansen, a single in the second.

Langenberg set down three Wayne batters on pitches and gave up three free trips to first base.

Only Winside players to get on base were Dean Krueger when hit by a pitch in the first with two out and Dan Bowers and Dave Jaeger on walks in the second.

While Mau kept the Winside Legion off balance in the second game, Wayne hitters poked out four singles on their way to scoring five runs in the first three frames. Mau confirmed his effort into the sixth frame, but allowed two runs on four singles before being relieved by Magdanz. Magdanz got out of the difficulty and then held Winside scoreless their last time at the plate to preserve Mau's win.

Winside's Simpson, Doug Dech, Scott Duering and Kirt Schelenberg knocked Mau out of the box in the sixth. Mau had

Big Pull Slated

Area tractor pull enthusiasts might want to take in the contest scheduled for the Plate County Fair at Columbus later this month.

The pull is set for Sunday afternoon, July 26, and features a purse of over $1,000. Next to the contest held during the Nebraska State Fair, the purse is the largest in Nebraska.

A new feature of the pull will be the use of a mechanical sled. The six classes in the tractor pull: hot rod class, 7,000 pounds; stock, 5,000; stock, 7,000; stock, 9,000; stock, 12,000; stock, 15,000. Entry fee is $10.

given up only one hit in the first five stints on the mound—a single to Fritz Weible—in the second. Mau struck out five, walked two. Magdanz gained three strikeouts and walked one in relief.

Dennis Redel, Randy Hejran, Vaughn Korth and Dick Tietgen stroked Wayne's only hits off Deck. Deck fanned two, walked three in his loss.

Winside was scheduled for a bye Sunday afternoon in Ralph Bishop League play while Wayne was to travel to Wakefield. This Wednesday Winside is at Laurel and Wayne is at Wisner.

Laurel Hands Local '9' Fifth Loss

Laurel slapped out five singles and scored four runs in the third inning on the way to etching out a 7-6 win over Wayne in Tri-County League play Thursday night at Wayne.

The loss should drop Wayne deeper into the 10-team pack and should keep Laurel on the list of the front runners in the league. Wayne had a 5-4 mark going into the contest, Laurel a 6-4 mark.

Wayne dropped the contest after being dished a nice chance to tie the score late in the game when Laurel's Jerry Schroeder filled the bases on an infield error and two walks in the bottom of the eighth. He emerged from the jam without giving up a score when he fouled Gordie Jorgensen to fly out to the centerfielder for the third out.

Another Indian-Centered Program In Works at Wayne State College

Another program concerned with Indians is scheduled at Wayne State College—this one, July 18-19, the Nebraska Conference on Indian Programs.

Two programs currently in operation on campus are the Summer Institute for Teachers of American Indian Children and the Neighborhood Youth Corps for Indian children.

Francis Moul, director of these programs and political science instructor at WSC, said Wednesday the Conference on Indian Programs "is designed to be a practical affair, bringing together persons dealing with various Indian programs in health, housing, employment and education."

Two consultants are coming in to provide facts on: —What programs are in operation — by private organizations, state and federal agencies and public schools — and what programs are being planned.

—Washington thinking on Indian programs and general thinking on where and when funds will be available.

In addition, Indian representatives and tribal officials will identify needs for future programs and changes in present programs.

The visiting consultants will be Zeke Rodriguez, educational program specialist for Title I, U. S. Office of Education, who is based in Washington with responsibility for Region 4, which includes Nebraska and Iowa; and Dr. William (Buck) Benham, director of schools on the Navaho Reservation, based at Window Rock, Ariz.

Rodriguez formerly was on the education faculty at the University of Texas. Benham helped organize the Tough Rock Demonstration School in Arizona.

Participants in the conference will have room and board furnished from Saturday noon through Sunday noon, but must provide their own transportation to Wayne, Moul said.

The conference was planned in cooperation with Dr. Paul Olson of the University of Nebraska English faculty, former director of the Tri-University Project.

Persons interested in attending the conference should write Francis Moul at Wayne State College.

Hearings Held by Planners

Two public hearings were held Monday night by the Wayne planning commission meeting in the city clerk's office. Members previously met above the fire hall but decided late in June to meet in the clerk's office during summer months due to cooler temperatures.

A commission committee made up of Cletus Sharer, Louis Meyer, Andrew Manes and Larry King, presented their report on the city's problem of side-street parking. The committee was appointed to make the survey during a special meeting held June 29.

Seven persons appeared Monday night to express opinions concerning removing no-parking restrictions on at least one side of city streets. After discussion, the commission decided to recommend to the city council to allow parking on only one side of streets in the areas south of Seventh, east and west of Main and north of Seventh west of Main on a trial basis. No parking would be permitted on the opposite side of the streets. Planners also decided to recommend to council that the police work out a snow removal plan similar to that used in the business district.

The public hearing on Warner Janke's request for a special use area at the west edge of the city was opened at 8:30 p.m. Legal counsel for Janke presented the proposed preliminary plan for a Westside Mobile Home Park which has space for 40 mobile homes. The proposed park would be located west of the Oak Ridge addition.

About 15 persons owning property in west Wayne appeared at the hearing to protest issuance of such a special permit.

After discussion by Janke's counsel, those opposing the permit, and the planners, the hearing was adjourned for 30 minutes to allow the commission to hold the second public hearing scheduled for 9 p.m.

The second hearing concerned a request by Coryell Auto Company to rezone the north 350 feet of the Coryell property west of the city limits from an agriculture zoning to business zoning. No one appeared at the hearing for or against the proposal. Merrill Marshall, acting chairman, closed the hearing and planners voted recommendation to council to deny the request, noting rezoning the area would not conform to the comprehensive plan.

Chairman Marshall resumed the first hearing dealing with Warner Janke's request for a special use permit. Planners noted the preliminary plan of the proposed special use area given them Monday was different from the one for which the hearing was originally called. The plan was consequently withdrawn by Janke's counsel and the hearing adjourned.

Election of officers was held by the commission during the special June 29 meeting. Attendance for the first time were new members Wanda Owens and Larry King who replaced Keith Mosley and Kent Hall when the latter were elected to positions in city government.

Commission officers elected were: LeLand Foote, chairman; Mern Mordhorst, vice-chairman; and Wanda Owens, secretary.

"The Danes know about water," Dr. Johnson noted. "Denmark has hundreds of islands, but no rivers of size, so they were impressed by the Missouri's magnitude."

Several dances also were big hits, with music by "The Saxys," a combo led by Fred Olmstead, a WSC student from Neligh.

As a finale to the two-week institute, English students staged a hilarious variety show Tuesday night. Much comedy, it went serious at times, once when one of the Danish girls, Dotti Theobus, sang a farewell song with original lyrics to the tune of "The Sound of Music." The words spoke a warm thank-you and recalled what the Danes liked best.

Two shows are planned during the noon hour when folks are picnicking or taking advantage of the lunch stands. The first at 12:30 p.m. will feature the baton twirling Starlettes, students of Mrs. Eileen Damme, and the second will be a performance by the Wayne-Corroll High School Band at 1 p.m. in the park.

The Lincoln Indian Dancers are slated for a 2 p.m. performance and a baseball game will also get underway at 2 p.m. between the Winside Pea Wees and Hoskins. The Witt is taking care of arrangements.

Much musical entertainment in the afternoon will be provided by the Pierce Quartet at 3:30 p.m. and the Hibbitts Quartet at 4 p.m. Both groups will perform on the bandstand in the park. Herb Pyle of Hoskins plans to present a selection of concertina music at 4:30 p.m. followed by music from the Hungers Five at 5:30 p.m.

Tiremen from Hoskins, Winside, Wayne, Pierce and Carroll will once again entertain the crowd, as they have annually, with a duel of water hoses.

George Voss is chairman of the "entertainment" committee. Getting the evening off to a start will be a concert by the high school band from Battle Creek at 7:30 p.m. The Miller Sisters, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Miller, plan to exhibit their baton twirling talents in an 8:45 p.m. performance. Mrs. Eileen Damme is their instructor.

Norfolk's Drum and Bugle Corps has been invited back again this year. Their 9:20 p.m. appearance will be followed at 9 p.m. with a country and western music show presented by Shorty Avery and his group.

A square dance at 9 p.m. with Paul Callahan of Council Bluffs, Iowa, doing the calling will be held on Main Street. Julius Eckert is in charge of making arrangements.

Also appearing on the Thursday night lineup of entertainment is a dance at the park. Other committee chairmen are Mrs. Rosemary Mintz and Dale Langenberg, in charge of advertising; Clifton Burris, finance; Dr. N. L. Dittman, concessions; and Frank Weible, seating.

Wayne Police Check

Wayne police investigated an accident, a break-in and received numerous complaints during the past few days.

Officers were informed that a restroom fixture in the boy's restroom at Bressler Park had been broken with what may have been a hammer or similar object.

A 1954 Ford owned by James B. Nicholson of Wakefield was parked in front of the Wortman Auto Company on East Third Street around 9:10 p.m. Thursday. Police said Paul Wischof of Wayne was driving a 1960 Mercury and struck the left rear corner of the parked car forcing it over the curb.

Besides other minor complaints, officers were asked to quiet down a noisy party Friday at 13th and Paul Streets and also quieted a family disturbance in the city by jailing the husband overnight.

Tuesday morning police were informed of a break-in at the Dude Ranch Drive-In Theatre north of town. Thieves entered the concession stand and took several pizzas, cans of cigarettes, several cartons of cigarettes, several pizzas, potato chips, peanuts and caramel corn.

City Street Gets Torn Up
Tearing up the old and laying down the new is the latest word on Fairacres Road in northwest Wayne. The concrete street has broken and sunk so badly that the city council was forced last summer to ask for bids for removing the concrete, recompacting the base and pouring new paving. Total cost of the project is about $10,000 - 20 per cent of which will be assessed to the property owners and 80 per cent to the city.

Cards of Thanks
Friends, may I think we have forgotten
When at times they see us smile,
But little they know the heartache
Our smiles hide all the while.
We would like to extend our sincere thanks to all the neighbors who helped with the farm work, the relatives and friends who sent cards, donated food, flowers and memorials of our husband, father, father-in-law and grandfather. A special thanks goes to Warren Bressler, and Pastor Westzel for the kind comforting words. A thanks is extended to the organist and the singers who presented us with such beautiful music during our time of sorrow, Mrs. Harry Bartels, Mr. and Mrs. Don Laase, Sheila Laase. j13

In Memoriam
IN LOVING MEMORY of our dear husband, father, father-in-law, and grandfather. So sad and sudden death came to call,
His sudden death surprised us all.
A sudden change in a moment fell
Without a chance to say farewell.
We often sit and think of you
And then of how you died,
To think you could not say goodbye
Before you closed your eyes,
When evening shades are falling,
And we sit here all alone,
To our hearts there comes a longing,
If only he would come home.

If you are grilling the steak, start your coals 30 to 45 min. before you're ready to cook. Coals should be glowing with a thin grey ash before you start cooking the steak. Place coals about 1" apart to minimize flare-ups caused by dripping fat hitting hot coals. Also, cut off some of the fat on edge of steak before grilling. It is difficult to give exact time tables for grilling over coals. It is usually half the time of a standard broiler.

KEYS TO RIPENESS

STORAGE & SERVING IDEAS

AND NECTARINES

PEACHES and Nectarines are excellent sources of Vitamin A and fair sources of Vitamin C. They are both low in calories.

NECTARINES taste like a cross between a peach and a plum, but they are a pure-bred fruit, dating back 2,000 years.

PEACHES & NECTARINES

Allow 2 or 3 days ripening at room temperature, unless fruit is ripe when bought. Place fruit in a paper bag and close the bag. Check each day, as some will ripen before others.

Peaches are mature when they have a yellowish ground color and red blush, are plump and yield to gentle pressure.

Nectarines are mature when they have a brilliant red or yellow or mottled crimson and gold skin and yield to gentle pressure.

After fruit has ripened, you may place in the refrigerator to keep from getting over-ripe. However, fruit has more of its true fruit flavor if SERVED AT ROOM TEMPERATURE.

They can be eaten raw, used in desserts such as pies, cobblers, shortcakes, ice cream, toppings for cakes, used in canning, pickling and preserves.

Pears develop a finer flavor and smoother texture when ripened off the tree, and are picked at the mature green stage. The Bartlett pear is a multi-purpose pear with a smooth yellow skin with a red blush, very juicy, with a fine grained flesh.

Ripen Pears in a closed paper bag at room temperature. Ripening usually takes about 5 days, depending upon maturity when purchased. Pears are ripe when the flesh yields to gentle pressure.

After fruit has ripened, you may place in refrigerator to keep from getting over-ripe. For best flavor, fruit should be SERVED AT ROOM TEMPERATURE. Use Bartlett for eating as is, for salads, fruit cups and canning.

plums

There are many varieties of Plums, each has its own characteristics and flavor. A few of the most popular are.....

- SANTA ROSA
 - WICKSON
 - DUARTE
 - LARODA
 - ITALIAN PRUNE
 - EL DORADO
 - NUBIANA
- PLUMS

Plums are well matured before ripening, but to bring them to full ripeness, put them in a paper bag and close the bag. KEEP THEM AT ROOM TEMPERATURE. Watch each day, as some will ripen before others.

When ready to eat, Plums are plump, full colored for the variety, and soft enough to yield to pressure. They have a refreshing, tart sweetness. Some varieties are full ripe when color is yellowish-green, others when red, and others when purplish black or blue.

When ripe, you may place in refrigerator to keep from getting over-ripe. For best flavor, however, Plums should be SERVED AT ROOM TEMPERATURE. California varieties (Santa Rosa, El Dorado, Nubiana) are excellent for eating and canning. Italian prune plums are often used for canning, but are excellent eaten raw.

melons

Melons are low in calories and the yellow-fleshed varieties and watermelon are good sources of vitamin A.

CANTALOUPE—Rind has a background between netting, light in color. Grey beige netting stands out like whipcord. Smooth, rounded, depressed "scar" at stem end. Flesh is golden or salmon colored.

CRENSHAW MELONS—Gold and Green Rind. Smooth, no netting with a little ribbing. Flesh is thick, bright salmon color. They are juicy, spicy, rich flavored. Round at base, comes to point at stem end. Average weight 7-9 lbs.

HONEYDEW MELONS—Smooth-skinned rind, soft velvety feel. White to creamy yellow. Flesh is green, sweet, mildly scented, very juicy and fine grained. Shape is somewhat oblong. Average weight 4-6 lbs.

PERSIAN MELONS—Rind is deep green color, evenly covered with fine netting. Flesh is deep orange-pink, thick and mildly sweet. Shape is large and round. Weight is from 2 to 8 lbs. (average 7 lbs.)

WATERMELON—Rind varies from solid green to mottled grey, according to variety. Flesh is pink or red. Sweetness depends on variety and maturity. Size is large oblong or round.

Hold uncut melon at room temperature for 2 or 3 days, in closed paper bag, away from sunlight, unless melon is ripe when purchased.

Never cut a melon until you're sure it is ripe, because melons do not ripen further after cutting.

CANTALOUPE—Distinct fragrance. Springy when pressed lightly between palms of hand. Pressing stem end is not a good test, because repeated pressure will produce a soft end.

CRENSHAW—Deepening yellow color in rind. Unusual rich fragrance. Rind is slightly soft at blossom end.

HONEYDEW—Creamy yellow color, but color can vary depending on origin. Some may be white but still mature. Faint, pleasant fragrance.

PERSIAN—Pleasant aroma. Rind under netting turns a lighter green. Rind gives under gentle pressure.

WATERMELON—Yellowish underside. Bloom over rind gives melon a velvety appearance. In a cut melon, seeds give clue to ripeness. Seeds are dark brown or black, except for Improved Garrisonian which has white seeds. Thumping a melon is not a good test for ripeness.

Melons can be chilled in the refrigerator if you prefer. Do this only after melon has been conditioned at room temperature and is ready to eat.

Fill halves with Peach ice cream and spoon sugared blueberries over the top.

You can also serve wedges of melon with wedges of lime or cut into wedges and serve with cinnamon ice cream.

Serve in wedges with wedges of lime or flavor with honey and lime juice and top with lime ice.

Cut in wedges and serve with a dusting of ground ginger or wedges of lime.

Some people like watermelon icy cold, and others like it room temperature. Sprinkle with salt to bring out flavor.
