Northeast Extension Notes

by Anna Marie Kralfeis

Summer Spots and Sniffs
Fruit juices, chocolate ice cream, mustard and catsup bring to mind thoughts of summer picnics. But if these and other foods cause stains in tablecloths and clothes, it's no picnic getting stains out.

There are two basic types of stains—those that are water soluble and those that contain oil or grease and are not water soluble. Water soluble stains are often removed by the wet method using water, detergents and perhaps a bleach. Solvents and stain removers are used to remove oily stains.

Many stains are formed by foods which contain both oily and water soluble substances, therefore causing a combination type stain such as those caused by chocolate ice cream.

The milk or cream causes a grease stain; the chocolate color forms the water soluble stain. Combination stains are often the most difficult to remove.

One of the most important things to remember about spot removal is that it be done quickly. A stain left in a garment too long can become permanently fixed.

The heat of the water when washing and the iron when pressing can also set a stain.

If stained garments are taken to professional dry cleaners, tell the attendant what caused the stain and give him the fiber content of the stained fabric.

For further information on stain removal, request a copy of EC 22-1159 from your local county Extension office or from the University of Nebraska Northeast Station, Concord, Nebr. 68728.

Bill Schultz Wins 1970 Wayne Open Crown

The big city golfers invaded—but failed to win—the Wayne Country Club open tournament Saturday and Sunday.

That honor went to Bill Schultz, a former student at Wayne State who has taken a teaching position at Valley. The Beemer native took a one-stroke advantage into the final nine holes and withstood a fine charge by Mike Ley of Lincoln to sew up the tourney.

Schultz went into the final round with a 69 (34-35) for a slight edge of one stroke over Paul Gaeta of Norfolk. Mike Ley and Jim Strashelm of Norfolk were two strokes back at 71.

Young Ley was the only challenge to Schultz as the meet wound up. The Lincoln native fired a 34 on the final nine—including a hole-in-one on No. 3—to pull within one stroke of Schultz. Schultz was able to fire a final round of 35 to hold off that challenge and end the tournament at 104, four under par.

Gaeta, Strashelm and defending champion Leo Gard ended knotted at 108 for third place in the tourney. Jim Johnson, another Omahan, took sixth with a 109.

Tournament officials described the affair the most successful ever held at the course. Although held on two days the tournament was a one-day affair, drawing a total of just over 300 golfers to make it the biggest one-day meet in the state. A total of 222 golfers teed off Sunday.

Sixty-six golfers declared for the championship flight, also a record. The top 24 of those golfers (those with 77 and under) made it into the championship flight while those with totals of 78 and 79 shot a final round

Midgets Win, Legion Loses Against Wakefield

The Wayne Midgets came up with nine hits, including five two-baggers, to smother Wakefield, 10-0, in an abbreviated four trip Sunday; Wayne's Legion team was dumped, 11-5, in the second game.

Rod Cook and Mike Ginn teamed up to stymie the Wakefield batters, holding the host team to just three hits. Cook started on the mound for Wayne but was relieved by Ginn in the fourth inning. The game was called in the top of the sixth due to the 16-run rule.

In that final frame Wayne put the finishing touches on Wakefield's second hurler, Pat Szarzi, by pounding out four hits for six runs. Ginn started the rally by drawing a walk, moving to second on a wild pitch and then scoring on a double by Doug Sturm.

Two out later, with bases loaded, catcher Mike Creighton drove in three runs with a double. He completed the circuit via a two-bagger by Randy Nelson. The game ended when Cook hit a ball past Wakefield's third base man, sending Nelson across home plate.

Creighton was Wayne's powerhouse, connecting for two doubles and a single. He was followed by Doug Sturm with two doubles and Randy Nelson with a double and a one-bagger.

Wayne Midgets R H E
 010 126 -- 10 9 2
 Wakefield 000 00x -- 0 3 2

Rod Cook fanned four Wakefield batters in three innings, walked three and gave up three hits. Mike Ginn also struck out four, but gave up just one base on balls in the final two frames.

In the Legion contest, Wayne failed to string its eight hits together and dropped an 11-5 decision.

Wakefield jumped ahead 6-0 in the bottom of the first inning—but connected for just two singles. Most of the runs resulted from Wayne miscues: two infield errors, a wild pitch and three batters hit by pitched balls.

Wayne's Legion managed to bounce back with four runs in the top of the second, but the en-widened from then on as Wakefield scored one run in the third and four more in the fourth. Randy Nelson led Wayne at the plate with two singles and a double. Dick Tietgen followed with a pair of doubles. Rich Kline connected for three singles for Wakefield.

After a shaky first inning, Wayne's Don Mau settled down to fan one Wakefield batter and give up two hits before being relieved by Helgren in the fourth stanza. Helgren struck out three, walked none and allowed five hits.

Rob Eaton and Jerry Walsh, sharing pitching duties for Wakefield, struck out five and walked only two. Walsh relieved Eaton in the fourth.

The Legion made up for that loss by coming back with a 5-1 win over visiting Ponca Monday.

Don Mau pitched the locals to that victory, giving up five hits while striking out six and walking only two. He held Ponca scoreless despite four hits in the first six frames. A Ponca runner finally scored in the top of the seventh after Mau gave up a single to the lead-off batter and the infield committed its second error.

Shortstop Helgren supplied half of Wayne's hits in the contest—a single in the opening frame to start Wayne on its way to two runs and a single in the fifth to drive in one of three runs. Mike Blittoff and Jim Kanny poked out singles off Ponca's Amussen for Wayne's other hits. Supplying Ponca with two of its five singles was outfielder Lockwood.

The Wisner Midgets and Legion hosted Wayne Wednesday. The Midget and Legion games scheduled here against Laurel Sunday may be postponed until Monday because of the Sunday Tri-County League all-star game at Orchard.

Locals Rally for Victory at Ponca

Wayne moved back into the winning column Sunday night, handing host Ponca a 7-3 loss.

The victory gives Wayne a 6-5 mark for the season and fifth spot in the 10-team Tri-County League. Tonight Wayne journeys to Bloomfield (1-11) to try to move higher in the league standings. There are no league games scheduled for Sunday because of the all-star contest at Orchard. Four Wayne players will take part in that affair.

The local town team had to come from a 3-1 deficit to win opon Ponca. Dave Tietgen supplied one run in the top of the sixth with his double to slice the score to 3-2. Denny Bowers' second single of the night tied the score at 3-3 in the top of the seventh. Wayne came up with two more runs in the seventh to edge into a 5-3 lead.

Kenny Jorgensen doubled and Larry Hix tripled in the top of the ninth to help the locals toward two more runs to ice the victory.

Lynn Tomjack relieved starter Randy Jacobson with nobody out and Wayne down 2-1 in the second frame. He struck out 11, walked six and allowed Ponca's only two hits on his way to his victory. Jacobson fanned one and walked four in this shaky start.

4 Injured in Three In-Town Accidents

A total of four persons required medical treatment at the local hospital as a result of three collisions between vehicles inside the city limits during the past week. The Wayne ambulance was called to take injured occupants to the hospital following collisions between a car and truck; a car and motorcycle; and a car striking two parked autos.

ONE OF TWO wrecked autos involved in a collision at 1017 Sherman late Monday night. The 1968 Buick belongs to Janet Sisson of Ewing and was parked when hit by a Chevrolet driven by Dennis Orte of Wayne.

Wayne police officers were called to investigate a car-truck collision in the 500 block on East Seventh Street around 12:30 p.m. Saturday. A 1967 Buick Groff of Wayne was eastbound on Seventh Street in a 1963 Mercury Comet, accompanied by her husband. A 1968 Chevrolet truck driven by Raymond H. Bark of Wayne was westbound. Police reported the Groff auto was in the wrong lane and was in the turn on the left front wheel.

The truck, owned by the Schmidt Trucking Co. of Wayne, was loaded with sacked feed, and upset on the north side of the street following the impact.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Don Groff were taken to the Wayne hospital. She was treated for severe head cuts, according to police, and he received treatment for lacerations.

The officer investigating the wreck reported the truck had skidded nearly 56 feet prior to impact and the auto about 25 feet. No charges have been filed. Later Saturday morning, 7:20 p.m., a 1964 Chevrolet driven by Bruce Nordhorst and a motorcycle driven by John Barr were both reported by police to have been northbound on Main Street and both attempting to turn left onto 14th Street when they collided at the intersection. Officer said Barr was taken to the hospital by the Wayne ambulance for treatment of an injured leg.

Another accident involving three cars occurred Monday around 11:45 p.m. at 1017 Sherman Street. Police report that Dennis E. Orte, 24, was northbound on Sherman Street in a 1970 Chevrolet and, driving left of center, hit a parked 1968 Buick belonging to Janet Sisson of Ewing. The Buick was forced north and west onto an empty lot.

The Otto car, officers said, was turned around by the impact and then skidded backwards 50 feet, striking a 1969 Ford belonging to John Knievel of Clearwater. The Knievel vehicle was parked in the driveway at 1917 Sherman Street at the time and sustained an estimated $223 in damages.

The Wayne ambulance took Orte to the local hospital where he was treated for facial cuts and released. Officers investigating estimated the Buick and Chevrolet to be near total losses.

In other activities during the past week, police were told by a resident in the 1000 block of Main that she had received an obscene phone call and had been followed home.

A resident in the 1000 block of 14th Street told police Saturday that someone had broken two limbs off a small tree.

Due to a tip by an alert citizen who heard and observed someone breaking into the Skelton wash house on South Main around 1:15 a.m. Sunday, police went to the scene and found a local youth inside the building.

Charges were filed against the youth in the Wayne County Court under juvenile proceedings.

Charges were filed Monday against Kenneth D. Ahlman, of Wayne, who, police said, allegedly broke into a cigarette machine on the highway at the West Mission taking cigarettes and money.

Police were told Monday that 100 foot of green garden hose was stolen from the Little Duffer at Seventh and Main Streets sometime after midnight early Monday morning. The hose was valued at $20.

office earlier this year. The problem stems from the earlier council's decision to extend the existing on-street parking restrictions throughout the city. Signs went up earlier this year in several areas of the city, causing numerous residents to complain about their uselessness.

The new hours for no parking will be tried for one month on a trial basis. The council will then make another attempt to come up with a permanent solution to parking on city streets.

A petition signed by 36 people along Sherman Street objected to the council's forcing property owners along that street to put in sidewalks while other property owners are not told to do the same.

The council told the person who introduced that petition, Harvey Grosse, that the council decision to force sidewalks on both sides of North Sherman was not unfair. The decision was made, according to the council, because these are high in priority.

Installation of sidewalks for all newly constructed homes will now become mandatory as a result of a council decision. The group decided to make an ordinance which requires sidewalks to be put in when homes are built.

Prior to this, the council ordered - but apparently never forced - contractors to install sidewalks. Now, those who fail to put in sidewalks will be in direct violation of city law.

In other action the council accepted the low bid of $94,181 by Midwest Bridge of Norfolk for construction of streets in The Knolls' Addition to the city.

Set public hearing for 8 p.m. on Aug. 11 to decide what to do with Roy Corvelli's request to rezone a strip of property on the west edge of the city from agriculture to business. The planning commission recommended the request be denied. The land is now used by Corvelli Auto as a display yard for automobiles.

Also approved by the board were Judith Zobel for fourth grade science and Cheryl James for 10th grade English. The two were hired by Superintendent Haun last month.

The resignation of Mrs. Sherman Frey - the second time this year she has resigned - was accepted by the board. Mrs. Frey taught art in middle school and high school.

Vacancies left to fill before the 1970-71 school year include the one in art, math and science in middle school and music in middle school.

The board also heard a proposal from Bill Richardson, manager of the Morning Shopper in Wayne, about how to better inform the school district residents about the school.

of some of the taxes being spent to help support them. Also, he said, the retarded will be kept closer to home if a workshop center can be established somewhere in the four-county region.

Mental retardation should not be confused with mental illness, the group points out. Retardation is the lack of mental capacity and is often caused by illnesses such as measles.

About 85 per cent of the mentally retarded can be trained to be self-reliant and most of them can become self-supporting if they receive proper training.

Habrock pointed out that the blind and deaf in Nebraska are educated in trade schools operated by the state. However, he said, the mentally retarded are neglected after they get out of high school.

In order to establish a trade school for the retarded, explained Habrock, funds must be obtained so the state can match them with tax money.

Wayne and Winside schools, along with others facing deficits, filed petitions to get those funds released. Judge Warren, at a January hearing, ordered 65 per cent of the money tied up by the lawsuit to be released so the schools could continue educating the high school students attending the schools from outside the districts.

At the April hearing Warren ordered provisions concerning the distribution of 65 per cent of the tax funds and retention of 35 per cent be kept in effect until final disposition of the suit.

Mrs. Gladys Porter, county superintendent of schools, noted Tuesday, "There are 11 other similar school levy cases pending in other counties. I think most of them are watching the action being taken in the Wayne County case to see what is going to happen."

Free High Tuition Suit Is Appealed to Nebraska Supreme Court

Wayne County officials learned Monday that a District Court case questioning legislation regarding the setting of mill-levees for non-resident high school tuition is being appealed to the Nebraska Supreme Court.

The Wayne County suit is the first of 12 such petitions filed in various state district courts to come before a district judge and to be appealed to the State Supreme Court. Its outcome will therefore set a precedent for the other cases.

LB 910, passed by the 1969 Nebraska Legislature, came under questioning in the Wayne County District Court early this year after a petition was filed by plaintiffs Frederick H. Mann, Cornelius Leonard, John Heinemann, Leslie Youngmeyer, Merlin Reinhardt, Dwayne Redhewach, and Victor Katesche, naming the Wayne County Board of Equalization as defendant.

Kile W. Johnson of Lincoln, attorney for the plaintiffs, filed a notice of appeal Monday with John T. Bressler Jr., clerk of the District Court. The appeal notified defendants and their attorney that the plaintiffs intend to take the case to the higher court.

The plaintiffs' action follows a decision handed down by District Court Judge Merritt C. Warren in mid-April ruling that LB 910 is constitutional. The court also found at that time the 10.97 mill levy in School District 19 for non-resident high school tuition to be lawful and ordered a petition against the Wayne County Board of Equalization questioning the legality of LB 910 and the levy to be dismissed with plaintiffs paying costs.

Resolution to Mark Funds for Bridges

Wayne County commissioners passed a resolution during a regular meeting July 7 to earmark 25 per cent of monthly State highway allocation checks and authorized the county treasurer to deposit that amount into a bridge fund.

Norris Webbe, county clerk, noted that the action will help the commissioners know at any time the exact amount of funds available for bridge work. He explained that if the entire allocation check were to be deposited into the general fund, it might be difficult to determine what amount had been spent for bridge work and how many dollars were still available for additional such work.

The resolution was adopted and will go into effect immediately.

Another Survey Set For Area Workers

The Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment and unemployment in the Wayne area during the week of July 10. Guy A. Lutz, director of the Bureau's Regional office in St. Paul, announced today.

The households to be interviewed here are part of a scientifically designed sample that is representative of the entire U.S. population. The employment and unemployment statistics are collected monthly by the Bureau for the U.S. Department as a whole and in the major regions.

Questions on employment similar to those in the sample survey were asked of the entire population in the 1970 decennial census, now being compiled. Bureau officials point out, however, that the monthly survey is essential as the source of current employment data.

Facts supplied by individuals participating in the survey are kept confidential and the results are used only to compile statistical results. The law safeguarding the privacy of the individual applies to all information collected by the Census Bureau.

Interviewers who visit households in this area are selected from the Bureau of Census and are not employees of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

Moul Tells Kiwanis Of Indian Programs

Francis Moul, Wayne State College instructor, explained several WSC summer programs for Indian students in an address given at Kiwanis Club Monday following a noon luncheon in the Woman's Club room.

Moul spoke of his work with Indian affairs and pointed out the need for training Indians to be teachers, particularly capable of instructing others in reservation schools. He noted that Wayne State College, since it is a teacher training school, needs to be and is involved in assisting Indian people in the field of instruction.

The Winnebago tutorial program was started last year using volunteer WSC students who went to Winnebago twice each week to tutor youngsters on a one-to-one basis. Moul said the youngsters responded well to the program and there were 60 students wanting the help rather than the 30 which had been anticipated.

The speaker briefly outlined the Summer Institute for Teachers of American Indian Children and the Neighborhood Youth Corps for Indian Children, two programs currently being conducted on the WSC campus. Moul said there is another program, the Nebraska Conference on Indian Programs, slated Saturday

PROTECTION! make it work for SAFETY!

Controlling the News

City, county, state and federal government officials at times become irritated with newsmen who probe for details. Some have felt the public doesn't need to know exactly what was said, amount of contracts, how decisions were made and who made them. If it isn't the taxpayer's business, then whose business is it?

As details of the recent burglaries in Hoskins were being gathered, a Hoskins resident noted the presence of the press and questioned whether or not the story should be in the papers as such publicity might contribute to more break-ins.

Can you begin to imagine what kind of newspapers Americans would have available to read if only that to which no one objected was printed?

When something occurs in your town would you prefer the story to make the rounds via the gossips rather than through public news services which strive for a high degree of accuracy?

We Americans like to be informed. We like to know about local, state, national and world affairs. It doesn't bother us at all when we see in the local paper where the neighbor's boy got picked up for being a minor in possession or where his dad got a speeding ticket. When the same thing happens to us personally, however, there aren't enough words available to describe a paper that would be so indiscreet as to carry the court report.

We Americans enjoy reading the good and the bad as long as the bad happens to somebody else. This is a quirk of human nature that has quarrelled with the press since newspapers first started. We do not want the news controlled as long as we are either made to look good or are not involved.

A local newspaper has the responsibility of reporting all news in an accurate and unbiased fashion.

If you like to read about what everyone else is doing, be it good or bad, then remember that you are the subject others like to read about.

It is up to each of us to govern our actions in such a way that to see them in print will be complimentary. If our actions are not complimentary, we cannot blame the newspaper for insisting on accuracy and refusing to make us look good when we didn't.

The way to control the news is by controlling ourselves. — MMW.

Where's the Winner?

A lot of work is being done by several people in Wayne to help make the Wayne County Centennial Beauty Pageant a success.

The Mrs. Jaycees, the sponsoring organization for the affair, are entering young girls between 16 and 21 to enter the contest. The contest is scheduled for Monday, Aug. 3, in the Wayne city auditorium. The winner of the contest will be crowned and will reign throughout the county fair week.

Added incentive for girls to enter: a $50 savings bond which will be awarded the new queen. Other prizes will be given to the runners-up in the pageant.

Exclude Carelessness

Our calendars are filled with special weeks, but it would be well to take time to observe National Farm Safety Week. Although emphasis upon farm safety is spotlighted only Sunday through Saturday, those in the farming business know it is a full time job to exclude carelessness.

The man on the farm is a businessman in a specialized area of work. He knows safety is as important to his production as it is in any factory. As he often is working alone, his job demands self-observation. He is aware of the importance of emphasizing safety.

Pilots are schooled in safety as are those who learn to drive an automobile. Employees may be fired for inefficiency. A postal clerk who makes too many errors; a waitress who breaks too many dishes; a parking lot attendant who crumples too many fenders; and public servants in government who are convicted of willful neglect of duty may all be discharged due to inability or carelessness. The man on the farm must be his own supervisor and remind himself constantly to exclude carelessness. A gentle tap on the shoulder for those working in farm-related jobs to double check on safety standards they have set for themselves. Sloppy habits may have crept into one's work around farm machinery and equipment without being noticed.

Does familiarity breed contempt around a tractor? After climbing on and off one several hundred times, it could be easy to be momentarily careless. Most of us know of tragic accidents that might have been avoided. Death can come in a matter of minutes. This is the reason safety engineers are stressing Farm Safety Week.

May the special week be a reminder that whether handling chemicals, working around power take-offs, belts, conveyors, grinders, or any of the many items necessary to modern farm operations, it pays big dividends to be careful. — MMW.

transport, oil fields, construction work, road building, and other demanding service where "reliable and economical heavy-duty operation" was required.

The Washington Model Rocky Mountain Special was at the top of the Patriot line. It was advertised as having extra power and strength when loaded to capacity, enabling it to pull any grade and pull through any road where it could obtain traction. Advertisements read, "Its extra powerful motor cannot be stalled, and its extra powerful construction will endure the severest strains, 5,000 to 7,500 pounds capacity per load."

The State Archives of the Nebraska State Historical Society would like to hear from anyone who knows the whereabouts of business records of the Patriot Motor Company.

Trucks Once Built in Lincoln
"Made in the West: Built for the World." This advertisement was seen around Lincoln in 1920 when the Patriot Motor Company was in operation at Havelock. According to various catalogues in the files of the State Archives, Nebraska State Historical Society, the Patriot plant was the largest truck and body plant west of the Mississippi River. It was an outgrowth of the A. G. Hebb Quality Bodies factories, which had been located in Lincoln for several years. Soon after incorporation in 1920, the company built a new plant at Havelock, the industrial suburb of Lincoln. The corporation had an estimated value of $700,000. At its peak the Patriot Motor Company manufactured three models of trucks which were used throughout the U. S.: The Revere Model had a capacity of from 1,500 to 2,500 pounds; cord tires, a continental real seal motor, "amidship" transmission, flexible universal joints, electric starting and lighting, worm drive, and was built to the same standards as the larger Patriot models. The speed and handling flexibility of the automobile, the power and durability standards of the larger trucks, the hauling capacity of a two-horse team "at far less than the operating cost of a single horse," were advertised selling points of the Revere Model Patriot.

The Lincoln Model Rocky Mountain Special was used for such hard service as hauling, timber handling, rural motor

Ship of State Now Feeling Ripples from Strode Affair

LINCOLN — In the wake of the Harold Strode affair, the governor's office is considering ways to learn more about the people appointed to high positions in state government.

One procedure under consideration is a credit check on all persons being given serious consideration for appointment.

Strode, who was fired last spring as director of the welfare department because of alleged misuse of state funds, had claimed personal bankruptcy in 1964.

This fact wasn't known when he was being considered for the top post in the welfare department. A credit check might have turned it up.

Herb Lund, Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann's administrative counsel, said personal bankruptcies in itself wouldn't have disqualified Strode or any other candidate. But, he said, it might have raised a danger flag and led to further investigation into a candidate's background.

Under previous procedures, there was no check into an applicant's personal credit. State officials checked the candidate's job history and touched base with his references.

Because of the Strode episode, Lund said, there would be more attention paid to the integrity of the applicants.

Governor Ends Japanese Trip

Gov. Tiemann returned late last week after a three-week journey to Japan. Tiemann was among nine United States governors who made the trip. A year ago, a group of Japanese local government officials made a similar tour of the United States. Nebraska was among the states they visited. The trip this year was sponsored by the National Governors' Conference.

Tiemann left June 23 and returned last Friday.

While he was in Japan, he called on agricultural and industrial leaders to discuss possibilities of increasing export of Nebraska products to the Oriental country.

Disclosure of the amount of funds involved in the Strode affair — $85,500 — was made in the press while the governor was overseas.

Nebraska Tech Center Named for Welsh
At the commencement exercises last week at Nebraska Vocational-Technical School at Millard, a student center was named after the man who has served 25 years as the school's director.

The Lowell A. Welsh Center was named during ceremonies in which 194 graduates were honored.

Welsh didn't know in advance that the building would be named after him. The Millard Institution is the first state vocational-technical school. A second one has been established at Sidney.

Tax and Spending Likes Noted
The Nebraska Tax Research Council has released a study which shows the combined state and local tax collections have risen $359 million since 1959.

According to the statistics, the total state and local taxes in 1959 were $36 million. By 1970, they had grown to $446 million.

The council projected the figures through the coming decade and predicts a total of $712 million in state and local tax collections by 1980.

The local taxes amounted to $77 million two decades ago and stood at the $320 million mark this year. By 1980 the figure, according to the council, could be $494 million.

State taxes, on the other hand, climbed from $19 million in 1959 to $126 million in 1970. The projected figure for 1980 is $223 million.

The independent tax research organization also did a study on direct general expenditures. This includes money spent from sources other than the property, sales and income taxes at the state and local levels.

By 1980, according to the projections, combined state and local governmental spending in Nebraska could reach $1.1 billion.

In 1942, the combined spending was $83 million. By 1957, it had climbed to $291 million, but in the decade following — 1967 is the latest year with reliable figures — it had zoomed to $648 million.

The local governments and the state followed similar patterns. In 1942, the local total was $46 million and the state's figure was $37 million. By 1957, local spending totaled $157 million and the state expenditures were $134 million. The 1967 figures were $330 million for all local governments and $318 million for the state, while the projected amounts for 1980 are $556 million for each level of government, or a combined $1,112,000,000.

Forrest Johnson, executive director of the council, said the projections are based on 10-year trends in spending and taxes. They indicate what could happen if conditions continue as they have during the past decade, he said.

Stalled Tires Happed

State Engineer Marvin L. Nuernberger says stalled snow tires are causing problems on Nebraska's highways.

And he says it could be how to repair the damage. Nuernberger says the highways — especially the Interstate — were designed to handle specific loads from trucks, but the spiked tires wasn't considered in the designs and is causing excessive grooving. Also getting more blame than heavy trucks for breakdowns in highway surfaces are unstable soil conditions, according to the state road chief.

The store-room at the rear of the First National Bank is being remodeled to give additional space in the bank rooms. The addition to the Wayne Monument Works on West First Street is practically complete.

15 Years Ago

July 21, 1955: Wayne and Winside firemen saved a cattle barn on the Emil Dauterke farm, six miles southeast of Winside, from destruction last Wednesday after lightning struck the building. About eight tons of hay in the mow was destroyed. Warm, muggy weather the past week, aided by 1.36 inches of rain has boosted Wayne County's crop outlook. Corn is shooting up fast and small grains are ripening well. Oats harvest has started and yields in many cases are running above expectations. Oscar Johnson, who farms north of Dixon, reported a yield of 58 bushels per acre on a 10-acre field. A watermelon feed will climax the 1955 park recreation program next Thursday, July 28. Director Dorothy Hillson said today. John Fuelberth recently won second place in an eight-state contest sponsored by the National Science Teachers Association. John was awarded a $25 savings bond for his work with soils and subsoils of Wayne County. Besides his exhibits, John entered a 90-page typewritten report on his work.

10 Years Ago

July 21, 1960: A group of Wayne citizens formed a new political party Monday night, even though they had recruited three persons to fill out the required 35 person minimum for the action. The new party, as with the Citizens party, may nominate one person for each post open in city elections. A four-some of Wayne golfers playing on a (herokee) low course Sunday chalked up a hole in one, a pair of two's and a three on the 105-yard par third eighth hole. Don Sand fired the ace. Shooting deuces were Larry Heeres and Jim Marsh. Kenny Dahl chalked up a three. Mr. and Mrs. Mel Ekston, Bob Nelson and Ann Swinney this week returned from Grand Island where they attended the fall and winter merchandise and sales promotion meeting of Coast to Coast stores.

Working Couples Should Adjust Tax Withholding

If both husband and wife work, they may face a large tax bill at the end of 1970 unless they take steps to have their income tax withholding adjusted, according to Richard P. Vinal, district director of Internal Revenue for Nebraska.

The Tax Reform Act of 1969 established a new low-income allowance which is available to a married couple only when a joint return is filed. The withholding system gives each employee the low-income allowance because it would have created serious complications for employers whose spouses work and for those who do not, said Vinal.

The result is that if both husband and wife work, not enough tax is withheld and at the end of the year the couple may face a large tax bill to make up the difference between the withholding and the actual income tax.

Working couples can minimize the possibility of a year-end balance due, said Vinal, by adjusting their withholding exemptions in accordance with a table recently mailed to all employers. Couples should ask their employer to give them a copy of Notice 196 (6-70), Special Notice for Working Couples. A copy may be obtained by writing or calling the Internal Revenue Service, 15th and Dodge Streets, Omaha, 68102.

Good Morning Feeders & Hi Mom

By Eddie Collins

The car radio was on as the sport-shirted, hatless cattle buyer drew up alongside the working grain combines. Batman and his cattle spotter, Robin, had arrived... like the old-fashion ten-avenue-let-with-intent-to-sav-stand... No cross country jaunt. Just nine miles to his brother-in-law's scales. Those 1227 pound steers - heck, I thought they weighed thirteen. They shrink 75 pounds.

"Well, you don't travel for nothing."
"Almost!"
The red light of the two-way radio flashes. A call from the plant. A call from the beefman.

"Getting anything done?"
"I'm on 190 head now - I'm trading - bid George 31.25 - he wants 40."
"Well, the dressed market is jamming in the East. Take 50 75c freight - and think of all the people at the plant. Think they have groceries given to them like monkeys at a zoo?"

"Wait a minute. He said official credits were worth $25 on an 1100 pound steer. Besides, he said no more kill outs. No more grade and yield. I would sell - though Ma said 31.75. But I'll go a half."

"31.75? If I bought those, every rivet would fly right off the parking plant roof. I'll go 31.25."

"Make it 31.40 - I'll shove nine a dime."
While they argued, fussed and traded, the Public Central Stockyard Foundation noon market program came on the air. Batman turned the volume control left.

"Hey, hey, turn that up. Let's hear that cattle report. You road runners might be trying to clip my wings."

Today, the stockyard reporter was noticeably biased. Market active, good movement. Twenty-five lower, but liberal water fills. In fact, one shipper from Hacklebarney had a load of 1227-pound home-raised Angus that brought $479.13 more money by not taking his county bid of last Friday as the cattle gained nine pounds, instead of the 37 pounds on three per cent shrink the buyer wanted. Also, the cattle advance 50¢ in price. The voice enthusiastically and professionally closed by urging all shippers to do their best do as the rest, ship to Terminal - Terminal. Somehow he had forgotten to mention that the annual receipts had declined over 20 per cent each year for the fourth consecutive year; but, after all, somebody writes the pay checks.

"Here's that, $479.13 more! Holzman don't put your birds on the road for nothing."
"Wait a minute. Sure, I bid on those cattle - last Friday. Two hundred seventy-six mile haul and the cattle gained? Nuts. Old Charlie took the cattle off feed and water at 9 a.m., loaded at 5, weighed them on the truck drawn in two. With me, he piles fresh silage on top the corn, adds some salt and lots of molasses - steers get full as a croaking toad. Why, there's 35 pounds of feed in the rumen alone - and that stays. Charlie loads the cattle for me after they tank up on water about 10 a.m. No overnight on that black squawk box. That guy calls cause you told him too - pre-arranged. Every time, right when we're trading."

"Oh, no. I hope you don't sell them to me. You're really got me hooked. But, I'll still take them."
"Well, they're yours - 31.25 - three per cent loaded at 10."
"Oh, no, four per cent at 7. I'm no school boy."
"Damn it, three. Four is only for the new boys in Kansas and Colorado."
"OK. He writes up a still-estrol contract."
"George, now do you want some fancy hereof yearlings? My brother-in-law in Lexington has 201 head, wants 31.50 - green cattle - the trucks kind - worth the candy. Right can double after delivering your fat."

"Might do that. Four per cent shrink?"
"Heck, no. None. These yearlings are in a big dry pasture and will be walked half the day. No shrink at all! Some real good club calves. Thin enough to win a purple at the county fair."

"Roger."
"Ten-four."
"Ten-four."
Batman turns off the set.
"Hear that?"
"Fella, I've heard the same call a dozen, no two dozen times days and the testimony will be highlighted by testimony reflecting a study made by a nationally known accounting and auditing firm specializing in dairy cost studies. The company was retained by the Department of Agriculture to assist the board in its determination required by L.B. 964, passed by the 1969 session of the legislature.

According to Schlaphoff, after the hearing the board will certify its findings and recommendations to him for the purposes of administering the provisions of the Dairy Trade Practices Act. The effective date when such prices shall become effective will be determined by the board, said Schlaphoff.

Farm Safety Week

"Protection - Make It Work For Safety" is the theme of the 27th annual National Farm Safety Week to be observed July 19-25, with each day of the Safety Week given a specific farm safety emphasis.

Nebraska's Farm Safety Week Coordinator, University of Nebraska Extension Safety Specialist, Rollin Schneider pointed out that with Nebraska's approximately 20 tractor fatalities per year, coupled with numerous other crippling and costly injuries to Nebraska farmers, the theme and each day's emphasis is especially appropriate.

Schneider outlined the daily emphasis which should be observed through the year: Sunday - Prepare to Conserve Life. Be alert to and aware of ordinary hazards of daily life; be open-minded to safety suggestions; correct hazards promptly; learn to live safely with fixed hazards; be prepared for emergencies.

Monday - Safety begins at home. Have a storage place for everything; check appliances, wiring and power tools for defects; inspect heating system, flues and portable heaters to cut fire risk; remove clutter, prepare a home fire escape plan and keep household products and medicines in safe storage.

Tuesday - Farm Machinery. Read and heed instruction manuals; keep safety devices in place; stop machines before unclogging or adjusting; avoid tractor upsets; slow when turning on slopes and on rough or muddy ground; have proper lighting and SMV emblems.

Wednesday - Prevent Falls. Avoid rushing; use a sturdy stool or ladder; repair broken ladders; provide handrails and good lighting for steps; remove tripping hazards; scrape mud and grease from shoes before climbing; fix defective flooring; sidproof small rugs.

Thursday - Agricultural Chemicals. Read labels and follow instructions; use protective equipment; store in original containers in suitable places; place no pesticides in food and drink containers; dispose of empty containers according to recommendations of dealers.

Friday - Rural Highway Safety. Drive "defensively"; adjust speed to conditions; obey laws, be careful at rail crossings and intersections; signal turns well in advance; cut high growth at driveways and corners; keep all vehicles in good operating condition.

Saturday - Recreation Safety. Observe safe boating rules; teach youngsters to swim; safeguard farm ponds; provide flotation aids near water; handle and store guns and ammunition properly; include safety in family vacation plans.

Sunday - Modern Misses 4-H Club - Modern Misses 4-H Club met Tuesday with Kathy Hug. Eleven members were present. ## Counties Assigned to Marketing Area for Milk, Milk Products

Thirty-six counties in eastern Nebraska were last week put into one of the four natural marketing areas for milk and milk products established by the Nebraska Dairy Products Advisory Board.

The board acted with responsibility to do so as set forth in LB 964, said Director of Agriculture Elmer Schlaphoff. Establishment of the natural marketing areas across the state is a prerequisite step to the adoption of minimum costs of dairy products sold in Nebraska. The minimum-costs of dairy products will be established by the board following a public hearing scheduled for Wednesday, July 22. Director Schlaphoff also announced that the natural marketing areas would not take effect until a later date which will be determined by the Nebraska Dairy Products Advisory Board.

The eastern Nebraska counties belonging in Area IV include Knox, Cedar, Dixon, Dakota, Wayne, Pierce, Antelope, Thurston, Boone, Madison, Stanton, Cuming, Burt, Platte, Colfax, Dodge, Washington, Polk, Butler, Saunders, Douglas, Sherman, York, Seward, Cass, Lancaster, Fillmore, Saline, Otoe, Gage, Jefferson, Thayer, Johnson, Nemaha, Pawnee and Richardson.

The hearing has been scheduled for 9:30 a.m. July 22 at the State Capitol building in Lincoln. Evidence and testimony will be given about the establishment of minimum basic costs for the production and distribution of dairy products. Evidence will also be given about the setting of minimum price of dairy products sold in the state.

According to Elmer Schlaphoff, director of Agriculture, the hearing may last for several

Time Getting Short For GI Loan Benefits

Time is running out for about 2,140,000 World War II veterans who have not used their GI loan guaranty benefits.

The final cutoff date for World War II loans is July 25, 1970, for those whose loan eligibility for loans established by military service since 1955.

World War II veterans who do not know their expiration dates should get in touch with the Lincoln VA office if they are seeking a GI loan. It will be helpful to have discharge or separation papers handy at the time of contact.

Veterans who know their loan guaranty terminal dates, but whose applications cannot be submitted to the VA before the July 25 deadline, should have their lenders write or telephone their VA offices to explain the problem, the Veterans Administration says.

More than 7,500,000 loans amounting to $77 billion have been guaranteed by the VA since the program was initiated following World War II.

Under the program, the VA guarantees up to 50 per cent (not to exceed $12,500) of the outstanding balance on home loans for veterans, he said.
