Sievers Twins Exhibit Beef Champs at County Fair

Though skies were overcast throughout the day Friday at the Wayne County Fair there were a lot of big smiles, twin smiles particularly, which brightened up the 4-H beef show arena.

The twin smiles belonged to 15-year-old twins, Jacquette and Jack Sievers, children of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Sievers of Wakefield, who walked off with top honors in the market-beef show. Jacque heard the judge name her Polled Hereford as Champion in its class and then Grand Champion over all. Her brother Jack showed Reserve Champion both in class and over all.

Winning is not new to the Sievers family. Jack won both Grand Champion and Reserve Champion in the 1968 show and was named Grand Champion again last year.

This year Jack won purple ribbons with his Herefords in first place in both the lightweight and medium weight classes.

The youth had the Grand Champion Polled Hereford breeding heifer Friday afternoon and a purple ribbon in class as well as getting a purple ribbon in class and showing the Grand Champion fat market Polled Hereford. Jack's sister Jacque had the second place lightweight Hereford in class.

Others smiling in the winner's circle included. Connie Roberts of Wakefield who had the Champion Charolais crossbred steer with a purple ribbon in class. Her sister Donna had the Reserve Champion.

Keith Jorgensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jorgensen of Pender, showed the Champion Angus with a purple ribbon in class. Keith took second with an Angus heifer in last year's show. Showing the Reserve Champion Angus was Randy Owens of Carroll.

and Mrs. LeRoy Sievers of Wakefield. Jacque had the Grand Champion.

Kevin Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Davis of Carroll, showed the Champion overall market heifer last year and came back to the fair this year to win more honors with the Reserve Champion Angus market heifer. He also got a purple ribbon.

Young Gregg Lago, son of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Lago of Pender, had his afternoon brightened when the judge announced he would get a purple ribbon and had the Champion Shorthorn. Getting a purple ribbon and having the Reserve Champion Shorthorn was Scott Niemann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Niemann of Carroll.

Final competition in the arena Friday afternoon was between various 4-H clubs showing groups-of-five steers. Taking top honors was Coon Creek 4-H Club of Wakefield with Polled Herefords.

It was a great day for all the 4-H youths and clubs participating in the arena competition, but particularly so for the Coon Creek Club when they realized they had four of the eight steers in the Grand Champion selection ring. Fred Uecht is club leader.

Beard Winners Named

Twenty-two bearded contestants with about every variety of facial growth lined up before three judges Friday night in front of the grandstand at the Wayne County Fair. Judges looked over the crop of whiskers, growl for the centennial celebration and selected four winners.

Pat Jensen of Wayne was awarded first place in the Jaycee sponsored contest. Tom Schupe, master of ceremonies, announced to the crowd that Jensen's prize would be a free shave and haircut at the Ellis Barber Shop.

Waste Site Approved

No one appeared at a public hearing before the county commissioners Aug. 4 to protest or improve an application filed by the Village of Winside for a solid waste disposal site.

Greasy Fun

Terry Hamilton of Wayne was busy Thursday night doing what a lot of 3-year-olds would like to do and that was taking his turn trying to reach a $10 bill at the top of a greased 10-foot pole at the Wayne County Fair. Terry wasn't so lucky as to get the money as he was beat out by older competitors.

Underpass Improvement a Good Step

We're glad to see that work has now been completed on eliminating the traffic bottleneck on Highway 9 on the east edge of Allen. The bottleneck — the highway underpass — has long caused headaches for many truckers using the highway, forcing them to wait in line for a country road in order to get around the underpass. Several of those trucks ended up in the ditch, victims of a road which wasn't constructed to carry them and which failed to get enough money channeled to it so it could be made capable of carrying the load. The State Highway Department has increased the underpass from 12 feet five inches to 14 feet. That should take care of almost any truck which happens over the road. Improvement of the underpass came right after completion of another project which caused considerable problems to drivers in and through Allen. That project was the sanitary sewer system which is now installed in Allen. Next thing — hook up the numerous home owners who have said they want to take of that improvement to a small but thriving community. While we're on the subject of highways and roads, we do hope the state proceeds with plans to hard-surface the road from the Northeast Station just outside of Concord east to where it connects with Concord. As we have said in the past, a good road from Highway 9 to the research facility will help make the facility even more benefit to all of northeast Nebraska. With our snowy winters and muddy springs, it's often difficult to reach the Northeast Station except over paved roads. — NLH.

Spirit of Celebration

There is no way of knowing how many man-hours of work went into planning, preparing and holding the 1970 Wayne County Fair. With so many people involved there isn't even any way of knowing just exactly who all helped with the myriad details — many without pay — and did so in a spirit of celebration. A conservative estimate would involve literally hundreds of people who saw fit to get involved. From the time the fair board gives the following year's fair their first thoughts, which is about now for 1971, until the last gate is closed and the final wrap-up story is written, dozens of folk have had a part in making the event a success. We hope each of you who contributed toward the fair's success will realize that though you are not likely to be snowed under with an avalanche of thank-you cards, there are hundreds who would like to have said thanks to you personally had they known you were partially responsible for their fun. Could you even begin to guess how many jobs there are to be done when planning for an event the size of the county fair? Al Baha, secretary of the fair, probably has a good idea, but would likely hesitate to venture a guess. He's the kind of guy who really gets things done and well deserves the title of "Mr. County Fair" if such a title were to ever be offered. Baha, the fair board and every one of you who helped out with the fair in any way deserve an editorial salute and a round of verbal applause. We hope you can relax a bit now and lean back for a moment or two and take pride in knowing that a job was well done. The Thursday morning drizzle had the potential of dampening the big parade, but it failed to do so as thousands turned out to watch. It is rather difficult to put a damper on the spirit of celebration, especially in the centennial year. Without a lot of fancy words and in behalf of all those who enjoyed the fair, we say "thank you" to all and each of you who made it possible. — MNH.

Wayne Ball Park — How Much Farther Downhill?

These two pictures show dramatically what has happened to the Wayne ball park in the past few years. The seating, both in the stadium and in the bleachers, is badly in need of repair. The stadium and bleachers should be completely patterned from top to bottom to help ward off further rotting of the wood. Some of the seats in the stadium need to be reinforced before somebody falls through and hurts himself. Also, a door to the stadium should be repaired or replaced, and roofs for the dugouts should be fixed. Finally, grass seed should be sown over the outfield to make a better playing field for the teams which use the park. And, to make the park an even nicer facility than it was originally, the area from a few feet outside the baselines should be sodded back to the dugouts and the stadium wall. If those things were done, the park would once again become a source of pride and satisfaction to a great number of people in Wayne. As it is now, it has become the city's stepchild, gaining attention only when something absolutely has to be done in order for it to be used. What amount of money are we talking about when we say these things should be done? Surprisingly, very little. Here's the results of a quick check of the park made by a person connected with one of the construction companies in Wayne: —100 gallons of paint at $5 a gallon (two coats), $500. —Lumber for repairing seating, $100. —New dugout roof, $25. —New stadium door, $12. —Sod trucked to Wayne and laid, $240. —Seed for outfield, $25. —Grand total, $902. We have the makings for one of the finest ball parks in northeast Nebraska. What's it going to take to make it just that? Less than $1,000. Plus a lot of free labor by interested people. And a lot of pushing to get started. A heck of a lot of the last. — NLH.

by Merlin Wright

Did you know that military men, whether in New York, Omaha, Colorado Springs or California, all have the same menu on any given date? This is but one of the interesting things we learned a week ago Friday and Saturday while on a flying trip to visit local members of the National Guard training at Fort Carson, Colo. Mayor Ken Hall, Willis Lessmann, Ron Anderson and J. W. Drove to Lincoln and boarded aircraft provided by the Air National Guard. Hall, Lessmann and Anderson were assigned aboard a four-engine C-54 made available by the South Dakota Air National Guard while we climbed on a similar bird belonging to the Nebraska ANG. Having piloted aircraft for the past 20 years we are used to giving the plane a quick once over before climbing in. This 70,000-pound eagle had a few dents in her feathers, but with wings spread out to measure 117 feet she looked capable of getting us to Colorado Springs and back. With her four engines primed and a proficient crew in the cockpit, the 26-year-old Skymaster took off. As far as the ANG people were concerned we were all Very Important People (VIP). There were state senators, mayors, newspaper and television reporters. Those of us riding as passengers figured the real VIP were up front in the cockpit. Our viewpoint was to be proven right later on in the trip.

Our bird took on more passengers at North Platte and Scottsbluff. For a moment J. W. thought there was an engine that coughed a time or two. Chimney Back was standing tall and erect in the morning sunlight as if attempting to reach our landing gear. That country out there in western Nebraska is really rough. One wonders how the pioneers were ever able to make their way to California. Once more we're thankful for wearing wings. Both plane loads were put on buses at Peterson Field just east of Pikes Peak and Colorado Springs. The Peak was wearing a morning glory of clouds as we got into the chow line at Fort Carson. Back on buses we were taken south of the Fort to the Army's 20-mile training area at the base of the Rocky Mountains. The four of us from Wayne were assigned an escort, as were the others, and before you could ask, "Where are we?" we were there camping with the Wayne-O'Neill National Guard Unit.

Dean Bruggeman took us for a ride through part of the rugged training grounds aboard an armored personnel carrier. As we were busy snapping pictures during the afternoon we met up with Larry Hansen, John Dorsey, Jim Nuernberger, Dennis Spangler, Arden Olson of Concord, and two Wakefield men, Mark Uech and Harvey Anderson. The Guardsmen are a great bunch of guys and went all out in providing royal treatment.

In mid-America it is used to be that little building out back could be easily identified due to its shape. There isn't any modern plumbing in the backwoods of the Rocky Mts., at least not where the Army trains its troops. The outdoor facilities were there, however, in every one of the tent cities erected on the slopes, and each featured canvas walls. Only blue sky provided a roof.

It is amazing how men can organize a thriving little city in such a short time. Company A of the Wayne-O'Neill Unit had 20 men, hotels (tents), running water (out of trucks), a police system (MP's), a food service center on a patio (a mess tent with portable equipment), electricity (the real thing from a mobile generator), a public shower (for men only), a transportation system (buses, jeeps, trucks and armored personnel carriers), communications system (radio), garbage disposal system (trucked to dump), a hospital (the real thing in a tent) and ambulance service. Oh yes, the men had another thing in their tent town that most cities have and that was noisy neighbors.

You wouldn't believe how clean those guys keep their campgrounds. An early morning potting of the area each day kept the tent town free of litter and debris.

Don't let anyone kid you, those guys put in full days and work hard on training maneuvers in the field. Their schedule had to necessarily be a little lighter while putting up with two plane loads of guests on the weekend. But there was a big parade to get ready for at 10 a.m. Saturday. Nearly 400 different military vehicles were included in the Governor's Day Parade. It was an impressive scene as Governor Tielemann passed before the equipment, reviewing the troops. Then the troops paraded the equipment before the reviewing stand occupied by Nebraska state senators, mayors, military personnel and Tielemann.

It was a proud moment when Governor Tielemann presented the Eisenhower Trophy to the Wayne-O'Neill Guard unit for being tops in the State last year. There just isn't anything like the feeling of being on the run of the ladder and getting there by plain old hard work.

The parade was over and visitors returned to Fort Carson where we went through the Army chow line again and afterwards boarded our planes at Peterson Field.

My sensitive ear thought it could detect humming in the engines where that shouldn't be a humming, but then those VIP in the cockpit would notice it if something wasn't in tune. We lifted off Peterson Field and during the climb

News of Note around Northeast Nebraska

The annual Beemer Invitational softball tournament is scheduled all this week (Monday through Saturday) and into next week. Semifinals are slated for next Monday, Aug. 17, and consolation and finals for Wednesday, Aug. 19.

The 15 teams entered in the tourney will be vying for $250 in prize money, $105 of which will be awarded to the championship team.

Teams include ones from Norfolk, Leigh, Pender and Clarkson.

The Wisner VFW post hosted the fifth annual district family picnic at Wisner recently. An estimated 300 people turned out for the affair, which included a noon barbecue, bingo and horse shoe pitching and games for the youngsters.

More than 2,000 Rainbow trout are now in the concrete tanks at the Lelse trout farm at Hartington.

Built two years ago and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Lelse, the pond has facilities to handle a trout population of 10,000. The water in the tanks is moving constantly by a pump circulating 200 gallons of water a minute.

The Lelses expect to operate the farm until the fish population expands, reports the Cedar County News at Hartington, and will then decide whether to sell fish to the public, allow fishing by the line or sell fish for restocking rivers and ponds.

Keith and Sandra Clark have purchased the Laurel Advocate from Duane and Alice Kunzman, publisher-editor team for the Laurel paper since late 1955.

The Kunzmanns will move to Tecumseh to take over the Tecumseh Chieftan, purchased by them in February.

Clarkson began his newspaper career at the Advocate and has worked the past nine years in newspapers at Newman Grove, Sioux City, Waltham, Hartington and Milford. He is selling his paper at Milford to move to Laurel.

Dave Donnelly of Homer is being credited with saving the life of 15-year-old Gene Lauritsen, also of Homer, after young Lauritsen was covered with about 14 inches of dirt in a cave-in near his home.

Donnelly held him firm scream when the earth fell on him, found the spot where he was buried and quickly dug the young boy out. The boy did not lose consciousness in the accident but was visibly shaken by the experience of being buried alive.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Verzani and their 15-year-old daughter, Julie Kay, were buried at Ponca last week.

The three were killed and a 13-year-old son, Brad, was seriously injured in a plane crash near Nestor Falls, Ontario.

Verzani was an automobile dealer in Ponca.

The Verzani family left Ponca early in the day of the plane crash, taking off in their 170 Cessna from the farm where the plane was hanged. The crash occurred about six hours later as they were on their way to their cabin on the Lake of the Woods near the Narrows.

Borrowed from the Oakland Independent and Republican's "Thought of the Week" column: "The human race is divided into two classes — those who go ahead and do something; and those who sit and ask why it wasn't done the other way."

Like Wayne, Pierce has been hit with an invasion of black bugs that have made a mess of the streets in the business district.

The bugs are the Darkling Beetle, commonly called the ground beetle. They are a nuisance but are harmless, according to experts. Reason given for their sudden appearance: It's that time of year.

Randolph's city council has lowered the city tax levy two mills for the coming fiscal year — from 15.6 to 14.56. Three years ago the levy was 20 mills; two years ago it was 18.5.

It seems a small community somewhere recently had a municipal misfortune. When hearing about it, the mayor said: "This is the worst disaster to hit this city since I was elected mayor."

one could look to the west and see that tourists hadn't as yet removed Pikes Peak for remember-the-trip-when-I-get-home souvenirs.

After a number of passengers deplaned at Scottsbluff, we taxied out to the end of the runway. The tires were moved forward and our ship charged down the runway. Just as we lifted off the inbound engine on the right wing exploded internally. J. W. is one of these "I-knew-it" people and quickly recalled those suspicious hums and coughs which didn't make any difference now that the propeller was stopping. Oh well, we still had three propellers alive.

The Skymaster had four windmills out front and could fly on three, of course, but the VIP up front aborted the climb-out, circled the field and landed again at Scottsbluff. Taking off at Scottsbluff and landing again five minutes later is undoubtedly the shortest cross-country trip that J. W. had ever made. With only three propellers turning, one passenger quipped to a senator, "Now we're going to see just how much power a state senator really has!"

The Air National Guard brought another plane from Lincoln and we flew back across Nebraska in the midst of a tremendous electrical storm Saturday night. The crew in the cockpit watched radar and we passengers watched our front. We reclined in our seats while lightning made it brighter outside the bird than lights made it on the inside. As the proud ship made her way through dancing lightning there was no doubt but what the real VIP were up front. It's what's up front that counts, right?

It was near-midnight when we landed at Lincoln but we had a great trip, a great bird, a great cockpit crew, and had the time of our lives visiting some of the greatest people in the world, our National Guardsmen. They all got back home Saturday. Wonder why they came by bus when it is so much fun flying?

Midgets 2-1 Victims of Perennial Spoilers

By Norvin Hansen
Dodge, perennial spoilers for local baseball fans, knocked Wayne Midgets out of the area baseball tournament at Wakefield Thursday night, 2-1.

Tied 1-1 going into the top of the seventh, Dodge scored a runner with two out on a bad throw from the outfield. The Dodge runner made it on base on a single off loser Mike Glin, stole second and then raced home on a blooming single down right field line and the bad throw.

Glin, playing his last Midget game, hurled an enviable game despite the loss, striking out 10, walking one and giving up five hits.

Dodge pulled into a 1-0 lead in the top of the second when a runner got on with a fielder's choice, stole second and came home on the game's first hit.

Wayne evened the tally when third baseman Randy Nels on walked, stole second, advanced to third on a fielder's choice and came home on Rod Cook's single.

Cook's single was the only hit Wayne batters were able to scratch out of Larry Elkmeier. Elkmeier struck out three and walked two in gaining the win.

Wayne had advanced to area play by winning the district tournament at Wayne, knocking off Coleridge and Randolph on the way.

Wakefield stayed alive in the Legion end of the tournament despite a 4-0 whipping at the hands of Arlington-Elkhorn Friday night. Wakefield was scheduled to play Oakland at 6:30 Saturday in a do-or-die contest in the double elimination tournament. A loss in that game would have thrown them out of the meet; a win would have given them another crack at the area crown and a trip to the state tournament at Rushville.

Wakefield handed a scrappy Scribner team a 4-2 defeat in the area opener Wednesday night.

Scribner almost turned defeat into victory. In the bottom of the seventh when Jerry Walsh gave up two walks and two singles for two runs.

Walsh struck out three and walked three while allowing 10 hits to the Scribner batters, three of them doubles. Wakefield's stout defense kept Scribner's side of the scoreboard blank despite those hits until late in the contest. Wakefield wasn't charged with an error in the game. Scribner came up with four.

Arlington-Elkhorn's Ray Burgess completely stymied Wakefield Friday night. The fine pitcher struck out 16 Wakefield batters, walked only two and gave up two singles in the game while winning the 4-0 affair.

Wakefield put men in scoring position only three times in the game—in the top of the fourth on a successful double steal by Rip Bressler and Rich Kline after Bressler singled and Kline made it first on an infield error, in the sixth when Kline again made it to first on an error and Rob Eaton drew a walk, and in the seventh when DeWay Paul singled and went to second on a wild pitch—one of the few mistakes Burgess made during the evening.

Kline gave up seven hits, struck out four and walked two in his loss. Arlington-Elkhorn scored two runs in the third on two singles and an error, one in the fifth on a pair of singles and a walk, and one in the sixth on a booming home run over the center field fence by second baseman Mike Trader.

In the other Midget game in the area tourney, Yall-Waterloo pulled out a 3-2 win over West Point to move into Saturday's finals against Lodge.

Arlington-Elkhorn walked over Oakland, 9-3, Wednesday to earn a shot at Wakefield. Scribner suffered a 1-0 defeat at the hands of Oakland in the losers' game.

Center fielder Randy Jacobson had one of his finest nights at the plate this season against Ponca, cracking out a triple, double and single to drive in three runs. Also producing three runs with a single and double was young Dave Tietgen, left fielder.

Pitcher Lynn Tomjack, who threw five innings before being relieved by Dean Elfrson, came up with a single and a double in four times at the plate. He struck out six, walked two and allowed all three hits to the Ponca team in his stint on the mound.

Wayne batters rapped the three Ponca hurlers—Knefl, Voss and Calvert—for 13 hits, six of them for extra bases. The Ponca hurlers, having one of their poorest nights of the season, struck out only one Wayne batter, walked five.

Scheduled to see action in Sunday night's opening round of the league play-offs were Bloomfield at Orchard, Coleridge at Verdigré, Randolph at Laurel and Wakefield at Ponca.

The average person refers to north on a map as "up," but residents of Maine still call their rocky coastline "Down East." The term is a carry-over from sailing days, when ships from Maine sailed upwind to Boston, then coasted home before southerly winds on a "downhill run," explains the National Geographic Society's book, Vacationland USA.

Win Over Ponca Earns Rest for Wayne Nine

Wayne's town team earned a rest from the first round of the Tri-County League play-offs by handing visiting Ponca a 12-1 beating Thursday night. The game was halted early because of the 10-in rule.

The victory gave the local team a sound grip on second place in the league. First place Wausa will also set out the first round of competition, which was slated to start Sunday night.

Wayne and Wausa will then take on the two teams left after the first round in a best-two-of-three series. Finals, best-three-of-five, will pit the winners of the second round.

Yard 'n Garden Tips

Q—What are methods of removal for elm tree shoots in a lawn?
A—If it is an elm seedling that is to be removed, treatment should take place in the spring or fall. Use an ordinary application of 2,4-D. If the shoots are growing around a stump, paint an amine concentrate on the trunk stump surfaces.
Q—How to remove grass removed from a blue grass lawn?
A—The best method of removal is to dig out the bromo grass. An alternative is to use an application of Dandelion provided no trees or shrubs are near where the application will be made. Use Dandelion in this situation in a rather heavy concentration—six tablespoons to one gallon of water. Pour the mixture on the plants of bromo grass. Spraying is not recommended in this situation.

Q—What is a safe spray to use on blue spruce to control red spider?
A—The best treatment to use would be Diazinon, Cygon or systemic insect sprays that contain miticide. For best results, the outdoor temperature should be a little over 50 degrees, but avoid extremely warm days.
Q—Grass has many tiny millers on it. Are they harming the grass?
A—The millers probably are not harming the grass directly, but they are possible laying eggs. If these millers are sod webworm adults, the growth of the worms will retard the development of the grass. Look very closely to see if worms are present and if any damage has yet been done to the lawn. If worms are present, use a treatment of Sevin, Diazinon or D-Dime.

Q—Night crawlers are ruining a lawn. How can they be killed?
A—Two-year carefully a treatment of pyrethroids of chlor-

Additional incentive for shoppers to do their business in Wayne during the Christmas season are the regular Thursday night drawings for varying amounts.
The promotion will be kicked off on Thursday evening, Nov. 27. Evenings stores will be open in Wayne are Dec. 3, 4, 10, 11, 15, 17, 18, 21, 22 and 23. Most stores will close early on Christmas Eve.
Heading up the committee in charge of the promotion are Al Wittig, Leo Wortman and Jean Nuss.

Q—What could be affecting the new growth of a climbing rose bush? The bush has underdeveloped stems and is retaining last year's leaves.
A—There is a strong possibility that the rose bush received injury from a weed killer when it was sprayed too close to the bush. There is really nothing that can be done now. One must be extremely careful not to allow particular herbicides to come too close to the rose bush.
Q—Can Siberian Irises be transplanted after they've finished blooming?
A—Yes, they can be transplanted now, but the best time to plant any iris is in August or early spring.

WHO SAYS

You Don't Make Enough Money to Have A Checking Account?

Ever heard someone say, "I don't make enough money to have a checking account.?"

As a matter of fact, students (as well as adults) with a limited budget have more need of a checking account than anyone else.

First consider the extra safety. With a check book there is no need to keep large amounts of cash on hand. And your cancelled checks are proof of payment for all your bills.

Equally important is the convenient record it affords. You. No question about where your money went.

ANY SMALL AMOUNT OPENS A CHECKING ACCOUNT HERE AT THE STATE NATIONAL BANK & TRUST CO. AND THE COST PER CHECK IS VERY LOW. EVERY ACCOUNT, LARGE OR SMALL, GETS OUR PERSONAL ATTENTION, WE ARE INTERESTED IN YOU AS A PERSON, NOT A NUMBER.

Planning Group To Take Another Look at Parking

Members of the Wayne Planning Commission meeting Monday night looked over a plan of the Muh's North Addition, held a hearing as to the issuance of a special zoning permit and decided to take another look at the parking problem in the city.

Commission members looked over a plan for the development of some ground owned by Ernest Muh's one mile north and about a half mile west of Wayne known as the Muh's North Addition. It was decided to return the plan to Consolidated Engineers, who drew it up for Muh's, for further clarification of details.

After hearing legal counsel representing Werner Janke present a request for a special permit for an area west of town, commissioners voted to recommend to the city council that the request be denied. Janke is seeking the permit for development of a mobile home court.

A letter from Dan Sherry, city clerk, was received by the planning group with a request from the city council to take another look at parking regulations throughout the entire city.

It was decided the commission will make another study of parking regulation problems in Wayne and will then make recommendations to the council. Cleve Shaver will head up the study with all of the planning board being involved.

The next meeting of the commission was changed from Sept. 7 to the 14th because of Labor Day.

Farm Bill -

(Continued from page 1) The basic necessities for such a large proportion of the population, freeing the latter group to provide the machines and gadgets which make up modern day America.

"In terms of economic benefits," Hruska said, "producers of agricultural products spend nearly $30 billion a year for goods and services to produce crops and livestock, and another $12 billion for the same products and services as urban residents. It takes 120,000 non-farm employees to produce the nation's farm equipment alone. Farm uses of steel account for 40,000 jobs in the steel industry."

One of the primary areas of consumer benefit is the protection of public health, Hruska added, through USDA programs providing for inspection of meats and vegetables and for control of pests and pesticides.

Rural development is another program which is "somewhat misnamed, because these measures really benefit the non-farm population as much as or more than the farm," he said. "We must look to our rural areas for development of homes, jobs and recreation for millions of persons as our population increases," he said. "With such a small percentage of our population on farms, this development clearly could not be geared solely to a farm economy."

Hruska said rural development programs provide loan, grant and technical service programs for sewer systems, telephones, electricity and water resource development, all of which are necessary for industrial and commercial development in rural areas.
