Brrrrrr!

It was a night for blankets, earmuffs and hot chocolate when Laurel Pierce Friday night. If you don't believe it, just ask little Nadine Wickoff. The two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Wickoff of 6211/2 Creek, former residents of Laurel, fought those chilly temperatures to "watch"

Laurel walk by Pierce, 28-7, in an important West Husker Conference clash. Keeping her warm is her sister, Debra. Complete results of that and other area grid games can be found on the sports page of this issue of The Wayne Herald.

Murder Trial of Allen Youth Scheduled to Start Monday

Rick Hamilton, 18-year-old Allen youth, will go on trial on a charge of first-degree murder next Monday, Oct. 5, at Ponca.

District Court Judge Joseph Marsh of South Sioux set the trial date last week after denying the request by the defense lawyers for changing the site of the trial to another county.

The trial will begin at 9:30 a.m. next Monday in the Dixon County courtroom. Judge Marsh said selection of the jury, which will be made from a total of 100 Dixon County residents, will probably take most of next Monday and Tuesday.

Penalty upon conviction of a first-degree murder charge in Nebraska is death or life imprisonment at the state penitentiary at Lincoln.

The defense lawyers for Hamilton, charged in the shooting death of John Smith of Allen, made the motion for change of venue before Judge Marsh during a hearing at Ponca on Friday, Sept. 18. Judge Marsh had postponed a ruling on the request until last Thursday in order to give both sides in the case a chance to present further material.

The defense had charged during the hearing that Hamilton would be unable to receive a fair trial in Dixon County because reports by several newspapers had prejudiced a great number of the people in the county.

Cited for giving adverse publicity on the case were the Omaha World-Herald, Sioux City Journal and the South Sioux City Star.

Sixteen affidavits signed by county residents supporting the request for change of venue were introduced during the hearing.

Attorneys for the state countered the defense lawyers' contention, saying that the newspaper accounts have not been unfair. Named as giving fair accounts of the pre-trial events were the Wakefield Republican, Emerson Tri-County Press and Nebraska Journal Leader.

A total of 12 affidavits against the change of venue request were introduced by the state's lawyers.

Hamilton is accused of shooting Smith sometime during the night of May 1. Smith died of a .22 caliber wound in the chest. He was dead on arrival at the Wakefield Community Hospital the night of the shooting, taken there by Hamilton.

Handling the case for the state are Dixon County Attorney Merle Kingsbury of Ponca and Rodney Smith and Wayne Woyd, both of South Sioux.

P. F. Verzaal of Ponca and Robert Scoville of South Sioux have been appointed by the court to defend Hamilton.

Had Judge Marsh agreed to a change of venue, the murder trial could have been moved to one of the counties adjacent to Dixon County. The defense lawyers said at the hearing before Judge Marsh that they would like the trial changed to either Cedar County or Wayne County.

WS Enrollment Nears 3,000

Wayne State College enrollment has reached 2,972 for the fall term.

Enrollment in all classes of the college is 34 less than the total a year ago.

Authority Opens Bids For Building Housing

Four bids were submitted to the Wayne Housing Authority last week for the general contracting work including plumbing, electrical, heating and ventilation, landscaping and site work for the low cost public housing project to be built near Fifth and Dearborn Streets. Bids were opened and read Wednesday afternoon at the city clerk's office.

Apparent low bidder was Structures, Inc., Omaha, with $382,364. H. M. Smith and Son, also of Omaha, bid $389,632. A bid of $392,580 was made by Otis Construction of Wayne.

Fauss Construction Company of Hooper had the high bid of $403,000. All bids are presently being taken into consideration by the WIA.

The housing project, being financed by a grant of $509,980 from the Department of Housing and Urban Development, includes 38 units—23 for individuals and 15 for couples.

Local committees are now in the process of contacting other housing authorities in the area to get ideas that will form guidelines for operation of the housing project.

Attorney Paul Bannhoff said guidelines for qualifying for residence in the new housing will be set up by Feb. 1. He noted that the WIA hopes to begin accepting applications around April 1 from those wanting to move into the new units.

The attorney pointed out that several people have contacted the WIA as to how to make application to live in one of the new low-rent housing units, but emphasized there is no need to contact the WIA about the availability of units prior to April 1.

Guidelines outlining requirements which must be met in order to be qualified to apply for living quarters in the new units will be published at a later date in The Wayne Herald.

Indian Institute Yields Book for Teachers

A book of interest to teachers of American Indian children was published last week by Wayne State College. Its 128 pages contain many of the research projects that resulted from the college's 1970 Summer Institute for Teachers of American Indian Children.

Institute Director Francis Moul, who compiled the book, said most of the projects were designed primarily as teaching units to be used directly in class. They provide objectives to be obtained, methodology, factual materials—including a wealth of Indian history—and bibliographies available to help both teachers and students.

Moul noted a significant factor common to all the projects: they stressed the need to develop Indian identity and understanding of Indian culture, dating back some 20,000 years.

The book will be made available to schools throughout the area, free of charge, and as long as supply lasts, individuals may obtain it by writing to Francis Moul, Wayne State College.

The lead article, written by Douglas Brown, a teacher in Sioux City, will be the first four chapters of a textbook he is preparing for fifth and sixth grade social studies.

Another major article, also for elementary social studies, was written by Sister M. Alberta Murlaschitz and Sister M. Ignatia Lordeam of St. Augustine's Indian Mission School at Winnebago.

Other projects in the book: "Hill on Plains Indians (Indians) and Grade 1" by Betty Brehmer and Shirley Peters, Walthill.

"Social Studies Unit on the Plains Indians (Grade 3)" by Lorene Judice, Walthill.

"North American Indians, a Unit of Work for Fourth Grade Children" by Amy Jackson, South Sioux City.

"Teaching Pride in Our Local Communities: Legends, Recollections, Interesting Places and Localities (Grade 4)" by Gladys Tompkins, Winnebago.

"Early Indian Tribes of Nebraska (Intermediate Grades)" by Marjion Hansen, Rosalia.

"High School Mathematics in the Indian School" by Joanna Anderson, Onawa, Ia.

Motor Express Buys At County Calf Sale

Wayne Motor Express was purchaser of cattle owned by three Wayne County youths during the recent county 4-H calf sale.

The Wayne business bought the individual calf belonging to Natalie Slevens and the pens of five belonging to Sandra Ekberg and James Haler.

The Slevens animal, a Hereford steer, brought $29.50 a hundredweight at the sale after the packer put a $27.75 bid on it.

The Ekberg animals, Charolais steers, sold for $29.75 just over the packer's bid of $29. The Haler animals, mixed steers, sold for $27, just over the packer's bid of $26.50.

It was incorrectly reported to the newspaper that Schmode and Weible Transfer of Wayne had made those three purchases.

Officers Named By Carroll Club

Carroll Community Club members met Monday evening with 15 present and elected officers for the coming year. Howard McLain will head up the service organization as president, assisted by Vice-President John Retnisch.

Dave Lahr was named secretary-treasurer.

Items on the agenda, following the 7:30 p.m. dinner, included discussing plans for Carroll's annual pancake day set for Dec. 12, and putting litter barrels on Main Street and in the park.

The club decided to provide the litter barrels, Vernie Schnoor will be in charge of securing the barrels and a committee to paint them will include Phil Olson, Leonard Hallock, Filary Pearson and John Retnisch. Morris Sandahl will get the barrels ready for use.

Bachelors Beware!

Those of you in the single state of mind may be interested in knowing that the month of August in Wayne County has far exceeded the month of June in the number of wedding licenses issued by Judge Luverna Hilton.

The judge said there were 15 marriage licenses issued by her office in August compared to only seven in June. She said August now holds the lead in being the most popular month in which to wed in Wayne County.

Judge Hilton noted Friday that the 15 licenses set a new record for licenses issued from her office in any given month.

Evaluation Survey Set At Winside

Members of the steering committee for the self-evaluation program planned for the Winside Public School system met Thursday.

The group discussed a schedule for the eight evaluation committees which will conduct the survey this school term. Steering committee members are Henry Langenberg Jr., Erwin Morrison, M. J. Masten, J. Allen Schleuter and Ron Kramer, chairman.

Approximately 50 people from the Winside community and school are serving on the eight committees. The self-evaluation program is necessary once every 10 years in meeting requirements for accreditation by the Nebraska State Department of Education.

Principal Ron Kramer said Ralph Gray, administrative assistant in the state department in Lincoln, will lead an orientation program for those serving on committees. The orientation will be slated sometime during the week of Oct. 5-9.

Self-evaluation committees and their chairmen are as follows: School and Community, Vern Hill; Program of Studies, Mrs. Dave Wainmunde; Student Activity Program, Judy Peters; Instructional Materials Services, Mrs. Dallas Puls; Guidance Services, Carmen Brum; Health See SURVEY, page 6

WS Grads Get CPA Certificates

Three graduates of Wayne State College were among 32 new certified public accountants recognized at an awards banquet recognized at the Nebraska Society of Certified Public Accountants in Lincoln September 22.

Receiving the CPA certificate were Nebraskans Ronald W. Lerdig of Bennington, a native of Sioux City; W. LeRoy Kibby of Omaha, a native of Lynch, and James A. Nissen of Omaha, a native of Page.

Kibby and Nissen are employed by Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co. of Omaha. Lerdig, formerly with that firm, now is with O'Donnell, Fleenor, Lutz & Willis. He was a 1966 graduate of Wayne State; Kibby and Nissen graduated in 1968.

Large Crowd Expected for Forum on Elderly

Mrs. Eldon Bull, director of the Senior Citizens Center in Wayne, expects more than 250 people for Wednesday's public hearing on the problems of the aging. The hearing is scheduled for 1 p.m. in the Wayne city auditorium.

Mrs. Bull said that about 50 people had pre-registered at the Senior Citizens Center by early Friday and that she expects more to register before Wednesday.

She also noted that the director of the senior citizens opportunities and services of the Golden Rod Hills Community Action Council at Walthill plans on bringing 50 people to the meeting. Another nine people will be coming from the elderly center at Norfolk.

Posters advertising the coming forum, called by Governor Norbert Tiemann, have been distributed in all the towns around Wayne, said Mrs. Bull, and ministers have been requested to announce the forum to their congregations.

The forum is one of eight being held across the state during September and October. The purpose of the hearings is to give all the people involved with or concerned about the welfare of older persons a chance to speak out about the needs and problems of the elderly.

A special listening panel named by Gov. Tiemann will hear the questions and comments of the people attending the forum. That panel will include Kent Hall, mayor of Wayne; George Stolz, county commissioner; Mrs. Christine Dillon, representative of the local elderly center, and Norvin Hansen, editor of The Wayne Herald.

Also sitting in on the panel will be State Senator Elmer Wallace of Emerson. Chairing the panel will be Mrs. Emogene (Hall) Neigh, a member of the State Advisory Committee on Aging.

Said Ron Jensen, executive director of the state committee, on announcing Wayne as one of the sites for the forum earlier this year: "We hope to hear

Area's Elderly People Being Surveyed

Elderly people in the Wayne area are being given a unique chance to take part in a survey of the feelings and problems of the elderly, according to Mrs. Eldon Bull, director of the Wayne Senior Citizens Center.

Mrs. Bull said that about 300 two-page questionnaires were sent to her by the Nebraska Advisory Committee on Aging in an attempt to get as good an idea as possible of the opinions of older citizens in preparation for the White House Conference on Aging planned for late 1971. The Wayne area is the only part of the state being sent the questionnaires, said Mrs. Bull. Reason for selecting Wayne for the study was the large and successful response from this area in preparing for the community forum on aging scheduled for the Wayne city auditorium Wednesday.

Mrs. Bull said the problem now is how to get all those questionnaires out to the elderly residents in the area. "Anybody who would like to help in distributing the questionnaires is welcome to drop in and pick some up," said Mrs. Bull. The questionnaires, which take only moments to fill out, ask questions about the person's work, family, health, education, group participation and church activities.

It asks the person if he feels

ANN ROBINSON, right, registers with Mrs. Eldon Bull for Wednesday's community forum in Wayne.

A Time to Be Heard

We hope there is a good attendance at Wednesday's Senior Citizens Community Forum at the Wayne city auditorium. Ideally, that attendance should include both young and old.

The meeting, one of eight being held across the state, is designed to help arrive at a national policy toward the elderly. At present, the American society has not really decided what the older person should contribute to his community or what that community should contribute to him. The answers to the questions raised Wednesday — and the questions themselves — will be taken back to the Governor's Conference on Aging in May. Results of that conference will be taken to the White House Conference on Aging planned for November next year.

This conference slated for Wayne, although admittedly only a small part of a large plan, gives the people in and around Wayne a chance to be heard on the vital subject of the elderly. We hope as many people as possible — both young and old, educated and uneducated, professional and laymen — take part in that forum. — NLH.

Aging Traffic Lights

Apparently the three traffic signals now operating in downtown Wayne are 25 years old and have seen their best working days.

The subject of replacing the electric traffic lights was brought up during a recent meeting of the city council. Comment was made which causes one to assume that the lights would not even be operating now except for the talents of Norbert Brugger and his crew at the city light plant. The men have been called upon to repair the signals numerous times.

Although new traffic signals are not inexpensive items, we feel the city should start making immediate plans for replacing the overhead traffic fixtures. Most any motorist will testify as to how much easier it is to see the signals at Seventh and Main than those in the downtown intersections.

The 25-year-old signals were once adequate, but like all mechanisms, after giving their best of service, they need to be replaced with modern equipment.

If Wayne is to have traffic lights, let's consider the installation of a more modern styling, like those at Seventh and Main, which are much easier to see from the driver's seat.

Anything that improves a city and updates its appearance is going to take some financial planning. We hope the council will see fit to include in their future planning a schedule to replace the present signals. — MMW.

JUST WRIGHT

by Merin Wright

A brief story worthy of being shared and read appeared several months ago in Christian Economics and was written by Gaylord Sutherland of Muskegon, Michigan. Since that time the story has been making the rounds of various papers both small and large. We thought you might also enjoy reading about The Little Red Hen.

Once upon a time there was a little red hen who scratched about and uncovered some grains of wheat. She called her barnyard neighbors and said, "If we work together and plant this wheat, we will have some fine bread to eat. Who will help me plant the wheat?"

"Not I," said the cow. "Not I," said the duck. "Not I," said the goose. "Then I will," said the little red hen — and she did. After the wheat started growing, the ground turned dry and there was no rain in sight. "Who will help me water the wheat?" said the little red hen.

"Not I," said the cow. "Not I," said the duck. "Not I," said the pig. "Equal rights," said the goose. "Then I will," said the little red hen — and she did. The wheat grew tall and ripened into golden grain. "Who will help me reap the wheat?" asked the little red hen.

"Not I," said the cow. "Not I," said the duck. "Out of my classification," said the pig. "I'd lose my ADS," said the goose. "Then I will," said the little red hen — she did. When it came time to grind the flour, "Not I," said the cow. "I'd lose my unemployment compensation," said the duck.

"When it came time to bake the bread, "That's overtime for me," said the cow. "I'm a dropout and never learned how," said the duck. "I'd lose my welfare benefits," said the pig. "If I'm the only one helping, that's discrimination," said the goose.

"Then I will," said the little red hen — and she did. She baked five loaves of fine bread and held them up for her neighbors to see.

"I want some," said the cow. "I want some," said the duck. "I want some," said the pig. "I demand my share," said the goose. "No," said the little red hen. "I can rest for awhile and eat the five loaves myself." "Excess profits," cried the cow. "Capitalistic leech!" screamed the duck. "Company fish," grunted the pig. "Equal rights," screamed the goose. And they hurriedly painted picket signs and marched around the little red hen singing, "We shall overcome." And they did.

For when the farmer came to investigate the commotion, he said, "You must not be greedy, little red hen. Look at the oppressed cow. Look at the disadvantaged duck. Look at the underprivileged pig. Look at the less fortunate goose. You are guilty of making second-class citizens of them!"

"But — but — but — I earned the bread," protested the little red hen. "Exactly," the wise farmer said. "That is the wonderful free enterprise system; anybody in the barnyard can earn as much as he wants. You should be happy to have this freedom. In other barnyards, you would have to give all five loaves to the farmer. Here you give four loaves to your suffering neighbors."

And they lived, happily ever after. Including the little red hen who smiled and chuckled. "I am grateful. I am grateful."

But her neighbors wondered why she never baked any more bread. Remember, the 11 men from the Poor Loser College campus chose to wear blue bruises, and unexcited facial expressions for their going away ensembles.

"The best man, however, chose to wear a look of glee as he left for the after-ceremonious reception. He also wore a fresh corsage of mud on his left shoulder."

"Following a liquid celebration, the 11 decided to enter another engagement next Friday night providing the field and those who officiate would be available for the date."

"After a short trip the 11 returned home to the Play More College campus."

There is a difference in the way stories are handled and J. W. has a good idea as to what will happen to these. But maybe after you've mopped the floor and are walking on this section of the paper you'll find something to read that is really worthwhile. Find it yet?

Our headline reads: "N. Gage Nabs Hadley Under the Lights." Now the story "Miss N. Gage made it a clean sweep Saturday night in a double-ringer by nabbing Ben Hadley right off the bench under the home lights."

"The Rev. T. O. Weddingman called the shots from behind home plate. Coaching the victor was a confident Dadd E. Gage who found it necessary to leave the bench himself once in an exchange of words with the official in charge."

"The contest was attended by a capacity crowd of 360. N. Gage was aided in the field by Miss Mary Soon, Miss Hope Waning, and a promising young rookie, three-year-old Rose Petal, who was seen in action in the early innings."

"Amidst the flowing of champagne in the crowded locker room following the diamond action, the celebrating bride announced that this was her final competition."

"When asked about future plans, she said the only thing remaining on her schedule this season was a brief vacation with her favorite teammate. She also ventured the guess that she and her husband may coach a new team in the future made up of rookies of their own."

Isn't it glad that our society editor doesn't use that style of writing? She uses instead a style that is familiar to all avid readers of the social column. Just for the fun of it we decided to attempt writing a football story using the society editor's style. It goes something like this.

"A party of 22 college men faced each other reverently on the green-carpeted field at Play More College Friday evening as the flag, made of a beautiful three-colored egg, was raised before 3,000 people attending the rites."

"Those engaged in the evening ceremonies heard Mrs. Good Voice sing The Star Spangled Banner, accompanied by A. Musician."

"Given to the game by their coach, B. A. Roughhouse, the 11 Play More College participants in the stadium rites appeared in similar suits of gold and red jerseys. Each of the soft, linted-cotton, call-length suits were fashioned with portrait necklines and numbers having contrasting colors."

"Those in attendance were unable to determine the identity of the best man until final words were exchanged. The best man was later identified as A. Quarter Back who was responsible for a considerable part of the program. He had several attendants helping him. Assisting the Play More 11 were two pass-receptionists who apparently did not pay much attention during rehearsals as to how to hold onto a ball."

"For stadium exhibition, most mothers wore multi-colored dresses and evening wraps. Team managers wore wanted one-way streets, with parking on both sides, which will be here within the next five years. That is what I think.

I don't think it was fair for you to make the statements like that. If you know so much why don't you go to the meetings the planning commission and city council have and voice your opinions. You have this opportunity. Don't slip up in the face in the dark. It makes you very small."

We the leaders of this town and the mayor, Kent Hall, are trying to give you a better place to live in, now and in the future.

Just a few councilmen and the chief of police. That first recommendation was that the city permit parking on one side of the street but not on the other side in all but the northeast quarter of the city. The city turned that down and asked the commission to study the problem again. The commission has now recommended that all the city be under the 2-5 a.m. no parking restriction. There are a few exceptions to the latest recommendation, which will probably be taken up at Tuesday night's council meeting.

Health Tips

Q — Can anything be done for peaches which rot at the pit?
A — Not much, because this is due to an internal breakdown in many factors. One can protect the peaches from worms which also cause such rotting, however.
Q — Could grass clippings distributed in a strawberry patch cause a blight?
A — No, and the clippings may actually hold down the blight. If the problem is due to a leaf spot, use captan or zineb.

Your Place in the Stars

by Tom McDermott

The end of the world, if there is going to be one, has always fascinated us humans. In 1962 occultists yelled at the top of their voices for everyone to "head for the hills" because a holocaust was coming. In Britain the fearful gathered on the sides of a mountain for a last minute prayer. Of course, no end came to the world and the frightened ones returned home with heads drooped.

The reason for all of this was the configuration of some planets and their faulty delineation by nickle and dime astrologers — mostly from India.

On February 5, 1962, a very unusual thing did occur, however. All of the planets, save only Uranus, Neptune and Pluto, plus the sun and the moon were in the sign of Aquarius. This highly rare situation was interpreted in different ways. I remember reading the prediction that a modern-day Christ would be born on this day. Indian astrologers, of a different school than Western astrologers, predicted only doom. Sunday papers picked up the story immediately.

So it was with interest that I recently read an article in the April issue of KOSMOS, newsletter of the International Society for Astrological Research, by a young British astrologer, Chester Kemp. Writing in his monthly column, Kemp brought up again this topic of the end of the world. Handling the subject humorously, however, he took a look at the year 1999. As he points out, this is a year often quoted as being the end. Nostradamus, perhaps the most famous astrologer of all times, wrote hundreds of aphorisms that are predictions proven true — or at least seem to be true by many. October of 1999 is the last prophecy of Nostradamus — and rightly so, because he considered it the end of the world.

Astrologer Kemp dissects the chart for that day and comes to the conclusion: "From the line-up in this chart, I would personally be inclined to say that the astrological conditions are conducive to the cataclysm forecasted, but what becomes now more interesting is to see what will actually happen." Apparently, this contemporary astrologer isn't as worried as Nostradamus would be if he were living today.

To be particular, Nostradamus' predictions tell of a Jehovah coming at this time. It should be pointed out that Nostradamus can be interpreted in a dozen different ways — and usually is. Therefore, the predictions have never been wrong, so proponents would have us believe, only interpreted wrong.

Offering a ray of hope, Kemp says: "I do not think that this means the end of mankind though, and I say this although Nostradamus says that the dead shall come forth from their graves... I would think rather that this could mean man coming forth from shelters AFTER the event."

The event referred to could be nuclear war, moral degeneration, etc. "The watchword," says Kemp, "is fingers crossed!"

The World Book Encyclopedia says of Nostradamus: "Interest in Nostradamus revived in the 1930's from the belief that he had prophesied the rise of Adolf Hitler. His prophecies were intentionally obscure and vague and are open to many interpretations."

In any case, we'll all be interested in observing October, 1999.

(Getting off the beaten path, I want to remind my readers that the Wayne library has two copies of the paperback "The Basic Principles of Astrology," a recommended introductory book to the field of astrology written by the American Federation of Astrologers. If you're interested, be sure to check it out.)

Pierce Becomes Bears' Latest 'Believers'

by Norvin Hansen

Few will doubt the strength of the Laurel Bears now. Not after the 28-7 pasting they gave Pierce Friday night before a crowd which filled all available seats and ringed three sides of the Pierce field.

The victory, especially satisfying to the Bears after two straight losses to Pierce, now leaves only three teams unblemished in the West Husker Conference: Wayne, Laurel and Stanton. Wayne and Laurel will have their annual showdown late in October and both will have at least a couple hurdles to get over if they hope to keep their undefeated records intact.

Coach Vince Brammer's comments after his Bears knocked off the Blue Jays: "Our offensive line did a tremendous job in protecting Steve (Erwin, senior quarterback) so he could get his passes off." Brammer said he isolated Pierce's fine defensive back Mark Luebe against George Schroeder to help open up the passing attack.

And that defensive attack was relentless—Erwin fired off 31 aerials and completed 14 of them.

for 236 yards, continuing his fine performance of nearly 50 per cent accuracy in the air.

Hauling in most of those passes was halfback Steve Smith with five receptions for 67 yards. End Paul McCoy had two receptions for 74 yards. Schroeder came up with three for 36 despite Luebe's persistently good coverage.

Laurel took command of the game early, rolling to a touchdown with 4:35 left in the first period after Erwin hit McCoy near Laurel's 35 for a pass combination which covered about 50 yards for Pierce's five. The Bears took the ball over to an Erwin-Steve Smith combo.

The Bears upped their lead over the hosts with only seconds gone in the second period on another pass from Erwin to Smith and a pass from Erwin to George Schroeder for the PAT. The TD climaxed a drive which began late in the first period near Pierce's 40 when Steve Smith recovered an opponent's fumble.

Two quick scores late in the first half—one with just over four minutes to play (Jerry Sarabak's run of about six yards) and one with 35 seconds left (Erwin's pass to Rick Smith and Erwin's PAT pass to Steve Smith).

gave the Bears something almost unheard of in this country for several years: a 28-0 lead. Laurel's attack slowed in the third period and the Bears only once crossed the midfield line, marching to the Pierce 42 before being forced to punt. The hosts went to Laurel's 15 on a pass interference call before giving up the ball on downs just before the gun.

WORKHORSE Steve Smith gets cut down by Pierce defender Chuck Schwank in Friday's tilt at Pierce.

Several penalties kept Laurel away from the Pierce goal early in the fourth stanza, but the Bears managed to get to the 15 on an interception by McCoy.

Pierce finally penetrated Laurel's defense and went in for a touchdown with just 1:53 left in the game.

Said Coach Brammer, "I didn't think we would make it that easy." The Bears take on another West Husker foe, Plainview, Friday night in a home stand. A week later they travel to Stanton, a West Husker squad which some are looking for to finish high in the divisional standings.

Allen edged ahead moments later on a run from two yards out by quarterback Dennis Hurley and a pass for the PAT after Allen fumbled the ball near the six yard line.

The rest of the scoring: —Ponca on a 5 two-yard run by Hurley after pass completions of 79 and 26 yards; second quarter.

—Allen on a 48-yard run by Lindefelder following a punt by Ponca; second quarter.

—Ponca on a 65-yard pass from Hurley to senior halfback Don Taylor; second quarter.

The scene came after a fine theft from a Ponca runner by Warner and his return to about the 40.

See-Saw Wakefield-Pender Battle Tips in Favor of Pendragons, 21-8

A game that appeared to be a see-saw battle everywhere but the scoreboard ended in the third loss of the season for Coach Lyle Trullinger's Wakefield Trojans. The Trojans dropped their first home game to Pender, 21-8, Friday night.

The Pendragons jumped to an 8-0 lead late in the first quarter when Pender halfback Jorgenson capped a long drive with the first touchdown of the game. Pender runningback Benson took the ball across for the bonus points to give the Pender club an eight-point margin at the end of the first quarter.

The second quarter was described by observers as pretty much of a dog fight, with neither team being able to put together an effective drive. The score remained 8-0 Pender as the first half ended.

Pender quarterback Mable put the Pendragons on the board again in the third quarter, scoring from 19 yards out. Those six points for the Pendragons again were the end result of a sustained march up the field. The point after attempt failed, with the score at the end of three quarters of play 14-0.

Wakefield	0	0	0	0	--	8
Pender	1	0	6	7	--	21

The Trojans were finally able to put together an effective series of plays late in the third quarter and early in the fourth quarter, with Wakefield's Lee Miner—who had seen little action in the first two ball games due to a leg injury—taking the ball over the Pendragons' goal line on a 19-yard effort. Kirk Gardner, Trojan quarterback, added the two extra points for Wakefield.

The Pendragon team added icing to their victory in the closing seconds when defensive end Skatemann intercepted a Bruce Luhr pass and carried it for 55 yards and the final touchdown of the ball game. Malberg was able to boot the ball through the uprights to end the scoring at 21-8 with four seconds left on the clock.

Lee Miner, Trojan halfback,

a defensive corner-safety Miner was credited with breaking up several potential Pendragon pass plays. Gardner was also led by the Wakefield staff for its defensive efforts.

The Trojans will host the Ponca Indians next Friday night for their homecoming game.

Winside Clips Hartington In First West L&C Contest

Winside High prepared for this week's homecoming activities nicely, dumping Hartington High, 30-14, in an away contest Friday night.

and scoring for the hosts. Winside moved into a 6-0 lead in the first period when fullback Gayland Stevens ran the ball over from about 12 yards away after the Wildcats took over near the 25 following a short Hartington punt.

The visitors moved into a 14-14 tie in the third period, thanks to halfback Jerry Wacker's three-yard sweep and a run for the extra point. Again, the drive began near Hartington's 30 after a punt by the hosts deep in their own territory.

In the final period Dean Kruger set up another Winside TD by prying a Hartington pass on about Hartington's 20 and returning it close to the eight before being hauled down. The scoring camp on a Soden-Brad Dangberg pass and a Kevin Frevert kick.

Devils Win 3rd of Season; Paste Neligh, 63-0, Friday

The Wayne High Blue Devils did Friday night just what Laurel and Pierce did the previous two Fridays—they blanked Neligh while racking up a host of touchdowns.

The victory, third straight for the high-flying local team, ends what must be the toughest opening three games Neligh has ever had to play. Pierce pounded Neligh in the season opener before giving Laurel its chance.

Wayne High hit continuously at the young Neligh squad, gaining 21 first downs while yielding only three. All but two of Wayne's first downs came on rushing plays as the Devils exhibited the strength which helped them post strong Winsler-Pilger week earlier.

Wayne County Savings Bond Sales Up

The Wayne County Savings Bonds chairman last week reported increasing sales of Series E and H Bonds and outlined details of the recent Treasury Department improvements in the interest rates of these bonds.

Henry Leg of Wayne said August sales in Nebraska came to $3,547,967, an increase of more than 19 per cent over the same month of last year.

Sales in Wayne County during the month were $12,274 to bring the yearly total to $112,505 for 64.1 per cent of the county sales goal for 1970.

Leg said the new interest rate will apply to new and old Bonds as follows:

—Series E: Purchased on or after June 1, 1970, when held to maturity, will receive an extra half per cent, payable at maturity, raising the yield to five and a half per cent from date of issue to maturity.

Outstanding E Bonds that have not reached their first maturity will receive a one-half per cent increase in yield for semi-annual interest periods beginning on or after June 1, 1970, payable as a bonus at maturity.

Outstanding E Bonds that have reached first maturity, or are extended beyond first maturity (while the bonus is in effect), will have the one-half per cent credited at the end of each semi-annual interest period beginning on or after June 1, 1970, through their next maturity. The bonus is payable whenever the bonds are redeemed.

—Series H: Purchased on or after June 1, 1970, will yield approximately 5.12 per cent for the first five years, and six per cent for the remaining five years to maturity, providing an overall yield of five and one-half per cent from date of issue to date of maturity.

Outstanding H Bonds that have been held for less than five years will receive a one-half per cent increase in yield for semi-annual interest periods beginning on or after June 1, 1970, payable as a bonus in the form of increased semi-annual interest payments during the second five years to maturity.

H Bonds that have been held five years, or are extended (while the bonus is in effect), will receive a one-half per cent increase in yield for semi-annual interest periods beginning on or after June 1, 1970. The bonus will be added to semi-annual interest checks through next maturity.

Sales in Dixon County in August amounted to $126,651. That brings to $126,651 the total sold during the first eight months of this year and amounts to 58.3 per cent of the county's quota for this year.

In Cedar County, sales amounted to $44,146 in August, bringing to $194,240 the total sold so far this year. Cedar County has attained only 43.6 per cent of its quota for the year.

Another Survey Set

Questions on consumer buying and home improvement expectations will be asked in the Wayne area by representatives of the Bureau of the Census during October, according to Guy A. Lutz, director of the Bureau's regional office in St. Paul.

The questions are asked four times yearly as part of a nationwide effort to collect information as a guide to Federal agencies and other groups in developing programs based on consumer spending patterns.

A sample of residents in this area will be asked if they expect to buy a house, car or major appliance during the next year and if they have made recent purchases of these items. Homeowners will be asked about home improvements and repairs during the last three months and any planned for the future.

In the second quarter of 1970, the survey indicated that consumer plans to buy new houses rose after a two-year decline while the percentage of families expecting income increases within 12 months had declined.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept confidential by law and will be published only in the form of statistical totals.

The Census Bureau representative in this area is Ruth Koehler of Norfolk.
